CINDERS

Scattered Rains Fall, Heavy in Some Areas

Newspapers throughout the nation, daily report the enormity of the United States effort in Vietnam, but few mention the countries that are supporting us and the Vietnamese. Senator John Tower recently said, "We are not alone in this world in our recognition of the need to control communist expansion. We are not alone in our desire to preserve world order. We are not alone in the belief that stopping the Reds today will save lives in the future." A few examples of the work other nations are doing are these: Australia provides more than 6,000 combat troops. The Republic of China provides surgeons, agriculture experts and a psychological warfare team. South Korea provides 50,000 combat troops. Malaysia trains Vietnamese policemen. New Zealand sends artillerymen and combat engineers. Thailand is sending combat forces. Greece sends medical supplies. Iran contributed 1,000 tons of petroleum products. Argentina sent 5,000 tons of wheat. Guatemala sent 15,000 doses of typhoid serum. Venezuela sent rice and doctors. Tiny Costa Rica sent an ambulance, and Luxemburg, blood plasma.

Rain showers played tag in the Sonora area over the weekend, but sizeable rains fell on small, widely scattered areas. A thunder shower Friday afternoon moved across the northeast corner of Sutton County, and light showers occurred on the Joe Logan, Frank Bond and a few other ranches. On Saturday afternoon thunder showers again hit scattered points of the area, principally from Sonora east. One shower made up over the city and dropped about an inch of moisture. The western half of Sutton County received only a trace or no rainfall. Representative rainfall reports collected by E. B. Keng, SCS, included Jo Hardgrave, 1.10; Joe Logan, 1.10, and Frank Bond, 1.85 from two rains. In Saturday's rain Jerry Shurley, .40; Thomas Morris, .30; W. L. Davis, .50; George Wallace, .40-80; Herbert Fields, .73; George Brockman, .25; Experiment Station, .10; Ft. Terrett, .40; Joe B. Ross, .50; and Harold Friess, .20.

Homecoming Date Set by Alliance Members of the Sonora Ministerial Alliance have set the date for the annual Sutton County Homecoming for July 9, according to alliance president George Stewart. Guest speaker for the annual event will be the Rev. Donald Henning, pastor of St. Michael's and All Angels Episcopal Church in Dallas. Miss Sanchez will receive a BA degree in Spanish and English. She has recently been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities". Students listed are the outstanding campus leaders from over 800 colleges and universities. She is also a member of the Dean's Honor list and was recently initiated into Alpha Mu Gamma, national foreign language honor society.

Boyd Lovelace Retires From WTU, Earl Johnson Named New Manager

More than 31 years service in the electric industry will close June 1, when Boyd W. Lovelace retires as local manager for West Texas Utilities Company. Earl J. Johnson, WTU serviceman, assumed the duties of manager May 9. Lovelace is now on vacation prior to his retirement on June 1.

EARL J. JOHNSON

The Lovelaces were honored last week at an open house held in the company's local office with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson serving as hosts. The announcement of the promotion of Johnson and the retirement of Lovelace were announced today by District Manager C. E. Coombes of San Angelo. Lovelace's long period of service with WTU began in 1939 when he was employed in San Angelo as a merchandise salesman. Six months later he was transferred to Ozona where he worked as a salesman for the towns of Ozona, Eldorado and Sonora until 1942 when he began his duties as local manager in Sonora. Born in Plainview, in 1902, Lovelace attended high school in San Angelo and San Antonio. His early life was spent in San Angelo, Lubbock and in towns on the South Plains where his father, Chas. D. Lovelace, engaged in the colonization of some of the towns in that area. Before starting his long career with WTU, Lovelace worked as a salesman for the Alamo Lumber Company in Jourdanston; as a salesman in Pleasanton, and later as a salesman for a feed company in San Antonio. He moved to Uvalde in 1936 where he began his 31-year career in the electric industry as a salesman for Central Power & Light Company. He resigned in 1939 and returned to San Angelo to join West Texas Utilities Company. Active in civic affairs, Lovelace has been a member of the Lions Club for more than 25 years and is a past secretary and treasurer of the Downtown Club. He is a past master of Deo Ora Lodge No. 715, Masonic chapter, and has served as an elder in the Church of Christ. Lovelace is a former scoutmaster of the Sea Scouts in Del Rio and a former scoutmaster of Troop 19 in Sonora. For many years his hobbies have been people, animals and photography, and has always enjoyed working with boys. For several years he taught a class in photography during the summer youth program instructing the class in the basic principles of photography. In 1957 Lovelace was presented an award by the Photographic Society of America for "exceptional service and value to photography." His interest in animals helped make Sonora an "unofficial collection point" for native West Texas animal and reptile life. Many live specimens have been brought to Lovelace for transfer to zoos in the Southwest. Many of them were given to the San Antonio

 Sonora's perfect Concho Basin league record of two wins and no losses was marred Sunday at 1c37 the school diamond when the Bronto Longhorns punched over a run in the ninth inning to win 2-1. Seventeen Sonora High School seniors close their school careers here Tuesday night when they march across the stage and receive diplomas from Bryan Hunt, president of the school board.

Plans for summer swimming both for the public and as a part of the boys' and girls' program was assured this week when the city of Sonora bought the swimming pool from George E. Smith for $1,000.

May 23, 1957
 Boyd Lovelace was presented a certificate of merit from the Photographic Society of America at the Tuesday meeting of the Sonora Lions Club.

Heavy rains drenched Sonora Friday and Saturday. About two to three inches fell Friday in a torrential downpour to cause light flash floods in several parts of the city.

Mrs. O. G. Babcock entertained the Thursday Bridge Club in her home last week. Arrangements of mixed flowers and potted plants decorated the party rooms.

May 21, 1937
 Sonora Post Office patrons will receive their mail quite a bit earlier under the new schedule which will be inaugurated Sunday with the change of train schedules which go into effect in San Angelo Sunday.

When the new fiscal year of the Lions Club begins in July, W. J. Fields Jr., will assume direction of the civic club's work for the next 12 months.

"Lead, Follow or Get Out of the Way"

Editor's note: This is the second of a series of articles devoted to the development of small towns in West Texas. References used are from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce publication, "The Small Community in West Texas."

A town can possess all the natural resources and population resources necessary for success, yet fail for the lack of one... positive leadership.

Many of our small communities in West Texas lack this quality. Leadership, as it applies to communities, can be any person or group of persons who determine the attitudes and direction of a town.

Positive leadership cannot function properly in a community with a negative attitude toward progress.

Essentially, the majority of small community populations must want to progress, want to develop tourism and industry, want to have access to technological advances. In short, a community must want to keep pace with the times.

The community that does not keep up loses... needed population, needed services... and needed cohesion of ideas.

Leadership, in general, comes from the joint efforts of the various smaller leaders of local organizations.

This group leadership aspect of developing a community seems to have, perhaps, the greatest potential in coordinating promotional activities.

All too often, the well-intended and potentially profitable projects obtain mediocre results or fail altogether because the other community groups and their leaders are unaware of, or left out entirely, when they could possibly gain another element of support.

One avenue often neglected is the idea capacity of youth and women's organizations.

Their enthusiasm and new approach can often yield fresh ideas to areas of problem or potential.

These are but a few of the ideas presented to help cure community problems in the area of leadership, but could conceivably be a key to prevention or a method of continued success.

One important aspect of leadership was expressed by West Texas chamber of commerce president, John Ben Shepperd. He said, "Lead, Follow or get out of the way!"

The Devil's River Philosopher sez: Newspapers Teachers of Human Nature

Editor's note: The Devils' River Philosopher on his bitterwee'd ranch on Dry Devil's River wanders out of his field this week, but that's his lookout.

Dear editor:

One of the fine things about reading a newspaper is that a man can find such a wide choice of things in it about human nature he can't understand.

For example, I have been puzzling for days now over an item I read in a newspaper last week. According to it, a bunch of art experts inspected a Texas oil man's collection of paintings and decided three-fourths of them were fakes.

Now up to then, the pictures had suited the owner, his friends liked them, everybody was impressed, but now that the experts say they are fakes, all the pleas-

Legal Notice

Notice is hereby given by the Parks and Wildlife Department that a public hearing will be held at 10 A. M. on June 6, 1967 at the Chamber of Commerce at Sonora, Sutton County, Texas for the purpose of gathering information concerning proposed hunting, fishing, and trapping regulations for the above-named county.

As the result of action by the Texas Legislature, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission is responsible for the setting of seasons, bag limits, and means and method of taking certain game, fish and fur bearer species in Sutton County. All interested persons are urged to attend and comment upon the proposed regulations.

I don't understand this. I knew a four-year-old once who wouldn't eat any apple on Christmas morning except the one Santa Claus put in her stocking, but in a couple of years she had come to the notion that it didn't make any difference where an apple came from so long as it tasted good. Couldn't tell by biting into it whether it came from the grocery store or the North Pole.

I heard of a western rancher once who found out Kansas City steaks were somehow considered better than any others and hence brought a little better price, so he shipped his cattle to a town in Kansas, held them there a week, then took them on into Kansas City and sold them and got a big laugh out of all the people there who were eating fake steaks.

Understand, I'm not qualified to discuss art, I'm not even qualified to discuss ranching if you get right down to it, but I can't figure out a business where you have to call in an expert to tell you whether or not you should like a given painting.

Of course if you're going into the financial aspects of it, that's a different matter. An original by a celebrated artist naturally is worth more than a copy, the same as it is with a dollar bill, but that's for exchange purposes, not for looking at.

It's a good racket, though, and wish I could get in on it. Can you tell me how I can convince the public the "J. A." brand of wool, if it was originally grown by me, is worth a hundred times the ordinary kind?

Yours faithfully,

eQUAL Electric Payments EVERY MONTH in the future...

IF you use WTU's Equal Payment Plan for electrical operating costs. Pay no more in August than you do in May—nor more in December than in September. Use WTU's budget plan for paying electric service bills. Here's how it works: WTU figures the amount of electricity your family would normally use in a year—then divides this figure by 12. You pay a budgeted even-dollar amount each month. Your service charge is reviewed monthly, and adjustment made either upward or downward if necessary to avoid any big lump payment. Like the idea? Then ask WTU for details... Reddy Kilowatt's people will be happy to plan Equal Payments for you.

Make a clean break with the past electrically... and budget it!

A Parson's Eye View of Sonora

We can always be proud of our Sutton County boys and girls when they compete with the youth of other areas. Last Saturday's Concho County Wool and Mohair, Livestock and Range Judging Contest was no exception.

Our junior entry won first and Roger Langford was the high point individual. In the beginners section our team placed second and Eddie Alexander was the high point novice. Our seniors also placed second, only ten points below the Kendall 4-H youth who placed first.

In each division our grass judging teams took first place. Congratulations to all who participated. Ice cold showers in varying amounts fell in the area Saturday. They did not end the drought, by any means, but they were generally very welcome.

They lowered the temperature by several degrees. This was a mixed blessing however. Joe Logan was afraid he might lose some freshly shorn sheep. They were not in too good condition to start with.

Norm Rousselot and this writer, representing the S.C.R.A.P. council, met last week with representatives of the City and County governments and the superintendent-elect of the public schools to make known some basic needs if our community program of summer recreation is to succeed.

Our basic needs as we see them at the present moment include: (1) Development of the baseball field near the football field. This would require piping water to the edge of the infield, hauling some dirt and spreading it and a new backstop—or at least new wire on it; (2) Developing the two lots south of the swimming pool as a recreation headquarters. This would require grading, some paving and grassing the remainder of the area. It would include the building of rest rooms on the lot next to the little league park. It would also necessitate the moving of a 35-foot shed to the concrete slab already in existence to serve as a headquarters station for the director.

Those of you who are familiar with the Methodist appointive system know that at the sessions of the annual conference each year each minister is appointed to his responsibility for the ensuing year. This means that any minister can and may be moved at any annual conference.

It is not a common practice to move a pastor who has served only one term, and we are certainly anticipating no change in our relationship with the First Methodist Church of Sonora.

But we will be in San Antonio all next week for the sessions of the conference and to attend to personal business. Appointments will be read on Sunday afternoon, June 4.

School superintendent Rex Lowe, appointed to a principalship in the San Angelo public schools, will fill the pulpit Sunday morning, June 4.

Lay representatives to the annual conference from this church include Edwin Sawyer, Ben Cusenbary and Joe Brown Ross.

The only thing disappointing about the baccalaureate service was the attendance. I suppose the people of Sonora just have an aversion to evening services.

The service was brief and well planned the sermon was to the point, the weather cooperated beautifully. It must have been quite obvious to the seniors that their service was of less importance to most of their friends than television's offering.

Did you make the auction? I watched for awhile—did not buy anything but a glass of iced tea. I wished my son, who is a mechanic, could have been there. Most of the people in the crowd seemed to have about one or two items they wanted to bid on and were

Did you ever stop to realize that most of the good that has been accomplished in this world has been done by those who did not stop to count the cost to themselves nor to ask who would receive the credit? If they had been bothered about cost and credit, they would never have found the time to place humanity in their debt.

It is usually the fellow who has to complain about everything and run down his competition who has no time to lend a helping hand, or make a kind remark.

God has placed enough material wealth in the universe to permit a reasonable number of people to live here in comparative comfort if not in luxury. God has revealed the secrets of science to man as fast as man has been able to utilize them—and he now has at his disposal vast stores of energy, no emergency arises anywhere in the world but what relief can be there in a matter of minutes. Man can control the population explosion, if he is of a mind to do so.

It could be a wonderful world if men worked and lived more unselfishly. If we could use all our newly acquired knowledge and dedicate all our technological advancements to peaceful and constructive ends—what a challenging existence life on this earth could be!

It is no sin to dream a little, is it?

Would to God that it were possible to send this year's graduating class into a society where the threat of war escalation did not threaten their college careers and their very existence. Your elders owe you graduates a sincere apology that we are not providing a more wholesome society in which you may work out your own destiny.

HAROLD SCHWIENING says that he has discovered what's been happening to his kid crop as he displays this 6-foot 8-pound rattler with a 10-inch circumference. Mario Hernandez killed the snake on the Schwiening place Friday. Louis Davis and Elmo Johnson both said the snake was the largest they had seen in this area of the country. The nine rattlers stood up and down instead of lying flat. Schwiening says that he has heard that is an indication of sex, although he had conflicting stories on which direction was an indication of male and female.

Topographic Mapping Nearing End In Sutton and Crockett Counties

Field parties of the U. S. Geological Survey based in Sonora and Ozona are bringing to a close the field work in this area.

These parties have been operating for six months in this area bounded by Sonora, Ozona, Iraan and Sheffield, the area covering approximately 3,000 square miles. The new maps when published in about two years will be available to federal and state officials and local people to be used in future planning.

Local ranchers may make use of them also for their local needs. These maps will become a part of the standard topographic atlas of the United States. Mapping in other states is continuing on the same basis as the State of Texas and it is hoped that the survey will have the United States and all of its possessions completely mapped in another 7-10 years.

"Members of this survey team wish to express their appreciation to the local ranchers for their help in gaining access to lands in order to get the necessary field work accomplished," said project supervisor, Kenneth D. Cox. Included in the crew working from Ozona are Ferrell L. Gregg, project engineer, Thomas C. Burger, project supervisor, William Chirside, James G. Devitt, Charles F. Dickinson, Martin F. Spelich, Doyle E. Yeater, Tom W. Stovall, Charles R. Hughes, Lee Stone James E. Greer, William N. Runnels, Kenneth S. McLean and Edwin G. Eckel.

From Sonora are Kenneth D. Cox, Project Supervisor, Joe Palagyi, and Ralph G. Boshert.

"The primary purpose for mapping this area is to facilitate the study and development of water and conservation. This includes such related subjects as drainage, flood control, potential stream yield, irrigation and surface water studies. Topographic maps serve as a basis for the study and solution of many problems relating to activities affected by the character and relief of the earth's surface. Therefore, these maps will also be used in the future as an aid in planning and developing our military requirements, road systems, industrial expansion, recreation facilities, and engineering construction of all types," Cox said.

The most modern engineering methods are employed in the preparation of these maps. The use of aerial photographs and precise photogrammetric instruments has greatly facilitated this work. However considerable field work is still required in order to produce an accurate map.

Field work consists of establishing accurate geographic positions on numerous pre-selected points. This assures the map maker that all features shown on the map will be shown in the correct position. A dense pattern of elevations above sea level is also established, from which the shape and slope of the land is drawn.

Field parties also check and determine which of the infinite number of features should be shown on the map. These will include features such as houses, barns, roads, fences, power lines, pipe lines, wells, windmills, etc.

Thousands of topographic maps have been published by the Geological Survey, and millions are distributed annually. Available without cost are state index maps showing which areas have been mapped, and brochures describing topographic maps and the functions of the Geological Survey. Most of the published topographic maps are sold for 50 cents each and may be ordered from the Geological Survey, Topographic Division, Federal Center Bldg. 25, Denver, Colorado 80205.

An Award Winning Essay by Tom Trainer

"...And the abundance of the everlasting hills." (Deuteronomy 33:15). Clearly it may be seen today that the abundant hills will not be everlasting. We should make it our goal, then, to see that there will be "abundance" for our posterity.

All resources were created for man. Ironically, he has wasted those very resources by which he lives. It seems (to men) that man and nature are irrevocably opposed. However, man has been attempting and is still trying to adapt nature to suit himself. He should learn from his folly and change his environment only where his environment will not be changed. This contradiction can best be clarified with an example.

In the western states ranchers attempted to rid the area of coyotes that were attacking their sheep. But they failed to realize that the coyotes performed a service in keeping the rabbit population down: soon there were more rabbits than food. Starving, they began to eat even the ranchers yards and gardens. The coyote had to be reintroduced.

Our national resources are all of the things which make America, and are depended upon. Some of the more tangible things are soil, water, plants, and wildlife.

Without any advanced planning on the part of ranchers and farmer the fertile top soil will blow or wash away quickly. Muddy rivers where the streams once ran clear are seen.

More has been made of water pollution - the fouling of our waterways usually by industry - than any of our wasteful practices. Dying fish and empty seine nets show a grim picture for the future.

A "silent spring" is not so far off for America's plants and wildlife. A greater danger lies in pollution of our food through the contamination of it by ourselves and our progress.

Until we awake to these dangers, and begin a more effective control of them the world of nature will shrink about us.

Austin Report

MAY 15-19

The big item here in Austin this past week was the Appropriation Bill. I was well pleased with the appropriations the bill made to the various State agencies and employees, but was and am still concerned about the amount of money that will be available for a teacher's pay raise. I voted on and for each section of the appropriation bill but voted against final passage. There were only eleven of the members that voted against final passage of the bill.

I am certainly offering no apology for my vote but I feel that I owe my constituents an explanation on why I voted against it. I feel that while an annual appropriation has some good points the dangers of more taxes and unjustified spending far outweigh the advantages. It is for this reason, among others, that I cast my vote against the one year appropriation bill. There is no historic or legislative precedent for one year appropriations, and on November 4, 1953 year, the voters turned down a constitutional amendment that provided for annual sessions for the Legislature by a vote of more than two to one. I believe that it was our responsibility to enact a two-year appropriation bill during this session and by enacting only a one-year bill, we have fulfilled only half of our responsibility.

The appropriation bill is now in a conference committee composed of five members of the Senate and five members of the House and we will be called on to act upon their recommendations in the near future. While there is a possibility of my being permitted to vote for a biennial appropriation bill, I do not intend to vote for a one-year appropriation bill.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Suppose a windstorm up roots your shade trees. Or a flood ruins your basement. Or a fire burns your house down.

If insurance doesn't cover the loss, you may still get a helping hand from the federal government. The government will not reimburse you in cash, the way insurance does. But it may soften your financial pain by letting you deduct the loss—over a $100 minimum—on your next income tax return.

What kind of losses may you deduct? Any that are caused by "fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty." Fire, storm, and shipwreck are plain enough. But what does "other casualty" include? There are several tests.

For one thing, to qualify as a tax deduction, the loss must be relatively sudden. Thus, damage to a valuable elm tree, inflicted gradually by disease, was held not a casualty—hence not a deductible loss.

Also, the loss must be due to some external force. When a duck hunter's ring slipped off his finger and vanished in muddy waters, the loss was held not deductible—because it could not be blamed on any external force.

A horse died after eating the silk lining of a hat, and his owner claimed a deduction for the loss. But the claim was not allowed, because there was good reason to think that the horse died not from his extraordinary diet but from ordinary influenza.

Of course, this tax deduction applies clearly in the case of a natural disaster. But manmade devastation is by no means ruled out.

For instance, one home owner was permitted to deduct the damage to his house from sonic booms caused by a nearby aviation show. This was held to be closely akin to the damage done by a wind storm.

In another case, a new house was invaded by vandals, who did damage to the stove, washing machine, dryer and freezer. The owner, claiming the loss as a tax deduction, pointed out that it was 1) sudden; 2) caused by an external force; and 3) destructive. That made sense to the court, and the deduction was upheld.

The astronomical measure of a light-year equals six trillion miles.

WE ALL HAVE OUR LIMITATIONS

There's a great lesson in blowing bubbles. We're so sure we can blow the biggest bubble ever blown. And, for a second, we're sure we have.

Then the bubble is gone... with it our unreasoning self-confidence. So we content ourselves with blowing smaller bubbles—the biggest smaller bubbles we can... the kind of bubbles that last awhile!

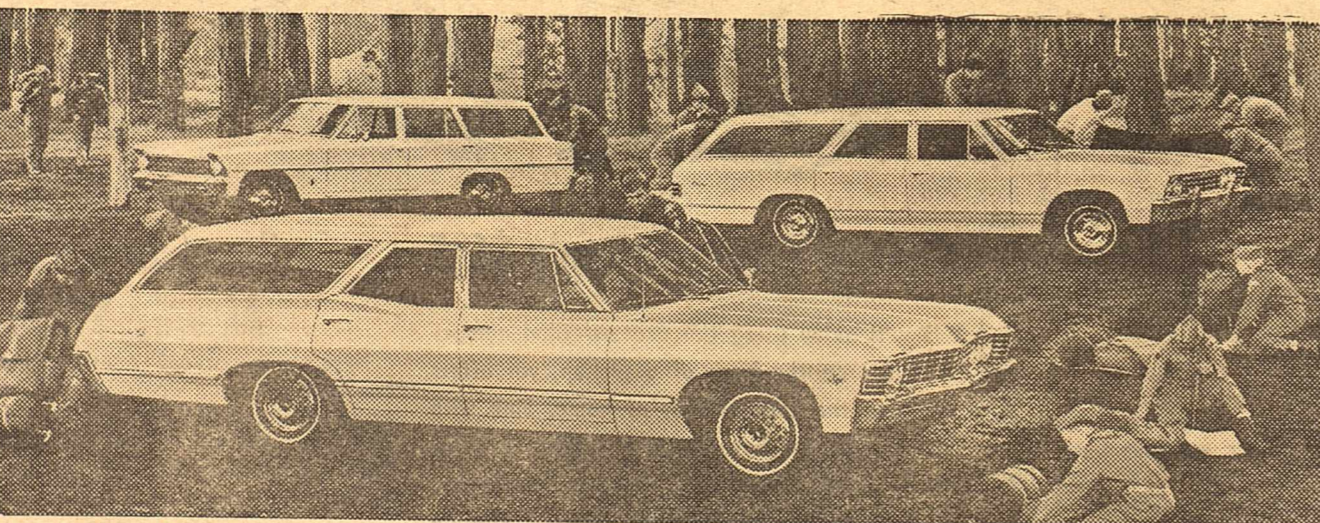

The best time for your child to begin religious training is before he becomes conscious of his limitations. When he starts gradually to recognize the boundaries of his ability, he'll need real guidance and encouragement in devoting himself to goals which last awhile.

The rich, full, happy, useful life is not wasted on shallow dreams that are but for the moment. It is dedicated to doing one's best.

And, for centuries, it has been our Faith, taught and nurtured in our churches, which has inspired in men their best.

Social Security District Manager Cites Hudspeth Memorial Hospital

Citing National Hospital Week, May 7-13, as an opportunity to take note of the important services which our hospitals render to the community, Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager, said today, "This year we should also recognize the significant efforts and cooperation which hospitals have contributed to the success of medicare in its first year."

Nationally, about three million beneficiaries have received inpatient hospital services under medicare since the program of hospital insurance for the aged began. About 2,000 residents of the San Angelo District have entered hospitals under medicare, Moellering said.

Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital in Sonora is among the 6,750 hospitals across the county now participating in medicare.

"For 19 million people 65 and over, medicare has made sure that the door to expert and quality hospital care will not be closed for financial reasons, Moellering said. Since all patients 65 and over can now pay their way, hospitals no longer have to bear the financial losses for aged charity patients. Hospitals receive reimbursement of full reasonable costs for the services they render to medicare beneficiaries, Moellering said.

About 98 percent of the short term hospital beds in this country are participating hospitals, Moellering said. Many hospitals and other facilities re-examined their standards and improved and upgraded their services to meet the requirements for participation in the program. "The benefits of these improvements in health care," he said, "go not just to the elderly but to the community as a whole."

Some hospitals are not only providing hospital care under medicare, but have set up or expanded their own extended care units to offer posthospital care to patients. Of the 250,000 extended care beds now certified to participate in medicare, 20,000 are parts of hospitals. Moellering noted that in line with the theme of this year's National Hospital Week, "City of Care," these hospitals are becoming cities of care in a true sense as they expand the types of medical care offered to the community.

"The significant efforts of the hospital community have done so much to make medicare a success in its first few months," Moellering said.

 BY VERN SANFORD

Large impoundments always attract more attention from fishermen. Unfortunately for the anglers many overlook the possibilities of small farm and ranch tanks scattered over the state.

Now they are becoming so productive that fisherman who ignore them are missing a big bet.

Unless you fly occasionally you may be unaware of the great number of these impoundments. When you are in the air and look down on Texas you'll usually find in your view a half-dozen or more of these water holes.

Of course not all of these tanks have fishing capabilities. Not all are in areas where they can be developed for recreational purposes. But there are enough to make the whole story interesting.

In each case, landowners have control over fisherman entering these private lands. Some landowners open the ponds to the public for free fishing. Others charge a fee for this privilege. A few permit no fishing at all except by the family and close friends.

Most of these landowners are not willing to go to the expense of managing these ponds for fish. As a result the impoundments offer good fishing for a few years, then become mossy. Then the ratio of forage fish to game fish gets out of balance. Such ponds become infested with rough fish like shad, carp and bullheads. Result is poor fishing. Often the landowners will use fish toxicants such as rotenone to clean out the rough fish—then restock.

However, the total number of impoundments being managed for fish production is small, probably not more than two percent of the total number.

Small groups of individuals also are taking leases on these places. Some of the best fishing spots in Texas are owned or developed by clubs. They have been affording wonderful fishing for many years.

This can be an inspiration to other groups wanting to assure themselves of future worthwhile fishing.

Check into these farm and ranch tank possibilities. Work with the landowners and you'll be surprised how wonderful the fishing can be.

Austin Report

by Hillary Doran
 MAY 8-12

Last week an event occurred which, while not of great significance, had an everlasting impact on all the members of the House of Representatives. It is a certain tradition of the House of which I was completely unaware when I assumed the duties of my office. This event is the biennial East-West Legislative Football Game. I am sure you might all wonder just what in the world we are doing playing football when there is still so much legislation remaining to be passed. I will answer this by saying it is an excellent way to work off any hostility or aggression the members may have built up at this stage of the session.

The game was held on May 10 in Memorial Stadium and I am proud to report to you that the West again triumphed over the East by a score of 19-6. I might also add that the East has never defeated the West in these biennial games.

This past week was a busy one due to the fact that only two weeks remain in the regular session. The House passed two important bills concerning school teachers, one of these, House Bill 166, provides a method for school districts to employ teachers by means of probationary or continuing contracts. The other bill that was passed was Senate Bill 72 which was the professional consultation bill for the teachers. The big issue that remains, however, is the teacher pay raise and the majority of the House members feel that this issue alone might entail a special session due to the crisis that we now face in the shortage of qualified classroom teachers.

Mrs. Lovelace is the former Bonnie Walters of San Angelo. They were married in 1923 and have one son and two daughters. Robert W. Lovelace resides in San Angelo and is a factory representative for Thunderbird Boats. Darlene, now Mrs. Joe Seale, lives in Gainesville where Mr. Seale is manager of a lumber company. The other daughter, Mrs. Donald McGara, lives in San Angelo where her husband is employed by the U. S. Postal Service.

The Lovelaces have six grandsons and one granddaughter. Bonnie, James and Paul McGara, and Robert and Charles Lovelace live in San Angelo. James Robert and Gregory Scott Seale live in Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace have just returned from a vacation trip to Gainesville and points in east and south Texas, and are making plans to move to San Angelo in June.

WTU's new local manager, Earl J. Johnson, joined the company in 1963 as a lineman-service-man in Sonora.

Born in Cole Camp, Missouri, in 1930, he moved with his parents to Sonora while still a small boy and attended the public schools here. He is a 1950 graduate of Sonora High School.

He served 4 years with the U. S. Navy and saw 18 months of active duty during the Korean War. Before joining WTU, Johnson was employed by Stanford Research Seismograph in Sonora, by Texas-New Mexico Pipeline Company in Crane; and by the City of Sonora.

Johnson is a member of the Bronco Booster Club, the Elks Lodge and the Sonora Golf Club. Mrs. Johnson is the former Patsy Moore of Sonora. They were married in 1953 and have one daughter, Leslie Jean, 12, who is an elementary school student. The contest is held yearly throughout Texas schools. Her prize was five dollars.

Texas Receives Public Health Grant

Approval of a $315,659 Public Health Service grant to Texas for a state-wide immunization project has been announced by Dr. J. E. Peavy, State Health Commissioner.

The funds will be used to wage immunization campaigns in cooperation with local health departments and medical societies against measles, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough, Dr. Peavy said.

The project will last until April 30, 1968. An additional year has been tentatively funded with $325,000 for a continuation of the project, Dr. Peavy added, and a supplemental budget of $35,775 for polio vaccine for use this year has also been requested.

Texas has an estimated 1,550,000 preschool children, with 40 percent of these, or 620,000, believed susceptible to measles; and at least 30 percent, or 465,000 are susceptible to polio.

There are no state laws requiring immunizations for entry into elementary school, such requirements being matters of local school board option. Most school systems do recommend and many require diphtheria and smallpox immunizations prior to school entry. In many areas polio and measles inoculations are also recommended.

At present immunizations are provided through 64 health departments located throughout the state, and covering about 75 percent of the population, the health commissioner reported. He said these are administered through various types of clinics using diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis vaccines manufactured in the State Health Department laboratories.

Polio and measles vaccines are purchased from commercial outlets, he said.

"Health departments, with cooperation from private physicians, have actively promoted immunizations in the past among the preschool and school-age population." Dr. Peavy said, "but, many preschool children are not being reached by the usual and customary procedures."

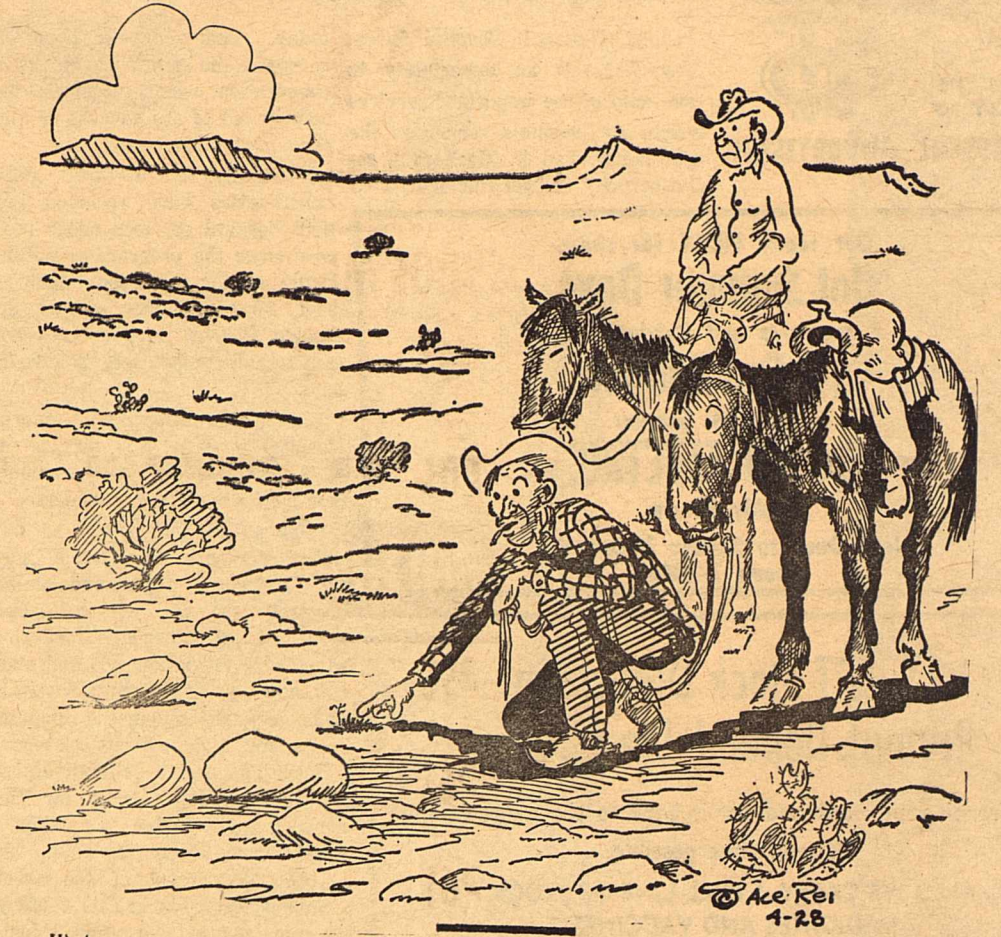

The current state plan to make 1967 the "measles eradication year" coincides with a national project urged by President Lyndon Johnson and already outlined by U. S. Surgeon General William Stewart.

"We hope that by the end of 1967 a case of measles will be a thing of rarity," Dr. Peavy said.

The commissioner said steps will also be taken to organize intensive polio campaigns in certain areas of greatest need or, those counties with one or more reported cases during the past two years. These campaigns will be conducted in cooperation with local health departments and county medical societies in the state, he indicated.

REPETITION IS THE KEY TO SUCCESSFUL ADVERTISING

1967 Seniors Get Glimmer Of Future 20 Years Hence

It has been twenty years since the Senior's of '67 graduated. Being sentimental in nature, they called for a class reunion. The place for the reunion was picked because of its accessibility to everyone. Many simply had to cross the street. We now take you to Lando's, 1987.

Everyone is waiting to be waited on by Nedra Raye, the star attraction.

Let's see who else is present.

Wade Stokes, who is now working at the snuff concession, is the new owner of Lando's. In his spare time he plays with a one-piece band. Uh-Oh, he and Bert are fighting over the guitar.

Bert Bloodworth, the first Aggie to get a gold record, says he is now modeling as Charles Atlas for pictures.

It isn't like Allen Hearn not to be here on schedule. Since he started driving Bill Taylor's trucks, he has been fairly regular.

Ralph Gomez is being awfully quite. He's probably just practicing his job with the Secret Service. He's an observation post.

Jim Fish is mixing right in with the party. He's the bartender. The only complaint heard is that he keeps calling the drinks solutions.

I see that Ben Perez made it. He is now the owner of the world's most famous women's "leg shaving" barber shop.

Elie Chavez has been trying to talk Jim into giving her a drink. She is the women's heavy-weight boxing champion.

Pete Martinez sent word that he could not be here for he is graduating from dear old SHS tonight.

Laney Cook is having a good time, especially since he's not in training. Laney just bought back his own contract from the Dallas Cowboys because they wanted to call him Mr. B. He is now coaching a girl's marble shooting team known as "Mr. Bear's Bombers."

Robert Brown is a pill salesman. He furnishes Laney's marble shooting team. Robert failed to become the University's head trainer by snubbing Darrel Royal's hello.

Andre Reyna has a job in Christoval operating the Golden Years Rest Home.

Joe San Miguel and company are working at Juno's one and only general store. They walked all the way to join us.

Brent could not be with us due to very unusual circumstances. He was the first person to be changed into a frog.

Prissy Howell, the current world's champion high jumper, is trying to get someone to listen to her. She says that she will soon be hired as Coach Hopkin's assistant.

Gary Hardgrave isn't exactly here, he's out in back bottling cherry vodka. Production seems to be slowing. The Reliable Equipment Company isn't so reliable after all.

Wayne Bryant is in Christoval tonight visiting his steady, Janet, who is a member of the Golden Age Rest Home.

Nedra Raye just quit because someone pinched her. She left muttering something about shaving her head and joining a monastery.

Joe Jimenez has a job making commercials for Glass-Pak mufflers at the drag strip.

Hector Noriega is in Sonora still proofreading True Confession in Mrs. Hayes typing class. Cecila Johnson, better known as Ceevee, who was voted football sweetheart, 4-H queen, the most beautiful and sweetest girl at Washington State could not attend due to her untimely accident involving a rattlesnake driving a garbage truck.

Chris Berger has been telling everyone of how he gave up his golf career to write. His newest novel is entitled "How to Raise Championship Rams," as told by Miguel.

Kaye Ellis could not be with us because she is the floor show at the Shamrock.

Cindy Lambert who is still practicing speech, is Kaye's announcer.

Linda Jones was the first woman to swim the Atlantic Ocean. We're all proud of you Linda.

Brenda McCutchen and Linda Hearn are making plans to try out for Laney's marble team since they didn't make the Olympic Volley Ball Team.

Gloria Sanchez is quite excited. She is engaged to the janitor of the Schlitz Brewing Company in Milwaukee.

Yvonne Young, that daredevil of the bounce, is telling everyone about her new book, "Foam Rubber Diving for Fun and Profit."

Larry Shroyer left his post as Chief River Rat to come here. He is soon to move up to technical assistant of the Mickey Mouse show.

Tommye Lynn Smith is not here because she is acting as Charley's alternate driver in the Grand Prix. Arnold Garcia barely made it. He has been very busy at his new job as director of the United States Flood Control at Sanderson.

Mary Jo Martinez, Adilita Lozana, and Jo Ann Martinez are now business women. They own the tiny tots Teeter-Totter Diaper Service of Wetmore, Oklahoma.

Margaret Bundy and Jackie Cargill are models and co-editors of Playboy magazine.

Martha Love is busy tonight with her Aunt Jamartha's pancake mix.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario Sanchez are operating Locke's on the Ozona highway.

Rodrego Sontos is at his recently appointed post as commanding officer of Fort McKavett.

Guy Askew isn't here. We hear that he quit his job selling ladies underwear to become a priest.

Louis Wardlaw has been doing some advertising since he is a local businessman. He owns Louie Jay's Falcon Repairing and Ambulance Service.

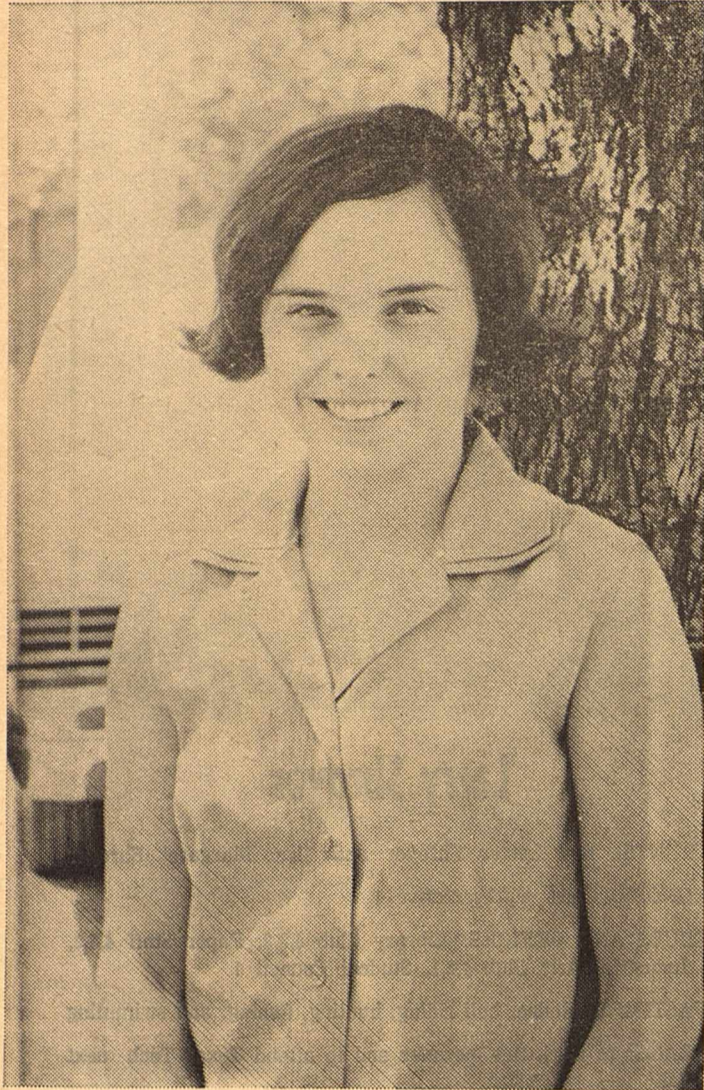

Margaret Martinez was unable to come since her Peace Corps assignment sent her to Africa. She is living in a high-rise apartment, that is a thatched hut, and this is the lion season.

Al Letsinger is laughing at his own jokes as usual. He has been telling everyone about his new wrestling career. He says he got his training fighting off the SHS girls.

Johnny Ramos has a job with D.A.S.A. He was the first King-Rat on the moon.

Jimmy Trainer is pretending to laugh at AI's jokes. Jimmy is now the proud owner of a flea circus. He has patiently trained his fleas to play football and he calls the team the Forney Jackfleabitts.

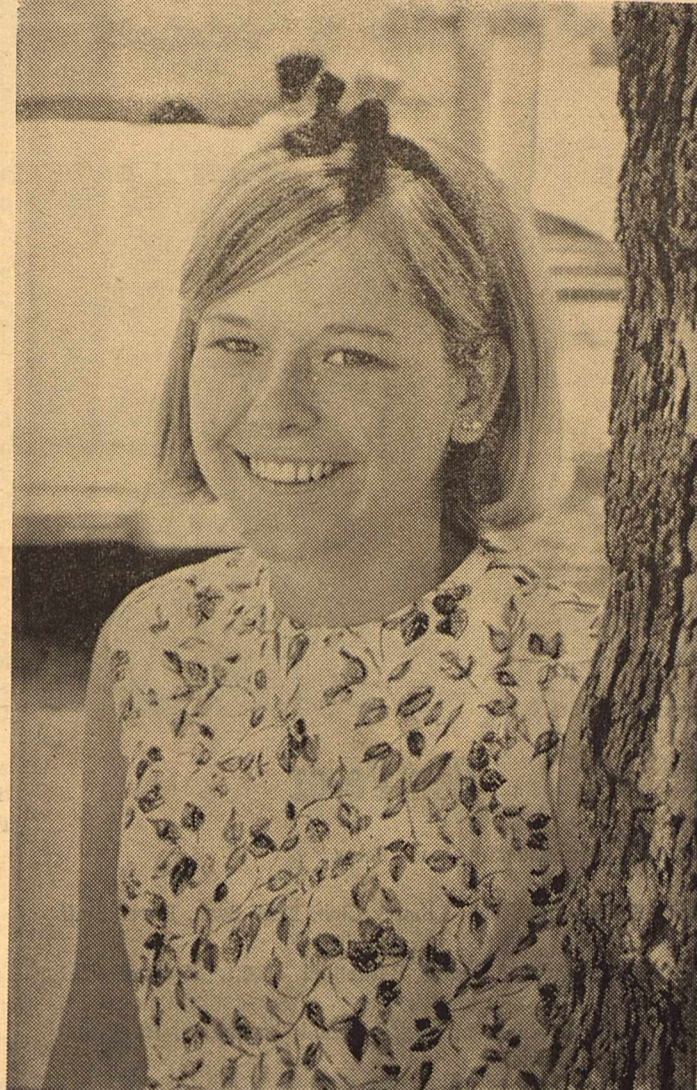

All kidding aside, we the Juniors wish the graduating Seniors the best of luck in the future.

Last Will . . .
1967 Senior Class
Generous Spirit Revealed in Will

As we come to the end of our High School years, our emotions are torn between joy and tears. At work and play we've enjoyed the game; we hope we're prepared to surge onward toward fame.

On our twelve year journey we have gathered much loot. "To whom will we leave it? A question so moot. "You can't take it with you!" was never so true, so for better or for worse, we leave it to you!

We the Senior Class of 1967, sound in body, English, and mental state, do hereby grant, bequeath, and leave, lock, stock, and barrel you will receive.

I, Linda Hearn will to Debbie Galbreath some underwear, a pair of blue jeans, and a shirt so she won't have to go horseback riding in the nude.

I, Yvonne Young, will to David Whitworth all my devilish schemes so that he may have a good time.

I, Jimmy Trainer, will to Mike Redman my golf club from the McDonald Hotel so that he may return it during the next Fling Ding night.

I, Kaye Ellis, will to Mike Goney a large turtle-neck sweater so that Coach Hopkins can't see his passion marks.

Back-Yard Monster
 Strikes Sonorans

by Monte Perkins
 I had the most awful experience today. I was sitting on the front porch with my Mommie when I heard a strange noise. I looked around to see my Daddy being pulled across the yard by a thing with a long tail. It pulled him all over our yard! It must be a mean and strong thing 'cause my Daddy is about ten feet tall and that thing was about pulling his arms off. I was scared but my Mommie held me close. My Daddy finally pulled that thing's tail off and pushed it into our garage and locked the door. He was sweating something awful. I heard him tell Mommie that thing was a 'lectric lawnmower. I don't know what a 'lectric lawnmower is but it sure must be powerful to drag my Daddy like that. I sure am glad he pulled that thing's tail off.
 P.S. I'm six months old.

Medical Men Warn Of Wart Danger

Almost all of us have warts at some time in our lives. Ordinary warts are not dangerous to health. About half of all warts eventually disappear even if untreated.

In a new pamphlet the American Medical Association reports that a wart is a viral infection of the skin. It also can be described as a virus-caused growth. Ordinary warts are not malignant and do not become so.

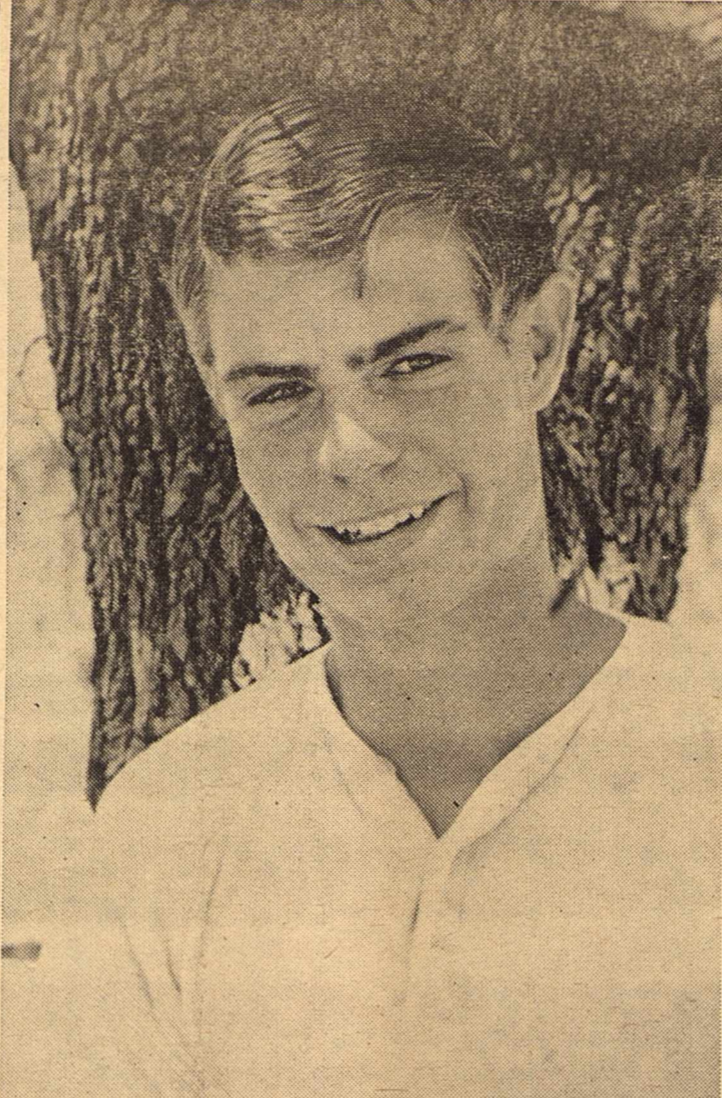

Adults are less likely to have warts than children. This may be the result of an acquired immunization—a build-up of antibodies—that occurs as a person grows older. And, of course, some people never get warts, while others have dozens of warts covering extensive areas of the body.

Warts are contagious. They can be transmitted from one person to another. Scratching or picking at warts sometimes causes them to spread. They can also be spread by shaving over them or by brushing and combing the hair if there are warts in the scalp.

Warts can occur on any part of the skin, but most often appear on the hands, fingers and on the soles of the feet. Those on the soles—plantar warts—cause the most trouble. Because of the pressure of shoes and walking, they are pushed inward instead of bulging outward, sometimes causing sharp pain.

Usually warts are treated medically only when they are tender or painful, when they interfere with functions of the body or when they are so located as to be unattractive cosmetically. There are several methods of treatment. Your physician will select the best method for you, or possibly recommend a combination of methods. The techniques vary. With any method, several treatments may be required. The least drastic method usually is tried first, especially with children.

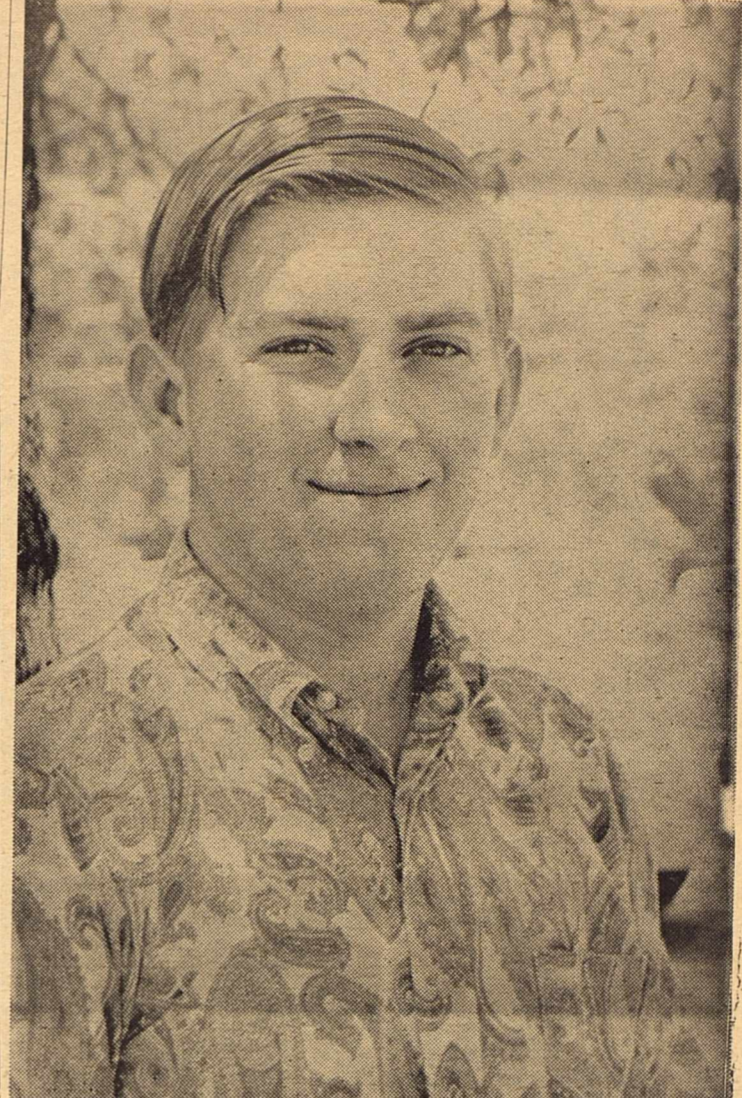

The spontaneous disappearance of warts has often been linked in literature with suggestion therapy. Tales of "witching" away of warts are hundreds of years old. Several investigators are now doing research on warts. Much more knowledge is needed to answer important questions about wart viruses.

Martins Hit Town, Mosquitoes Beware
 by E. B. Keng

With the increased national emphasis on beauty and wildlife the purple martin seems to be destined to grow in popularity in Sonora. At least three, new multi-compartment bird houses have been obtained by Mrs. Fred Earwood, Mrs. Thomas Morriss and Mrs. Edwin Sawyer.
 The purple martin is the largest member of the swallow family. The male is uniformly blue—black above and below. The female is light bellied, with throat and breast grayish in color.
 The martin feeds entirely on the wing, and will eat nearly its weight in insects daily. A martin can eat 2000 mosquitos each day, so a colony of martins can destroy many insect pests.
 The martins winter in South America. Scouts are sent northward in February—probably to survey the housing situation and the insect population. Martin families move into Sonora in March. Observations of first martins noted in Sonora from 1960 to 1967 include dates ranging from March 9 to March 19. In 1962 the scouts were noted on February 22.
 Martin houses are usually occupied by sparrows before the martins arrive, but several compartments will be taken over by the larger birds. After the martins raise their young and depart, usually in July, the sparrows will continue to use the homes unless the entrances are plugged. The old nest should be cleaned out each spring before martins arrive.
 Cats and small boys with BB guns are the greatest enemies of martins. Protection from cats can be obtained by mounting the houses 10-15 feet high on pipe posts. Where undisturbed, the same families of martins are thought to return year after year.
 Martins become quite tame and can be watched from a distance of only 10-20 feet. They perch frequently on their houses and keep up a continuous chatter of gay and bubbling song. They are graceful on the wing.
 The purple martin is a useful insect catcher—in addition to providing a source of joy from song and movement.

Home Landscaping Hints Functional

A usable, functional and pleasing to look at home landscaping is within the reach of most home owners. Too, adds Everett Janne, Extension landscapt horticulturist at Texas A&M University, a properly planned landscape need not require a great deal of time and labor for maintenance.

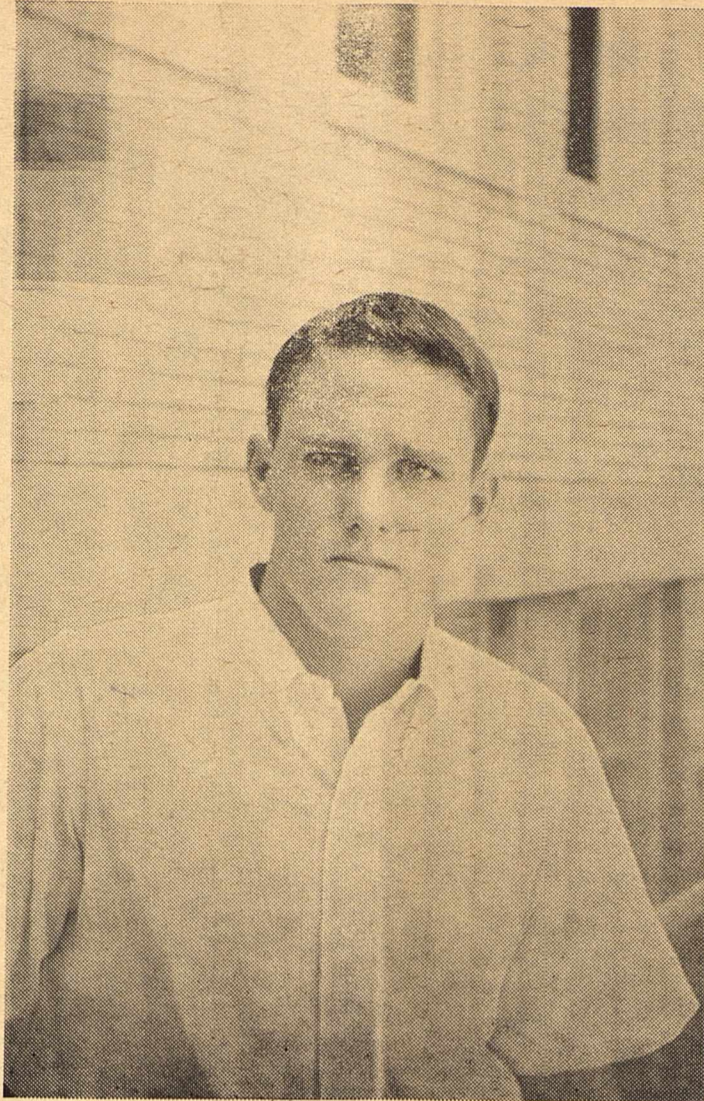

Janne outlines several ways to reduce maintenance and at the same time improve the usability and attractiveness of yards. He suggests dividing the yard space into use areas. Most yards include the public area, commonly the front yard, the family area and the service area. The latter are usually parts of the backyard.

Use areas should be separated and uncluttered with plantings. Open, organized space within each area results in a more usable and easier to care for yard, he says.

Flower beds, shrub borders and tree masses can be separated from the grassed areas. For this purpose some type of edging material can be used. It may be made from redwood or bricks or metal.

Careful selection of turfgrass varieties, tree and shrub species can also reduce maintenance requirements, Janne says. Some species are resistant to insects and diseases and these should always get consideration. Some also have drouth resistance.

Difficulty in growing plants often results from poor surface or internal water drainage, says the horticulturist. Improved slopes can solve the poor surface drainage problem and incorporation of organic matter into the soil can greatly improve internal drainage. The addition of two or three inches of well rotted manure, peat moss, compost, or other forms of organic matter and humus will improve soil which is too heavy or sandy, says Janne.
