people who are at home with QUALITY choose GAS appliances

Enter the home where choices are made strictly on the basis of quality, and the chances are excellent that you'll find a built-in Gas range in the kitchen. That's because people who are concerned enough to evaluate, discover that a Gas range offers superiority in two ways. The range itself combines precision accuracy with complete automation. And GAS, as a live-flame fuel, does important things that no other fuel can do. It consumes cooking vapors so that you can enjoy closed-door smokeless broiling. With Gas there's no warm-up wait when it's turned on... no lingering heat when it's turned off. And only an instantly responsive Gas flame permits perfect control of the subtle variations in temperature that mean so much to the taste and texture of foods. Gas is the choice of people who insist upon quality at any price... and it's incidental that Gas costs from five to eight times less than any other fuel! Where the finest is truly appreciated... GAS belongs.

Indians Scalp Friona 17 - 9

Bovina's Little League Indians put together their biggest run-producing effort of the season and clobbered Reeve Chevrolet of Friona 17-9 Thursday afternoon.

The Indians trailed only once -- in the first inning when the first three batters went down in order and Reeve pushed across one run in their half to take a 1-0 lead. The first was the only inning of the five-inning affair that Bovina failed to score.

The Friona run came on two errors and no hits.

The Indian second inning gave a warning of what was to come as Bovina batsmen collected three hits and took the lead with two runs.

Ronnie Glasscock, Carl Odom and Randy Jones, the first three batters in the inning, accounted for the three hits. Glasscock and Odom scored the runs.

The third was Bovina's big inning as nine Indians batted. They made four hits and scored seven runs. The hits were mingled with two Friona errors.

Jerry Roach, Glasscock, Odom and Radford Venable made the hits. Odom's was his second consecutive double.

After the single run in the first, Indian hurler, Odom, was able to shut out Friona until the fourth when five walks and three hits accounted for eight runs and made the score 12-9. Odom weathered the storm however and pitched a scoreless final inning.

Meanwhile his teammates were scoring three runs in the fourth and five in the fifth to put the game on ice.

Odom, who has figured in every decision so far this season now has a 4-2 record. In addition to nailing down the victory, he also had two-for three at bat.

Billy Charles had an inside the park home-run in the fifth and Glasscock had three for three to lead Indian batters.

Pee Wees Notch Victory

Bovina Pee Wees pounded Friona Motors 15-4 in a slugfest Tuesday afternoon on Bovina's diamond.

Bovina never trailed, scoring three runs in the first without a hit, after Friona failed to scratch in their half of the first. The Pee Wees added eight runs in the second and four in the third to put together their biggest score of the season.

Friona counted a single run in the second, two in the third and one in the final frame.

Darrell Kirkpatrick was the winning pitcher. Mike Grissom had two singles to lead Bovina batsmen.

Next game for the Pee Wees will be Tuesday at Friona. They will practice Friday afternoon before the Little League game.

Umpire Protests -

Leans Take 3 - 1 Win Among Riots, Argument

Fats and Leans met in a rematch Friday afternoon at Bovina's diamond. When the dust settled and loud talking ceased, the Leans owned a 3-1 victory.

The game was a pitcher's duel between Glendon Sudderth, for the Leans, and Bob Wills of the Fats. Each pitcher gave up only one hit and struck out five batters.

The game was marred by debates, protests and near-riots. Worst of which occurred in the last inning, when Art Mast who had entered the game as a pinch hitter and blasted a triple over Center Fielder Vernon Estes tried to score on a wild pitch. It was the first hit of the game for the Fats and drove in their first run.

This was the first serious threat the Fats had been able to muster and when Mast tried to score from third on the wild pitch, Leans catcher Wendol Christian retrieved the ball and put to pitcher Sudderth who put the tag on the sliding Mast. With the damper quickly put to their rally, the Fats protested vehemently and it was several minutes before Plate Umpire Vernon Stewart could restore order and get the game started again.

Base Umpire Nat Read lodged a protest against the call at home, but the decision stood and the game finally continued. The Fat rally was stopped although C. R. Brandon, who was batting when the disturbance started and contributed no small amount to it, walked. He was left stranded when the next batter, Harry Charles, popped out to First Baseman J. D. Kirkpatrick.

It was a scoreless battle until the last of the fourth when the Leans broke into the run column. Wills had faced only nine batters in the three previous innings.

Wendol Christian was hit by a pitch to lead off the inning. Sudderth followed with a base on balls. Both runners advanced when Wills uncorked a wild pitch and Christian scored on Wills' second wild pitch of the inning.

Sudderth coasted along with a no-hit shutout until Mast connected with a fast ball in the seventh. Sudderth walked Warren Morton in the first inning and Allan Cumpton in the second. Cumpton was cut down trying to steal second.

Charles Don Smith walked in the fourth to start a Fat threat. Morton grounded to third and Smith kept churning around second and was standing on third when the play was over. Wills popped to second and D. C. Looney went down swinging to end the inning.

Cumpton led off the fifth for the Fats and was hit on the arm by a pitched ball. The Leans protested that Cumpton made no effort to get out of the way of the ball but he was allowed to take first base.

Brandon forced Cumpton at second and was stranded there as Harry Charles and Lee Kimbrough popped to pitcher.

Fats went down in order in the sixth. Leans' big inning, came in the fifth when they scored two runs on no hits. T. C. Wiseman was thrown out pitcher to first, but Tom Caldwell was safe on an error by the shortstop. Caldwell was wild pitched to third and scored when Grissom grounded to third. Grissom was safe on an error and later scored on a passed ball. Leans' lone hit came in the seventh when Kirkpatrick beat out a slow roller to shortstop. Box Score:

ed up.

Sunday night the siege continued as Charley Short's car, also of Friona, was stolen from in front of his house. This story had a happy ending for officers, however, as the suspected thief was picked up early Monday morning in Hereford.

Found in Short's car and arrested was Thomas Lee Fairchild, airman from Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis. Sheriff Lovelace indicated the first of this week that county officers will pick him up from the Deaf Smith officials and return him here to face a charge of car theft.

Indications are that Fairchild had stolen another vehicle, a Jeep pickup, in Clovis and had abandoned it in Friona when he located Short's car with the keys inside.

Other sheriff's department activity during the past week included the arrest of two Texico young men, Roy Boone, 19, and Johnny Campbell, 17, who were charged with theft.

They pled guilty to a charge of stealing gasoline, tools, oil, and a battery from state highway department equipment working on the paving of Ninth Street in Farwell.

Also implicated was a Farwell juvenile boy, 15 years old, whose hearing is required to be in a closed session of County Judge Loyde Brewer's juvenile court.

The young men were picked up at their homes when Sheriff Lovelace discovered the missing battery in one of the young men's autos. The markings "THD" (Texas Highway Department) had been obliterated from the top of the battery, reports the sheriff, but otherwise the article fitted the description.

Another young man, James Boone (Roy's brother), 17, was arrested in Floydada in connection with the thefts. He is a Clovis resident but was visiting relatives in the East Plains city.

Roy Boone and Campbell pled guilty as charged in county court Saturday and were fined $10 and costs and 10 days in jail by Judge Brewer. James Boone was due to be tried later this week.

Hail, High Winds Rip Area Near Lazbuddie

A strip about four miles wide and 12 miles long east of Lazbuddie was battered by high winds and hail that came barreling out of a small thunderstorm about 4:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Cotton in the storm's path was destroyed and feed was badly damaged by the hail. Cotton was stripped of all leaves and only broken stems remain. Feed isn't destroyed but certainly the damage will be registered in smaller yields.

The storm, which some witnesses said contained a twister, apparently was most severe as it passed the John McGehee farm about two miles east of Lazbuddie. Seven utility poles near McGehee's home were broken. Eight of McGehee's cotton trailers were tossed about by the high wind.

Repairmen who replaced the broken power poles said the poles were twisted off, indicating that the wind was from a tornado.

The McGehee family was at home when the storm hit. "If we'd have known the cloud was that bad, we would have been in the cellar when it got here," McGehee said. "But it was such a small cloud and didn't look bad until it was on top of us. I think it started building up just before it hit here."

Apparently this assumption is correct since the area just north of McGehee's farm escaped the storm.

McGehee said the cloud the storm came out of wasn't even the biggest or blackest looking one at the time.

The eight cotton trailers were picked up and scattered around a field. Some of them were moved about 100 yards. A larger combine was turned around by the storm.

The power poles that were broken were on the east side of the McGehee home, the cotton trailers on the west and the combine on the north but the house was not damaged. Even the television antenna was left intact.

McGehee's 54 acres of cotton were completely wiped out. He said two inches of rain fell in about 30 minutes at his house. "The rain was so heavy we couldn't tell it was hailing. Rain was coming from every direction like it was swirling," he said.

Rainfall was much heavier in spots and some spots were practically skipped by the drenching.

C. A. Parham, whose farm is just west of McGehee's, lost half of his cotton in the hail, but half of it was just out of the strip battered by the storm.

Parham says he believes the feed will recover from the beating and make a good crop. But there is no question about cotton--it's gone. Only stubble remains.

Friona Spud Market Slow

Potatoes in the Friona area are moving, but they are still moving slow.

John O'Haugherty, of Friona Growers and Shippers, says this year's crop will be good for the amount of acres planted. He says fewer acres are planted this year than have been in the past.

Price for those potatoes that have moved through the Friona shed has been $4.00. O'Haugherty said he wouldn't make a prediction but he thinks the price might go higher. He didn't eliminate the possibility of a price drop, however.

Wheat Referendum Next Thursday

Parmer County area wheat growers will join with those of the nation over next Thursday (July 23) to vote on whether quotas will be in effect for the coming year.

Polling places in Parmer County:

- FARWELL--courthouse
- BOVINA--Sherley Grain Company
- RHEA--Schlenker Elevator
- FRIONA--City Hall
- OKLAHOMA LANE--Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply
- LAZBUDDIE--School Auditorium

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Any grower who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat as grain next year is eligible to vote.

Wheat is on the rebound in Parmer County. Its economic influence is being felt increasingly with each passing year, as prices for grain sorghum decline, cotton acreage is restricted, and irrigation increases the yield of wheat and enhances its earning power.

This year's allotment was 105,322 acres, of which approximately 90,000 acres were seeded. Next year's allotment will be 106,358 acres, and, to judge from the trend, the seeded acreage will probably jump to around 100,000.

As recently as four years ago, only about two-thirds of the allotment had been planted. The renewal of interest in wheat is easy to see. Agricultural officials set the irrigated portion of this year's seeded acreage at about 85,000.

Parmer County's allotment has increased over 1000 acres principally because the trend away from wheat has been greatly accelerated in other Texas counties, and the factor averaging the state's share permits the increase to be made locally.

If marketing quotas are approved, support rates (national average) will be near $1.78 per bushel, which is 75 percent of parity. It takes two thirds of the growers--nationwide--to maintain quotas. If more than one-third turn them down, the referendum fails. Quotas carried 84.1% last year.

In that event, quotas are dropped and there is no penalty for overplanting an allotment--although allotments will still be set. Wheat planted inside this allotment would be supported at 50 percent of parity.

Marketing quotas for the 1960 crop were proclaimed June 1 by Secretary of Agriculture Benson. This seventh successive proclamation of wheat marketing quotas is required by a wheat supply that is 99.6 percent above the normal supply level.

The Texas share of the 1960 allotment will be 4,092,251 acres, which is nearly 7,000 acres less than the 1959 allotment of 4,099,094 acres.

Benson proclaimed a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres, the minimum permitted by law, and announced state shares of the national allotment.

The 1960 national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres is the minimum fixed by law and is the same as for the 1958 crop. If the allotments had been determined solely on the basis of the law's supply formula, the 1960 allotment would have been zero acres.

July 19 - 25 National Farm Safety Week

National Farm Safety Week has been designated for July 19-25, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, with the emphasis this year on "Safety Makes Sense." Farm families who continually include safety in their plans and work are aware that "safety that saves makes sense." Safe farming and living saves time, money, sound bodies, carefree hours and even lives, the Council says.

Farm work accidents claim about 3,500 lives each year, more than any other major industry. About 12,000 farm residents lose their lives each year in all types of accidents, and another million or more suffer accidental injuries. The accompanying disabilities, miseries and financial troubles emphasize that "Safety Makes Sense," says the council.

Human failure, not motor vehicles, farm implements and animals, is the basic cause of accidents. In nearly every case, human failure to recognize and correct a hazard is the real cause of accidental death and injury. Human failures include: hurry, lack of common sense, improper equipment, improper care and use of equipment, procrastination, false confidence, and lack of knowledge, states the Council.

The objective of National Farm Safety Week is to establish safety in farm living. Farm safety activities aim at developing the attitudes, customs and environment for safe living for every member of the family every day in the year. In the vital contest of education vs. accidents, the score should be safety education 100 percent, accidents zero, the council states.

Obviously most, if not all, farm accidents can be prevented. It is a fact that in states where good safety institutes with well planned, active programs are in existence, accident rates have been reduced. National Farm Safety Week has been an important factor in bringing about this reduction, and each year the effectiveness of this week-long campaign becomes more and more apparent, the council adds.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The end of June each year is the completion of a fiscal year which means the totaling of the years progress for the Soil Conservation District.

Progress in Parmer County Soil Conservation District has been good this year and to the cooperating farmers and ranchers who have helped in this we owe a vote of thanks. Also, a vote of thanks to the non-farmers who have helped in the various phases of the District program.

The SCS is looking forward to contacting and assisting more farmers and ranchers this next year than last.

During the 59 fiscal year 39 conservation plans were written for new cooperators with the soil conservation district. This brings the total to 475 district cooperators. In addition, 32 basic conservation farm or ranch plans were written which brings this total to 105.

Twenty-one applications were received to participate in the Great Plains Conservation Program and out of these six have signed contracts to receive cost-share assistance.

Farm Feeding Opens New Income Source

Feeding cattle on farms where grain is raised is becoming more and more prominent as farmers accept the idea that putting their grain in cattle is the best way to market it. "I decided about three years ago when the price of grain dropped that if I couldn't make money by feeding grain, I should quit raising it," says Leon Grissom, who farms 1100 acres in the Oklahoma Lane community and has facilities for feeding about 600 cattle. Grissom now has 100 head of cattle ready for market. They will be sold sometime this week. "My operation isn't big enough to provide me with an outlet for all the grain I can raise. I wish it were," he says. Grissom has been feeding for three years. He gets his grain steam rolled at Worley's Feed Mill in Farwell. Worley's stores his grain in addition to processing it. Grissom says hiring his grain processed is much cheaper for a program such as his, than buying equipment and doing it at the lots. The processing now costs 25 cents per hundred. He says the processing equipment would cost 40 to 50 thousand dollars plus several thousand for building a barn for storage. Grissom has a mixer wagon that he pulls behind a tractor. The mixer is powered by the tractor. Grissom says there is a possibility that he may enlarge his program enough to justify buying grinding equipment. "Of the three years I've been feeding, this is the worst," he says. "This year the price hasn't gone up any over what I paid for my cattle." Grissom feeds a supplement mixture that he gets from Worley's. He plans to implant stillbirth, a growth increasing hormone, in the next bunch of cattle he feeds. Burl Ford, whose farm is south of Bovina, fed 150 head last year. He had disease trouble and six of his cattle died, but he still did well enough to convince him feeding is a good idea. He has enlarged his facilities for next year to take care of 300 head. Ford also has his grain stored and rolled at Worley's in Farwell. He uses corn for roughage. Ford hasn't used antibiotics or hormones in the past but says he will in the future. "I think I missed the boat by not using them last year and plan to use them on the next bunch," he says. He thinks pneumonia might not have killed the six if they had been fed antibiotics. Joe Bates Jennings, whose farm is in the Lazbuddie community, has a large feeding operation. Last year he marketed 1000 head of cattle fattened in his lots. Jennings and his father, O. N. Jennings of Muleshoe, are partners in the business. They have their own machinery for rolling their grain and also have one mixer truck for distributing feed to the pens. Corn is the principal ensilage crop in the Jennings feeding program. They also put a small amount of cane in the silo. The home-grown grain, ensilage, cotton hulls and cottonseed meal make up the ration for Jennings' cattle. The hulls are hauled from Lubbock where they have been mixed with molasses. Harold Wilson, a farmer in the Oklahoma Lane community, feeds about 80 head of cattle each year. He has a small mill for grinding his own grain and uses sorghum alum for ensilage. The cattle market is always subject to drops and rises. Some years feeding cattle may be an unprofitable business. It has been a profitable business lately. Like other farm ventures it is a risk, but many farmers are convinced that year after year, feeding home-grown grain is the best way to market it. Burl Ford says the grain he fed last year was marketed for $3.00 per hundred, compared to $1.54 for that sold to elevators. Ford believes that there is enough margin between $1.54 and $3.00 to cover feeding expenses and still pay him dividends.

MIXER WAGON--Leon Grissom poses with his tractor drawn feed wagon. It is powered by the tractor's power takeoff and is used to feed the 600 head of cattle Grissom feeds each year.

your farm? If so, demand--don't just insist--that a cover be placed upon it AT ONCE. A farm homemaker can help her husband by observing hazards and cooperating with him in removing them.

In every family there is always a large cotton beach towel. Had you ever thought of using these oversized towels for outdoor tablecloths? If large tables are used, several towels may be used to cover them.

These same towels can also be used, sewed together, of course, as covers for outdoor lounges. They are easily laundered and can be purchased in colors to go with any decorative scheme.

"Hiram," exclaimed Mrs. Cornstossel, "that candidate you don't like is coming up the road. What'll I say if he wants to kiss the children?"

"Don't say anything. Just call 'im back to the kitchen and give 'im plenty of bread and butter and molasses."

Only three Texas counties are among the 1,576 in the nation now listed as modified certified brucellosis areas. The three, said Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, are Jeff Davis, Brewster and Pre-

Research conducted by the USDA and state experiment stations has increased the market for cottonseed meal by an estimated 300,000 tons annually.

"What a handsome baby!" exclaimed the visitor. "Does he resemble your husband?"

Number of Wheat Loans Down from Last Year

The number of loans made on wheat this year is considerably less than at this time last year, according to Prentice Mills, manager of the local ASC office in Farwell. There are now 250 individual loans to date. This compares with 600 loans which had been made at this same time last year. Further comparison can be made from the fact that only 40 per cent of the wheat is going into loans this year and 80 per cent went into loans last year.

Volume dollar wise, $220,000 has been loaned for the present period compared with $600,000 for the period a year before. As an estimated 50 per cent of the expected loans have already been completed, and using the figures listed, an estimated $440,000 can be expected in dollar volume loans this year. This will still be considerably less than last year's loans.

The price support on this year's wheat crop is 80 percent of parity whereas last year it was 82 1/2 per cent.

The primary reason for the decrease in loans is due to the fact that the present market value is above the loan value. The present loan value is $1.82 with a net to the farmer of $1.70 1/2. This compares with a gross of $1.83 which was the loan value last year.

Buyers of wheat have found that most of the good milling quality of wheat is owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation and they can buy the same quality from farmers at a lower price than they can from the CCC.

Therefore, the present market value will probably remain for at least another 30 to 60 days.

This will keep the number of wheat loans from increasing to any great extent.

Mills explains that January 31 is the final date for completing the loan documents and having them on file. March 31, 1960, is the maturing date on the loans. At this time, the loans may be redeemed or the CCC will take over the grain. It is interesting to note that 95 per cent of the grain last year was redeemed by the farmers.

On the farm storage, where a farmer store his own grain, the maturing date of the loan is the same. However, a farmer in this instance can apply for a one-year extension on his loan. Farmers who have stored the grain in commercial elevators cannot be granted any extension on their loans.

The yields of this year's wheat are approximately 120 per cent of normal on fields that were not damaged by hail or other adverse weather. On fields that were damaged, the yields are from normal to zero. At least 40 per cent of the fields were damaged this year, as estimated by Mills.

The quality of the wheat this year is excellent all over the county. Farmers are averaging one cent a bushel for protein content and some are getting as much as two cents. There has been no undesirable grain reported.

What with the market value being good and the quality and yields being higher, the wheat farmers in the county are expected to fare better than was predicted during the days of the adverse weather.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

If the wheat farmers vote against marketing quotas on July 23, government support level will be 50% of parity. Acreage allotments would be the same either way, but there would be no penalty imposed for exceeding allotments if marketing quotas are not voted. Some farmers and farm groups have advocated that wheat farmers should be required to reduce their acreage to bring the supply in line with demand. The Department of Agriculture has announced that if the allotment had been determined on the basis of the law's supply and demand formula, the 1960 allotment would have been "zero" acres.

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau and other farm groups are battling a proposed state bill to socialize farmers there. One thing the proposed law would do is, "Assess farmers for promotion, advertising, research and educational programs up to four percent of gross dollar volume of the commodity involved." This in itself would be about enough to stop most farmers, but it is only one of more than a dozen items, some of which sound even more idiotic . . .

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country." This is a prayer recited each morning by the children in the public schools of a district in Long Island. It is a non-denominational prayer approved by the New York State Board of Regents. It is not compulsory, but allowable. Nevertheless, five citizens of the district have brought suit against their local school board to force it to abandon the use of the prayer in their schools. These citizens are expected to take their case all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court. Would you have thought this would ever happen in America?

"The greatest cause of crash deaths is the drinking driver. He accounts for 50 percent or more of them," states Fletcher D. Woodward, M. D., who does research in safety for the American Medical Association. He says charges should be changed from Driving While Intoxicated to Driving While Drinking, with conviction being based on chemical breath test. . . .

Research Proves It - MATHIESON Chemicals Are The Best

Above shows a competitive brand of Malathion 5 lb per gallon Emulsifiable Concentrate tested in 3 synthetic and 9 natural waters. You will note that the product produces a stable emulsion in only three of the 12 waters. A good emulsifiable concentrate when added to water forms a smooth, milky emulsion. One that is "grainy" or "curdled," or one which quickly separates into separate layers of oil and water, will not give good, even distribution of the active ingredient on the crop.

Above shows Mathieson Malathion 5 lb emulsifiable concentrate tested in 3 synthetic and 9 natural waters. The performance is proof of quality and value. All of Mathieson's Emulsifiable Concentrates give you proven performance in a wide range of waters because they are tailored and tested in our formulation research and quality control laboratory. This custom formulation and testing gives each Mathieson chemical emulsifiable concentrate the extra high quality ingredient needed by the user.
