

GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS

That City Commission Hires Additional Peace Officer

Aware of a growing problem of speeding and reckless driving within the city limits, a Sutton County grand jury Monday afternoon expressed concern over what could be the beginning of a serious increase in the number of traffic accidents within Sonora.

After discussing the mounting problem with Highway Patrolman Herman E. Moore and with local county officers, the jury concluded that the increased rate of minor traffic violations which have occurred have been due largely to excessive speed by drivers, especially among the young people and that this constitutes a threat to the safety to all citizens.

The panel also was in agreement that our local officers are doing all that is humanly possible, in keeping with their other many responsibilities both in and out of Sonora, in connection with the problem and recommended that the City of Sonora consider the advisability of hiring a full time city employee to enforce local city ordinances, as well as ordinances applying to all general law cities.

A letter stating the jury's recommendations suggested that in the event the city finds it financially impossible to hire a full time peace officer, that some arrangement might be worked out with the Commissioners' Court whereby a part time offi-

Odds And Ends

"Ranchman, spare that mesquite tree! Touch not a single bough!" That is, not until, you hear the latest scientific discovery from A. & M. We quote: "Mesquite wood ground into a meal is a source of bulk in rations for cattle when other roughages are scarce and relatively high in price."

The bitterweed has gone with the heat of summer, the nightshade has shriveled and fallen, and the grass is gone but we've still got mesquite.

The news of this discovery says further that "Mesquite to be used should be green stems and branches one to three inches in diameter, and should be allowed to cure for five to seven days before grinding. Curing will make grinding easier and will lower the moisture content, eliminating molding after grinding."

This is all well and good and we predict a run on rulers for use by ranchmen in measuring the diameter of mesquite stems and branches. If the ranchman's wife will cooperate, it might even be simpler to measure the circumference and divide by 2 x 3.1416. The result thus obtained will equal the diameter, we think.

Now the curing angle presents a rather more ticklish problem. Five to seven days curing time means either that you're going to have to cut the stems and branches on the weekend or else grind them on the weekend. This seems to us to be carrying things just a little too far.

But the release ends, "The wood apparently may be harvested at any time of the year, but it usually has the highest nutritive value in the spring before leaf development begins."

Let's just forget about it until next spring before leaf development begins.

George Wright tells us that many people have asked him to send them a copy of the Knox-

If you'd like to keep up with George, and he is going to be something to keep up with, write the Knoxville News Sentinel or the Knoxville Journal, Knoxville, Tennessee.

Three brilliant young amateur astronomers, Melva Shroyer, 12, Kay Shurley, 12, both of Sonora and Carl Tipton, 13, of Dallas, stumbled on a brand new comet Tuesday, August 13, while at the Shrine picnic near Junction. The girls were polite enough to bring this information to the news office and further reported just what a comet was.

The girls were excited by the discovery and so were we until everything was spoiled when they found that some long-haired star gazer in Denmark beat them to it by discovering the thing last month.

It's a sad ending to a beautiful story, but at least I found out what a comet was; and maybe next time all of us working to gether can find one before some other guy does.

A survey to determine the church preference of the Anglo-American population of Sutton County was recently completed by about 25 young people of Sonora churches. The percentages of the group surveyed who prefer each church are as follows: Baptist, 38%; Methodist 35%; Church of Christ, 12%; Episcopal, 9%; Catholic, 2%; and Lutheran 1%.

The surveying group were given refreshments on different nights by Mrs. Edgar Shurley's Sunday School class, the WSCS, The Wesleyan-Service Guild, Hix Hall and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brodhead.

In charge of the survey were Edward Beck and David Shurley.

The ministers were here for a regular business meeting which involved such subjects as evangelism, educational institutions, homes for the aged, finance and Sunday School work.

Dr. Eugene Harris of San Angelo was in charge of the meeting.

Sonora is the geographical center of this district, which stretches from Eagle Pass to Sterling City and from Junction to McCamey.

Elliott Enrolment Up; Others Lower This Year

Primary and secondary students got into the swing of things quickly Tuesday as Sonora's public schools began their fall semester.

Central Elementary School Principal Rex Lowe reported that his enrolment was down about twenty students. The total number listed in the first seven grades including kindergarten is 278.

At the high school where A. T. Barrett begins his career as principal the enrolment was up a little from last year to 208 with the freshman class being the biggest with 51.

Carl Jones, principal of L. W. Elliott Elementary School, reports that the enrolment there is at a record high. There are 313 students—20 more than ever before. But he adds that the student body is well distributed and none of the classes are crowded.

LIONS ROAR

The local Lions were treated to a full color film of football highlights at their meeting Tuesday. Watching the gridiron activity with them were guests Pat Cooper, O. G. Babcock, Rev. Bill Brown, all of Sonora; John Franklin Howell, Jr., of New Orleans, La.; James Green and Mark Sussman of Brownwood, and Bud Mason and Judge Jim C. Langdon of McCamey. Also attending were several ministers of this district of the Methodist Church who were in Sonora for a meeting.

Engineers Start Work On Dam Sites As Lowrey Draw Work Plan Develops

Development of a flood prevention work plan on Lowrey Draw continued this week, as engineering crews started work on proposed dam sites.

Six sites for possible dams are being investigated, and if all six prove satisfactory Sonora would have 73 per cent protection in event of a major flood on Lowrey Draw. Improvement of channel capacity through Sonora might provide additional protection.

Jerry Andrews, hydrologist; Les Adkinson, economist; and Harold Kautz, watershed planning specialist, from the Fort Worth SCS office were here Wednesday to inspect progress and evaluate possibilities for protection.

A contour map of the city has been completed, and 39 cross-sections on Lowrey Draw from hill-to-hill have been made. Property subject to flood damage has been evaluated, and a soil-cover complex map of the watershed is nearing completion.

After the field work is completed the party technical staff will develop a planning report which will include data on structures, cost and expected benefits. If the plan meets the approval of local people it will be submitted to Congress for approval and appropriation of funds.

Federal Officials Make Conservation Tour Stop Here

Ervin L. Peterson, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Don Williams, SCD Administrator, and H. N. Smith, State Conservationist, stopped in Sonora Wednesday on part of an inspection trip in Texas. The group met with a small group of ranchmen on the H. K. Fawcett ranch at Loma Alta prior to catching a plane at Sonora to continue their trip to the high plains.

The purpose of the trip was to examine some typical Edwards Plateau ranch country, and gain a firsthand knowledge of conservation problems from local ranchmen. They were interested in getting opinions from ranchmen on how conservation programs could be made more effective.

Assistant Secretary Peterson is vitally interested in a program which is locally controlled and will obtain the greatest amount of conservation for each dollar spent.

Upon leaving Sonora the group looked at the proposed watershed protection and flood prevention project on Lowrey and the construction work in progress on Johnson Draw watershed above Ozona.

Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning the group toured the high plains area from Brownfield to Amarillo.

Ranchmen meeting with the group at the Fawcett ranch included Fred T. Earwood, John Royal, Menard; George Tomlinson, Del Rio, and others.

missioners, the grand jury stated that:

"We find that the jail as a whole is clean and well cared for but do feel that there are a number of major changes that should be corrected as soon as practical to do so. Among these, we would call your special attention to the fact that we feel there should be separate facilities for adults and juveniles and among adults should be separate facilities for male and female prisoners. We also feel that there should be some method of separation of those prisoners who have already been convicted of felonies and those which would be termed "first offenders".

The letter further states that the jail is considered "inadequate insofar as confining prisoners in the jail from the time they enter in the lower entrance until such time as they are taken up the stairway and put into the individual cells. It is our belief that this could constitute a dangerous hazard to the arresting officer."

Other recommendations for improvement included availability of hot water for prisoners' use, more adequate plumbing facilities, and the installation of bars making it impossible for prisoners to break window glass or any other object with which they could commit injury to themselves or other persons.

In conclusion, the panel concluded with the urgent request that the county is in need of a jail which will meet the minimum requirements of the law."

Devil's River Philosopher's Spirits Soar, Then Droop Over Proposal To Cut Down On Spending By Washington

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River must be behind with his taxes, his letter this week might indicate:

Dear editor:
Life is sometimes full of queer turns in the road. You think you're getting something you've been wanting, and it turns out it wasn't that at all.

For example, I was out here on my ranch yesterday afternoon wandering around sizing up the month of September and figuring what I could get out of it when my foot got tangled up with an open section of a newspaper which I hadn't noticed as I was looking off into space at the time and I found by lifting my foot I could pick it up without bending much so I got hold of it and kept going toward the shade tree I was heading for and sat down and read.

The thing that caught my eye immediately was an article out of Washington saying President Eisenhower was recommending that the Federal government give up some of its taxing powers.

Now this was just what I have been looking for. Everybody talks about high taxes, the national debt, and more and more spending, but here was a concrete proposal for putting a stop to some Federal spending. If the Federal government stops taking part of our money, it'd sure have to stop spending it. Tax relief is what everybody needs. Always have. Probably always will.

But then I read on, and here's what I found out: what the Federal government is proposing is that it stop collecting some taxes and let the states collect em.

Frankly, that's not what I had in mind.

Changing tax collectors ain't my idea of tax relief. I'm sure the state needs more money, and maybe some taxes Washington is now collecting ought to be collected by the state, but that still leaves you and me in the same shape we were in before. Stopping Federal spending, so State spending can pick up, is like patching an inner tube in one place and punching a hole in it in another. It's like cutting down on money for clothes and adding the difference to your grocery bill. Your nose stays to the grindstone, either way.

You mean to say we've got to start this tax relief drive all over again and explain when we mean Federal spending we mean all spending?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Give Kids A Brake Says Safety Council

Give children a brake. With the arrival of a new school year, the pattern of life for nearly every Texan will undergo a radical change. The size of our school system will bear this out.

The opening of school doors affect virtually every driver too. When he gets behind the wheel of his car, he is sure to notice some differences.

School areas will be guarded by the police, extra traffic signs and signals, and by Safety Patrol Boys. But special care on the part of the individual driver will need to be added.

In the hours just before and after school there are increased numbers of bicycle riders, large groups of child pedestrians and many school buses. All of which are signs, within themselves, for added carefulness while driving on our streets and highways.

In 1956, there were more than 150 students killed in Texas traffic accidents and approximately 8,920 injured. Of course these are "just statistics"—unless you or a close member of your family was involved.

A sense of responsibility and dependability should be a part of the licensed driver's habits. He must recognize that a child can't be relied upon to follow the rules of safety, thus the driver's added alertness must compensate for children's mistakes—"give them brake."

Congress Cuts Budget By Ten Percent

By O. C. Fisher

This year's economy tide, which flowed high at the beginning but ebbed somewhat as the session progressed, finally achieved a net cut of nearly 10 percent below the President's budget estimates at the beginning of the session. A total of $6 billion was whacked from requests.

Some of this is paper saving. Some of it will be rubbed out by later supplemental appropriations. But all-in-all, the economy record of the session is worthy of some praise. At the same time, some unnecessary commitments for future spending were voted, and some old expensive and non-essential programs were continued.

The mammoth foreign aid request was cut by $1 billion—a half billion below the Senate's figure and the full billion under the Administration request.

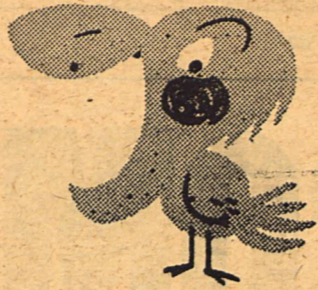

Even though this trimming looks good, fiscal headaches continue. Bob Anderson, Secretary of Treasury, has made it known to House leaders, that the present debt limit is being pressed severely.

Of major importance was the action by the House in killing the multi-billion dollar school construction aid bill.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wallace are in Alpine this week visiting friends and relatives.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Alanson Brown
Education is in the air these days with school getting under way and this is a good time to consider just what education really amounts to. Education means literally "to draw out" and it is our hope that this is what takes place in our schools today. We hope that the process is a creative drawing out of the individual so that he may become a self-contained productive citizen. Yet this process is of little value unless grounded in a religious context.

New Law Restricts Sales Of Poisons, Sets Stiff Penalty

Texas' new "hazardous substances" law is now in effect, aimed at restricting the sale of poisons that last year claimed at least 15 young lives in this state.

Chief target of the law is thallium sulphate, a potent insecticide and rodenticide. But all substances, with few specific exceptions, which are hazardous for humans are included.

The law was passed by the recent legislature with strong backing from the State Department of Health. The talk of administering and enforcing it now falls to the state health commissioner with the help of city and county health officers.

With the law now in effect, it will thereafter be unlawful to sell any product containing more than one percent of any thallium salt.

It will also be unlawful to mix any poisonous substance with food or drink. Exceptions are water or a mixture which has lost its identity as food and is not likely to be mistaken as food for human consumption.

Manufacturers of hazardous substances, the new law says, must spell out on the container the nature of the hazard, first-aid treatments if any, and instructions for safe handling, storage, and disposal.

Violations are punishable by $1,000 fine or a year imprisonment or both.

Unless education is thus oriented it has an equal potential for good as well as evil. As a Christian nation then our education must be oriented and grounded in God in Christ. Religious freedom in this country is presently and apparently interpreted as freedom from religion. This is contrary to the spirit of the founding fathers who wanted and intended to insure that all men could and should worship freely and as they chose. They would have defended a man's right to not worship but they in no way intended to make us totally indifferent to the Christian Faith in particular and religion in general.

Faith in God in Christ is therefore a necessary ingredient of real and lasting education. Let us in our day face this fact squarely and stop avoiding coming to grips with this crucial issue!!!

The attorney general has ruled that city and county health officers have authority to take legal action against violators in their jurisdiction if requested to do so by the state commissioner of health.

Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District News

By E. B. Keng
Soil Conservation Service

West central Texas Bankers and soil conservation district supervisors will hold a one day meeting at Sonora on Tuesday, September 10. The area represented is roughly between Fredericksburg and Fort Stockton, Del Rio and Sweetwater.

The group will meet at the Sonora courthouse at 9:30 a.m. The program will include talks by Jack Garrett, Texas Bank and Trust Company, Dallas; Howard Boswell, SCD association, Temple; W. C. Howard, Quanah; Jerry Puckett, Fort Stockton; John Royal, Menard; J. L. Richmond, SCS, San Angelo; and others. George H. Neill, Sonora banker, is local chairman for the meeting.

Following a short afternoon meeting the group will inspect the Edwards Plateau SCD trial area on the Herbert Fields ranch.

A nutria- a small fur bearing animal resembling a beaver- recently showed up at a waterhole on the G. H. Davis ranch north of Sonora. The animal stayed until the waterhole was nearly dry and then departed.

A nutria- probably the same animal- was caught in a water trough this week on the Sam Jones ranch some 30 miles north-east of Sonora.

The nutria was imported into the United States, some years ago from South America, to be used as a substitute for beaver fur. The fur proved to be of little value, and the rapidly multiplying nutria were turned loose and are spreading over a wide area.

Limited information indicates that the nutria is useful for controlling water growing vegetation in ponds, but also quickly develops an appetite for corn and other field crops.

The nearest known nutria to Sonora are in the park at San Saba. The nutria resembles the beaver in many ways, but has a rat-like tail instead of the beaver's characteristically flat tail.

Mrs. Allie McBride, Pat and Linda were in Dallas last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McBride.

Care Of Baby Teeth Can Prevent Adult Dental Woe

"Pedodontics" is a big word with a simple meaning--the care and treatment of children's teeth. A major part of pedodontics is preventive dentistry, and preventive dentistry for the very young is the one great hope for a realistic solution to our dental woes.

If a child's teeth are properly cared for up to age 15 a strong foundation has been laid for minimizing dental troubles in later years.

At about six months of age the four front teeth--two upper and two lower--begin to peek out. These front teeth are incisors, the cutting teeth. By age seven to 11 months, four more teeth, upper and lower, start to come in. These are the lateral incisors at either side of the central teeth.

Then Mother Nature wisely skips a few spaces in order to properly shape the jaw. In 12 to 16 months, the back teeth or molars, come in. Then the cuspids show to fill in the space between. At about 24 months, the second molars come in.

Up to this point all teeth which have erupted are primary teeth, and although temporary they are vital. They help shape the face, help the youngster learn to speak distinctly, and help him nutritionally.

While all this has been going on, the permanent teeth are slowly developing in the jaw bone so they can come forth at the proper time.

The first permanent teeth to erupt are molars--sometimes called "six-year" molars simply because they emerge at about age six. Because they do not replace the first teeth but come in just behind them, these molars tend to confuse parents who think they are also temporary teeth

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Drennan returned recently from El Cajon, California where they were the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Glen Hay is in Dallas this week where he will attend the gift show.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Awalt and Mr. and Mrs. Seth Prater attended the home coming event of the Katemey school students in Katemey Sunday.

Angelo College Entertainment Tickets On Sale

The San Angelo College Entertainment Association Announces the attractions for the 1957-58 series.

The San Angelo College Entertainment Association has booked the costliest series of attractions in the twenty-seven year history of the Association according to Weldon Surber, president. The growing demand for top-ranking programs by West Texans influenced the Association to book six outstanding and costly attractions. The San Angelo series is unique as all attractions are presented two nights in Municipal Auditorium. The Auditorium has a seating capacity of 1,850 which is not enough to present six entertainment features of high merit at moderate prices. By presenting the attractions two night with 3,700 members, the series can be sustained financially. The San Angelo College Entertainment Association is a non-profit organization and is underwritten by San Angelo merchants and civic leaders. Last year the series was self-sustaining. This year a few additional season tickets are available for new members and indications are that the full capacity of the auditorium will be sold. The new member ticket sale will close Saturday, September 21. Tickets are available by addressing the Association at Box 1235, San Angelo. Adult season tickets at $14.75 and student season tickets are 7.50. The attractions in order of appearance are as the famous Lincoln-Debates and presented in costume on October 10 and 11.

(2) The NBC Opra Company with a company of 118 and full orchestra will present La Traviata the first night and Marriage of Figaro the second night. The operas are in English. In ordering specify choice of first night, Series I, or second night, Series 2).

(3) November 7 and 8 the famed Paganini Quartette, one of the finest string ensembles ever assembled.

(4) Robert Merrill, the popular Metropolitan Opera baritone will be heard January 23 and 24.

(5) March 17.

(6) No Time for Sergeants, the Broadway hit comedy, with the present New York cast will close the season on March 24 and 25. The board of directors and Mr. Surber are pleased to have such a well-balanced series to present to West Texas.
