Mayor Starts Crusade

A PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS, the right to a life free from pain, free from fear, has long been recognized as a desirable heritage for each human being; and
WHEREAS, the constant concern of the government and of the leaders of this community has been protection of that right for all our citizens; and

WHEREAS, the great volunteer action of the American Cancer Society is dedicated to bring awareness of the hope about cancer to every home in our community; and knowing the warning signals, and acting on this knowledge, will prevent half the current needless deaths from cancer;

Whoooooosh

Kids, dogs, livestock, and a goodly number of adults dived for cover Friday morning when a low flying single engine jet aircraft made four passes through Sonora.

Armed with a thunderous tail pipe that would put to shame a thousand teenage dragsters, the anonymous caller made one swoop down from the clouds to gather his audience and made three other passes northwest to southeast and back while awed onlookers speculated on the unscheduled air show.

Buzzing his girl? Dropping in on friends? It was the second time in about a month that an indiscreetly close visit had been made by a friendly phantom pilot. Would you believe The Red Baron?

THEREFORE, be it resolved that I, A. E. Prugel, Mayor of the City of Sonora, do hereby salute and commend the Sutton County Unit of the American Cancer Society and urge each citizen of this city to contribute generously to the Crusade Against Cancer. Let us all give.....that others may live.

Signed this day, March 21, 1967 at Sonora, Texas.

Lions Broom Sale Grosses $1,670

A joint selling operation between the Downtown Lions Club and the West Side Lions Club resulted in a gross of $1,670 for the sale of brooms and other household goods.

Approximately 60 men representing each club participated in the annual sale.

According to Norman Rousselet, sale chairman for the Downtown club, the two organizations will split about $400 in profits.

The merchandise is furnished by the Caravan for the Blind of Fort Worth. They conduct sales of the merchandise manufactured by Lighthouses for the Blind throughout the state.

The volunteer selling organizations helping with the sale split the profits with the caravan organization.

According to Rousselet, profits will be used to provide eye care in the Sonora area. He said that each year the Sonora Lions Club's sponsor eye operations, eye-glass purchases and other eye care for needy persons.

Rousselet expressed his appreciation to the people of Sonora for their help in the project on behalf of the two organizations.

NORMAN ROUSSELET

"I consider it an honor and a privilege to be running for a place on the Sonora School Board. I think it is most important for all of us to elect the most competent and conscientious personnel that is available.

One serving on the School Board would serve as a sounding board for the entire community on all school matters, for, after all, this is an elected official who should serve the people.

It is my opinion that serving on the school board should be a shared responsibility, a rotation of personnel that will bring fresh ideas and renewed vigor to this most important task of rearing our children in a healthy and stimulating educational atmosphere. Having three children in school presently, I am vitally interested in our local school program and all of its related activities, and I would certainly appreciate the support and help of each and every one of you."

MRS. TOMMY THORP

"In running for the school board, I am not dealing in personalities, nor am I campaigning against anyone else in the race. I feel that another woman is needed on the school board.

Guggle Thorp would appreciate your consideration and vote in the school board election, Saturday, April 1.

DICK BLACK

"If elected as your representative on the Board of Trustees of the Sonora Independent School District, I will do my best, for the benefit of all the citizens of Sonora."

Polls Open Saturday For School Board Race

Election polls for the two positions expiring on the Board of Trustees of the Sonora Independent School District will open Saturday, April 1.

The two incumbents seeking reelection to the positions are L. P. Bloodworth Jr., and Bill Morriss. Six other persons are running for the expired positions of Bloodworth and Morriss. They are Mrs. Tommy Thorp, Norman Rousselet, Lin Hicks, Wallas Renfro, Dick Black and Glen Richardson.

Absentee balloting began March 11, and ended March 29. According to County Clerk, Erma Lee Turner, 31 people had obtained absentee ballots by Tuesday, March 28.

Mrs. Turner said the number of people planning to vote absentee was more than usual.

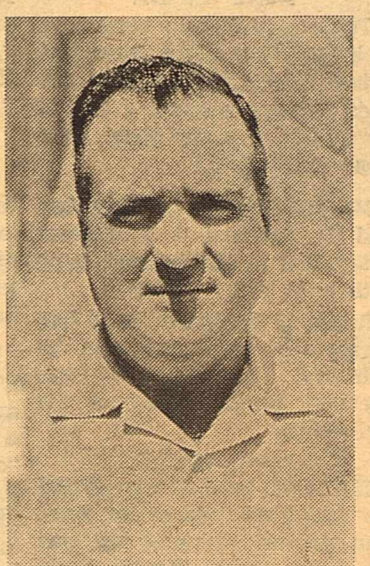

WALLAS RENFRO

"My main reason for running for the school board is an interest in community affairs. I have children in the school and am interested in school activities. I believe that anyone in the office of school board trustee should be in closer communication with the people who have elected him. The office is a public or community office, not a private office."

In summation, your child's education and future are involved in this election; therefore, all that we are asking is that you give this matter careful consideration. I appreciate your past support and confidence more than you will ever know. Let me thank you from the bottom of my heart for this trust."

Sample BALLOT

You may vote for the candidates of your choice by scratching or marking out all other names in that race.

BILL MORRISS

"My reasons for asking you to vote for me this time are the same as they were when I was elected the first time.

My only reason for wishing to serve again is to represent the school age children of Sutton County. Their interests are my interests, and any decisions that I have ever participated in concerning school affairs have been made with the children and only the children in mind.

I feel that our present Board has developed policies and procedures that have been the most beneficial to the most students. We have strived to attract the best personnel and to spend your tax dollars wisely and prudently.

"I am asking for the support of the citizens of Sutton County to return me to the position of trustee. I feel that my past record will speak for itself.

During my past two terms I feel that the school board has made some outstanding strides in educational changes.

I feel we have competent and able staff and am sure Ralph Finklea will carry on the fine tradition of the past; however, he will have to have cooperation of all concerned.

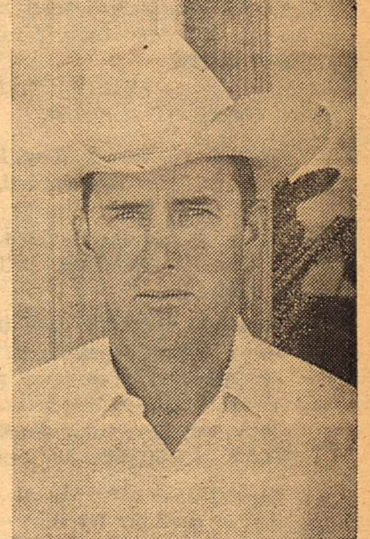

I appreciate the opportunity to have served and will continue to serve, if elected, to the best of my ability.

I have not been able to see and talk to each voter and present my views but would appreciate your consideration.

LIN HICKS

"I would like to be a member of the Board of Trustees of the school in order to play a part in the development of the school system."

GLEN RICHARDSON

"I am vitally interested in kids, their education, and all their activities. I have worked with them as a cub scout leader for two years, as superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School, as president of the 4-H parents and am now assisting with the coaching of the junior and senior 4-H livestock judging team.

I would like to take part in the school activities because I have kids in school. I am a college graduate and know the value of good education."

Community Interest and the School Board

Civic involvement is an admirable quality for any community to have and a sorely needed quality in some communities.

Sonorans have been demonstrating their degree of civic involvement or public interest if you like, namely in relation to the coming school board election.

Eight persons are running for the two positions that are open. None seem to have any complaint against the present school board; no "axe to grind"; no bitterness toward past action.

Each has expressed a desire to serve the community to the best of his or her ability; not a promise to get something enacted specifically, but a desire to serve; to participate. They are interested in their community.

Many of the positions of service in the community are elected positions. The only method we know in our culture to serve in any of these positions requires someone to compete against someone else. Perhaps it is one of the flaws of our culture to let only a few of our public minded citizens participate directly in the affairs of the community.

But, the choice must be made, and the making of the choice is also an interest in community affairs. The choice is yours, its free, with the stipulation you let your judgment guide you.

The Devil's River Philosopher sez: He's Baffled by Daylight Saving Time

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River expresses himself on daylight saving time this week.

Dear editor:

There are times when I'm convinced I don't know anything at all about people.

For the last week or so I've been reading in every newspaper that turns up out here on this bitterweed ranch about the big hassle over daylight saving time.

As I understand it, Congress has passed a law installing daylight saving time all over the country and the only way a state can escape is to pass a special law exempting itself.

And last night when I saw a special television report on the situation was when I decided I don't know anything about people.

One man from a city said daylight saving time would give him an extra hour to play golf in the afternoons and he sure wanted that. A farmer said it would throw him and his cows and his milking and feeding schedule off and he was violently opposed to the change. A barber said he goes to bed at 9 every night and the thing would cause him to go to bed actually at 8 with the sun maybe still shining.

I don't understand any of this. There has been no Congress ever assembled that can tell me when to go to bed and when to get up, and there never will be. And while I don't play golf or mumbletypeg, I've never seen the day when I couldn't fish an hour longer if that's what I had in mind.

I go to bed when I'm sleepy and I get up when I wake up, and what difference could it possibly make to me what time Congress says it is? Any man who has to look at a clock to tell whether he's sleepy or not, probably needs a Congress to legislate his bedtime. Any man who has to appeal to Congress to give him an extra hour of golf, is a man I'm not familiar with.

And as for cows, it'd surprise you how many cows don't even know Congress exists.

There are times when I suspect the reason there are so many laws is that people want to be told.

Personally, I don't care whether Congress votes to turn the clock backwards or forwards, or whether it votes to make every day in the week Saturday or summer to overlap winter. My clock hasn't kept correct time in years anyway, and I went six months once without turning the page on my calendar.

As I see it, the sun comes up in the morning and goes down in the evening in compliance with a law that got here before Congress did.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

What Does Sonora's Tourists See?

Now make your first trip into Sonora from the East. The wide expanse of open highway coming in through the cut in the hillside, gives one a clear view of very much of the residential part of Sonora.

Residents in this area could do much to give our visitors a favorable impression by beautifying and cleaning up all vacant lots as well as their yards. This could be one of our more impressive approaches into town.

Entering Sonora from U.S. Hwy 277 North, we have the well kept Highway Department grounds, golf course and with completion of Berger Field, the airport will lend another attractive spot.

As more and more people take to the highways across the nation each year, tourist dollars are becoming increasingly important to the economy of every community.

Sonora home owners and businessmen should take pride in adding to the beautification of his home, his community, his country.

First impressions can be lasting where the beauty or ugliness of a community is concerned. In our case we have the splendid Caverns of Sonora and as a compliment to their beauty our town needs to be as free and uncluttered.

Cleanliness of a town takes not just a few; but everyone working together.

Each year billions of dollars are spent on picking up litter thrown along the highways. It is the duty of every citizen to help whittle down this cost by not throwing trash along the roadways.

Drive along our own highway entrances and note the trash accumulated there. Men who are used to clean up "your" littering could be more gainfully employed in planting a tree or a native bush to lend a hand in making a more beautiful Sonora.

The longer our visitors stay with us, the brighter the economy for each and everyone of us, because dollars spent in Sonora, eventually lend some financial aid to every person making his home here, and of equal importance you have the pleasure of enjoying a more beautiful place to live.

A Parson's Eye View of Sonora

by the Rev. Ross T. Welch

We thought George Barrow had a pretty good eye for business, but he missed a bet last week when he did not charge admission to see the 7-lb. fish that Louie Trainer caught in the Devil's River Lake.

On the other hand, maybe George did have an eye for business. That fish probably sold enough fishing gear to more than make up the difference. There is definitely something lacking in the make-up of any person who could look at a fish like that one and not have an urge to wet a line.

My suggestion about a rotating paper-back library exchange has borne fruit. Jack Mackey, another who-done-it fan, has offered to provide space for such a library in his office, and a more ideal place would be hard to find.

He has suggested that other fans may have a stock of paper backs they would be willing to contribute to the pool to set the plan in motion. Or they might exchange two books for one until a reserve is built up. This would be a self-service honor system of exchange.

Every patron would bring books and exchange them on his own. Jack says the quality of most mystery stories is going down while the price is steadily going up. He would rather risk an old one than a new plot and a well written story.

seems to be a definite need for such a program.

An interesting visit, prompted by my wife, who has an eye for unusual bottles, gave me some insight into the collecting hobby of Mrs. Pat Buntyn. She has a rather large collection.

They range from telephone insulators to hand-moulded ink wells. One of the most valuable sources for interesting bottles was the dump ground for old Fort McKavett. This fort was constructed about the middle of the nineteenth century as protection against the Indians and was in use about twenty-five years.

Most of what she found there had been through fire and had been buried for many years. In addition to a number of interesting bottles she recovered several ink wells. Other interesting items in her collection include: A bottle with a hand moulded around it; A shaving mug chiseled out of the chalk rock of Mason County.

She has a "Happy Baby" nursing bottle; a Dr. J. Hostetter's Bitters bottle, heavy weight whiskey bottles moulded in three peice and old glass containers for prune juice and cottage cheese.

Another interesting and valuable item in her collection is a hand-made quilt pieced and richly embroidered by a lady who was a dress-maker in Flatonia and used the scraps from her finest dresses to make this heavy weight quilt. Each scrap is individually embroidered and all are put together with fancy stitches.

Mrs. Buntyn's bottle collection is unusual in that she has not sought out the usual collector's items or fancy items. She does not care how plain and commonplace a bottle may have been, if it is old enough to be an unusual find.

One of her few novelty pieces is a bottle shaped like a hand grasping a pistol, the gun barrel forming the neck of the bottle.

I have often wondered why they called the day of Christ's crucifixion 'Good' Friday. Last Friday we discovered the secret.

It was a soft gray day and the heavens wept softly off and on all day. The parched dry earth greedily drank up every drop and cried for more. The sound of falling rain is the sweetest music to usher in the rhapsody of spring.

We heard a new superstition about marriage the other day. Derry Kay Shurley said "If you marry when the hands of the clock are ascending i.e. after the half hour between 6 and 12—your marriage will always be on the 'up and up.' This may have been 'something old'—to me it was 'something new.'"

A recent bride was a bit surprised when her parents presented her with a bouquet and a poem, at her rehearsal dinner. She bravely started to read the poem to the party assembled, but she almost could not finish.

There were no blossoms in the bouquet; it was all green. Most of the color was supplied by crisp new ten dollar bills. The bride admitted a fondness for the chosen color. Sorry I do not have a copy of the poem.

Frequently someone asks me about one of my predecessors in this office. It shows that that pastor left a mark on the life of the community. Ministers generally and Methodists in particular have a limited time to make whatever contribution they are capable of making to the life of a community.

It gives me a warm glow when some one is interested in what has become of a former pastor, particularly if that person is not a Methodist. It makes me hopeful that in a few of the communities where we have served our names will be remembered with kindly affection.

It is amazing how quickly the Devil's half-brother, Laziness, can get the upper hand if one doesn't keep fighting him. When I was running regularly, it was the easiest chore I had to perform. There was something exhilarating about going out in the early dawn and trotting a mile, then coming in to shave and shower.

But 6 o'clock came pretty early during mid-winter, it was cold and lonesome. So I quit running. For some time now, I have felt I should be back at my regular exercise, but it all came to a head yesterday (Monday) in San Antonio when the man who has sold me my suits for a good many years tried to fit a too-small suit on me. I couldn't appreciate some of his catty remarks.

So I came home last night and laid out my running togs. But going back was about the hardest task I ever voluntarily performed. I overslept—not much but enough to be an excuse; there were knots in my shoe strings; it seemed so unnecessary. After all, my suit salesman out-weighs me twenty pounds.

But I finally made it. Now I feel great—maybe tomorrow it will be easier.

Salmon Nutritional Food for Any Meal

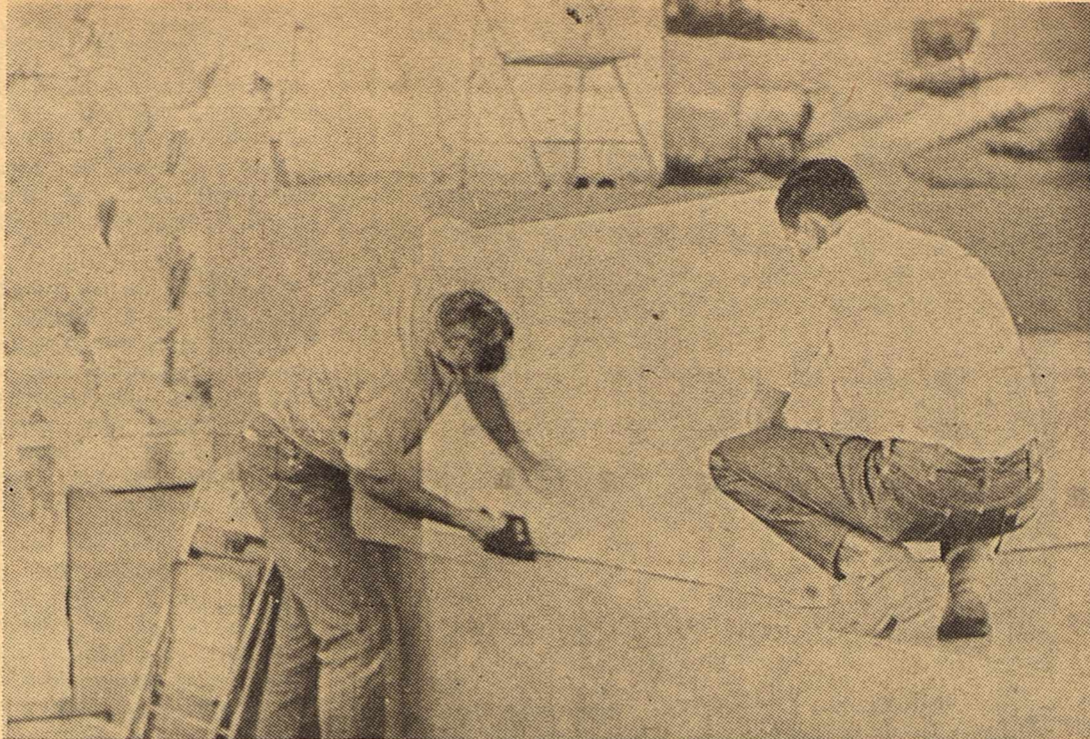

Caesar's Roman soldiers take credit for naming the salmon, says Miss Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

On the march to conquer Britain, soldiers viewed with amazement this silvery fish leaping and glistening in the sun. They quickly named it "leaper" or "salmo." Tradition tells us Irish fishermen believed that unless a man had eaten of the "Salmon of Wisdom," he could never solve a problem.

Today salmon comprise a basic fish industry in the Northwest United States. There are five species of Pacific salmon—King, Sockeye, Silver, Pink, and Chum. They range widely in weight and size and flesh color from white to deep red.

Fresh, frozen, salted, smoked or canned, salmon are nutritious and flavorful. Their rich, firm, moist-textured flesh is an excellent source of high-quality protein, with some calcium, phosphorus, iodine, and appreciable amounts of vitamins A and D, thiamine and riboflavin.

Salmon is unique, for it is compatible with almost any vegetable. Moreover, it can be served as a breakfast dish over toast or as a souffle for lunch. Miss Reasonover suggests using salmon in a hot, tasty loaf for a dinner entree that's sure to please your family and fit the budget. With it serve fluffy rice, a hot bread and a cucumber-lettuce salad.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Fishermen in the Texas Panhandle long have boasted that they are right in the middle of the best fishing in the world—namely halfway between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Now, however, fishing is a little closer to home.

Today, one of the newest and most interesting lakes in Texas is in the process of filling. Lake Meredith is created by the Sanford (no kin) Dam across the Canadian River, only a few miles out of Borger.

It is a new glory for this city, which first became famous something like 40 years ago with the discovery of oil.

At that time and during the intervening years the Canadian River, which cuts across the Panhandle north of Amarillo, was mostly a dusty stream that went wild with torrential rains and flooded its valley. Then came the wind and sun... and the river dried up again in spots.

Now that has been changed!

After years of talk and planning and the expenditure of almost a hundred million dollars, Lake Meredith has been completed and the stored water will be carried by a 35 mile aqueduct to serve the nearby cities of Borger and Pampa.

Another adept carries the water to Amarillo and a half-dozen other high-plain cities, which for years have depended entirely upon underground water for domestic purposes and agriculture.

Located in Hutchinson County, Lake Meredith will cover slightly under 44,000 surface acres. It will be 20 miles long when filled.

Sanford Dam was constructed by the Bureau of Reclamation, after years of research and survey, both by the government and by private agencies.

This lake presented some major problems because much of the reservoir site was in the heart of a major natural gas field. It was necessary to execute contracts with the owners of 19 pipelines and 4 producing wells for relocation of the lines and capping of the wells or retapping them by slant drilling.

This all has to do with the building of the lake to impound the water. But to the Texas Panhandle, it means so much more in a new recreational area. Floating docks, boat moorings, fueling facilities, trailer parking areas and other recreational facilities are being provided.

This year will see the greatest utilization of the facilities now available.

Another interesting development is the work being done by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in stocking the new lake with walleyes. Just a year ago some 2,000,000 fry were released in the lake. The baby walleyes were brought down from Iowa, in an exchange agreement between the two states.

Lake Meredith also has been stocked with black bass, crappie and catfish. The Canadian itself long has been a good catfish haven and natives have caught many fine cats from the river in the years gone by.

This walleye experiment has been most promising. After the first release of 500,000 in 1965, netting samples from the lake indicated good survival. Fishing for walleyes has been closed in Lake Meredith until such time as it has been shown the fish are well established.

Fine cooperation is expected from sportsmen from the area because the Panhandle long has been famous for its wildlife conservation programs. Most of the fresh water fishing that has been available to these residents has been in Colorado, New Mexico and Central Texas. So Panhandle anglers know the value of this conservation and will give it all the help possible.

Information about Lake Meredith can be obtained from the Chambers of Commerce in Borger, Pampa or any of the nearby towns all of which are extremely interested in this newest development in the Panhandle area.

Federal Income Tax Returns Require Consideration of Community Property

The income tax instructions mailed to taxpayers do not tell the whole story for married taxpayers in Texas. Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of the Dallas District, points out that married couples in Texas must consider the Texas Community Property Law in determining what they should report on their income tax return. They must distinguish between what is community property and income and what is separate property and income if they plan on filing separate returns.

Mr. Campbell says that—contrary to other states—a non-working wife in Texas is liable for filing an income tax return and paying the tax due on one-half of her working husband's income, unless they file a joint return that is signed by both husband and wife. Determining the amount of community income and deductions becomes especially important in divorce cases. The husband and wife are each liable for income tax on one-half of the income from the salaries of both and are each entitled to one-half of the deductions up to the date of divorce. Each is naturally liable for his or her own separate income after the date of divorce.

In filing separate returns each spouse must take into account half of the community income and deductions, and all of his or her separate income and deductions, to determine the proper tax on separate returns. Each may claim only his own exemptions and deductions. A dependent supported with community funds may be claimed by either spouse—however, an exemption may not be divided by the taxpayers.

Rheumatic Fever Heart Disease Cause

Rheumatic fever accounts for much of the heart disease found in children and young adults, says Today's Health Guide, the American Medical Association's book of health information for the American family.

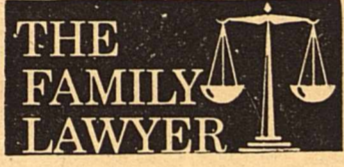

Rheumatic fever usually occurs between the ages of 5 and 15, although adults can have it. It may affect any part of the body temporarily, but damage to the heart which can be long lasting, is the greatest danger.

Rheumatic heart disease results from the scarring of the heart muscle and valves by rheumatic fever. This may interfere with the vital work of the heart. Many patients recover without permanent injury to the heart valves, but the disease has a way of repeating itself and each attack renews the chances of heart damage.

a streptococcal infection such as strep sore throat, scarlet fever or a strep ear infection. It can be prevented by treating the strep infection promptly and thoroughly with antibiotics. Because persons who have had rheumatic fever are susceptible rather than immune to repeat attacks, long-term preventive treatment is often prescribed for them. Regular doses of penicillin, under the direction of a physician, can prevent further strep infections and thus ward off subsequent attacks of rheumatic fever.

You can protect your child against rheumatic fever by consulting your doctor if the child develops a sudden, severe sore throat, or if he has been exposed to someone with scarlet fever or another strep infection.

"You Asked For It"

Irene, making merry at an amusement park, took a ride on one of those "bumper" cars. Later, blaming her jolting ride for a bad injury, she filed a damage suit against the management.

But there was no evidence that Irene's ride had been any rougher than usual. Turning down her claim the court said:

"It was for the thrill of bumping and of the escape from being bumped that the plaintiff entered the contrivance. The chance of a collision was that which gave zest to the game. One who takes part in such a sport accepts the dangers, just as a fencer accepts the risk of a thrust by his antagonist."

Accidents can and do happen at an amusement park. But you are not likely to collect damages if, in all fairness, the management can say:

"You asked for it." But exactly how much risk do you ask for? The law says you do not ask for rides that are not open to ordinary observation.

Consider this case: A young man stepped up to a "Test Your Strength" booth to swing the mallet. But as he was bringing the mallet down, the head flew off. The handle suddenly lightened, smashed hard against his knee, inflicting a painful injury.

In these circumstances, the court held that the victim was indeed entitled to damages—because the hidden defect in the mallet was not the kind of danger the customer had bargained for.

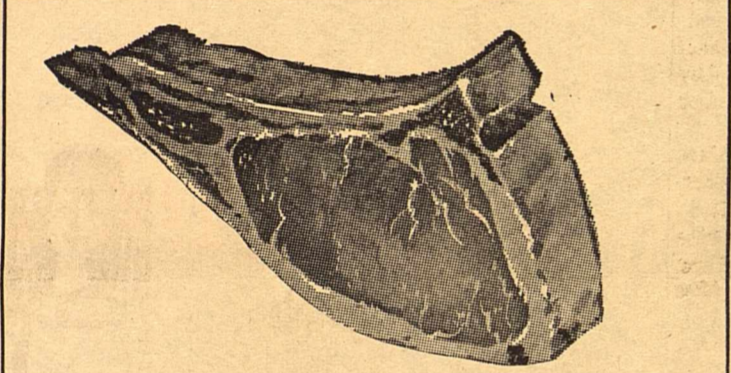

Nor do you assume a risk that is forced upon you, rather than accepted voluntarily. For example:

Near the end of her journey through a fun house, a girl stopped short before a scary-looking slide.

"Is there any other exit?" she asked the attendant apprehensively. There was—but the attendant told her there was not. The girl went down the slide, and, sure enough, got hurt. Here, too, the court upheld her claim for damages, because she had not willingly assumed the risk for the slide.

But if you merely get dizzy on the merry-go-round, or nervous on the Ferris wheel or embarrassed at being laughed at, don't blame that on management. You paid your money and you took your chance.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

HAPPINESS

Ask fifty individuals what it would take to make them happy and probably more than half of them would suggest to you that a certain amount of money would certainly do the job.

This, of course, is not true. Money cannot buy happiness, as the line from many a song points out. Money can solve some problems — the financial kind. Money can bring pleasure, in the form of things that the heart desires.

Money won't buy good health. No amount of money can be used to guarantee a long life. Money cannot buy friendship. Money attracts people. People work for money. With money, you can hire a guitar player or a symphony orchestra. With money you can surround yourself with interesting, witty personalities. But, when the money is gone, so are they.

You can't buy happiness. You have to search it out. And, with the proper perspective, you can find a measure of happiness, even if you still have a problem or two. If you have faith, in yourself, in the goodness of God, you'll meet your problems with determination and confidence.

Snips, Quips, and Lifts

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH?
 They find fault with the editor, and say he should be shot; that pages are as peppy as a cemetery lot. They say he shows poor judgment; the jokes, they say, are stale; on upper floors they holler, on lower floors they wail. But when the paper's issued (we say it with a smile), if someone doesn't get one, you can hear him yell a mile.

—Diet: Something to take the starch out of you.
A LIFT FOR THE WEEK
 You can't control the length of your life, but you can have something to say about the width and depth of it.

—Wise men talk because they have something to say; fools because they have to say something.
—You can take life as you find it, but don't leave it that way.
—Swallowing false pride never gave anyone indigestion.
—Most of us never put our best foot forward until the other one gets in hot water.
—Strange how some men would like to abolish prayer just when the country need it most.
—The Bureau of Internal Revenue is always looking for men who have what it takes.
—We hear that a Texas oil man, unable to find a place to park his Cadillac, gave it away and bought one that was already parked.
—Sometimes those who object to "playing second fiddle" shouldn't be in the orchestra at all.
—A lot of 100 percent Americans fix that value on themselves.
—No smile is so beautiful as the one that struggles through tears.
—To be a good diplomat a man must be able to bring home the bacon without spilling the beans.
—There's one thing you can say about the men in charge of our government—they're running it like nobody's business.
—At age 20 we are not concerned what the world thinks of us. At 30 we begin to wonder what it thinks of us. At 50 we discover it wasn't thinking of us at all. At 70 we don't give a "hoot".

—Work is everybody's birthright; to youth it brings hope; to middle-age, confidence; to the aged repose.
—Those who think it permissible to tell white lies, soon become color blind.
—Worry is the interest paid by those who borrow trouble.
—Youth is a mirror which reflects all the blemishes of adult society.
—Wise men talk because they have something to say; fools because they have to say something.

April, May Set For Cancer Crusade

With the appointment of Dr. Charles F. Browne Crusade Chairman and Mrs. W. B. McMillan as Residential Chairman, the 1967 Crusade Against Cancer will get underway in Sutton County next week.

In addition to the urgent goals of getting information about cancer into every household in the county, and raising the funds needed to continue cancer control activities throughout the state, volunteers for the ACS will have a new and important assignment.

The Cancer Education Survey will be conducted in Texas for the first time this year; an estimated 600,000 replies will be collected from households in every section of the state.

"This is really a two-fold project," Dr. Browne explained. "Not only do many householders need to be reminded through this survey of the need for regular health examinations, but the answers will also guide the Texas Division ACS in planning the most needed and possible."

Dr. Browne has seconded the enthusiasm of his fellow volunteers about the Survey. "We'll be giving something tangible to our neighbors in this project," he has said, "because we're giving them a chance to help us understand what the greatest needs are in programs to reach all sections of the population."

This year's crusade will continue through May.

"A survey of this size would be impossible by a health organization were it not for the tremendous cooperation of volunteers," Mrs. McMillan, Residential Chairman has commented. "The cost of the Survey, as it will be carried out in each of Texas' 254 counties, will only amount to the cost of printing. All other services are rendered free by interested citizens in each community."

The goal for the 1967 Crusade in Texas is two million dollars, roughly a dollar for each Texan now living who will have cancer, if present trends continue.

The climate is hopeful, however, since one-half of all cancer victims could be cured, through early diagnosis and prompt treatment. To emphasize the vital need for regular, complete health examinations, the Crusade this year will seek to reach every home in the community.

Volunteers wishing to join in the Crusade and Survey are invited to telephone Mrs. McMillan at 387-3248 for more information.

Fish Application Deadline April 1

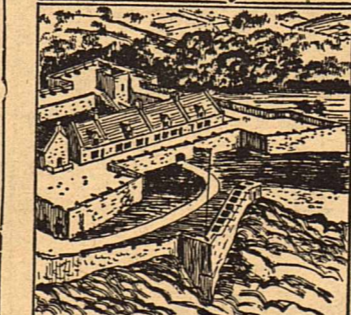

Landowners are reminded by Sutton County game warden, Nolen Johnson, that applications for game fish to be stocked in ranch tanks are due before April 1.

Johnson said that landowners can secure applications from him and must be filled out and mailed before the deadline.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department must know how many fish are needed before delivery schedules can be made.
