Non-Essential Spending Must be Stopped Congressman Fisher Tells Lions Tuesday

Federal legislation passed by the 87th Congress and general financial condition of the nation were discussed by U. S. Representative O. C. Fisher Tuesday. Speaking before the Sonora Lions Club, Fisher told of the extension of the National Wool Act for another four years and extension of the Bracero Act for one year. The latter he described as "little or no program" since its administration is controlled by labor unions. He held out little hope for a future program.

Fisher described the 87th Congress as "the free-est spending Congress I have seen in 19 years." He cited especially non-essential or "rat-hole" spending as to blame for the $3,900,000,000 budget deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961. He said that Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon estimated the deficit for the current fiscal year at $7 billion but that Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, who is rarely in error on his estimates of budget deficits, expects a deficit of $9 to $10 billions.

The federal budget for this year is $88 billion, 18 percent more than last year. Reason for the increase is additional welfare spending, Fisher said. The administration has created new welfare programs and is further expanding existing programs.

First welfare program discussed was the Depressed Area

Bill which will cost $400 million. An example of this program is aid to unemployed miners in the coal areas of Pennsylvania. More than half of the counties in the United States have qualified as depressed areas under terms of this bill, typical of non-essential spending, Fisher says, because these are basically local problems which the federal government has invaded in a new era of spending.

The omnibus housing bill Fisher called "riding piggyback on a sound FHA program". This will be the biggest housing bill in history with an estimated cost of $6 to $9 billion. Fisher described it as strictly a socialized deal because it is not restricted to welfare cases. "Pie in the sky for everybody", he concluded.

The foreign aid bill was voted $4 billion but already has $5 billion in the pipeline counting previously committed funds. "This is too much," Fisher said, adding "if they have it they are going to spend it." He surmised that $3 billion would have done just as well and that we should use foreign aid only for those who are willing to align themselves on our side against Communism. "We can't buy friends," he said, "and there are lots of ratholes in our foreign aid program."

The public debt today is some $294 billion and annual interest on the debt amounts to $9 billion.

The Agricultural Research Service, in cooperation with SCS and the Edwards Plateau SCD, is making a water study in this watershed. Rain gages 1 and 4 are located on the Joe Logan ranch; 2 and 3 on the James Hunt and Nancy Powell ranch; 5, 6, 8, and 9 on Mrs. Allie Askew's ranch; 7 and 10 on the W. L. Miens ranch; 11 and 12 on Mrs. Stella Keene's ranch; and 13 is on land owned by Bryan Hunt and George H. Neill.

Broncos To Big Lake Friday For Final Conference Game

Sheep And Goat Management Course Well Attended At 4-H Center Tuesday

Some 30 ranchmen from this area of West Texas were present at Tuesday's Sheep and Goat Management short course held at the 4-H Club Center here. The day's program of instruction was sponsored by the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College. Ray Siegmund, district agent, was master of ceremonies.

Tom E. Prater, farm management specialist, spoke on "Looking at the Sheep and Goat Business"; John G. McHaney, economist, discussed "The Outlook for the Sheep and Goat Industry"; Charles A. Taylor, area farm management specialist, talked on "Economic Size Unit", and Garryn Hoffman, range specialist, discussed "Better Range Management and Your Program." Following lunch, Charles A. Taylor talked on "Tax Considerations in Planning Your Program" and James A. Gray, animal husbandman, discussed "Opportunities in Sheep and Goat Production".

For the season, Big Lake's Owls have stacked up five wins, three losses and one tie. They tied Rankin 8 and 8, beat Stanton 15 to 0, lost to McCamey 13 to 12 and Fort Stockton 17 to 8 (both AA teams), defeated Coahoma 22 to 15, Iraan 40 to 8, Ozona 27 to 6, and Junction 19 to 0 before losing to Eldorado 7 to 0 last week.

Big Lake has been the surprise team of the conference this year. They average a good 169 pounds and have experience at virtually all positions.

Probable starters for the Owls will be: Ends Bobby Beavers and Harold Gardner; Tackles Wayne

Davis and Kenny Mann or John Werst; Guards Bill Shields and Jerry Aly; Center Jim Parker; Backs Mike Holmes, Bud Farr, Gary Miller and Tommy Franklin or Wayne Luxton.

Starting for the Broncos: Austin Chavez and Arthur Bermean, ends; Luis Perez and Alred Perez, tackles; Bob Nevill and Preston Neely, guards; George Roberson, center; Prime Gonzales, Julio Samaniego, Lester Schmidt and Johnny Morris or Danny Rutherford, backs.

Bronco Boosters Plan Banquet In December

Some 35 members of the Bronco Booster Club were present at the school Monday night. A film on Western football was shown and included teams from Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah. Head Football Coach Jerry Hopkins gave a run down on the Big Lake scouting reports and on the Sonora team's general condition.

Following the meeting, directors of the club met to discuss plans for the forthcoming football banquet. It is expected that the banquet will be held during the second week in December, depending on the availability of a speaker.

General Rains Thursday Morning Promise Good Winter Pastures

Sarah Sawyer Named 1961 Football Queen

Miss Sarah Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Sawyer, was crowned Football Sweetheart of the 1961 Sonora Broncos at pre-game ceremonies at Bronco Stadium Friday night, October 27.

Sarah was elected by popular vote of team members and was presented a bouquet of flowers by Preston Neely. She is a senior at Sonora High School.

Ranchmen in the Sonora area were awakened early last Thursday morning by the sound of rain on the roof. Most of the rainfall measured about an inch, but some ranchmen received up to 2.5 inches.

"A good crop of winter weeds had germinated from earlier rains, and last week's shower will help get some green winter feed started", said E. B. Keng, SCS technician. Showers were reported over part of the area on October 25, but many ranchmen received only a trace. Moisture reports from Thursday's rain included Sonora Weel and Mohair Company .68; T. E. Glasscock 1.20; W. L. Davis 1.12; V. J. Glasscock 1.00; Frank Fish 1.10; Billy Galbreath .70; Preston Love 1.00; Station B .75; J. A. Cauthorn 1.00; Glen Richardson 2.5; Hillman Brown 1.40; W. F. Berger 1.00; Ben Cusenbary .90; Collier Shurley .70 to 1.50.

The accompanying map shows rain gages installed in the Lowrey Draw watershed by the Agricultural Research Service in connection with the water study being made. In Thursday's rain Gage 1 received .79; No. 2 .84; No. 4 .78; No. 5 .75; No. 6 .77; No. 7 .72; No. 8 .58; No. 9 .64; No. 10 .77; No. 11 .52; No. 12 .56; and No. 13 .82.

Radioactive Fallout --- Its Possible Effects On Sonora

Note: This is the second of a series of articles on nuclear explosions, the dangers involved, and precautions that should be taken).

By E. B. Keng
Radioactive fallout might be simply defined as dust particles produced by a nuclear explosion which give off "X-rays" capable of causing death to people and livestock.

At the instant of a nuclear explosion tremendous heat-estimated at 18,000,000 degrees near the center-is generated. This great heat produces over 200 different elements or compounds which are radioactive-give off deadly alpha and beta particles, and gamma rays. Many of these particles live only an instant, most are "dead" after two weeks, but some are active more than 28 years.

A 20 megaton bomb, exploded at ground level, will vaporize some 400,000 tons of soil, rock and other materials. This vaporized dust rises quickly in the typical mushroom shape to a height of many miles. The blast and prevailing ground winds scatter some of the dust particles, with the heavier particles settling nearby. The lighter particles rise to great heights and are carried far by the fast jet stream winds, with most particles settling to earth 100 miles or further downwind. The lightest particles may circle the earth, to be brought down later by rain or snow.

We are told that the jet stream winds blow from west to east 80-85 percent of the time; from east to west 5 percent of the time; and from north or south about 10 to 15 percent of the time. This would indicate that our greatest fallout danger in this area might be from the primary target at El Paso, but fallout could be received from any direction.

The radioactive particles that settle as visible or invisible dust give off deadly alpha and beta particles, and gamma rays similar to X-rays, until they "die" or decay. Alpha and beta particles are deadly, but do not have great penetrating power. Their chief damage is caused by internal radiation, induced by using contaminated food or water.

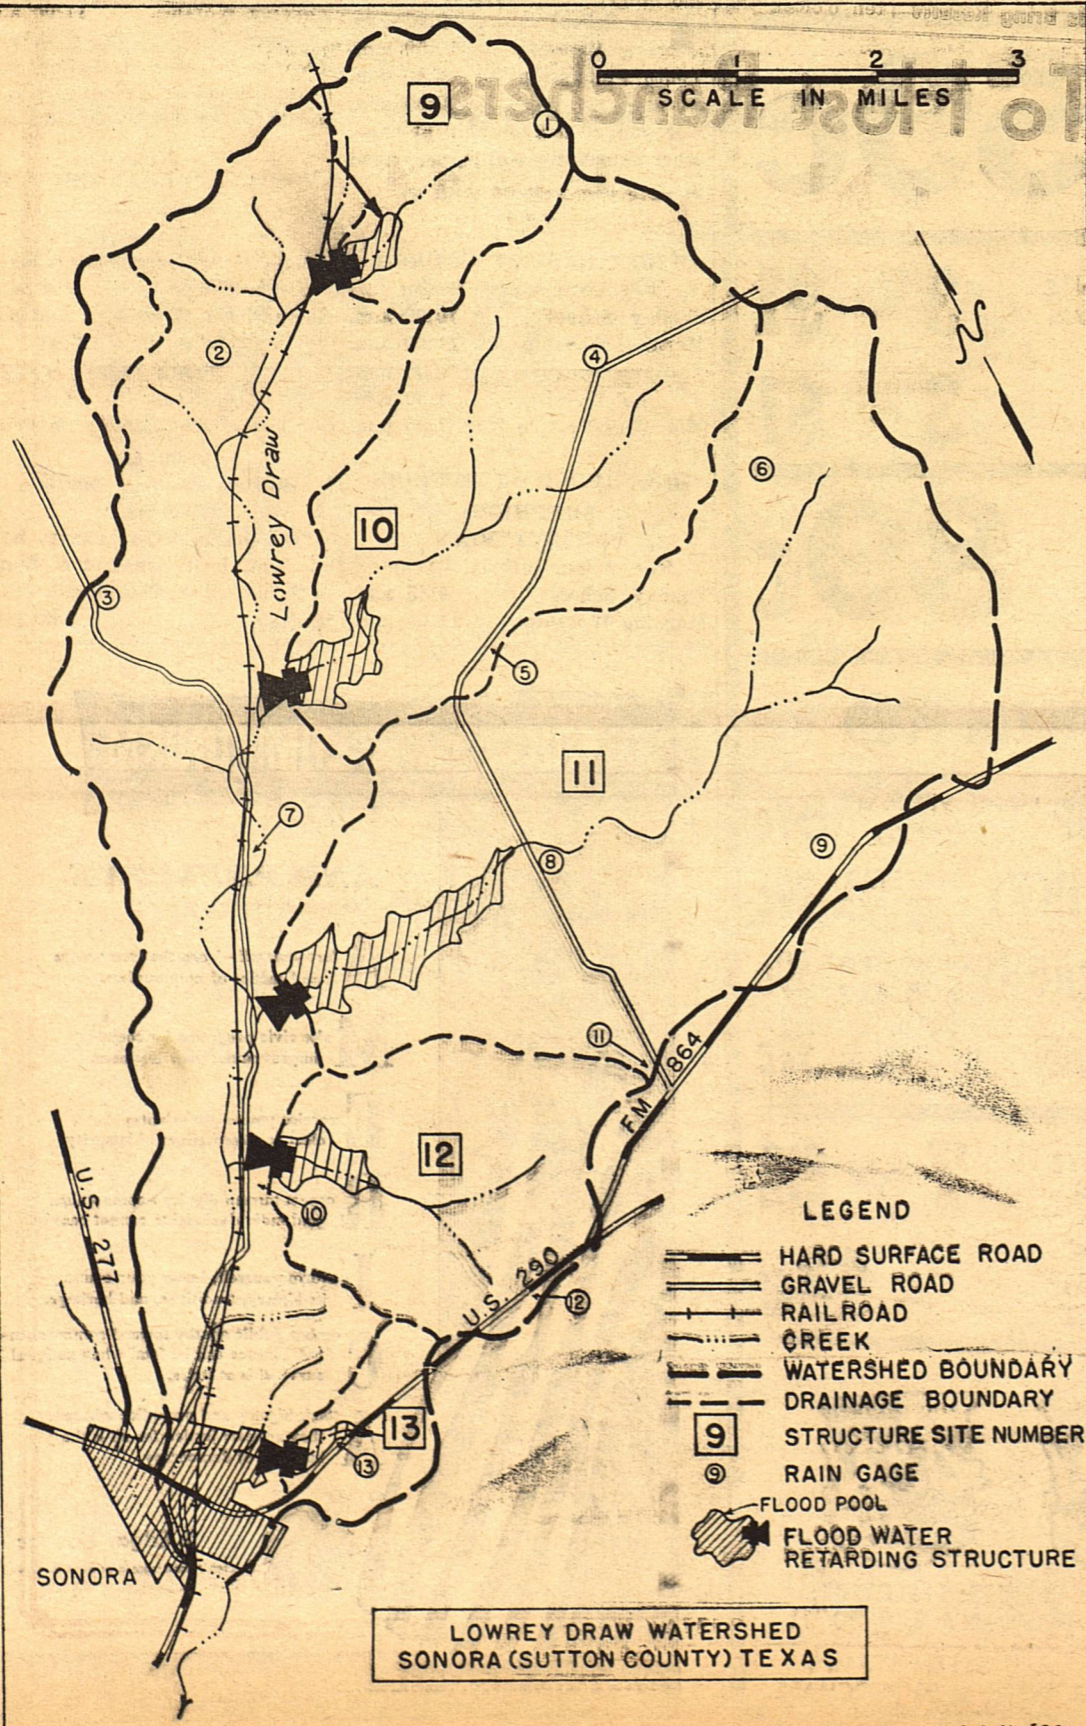

Gamma rays are deadly and can penetrate quite deeply through any material. For example, to obtain adequate protection against gamma rays a thickness of 3 inches of lead is required; or 24 inches of concrete; 36 inches of compacted earth; or 7 inches of steel.

The radiation emitted by the dust particles is measured in units called "roentgens", pronounced "rin-kins", with the dose rate usually given in roentgens per hour. The mid-lethal dose (required to kill half the people) for man is estimated at 450 roentgens.

During a fallout occurrence the radiation dose might vary from 100 to 1,000 roentgens per hour depending upon many factors. The dust might be visible or invisible, but the radiation can be detected and measured only by the use of scientific instruments. A national network of 3,000 radiological monitoring stations is now in operation. In event of an emergency information on radiation danger would be broadcast continuously on the CONELRAD radio frequency of 640 and 1240 kilocycles.

Next week the effects of radiation will be discussed.

the trees, but they are sometimes a source of danger when they have fallen to the pavement. In dry weather, children pile the leaves at the curb, then hide in them. Parents are urged to discourage their youngsters from playing in leaves on the street.

Homeowners who like to burn leaves at the curb are endangering motorists' safety by creating smoke which drifts across the roadway to blind drivers temporarily.

In wet weather, leaves on the pavement become slippery, providing a somewhat treacherous surface for cars and trucks to negotiate.

Steadily-dropping temperatures, signs of frost, night and early morning fog, and lengthening hours of darkness are warning signals which alert wise drivers to the need for checking auto safety equipment now for the many weeks of bad weather

Drivers who delay having their vehicles properly serviced for winter will join long lines of last-minute car owners waiting at auto dealers or service stations one of these mornings for emergency attention.

Motorists are urged to "change over now"—giving special attention to lights, brakes, windshield wipers, arms and blades, heater, battery, defroster, exhaust system and engine tuneup requirements. Anti-freeze should be installed to prevent being caught unprepared in a freeze-up, and reinforced tire chains should now be in the trunk ready for use when needed in coming months should severe ice or snow conditions develop.

Mrs. Edith Phillips of Alpine spent the weekend here visiting her brother, Alfred Cooper, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Pat Cooper.

Hunters Subject To Check For New Licenses

Names of 2,133 persons have been drawn who will receive permits for hunting on wildlife management areas of the Game and Fish Commission this year, according to Al Springs, director of wildlife management.

There were 17,480 applications made for permits to hunt on these areas. Of the names drawn for permits, 523 were for the Kerr Wildlife Management Area; 502, Black Gap Area; 101, Sierra Diable Area; 182, Engeling Area, and 825 for the Angelina Area.

These hunters will be allowed to take the surplus deer to help bring the herds back into balance and establish suitable buck-doe ratio.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO FIGHT COMMUNISM AND PRESERVE

Alert yourself—learn the true nature and tactics of communism.

Make civic programs for social improvement your business.

Exercise your right to vote; elect representatives of integrity.

Respect human dignity—communism and individual rights cannot coexist.

Inform yourself; know your country—its history, traditions, and heritage.

Combat public apathy toward communism—indifference can be fatal when national survival is at stake.

Attack bigotry and prejudice wherever they appear; justice for all is the bulwark of democracy.

PATRIOTISM IS EVERYBODY'S JOB!

BROKEN BOTTLES: "TRIPLE THREAT" ON OUR HIGHWAYS
A triple threat on the football field is fine, but a triple threat on the highway spells trouble. Broken bottles are the "triple threat" of our highways. They are accident hazards to traffic; they injure people who step on them; they start costly and dangerous roadside grass fires. The dangers of the triple threat increase during the football season. The Texas Highway Department asks Texas travelers to dispose of bottles in proper containers. Help keep the "triple threat" on the gridiron—not on the highway.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

One of the most human little touches in the memory of an old-time political writer:

While Tom Hunter was speaking in Brownwood in his race for governor in 1934, a very small boy stepped up on the low level platform, toddled to the table, picked up the glass of water which had been placed there for the speaker, took a drink, then completed his stroll across the platform. The candidate stopped speaking and smiled as the little scene took place and the audience was greatly amused.

Before I came to Texas, there was a very hot race for governor and the question of the age of one of the aspirants became

Devil's River Philosopher Doubts If Mr. Khrushchev Can Get All His Farming Done In 6-Hour Day

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Devil's River views the six-hour day proposed for Russian farmers. The six-hour day is something he may be an expert on.

Dear editor:

As everybody pretty well agrees, the Russians are ahead of us in space and behind us in farming, and while I won't say this proves us farmers and ranchers are smarter than our space scientists, still it's hard to argue with a fact.

But what I started out to say was I read about Mr. Khrushchev's twelve-hour speech before a big Communist party gathering in Moscow last week, a six-hour speech one day, followed by another six-hour one the next day. That is, I read a few highlights; one of the choicest freedoms of democracy is the freedom to not listen to a one-hour speech by a politician, not to mention a 12-hour ordeal. And down toward the end I noticed that Mr. Khrushchev has promised all the Russians, including farmers, that by 1980 they'll be working only 6 hours a day, five days a week, an issue. It seems there was some dispute as to whether he should have registered for the draft. The other side, I am told, tried to retaliate by claiming that the other man had changed his name from what it had been in the state of his former residence.

In one East Texas county, at any rate, the age issue was pretty effectively dealt with. The supporters of the man who had allegedly given two different years examined the poll tax records of leaders of the other man for some years back and found that several had apparently given conflicting dates. One man was shown to have been a year younger than he had been the year before. (Have I lost you?) Another had not two, but three, birth years. Of course, the conflicts might have been due to error by the county officials or the citizen's secretary might have turned in the wrong information. But anyhow when the contradictions were published in a full-page ad, there was a laugh all around.

Incidentally, the candidate with the alleged confusion as to age beat the other man.

Poetic justice: A lawyer defended a man on a charge of counterfeiting and, by an eloquent, won his acquittal. The client paid him his fee—in counterfeit money.

There is one word I have wanted to use but I never could figure out a place to use it—but I'm going to use it now, anyhow.

Gadzooks!

There's one ambition which has been achieved.

and, he added, everybody will have paid vacations, including farmers.

Incidentally, he added also that if farmers don't start producing more right now, somebody's going to get sent to Siberia.

But what interests me most is this six-hour day Mr. Khrushchev is going to give farmers.

Now I have tried a six-hour day out here on this bitterweed ranch, and I like it fine, only I have found out that if everybody else tried it, I'm afraid the Secretary of Agriculture would stop worrying about too much food and start worrying about too little.

Maybe the present Russian farmers are smart enough to work twelve hours a day and still not produce a back-breaking surplus, but American farmers and ranchers have never been able to swing it. The more they work, the more they produce, and the less they get for it and the longer they have to work to come out even.

I am afraid though that before Mr. Khrushchev gets all his farming done in a six-hour day, he's going to have to control the weather, produce a flat-free pickup tire, a perpetual battery, and an ever-lasting crankshaft, a dust-free carburetor, abolish insects and outlaw fishing, and I doubt if he'll be able to do that by 1980, which is only about 18 years away. If I was a Russian farmer and wanted to try the 6-hour day, I believe I'd cross the border.

Yours faithfully,

An all-new Ford . . .
Galaxie and Falcon

Some cars have new names... this name will have a new car!

The name is familiar—the Ford Fairlane 500. The car itself is totally new—so new you'll see nothing else like it this year. It is one of Ford's milestone designs—and will be as influential in its way as the first mass-produced car (a Ford Model T), the first popular station wagon (a Ford Wagon), the first four-passenger luxury car (a Ford Thunderbird), the world's most successful compact (a Ford Falcon).

Right between Galaxie and Falcon in size and in price, the 1962 Ford Fairlane 500 is just the right car for just about everybody; you have never been able to buy anything so right before. Big in room, ride and performance, it is still priced under most compacts. It nurses a nickel as though it never expected to see another. It moves like a rabbit on roller skates.

New unitized body a foot shorter outside . . . full-size inside
Ford engineers have changed the proportions of the automobile: a completely new unitized body gives you more room inside with less bulk outside. A foot shorter than previous Fairlanes, the new Fairlane 500 is pleasantly parkable, delightfully driveable, easily garageable. At the same time it packs into its neat and nifty 197 inches as much passenger room as you had in some of the biggest Fords ever built.

Twice-a-year maintenance
Service is reduced to a minimum—30,000 miles on many items, twice a year on the rest. You go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications. You don't have to touch the engine coolant-antifreeze for two years—or 30,000 miles—at a time. Brakes adjust themselves.

All-new economy Eight from world's V-8 leader
The hand that honed the Thunderbird—and sped the Falcon to all-time Economy Run honors—turned to a new problem here, the world's first economy V-8. Made possible by new Ford foundry methods, the new Challenger V-8 is as strong as iron—and a lot lighter than iron's ever been before. As lively as you'd like . . . thrifter than you'd expect a V-8 to be . . . it's a natural powerplant for America's first eat-your-cake-and-have-it-car.
For those who want even greater thrift, there's a new Fairlane Six. Its economy would be gratifying in a smaller car. In a car this size it's a downright delight.

Preview America's newest car now
As part of Preview Run U.S.A., new Fairlane 500's are riding the nation's highways and main streets right now. Watch for them. See what thousands have already seen—and raved about. Take a turn at the wheel—and perhaps do a little raving yourself.

We think you'll agree: this all-new Ford is just right for just about everybody. No matter how many new cars you've looked at, you haven't seen anything like this one. It will be at your Ford Dealer's next week. If you miss it now, be sure to see it then.

Congratulations To These New Parents Gun Accidents Tend To Climb During Seasons

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McMinn are the parents of a son, Robert Drew, born Sunday, November 5, at Hudspeth Memorial Hospital and weighing eight pounds, one and one-half ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ray of Brownwood and Mrs. Bessie McMinn of Somerville.

Permits Drawn For Hunts On Wildlife Areas

With the opening of the major hunting seasons of the year, game wardens now are beginning a careful check of licenses, according to J.B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

A resident hunting license costing $3.15 is required of every citizen of Texas who hunts outside the county of his residence, or who hunts deer and turkey in the county of his residence. Exceptions are those citizens who are under 17 years of age, or 65 or over, and citizens hunting on land on which they are residing. Exemption licenses are required for each of these exceptions, when hunting deer or turkey.

Non-resident general hunting licenses cost $25 each. However, non-residents may buy a 5-day migratory bird license for $5, and a migratory waterfowl license for $10, issued on a reciprocal basis. A non-resident also may buy a $3.15 license for use on shooting resorts only.

Landowners who lease hunting rights also are required to pay a $5 license. They also are required to register and keep a list of persons who hunt on their lands for a fee.

In addition, a Federal regulation requires that all hunters of migratory waterfowl buy a $3 "duck stamp," which can be obtained from your post office.

A warning against hunting accidents during the current season has been issued by T. D. Carroll, coordinator of information and education of the Game and Fish Commission. For the 1960-61 fiscal year there were 59 hunting accidents reported through game wardens for the state. One fatality was a youth drowned while duck hunting, and one was an adult deer hunter who died of a heart attack while in the field.

Two of the 57 shooting accidents were not completely reported, leaving 55 persons whose accidents were officially reported. Of that number, 21 were minors, with 34 adults involved. Four women were involved in the accidents, one fatally.

There were 19 shooting fatalities, 13 of them self-inflicted due to carelessness. There were six persons killed by guns in the hands of other persons.

Thirty-six of the accidents, 15 of them fatal, were reported during the principal hunting season months, September through December.

"A number of these accidents might have been averted through hunter education," Carroll said. "Others were the result of plain carelessness."

"Too many hunters are prone to shoot at something that moves. There is sufficient game, especially in the deer areas of Texas today, for every person to take enough time to examine the animal and be sure it is one and not a person. Snap shooting in the brush also is very dangerous."

"Persons carrying out deer or dressing them in the field also should be careful they don't offer a target for the snap-happy hunter."

Mrs. Ernest McClelland was in Houston last week for a medical check up. She will undergo surgery in Houston the last of this month.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Rev. Doyle Morton, Pastor
First Methodist Church

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the sons of God." Matthew 5:9.

It is good for us to pause and remember that an armistice was declared on November 11, 1918. This was an end to the "war that would end all wars." We have forgotten that we need to continue our work as peacemakers. We should believe that peace is possible and work for peace. The first place to begin is in our own lives. Each should ask if we really prefer peace, or if we harbor some grudge or hatred. Let us accept our personal responsibility to be peacemakers in our day.

There is a second way we can become peacemakers in our world, namely to help remove the causes of war. We might prevent wars if we could remove some of the poverty and ignorance that embitter so many people. Many will accuse us of meddling if we work in this area, but Jesus said "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the sons of God." As children of God we have opportunities and responsibilities to become peacemakers.

National Debut For Debbie Sue As March of Dimes Poster Child

Debbie Sue Brown, a five-year-old winsome young lady of Clarkston, Wash., who is annoyed because she must wait a few years before marrying the boy next door, was selected this week as the 1962 New March of Dimes Poster Child.

Debbie Sue Brown, 5, Clarkston, Wash., is off to a swinging start as 1962 New March of Dimes Poster Child.

Debbie Sue won out over hundreds of small children, afflicted with birth defects, arthritis or polio—health fields embraced by the program of The National Foundation March of Dimes. The Poster Child lives a life both exciting and glamorous. If physical condition permits, there usually are visits to the White House, to Senators, Governors and other prominent persons as well as radio and television appearances during the New March of Dimes in January.

She will star in a January TV special, "The Scene Stealers" and her picture will appear nationwide on thousands of March of Dimes posters, coin collectors, and mail appeal envelopes.

Debbie Sue, high-spirited and active today, although doctors once believed she wouldn't survive the open spine with which she was born, lives in a valley of the Clearwater Mountains near the banks of the Snake River.

She is brown-eyed and blonde, the daughter of Jack C. Brown, a state highway surveyor, and Barbara Brown, who have a younger daughter, Carla, one year old.

Debbie Sue's birth defect of an open spine was not immediately apparent. But a few days after birth her grandmother, Mrs. Fred Benning, a registered nurse of nearby Orofino, Idaho, recognized that a serious disorder was present; and the parents then drove 400 miles at headlong pace to Seattle's Children's Orthopedic Hospital. (The mother collapsed on arrival and was herself hospitalized.)

At the hospital the parents were told that Debbie Sue's spinal defect was of such severity that the infant probably could not live beyond three months. If she were alive at six months, however, she was to be brought back.

"We drove home sadly," Mrs. Brown relates, "trying to adjust ourselves to the tragedy of losing our beautiful baby. But our spunky Debbie Sue had no idea of leaving us at three months. At eight months, we returned to Seattle where her spine was mended. When she came out of surgery, she was so mischievous that she succeeded in wrenching free from the blood-transfusion tube and the needle used for intravenous feeding. Doctors told us she must lie face down on the night train riding home. Instead, she insisted on sitting up, jabbering without end and keeping all the passengers awake."

The Asotin County Chapter of The National Foundation March of Dimes promptly offered assistance and, since 1958, it has financed much of the cost of Debbie Sue's treatment, braces, medicines and the check-up trips to Seattle, the breadth of the state away. Happily, in her case serious crippling has been averted.

At least 250,000 infants are born yearly in the United States with birth defects—some even more severe than Debbie Sue's. The National Foundation, with March of Dimes financial support, is seeking the answers to this largest unmet childhood medical problem in the nation today.

When the 1962 New March of Dimes National Poster Child isn't scooting around the Lewis and Clark countryside with Daddy on his motorcycle, she plots how to provoke a proposal from Stevie, the six-year-old next door. Although it will be some time before she can consider marriage, Debbie Sue's idea is to get her man committed now.

Pfc T. M. Santos In Movie About D-Day Invasion

Baumholder, Germany.—Army Pfc. Thomas M. Santos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodrigo Santos of Sonora, recently participated with other members of the 8th Division's 16th Infantry in scenes for "The Longest Day", a film about the June 6, 1944, D-Day invasion across the beaches of Normandy.

Santos and other 16th Infantry personnel conducted ranger and amphibious training on the island of Ile de Re, off the coast of LaRochelle, France. Portions of this training were filmed and will be used in the movie to portray the D-Day actions of the 16th Ranger Battalion.

Santos, a rifleman in the infantry's Company D in Baumholder, entered the Army in December 1960, completed basic training at Fort Hood, Texas, and arrived overseas last May.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1958 graduate of Sonora High School.
