Eastland County Commissioners Monday lifted the ban on rected by Ranger outdoor burning, pro-College Men's Head vided that people notify Tommy local Fire Departments Simmons and Ranger before starting fires.

The motion to life the ban came after some discussion with Bill Dolen of the Eastland Fire Department. Dolen said that conditions were more favorable for burning than in previous weeks, although still not ideal.

He urged caution even in controlled burnings, and said if Fire Departments were notified they would be in a better position to help if anything went wrong.

The Court agreed on this. Judge Scott Bailey said that the recent rain had helped the drought situation some, but the county was still running far behind on totals. High winds had also pulled moisture from the ground, he noted. In other business, Russ Thomason, representing a Committee, requested that the Commissioners Court try to bring some resolution to the problem of Courthouse Square.

"I know parking has been a concern here for many years," Thomason said. "The onehour parking is not enforced."

He told of one elderly lady who needed in the Courthouse, but could find no place to park near the building. She tried to walk a block, and fell and hurt herself.

Thomason added that streams of courthouse employees had been observed coming out every hour or so, wiping off parking marks and moving cars to another space.

In addition to access to the Courthouse, merchants around the Square need space for customers to park, Thomas stated. Eastland City Manager Paul Catoe told of events leading to the City reverting control of Courthouse parking back to the County. He said that the city ran into a situation where many people mostly public officials were asking for parking exemptions. A number of spaces are _- parking around the held for Law Enforcement personnel, and two sides of the Courthouse are state highways.

> "So in Feb. 1990 the Eastland City Commission passed an ordinance to revert control back to the County," Catoe said.

> Catoe said that if the Commissioners would put terms and conditions of the parking ordinance and enforcement in a written format the City might consider going back to enforcing parking.

Thomason asked if the Commissioners Court would consider sending out a memorandum that action would be taken. he said. The Commissioners agreed that something needed to be done. They said a letter would be prepared for Courthouse personnel, and other action would follow. In another agenda item, Deputy Wayne Bradford reported on staffing for the Sheriff's Department. He said that two new jailers had been hired. "It's all 'up to snuff,' (Continued Inside) the burning ban by the County Commissioners Court, officials of local fire departments are urging citizens to notify their local departments when controlled burns are planned.

Too often when the departments are not notified of controlled burns, one official said, fires are reported and we dispatch trucks unnecessarily. If we know that there is a controlled burn in a particular area, then we don't have to dispatch trucks, saving expense and possible danger to volunteers,

By Chad McKimson and Lance Johnson On the USS Nimitz -The U.S. Navy is often seen as a worldwide watchdog and its aircraft carriers are the Doberman pinchers whose presence is enough to deter most aggressors.

Navy Petty Officer 1st Class James N. Stuart II, the 28 year old son of Billie Sue Chance of Strawn. is one of the more than 5,000 sailors and officers on the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, who is currently keeping a watchful eye on activities in the Western Pacific.

The 95,000 ton carrier was sent to the region from the Arabian Gulf to monitor the recent Chinese military exercises conducted in the Taiwan lion operating budget. Stuart and the Nimitz demonstrated their flexibility by traveling more than 4,000 miles from the Arabian Gulf to the South China Sea in less than a week. The ability to quickly project a powerful presence in any corner of the globe is a crucial part of naval operations.

Today, U.S. aircraft carriers continue to operate from the Indian Ocean and Western Pacific to the Arabian Gulf and the Mediterranean Sea. Aircraft carriers like the Nimitz, with more than 80 aircraft, serve as a deterrent to potential aggressors and can respond on short notice to any crisis around the world.

"I really enjoyed the Gold Suk Shopping Center in Dubai, United Arab Emirates," said Stuart, a 10 year Navy veteran.

Exciting port visits and interesting job opportunities are just a few of the reasons that Stuart finds that Navy a fulfilling and rewarding experience.

"The Navy has allowed me to build a future for myself while doing my part to serve my country," said Stuart.

While Stuart and the est of the crew of the Nimitz stand ready to answer the call, thousands of other Sailors in the Western Pacific are preparing to deploy to take the place of the vigilant watchdog. The Nimitz is scheduled to return to its homeport of Bremerton, Wash., in late May.

Tom and Lois (Moore) Ervin, Jr. of Nashville, Tennessee visited the weekend in Desdemona with family and friends. Tom graduated from D.H.S. with the class of 1941 and Lois with the Class of 1942. Their parents are the late Tom and Martha Ervin, Sr. and the late Floyd and Myrtie (Dyson) Moore.

Paul and Scott Pittman of Fort Worth are visiting a few days with their grandparents, Elwood and Nell (Grimshaw) Ragland.

Dorothy Roberts spent two days in a Fort Worth Hospital and the rest of the week with her daughter, Ulenda Weaver and family. She returned home on Monday.

Our sincere sympathy goes out to the family of Rodger Rainey, 41, of Stephenville who was buried on Tuesday, May 7 with a graveside service in the Desdemona Cemetery. Survivors include his mother, Winnie Carter light, Rainey of Stephenville; three brothers, Jack Rainey and Randy Rainey both of Stephenville, and Larry Rainey of Ranger; two sisters, Wanda Fox Thetford of Graham and Joyce Sides of De Leon.

The Rainey family are side you, former residents of Desdemona where the children attended school.

Charles and Sara Williams of Granbury visited on Sunday with his brother, Leo and Eloise (Wisdom) Williams; his gray. sisters, Ruth Daffron, Evelyn and W.T. Yardley all of Desdemona.

This reporter received ing waiting, a note from Max Bailey (Class of 1941) of Lubbock. They would like to say "Hello" to all of their friends in this area. They are doing fine.

Hazel Koonce is doing much better since her back surgery. She was able to attend church on Mother's Day.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

STEPHEN G. BARRY D.C.

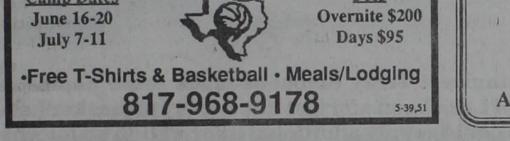

CHIROPRACTOR-

MEDICAL RESEARCH SUPPORTS CHIROPRACTIC

The British Medical Journal reports that Chiropractic treatment of low back pain, which affects 75 million Americans, is superior to the standard regimen administered by medical doctors. The study, published in the summer of 1990, indicated that chiropractic manipulation can relieve severe back pain quicker and at lower cost than medical treatment. Chiropractic patients experienced less pain and disability and missed fewer days work. At Barry Chiropractic Clinic we are committed to not only getting you free of back pain but treating those conditions which cause your pain. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

The Morton Valley Family Community Education Club met at the home of Betty & Tommy Nichols, east of Eastland, May 8, 1996.

President Flo Williamson called the meeting to order at 2 p.m. Eleven members and 2 guests attended. Flo handed out all the pieces of the quilt blocks she had cut out for the members to start setting them together. That was a nice surprise - now we have to get busy and cers. Everyone of our ladies deserve a round of applause for the time and energy, to make our post and community proud. The next meeting will

Over the weekend of April 27-28, Ken's Motorcycle Shop led a group of about 40 ATV enthusiasts to the sand dunes. Little Sahara, located in Oklahoma, has become a favorite spot for eager four wheeler riders to test their skills. On this particular trip, people from Lubbock, Fort Worth, Madisonville, and Bryan joined local ATV fans for a weekend of fun and excitement. Thanks to a lot of skill and a little luck, no one

Home Tips

POTPOURRI OF TIPS - I like to read and use the ideas in your column. I have several time-savers. One is that when I receive mail, I cut the return address mailing label from the envelope. Then I stick that in my address book with clear tape. It saves writing, is correct and complete and can easily be removed when changed.

My second helpful idea is that I also cut logos, company headings, etc., from envelopes, letter heads and correspondence. I then tape these to the tabs of my filing folders that I keep my bills and receipts in. When opening the file drawer, these tabs are easily read and quick to identify instead of writing utilities, gas, electric, doctor, and so on. Both ideas are good for the elderly or those with arthritis, where writing may be a problem.

My third idea is for recycling the boutique-type tissue boxes. I cut the tops off, straight around, and use them in my sewing room for storing hem tape, bias tape, ribbon and lace pieces that are wrapped around cardboard strips or in original packages. They stay organized and are easy to use when I need them. These boxes are good also in closet shelves to store small items, such as disposable razors, combs, new toothbrushes, cream tubes, etc.

One last tip: Use clear contact paper to attach clipped recipes to recipe cards instead of copying them. Linda S., Fowlerville, Mich.

Household Help

by John Amantea

Standing before a beautiful sofa is like eyeing a delicious cake. From all appearances, it seems great - but what's inside?

What really makes a sofa a success - comfortable and durable - is the inside story: how it's constructed, the quality of the frame, springs, cushions, materials and filling, and how they're all put together.

From the Hardwood Manu' turers Association, a napointers on what to look tional trade group, here are sc for when shopping for uphols ed furniture. You can get these and other free decorating : deas by calling the association, toll-free at 1-800-373-WOOD.

High quality upholstered furniture frames are made of kiln-dried solid hardwoods such as oak, cherry, maple and poplar. Be sure to find out if the frame instead is made of plywood, strand board, fiberboard, particleboard, steel or plastic

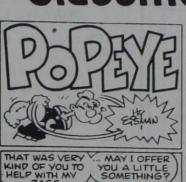

Just as you would look underneath the hood of a car, check out the bottom of the sofa. The best have legs that are part of the frame. Screwed-on legs are a dead giveaway of poor construction Frames can be assembled with screws, dowels, nails, staples and glue. Top-quality furniture has reinforcement blocks which have been screwed and glued for added strength.

The best way to select a sofa is to take it for a test drive Sit on it and bounce up and down lightly. Loud creaks or thumps may mean the springs are hitting the frame.

Some cushions are firm and solid, while others are soft and pliant. No matter what your preference, the cushions always should offer you support. Look for solid cores of foam wrapped with another material, such as down or cotton batting for added comfort. The filling is what gives a sofa its shape and affects the price

PRIME TIME WITH KIDS by Donna Erickson

Indoor Gardening

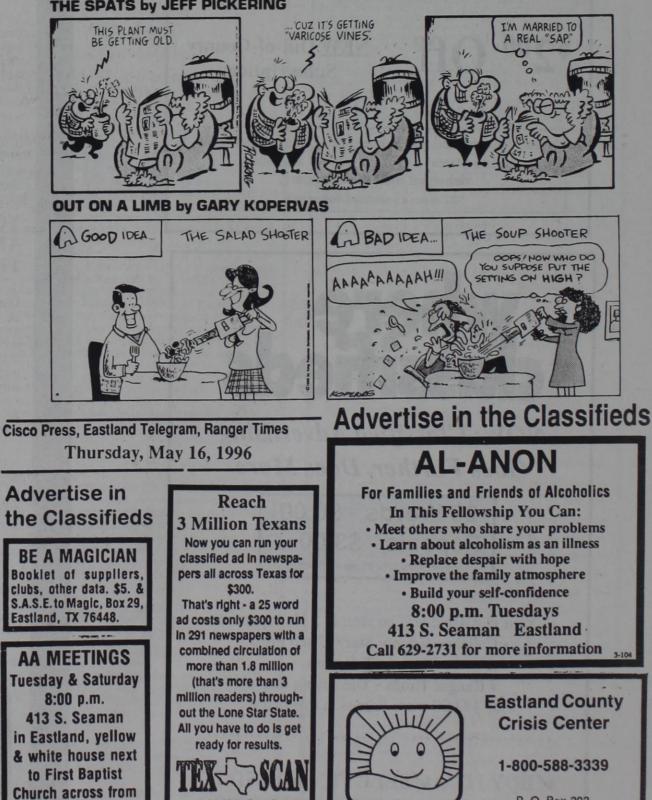

Spring is a good time to help your growing indoor plants turn over a new leaf!

Let your children help you identify indoor plants that need repotting. You can tell if a plant is ready to move to larger quarters by tapping it out of its pot onto newspaper and inspecting the roots. If the roots are balled up in a circle, it's time for a bigger home.

Choose a clean flowerpot that's one size larger than the current one. If you use a clay pot, soak it in water before you repot the plant. Place a few small stones, gravel or pieces of broken pottery over the drainage hole to prevent the plant from becoming soggy when you water it. Set the plant in the middle of the pot. Let the kids use a small gardening shovel to scoop out and place potting soil around the plant. Try not to pack the soil too tightly. Remind your gardeners that plants are living things and they need room to breathe. Proceed to water.

If you have a spider plant which has runners with small plantlets, enjoy growing the plantlets in small pots. First, fill a small clean jar with water. Cut a plantlet off a runner and set it on the top of the jar so that the bottom of the plantlet touches the water. Watch for roots to appear in about a week. When the roots are an inch long, plant in a small pot filled with moist potting soil as described above. With a little care from the kids and some help from Mother Nature, you'll find lots of colorful blooms and fresh green leaves to liven up your family's home.

May In Texas A Century To Remember

One hundred years ago, Texans were poised to enter a new century full of promise and progress. At the time, most Texans lived on farms or in small towns, in homes that lacked electricity, telephones, and indoor plumbing. In 1896, a group of Texas farmers banded together to create Germania Mutual Aid Association, a farm mutual insurance association, to protect one another from potentially devastating losses.

Today as the 20th Century near its end, Germania - now known as The Germania Companies has become one of Texas' strongest home-owned insurance groups. To celebrate its 100th anniversary of protecting generations of Texans, Germania takes a look back at some of the amazing, amusing, and dramatic events that have made this a century to remember.

1902 A tornado shatters the Sunday calm in Goliad as it cuts a 250-yard swath through downtown and destroys virtually everything in its path. Several churches were demolished, including one that was still conducting services. All 40 worshipers were killed or injured. The storm killed 114, in- injuring 597. The tornado jured 230, and caused an damaged or destroyed estimated $200,000 in more than 1,000 homes damage. 1908 An unusual rain- structures, causing more storm causes severe flood- than $41 million in total ing from the upper Trin- property damage. across Central and South Texas. The rains caused more than $5 million in property damage.

1927 After 25 years of operating in a tiny building on founder L.F. Niebuhr's property, Germania celebrates the completion of its first permanent home - a new office building on the outskirts of Brenham. "The beauty, stability, and convenient features of this new structure (give) every member ... reason to be proud," the Brenham Banner-Press reported in a front-page article on May 4. Germania occupied the building until 1980, when it once again

Edward Jones Honors Five Communities For Revitalizing Their Main Streets In Contest

Jim M. Bruton the Eastland investment representative for the financial-services firm Edward Jones, has announced the five winners of the Great American Mail Street Awards. This year's winning communities are Bonaparte, Iowa; Chippewa Falls, Wis.; the East Carson Street Business District of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Saratoga Springs, N.Y.; and Wooster, Ohio.

The annual contest, co-sponsored by Jones and the National Trust for Historic Preservation's National Main Street Center, is designed to recognize achievements in downtown revitalization. Representatives of the winning communities will receive their awards during the April 29th opening session of the 1996 National Town Meeting on Main Street in Nashville, Tenn.

"The Great American Main Street Award winners have overcome challenges that many communities across the nation are with," struggling -Bruton said. "With courage, pride, cooperation, and hope, these communities have turned their challenges into victories." Award recipients accomplished these results with active involvement in the revitalization process from both the public and private sectors, broadbased community support for their revitalization efforts, overall success in boosting the downtown economy, and adaptive use and preservation of key historic downtown buildings.

Bonaparte, Iowa, raised $100,000 by selling shares in a new corporation and used the funds to transform a decaying downtown into a thriving and livable business district. * Chippewa Falls, Wis., parlayed thousands of volunteer hours and a small public investment into a bustling downtown where people live and

* In Pittsburgh, Pa., the eroding East Carson Business District redefined itself as a vital, well-lived-in

community that successfully intertwines housing and small business.

* Saratoga Springs, N.Y., turned a dismal jumble of aging buildings and retail spaces into a commercial corridor filled with speciality clothing, stores, garden shops, jewelry stores, restaurants and an arts center.

Wooster, Ohio, * gave its downtown a new life as a centerpiece for the best in modern retailing, thanks to the unwavering commitment of its residents and a giant multi-national corporation.

The issue of downtown revitalization hits close to home for Jones. The firm has more than 3,300 branches in 49 states, many of which are located in downtowns and neighborhood commercial districts. In addition, a number of those offices are in historic buildings which, in some cases, have been recognized for their restorations and preservation of local history.

With more offices than any other brokerage firm in the nation, Jones maintains a corporate philosophy that entwines business and community involvement. In keeping with its grass-roots presence, Jones encourages its representatives to be involved in the communities in which they live and work.

"Community involvement is a hallmark of Jones," Bruton

it's through a nationally organized awards program honoring economic revitalization, through regional donations for natural-disaster relief, or through local charity support, we at Jones are strongly committed to supporting the communities in which we have offices." The Great American

> Main Street Awards competition was open to cities and towns of all sizes. Entries were judged by a national panel of experts in architecture and community planning, preservation, finance and service. Each winner will receive $5,000 to further its revitalization efforts, along with trophies, certificates and road signs to mark its achievement.

This year marks the second year in which Jones has collaborated with the Main Street Center to sponsor the Great American Main Street Awards. In addition to co-sponsoring the awards program, Jones has used its private satellite network to help economic revitalization efforts across the country. Over the past several years, Jones has broadcast training seminars on downtown restoration to community leaders throughout the nation.

Since 1980, the Main Street Center has helped 900 towns and cities restore and reuse their historic resources as part of an overall strategy to restructure and reinvigorate downtown Pulling Together By Wanda Skinner with the exception of Courthouse Security," Bradford said. "Two jailers are on duty at all times, with the exception of Saturday and Sunday."

He said a new man, Donovan Boyett, had been hired for the security position, and would be on the job in the Courthouse May 28. He is presenting a Deputy with the Sheriff's Department in Shackelford County.

Bradford said that three of the Sheriff's Department personnel were currently in Austin attending a school as required.

Ruth Hart, County Treasurer, said that State Jail Standards require that two jailers always be on duty, even on weekends. Time sheets show that Jail Administrator Jeff Hicks had to go out in the field on duty sometimes, leaving the jail not up to standards, she said.

Sheriff Bob Richardson came to the Courtroom to discuss the matter.

Hart said: "Jeff (Hicks) has been out doing other things. He needs help in setting up his schedule."

Comm. Calvin Ainsworth said: "I think we ought to be certified and stay certiawaiting trial. When County Auditor Ken Parker brought out bills and accounts, he had some information about the budget. The County will soon be having pre-budget conferences. Parker said that overall revenues were down about $50,000 for the current year. Part of that may result from the raising of the speed limits on highways, he remarked. People who travel in Eastland County are not receiving as many speeding tickets.

He said that the County Departments were doing pretty well on holding expenses down. But recently there has been a $15,000 plumbing bill, and $4,500 on air condition repair in the Courthouse. The roofing on the jail cost around $14,700 also.

Later in the day, Secretary Jean White drafted a letter to Courthouse personnel, advising them that parking restrictions would soon be enforced - and requesting that they comply with time limits with areas around the Courthouse.
