From page one 1920 Club

womans Club in Ranger, the 1903 club which had not been active for many years.

These 20 far sighted members drewup the constitution and by laws. The name of the club shall be the 1920 club. The aim of the club shall be cultural, educational and clinic Motto! Knowledge comes but Wisdom lingers.

The membership limited to 30. Soon the membership was filled.

Meeting days 1st and 3rd Thursdays of each month.

The charter members paid dues and gave extra money into the treasurer.

The first years 1920-21 the club had some difficulty in finding a permanent home.

They were invited to meet in the old Elpa Club room but due to the stairs they thanked the club but declined. They met in the Methodist Church, the Baptist Church at that time. The presbyterian were building a church started across the street from the present Baptist Church. The 1920 Club was invited to meet in the fellowship room. They met there from Nov. 21, 1921 until they moved to the green room at the Gholson Hotel.

The 1920 Club was asked by the City to sponsor a library during the summer. This later became one of their main projects.

Threw the clubs 75 years the 1920 club has promoted American Citizenship, music, art, national and state affairs and the good of Ranger. The Student Loan Fund has assisted many young boys and girls to continue their education.

Dec. 6, 1921, Ex-President Taff was a guest in the M.H. Hagaman home. He spoke to the 1920 club and met the members. That evening a reception was held in his honor for the people of Eastland County. The later spoke of the kindess of the people in Ranger and Eastland County. He was a very large man. He said one of his favorite memories of his visit to Ranger was this story. The two little boys of Mr. and Mrs. George Hemmenson had their picture taken with him. (Mr. Hemmerson was City Secretary) when asked if they sat on his lap. The younger boy said, "no he didn't have a lap me sat on his knees."

The first 10 years of the club were busy years. The Student loan fund had to be increased. The Library was to remain open summer - later days a week. Many events were, to reaise money for these projects. The club sold chances on pretty handmade quilts, sold cakes, tickets to game nights, the members blacken their faces and acted out a ministrel. They ran this two nights and made money.

The club years 1930-1939 continued the loan to many deserving students, who made a note and paid it back - no interest - through all the 75 years. There was only one girl, who did not repay the loan.

Mrs. Sharn head of N.Y.A. in Ranger helped with Christmas baskets. She was given money for material and her students made toys for the baskets. The club was asked to feed one child for one year. Some other accomplishments were: entertained Ethel Foster, president of 6th District, send Mother's Day papers to many mothers in war torn towns overseas, box of toys to hospital for crippled children, Marlin, Texas. Mrs. M.H. Hagaman elected president of 6th district. Mrs. M.H. Hagaman elected to N.Y.A.

board. Meetings moved from Green Room to Blue Room at Gholson Hotel. Club to pay $15 a month. Members on a drive to improve city were asked to plant a crepe myrtle tree in yard; sponsored student in vocie contest in Dallas; began course of study of European Countires and China and Japan; package to State Hospital, Wichita Falls; donated trees to Ranger Junior College campus; sponsored clean up campaign with city.

The years 1940-49 continued to be busy years. Mrs. M.H. Hagaman voted first place in outstanding pioneer women; sponsored many outstanding music programs; made yearly donations to hospital for crippled children in Marlin.

At a meeting July 11 Mrs. Hagaman told the history of our gavel. She had it made from oak from the old Methodist Church building that was being torn down. In October Mrs. Joseph gave the 1920 Club free rent for October. Donations were made to bring Mikado musical to Ranger Junior College

Fine Arts Department. The club purchased 7 100 series G bonds. The club worked hard to the war effort. Every Thursday members worked in the Red Cross room, sewing or making surgical dressings. The president of the club taught four surgical dressing classes. Also classes in home nursing. Every member brought stamps and bonds.

The club bought 1200 bonds, gave 32 pounds of old silk and nylon hose, gave to Victory Bond Drive, assisted in scrap metal drive, sold 3270 stamps and bonds.

Mrs. Brozda organized the 1947 Junior Club to train young women in club work for future members of 1920 club. Governor Cabe Stephenson was entertained and gave our Texas Day program. The 1920 club sponsored the Civic League, former president 1920 club became president of Civic League.

The outstanding accomplishment of all clubs of Ranger for 1948 is the completion and opening of Ranger Community Club House and Library. This was due to all clubs, the Ranger Civic League and the City Commission repairing the building given to the City by the N.Y.A. The 1920 Club agrees to paint and improve the building for a room of their own for meetings and for a city library. The 1920 club painting the building bought venetian blinds and other improvements. Place Two City Of Ranger Bill Jerigan is running for Street and Park Commissioner, Place Tow. Bill is married and has lived in Ranger since 1982. For the past six years he has worked for Timpletons Oil Field Pumping Service.

Mr. Jernigan is well aware of the cities Street Dept., having worked for them prior to 1989. He has operated most of the equipment and been in charge of the cemetery. Bill believes that many of the back roads here in Ranger have been neglected. He thinks these roads could be greatly improved at little expense to the city. Drainage is another problem that he would address. Mr. Jernigan believes that the installation of horns in areas where water stands would be an inexpensive way to handle this problem.

Mr. Jerigan also believes that there is much needed improvement in our city park and library, some of which could be done by volunteers from the community. "People from the community could jump in and join to make a better Ranger".

In becoming a Bill Commissioner, Jerigan understands the importance of working with the entire Council. He realize's the importance of working with the entire Council. He realize's the importance of working with the other Commissioners on the various city problems. He also thinks the Commissioners should be involved in all hiring and firing of all employees.

Mr. McNabb was in the U.S. Army where he worked in finances.

Red McNabb knows the financial bind that Ranger is in due to the Federal and State mandates that have been forced on the city. He believes one way to offset these expenses would be to expand our tax base. This Could be done by bringing new business to Ranger. Mr. McNabb also agrees with the idea of giving seniors a discount on their utility bills.

As a commissioner he would work with the others to get streets repaired and street lights turned on. Some of the old buildings could also be removed. This could make the city look better to future investors. Keeping city fees as low as possible would be another way to attract new business.

B.C. McNabb would like to have your vote on May 6th. "All the support I get will be appreciated".

EA Bromley holds a B.A. in drama from West Texas State University, an M.F.A. in drama from Trinity University, and is finishing up earning an M.A. in English from Sul Ross State University. While working on her degree from Trinity, Bromley trained at the Dallas Theater Center where her focus was placed upon directing, playwriting, and acting. At the end of her first year n graduate school, she was awarded the Preston Jones Scholarship in playwriting "The philosophy behind the graduate program with the Dallas Theater Center and Trinity University was that a drama student needs to be wellversed in all areas of theater. The program was developed by Mr. Paul Baker, and his philosophy was that everyone has some creative expression, some creative expression to be tapped into, one just has to find the vein. When I first entered the program, I wasn't even aware I had any talent as a writer. The program brought that out of me. I have to thank Professors Eugene McKinney and John Logan, excellent playwrights themselves, and Robyn Flatt for helping me discover my creative vein."

"It has been a pleasure to work with this cast," Bromley says. "As a playwright, it is very fulfilling to see these talented people bring my characters to life. A a director, it is delightful to have such an energetic, enthusiastic cast to work with."

When asked what brought about the creating of Table For Six, Bromley responded, "It is difficult finding plays, especially new plays, which will showcase the talents of your drama students as an acting ensemble and yet not offended the audience. There are many extraordinary plays available for colege use, but often imes, the language and the content are more suitable for a professional company and not for a college group who is still trying to build an audience. One you start a play and switching words or omitting words, something very often gets lost in the translation. I love to write and I thought what a fun, collaborative theater experience to debut a new play on our stage." When asked how it was to direct a play one had also written, Bromley replied, "It can be difficult. When passing out scenes for the first time and listening to the cast read them, I had to be the playwright, making adjustments here and there. But watching from the house as the actors go through their paces onstage, I have to be all directors, calling out suggestions, making changes. As playwright, it's hard to admit sometimes, 'well, this line doesn't work. Let's try something else.' A director has to think of the cast and what will work

"Fortunately" Bromley says, grinning "this playwright and this director have worked well together so and and what won't."

the future of Ranger.

A few more of my future plans are to update more of our water and sewer lines, which were layed in 1921. To construct an animal control shelter and employ an animal control officer. To do everything possible toward getting a new landfill opened.

In my opinion, with the assistance of Commissioner Phil Tankersley and the in coming city council members, these plans can be completed. These situations require experience to accomplish plans for the future. Being your Mayor for the past 4 years has given me an insight to the problems, which confront our city government.

I feel that my experience in the field and knowledge of city hall, certainly qualify me for re-election, to serve another term as your Mayor.

As mayor, I urge each and every qualified voter to cast a ballot in the up coming election, and support the candidate of your choice.

I am taking this opportunity to say, that your vote, and your influence will be greatly appreciated.

Has Easter Taken Place In Me?

Easter is not just a holiday that occurs in the spring of the year. Easter is happening everyday in the hearts of thousands, both far and near.

Easter is the realization of the fact that Jesus is God's Holy Son. That He was crucified and arose again to offer salvation to everyone.

So, please do not attempt to replace Jesus with Easter bunnies, candy, and clothes. Ask yourself a vital question, Let's not overemphasize the lesser matters, for eternally these will not survive. Let's teach our children about Easter each day. Make Jesus the Lord daily of our lives.

MEDICAL RESEARCH SUPPORTS CHIROPRACTIC

The British Medical Journal reports that Chiropractic treatment of low back pain, which affects 75 million Americans, is superior to the standard regimen administered by medical doctors.

The study, published in the summer of 1990, indicated that chiropractic manipulation can relieve severe back pain quicker and at lower cost than medical treatment! Chiropractic patients experienced less pain and disability and missed fewer days work.

At Barry Chiropractic Clinic we are committed to not only getting you free of back pain Lut treating those conditions which cause your pain. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

One of the most extraordinary personages in the history of the Texas oil booms was MATTIE CASTLEBURY. She followed the oil booms and set up dance halls. She was married seven times. Her last two clubs in Kilgore and Longview became nationally known. I am looking for the names of her clubs in several towns and the names of two husbands. Her first husband was ROBERT HENRY ARTHUR by whom she had two boys. This marriage dissolved after 1910.

In 1924 while owning the WHITE WAY DANCE HALL in Cromwell, OK, she was Mrs. E. JONAS (first name not known). While in Borger, TX in the late 20s, she married CLIFF CASTLEBURY. The following are towns in which she had clubs. The clubs are listed if known. Any information about her, or her clubs, is desired. There is one special fact. She hired ladies called TAXI DAN-CERS to dance with the men. The men bought tickets like at a carnival and gave the ticket to one of the TAXI DAN-CERS. Each dancer was paid according to the number of tickets held at the end of the evening. Cromwell, OK, WHITE WAY DANCE HALL (ORCLUB); Borger, TX, TOKIO CLUB and WHITE WAY DANCE CLUB; Conroe, TX, MATTIE'S DANCE HALL; Kilgore, TX, MATTIE'S BALL-ROOM; Longview, TX, MATTIE'S PALM ISLE; Ranger, TX; Rule, TX; Breckenridge, TX; Burkburnett, TX. I would appreciate hearing from anyone with names of the clubs in Ranger, Rule, Breckenridge and Burkburnett, Texas, and any other information one might know. Also names of any husbands of Mattie Castlebury.

TAX SEASON 1995

Attention Retirees:

How Secure Is Your Social Security?

A s part of the 1993 Tax Act, up to 85 percent of your Social Security may be subject to federal income tax as of January 1, 1994. If you're married and your provisional income (half of your Social Security benefits plus your tax-free income and adjusted gross income) exceeds $44,000, you may be subject to higher taxes than in past years. Individuals will be subject to higher taxes if their provisional income exceeds $34,000.

If you're concerned about how this new law will affect the taxation of your Social Security, your local Edward D. Jones and Co. investment representative can give you a report that calculates what portion of your Social Security benefits will be taxed. The calculation can also show you whether shifting some of your assets to tax-free or tax-deferred investments could help reduce your tax burden in the future.

Call your Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative to schedule an appointment for this free Social Security tax calculation. He or she can work with you and your tax professional to develop an investment strategy that fits your needs.

Muni Bonds — Interest Rates Are Up, But Supply Is Down

The good news for investors looking ■ for tax-free income is that today's yields on tax-free municipal bonds (muni bonds) are more attractive than they have been in the past three years, thanks to rising interest rates.

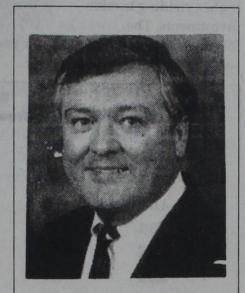

The bad news is that investors may have a hard time finding tax-free bonds of the maturities, issuers and quality they want. That's because the supply of taxfree bonds has declined more than 40 percent since 1993 and is likely to continue to fall. In the first ten months of 1993, $247 billion worth of muni bonds were issued, while only $138 billion were issued in the first ten months of 1994.

If you're in need of tax-free income and a high-quality bond is available in your area, now is the time to act. Contact your investment representative for information on bonds currently available.

Can I Afford Retirement?

The answer to this question is a ■ primary concern for individuals of all ages, from those just starting to think about a savings plan to those within a few years of retirement. Because Social Security and employer pensions are funding a smaller part of retirement income, greater emphasis must be placed on personal savings. In fact, a company plan and your Social Security benefits combined will only provide about 54 percent of the income you will need for retirement*. The remaining 46 percent must come from personal savings and investments.

Because IRAs provide the benefit of tax-deferred growth, they are among the best tools available for building retirement savings. If you're already contributing to an IRA, you're already enjoying the benefits of taxdeferred growth. But, is your IRA working hard enough? Even a small change in the rate of return you're earning could have a significant impact on those dollars. The chart below illustrates the value of a $25,000 IRA after 10 years invested at seven percent, nine percent and 11 percent.

If your IRA isn't working as hard as it could, it may be time to consider some new alternatives. Edward D. Jones & Co. can offer you a variety of IRA investments that meet your retirement needs, and may earn a higher rate of return than your current IRA. Transferring your IRA is easy.

Step 1: Bring in your present IRA for a free, no-obligation analysis. Step 2: If you decide a change is in order, your investment representative will provide Retirement Income the paperwork. Step 3: Your investment representative will help you select an investment strategy to meet your retirement goals.

Sound like a good idea? Your local Edward D. Jones & Co. investment Personal Savings representative can prepare a free computerized IRA analysis that will show you what your IRA could be worth when you retire, based on the value and rate of return of your current IRA. It can even show how that amount will change if you increase the rate of return you're earning by even a small deadline for establishing a business retirement plan? Don't worry. You still have time to establish a retirement plan for a 1994 contribution. How? Through a Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) plan.

A SEP is the only plan that can be established and funded through your business' tax filing deadline, including extensions (the deadline for calendar year corporations is March 15; for sole proprietors and calendar year partnerships, it is April 15)*. In addition, SEP contributions are a deductible business expense which means greater tax savings for you!

Most importantly, you benefit from the advantages of tax-deferred growth! Since you pay no taxes on your earnings until you begin withdrawals, every dollar contributed works to earn interest for you. Over time, those dollars really add up. The following chart illustrates the benefits of making contributions to a taxdeferred account versus a taxable account.

In addition, contributions to a SEP are flexible: Contribution percentages can vary from year to year, and annual contributions are not required. Plus, no additional Internal Revenue Service (IRS) filings are required. If you are interested in establishing a SEP, all you have to do is call. Your Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative can show you how the SEP can work for you, your employees and your business. At Edward_ D. Jones & Co., we know how hard you've worked for your money, so we'll do everything we can to help you develop an investment strategy that fits your criteria for safety and growth. *April 15, 1995, is a Saturday. #### When Less Is More

If you're looking for tax relief, don't loverlook the benefits of tax-free investments. Although at first glance the yields on tax-free investments may appear to be less attractive than those on comparable taxable investments, in many cases, tax-free investments can actually provide you with more spendable income than higher yielding taxable investments. The following chart shows you what you would need to earn on a taxable investment in order to receive the same amount of after-tax income that a tax-free investment pays.

For example, if you're in the 28 percent tax bracket, you would need to earn 7.64 percent on a taxable investment to get the same amount of after-tax income you would get from a tax-free bond paying 5.5 percent.

Because you don't pay federal income taxes on the interest you earn from tax-free investments, they can actually give you more

after-tax income than taxable investments with higher yields. ■

Growth Stocks Get Boost from Tax Act of 1993

Many high-income earners felt the effects of higher tax bills last year due to the Tax Act of 1993. That's because the Act-increased the maximum tax rate on ordinary income (like dividend income) from 31 percent to 39.6 percent.

Taxpayers in high-income tax brackets can find some relief, however, through long-term investments in the stocks of growth companies. Rather than paying high dividends, growth companies put more of their earnings back into the business to increase their capital gains potential.

Capital gains are attractive from a tax perspective because they are taxed at a maximum rate of 28 percent as long as the investor holds the stock for more than 12 months. Dividend income, interest income and short-term capital gains, on the other hand, are taxed at up to the 39.6 percent maximum rate.

That means that an investor in the 39.6 percent tax bracket with $1,000 in interest income would pay $396 in taxes, while the same investor would pay only $280 in taxes on $1,000 of long-term capital gains. That's a savings of 29 percent, $116.

Although all growth stock investors can benefit from increased capital gains potential and the favorable capital gains tax rate, investors who buy and hold their quality growth stocks have an added benefit — tax deferral. That's because taxes on capital gains are deferred until the year the investor sells the stock.

Over time, these advantages can make a big difference, because more of your money stays invested and compounds tax-deferred. In general, the longer your money stays invested, the better.

For example, consider the case of two individuals who both start with $10,000 and buy growth stocks that appreciate 12 percent in value each year and pay no dividend. One individual, the buy-and-sell investor or trader, buys and sells a different growth stock each year, while the other individual, the buy-and-hold investor, buys only one growth stock and holds it over the investment period. The following graph shows the after-tax accumulated wealth each investor achieves over

$10,000 Investment yielding 12% $250,000 Buy and Sell Buy and Hold $218,511 $200,000 $150,000 $100,000 $50,000 $20,132 $25,162

Investment Horizon

20 Years

30 Years

10-, 20- and 30-year time periods.

As you can see, a buy-and-hold strategy is better for the investor. And, the longer the investment period, the greater the advantages. Over a 30-year period, a buy-and-hold investor who buys a growth stock with an annual return of nine percent will even out-perform a high-turnover investor who buys and sells growth stocks with an annual return of 12 percent.

Although tax consequences should always be considered in an investment decision, they should never override fundamental considerations of quality and suitability to the needs of the individual investor. Also, because of the complexity of tax laws and regulations, it's a good idea to consult your investment representative and your tax professional before making a tax-related investment decision.

If you would like more information on growth stocks, your local Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative can show you a number of high-quality householdname companies that fit your investment needs.

Investment Ideas to Make 1995 Less Taxing

Many taxpayers were shocked when they filled out their 1993 tax returns as the tax increases legislated by the Tax Act of 1993 became a reality. If you haven't already taken steps to reduce your tax bill, the sooner you act, the better.

Tax-free investments like municipal bonds, tax-free unit trusts and tax-free mutual funds can help protect your hard-earned income. Each of these investments has unique characteristics and benefits, so it's important that you choose the one(s) best suited for your individual needs. A well-rounded portfolio should probably contain a mix of the three to achieve an over-all balance of investment objectives.

The chart to the right lists the major characteristics of the three types of tax-free investments: 1) tax-free municipal bonds, 2) tax-free unit investment trusts and 3) tax-free mutual funds.

Tax-Free Municipal Bonds

Municipal bonds are issued by a state or a political subdivision (such as a county, city, town or village) to fund important public projects and services, like highways, hospitals, housing and public education.

Municipal bondholders receive fixedinterest payments every six months over the life of the bond and receive their original investment (their principal) when the bond matures. Maturities can be shortterm, or as long as 30 years. The interest earned from municipal bonds is free from federal income tax and, in some cases, state and local tax. In addition, some municipal bonds carry insurance as to the timely payment of principal and interest.

Investors can own individual municipal bonds, or they can own municipal bonds through other investments, like unit investment trusts and tax-free mutual funds.

Tax-Free Unit Trusts

A municipal bond unit trust is an investment in a fixed, diversified group of municipal bonds. The bonds are selected by investment professionals and monitored for quality.

Like individual municipal bonds, unit trusts offer tax-free interest and a fixed rate of return. Some trusts are also insured as to the timely payment of principal and interest. Investors can choose to receive (continued on page 4)

Diversification	Own one bond	Own part of 10-30 bonds	Own part of 30-100 bonds
Interest rate	Fixed interest rate	Fixed interest rate	Interest varies with the market

The insurance available on these investments guarantees the timely payment of principal and interest but does not affect market value, which may be more or less than the original cost upon redemption.

Unit trusts & mutual funds are offered and sold by prospectus. The prospectus contains more complete information, including charges and expenses, which you should obtain and read carefully before investing or sending any money.

Investing in 1995: The View from Capitol Hill

The November 1994 elections resulted L in a major swing in political power from the Democrats to the Republicans. This is the largest gain by Republicans in nearly 50 years. Republicans have indicated that their top priorities include reductions in government control, lower taxes and a balanced federal budget. There has also been discussion about a reduction in the capital gains tax rate as well as a tax-rate cut for middle-class Americans in 1995. Such tax cuts would make investing more attractive and accessible for many Americans.

It is important to remember, however, that the success of any legislative agenda is not guaranteed. It is even more important to remember that the political climate does not dictate the long-term performance of the stock market. The U.S. economic system is much more powerful than the political system, and many well-known, well-established companies and the stocks they issue have survived decades of political change.

For example, health care stocks suffered a dramatic decline in value when major health care reform was under consideration two years ago. Since then, health care stocks have recouped their losses, and many have reached new highs.

The bottom line, as always, is that investment decisions should not be based on election results or short-term movements of the market. Regardless of the political climate, the basic rules of successful investing will serve you well: Stick to quality — The soundness of your overall investment strategy is only as good as the quality of the individual investments you own. Investors should look for well-managed companies with long track records of growth and performance.

Diversify — No single investment performs well under all market conditions. Diversification spreads your assets among a variety of high-quality securities, so your success is not tied to one company or one type of investment. Invest for the long term — Most successful investors make their money over time, not overnight. The most consistently successful strategy for building long-term financial security is to buy and hold high-quality common stocks.

These are just a few general guidelines investors can follow to reach their financial goals, regardless of who holds political power. For help planning an investment strategy that fits your agenda, not the government's, contact your local Edward D. Jones & Co. representative.

An Important Message for Every Investor

Three-Day Settlement (T+3)

Deginning June 1, 1995, the Securities Dand Exchange Commission will adopt a new rule that will affect the way investors buy and sell securities. Under the new rule, called T+3, investors will have three business days instead of the current five to pay for securities they purchase or to deliver certificates they sell.

The new rule should help curb risk in the marketplace, especially in times of market turbulence, like a downturn or a steep sell-off. The new ruling also means that investors will receive the proceeds from any sale sooner and will see their reinvestment dollars start working for them two days earlier.

T+3 will mean adjustments in the way many investors conduct their securities transactions. In most cases, using the postal service to remit payment or send in certificates for a trade will not be fast enough. In short, funds for securities purchased may need to be on deposit in an account at the time a transaction

Investors can prepare for three-day settlement by holding their securities in firm name. Holding securities in firm name simply means that investors turn their stock and bond certificates over to their investment firm to be placed in safekeeping on their behalf. When securities are held in firm name, investors don't have to worry about delivering funds or certificates when they buy or sell securities. Transactions can be handled immediately because their investment representative will have their securities on hand. That means their money keeps working for them at all times.

Plus, by holding investments in firm name, investors avoid the risk of having their certificates lost or stolen if they're kept at home. Holding investments in firm name also eliminates the need for and cost monthly, quarterly or semiannual payments. They can also choose to reinvest their interest payments to purchase more units of the trust so that returns compound over time.

Tax-Free Mutual Funds

A tax-free mutual fund is a professionally managed pool of 30 to 100 bonds that are exempt from federal taxes, and in some cases, state taxes.

Mutual funds have no set maturity date, so investors can sell their shares on any business day. However, the selling price can be higher or lower than the purchase price depending current interest rates. Because share prices fluctuate, monthly payments will vary. Like unit trusts, mutual funds offer the option to reinvest income for compounding return.

Before you purchase a tax-free investment, you should make sure the

Tax Swapping: Turn Your Investment Loss Into a Win

Believe it or not, you can turn an investment loss to your advantage. It's a strategy called tax swapping, which simply means that you sell an investment at a loss to offset a capital gain and replace it with a similar investment. Although tax swaps are typically employed at year end, you can take advantage of swaps year-round.

Tax swapping is particularly appropriate now that the increase in interest rates over the past year has caused a drop in bond prices. If you plan to hold your bonds to maturity, then price declines aren't as important, because you will always receive your initial investment at maturity. If, however, you sell a bond that has experienced a price decline and buy a similar bond at approximately the same price, you convert a "paper" loss to a real loss. You can then use this loss to offset any amount of capital gains and up to $3,000 of ordinary income when you pay your 1994 tax bill.

THE LIFE OF A BOND TAX SWAP

- 1. You buy 50 corporate bonds issued by ABC Co. with a face value of $50,000. The bonds pay 6.35 percent and are due Dec. 15, 2005.
- 2. Interest rates rise, and the value of your bonds drop from $1,000 each to $800 each.
- 3. You sell your ABC bonds and declare a $10,000 loss. [The original value of the bonds ($50,000) minus the current value of the bonds ($40,000) equals a loss of $10,000.]
- 4. To replace the bonds you sold, you purchase 50 corporate bonds issued by XYZ Corporation with a face value of $50,000. The bonds pay 6.35 percent and are due June 1, 2023.

5. The \$10,000 loss you declared can now be used to offset up to \$10,000 in capital gains. Say, for instance, you sold 100 shares of your favorite stock for a profit of \$7,000 earlier this year. You can use \$7,000 of the loss to offset that gain. This would translate into a tax savings of \$1,960 assuming the proceeds of the stock sale are taxed at 28 percent ( $$7,000 \times 0.28 = $1,960$ ). The remaining \$3,000 could then be used to offset ordinary income for an additional tax savings of \$840, again assuming a tax rate of 28 percent ( $$3,000 \times 0.28 = $840$ ). This does not include the cost of swapping your bonds, which must also be taken into consideration.

Was your capital loss more than your capital gain? That's okay. Any excess capital loss can be carried over to future years indefinitely to offset future gains or ordinary income.

Of course, there are some restrictions. The Internal Revenue Service won't recognize a tax loss if you purchase the same bond or a "substantially identical" bond within 30 days before or after the date of sale. Securities are considered substantially identical if they come from the same issuer and have a similar interest rate or maturity.

Reducing your tax burden isn't the only advantage of swapping investments. Swaps can help you achieve several investment objectives, such as:

- increasing current income
- diversifying your portfolio
- improving the quality of your portfolio
- extending or shortening maturities
- increasing total yield to maturity

Annuities: Sometimes It Pays to Wait

A nnuities are emerging as a popular retirement planning vehicle for individuals. In fact, experts estimate that in 1994, more than $50 billion of annuities were purchased.

Why the interest?

Annuities are attractive because they provide tax-deferred growth. Since you don't pay taxes on earnings until you withdraw money from your annuity (typically at retirement), the dollars that would have gone to the government stay invested and compound over time. The example below illustrates the benefit of tax-deferred growth for a $10,000 one-time investment, assuming eight percent interest compounded annually and a 28 percent tax bracket.

There are two basic types of taxdeferred annuities for you to choose from: fixed and variable. Fixed annuities allow you to invest your money at a guaranteed rate, for a guaranteed period of time. You can select among a variety of maturities.

Most fixed annuities offer you the opportunity to access your money while it is accumulating. Generally, you can select an annual withdrawal, or you may choose to guarantee a fixed income stream for the rest of your life. These withdrawals would be subject to any contractual limitations, as well as applicable IRS regulations.

Variable annuities offer you the potential growth opportunities associated with the stock and bond markets while providing the benefits of tax deferral. The investment sub-accounts inside a variable annuity are managed by professional money managers. In addition, variable annuities offer a unique death benefit: upon your death, your heirs will receive no less than your initial investment, less any withdrawals taken, regardless of the market value of your annuity at that time.

If you're concerned about your financial security during retirement, your local Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative can help you determine whether an annuity is appropriate for you.

The Value of Tax-Deferred Growth
	Value after 10 years	Value after 20 years	Value after 30 years
Taxable investment	$17,507	$30,650	$53,659
Tax-deferred investment*	$21,589	$46,610	$100,627
Percent you're ahead with tax deferral	23.3%	52.1%	87.5%
Dollars you're ahead with tax deferral	$4,082	$15,960	$46,968

*Tax-deferred amounts have not been adjusted for taxes due upon withdrawal.

This example assumes an 8% rate of return and does not represent currently available rates.
