Blunt Edge

by LELAND BOYD

These days, as in years and centuries gone by, negotiations between nations is a complicated business.

We have followed with disgust the recent big power summit meeting and have grown to expect headlines in the next day's big daily papers words to the effect that "Reds Reject U. S. Plan", "New Plan Offered by U. S.", etc.

It is so befuddling that we wonder if it isn't time for our foreign relations with Russia, England, France, and on down the line of world governments, to be returned to a simple basis of neighborly dickering.

Any straight thinking neighbor of mine and I could get things settled in a hurry if we had differences. I would simply go to him and say, "Come on and let's get a cup of coffee."

After we got situated over coffee, I could tell him I wanted him to keep his cow from jumping over into my wheat field if I didn't want her there, and ask him what he wanted to do about it.

If he wanted to do something about it, he'd tell me he'd keep his cow at home by putting a yoke on her neck, or something like that.

If he didn't want to do anything about it, there'd be nothing that I could say that would change his mind, unless I told him I'd shoot the cow.

It seems to me like the United States needs to take a look at foreign relations in a like manner. This country's statesmen, if we have any, and Russian diplomats have been at conference tables a-plenty, and if anything constructive has developed from all the jawing, it has not been spectacular.

Why can't we huddle with other western powers, decide what we want done, and ask the Russians if they like it. If they say "okay" well and good, but if they say "no soap" there isn't any amount of talking that we can do to change their mind.

After that much talk is done, there's the big stick diplomacy to fall back on, which in past experience has gotten more done than a thousand days of small talk.

Yes, simplicity is a virtue that our foreign policy needs to acquire.

Around Bovina gathering places now, about the only thing of general discussion nowadays is a land settlement program over in Nevada.

"Been to Nevada?" one farmer asks another, and they're off to Nevada in a hurry, via their conversation.

And a pretty good crowd has been there in person. This writer heard that Al Kerby had a list of calls who were on the Nevada trail, and asked him about it over at his shop.

"Well, I had about fourteen names of guys that said they were going, and then quit keeping them," the smithy said. "I reckon I'd a-had forty if I had kept taking them down."

Mark Charles, Charles Embert, Charles Vickers, and Don Owens went in Mark's car and returned Tuesday. Mark said he signed up for a section of the desert, a half section in his name and another half in his wife's name.

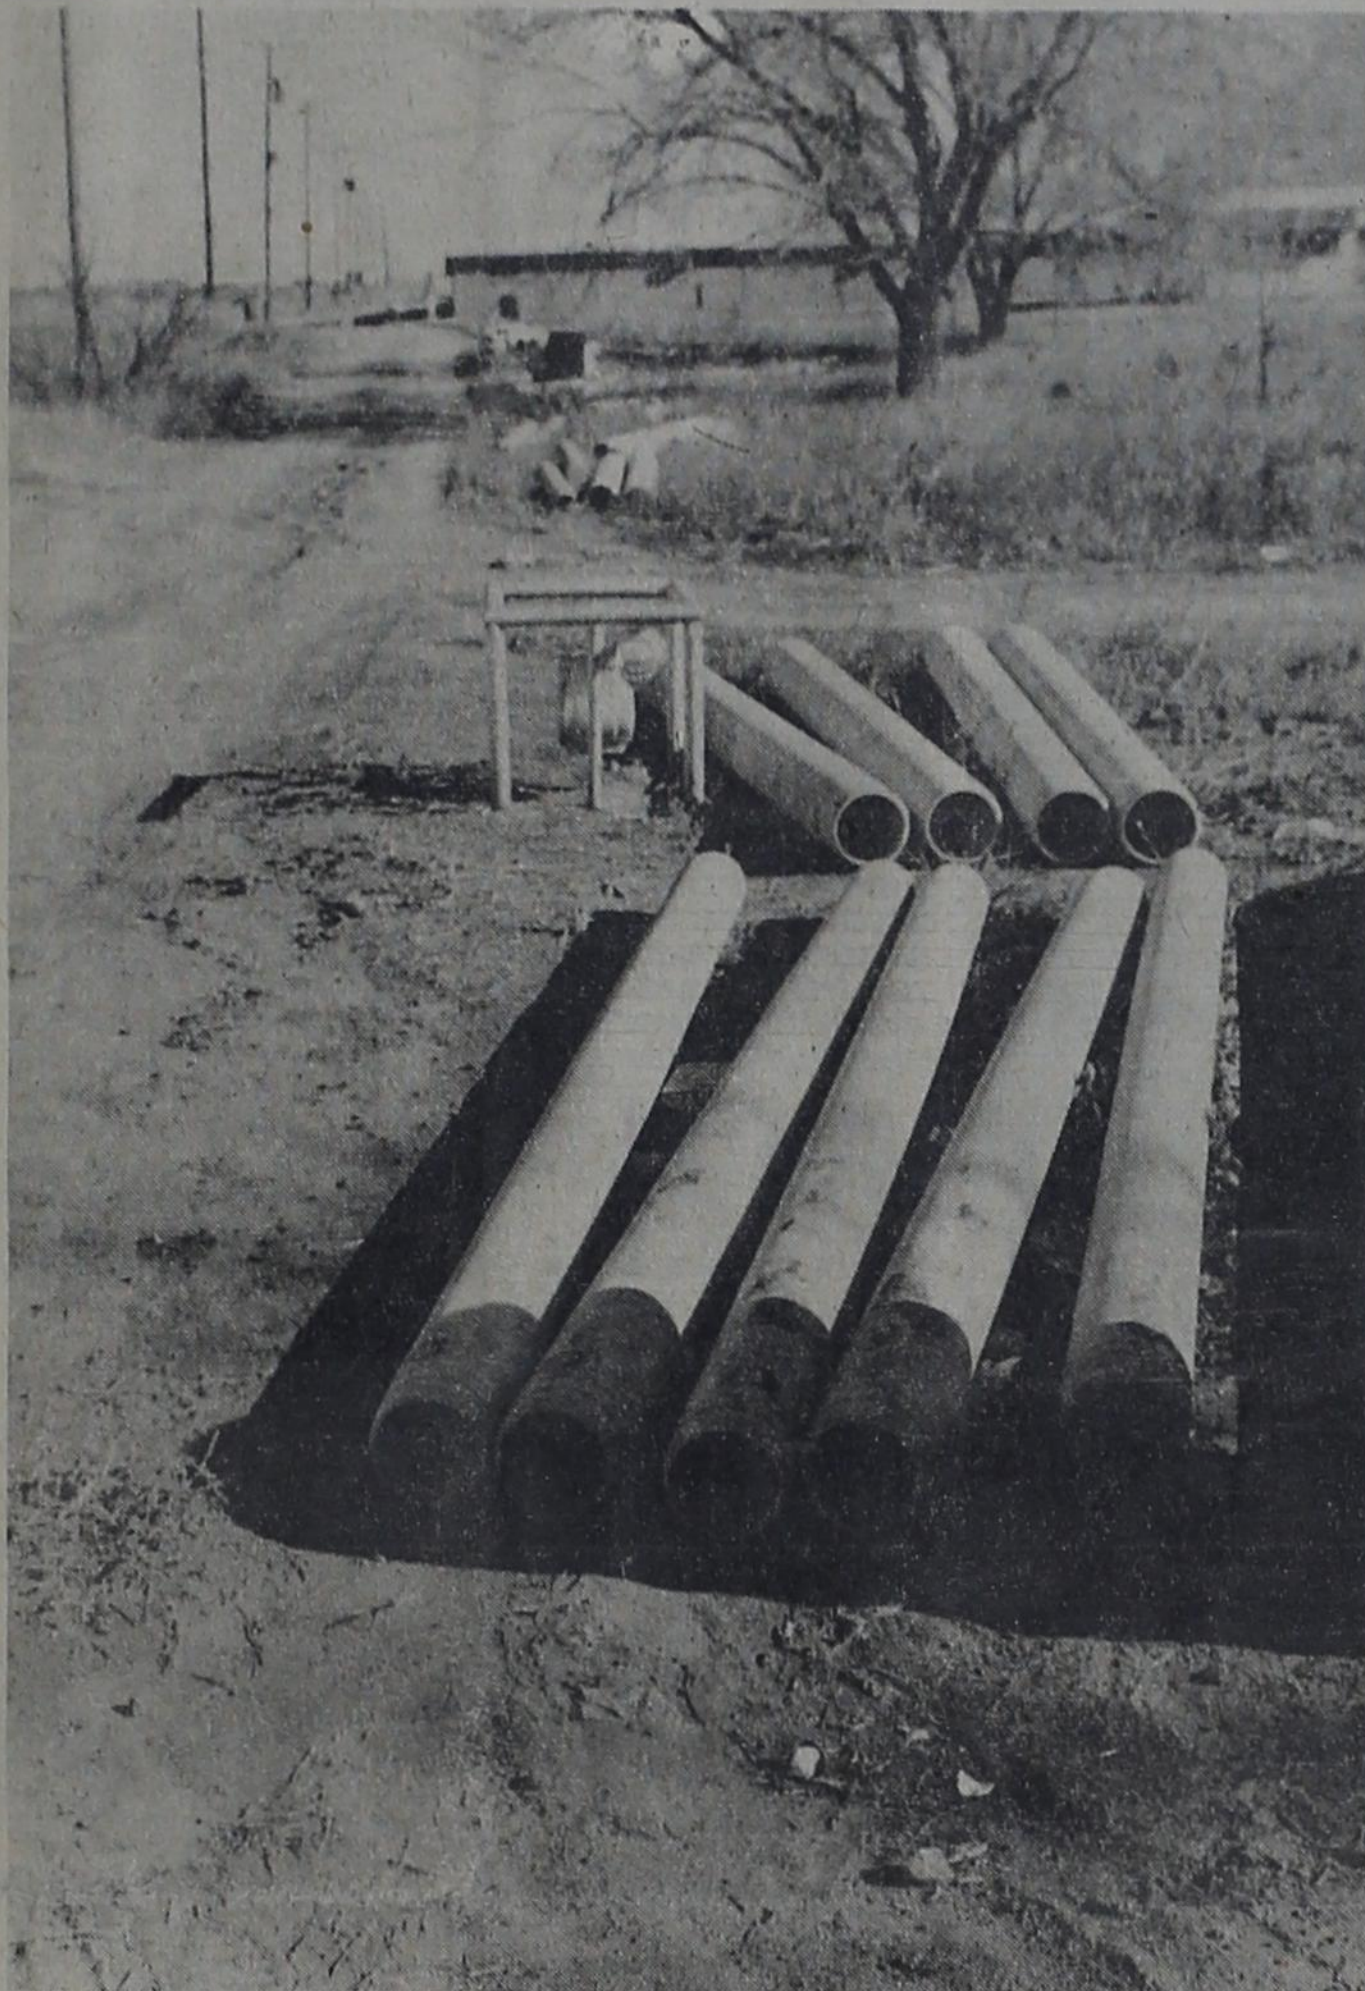

"I'd say it is a pretty good deal for anyone who has everything to gain and nothing to lose," he told me.

A few of the facts he mentioned of the land included:

Sandy land covered with siltiness about a foot high; fairly level; irrigation water shallow enough to pump; the claimer must dig a well; put up a fence and break out a goodly part of it in four years; it cost $25 to file on a section; and will cost about $200 a section for the land in about four years, not enough rainfall in the country to measure; land will grow wheat, alfalfa, and a long list of vegetables, it is definitely no gravy train, might be a good deal, and might be a hard luck deal.

We have heard the following mentioned who have gone, or are going to look at the desert country.

PIPE FOR A GROWING TOWN---The transite water pipe strung out back of the businesses north of Highway 60 is a sign of the towns growth, and of a plentiful water supply for future expansion.

Stripper Overturns Letter to Santa

A cotton stripper in transit owned by Edward Schilling overturned a trailer and pickup Tuesday of last week about a half mile east of Bovina on Highway 60.

The reason for the accident was that the stripper and tractor it was mounted on shifted to the rear of the trailer, and the driver of the pickup, Schilling, could not maintain control of pickup. Schilling was not injured.

The pickup turned on its side, and the trailer ended up on top of the tractor and stripper.

About $100 damage was done to the tractor and stripper, estimates Tom Hartwell, who aided in uprighting the vehicle and trailer with a winch truck of Hartwell Machinery Co.

Art Mast, Olan Turner, Eddy Meil, Don Murphy, J. D. Kelley, Glenn Kelley, J. D. Kirkpatrick, Lee Kimbrough, Al Kerby, Jimmy Charles, Grady Sorley, Don Sides, and Gene Ezell, besides the four mentioned earlier.

WEATHER BY WILLIE

Looks like a very pretty week--clear days and cold nights.

Running Water Draw Report

Dear Editor,
My opportunistic neighbor, who undoubtedly would buy three refrigerators if he was an Eskimo, has gone traipsin off to Nevada and paid two bits an acre for land they hadn't been able to give away during the last century.

I reckon that he's afixin to move out thar, and I hope he does. The more of these shiftless pot-of-gold-seekers we can move out of here the more better it will be for us who really appreciate what we're got at home.
Yours truly,
A. A. Dry

North Pole
Dear Santa,

I would have written earlier with an invitation for you to visit Bovina during your pre-season rounds, and stay for just a little while. We feel that your visit would make our town a little happier, and would perhaps thrill the younger folks a whole heap.

However, there seems to be a lull now in interest in yourself, and it is questionable whether or not people around here would care to put up the decorations necessary to complement your presence.

For instance, we have no street decorations in place, although there are plenty in storage, no welcoming committee organized, and the worst part of it is we don't have a lot of time to mess around in doing it, with Christmas Day only 22 days away.

But we hope to let you know in the near future whether all will be ready on your pre-season trip. We hope to be able to write you soon with news that arrangements have been made for the decorations, and for other essentials commonly associated with a visit from Santa.

I surely would be disappointed if you did not get to visit our town this year, as you were detained last year and did not get to come. Also, there are many of my big and little friends who feel the same way about it.

Anyway, I haven't a list of things I want, but I believe we could have it ready by the time you get to visit us here in Bovina.

Yours truly,
Editor

BID IT UP BOYS---As farm sale season gets into full swing, so does the auctioneer, Hancey Tate with cane, get into the swing of selling. The scene was at the Clarence Gaunt farm sale Tuesday morning.

Water Line Laying To Start This Week

Ditch digging in Bovina is to begin this week for approximately 3,000 feet of water mains.

Getting the additional mains will be the business district north of Highway 60 and the relatively undeveloped residential district known as the Pesch addition.

The work was to have started last week, but the contractor was stalled until the right size pipe arrived. The pipe was trucked here and ready Monday, but the contractor was not ready to begin his work.

H. B. Jordan of Amarillo is the contractor of the job, and the cost to the city will be approximately $2,718.40. The figure could vary either way, depending on the connections needed for the main from the overhead water tank.

Included in the water main addition will be 696 feet of eight inch line and 2076 feet of six inch line. Four fire plugs will be set on the line.

Fillies Flip Dimmitt 76-66 in Thriller Here

The Bovina Fillies flipped the Dimmitt Bobbies 76-66 in a Monday night thriller here by a third quarter coupe that increased their lead by eight points.

At half time the Fillies were ahead a meager four points with the score 39-35. Third quarter score was 56-44.

The going was rough for the Fillies the first half, with usual point maker Janice Richards unable to supply the scoring spark.

However, Joan Ezell provided the scoring necessary to keep the Fillies ahead, making 10 of her total 14 points in the first half, aided of course by Nancy Cumpston and Richards with baskets at opportune times.

After halftime, Richards and Cumpston carried the load of scoring.

Cracker-jack guarding figured into the Fillie win with veterans Nita Beth Estes and Kay Hartzog holding the Bobbie scoring to a minimum.

Forwards and their scores were Richards--40 points, Cumpston--22, and Ezell--14.

In only one quarter did the Dimmitt team outscore the Fillies, and that was the fourth. The Bobbies scored 22 to the Fillies 20 during the final period.

Quarter scores were Bovina 21, Dimmitt 18; Bovina 39, Dimmitt 35; Bovina 56, Dimmitt 44; and Bovina 76, Dimmitt 66.

The Dimmitt B squad topped the Bovina B squad 46-41 in the opening game Monday night.

Free throw accuracy was the clue to the Dimmitt team's victory, as they made 14 free throw points, and Bovina players made only three.

Scorers: Carolyn Crump 17, Joy Redden 12, Cynthia Patterson 6, Penny Lloyd 4, and Judy Roach 2.

The Bovina Fillies lost their first game of the season last week to the Friona Squaws 48-37.

Control of the backboard cinched the game for the Friona cagers.

Richards 24, Ezell 7, and Cumpston 6 was the order of scoring for the Bovina forwards.

Charlotte Bock 16, Robbie Boggess 13 and Jonnie Hand 11 made out the scoring for Friona.

MRS. ANN CORN AND HUMMELL FIGURINES

Figurines Make Interesting Ad

"I wanted to sell five original Hummel figurines." This was a classified advertisement that came to the Blade office the latter part of last week and, being interested in interesting things to be found in Bovina, we of the Bovina Blade decided to investigate.

The little hand painted, china figurines, straight from their factory in Germany, belong to Mrs. Charles (Ann) Corn. She owns a number of them, but only a few are for sale. These are the ones which her mother, who still makes her home in Germany, sent to her recently. Ann's mother asked that she put them on the market here. The money is to be used for Christmas presents to Mrs. Corn's children—not from Mrs. Corn, but from their German grandmother.

Hummel figurines are known and loved throughout the world. Each small figurine portrays children in the act of playing, singing or communing with their pets. The outstanding thing about Hummel figurines is the lifelike expressions so patiently painted on each face by hand. They are made of superb china and will be, in years to come, real "collector's items."

One figurine which Ann has for sale, we found, is the famous "Goose Girl." Known throughout the world, this figure features a little girl, "visiting" with two geese. The description leaves lots to the imagination, but, when seen, the artistry of the facial expressions of all three tell a story within itself. Others she has are equally charming and almost as famous. Perfection in detail is the only phrase that will describe these charming little figures which, in their way, have caught children as they really are.

Hummel figurines were first thereafter. However, a "Hummel" is perfect or it isn't to be purchased, therefore comparatively few actually are on the market each year.

In the United States, for instance, there are only two wholesale companies that are allowed to handle Hummels and it is all but impossible to acquire one in this area of the country.

Ann hastens to explain that there are reproductions of originals. For one thing, says Ann, who was raised in a family long dealing with china and works of art, the Japanese works are often faulty and are, at best, painted with a much brasher hand than the originals. A glossy, china-like finish is also used where the originals have a more or less "rubbed" appearance. Quality is the difference, and of course, the signature, "Hummel" which is placed on each original, is to be prized.

Ann is selling her Hummels, but if anyone should happen to want certain pieces or group of pieces, she will be able to obtain them through her mother. There are 180 available pieces at the present time, and many more that are still lying dormant in the unpublished works of the now deceased artist.

It seems that most knocking is done by folks who aren't able to ring the bell.

IN HOSPITAL

Charles Stoner is still confined to an Amarillo hospital this week. He is undergoing bone grafting and other "repair" work from an accident he suffered several weeks ago at a local cotton gin. Friends report that he is doing as well as can be expected.

Also visiting there at the same time was another sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Oud Stafford, of Longview, Texas.

Mrs. Rhinehart reports that the Louisiana has had "quite a hit" of moisture this year and was having rain while the local couple was visiting there. She reports that, although the temperature wasn't very low, the humid air was "very chilly."

The play, which will re-enact the birth of Christ, will be presented to the public Sunday evening, December 21, beginning at 8 p.m. Jeter reports that the "manger scene" will be featured as the highlight of the program and background music will be given. All are invited to attend.

Magician Will Perform Friday

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Cotton Harvest 85-90% Complete

There's more to a high Plains cotton harvest than just jerking the lint off the stalk, but that's the first thing that must be done, and--from the farmers' standpoint--about the most important.

This primary phase of mechanized cotton harvesting is from 85 to 90 percent complete in the Parmer County area this week. The weather has straightened up and allowed farmers to do their stripping almost at will since Sunday.

For the gins of the area, there's still plenty of work to be done. On most gin yards, the cotton is piled high in as many trailers as can be gathered up, and crews are running the whining machinery around the clock to get the work done as soon as possible.

Irrigated cotton this year has seldom--if ever--been better. Its quality approaches the all-time standard set in 1956 and the yield is probably slightly more than in that record-breaking season of two years ago.

On top of that, the loan is up, the market good and farmers are very pleased with the way that their No. 1 Money Maker is going this year.

Yields of two bales and over are not unheard of, although they are admittedly not a part of the norm. Usually, the yield is from 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 bales, with a lot of 1 3/4 farmers thrown in to help average things off.

What may or may be prophetic of another rugged winter was the light snow of last Thursday--Thanksgiving Day. The snow, accompanied by high winds, buzzed down out of the north Thursday night and left a deposit over the entire county area that did not melt off before the first of this week in many spots.

That was not because there was so much snow, though. It was on account of the cold weather. The thermometer had hovered at or below freezing for several days after a front moved in Wednesday of last week, and this streak of nippy weather did not warm up until Tuesday.

Light showers fell in some area spots Saturday night, but on the whole, moisture has been very minor. That goes for the snow, too, which was powdery dry and contributed little in the way of wetness.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Well, corn growers in the commercial area decided they would try raising corn without government restrictions and without penalties, and without the high support guarantee, Farm Bureau has promoted this program for some time, and desired to have it apply to all basic commodities. It is hoped that it can be extended in the near future.

There have been many calculations as to the effect this program will have on grain sorghum producers. Some say it will up the support; others say it will bring them to a new low. According to the figures from Texas Farm Bureau research and promotion publications, it will bring the price of milo to between $1.90 and $2 per hundred.

It is also anticipated that more of the milo will go directly into domestic and world markets, which would certainly begin depletion of government surpluses. This is one of the principal objectives of the program. We hope it works.

John Gregg, field representative for the National Cotton Council, met with Parmer County Farm Bureau directors Monday night. He listened to the regular course of the meeting, and then reported upon activities of the Council. He displayed copies of consumer advertising copy that has been used in the past two or three years. He explained that contributions to the Council by farmers was used very little in this advertising program, except to get support of manufacturers and merchandisers of cotton products. We think Mr. Gregg is doing an outstanding job for the producers of cotton in this area.

Cotton Burrs Back Whar They Come From

Cotton burrs are returning to the land on some of the most progressive and up-to-date farms in the Parmer County area. It costs money to return the burrs to the fields, but farmers who figure all the angles consider it an investment--not an expense.

This fall, the Parmer County Soil Conservation District chose James Mabry of the Hub as the outstanding conservation farmer of the year. One of the reasons was for his care of his soil, and one of the practices he's sold on is putting cotton burrs back on the land.

This year, Mabry is applying eight tons of burrs per acre. This is a heavy application, and produces good results. The tith and permeability of the soil are improved, as is the water-holding capacity--an important consideration for farmers of this area. Organic matter is aided, too.

Many cotton burrs produced on the High Plains are consigned to the burr pit where they are destroyed by fire. However, in recent years progressive farmers have been converting this by-product of the cotton industry into useful channels.

County 4-H Party Saturday at Hub

Joe Weldon Jones of Bovina presided at a Monday night meeting of the recreation committee of the County 4-H Council in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Billingsley.

Richard Chitwood led the 4-H pledge and the president turned the meeting over to the recreation leader, Cooper Young, and the group planned the county party to be Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Hub Community Center.

Boys are to bring 25 cents and girls are to bring four sandwiches and six cookies. All 4-H Club members 12 years old and older are invited to the party and may bring their parents, leaders, and guests. Men will play dominoes.

Present for the planning meeting were Young, Jones, Mary Anne Hardwick, Barbara Rea, Virginia Rea, Judy Billingsley, Chitwood, County Agent Joe Jones, Mrs. Gene Rea, Bruce Billingsley, and Janis. Richard Chitwood, reporter.

SOIL CONSERVATION: DISTRICT NEWS

When someone speaks of a "conservationist," most people think of the SCS personnel. It's true that their title is "conservationist," but this should be applied to a farmer or rancher as well. Part of the Soil Conservation District objective is that every farmer and rancher become a conservationist.

A conservationist is a man who sees the land. To him, it isn't just a mixture of sand, silt, clay and rock, but rather it is the gift of God to man to be used to produce the food he must have, the fiber for clothes and shelter and the beauties so necessary for the enjoyment of living.

To him, the soil is a living thing. The soil has needs and capabilities as does man or beast. The needs of some soils are few, to produce a hundredfold; others have much greater needs to produce even tenfold.

Since the soil is a living thing, it has a way of telling the good husbandryman just what its needs are. He can read the signs and treat it in keeping with the needs. Again just like a man or beast, some soils are suited for one use, others another.

Just as all men are not of a temperament to be doctors, neither are all soils suited for growing cotton. The conservation farmer or rancher uses the land for the purpose for which it is best suited, and treats it in accordance with its needs.

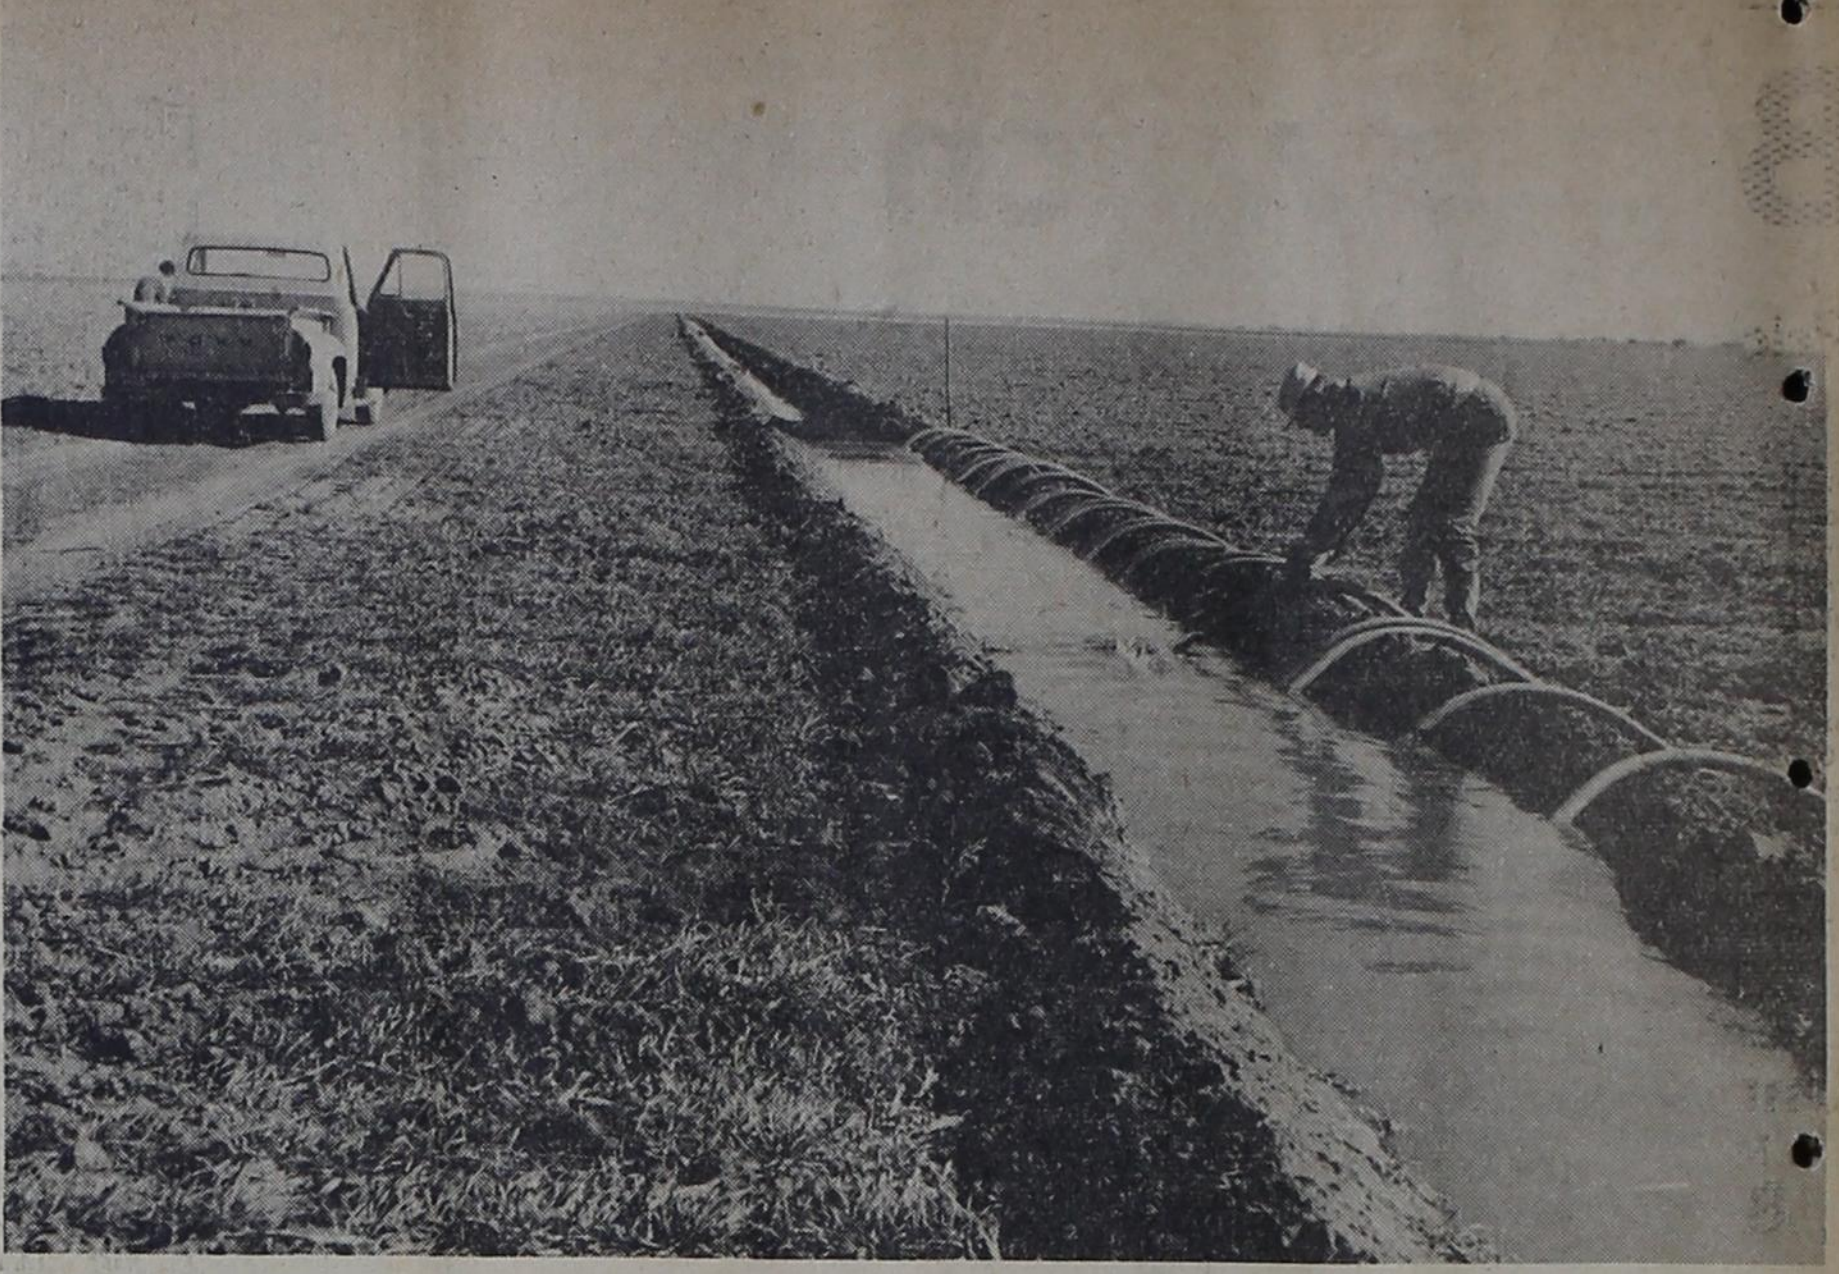

A conservationist shares his knowledge and findings with his friends and neighbors. He isn't selfish in the use of his knowledge for only his own financial gain, but shares this knowledge because he loves the land and has a desire to see it protected and improved.

A conservationist is aware that no nation can progress beyond the limits of its soil, and that our whole civilization depends on what we do to conserve our remaining land and restore the mined-out fertility.

A SNAPPY JOB for this time of year is "making a set" on irrigated wheat. This is Homer Lindeman of the Hub Community, who has about 200 acres of wheat. He ferti-

Do you still have left over turkey in the refrigerator or freezer? If so, maybe you would like to try one of the following recipes for combining turkey and rice and making a tasty dish for a noon or evening meal. Of course, left over chicken could be substituted for the turkey in any of these recipes.

One of the nicest things about these recipes is that they are easy to prepare. Some of the others are that they are low in cost, and suitable for the whole family or guests of any age.

This was the first time Mrs. Bainum had seen her grandson, who belongs to the Kenneth Bainums. She also enjoyed visiting with her granddaughter, who belongs to the Wayne Bainums.

Hard luck dogged the family while the Bainums were gone. Dudley, who lives in Amarillo, came home Sunday to have a cyst on his ear treated, and Mrs. Bainum's father, Mr. Bartlett, got pretty sick Wednesday and had to go to the hospital for a few days. However, things are back to normal now.

RICE 'N TURKEY LOAF

- 1 1/3 cups water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup milk
- 3 eggs
- 2 1/2 cups finely chopped turkey
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped pimento
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1 1/4 teaspoons salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Add rice to water and salt in a 2 quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil, turn down heat, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Turn off heat but leave covered for about 10 minutes. Then stir in remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Pour into a well greased 1 1/2 quart loaf pan and set in a shallow pan of hot water.

Bake in moderate oven 1 1/2 hours or until a silver knife inserted in center of loaf comes out clean. Remove loaf pan, run knife around inside edge and let loaf stand 10 minutes. Turn loaf out onto a plate, then invert on a platter so browned top of loaf will be up. Serve with a mushroom or celery soup sauce. Makes 8 generous servings.

In a list of household suggestions we read recently this one was included. "When putting window panes in, run hot poker over the putty so that it will be pliable enough to work into cracks well." The idea is good, but where in the world would anyone get a hot poker these days? Or, even a poker??

Big Switch In Feed Grain

Price Rise Thought Likely by Bureau

What has been talked about for several years has finally happened. The nation's commercial corn growers have voted to end a government program of long standing that will rub out acreage restrictions on this crop. In return, they will have a smaller government support price.

Controls on corn ended a week ago in the national corn referendum, and the new program was approved by 71 percent of the corn growers voting.

This is very significant news to the grain sorghum growers of the High Plains and the Parmer County area in particular. The reason is because grain sorghum has long competed in the same market with corn as a feed grain, and the things that affect one crop affect the other.

With the price of corn decreasing, and the possibility of even greater production raised since controls have ended, it might first appear that grain sorghum growers can take little comfort in this new development.

However, at least one group, Farm Bureau, thinks grain sorghum prices will increase next year. Their logic has an official ring to it since the government has agreed to support grain sorghum at a ratio commensurate with its feeding value compared to corn (and another minor factor or two).

Estimates now made by the national farm organization indicate that the corn support price for next year, which is a "weighted" average of the price for the past three years but not less than 65 percent of parity, will be between $1.12 and $1.15 per bushel.

In that case, grain sorghum will be supported at somewhere between $1.90 and $2 per hundredweight (national average). Support price this year is $1.83.

Boiled down, the indications are that, Farm Bureau is convinced, that local farmers will get from seven to seventeen cents more a hundredweight for their grain sorghum next year.

That will make lots of area farmers mighty happy if it pans out. It also could have a noticeable effect on the "A & B option" now being offered farmers who can plant 40 percent more cotton than their allotment if they accept a lower price support. The prospect of higher feed grain prices is certain to discourage use of the option.

Barley, oats and rye are also to be supported in relation to their feeding value as compared with corn. Thus, all feed grain crops are thrown together for the first time in a reduced emphasis government price support program. Previously, grain sorghums, as a non-basic commodity, has received a fluctuating price support left entirely to the discretion of the secretary of agriculture, while corn, as a "basic," has had price supports set by law.

National average prices for these other feed grains are estimated to be: barley 91 cents, rye 95 cents, and oats 58 cents a bushel.

Get the most from all your household equipment with proper care and repair. A copy of Extension Bulletin, "HOUSEHOLD EQUIPMENT -- ITS CARE AND SIMPLE REPAIR," is available at your local county agricultural extension office.

In pressing blends of fabrics, set the iron so that it is suited to the fiber requiring the lowest temperature. When in doubt iron on a sample of the fabric or on an inconspicuous place like the edge of a wide seam.

Stockings which are too short in the foot may be responsible for sore, tired feet. If they can't be pinched up about one-half inch at the toe, extension clothing specialists say they are too short.

Waxing wire clotheslines provides protection against corrosion. Waxed clotheslines are easier to keep clean--just a quick dusting before hanging out wet clothes.

Broken light bulbs remaining in a socket may be screwed out by pushing a large cork into the light base. The cork removes the danger of cutting the hands or getting a shock.

Ivory piano keys will sometimes turn yellow because of water or insufficient sunlight.

To clean these yellowed keys, use flannel dampened with wood or denatured alcohol. Then be sure that your piano keyboard is left uncovered part of the time. On some new pianos, plastic keys are being used. These may be cleaned with a damp cloth.

If minerals accumulate in your steam iron try this. Put a mixture of vinegar and water (half and half) into the reservoir. Heat for about 30 minutes at 300 degree F. (rayon setting). After the iron cools, flush the reservoir several times with clear water.

To remove the shine from gabardine, serge or other hard-surfaced woollens, try this... Go over the shiny places with a damp sponge or cloth, then stroke the dampened fabric gently with extra fine steel wool.

Farmers Union Report

Farmers Union convention time is here again. This is a time to which a majority of the Farmers Union members look forward with great anticipation. It is a time when old friends come together and new friends are made. It is a time of cooperation, for this is where state policy is formed, where state resolutions are passed and where Farmers Union gets an overall picture of the agricultural situation throughout the state.

This is where Farmers Union lays its campaign plans in their fight for parity of income for the family farmer in this great state of Texas.

Now is the time if never before when farm people need Farmers Union and vice versa. Our economic security is being threatened on every hand by various bureaus, governmental and otherwise. Farmers Union contends that under the present circumstances, price supports are an absolute necessity and must be maintained at a level affording parity of income with other businesses.

Take a look at the corn situation. All controls were voted down which was exactly what Benson and the Agriculture Dept. wanted to happen. Their plans for this were laid last year when they saw to it that the man who planted corn from fence to fence fared just as well price wise and loan wise as the man who complied with the acreage program.

Naturally, under this kind of program, controls were voted off. Now, no corn program and pretty soon no program of any kind unless somebody comes up with something that will stop the trend. Farmers Union has the program, it just needs your support.

If you will notice, the same means used in a different way is being used to lower the price of cotton, and consequently later no program at all. This hocus-pocus A & B plan business is only a trap and cotton can only suffer for it.

Some of the Parmer County families who will be present as delegates at the convention Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5 and 6, at Mineral Wells are: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Clark from Lazbuddie; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith and Junior Matthews.

Alternate delegates are: J. C. Redwine, Euel Mitchell, James Welch, and Don Schumann.

T. O. Lesly, the Lazbuddie local president, will serve on the state resolutions committee this year. Rouel Barron will be the Parmer County representative on the board of convention directors. Everybody is invited to go to the convention if possible.

A NEW CONCEPT - ROTOVATION

Here's The Answer To Heavy Stubble!

The Howard Rotovator is a new machine, working on the principle of the garden-sized roto-tillers. It brings all of the roto-tiller advantages to full farm size and makes shredding unnecessary, does a far better mulching job than disking, to end all problems with heavy stalks and stubble.

HOWARD ROTAVATOR

Does 3 Jobs in One! eliminate shredding, disking, floating.

The Rotovator has been demonstrated on several Parmer Co. Farms and proven its merits. However, we'll be glad to arrange a demonstration for you to see how the machines do three jobs in one operation.

59 Cotton Allotment 44,165 Acres

The 1959 upland cotton allotment for Parmer County is 44,165.3 acres. This represents a reduction from 1958 of 3,081.5 acres. The 1958 cotton allotment for Parmer County was 47,246.8. These figures indicate that each cotton farm in the county will have an allotment for 1959 which is approximately, but not quite, seven percent less than the farm had in 1958, says Prentice Mills, ASC office manager.

This reduction in allotment will not apply to farms whose 1958 allotment was 10 acres or less because the law provides that the allotment for such farms shall not be reduced below what it was in 1958. Parmer County cotton growers will receive official notice of their 1959 farm acreage allotments for cotton early in December.

In 1959, two allotments for upland cotton will be established for each farm, and if marketing quotas are in effect, each farm operator will have an opportunity to choose the one he wants to comply with and to register his choice at the county ASC office.

If he elects the "regular" (choice A) allotment and complies with it, he will be eligible for price support at the full level available—not less than 80 percent of parity for 1959.

If he elects the choice B allotment (which is 40 percent larger than the choice A allotment), and complies with it, he will be eligible for price support at a lower level. This would be 15 percent of parity less than under choice A.

If marketing quotas are not in effect, only "regular" allotments will be available and price support will be at 50 percent of parity as directed by law.

A vote on cotton marketing quotas for the 1959 crop will be held on Monday, December 15. The result of the vote will determine how next year's cotton crop will be marketed, the kind of allotment program in effect for the crop, and also the level of price support available to cooperators. These are questions that concern every cotton grower. Farmers are eligible to vote in the referendum if they engaged in the production of cotton in 1958.

The 1959 allotment announcement has been anxiously awaited by Parmer County cotton growers. They will be making some serious decisions about next year's farming soon and the allotments will have a definite bearing.

Parmer County is receiving about two percent less of a cut than the nation's producers as a whole, who were notched back nine percent. This is because of this county's favorable history of cotton production.

Used to figure the county's base allotment for 1959 are the average is favorable for most farmers.

In conversation with County Agent Jones the other day, we took note of something he said that ties in with the above appraisal. Joe says that there's just no such thing as an "ideal year" from the standpoint of weather, for a diversified cropping system such as we have in this part of the Plains today.

Joe points out that a cold, wet fall such as we had last year is just the thing for starting a good wheat crop, but it is pure murder for the cotton farmer and doesn't help the grain sorghum man, either.

The same thing's true in the spring. Wet, cool weather really brings on the wheat but it delays or prevents success-years 1953 through 1957. Thus, 1952, which was a year in which about 22,000 acres were grown, was dropped for historical purposes and 1957 was picked up. Over 40,000 acres were grown last year. The obvious trend to greater production helped offset the apparent reduction in store for the coming year.

In 1960, when 1953 is dropped for figuring history (there were close to 100,000 acres of cotton that year—the last year before controls), Parmer County will start heading down again.

However, local farmers shouldn't figure too closely on this. One year ago the "take your choice" allotment option offered this year was not considered likely of passage. In other words, the picture could definitely change in a year's time.

ful early season cotton planting, which is so often the key to a good crop at this latitude and altitude.

Then, as the growing season advances, the cotton needs plenty of hot weather to develop. This hot weather may make it impossible for the farmer to keep his grain sorghum wet enough even though he runs his irrigation wells full tilt. Also (depending on the state of the crop), the wheat can be hurt by a sudden hot spell—just as it was this year.

So, it's pretty much the case that there just isn't any pleasing EVERYBODY with the weather. Also, it might be pointed out that this year, which did have its rough spots, as every farmer knows, is proving to be one of the best ALL-AROUND years we could hope for.

We've thought this over and have decided that Joe's right.

If the readership of this column is cut in half this week, we'd venture to say that it's no fault of ours. Seems as if everybody has hit out for the hills. The hills of Nevada, that is.

So far, we haven't run into anyone who knows the full story on the "homesteading fever" that has enveloped this area, but we do know that a lot of our farmer and businessman acquaintances are more than just lookers, and that they are quite serious about getting in on the deal.

The story is going the rounds that the government has opened up a big acreage (was it millions, or thousands?) of public domain land in Nevada for homesteading. Through some broker in that state, this land is being parceled out a half-section at a time for 25 cents an acre.

The rules are one half to a customer—no more, no less, and some improvements have to be made. We understand these to be fencing, putting down an irrigation well, and breaking out a certain percentage. This part of the deal's pretty hazy to our sources, so don't bet on it.

At any rate, a lot of fellows have decided they can't possibly get hurt much at prices like those, so are lining up for their share. Some have bought sight unseen (we sure don't recommend it), but most are going out for a look. Whether they buy or not, everybody seems to be enjoying the trip. We notice a few suspicious signs about this deal. One is that the buyers—or prospective buyers—are all men who are ganging up in cars for the ride. It seems as if you just can't get to the land without going through Reno!

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

Probably, the 1958 cotton harvest is nine-tenths over. That is, the farmers' part of the cotton harvest. The gins will still have a lot of work to do before they can look up from the grindstone. As cotton is the latest of our major crop harvests, folks are beginning to add up the totals to see just what kind of a year 1958 has been. Most are finding that it stacks up something like this:

WHEAT--a good year. One of the best, both for irrigated and dryland, in a long time.

MILLO--a good year. Comparable with 1956 and 1957 from a yield standpoint, although per-acre average is probably up slightly. Much better late-season and harvest conditions than in year previous.

COTTON--a good year. In many respects as good as 1956 although grade may not quite measure up. Better prices, increased yields are closing the gap, though, and from an over-all standpoint, 1958 was a good one for the cotton growers.

Of course, adverse weather, unusual insect trouble, well breakdowns or other factors caused unusual hardships in localized areas. Some farmers actually came out shorter this year than last, and 1957 was a pretty poor one. However,

By Sally Whitesides

What with Thanksgiving, 1958 a thing of history, the people of Bovina are now shifting into overdrive for the season ahead. Bet there isn't a woman in town that hasn't done at least three things; bought at least one gift that cost more than they expected; fished for some suggestions as to what to get the family and most important of all--let out a few "leaks" as to what she herself would appreciate finding under the Christmas tree that morning which will be upon us all too soon. Three weeks from tomorrow, by the way.

Fluence Ritchie and I did quite a bit of our Christmas shopping the other day and spent little over a dollar between us. Our packages all came from stamp stores--we went to all three that are represented by Bovina merchants and had one marvelous time for ourselves. Personally, although I did find it awful hard to save my stamp book until Christmas, I get a lot of satisfaction in getting "something for nothing." In fact, have talked to a number of women in Bovina who are doing the same thing. Nice gifts, for either children or adults and all thanks to our local merchants.

Bill cheated this year though. He informed me, first, that he wanted a certain type hunting jacket for Christmas and then, when I had acquired same and was planning a box under the tree for him, he comes up with the all too true statement that bird season will be all but over when the big day arrives. So, he got his jacket more than a month ahead of time. Now, I've sworn to him that is all --except for one small gift I'd had for some time.

Of course, he knows as well as I do, that, by Christmas Eve, I'll rush out and bust the budget wide open just so he'll have a little more to open that morning. Pretty smart bargain on his part, but what is a mere wife to do against the wiles of a smart husband?

WANTED: letters to Santa from the little folks. The Blade, as has been our practice each year, will publish all letters to Santa that are either handed to us or mailed in. They will all appear in the Christmas edition of the paper and Editor Leland and I are anxious to have a good representation again this year. By the way, letters will be picked up in some of the classrooms again this year, if this is more convenient for you mothers. The preschooler's letters can be delivered in this way, also if you like.

Also, we are planning a section devoted to YOUR favorite Christmas recipes. So, as you dig them out between now and Christmas, please drop us a note or call me and give me your favorite recipe. It needn't be your own--if you would like, you can recommend someone's delicacy and I'll try and contact them for it.

Still another request I would like to make is that you call and tell me the date on which your club, friends or church is planning a social during this season. It will help Editor Leland and I to know who to contact for what reports, stories and pictures. A calendar of events will be placed in the paper for at least two weeks before Christmas, so call in now to be sure your meeting is down in my "little green book."

Would someone please call and give me a recipe for oyster dressing? Tasted some made by Shirley Ware last week that was delicious, but when I asked her for her recipe, she went over it once too lightly and a little too fast for me. Had never eaten any before but would like to put it on my Christmas menu.

Visited the other day with Rita Mast and again I felt ashamed of myself for the little I accomplish in the line of any 24 hour period. While I was there, Rita was mapping out her Christmas cards for this year--hand drawn, no less and just as cute as a button. All of the family was represented in characters across the front, complete with action. Rita is just one more of the busy mothers in Bovina who are doing so much to make their houses homes and their children their families. More power to each of you.

Deflation is an understatement for what happened awhile back to me. We had guests from Clovis who hadn't visited with us for a couple of years and, upon walking into my recently redecorated and practically completely refurbished living-room, Jo Sue mentioned that the house looked so different--had I put up new drapes? Needless to say, since the drapes now hanging in my livingroom have been there the better part of five years, I had blamed little to say for a couple of minutes!

Guild Completes Study Tuesday

Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild met Tuesday evening of last week in the parlor of the church for the completion of the study of the "Mid-East." Mrs. Bedford Caldwell was in charge of the meeting and those assisting her were Mrs. Margaret Caldwell, Miss Grace Paul and Mrs. H. L. Laney.

The three assistants gave reports on three areas of the Middle East; North Africa, Israel, Iraq and Jordan. Following their talks, Mrs. Bedford Caldwell gave a brief resume of missionary work being done at the present time in these countries and the opportunities for future missionary work.

The meeting was closed with a devotional by the program leader.

Hostesses were Mrs. Davis Edens and Mrs. Loucile Foster. They served coffee, tea, nuts and cookies. The centerpiece, featuring a miniature turkey surrounded by apples and candies, was novel and served as part of the refreshments. Candies and apples from the centerpiece were also eaten by those attending. Present for the study were Mrs. W. E. Williams, Mrs. Margaret Caldwell, Miss Rita Caldwell, Mrs. Laney, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Edens, Mrs. Hilton Terry, Mrs. Bedford Caldwell and Mrs. W. E. Thorton.
