FORTY-THIRD WEEK

ODDS & ENDS

Tomorrow is election day and although technically it is a Democratic Primary election, in Texas nomination by the Democratic party is tantamount to election. The governor's race has been a particularly hot and bloody one with charges and counter-charges flying thick and fast, keeping the issues pretty well obscured.

The is all the more reason why everyone should show up at his appointed voting place tomorrow and place his vote for the man he considers the most capable of filling the office for which he is a candidate.

-oae-

When we cast our ballots in the morning, we will cast them for Price Daniel for Governor of Texas. Our decision has been made after examining Daniel's record as a State official and as a United States Senator.

It was Daniel who fought the Tidelands issue for Texas and for the benefit of our public schools.

In Washington he commanded the respect of his fellow-Senators and served the interests of Texas to the utmost.

His investigations of the narcotics traffic brought to public attention the extent to which this most insidious crime has taken hold of the American people and his recommendations based on the findings of his committee have been the most stringent and workable recommendations made. And Daniel's committee accomplished more in the months of its activity than had been accomplished by years of discussion and speculation.

Daniel's ideas on the farm program we find sound, and feel sure that with proper cooperation he would carry it out.

His record proves him to be a man who strikes out and gets things done with a minimum of delay.

-oae-

We sincerely hope, that you, two, endorse Price Daniel. But regardless of which man you consider best for the job, vote your choice tomorrow.

Mrs. Jane Hamilton arrived home Tuesday after spending three weeks in Christoval.

2 Highway Accidents Last Weekend Injuring 2, Leaving Others Unhurt

Patrolman Herman Moore reported two automobile accidents in the Sonora area over the weekend in which two persons sustained minor injuries.

The first wreck occurred sometime between eight and ten o'clock Friday night when the car driven by Wayne Cook of San Angelo left the road about two miles north of town on Highway 277. Cook was hospitalized with minor back injuries.

The second accident was an extremely close call for Wilburn T. Watkins, 19, of Big Lake and his three passengers. The 1954 Chevrolet sedan driven by Watkins overturned five times on Highway 290 four miles east of Sonora about three o'clock Sunday morning. Watkins was hospitalized with cuts and bruises. None of the passengers in the car was injured.

RECEIVES ARM FRACTURE WHEN STRUCK BY PICKUP

Jess David Cook, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cook, received a fractured arm late Saturday afternoon when he ran into the path of a pickup truck in the street in front of his home.

Jess David was crossing the street to join a group of children playing in the yard. Billy Savell, driver of the pickup belonging to Jackie Sharp, was unable to avoid the child, who received treatment at Hudspeth Memorial Hospital.

H. V. (Buzzy) Stokes, formerly of Sonora, has been re-elected president of Brady Mills, Inc., at Brady and last week moved there with his family from Uvalde where he had been living for the past two years.

Ground Observer Cops Receives Changes In Reporting Procedure

Recent changes in rules for reporting aircraft were received recently by Norman S. Davis, Sonora Post observer. Observers are requested to report all planes, whether private or otherwise. In addition, during the period July 25 through August 24 observers will add the word "audio" at the end of any report where the plane was HEARD but not actually observed.

To many people the procedure of calling San Antonio each time a plane flies over Sonora appears to be a great waste of both manpower and money and it may be. We can remember Pearl Harbor, however, and realize that it can happen again. Long range bombers and the new nuclear bombs developed during recent years make it even more imperative that we be ever diligent in staying alert. Our national defense leaders have asked our help in protecting vital targets against a sneak attack, and it is only our patriotic duty to do our small, but important, job.

On his day on duty an aircraft observer sights a plane. He immediately calls San Antonio, collect, and gives a report like this: "One multi bomber very high no delay Echo Alpha 23 Black overhead flying northeast." The San Antonio defense center recognizes that one bomber of three to six engines, flying over 15,000 feet high is over Sonora flying toward Fort Worth. If all observers are functioning the same plane will be reported minutes later from Eden, then Brownwood, then Stephenville. If the Defense Center cannot identify the plane by radio as friendly, Fort Worth is alerted immediately and a flock of fast jets intercept the plane before bombs can be dropped on the great bomber base at Fort Worth.

Your assistance as a volunteer ground observer could be of vital importance both to you and to the Nation.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Confused "Sit"-uation

Been meaning all week to tell you about Curley Lawson's "baby-sitting" experience.

His Mrs. left him in charge, about seven p.m., with instructions not to let the children come downstairs. So Curley read his paper and whenever he heard footsteps on the staircase he ordered the culprit back to bed. Happened three or four times.

Little while later, Mrs. Miller from next door came over to inquire if Curley had seen her Sonny. "Here I am, Mom" came a voice from upstairs, "But Mr. Lawson won't let me go home."

From where I sit, jumping to conclusions like Curley did, doesn't always make for an amusing story. I'm reminded of the people who—without due consideration—have concluded that I'm wrong to like an occasional glass of beer. Well, to my way of thinking, that's not only intolerant... but, what's more, "minding" the other fellow's business is not the American way.

Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District News

By E. B. Keng
Soil Conservation Service

Arnold Heerwagen, SCS plant specialist from Denver who works in five southwestern states, reviewed range conservation work and problems around Sonora Monday and Tuesday. Heerwagen was impressed with the "bright spots" here and particularly the ability of good grasses to "outlast" the brush. He stated that severe drought covered the major portions of Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas.

Heerwagen observed range conservation work being done by Alvis Johnson, Harold Fries, George Brockman, Rip Ware, Mack Cauthorn, Ben and Recto-Cusenbary and others. He was particularly impressed with the range experiments being conducted by Leo Merrill at the Sonora Experiment Station.

In spite of less than 50 per cent of normal rainfall for six years the deferred-rotation pastures at the station have made marked improvement. The four pastures in the deferred-rotation system, stocked with 32 animal units of cattle, sheep and goats, are grazed 12 months and rested four months. Three pastures always have livestock and one pasture is always vacant. At the end of each four month period the animals from the pasture which has 12 months straight use are shifted into the pasture which has had four months rest. The system is simple and during the past seven years has been very effective in producing good livestock gains with marked range improvement.

The Station's experiments with straight goats, at 16, 32 and 48 animal units per section, have only been in effect one year, but results look very encouraging. Despite less than six inches of rainfall to date in 1956 the pastures have a fine cover of good grasses.

One of the outstanding conclusions which can be drawn from Merrill's work to date is this: If stocking rates and range management will permit the vegetation to get ahead of the livestock, Nature will do a wonderful recovery job in spite of adverse weather conditions.

Edwards Plateau SCD supervisors approved conservation plans on the W. L. Miers, C. L. Norsworthy, and Cecil Woodard ranches last week. They also submitted a revised application for flood prevention on Lowrey Draw, since the original application covered both Lowrey Draw and Dry Devil's River. This action was necessary to make the community eligible for assistance under Public Law 566, in case Sonora people decide to go ahead with the project.

Daniel Urges State Program For Ranchers

Austin. Senator Price Daniel, candidate for Governor, has advocated a State Program to help save the family-size farmers and ranchers of Texas from "the twin disasters of drought and mortgage foreclosures."

"The Federal Government has loan and feed programs which the Secretary of Agriculture should use with greater speed," Daniel said, "but it is now evident that our State should also bear its parts of the load. Sixty-three thousand Texas farms are burdened with mortgages and drought, and most of them are family-size farms which should be saved for the good of our State and Nation."

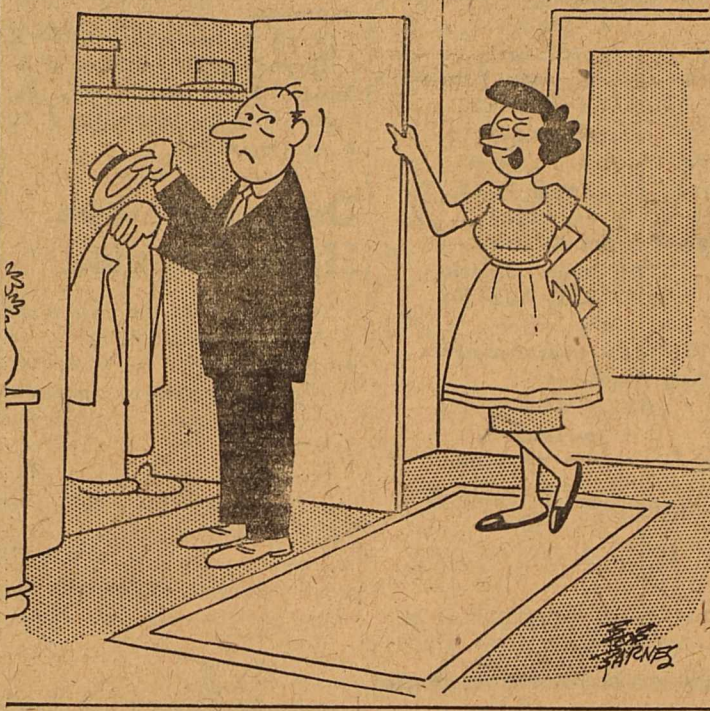

Daniel said in a statement: "I favor a State Constitutional Amendment setting up a rotating fund financed by bonds for the protection of our rural homesteads."

"This fund should be handled on the basis of a loan, taking second mortgages wherever necessary, and would be made to those who face foreclosures or drought disaster." "Such a program for our State would apply not only to the drought but to future farm disasters as well," Daniel said.

Daniel also called for a long-range State water and soil conservation program. "It is needed not only for our farmers and ranchers, but for municipalities and for attraction of new industry," he said.

LIONS ROAR

By Edward Aldwell, son of Lea Roy Aldwell of Sonora, and a student for the past several years at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, presented a program of piano music to the Lions Club at the regular Tuesday meeting at the Methodist Church. The young artist played three selections, the Brahms Concertos in A Minor and A Major and the Mendelssohn Capricio in A Major.

Norman S. Davis, second vice-president of the organization, presided in the absence of President W. T. Hardy and first vice-president Clayton Hamilton. Davis announced a joint meeting of the Eldorado, Ozona and Sonora clubs for August 28. The District Governor of the organization will be present.

Guests present included Rev. R. H. Heiner and Jimmy West of Eldorado, Frank Bond, Jr., Pat Cooper, Lea Roy Aldwell and Edward Aldwell.

Deer, Antelope Hunts Readied

Technicians for the Games and Fish Commission will not determine for another six weeks details of the special deer hunts on the experimental-demonstration areas.

The shoots were authorized by the Commission as a means of reducing surplus deer and will be the second such seasons in these areas originally created to advance game management studies.

When the field force determines how many head of deer should be harvested, a public drawing will be conducted to name the persons to participate in the conducted seasons for which no charge is made other than the regular $2.15 hunting license.

At the first of the area hunts last fall only a fraction of the quotas earmarked for harvest was taken. Biologists in charge attributed the poor harvest to failure of some hunters to show up and poor marksmanship. The shoots will be in connection with the main deer season beginning November 16.

The details of the antelope hunts in both the Panhandle and West of the Pecos will not be available for another six weeks. Public drawings will be held to select participants in both proghorn seasons which will be designed to harvest a total of about 1,100 head, mostly bucks.

Commission technicians also are shaping the special antlerless deer shoot in key Hill Country counties where such shoots were originated three years ago as a means of reducing deer overpopulation, a condition which has since been made more acute by the extended drought.

Drivers Safety Responsibility Explained

Patrolman Herman Moore this week pointed out that drivers should understand fully the terms of the Texas Safety Responsibility Law.

A driver or owner comes under the Safety Responsibility Law when he or his vehicle is involved in an accident resulting in death or injury to a person, or resulting in property damage to any one person (including himself) exceeding $100, regardless of how the accident occurred or who was arrested or who might apparently be at fault. Exception are: the owner of a legally parked vehicle, the operator or owner of a vehicle where is no damage or injury except to the operator or owner and the owner of a vehicle driven by another without the consent of the owner. When the accident comes under this law, the insurance information on the regular driver's confidential accident report must be filled out.

The driver and owner are protected when: the owner has liability insurance on the vehicle, or the operator (but non-owner) has liability insurance covering him while driving any vehicle, or the owner has more than 25 motor vehicles and has qualified as a "self-insurer", or the operator or owner is properly covered by any other form of liability insurance policy.

When the operator or owner is not protected as above, the Department of Public Safety shall, within 60 days after the receipt of the report of the accident, suspend the Driver's License of the driver and the registration of all vehicles owned by the operator or owner by the owner unless: the driver and/or owner has been released from liability by all injured or damaged persons, or the driver and/or owner has been finally adjudicated not to be liable in a civil suit for damages in a court of competent jurisdiction, or the driver and/or owner has signed written agreement with all injured or damaged parties providing for the payment of an agreed amount in installments of all claims up to $15,000, or the driver and/or owner has deposited with the Texas Department of Public Safety sufficient money to pay any judgment for damages up to $15,000 resulting from the accident as may be recovered against each operator or owner.

When the Driver's License of a person has been suspended or revoked by law the Department is required to suspend the registration of all motor vehicles registered in the name of the person unless such person shall immediately give and maintain for three years, proof of financial responsibility with respect to all motor vehicle registered by such person. If proof of such responsibility has been filed, the Department will return the suspended Driver's License at end of the suspension period.

The Department will return to a person a suspended license plate or Driver's License when the person complies with the Safety Responsibility Law.

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

WILLIAM M. MAGEE, 2112 Erie Street, San Diego, California, says the day he flew 345 miles down into Mexico, was one he will never forget. The weather was perfect—clear and bright—the air was smooth and their plane perfect for the trip.

They ate their lunch at a small ranch, cooked by a Mexican woman, one of the most delicious meals he has ever eaten, consisting of turtle soup, delicious turtle steaks, a Mexican salad tostadas, frijoles (Mexican beans) and coffee. All this rich spicy food he ate and enjoyed. In fact, everything about the trip was exciting and enjoyable, one of the outstanding events of his life.

Why has he told us this? Because four months ago he would not have taken time off from his business to go on such a trip. For a long time, each day had been a turmoil! He didn't have enough time for anything. At ten o'clock in the morning he would be working on one thing while worrying about others. Consequently he was never at ease; he seemed to be living in a terrible "thrash" every minute of every day.

But that trip, from which he returned fresh and enthusiastic, taught him he could do more and better work after such a period of relaxation.

Looking Through The Windows Of Life

By W. H. Marshall

"He Restoreth My Soul." This is the feeling David had when he wrote the Twenty-third Psalm. In other words, David has something to stand on. He could say: "Keep Thou my feet, I do not ask to see the distant scene, One step enough for me."
 Every man when he starts out in life had better try and find something he can stand on. First, he who gets a proper view of life gets the right start. There is honesty, sincerity, frankness tempered with common sense and love, respect for the other fellow's viewpoint. The "I Can't Be Wrong" type of person is always wrong and everybody knows it but himself.

And then there is a Scripture that says, "Whatsoever a man sows he shall also reap." No man can get around that. For instance, you start out talking about every body and it won't be long until every body is talking about you. You start out trying not to like people and it won't be long until people won't like you. It just works out that way.

In business, you start out thinking you can beat the other fellow and the first thing you know your dishonesty has beaten you. You start lying on the other fellow and the first thing you know people will begin to lie about you. You start out to criticize and the first thing you know people will be criticizing you. It works out that way every time.

The Bible tells us "What a man sows he reaps." You can't get around that fact.

The man David had something when he said, "He restoreth my soul."

Yes, life is out ahead and you and I are going to need something to stand on. What shall it be? My answer is: Our faith in God, and our sincere effort to live. You say: That's the preacher's line. Maybe so, but I bet anything that you will see the day and I will see they day, when life will make us eat the fact that we didn't stand up to life like we should have and put our best into it.

Yes, life has a way of getting around to us by saying, "Well, what about it?" No man can run away from his life. I have the feeling that life is the only thing a man does have. So I am of the opinion that we are just being smart when we make up our minds to do something worthwhile with our lives.

David speaks to us from the Book of Psalms. Did you ever read that Book in the Bible? Sure you have, but take time out with me and read it again, then you will have an idea why David could say, "He Restoreth My Soul."

We eat to restore our bodies and then go on to make the tragic mistake of thinking we can be happy and successful without ever restoring, or, letting God restore our lives to us. Give us back our best selves.

Too many good men are ready to take the best society and religion has to offer them, but they never contribute a single thing to the cause of Christ from which they get their daily blessings. They are on the taking side, but never on the PUTTING OUT SIDE. Let us ask our selves the question: What if every body took the stand I do on the church? What if every man just had no desire or time for God? What would become of our America? We are all willing to die for the freedom of our Country, but it is not possible to let the enemy I DON'T CARE come in and take over religion, the church, the minds of men?

SCANNING THE NEWS

"CREEPING INFLATION" may be a major domestic issue before the summer is over along the political hustings. According to the records, despite the apparent increase in wages and income, the income just cannot keep up with the cost of living. And the spiral for higher wages starts.

And, according to the economists, there is a major and basic reason behind this continual inching up of the cost of everything the consumer buys, including services. And the answer adds up to the tremendous increase in business mergers, and the subsequent trend toward monopoly.

Here in the Washington climate, it is almost considered "un-American" to whisper a word against private enterprise. But private enterprise is one thing, and private competitive enterprise is something else. It is the lack of private competitive enterprise which is the basic cause of this creeping inflation which is stifling consumer purchasing power.

A large grocery chain, takes over a smaller grocery chain, and competition is lessened that much; and grocery prices inch up. The automobile business is a prime example of why automobiles cost so much today and why prices for next year's models will be higher. The prediction is that within a year there will be only General Motors, Ford and Chrysler left in the field.

The rate of mergers continues to grow, and the smaller competitive firms disappear from the business community, from banks to the corner groceries. Around the cities, branches of the huge down-town firms are moving into the suburban areas, smothering out competition of the smaller firms. The trend for suburban living accounts for this new danger to competition. As a classic example this column has watched the growth of a huge suburban center near Washington in a area of new homes. The shopping center consisted of some 30 or more small business firms which readily filled the needs of the area. However a large downtown department store moved in, constructing a huge department store at a cost of about $3,000,000. Within three months, 14 of the small business firms were out of business with that many store rooms vacant. Others are hanging on, may make it, may not; thus competition is stifled. More bankruptcies added to the growing list.

There is almost a frantic attempt in the congress to strengthen the laws governing monopoly and mergers without much success. The Department of Justice, charged with enforcement of anti-monopoly laws already on the statute books, together with the Federal Trade Commission, have adopted a policy of winking at violations by so-called "consent decrees", or such actions as "stipulation agreements" instead of outright prosecution.

One of the most flagrant examples of this fetish of worshipping at the altar of private enterprise is the fight made by private electric utilities against advocates of public power, of even the Rural Electric Cooperatives. The only thing private about an electric utility is that it is financed by private capital.

Locally, Jake Merck received a carload of spreaders at $5, a car of solid mouth ewes from Alice Jones at $7.50, and a few light lambs at 15 cents.
