SENATORS AT PLAY

NEW FIRE TRUCK ARRIVES, WILL BE TESTED FRIDAY

The Sonora fire department's new fire engine was delivered here Wednesday. The new truck, which has been ordered from the Burk and Simms Fire Equipment Co., will replace an old 1918 model engine. The 1936 model fire truck will remain in service here.

The fire equipment company's representative will inspect the engine. Then, at three o'clock Friday afternoon, an inspector for the State Fire Insurance Commission will test the engine for the city. The engine must be capable of delivering 500 gallons of water per minute under draft; that is, under pressure generated by the truck's pump alone. The test will last about three hours, and the engine must continue to deliver 500 gallons per minute for that length of time.

The new truck, which was delivered complete with new hose, ladders, extinguishers, and equipment, will cost about $5,000, will be accepted only after the State Fire Insurance Inspector has approved it. Two thousand of the five thousand dollars are to be paid out of the county treasurer; the remaining three thousand dollars are to be paid out of the city's general fund.

The fire department plans to use the older truck, the 1936 model, for fires outside the city limits. The older engine has a 500 gallon booster tank on it, the new truck will be a pumper and will have to carry only about one hundred gallons of water.

After the test at the swimming pool, the firemen plan to have a supper for the firemen of neighboring communities. Local firemen who will take part in the inspection and celebration are: Matt Andrews, Pete Andrews, Bob Allison, Sheeny Adkins, Assistant Chief J. H. Brasher, Rae Eastland, Slim Fields, Bill McGilvary, L. A. McMillian, Assistant Chief V. Mullins, Raymond Morgan, Lee Patrick, J. L. Patrick, Beamon Speed, Jimmy Simmons, Chief Cashes Taylor, and Secretary J. W. Trainer, Jr. Firemen from Eldorado, Ozona, Rocksprings, Menard, Junction, San Angelo, and Goodfellow Field will attend.

Wallace Dameron To Judge At Sale

Supt. Wallace Dameron of the Ranch Experiment Station has been selected to judge the Rambouillet classes at the annual San Angelo Sheep Show and Sale, July 29-31.

The Corriedale classes will be judged by E. J. Hughes of the Soil Conservation Service of San Angelo. Judge for the Delaine Class has not been selected.

Registration papers must be delivered at the time of the sale or animals will not be sold. While there will be excellent rams and ewes available for purchase, most of the animals will be regular range rams and may be bought in lots from 3 to 25 head.

Average prices in the 1940 sale follow:
Corriedale—Ewes, $49.75; rams, $128.20; range rams, $30; general average, $32.70.
Rambouillet—Ewes, $31; stud ram, $95.15; range rams, $29.90; general average, $34.95.

Delaine—Ewes, $2; stud rams, $52.75; range rams, $22.45.
Black-face — General average, $21.25.

Cross bred—General average, $211.25.

Because the season has been exceptionally good, both financially and climatically, higher prices are expected to prevail at the 1941 sale.

Complete Sutton County WPA Index

Completion of the WPA naturalization record index in Sutton County, including the names of 122 naturalized citizens, was announced today by John C. Burnside, WPA district manager.

Completion of the project, which was certified by the War Department as important to the National Defense Program, makes information available on all persons naturalized in the county previous to September, 1906. Mr. Burnside stated. Later naturalization records required no servicing, he said, standard procedure having been followed in filing papers since the year 1906. Earlier information had been difficult and sometimes impossible to obtain prior to the completion of the WPA project, he stated.

The naturalization project was sponsored jointly by the Advisory Committee to the Council of National Defense and by the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the Department of Justice. A statewide index of naturalization records will be prepared, arranged alphabetically by counties, and will be made available to the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Carbon copies of index sheets will be available in the offices of county clerks for each county and for future reference and use by investigators and the general public, WPA officials stated.

The project provided approximately 1½ months employment for 1 clerical worker in Sutton County and six months employment for 100 workers in Texas.

BOLT BEATS BURGLARS

The would-be burglars who attempted to break into the Sonora Drug last Friday night did a great deal of work for nothing. They succeeded in tearing the hinges off the back door, but a slide bolt still held the door in place.

Registrant Totals Announced In Austin

Total Selective Service registrants in Texas on July 1 was 34,530, General J. Watt Page, State director, announced today following tabulation of reports received from the State's 351 local boards.

As in the first registration last fall, Harris County led with 2,759 registrants. Dallas County was second with 2,415.

General Page said that 34,126 of the new registrants are young men who have reached the age of 21 since the first registration day on Oct. 16th, 1940.

General Page pointed out that the 21-year-olds who registered on July 1 will not be placed ahead or after the older registrants on their local boards, but they will be integrated proportionately.

For example, he said, if there should happen to be ten new registrants in an area and 100 old registrants awaiting call, one new registrant would be placed after each group of ten old registrants.

The order in which the new registrants will be integrated with the old ones will be determined by a national lottery to be held in Washington D. C., on July 17, General Page said.

Bakery Receives New Equipment, Changes Location

The Sonora Bakery is moving its equipment across the street from the building it now occupies into Robert Hallum's building one door east of the E. F. Vander Stucken Co. hardware department.

The bakery has two pieces of new equipment, an oven and an electrical mixer. The new oven was delivered last Thursday and O. V. Mullins, proprietor, expects to receive the mixer Sunday.

The oven, which has already been installed in the bakery's new place of business, is of a more modern type than the one it replaces. The pans in the new oven revolve constantly so that the bread is baked evenly from all sides.

Mr. Mullins expects to complete the move Sunday, to be open for business in the Hallum Building Monday morning. He is repainting all his fixtures, counters, and show cases as they are moved.

The American Legion, the Lions Club, and the Boy and Girl Scouts have been invited to participate in a "Scrap Aluminum for the U.S." campaign which will begin next Monday with a house-to-house campaign and continue throughout the week.

According to Judge Alvis Johnson, ex-officio chairman of the Commissioners' Court Committee, which has been appointed by the governor to be in charge, no useful aluminum is wanted.

"The committee and solicitors have been told that only surplus unneeded aluminum is wanted," Judge Johnson said.

All scrap collected will first be sent to a preparation center where it will be cut or ground up into the right size for smelting. It will then be shipped again to the smelting plant. Junk yards have agreed to cut and grind the metal free of charge.

Supplementing a previous letter to the 254 county judges of Texas, asking for their leadership in various phases of the civilian defense program in Texas, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, as chairman of the National Defense Committee for Texas, today sent further details of the aluminum collection campaign plans to these officials.

The Governor was named by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, Director of Civilian Defense, as chairman of the campaign for Texas. He immediately designated the county judges as leaders for their respective areas and requested the judges to ask the mayors of incorporated towns and cities to serve as chairmen of their localities.

In cooperation with the Governor's office, H. H. Williamson, Director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, requested the county agents to offer their services to the county judges in connection with the collection plans for the rural areas.

The purpose of the campaign, as communicated to the Governor by Mayor LaGuardia, is to help remedy a shortage of aluminum in national defense production by conducting a nationwide campaign for donations of used aluminumware. Scrap aluminum in large volume is required to prevent a slow down in the defense program.

No aluminum collected in this campaign can be used for non-defense purposes, by virtue of a priorities order effective June 10.

At attempt will be made to canvass every house in the nation to ask housewives to donate the used aluminumware which can be spared without replacement.

The house-to-house canvass and collection will take place July 21 to 29, inclusive.

Aluminum so collected will be deposited in central bins, such as in fire stations; or in other designated places; then taken to the yards of waste dealers for sorting, classifying, and baling; then shipped to smelters.

The waste dealers have been asked as a patriotic service to contribute their supervision and facilities without profit, the Governor was advised.

The metal will be sold to the smelters as a special uniform price fixed by the government. The smelters will pay directly by check to "National Scrap Aluminum Fund," care of the nearest Federal bank. The entire net proceeds will be available to the Office of Civilian Defense, and any expenditures required for the proper defense of the civilian population.

Those wishing to participate in the collection of the aluminum may communicate with the mayors of their towns or with the county judges.

I Give You TEXAS

A noted Texas criminal lawyer was defending a man accused of stealing an automobile.

"This boy," the perspiring advocate said in conclusion, "is as innocent as a new-born babe; he is as pure as the dewdrop that sparkles on the petals of a rose."

While the jury was deliberating, the attorney went over to his hotel room to put on a fresh shirt and when he felt for his watch, he remembered that he had put it on the table in court so he would not speak beyond his allotted time. Hurrying back to the courtroom, he found only two or three spectators and the only man inside his rail was his client—and the watch was not there.

The lawyer said, "Bill, you thieving blankety-blank, give me my watch."

All the testimony had been submitted in a murder trial out in West Texas. The judge told the lawyers for both sides:

"There will be no time limit for argument; each lawyer can take as long as he wishes."

One attorney, noted for his booming voice and liking for speech-making, said:

"From here on, it's a battle of wits."

"You're half right," murmured this columnist, at the press table.

About people you know: Tom King, who recently completed his second term as state auditor, is leaving Austin and returning to Dallas, his former home, to re-engage in his profession of public accounting . . . E. F. Woodward, retired Houston oil man, owns one of the largest thoroughbred breeding establishments in the United States at Hondo; 30 colts and 23 fillies were foaled this Spring. Woodward is one of the best marksmen in Texas, recently hitting 199 out of 200 targets in the state trapshoot . . . Rep. Mack Allison of Stephenville has made a remarkable record for a first-termer, being author of an orchard and nursery bill which assures the public stock free from disease, author of a bill for two new dormitories at John Tarleton College and of three bills affecting Hood and Erath Counties. He supported the omnibus tax bill, truck load limit bill, anti-strike bill and the bill helping farmers by clarifying the carriers' act. This columnist used to know Rep. Allison as a rural school teacher in Fastland County, and a mighty enterprising one, too.

A reader sends in the following, asserting that it is actually a copy of a Texas Dutchman's will probated a few years ago—(the names have been changed):

I am writing of my will mine-self that des lawyir went he have to much money he ask to many answers about the family. Firt think i want done i dont want my brother Gustav to get a d--- think. He done me out of four dollars 14 years since.

I want it that Huldy my sister get the north sixtie akers of at where i am now homing at now i bet she dont get that loafer husband of hers to brake twenty akers next plowing. She cant have it she lets Gustav live on it i want i wast i should have it back if she does.

Tell mamma that six hundret dollars she has been looking for 10 years is berried from the bak-house about ten feet down. She better let little Max do the digging and count it when he comes up.

The preacher can have three hundred if he kisses the book he wont preach no more dumhead talks about politiks. He should a roof put on the meeting house with and the elders should the bills look at.

Mamma should the rest get but i want it so that Rudolph should tell her what not she should do so no more slick irishers sell her vakum cleaner they noise like h--- and a broom dont cost so much.

I want it that mine brother Rudolph be my executor and i want it that the Judge should please make Rudolps plenty bond put up and watch him like h---. Rudolph is a good business man but only a boob would trust his with a busted pfennig.

I want d--- sure Gustav dont nothing get, tell Rudolph he can have a hundret dollars if he prove Judge that Gustav dont get nothing, that d--- sure fix Gustav.

Vegetable Salads For Summer Meals

By Katharine Fisher
Director, Good Housekeeping Institute

Nutritionists tell us to "work in" a leafy, green or yellow vegetable, raw or cooked, once a day, sometimes twice. What better way than via the salad bowl? Salads or raw shredded cabbage, raw slivers of carrots or turnips, diced tomatoes, celery, cucumbers, scallions, etc., temptingly seasoned with salad dressings, give you all the vitamins and minerals raw vegetables offer.

KATHARINE FISHER
Director of
Good Housekeeping
Institute

As for cooked vegetables, into many refrigerators go leftover cooked peas, limas, string beans, carrots, etc. If you toss them with crisp salad greens, raw vegetables, a bit of minced onion, diced green or red pepper, or minced parsley (peppers and parsley are both rich in vitamins A and C) and salad dressing, you can have a salad bowl as varied as you please. Fresh herbs, such as tarragon, chervil, dill, and sorrel, uplift the salad, too. And if a hearty version is more to your liking, just add some grated, crumbled or slivered cheese, diced hard-cooked eggs, meat, fish, or chicken—home-cooked or canned.

In making salad dressings frequently use lemon juice as a seasoning, for it adds vitamin C. Try, too, adding minced onion, chutney, chives, curry, fresh or dried herbs, or sliced olives to bottled or homemade salad dressing.

Jellied salads fit especially well into hot-weather meals. They can be made and safely tucked away into the refrigerator early in the day, or the day before. You can buy packaged gelatin, to which you can add vegetable, meat, or fish mixtures.

Defense Bonds And What They Will Buy

Austin, July 14.—While the eyes of America are focused on the tense situation in Europe, Texas is bending every effort to aid in National Defense. Daily this state becomes of greater importance to the whole National Defense program.

Bombers, of the type most needed by England, are being built at Dallas and Fort Worth. Ammunition will soon be turned out in large volume by the plant now under construction at Texarkana; other articles of vital importance are being turned out daily by Texas industries. Large numbers of ships will soon be constructed in the new yards at Orange and Galveston. American soldiers are being trained in modern warfare at Brownwood, Abilene, Mineral Wells, El Paso and other cities. American Air Corps pilots are being taught flying, bombing, and aerial warfare at Randolph Field, the huge Naval Air Base at Corpus Christi, Victoria, Cuero, Brady, Corsicana and Stamford. Soon new air schools will be completed at Lubbock, Midland, Coleman, Grayson County, and several other points in the state. Mechanics to service American planes will be trained in large numbers at Wichita Falls within the very near future.

Citizens are thinking in terms of Defense Bonds and Savings Stamps. They are anxious to help. They know that the Canadian people were asked recently to subscribe $600,000,000 to put over Canada's Victory loan and that these friends on our North went over the top by buying $710,958,950 of these securities.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said:

"Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps give us all a way to take direct part in building the defense of our country—an American way to find the billions needed for National Defense.

"The United States is today, as it has always been, the best investment in the world. This is an opportunity for each citizen to buy a share in America."

Reunion Of Archers Held At Junction Over Week-End

Sixty-one relatives and guests of the Archer family enjoyed an outing on the banks of the Llano River at Junction, Texas, Saturday and Sunday, July 12 and 13.

This was the first reunion of the family of the late William Thomas Archer and wife, Polly Ann, since long before the deaths of this beloved couple which occurred in 1925 and 1928.

William Thomas Archer was reared in London, England and came to America at the age of sixteen, and some few years later was married to Miss Polly Ann Garrett in the State of Missouri.

In their early married life they came to Texas and spent a few years in Taylor County, then moved to Junction in the year 1888. Some fond memories were recalled by this group of brothers and sisters who had the privilege of attending school in Junction while the father was engaged in building some of the landmarks of this beautiful little city in the hill country of Texas.

In 1892 this family moved to Ingram, Kerr County, Texas where the two younger children were born, and in 1904 moved to San Saba, County, Texas where Mr. Archer was engaged in building business until his death in 1928.

Twelve children were born to this couple of which nine are living in different towns of Texas. Eight of this group were present at this meeting and consists of the following: G. W. Archer and family, Sonora, Texas; G. T. Archer and wife, Eden, Texas; A. E. Archer and family, Brady, Texas; C. S. Archer and family, Center Point, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Templeton and family, Hall, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hudson and daugh-

Another Recent Home Is Completed For Howard Kirby's

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kirby is another recently completed house. The building has five rooms and a bath, and is fronted with a beautiful lawn, landscaped with flowering plants and shrubs.

The living room is the first room entered and the walls are covered with a light background paper with a dark spray design. The rug is tan with a lighter floral pattern. Turquoise blue furniture, trimmed in bamboo color wood furnished this room. One of the outstanding features is a fireplace with a large built-in mirror forming the background for a silver vase filled with cut flowers.

An arch opens into the dining room. The dining room has a rug and wall paper of the same design as the preceding room. Light furniture trimmed in green is used, and the chairs are upholstered in green leatherette.

Red and white predominate in the kitchen. The wall paper design and woodwork trimmings are in the chosen color theme, white.

From the living room, entrance may be made to the hall which is papered with the same paper as in the front room. The two bed rooms and the bath open into the hall.

The first bed room is papered in blue with a white spray design. Light furniture is used and the bed is covered with a blue spread in the same color as the curtains.

A pink and blue theme is used in the other sleeping room with white furniture. The paper has pink and white floral designs on a light blue background.

Green with yellow water lillies is the wallpaper used in the bath room. White fixtures complete this room.

Modern light fixtures and venetian blinds are used to make this room another outstanding and modern home for the Sonorans to boast of.

The transition here from a dated dull-appearing house to a bright Colonial-type home of permanent appeal seems almost an act of magic. Actually it is a relatively simple modernization treatment, representing the kind of value-restoring work going on in the older sections of virtually every city in America.

Since the Modernization Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration made financing of this type of work easier, owners of run-down properties throughout the country have turned to modernization as a means of converting undesirable houses into comfortable homes or income-producing investments.

BROADWAY & HOLLYWOOD

By Lee O. Lyon

Robert Taylor is known as one of the screen's great lovers. Yet, do you know that he's lost the lady of his affections in four successive films?

Vivien Leigh committed suicide in "Waterloo Bridge." Norma Shearer remained behind with a paralytic general while Bob fled Germany in "Escape." There was not even a kiss exchanged between Bob and Ruth Hussey in "Flight Command."

And in his next film, "Billy The Kid," Mary Howard isn't even aware that Bob's in love with her; she's Brian Donlevy's sweetie in this Technicolor thriller. In spite of these romantic debits Bob is very much on the fan favor credit side.

Mickey Rooney wears a curly blonde wig and beard for a hilarious sequence in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary." When he first saw himself in the mirror he said, "Looks as though I've just swallowed Shirley Temple."

Don't let those overalls she wore in "Comrade X" throw you off. Glamor's still a great big part of Hedy Lamarr's allure as you'll very definitely notice when you see "Come Live With Me" and "Ziegfeld Girl" in which Hedy's very much her exquisite brown-eyed self.

TO THE LADIES: Get set for a genuine fashion thrill. You'll see some of the most beautiful dresses that ever forced a sigh from a female when you witness Adrian's creations in "Ziegfeld Girl."

DESTINY: Odd little things have had a potent effect on shaping the destiny of many Hollywoodians. If Frank Morgan hadn't seen an ad for brush salesmen, he wouldn't be a top comic. He tired of having doors slammed in his face, decided to be an actor. If Norma Shearer hadn't coughed nervously while standing in a line of extras she might not have attracted the attention of the director who gave her a "bit" part which led her on to stardom.

Edward Arnold studied book-keeping as a boy. Got into the wrong room one day and found himself in the dramatic class, instead. That's why he's an actor not an accountant. While studying at college William Daniels fell in love with a co-ed. He bought a dollar camera to take pictures of her. He became so absorbed in photography he eventually became an ace, and it now Garbo's favorite lensman. Strange, isn't it, how little things lead to such celebrated careers!

How many times do you see your favorite movies? A New York insurance salesman saw GWTW 12 times. A Pittsburgher saw this opus six times and a rabid Harrisburgh (Pa.) fan witnessed it 8 times! This latter dihard, William S. Mahan, claims to have seen 8,000 full-length features since 1929! He never wears glasses and says he gets a tremendous amount of fun and satisfaction from the screen. Anybody top this record?

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Duncan have returned from a two-week vacation.

Sonoran Makes Duplicate Stamp Collection For Two Young Sons

Nicaraguan Stamp Bears Rogers Portrait

Did you know that the late Will Rogers, beloved comedian and philanthropist, was honored by the Nicaraguan government with a stamp bearing his portrait? Cecil Allen has the stamp in his collection. Have you seen the 1933 American issue dedicated to the Polish Kosciuszko as a symbol of America's gratitude to him for helping in the American Revolution? It is in Mr. Allen's collection.

Mr. Allen enjoys stamp collecting, the fascinating hobby that has become widely popular in the United States lately. Though stamp collecting seems to persons unfamiliar with the hobby to be a rather foolish pastime of pasting meaningless squares of paper in a book, it is really a study in itself. Philately is a hobby that combines geographical and historical fact with an appreciation of artistic engraving.

Mr. Allen's collection of stamps contains American issues that date back as far as 1851; it includes stamps of over seventy countries. The stamps range in size from a little half inch square to those three inches long; in shape, from a rectangle to a triangle, and are of all colors from drab brown and grey to bright scarlet. And each stamp has a historical or social meaning.

China's recent series of stamps in which the American flag has a prominent place is in Mr. Allen's collection. The collection was issued as a gesture of appreciation of the United States aid to China in her war with Japan. Stanley's famous search for Dr. Livingstone is commemorated on a Belgian Congo stamp with the portrait of the great American journalist. In fact, the highlights of each nation's history may be read from the stamps of Mr. Allen's collection.

Spain recalls her famous armada; Great Britain's stamps bear beautiful portraits of the king and queen in their coronation robes, and Germany's defeat in the last war is recorded in stamps that sold for 1,000,000 marks and more when German currency became inflated and worthless in the early 1920's. Ecuador has issued a big series of stamps commemorating the adoption of the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Allen began collecting stamps in 1933, has been collecting ever since. He collected stamps of all nations at first, later began to specialize only in American issues. He is making duplicate collections, one for each of his sons.

Since Allen has specialized in American stamps, that part of his collection has become by far the largest and most valuable. Of his approximate 3,000 different stamps, about 2,000 are American issues. These stamps range in value from a few cents to several dollars each.

Some of the things that affect the value of a stamp are its condition, rarity, the date of issue, and the quality of the engraving.

Allen also has a coin collection that he started about 1930. The most interesting items in the coin collection are two very small, thin gold pieces issued by the territorial government of California in 1854. These coins, having face values of twenty-five and fifty cents, are printed with the symbol of the state, a bear.

And there are big brass one-cent pieces, a little larger than the present-day quarters, that perhaps some of the old timers can remember having seen in use. One of these coins was minted in 1817.

Mr. Allen has in his collection several pieces of currency issued by the Confederacy, a wooden twenty-five cent draft on the Chamber of Commerce of Tenino, Washington, two Texas state warrants issued in 1862, and a 50,000 mark note issued by the defunct German government after World War 1.

Allen pointed out that collecting stamps is an investment as well as a hobby, that a stamp may increase greatly in value, that it probably never decrease in value if it is kept in good condition.

But Mr. Allen's real interest in collecting is in the simple thrill of working with the collection and watching it grow. "If you ever start, you know the bug has you," he said. But when you consider that a philately is an investment and a hobby, you see one of its best features—it is the one hobby that lets you eat your cake and have it, too.

With new cottons cleverly imitating linen or wool, and rayon looking for all the world like it has been nurtured in the silk worm's cocoon, today's shopper needs some reliable tests for fabrics on her shopping list, too.

en burns quickly, but not with a flare, and has the odor of burning paper and the gray powder ash.

Among the synthetic fabrics, we're apt to get into trouble with mixtures such as wool and rayon, and all the other combinations of pure and synthetic fabrics which are making life a none too sweet mystery these days.

Wood Burning Viscose

But, this much is reasonably safe: viscose synthetic fabrics made of pure cellulose respond to the burning test with an odor of burning wood, fast burning and a gray powder, the same as linen.

The cellulose acetates, however, burn slowly, have the odor of burning wood and form a hard black bead instead of an ash.

And, if you're shy about whipping out your matches and starting miniature bonfires in department stores, you'd better confine your buying to those stores which sell "tested" fabrics and so are able to stand behind their merchandise.

Pure silk burns in exactly the same way except it burns slowly, instead of very slowly. The appearance of the ash is black metallic and the odor is of burning hair.

Cotton, however, smells like burning paper, burns with a flare and leaves a gray powder. Lin-

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Martin and children of Duska, Okla., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sibe McKee.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Q. Adams are visiting relatives in Richland Springs.

These tests come from the laboratories of the American Institute of Laundering and are practical as salt. You'll need a packet of matches when making the tests for you'll be burning threads pulled out of the fabrics under consideration.

Burning pure wool smells like burning hair whether the odor comes because a live cigarette ash dropped on your new tweed suit or from a single thread unraveled from fabric at the sales counter.

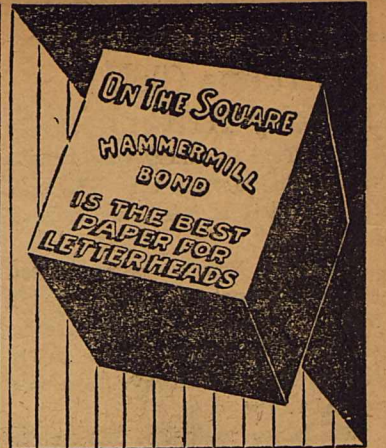

And, if you've never burned your hair and aren't familiar with the odor, look at the ash. If it is black metallic, the thread is woolen. Also, wool burns very slowly.

HOME OWNERS FORUM

By ABNER GORDON

MODERN construction and renovation employ a wide variety of woods.

Red cedar shingles continue popular for roofing and siding, while the demand for redwood is increasing for claboard installations.

White or ponderosa pine is widely specified for sash, while cypress window frames and yellow pine sills round out the exterior framework.

Straight-grain fir commonly serves for door rails and sills, the rotary cut variety for panel areas.

Paint is the economical medium for combining these divergent materials into a homogeneous unit. To prove durable, the primer must be adequate to satisfy the unequal porosity of the several grain structures, while firm adhesion and elasticity is essential in all coats to allow for the variations in expansion exhibited by the different types of wood.

Consequently, experienced painters use white lead paint mixed on the job from the pure ingredients. Only this method gives complete assurance as to paint quality as well as security that each coat is correctly formulated for the job in hand.

Q.—What cleansing treatment works best on linoleum?
A.—To be on the safe side, use only mild soap and water. Harsh washing compounds and scrubbing powders are destructive to gums and linseed oil which are component elements of linoleum.

Q.—What type of screen or shade is most effective in keeping interiors cool on sunny summer days?
A.—Venetian blinds are undoubtedly the most effective. They cut off light and heat without materially limiting the ventilation.

Q.—What causes that noisy vibration in faucets when the water is turned on or off?
A.—Such vibration is evidence of a worn washer at the base of the faucet stem. With the installation of a new washer, vibration should cease.

Mary Tells Of Southampton's Interest In Famous Mine Sweeper, Lorna Doone

This is the latest letter received by Reggie Trainer from Mary Stamper of Southampton, England. Although she lives in a city often harassed by Nazi bombers, Mary seems to be more worried about her complexion and the fact that her boy friend has been transferred away from Southampton than about the dangers and inconveniences of the war.

A cafe in Winchester
Saturday, 3:00 o'clock
17th May

Dear Reggie,
You'll be surprised at the heading. I decided to cycle up here today (12 miles from Southampton), do some shopping, go to the pictures, stay at a Youth Hostel here, and return tomorrow. However, I have been tramping up and down the crowded main street for about an hour and a half, and, as I came here straight from work, I'm feeling hungry as well as tired and dusty. I feel awfully tempted to cycle back home after I've had some fish and chips (I've been told there's a fifteen minute wait for same, hence this letter) and have some fun with my brother and his pal. Don't know what the matter with me. I used to enjoy cycling and prowling around on my own, but now I feel lonely. The worst of being in love, I suppose. (Mary's current boy friend, a gunner in the anti-aircraft corps, has been transferred from Southampton.—Ed.)

Winchester is crowded. People are four and five deep on the pavements and overflow into the narrow streets. The cars and Army lorries have to edge through very slowly. And the khaki! (The place just swarms with officers and men, not to mention ATS girls looking smart in their "dress caps"—green forage caps with brown pipings).

My tea and bread and butter has just arrived, so excuse me. Ah! That's better!

As I was saying, Winchester is very crowded, and I heard someone say the other day that the population has been more than doubled since the war with evacuees from Southampton and Portsmouth. Also, there are plenty of shops all close together containing in many cases stocks months old, which is a thing unknown in Southampton. There aren't enough shops there for the number of people in Southampton. Shopping in Southampton is, as you can guess, difficult, and the quality of the goods replaced since the blitz is rather inferior and expensive, so you can see why the people prefer to go up to Winchester, or other similar country towns to do their shopping. I managed to get a marvelous blue Raisley scarf for my boy friend which ought to please him on his birthday.

4:30 p. m.

Now I'm on my way home and having a rest in a pretty little glade by the side of the road. I hope you'll excuse this awful paper (The letter is written on cheap newsprint.—Ed.), but we are learning to get used to this kind of thing now. So long as you can read it, we won't grumble.

Don't you think the news of Hess' landing in Scotland was grand? We were overjoyed about it all last week and people talked of nothing else all day. Certainly was a surprise packet. We were hoping the German Air Force might follow his example and come over to surrender in the hundreds.

By the way, I wrote you a week or so ago, and then had a letter from you the day after, so that was certainly a coincidence, wasn't it? I thought I would wait awhile before answering so as to have the second letter on a different boat.

Pop had a letter from Roy and Stella Sizemore from Mercedes, and it just made our mouths water to read about the orange groves and grapefruit trees when we can't even smell one. There were some oranges released a short while ago, and though we were pleased to be able to get a few, they were hardly worth the money—1½d each, and very small and dry.

Talking of oranges, we had a letter from a friend of ours out East who is in the hospital because of enemy machine gunning, and he told us that though most things were pretty expensive there, the men were able to have their fill of oranges at 2½d a dozen. At home, before the war, we used to eat heaps of oranges and apples—sometimes three or more of each, each day. I've got a simply awful complexion now we have no fruit, and it's worrying me to death. But now the summer's coming on, we shall be able to enjoy the raspberries, currants, etc. from our garden, though what with the sugar problem... But I musn't ramble so about our worries or you'll think we never have anything to eat at all, which is far from the case. It's surprising how people find ways and means of making do. We can't get currants or sultanas. "All right," say the bakeries, "We'll have cakes and bread with dates in them." And very nice they are, too.

We haven't enough marmalade, so Mother trims to and concocts some delicious rhubarb jam instead.

Mother never has enough butter, so we eat fried bread for breakfast; then when the fat is used up, she scrounges some marrow bones from the butcher, boils them on the fire, takes the fat off the top, and uses the broth for soup.

Other people make their rations go much further than we do because they don't entertain so much.

I'm being bitten to death by mosquitos, so I think I'll move on.

Sunday, 18th

Well, here I am back home again. Mother was very amused to see me return last night and kept saying, "There's no place like home, is there?"

Today John and I have been enjoying ourselves overhauling our bikes. The wheels of mine were lying on the lawn and we were both in a very touselled and dirty state when Pop snapped us, so if it turns out well, I'll send you a copy. We lost a few ball bearings and sundry washers in the course of the operations, but I'm pleased to say that my bike is quite rideable again; though John is still squatting on the lawn trying to persuade his three-speed to ankle.

Referring to your letter (dated March 17), I was very interested to hear about your new job. Also about your sister's marriage. I told people at work about the distance her fiance travelled, and they just couldn't take it in. You do rush about over there, and no mistake.

I'm enclosing an article about the paddle boat, Lorna Doone. I have been across to the Isle of Wight dozens of times on her, so naturally we at Southampton take a great interest in her now heavier activities. She's only a small pleasure boat, and even now I can't picture her at such grim tasks. It seems only yesterday that we lazed on the wooden seats on her little deck and enjoyed watching the sailing boats in the river and the great liners in the docks, as we steamed past on our way to Ryde or Cowes on the Isle of Wight. (Lorna Doone, formerly a pleasure boat, is now being used as a mine sweeper by the British Admiralty. Once, when attacked by three airplanes, she shot down two and chased the other away.—Ed.)

All those warm, happy days crowd back as I write, and I can almost hear the screech of the gulls as they come whirling down in the wake of the paddles.

We can't go to the Island at all now, unless we can prove its for strictly business reasons, but I don't think it will be long before the brave little Lorna Doone is back at her jolly peace-time job.

I've just been looking at the length of this letter. It's really shocking, I know, but once I'm in the mood to write, I can't seem to stop at all.

I'll sign off before I cop it from the censor.

Your Pen Friend,
MARY.

P. S.—Saw a plane come down one night last week—like a shooting star, then an explosion, 'til the red mass dropped out of sight behind the roof tops. My brother watched three fall one night last week down at Poole. What a world!

Warns Against Infantile Paralysis During Summer

Austin, July 15.—Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, states that infantile paralysis is largely a summer disease. Although cases may occur during any time of the year, over half of the total number of cases occur from July to October. Through June 30 thirty-one cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) have been reported to the State Health Department from city and county health officers over the state.

Direct contact between persons form the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease, flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been scientifically demonstrated. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of the paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine and this fact makes it advisable to reduce to a minimum all human contacts during any outbreak of the disease.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness and irritability followed by stiffness in the neck and back. Prompt medical care, early recognition of the disease and reporting of cases to local health authorities make possible the use of preventive and control measures.

After the acute state of the disease has passed and the patient is permitted to walk, it is most important that the affected part of the body not be fatigued. The secret of rehabilitation lies in the continuance of professional medical care and large doses of patience.

Children under five, years are most susceptible to the disease and all children under twelve should be watched for suspicious symptoms. Your family physician should be called immediately if infantile paralysis is indicated. Local health authorities should be contacted immediately and patients isolated for at least twenty-one days.

Children should not visit homes where the disease or symptoms of the disease exist. Promptness in diagnosis of poliomyelitis is one of the most important factors in its control measures.
