The fragile appearance of their wings is deceiving, for they are visiting in Sonora en route from Canada to southern Mexico, a trip of over 2,000 miles. The butterflies have been seen on lawns throughout town, and G. G. Bennett witnessed an orange and black cloud of hundreds of them rise from the trees west of the Courthouse.

Editorials... Features... Columns... En Garde, Gentlemen

The Chicago Tribune has a readable, dynamic editorial page and on many issues has the same sentiments as The Dallas News. As a matter of fact, the Tribune and The News share a common distinction: Harry Truman, when president, was reported to have remarked that they were the "two worst newspapers in America."

Both The News and the Tribune, considering the source, acknowledged the compliment with grace and went on with their business of editorializing.

It is with regret, now, that The News must disagree violently with the Tribune on a vital topic that involves the reputation of a great region.

In a Guest Editorial printed on this page yesterday the Tribune delivered some low editorial blows on Southern cooking. The Trib's editorial was commenting on the Arkansas girl who won the Miss America contest and told how many Southern girls had won the accolade. This was stating the obvious. The beauty of Southern women, like that of the magnolia blossom or the Texas sunset, is so dazzling that it requires no editorial edification.

But the Chicago editor went on to say:

"To maintain Miss America dimensions most girls have to watch the calories. Southern girls find it easy to stay on a diet; they can't stand the Southern Food."

This, of course, means war.

The scoundrel who composed the base canard has sullied the fair name of those who have given the gourmet world such delicacies as Southern-fried chicken, hominy grits and red-eye gravy, deep-fried catfish and candied yams. The scurrilous attack demands retribution.

We have been unable to find the dueling pistols, but Chicago is out of range anyhow. Shall we make it knives and forks at 800 miles?

We'll have fried chicken, grits and gravy; the Chicagoans can have scrapple, New England boiled dinners or any other Yankee food available. We'll begin at the sound of the dinner bell and victory goes to the last one to reach for the bicarbonate.

San Antonio Cloud Watching, Too

Every little bit helps, even the light rain San Antonio received. It settled the dust and made a fine conversation piece.

The fact it can still rain on occasion raises the hopes of farmers in outlying areas. The grass that is growing in the bottom of their tanks is in need of moisture.

Little tykes got to try out their new raincoats. City drivers had a fender-banging good time on the expressways, as always happens.

(Nowadays), it is an occasion when it rains. Everyone perks up and starts saying nice things about the weatherman.

Fisher Sponsors Bill To Place Unions Under Regulation Of Anti-Trust Laws

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

In a nation-wide power struggle, James Hoffa, head of the 1.4 million member teamsters union, is maneuvering a uniform contract with practically all interstate trucking concerns, which conceivably could give him life-and-death control over this facet of the nation's transportation system.

Hoffa's excuse is to provide a "stabilizer", with uniformity of working conditions throughout the country, a goal which would supersede the existing series of regional agreements. However, experts in this field warn that the effect could be to force more and more of the smaller, marginal concerns out of business or force them into mergers.

Even transcending this effect is the pyramided power over the nation's transportation system which would result. This could conceivably eventually give Hoffa the power to effectuate a nationwide strike.

This development serves to point up the need for additional labor legislation, to protect the public against the consequences of one man, or a small group of men, shutting down a substantial portion of the nation's commerce at one fell swoop.

There are two ways of preventing this from happening. One would be to place all unions under the anti-trust laws, and the other would be to prohibit industry-wide bargaining. When the Taft-Hartley Act was originally approved in the House some 15 years ago the bill did both—it put the unions under anti-trust and it restricted industry-wide bargaining. The latter would

Devil's River Philosopher Quits Trying To Keep Up With Whole World's Affairs

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-wood ranch on Devil's River throws up his hands in the face of an impossible job, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: People are always saying a man ought to keep up with what's happening in the world, but it can't be done.

have applied to both industry and unions. But the Senate deleted both provisions and the compromise version left both of them out.

I have a bill pending which would put unions under the anti-trust laws. With Hoffa advancing his empire dreams the need for legislation of this nature becomes more apparent than ever. The trouble is that the labor committees of both the House and Senate are today dominated by members who rarely ever vote contrary to the wishes of labor union leaders. But it appears that even the union leaders are becoming uneasy over Hoffa's build-up, lest it result in an aroused public opinion forcing the issue in Congress.

Last night for example I was leaving through a high-powered national magazine and ran across a seven-page article on "U. S. Policy In Yemen."

This is what I'm talking about. Yemen? I never heard of the place, and I'll bet a year's subscription to The Devil's River News that not over two people within ten miles of this bitter-wood ranch ever heard of it either, yet it's a country on the foreign aid list the same as the others.

Now I don't mind admitting I didn't read that article, on the grounds that if I brought myself up to date on the situation in Yemen, it would be only fair to do the same for South Viet Nam, Iran, the Congo, Algeria, South Korea, etc. through the entire list of 175 nations now on earth, and by the time I got through I'd have to start back over as the situation changes every week or two in most of those places. This wouldn't leave me any time for ranching, and if I'm not going to have any time for ranching, I'd rather it'd be because of something besides the study of geography.

Trying to keep up with what's going on in the individual countries of the world is beyond my reach. It's like trying to keep up with all the politics in all the counties in all the states in the United States, when half the time I don't even know what's going on right here in Sutton County. In fact, I'll bet there aren't a dozen people within ten miles of this ranch who can name all the officials in this county, and even if they can, I don't know what the advantage is.

The way I see it is, if a man keeps up with one county, one state, a few children, two or three football teams and three or four countries, he's got his hands full. I may be ignorant of most of the world, but you've got to remember that most of the world is ignorant of me. This is probably an agreeable situation all the way around.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Goliad Stake Race Deadline Nearing

The South Texas Race Association issued a reminder this week to all horsemen that the deadline for nominating for the 1964 Texas Futurity and the South Texas Derby is December 1. A nominating fee of $25 is due on each entry. Additional sustaining fees and starting fee are due on later dates as prescribed by the Association.

The co-feature, the 1964 South Texas Derby, has an estimated purse of $5,000.

La Bahia Downs, Goliad, Texas, the site of the 1964 meet, has a distinctive record. In addition

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

MoorMan Manufacturing comes to Comanche

When a Texas town of about 4000 population gains a branch plant of one of the Nation's top manufacturers of livestock mineral and protein concentrates, it is a shining example of civic progress.

Because this is the heart of a vast market area, the Comanche Chamber of Commerce was able to secure a division of MoorMan Manufacturing Company. In its new plant, MoorMan makes a large number of products with other products warehoused and distributed from the Comanche facility. This is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion, perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

It's The Law In Texas

EVIDENCE

Before our modern idea of evidence in science, in daily affairs, and in our courtrooms, men did strange things to "test" truth in a court trial. Our notion of evidence in law courts is actually only a few centuries old. It entered court procedure at about the same time that Galileo and Newton used scientific evidence to upset older theories of nature. Before then, men talked to prophets, fortune tellers and augurs before they acted. These men would look into the sky and find out how many and what kind of birds flew in from what quarter. Sometimes they looked at the charred entrails of sacrificial animals.

Court tests for truth in the Middle Ages were many, but somewhat drastic.

You might dispute with your neighbor over land. If so, the court might order a test by ordeal. The contestants would walk through fire. They might be tied and cast into water or you might meet your opponent with sword and shield. You or your neighbor might fight it out with evidence would not let the unjust win; or, after due rites, the court might toss you both into the water. If you did not drown, you won. Or perhaps you both grasped a red hot iron or walked barefoot through hot coals. If you came out without blisters, they believed your story.

As you can see, few people went to court of their own will. The risks were many, not the kind you'd choose.

Later in England, where we got most of our law, men had other ways to reach decisions. For example, take the "oath-helpers." Suppose your case was to be tried. You'd not go into court with facts, as today. No, you took with you a fixed number of men called "oath-helpers."

Oath-helpers would swear by all that's holy that you were a man of your word. After that, you would swear that your neighbor had wronged you. In turn he would bring his oath-helpers and do the same.

To the hunter, fall has special significance. Dove season opened September 1 in north zones and October 1 in south zones. Deer and turkey seasons follow,

CITY AUDIT UNDERWAY

Auditors were preparing their annual report for the city last week. They began work October 14 and expected to finish work in Sonora October 24. After compiling figures at their home office, the San Antonio firm expects to have a report ready to present at the next city commissioners meeting November 4.

Some hunters never live to enjoy the season. In the last three years, 38 died cleaning and handling guns, perhaps in anticipation of opening day. Twenty-four died transporting fire-arms into the field.

Theoretically, a gun is not dangerous itself. But in the hands of an inexperienced, unskilled person it becomes a deadly weapon.

Texans across the state recognize this problem and are doing something about it. Some local health units and National Rifleman Association instructors work at the grass-roots—teaching home gun safety to children.

This is an excellent step in the right direction but there is no substitute for individual practice of fire-arm safety, with the hunter consciously alert to the hazards of gun handling from the time he dresses for the first hunt until he stores his rifle at the end of the season.

Even his choice of hunting clothes is a factor in safety. Clothing ideally combines warmth, comfort and safety features. Red or yellow outer garments and caps help distinguish the hunter from wildlife.

Proper fire-arm care and cleaning are vitally important. A speck of rust or dirt in the delicate mechanism may trigger an unexpected discharge, barrel eruption or other mishap.

Maneuvering barbed-wire fences poses less problem for the hunter if a companion holds the gun. Otherwise, the rifle should be placed carefully on the ground while the hunter climbs through or over the fence.

The hunter who "thinks he sees a turkey" and shoots without determining absolutely, pronounces a possible death sentence for some person.

Ideally, the sportsman returns home with bag-of-game in hand. Fatigued or not, his responsibilities aren't ended. Cleaning and storing the fire-arm away from the hands of children—ammunition in a separate place of course—completes the event.

Final Quarter TD Defeats Broncos

By Dick McMillan

A fourth period touchdown proved too much last Friday night as the McCamey Badgers rallied to defeat the underdog Sonora Broncos, 12-7. The outcome might have been a little different, however, had it not been for the untimely injury to Sonora's fine defensive guard, Arturo (Square) Sanchez. Sanchez, a bulwark in the Bronco defense all season, suffered a broken ankle in the third quarter and will be lost for the remainder of the season. McCamey drove 81 yards for their first touchdown early in the second quarter. Quarterback James Moody scored from the four-yard line. The extra point try failed. The rest of the half was a tight defensive battle with no more points scored.

The Broncos got on the scoreboard midway in the third quarter, with halfback Ruben Castillo leading the way. The Broncos moved 61 yards for their touchdown, with Castillo scampering the final 41. Bronco quarterback Bill Elliott converted and Sonora led, 7-6.

The Badgers then made their move for the winning touchdown. After taking a Bronco punt, the Badgers moved 46 yards for the touchdown. 200-pound quarterback-fullback Johnny DeMaria did most of the damage on the final drive and tacked on the touchdown from one yard out.

The Broncos, now with an 0-1 district record, make the long trip to Alpine Friday night to engage the winless Alpine Bucks.

Plans Of County Historical Committee To Be Outlined In San Angelo By Stokes

John Eaton, chairman of the Sutton County Historical Survey Committee, said that H. V. Stokes would make a report on what this county has been doing to preserve the history of Texas at the regional meeting of County Historical Survey Committees in the Officers Quarters No. 8 at Fort Concho in San Angelo November 2.

Principal activities of the Sutton County Historical Survey Committee have been getting an historical marker for the courthouse building, gathering historical data on the people and the early history of the county, and planning a drive for family biographies.

The committee is also exploring the possibility of establishing a local museum and locating graves of Civil War veterans for future marking.

The San Angelo meeting will begin at 10 a.m. with John Ben Sheppard of Odessa outlining the "Purpose of Regional Meetings and Texas State Historical Survey Committee Services to County Committees."

Following the county reports, Dr. Rupert N. Richardson of Abilene will describe "The Civil War and the Northwest Texas Frontier, 1861-1865", as party of the Survey Committee's observance of the Civil War Centennial.

Dorsey B. Hardeman, state senator from San Angelo, will dedicate the State Confederate Marker for General Tom Green for who Tom Green County is named. Ceremonies will be held on the courthouse lawn at 2 p.m. Eaton said that everyone was invited to attend, whether or not he was a member of the historical committee.

The Devil's Workshop

An Idle Mind Column

By Della King

Charles Adams said in the preface to his book "Forty Years a Fool" that if he gave the reader a few happy laughs, he would not have written in vain. His writing certainly does make us chuckle, and in the most delightful way—he laughed at himself and let the reader laugh with him.

For example, he told this story: "When but a little boy back at old Camp Cooper, an Indian squaw . . . offered my mother a fabulous sum for me . . . a little frizzly . . . pup, worth about 32 cents if a person really wanted something around the place to kick occasionally. The trade fell through because . . . mother discovered at the last moment that the pup was infested with fleas."

He told of his adventures and misadventures as a young man in business before he established Sonora.

He summarized his ups and downs in this paragraph:

"My star of failure continued in the ascendancy at Fort McKavett. I found an uncle running a store there and knowing that I had quite a commercial career, he decided to take me into his firm as a member. I never found it much trouble to either get in or out of business. One partnership "dovetailed" right into another, and bankruptcy followed bankruptcy, as if each were cars on the same track rolling onward towards the poor house. It wasn't very long until our store burned to the ground and nothing was saved but a tobacco cutter and two grindstones. I have always belived my uncle did this in order to smoke me out. A drummer from whom we were buying goods presented me with a dollar watch and it made him awful jealous."

His various business ventures gave him a wide background of knowledge, which he mentioned as well as indicating the taste of fashionable men of the late 1800's: "My experience in the drug store had learned me a great deal about chemistry . . . (1) learned from a Kichapoo Indian how to stir wild hog mush into bear oil and make a kind of hair dressing, which was very popular among the leading cattle men on the frontier in the good old days."

Pastime 42 Party Held At Hull Home

Mrs. Charlie Hull served pumpkin pie and coffee to the Pastime 42 Club when it met at her ranch home last week.

Mrs. O. G. Babcock and Mrs. Joe Berger tied for low score for club members, and Mrs. Collier Shurley held low score for guests. Holding high scores were Mrs. R. B. Kelley for members and Mrs. Maysie Brown for guests.

Mrs. Belle Steen won the traveling prize.

Members attending included Mmes. O. G. Babcock, Joe Berger, R. B. Kelley, Lee Labenske, J. A. Cauthorn, B. W. Hutcherson, C. E. Stites, and Rose Thorp.

Guests present were Mmes. Belle Steen, Maysie Brown, Collier Shurley, and Ida Kerbow.

THE TEEN SCENE

By Mary Davis
Tonight is the big night that all the little goblins and witches have been waiting for. Parade time is 5:30 p.m. at the Court House. High school girls will be in charge of lining the youngsters up to march.

The candidates for queen this year are Delia Duran from the senior class, Cindy Galbreath from the junior class, Janie Lettinger, sophomore, and Linda McCutchen, freshman. Four senior boys drive the queen and her court from the Court House to the judging stand in front of Sonora Motor Company. After the parade, the queen will open the festivities for the evening.

Has anyone noticed the way certain cars come slowly down the road with a determined looking small fry behind the wheel and a frightened grown-up sitting in the middle of the front seat? That is just a freshman and his parent. The freshmen all have their beginner's licenses and are practicing to become experienced, safe (?) drivers. Lots of luck to them.

The speech club plans to put on two one-act plays in the near future. Tryouts were held last week and the results were made known. In the play, "Sunday Costs Five Pesos", Gil Allison plays the part of Fidel, a young man in love with Berta, played by Carla Whitworth. Tonia, and Salome are Berta's friends and are played by Merry Lou Glascock and Diana Black respectively. Celestina, a sort of villain, is played by Gilda Ingram. This is a comedy with a Spanish theme.

The other play, "The Red Key", is a dramatic one. Cindy Galbreath is to play the part of a rather mentally insane aunt named Hester. Her nephew, Nicholas, is played by Dick McMillan and his fiance, Karen, is played by

Secretary Freeman Hears From Texas

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will visit Lubbock Monday, November 4, to learn first-hand what farmers and ranchers across the nation are thinking and saying.

The Lubbock "Report and Review" meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. in Municipal Auditorium. It is the last of an extensive series of similar meetings that have put the Secretary face to face with thousands of farmers.

In every meeting Freeman has emphasized that he wants to hear from individual producers.

In order that most of the time can be available for questions and recommendations, Secretary Freeman will make only a brief report on the agricultural situation. The audience then will have an opportunity to question the Secretary.

West Side Lions Review Project and Members

The West Side Lions Club has announced that securing street lights will be among its new projects for the coming months.

Barely two and one-half years old, the club has already marked up several worthwhile projects to its credit. Besides buying two pair of glasses for needy children, taking care of three youngsters, trips to the Kerrville Crippled Children's Camp, buying 6 folding tables and 60 folding chairs for the 4-H Center and the many other projects like doctor and hospital bills, the club also has to its credit aid in the recent completion of street paving on several heavily traveled streets. Also on one occasion nine Lions went to San Angelo and donated nine pints of blood for a Sonora patient.

One long-range plan for the future will be the building of a "Lions Cage" on two lots located on Main and Wilson Avenue in the west part of Sonora. The city donated these lots to the club.

The West Side Lions started with 20 charter members. Today they have 32. Two members, Robert Duran and Billy Gonzales, have never missed a meeting.

Charter members are Pat Brown, Teo Castro, Ernesto Castro, president, Robert Duran, secretary-treasurer, Jesus Favila Jr., Raul Favila, Claudio Flores, Salome Perez Jr., Trinidad Ramirez, Rodrigo Santos, Pedro Galindo Sr., Alex Gonzales, Eulalio Gonzales, Billy Gonzales, Santos Lopez, Jesus Mata Jr., Nolberto Perez, Ricardo Perez, Abelino Sanchez Jr. and Arturo Trevino.

New members are Eriverto Bernal, Lupe Espinosa, Juan Favila, Jesus Favila Sr., Alvino Hernandez, David D. Shurley, Felipe Lyva, Juan Lozano, Abelino Sanchez Sr., Willie Duran, Felipe Bernal Sr., and Bobby D. Smith.

-GREEN NEWS-

By Monica Davis

This cooler weather has brought out more and more golfers—two new faces seen around here have been Bill Savell and Whiskey Hill. Among the gal players, we saw Doris Chadwick on the driving range.

I guess I've always known that it was the Scotsman who invented the game of golf, but I never new just how eighteen holes were arrived at until the other day I came across this story, and I thought you might be interested in the tale too. It is told in the Scotch manner, and here it is:

"Ye might hae wun'ert why golf coorses hae eichteen holes instead o' ten or fufteen, or sum ither number. There's a vera guid reason for the eichteen—there is, an' I'll tell ye hoo it cam' about.

"Back in 1858 when ma great gran'father was knockin' the gutta-percha aboot at dear auld St. Andra', there cam' a day whin the mair serious minded o' the club decided that the number o' holes shud be standardized. There wis seven-hole coorses, sum' o' thirteen, sum' o' fufteen, and St. Simon had twa an' twinty, it had.

"The co'mitte chosen tae determin' the standard number o' holes tae be used henceforth couldna' cum tae a meetin' o' minds, and ivery mon had different ideas, nane based on reason—nane that is save ma great gran'fathir who wis as wise as he wis practical. Whin it cam' his turn, he said:

"'As ye ken, the winds are offen raw an' cauld hereaboot, an' we nicht at time e'en play in chillin' rain. As ye nae doot do, I cairry wi' me a fufth o' Scotch Whusky tae waarm ma achin banes, an' tae waard aff the ague. I use a sma' gless which fu' tae th' brim hauds almost an ounce an' a hauf o' the heavenly beeveridge.

"'As lang as the fufth lasts. I fin' it pleasant tae continue ma gam' o' golf. Whin the bot'uls empty it wud be foo' hardy indeed tae face the rigors o' the win' swept coorse. I hae fund that a bot'ul will full ma wee gless jist eichteen time. So I play eichteen holes a day—nae mair, nae less. The size o' the bot'uls canna be changed for they are already standardized, therefor, I say, lets mack oor coorses fit a fufth."

"There wis reason in whit the

Livestock Wounds Should Be Treated To Prevent Worms

By D. C. Langford, County Agent

Several non-screwworm cases have been reported in Sutton County during the past month, indicating that the screwworm program is not effective against infestations of worms other than screwworms.

Authorities estimate that 95% of all livestock losses caused by all types of maggots can be attributed to screwworms and that non-screwworms account for the other 5% of our losses. In other words, when the screwworm has been completely eradicated, we will still have non-screwworms or blow-fly maggots to contend with.

Non-screwworm flies generally lay their eggs on dead animals, animal waste, or in infected wounds in animals.

To aid in controlling these non-screwworm flies, ranchers should treat all wounds on animals with an antiseptic, fly-repellant type smear. All dead animals should be burned, or buried if possible, to prevent a buildup of these flies.

Ranchers who fail to treat shearing cuts, castrating, branding, and docking wounds are failing to protect their investment in the screwworm program and are increasing the probability of losses from non-screwworms.

POLIO CASES IN TEXAS SHOW MARKED DECLINE

A total of six cases of paralytic poliomyelitis has been reported during the first 39 weeks of 1963 in Texas, compared to 221 cases for this same period in 1962.

The Texas State Department of Health credits this reduction in number of cases to the action of the practicing physicians in Texas through their community-wide immunization programs ould mon said, an' the co'mitte, eiffer appropriate an' exhustive testin', cam' tae foo' agreement. An' that's hoo it cam' aboot. Will ye hit furst while I hae ma nip?"

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By Rev. Jake Billingsley, Rector St. John's Episcopal Church

This evening is Halloween; tomorrow is All Saints' Day.

A "Saint", in one sense, is a "hero" of the Church. In this sense, a Saint is a hero with certain attributes of character or certain accomplishments to his credit such that we feel his heroism ought to be remembered as an example to us and to our children, and such that we are thankful to God for what He has done for us through this "hero". Thus, the Church sets aside certain days throughout the year on which, in worship, this special heroism is remembered and this special gratitude is expressed.

In another sense, a "Saint" is any baptized person—that is, any Christian. This is the sense in which the New Testament uses the word, but this doesn't mean the other sense in which the word is used is incorrect or improper. Both are right and proper, and there is rarely ever any confusion because of the two usages or meanings.

The observance of All Saints' Day—that is, the worship of Christians on All Saints' Day—"mixes" these two usages of the word. The mixing occurs in that we feel gratitude to God for ALL Saints who have departed this life, not only the great, famous ones. Thus, on All Saints' Day, in our worship, we remind ourselves of the millions of Saints now departed who are Saints in the New Testament usage of the word—Saints whose names will never appear in history books; we are yet grateful for these loved ones of ours and we thank God for them. In many places, in the worship on this day, the names of parishioners and friends and relatives who have died in the last year are called out.

Halloween? Well, the word is a contraction of "All Hallows Eve", or "Hallowed Eve": "hallowed" or "holy", because it is the evening before All Saints' Day. There was an old pagan legend that on the eve of the commemoration of good and noble Saints, the "spirits" of the evil, mischievous dead roamed around enviously hoping to somewhat prevent worship the next day.

Isn't it interesting how successful they have been? Nearly everyone takes part in the reenactment of the old pagan legend; only a few take part in the Christian Worship the next day.

Happy Birthday to the Sonora Chamber of Commerce. It's five years old as of November 1. Funny, Buzzie Stokes, C of C manager looks older than five.
