Sonora Defensive Strength Shows in Ozona's Defeat

Sonora fans got their first look at a new type of Bronco football during the close 13-7 victory over highly-rated Ozona.

Sonorans, used to dazzling offensive moves, saw a different and primarily line-oriented team in action. Ozona's interior line, weighing in at about 200 pounds per man, backed by All-District and All-West Texas tackle, Gary Sutton at 220, presented no apparent problems to the Bronco line strategy.

The highly-touted Sutton was kept in check most of the night by Royce Mears, 245-pound tackle. Mears is primarily a defensive middle-guard but saw much offensive duty Friday.

The first half of play was a back-and-forth defensive battle without scoring by either team. Sonora moved the ball successfully during the first half but many opportunities were crushed by penalties. The Broncos lost a total of 50 yards during the game on setbacks. The Ozonans were given one reprieve when one of their punts was run back 25 yards by Ed Lee Renfro only to be called back, giving the Lions a first down. Again unable to get their ground game going the Lions were forced to kick again and had Renfro run the ball back 40 yards to the Ozona 48-yard line. Several plays later the Broncos lost another scoring opportunity on a penalty.

The first score of the game went to Ozona and started with the run-back of a fourth-down punt.

Fleet Coates, Lion halfback, took the punt at midfield and threaded his way to the Sonora 11-yard line. He was clotheslined by the last Bronco defender, Tom Trainer.

On a crucial fourth down play, quarterback David Huff picked up a Lion first down at the Sonora one-yard line. Halfback Rodney Pagan, a 168-pound junior, drove the ball into the end zone through his right guard, Larry Webb, the Ozona guard and place-kicker scored the extra point. The score came with five minutes left in the third quarter.

The Broncos came on strong after the Ozona score to make their own within two minutes.

Renfro took the kickoff and ran it back to his own 31-yard line. A new pass combination, J. V. Cook to David Wuest, moved the ball to the Sonora 47-yard line. Halfback Ernest Barrera moved the ball to the Ozona 42 on two carries. Renfro then turned the corner and went into the end zone almost untouched. Wuest's extra point kick was good to tie the score in the third quarter.

Ozona mounted a new offensive after receiving the following kick-off but was stopped on the Sonora 28-yard line by an anxious Bronco line led by guard Manuel Sanchez. Sanchez threw fullback Randel Clepper for a loss on a critical fourth down play.

The second Bronco score was set up on a complete pass from David Wuest to Renfro deep in Lion territory. At the 10-yard line fullback Mike Gosney, although suffering an injured ankle, drove through Gary Sutton for the score. Wuest's kick was blocked by a desperate Ozona defensive line.

In the fading minutes of the game, Ozona apparently saw that they still had a chance to win if they could connect with the "long bomb."

The Bronco defensive team went into a widely spread formation to counteract any long pass attempts.

One pass play was broken up by Robert Mata, who was tough on pass defense throughout the game. Another play was crushed by end Nino Perez when he caught Lion quarterback David Huff behind the line of scrimmage, desperately looking for a receiver.

The Ozona offense moved through the Bronco's spread defense but could only make the 35-yard line when time ran out, giving Sonora their second season win.

Sonora may face their toughest test of the season this week when they meet the tough Junction Eagles in Junction Friday, October 13.

Junction, even though favored over Iraan last week, was defeated 21-6. The Eagles were favored in some circles to be strong contenders for the District 8-A title until their ill-fated encounter with Iraan. They had been undefeated.

ED LEE RENFRO BREAKS AWAY from the Ozona defenders on his long touchdown run Friday. Renfro covered over 40 yards on the play and was almost untouched by the Lion defenders. The 13-7 Sonora win was their first in district play.

Sonorans Rally Aid For Storm Refugees

Sonorans have rallied to the aid of the refugees in the hurricane-stricken Rio Grande Valley by sending 87 cartons of clothing and bedding through the Sonora Welfare Council.

During the week-long drive, aid was sent by most of the civic organizations and churches in the city. Each denomination sent donations of cash through their own organization as did the Downtown Lions Club.

The West Side Lions Club organized a clothing drive and also sent parcels to the storm victims. Clothing was collected at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Presbyterian, U.S., and prepared for shipment by the Sonora Boy Scouts.

All of the parcels were shipped by Lee Way Truck lines to the Salvation Army in San Antonio for distribution to the various valley areas.

Last Rites Held For James Rieck

Funeral services were held Saturday, September 30, for Sutton and Kimble County rancher, James Paterson Rieck, 46.

Mr. Rieck was born in Kerrville in 1921 and married to Miss Florence Uerling in McCook, Nebraska, in 1945.

He was a World War II veteran and vice president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association.

Services were held in Junction's St. Teresa Catholic Church and burial was in Junction Cemetery. The Rev. Henry Laenen and The Rev. Angel Villarel conducted services. The funeral was under the direction of Hodges-Fife Funeral Home of Junction.

Survivors include his wife, three sons, Bruce, Robert and Brian Rieck; his mother, Mrs. Meta P. Rieck of Austin; a brother, W. H. Rieck of Austin and a sister, Mrs. Anne Cotterell of Houston.

Active pallbearers were Stanton Bundy and Armer Earwood of Sonora, John Molesworth, K. Cowser, Dr. Ted Holekamp, Cecil Woodard and Dave Akers all of Junction and Alvin Hay of San Angelo.

Honorary pallbearers included Fred Earwood and Bryan Hunt of Sonora, Fred Widge, Seaton Prentice, William Wilson, C. T. Holekamp, Pierce Hoggett, Coke Stevenson, Wendel McWilliams and M. C. Blackburn, all of Junction.

Also of Junction were Joe Weiss, Tom Love, Homer Mansfield, Curtis Henderson, Robert Neal, Billy Hooks, Karl Nelson, R. P. James, Billy Allen and Tom Syfan.

Other honorary pallbearers included Cecil McCoury of Lampasas, G. C. Magruder of Merton, Jimmy Powell and Howard Derrick of Eldorado, Charles Schriener III and Marcus Auld of Mountain Home, Worth Durham of Sterling City, Gene Whitehead of Merand and Felix Real of Kerrville.

Officers Elected, Policies Outlined By Band Boosters

The Sonora Band Boosters Club met Wednesday, September 20, and elected new officers, according to Charles Brown, band director.

Mrs. Jym Adamson was elected president, Mrs. Anita Urias, vice-president; Mrs. Pat Brown, secretary and Mrs. Dick Black, treasurer.

The group planned the operation of the concession stand at the football games and adopted a statement of policy and regulations to be used in this connection.

Prizes will range from trophies, for winners on the local level, to expense-paid trips for winners on the higher levels.

By Wednesday, 65 boys had registered for the contest at the Sonora Motor Company, according to Joe Hull, owner.

Those registered since last week include Warren Fay, Larry Finklea, Bill Finklea, Eddy Noriega, Jim Hoover, Bobby Duran, David Mathis, Douglas Tate, Dennis Tate, Mark Rousselot, Damon Hodges and Roy Adkins.

MEETING POSTPONED

Postponement of the regular meeting of the City Commissioners from Monday, October 2, to Monday, October 9, has been announced by city manager Jimmy H. Harris.

CINDERS

By Jim Barnett

Sutton County has been blessed for the last year with a flawless traffic record as far as fatal accidents are concerned.

Perhaps because of this record the driving habits of a few of the county citizens have become lax. In places where the records show that the likelihood of an accident is rare, the number of accidents is sometimes high.

Throughout the state the highest percentage of accidents occur on rural roads during times of ideal driving conditions.

The reason could be, simply laxity in driving habits.

In Sonora, traffic laws are all too often abused, but mere mention of the terrible potential is scoffed at, because we haven't had a fatality.

People run stop lights and stop signs daily. I assume because they are in a hurry. But if you have to hurry to get somewhere in time in a town this size, you obviously started too late to begin with.

One of the most often abused stop lights is the one in front of the Post Office. Many people don't realize that the blinking-red light means to come to a full stop. It is just MY stop sign.

Another "clear spot" with a great view of electric, and particularly those who are in school, is the speed zone. The teachers have said that the signs surrounding the school lot, the race tracks before and after school and during the lunch break. The signs are placed in the school zone for a specific reason: to reduce a driver's speed because children simply do not think like adults; they are unpredictable. Just because it is reasonable to assume that an adult would not step in front of a moving car does not mean the same logic can be applied to a child.

They are unpredictable, they will unconsciously step in front of a moving car. You know the results.

How would you like to live in a town where you had killed one of the children of a friend?

Sutton Electric Opens for Business

J. W. Sutton has announced the opening of Sutton Electric, specializing in residential and commercial wiring with day and night service. Sutton has been in Sonora since 1958 and was formerly associated with the City power department.

Sutton said that he was bonded and was a master licensed electrician.

DOUG FERGUSON 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson, probably holds the record for the largest bean ever grown in Sutton County. Doug's mother had given him some beans after a trip to the grocery store for him to plant. The 11 inch bean is the result of Doug's "green thumb."

Committees Appointed For Annual Lions Club Auction October 24

Committees responsible for the organization of the coming annual Lions Club Auction have been appointed by Lion president Norman Rousselot. The annual fund-raising event is scheduled for October 24 at the Sutton County 4H Center.

Last year's auction raised a total of near $5,000 to be used in the civic projects of the organization. The "mystery package" which has been returned to the club unopened each year of its 29-year history was purchased by Nathan Donsky of Nathan's Jewelry in San Angelo for $160.

Serving this year on the merchandise solicitation committee are Doyle Morgan, the Rev. Rodney Dowdy, Bob Teaff, Jo Hardgrave, E. B. Keng, Bud Smith, Louis Davis, Kyle Donaldson, Darcy Carroll and Earl Johnson.

Gene Wallace, George Wallace, Pat Reardon, Ralph Mayer, Lin Hicks, Bill Morris and Sam Jones will serve on the livestock solicitation committee. They will be calling on livestock producers for donations to the club.

The food service committee composed of Cullen Luttrell, Ralph Finklea, Leo Merrill, George Brockman, Lester Byer, John Eaton, Tom Davis, Freeman Mears and Leon Neely will handle the preparations for the barbecue meal.

Records for the auction will be kept by the bookkeeping committee composed of Clayton Hamilton, Warren Hemphill, Charles West and A. E. Prugel. Mrs. Lea Roy Aldwell and Delbert Edmiston will maintain the sales list.

All of the club's correspondence and publicity will be accomplished by Norman Rousselot, A. E. Prugel, John King and Albert Ward.

Clint Langford, Jimmy Harris and Norm Rousselot will handle all of the livestock that are to be received at the 4-H Center at the time of the auction.

Gene Wallace said that all livestock donated could be taken to the Sonora Livestock Exchange or to the Branding Iron Smoke House.

Wallace added that if donors were unable to deliver livestock they could call him or George Wallace and they will make arrangements for the animals to be picked up.

Accident Kills One, Injures Three More

A freak accident involving two cars and a large truck killed one man and injured three other persons 29 miles south of Sonora on U. S. Highway 277 early Monday.

James L. Meyer of Richardson, the driver of one of the cars, was killed when his car collided with the truck.

Accident investigators said the accident apparently occurred when a trailer truck driven by Charles Jackson Boyd of Abilene stalled on a hill and jack-knifed across the road. The car driven by Meyer collided with the truck as it came over the hill.

Apparently before warning flares could be placed at the scene, another car came over the hill and collided with the truck. The second car was driven by John R. Garcia of Rising Star. His passengers were his wife and Andrew Garcia. John Garcia and his wife were treated at Hudspeth Hospital and released. Andrew Garcia was listed in good condition Monday night.

He reminds ranchers that some livestock will be needed for the barbecue. The Lions Club will appoint a telephone committee to contact producers in the county.

Pass, Punt and Kick Contest Slated For Sonora, October 7, at Stadium

Registration for the annual Pass, Punt and Kick contest, sponsored by the Ford Motor Company and the Sonora Motor Company, will close Friday, October 6, according to contest coordinator, John Bell.

The contest will begin at 9 a.m., Saturday, October 7, in Bronco Stadium and will test a boy's ability to pass, punt and place-kick a football for both distance and accuracy. No special equipment will be needed and each boy will compete in his own age group. The contest is open to boys eight through 13 years of age.

Prizes will range from trophies, for winners on the local level, to expense-paid trips for winners on the higher levels.

Press Freedom Belongs To People

By Theodore A. Serrill
Executive Vice President
National Newspaper Association

Who ever told that nosey editor he had a right to pry into what happened at our council meeting? What gave that reporter any idea that he could write about the school directors the way he did?

The answer is that there is no law, rule, regulation or order that specifically requires a newspaper reporter to cover city council, school board or court sessions. The Constitution says "Congress shall make no law...abridging the freedom of the press." One can search out all of the laws of the Federal Government, right down to the Freedom of Information bill passed by the 89th Congress, and find nothing further about "the press."

The same can be said of state law. Most state constitutions recognize freedom of the press to publish news, but none particularize these rights, or set down any press responsibilities.

The newspaper is not required to report the city council meeting or send someone to the school directors' sessions. The reporter could stay home. Nor do laws specify that "the press" be accorded any special treatment before any public body. "Open meeting laws" never mention newspapers, reporters, or news media. They simply affirm the right of the public at large to attend and observe meetings of governing assemblies.

representative democracy. Government was growing more remote from the people. It was also growing more complicated. Yet the citizen, as a voter, had the same responsibility to keep himself informed.

It followed naturally that the Nation's fledgling press should fill the role of reporter and commentator on public affairs. No one passed a law requiring it. The Founding Fathers simply had faith that a private press, given the guarantee of freedom to do so, would accept the responsibility. And of course it has. For nearly two centuries newspapers have attended meetings of governing bodies, reporting and interpreting in behalf of the public.

The reporter attends city council meetings as a member of the public. He has a right to be present only if the public retains that right. The editor comments on the council's decisions—or lack of them—as an ordinary citizen. While he is aided in his function by the printing press at his disposal, it gives him no special rights. He can comment only so long as the public has a privilege of commenting.

The "right to know" and "Freedom of information" are concepts with which the newsman works every day. The same professional tradition which sends him to the city council meeting compels him to resist inroads on these public rights. For he knows, and the public should always realize too, that in all that he does, the newspaperman acts as a citizen, in behalf of his fellow citizens.

Mrs. Smith, then, can "cover" the city council—for her club, her neighborhood, or just for herself. The principle of open government meetings was established for the people—the resident, the voter, the taxpayer, all the governed—not solely for the press or its representatives.

Then why is it that "the right to know" and "freedom of information" always seem to be linked with the press?

In the very early days of American settlement all of the people of a local community would gather in the town meeting and determine the affairs of the community. Almost everybody attended, and those who didn't soon learned from the informed majority.

But villages soon grew into cities, and the "pure democracy" of the town meeting gave way to representative democracy. Government was growing more remote from the people. It was also growing more complicated. Yet the citizen, as a voter, had the same responsibility to keep himself informed.

It followed naturally that the Nation's fledgling press should fill the role of reporter and commentator on public affairs. No one passed a law requiring it. The Founding Fathers simply had faith that a private press, given the guarantee of freedom to do so, would accept the responsibility. And of course it has. Your Questions on the Draft . . .

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 702 Colorado St., Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—We have a farm, most of which is planted in wheat. Should there be a shortage of wheat this year, would this be a factor for receiving an agricultural deferment?

A—Under the new law, surpluses and shortages of agricultural commodities may now be considered by a draft board in reaching its decisions on agricultural deferments?

Q—How do I apply for deferment as an undergraduate college student?

A—You can get a convenient form called "Request for Undergraduate Student Deferment" (SSS Form 104) from your draft board. Some college registrars also have it. A letter to your draft board requesting student deferment will also be accepted.

Q—My father, an Army sergeant, is being transferred outside the U.S. I won't be 18 until after we've departed the country. What do I do about registering with Selective Service?

A—On your 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter, present yourself to the nearest diplomatic or consular officer of the United States and he will register you.

Q—Are 19-year-olds inducted first under this new law?

A—No, not now; but they could be later.

Devil's River Philosopher Makes Good Sense in His Weekly Letter

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River seems to be overwhelmed by strike news, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

After the fifth newspaper turned up out here on this bitterweed ranch in five days, each one reporting on a different kind of strike, I started keeping tab and can report that the following various groups have been striking lately:

- School teachers.
- Chorus girls.
- Automobile workers.
- Steel workers.
- Television announcers.
- Policemen.
- Firemen.
- Big city printers.
- Construction workers.
- Airplane pilots.

There may be more, but this will give you an idea of what it takes to be in on the modern trend, and what I'd like to know is, what's the matter with weekly newspaper editors? How come you're dragging your feet? Don't you know this is 1967? You mean to say you can't find a thing to strike about? How come you don't keep abreast of the times? I'll even write your own headline for you:

EDITOR PICKETS OWN OFFICE IN DEMAND FOR SOMETHING

Of course, I recognize you might ask me, How come you don't strike?

Well, although I've never attempted to keep up with the times, which consists mostly of going in circles anyway, I've got plenty to strike about, like a leaky roof, a loose board on the back step, a leaning barn, a sagging gate, broken-down fences, the weather 90 per cent of the time, rusty plumbing, the high cost of repairs and the low price on sales, inferior television shows, etc., but I suppose you and me are in the same boat: there's nobody to settle most of our grievances with but ourselves, and there's no fun in that. What sort of strike would it be if the

THE FAMILY LAWYER

THROUGH THE LOOPHOLE our constitutional system. Judges No doubt about it: the case was a shocker. A city alderman had been caught taking a bribe. But when he was brought to trial, it turned out that there was a loophole in the state's criminal code. By mistake, the code failed to make this particular action a crime.

So the alderman went free. As speedily as possible, the state legislature passed a new law closing the loophole. But as far as the alderman was concerned, it was too late. He had slipped safely through the law's clutches.

Does that make sense? Should the court let a man "get away with it" just because of a loophole in the law?

We have to start with one blunt fact: no law is perfect, with no loopholes at all. Human wisdom cannot foresee all the possible variations of conduct that may arise in the course of time.

Still, when a mistake in the law is so obvious, shouldn't the court stretch a point in the interest of justice? For example, in the alderman's case the court might have said:

"Loophole or no loophole, this fellow has done a wrong thing and must be punished."

The trouble is, a court simply does not have that power under our constitutional system. Judges may interpret laws, but not make them. In the words of the United States Supreme Court:

"It is the legislature, not the court, which is to define a crime and ordain its punishment."

To be sure, there is harm in letting a wrongdoer escape the punishment he deserves. But in the process, he gives society vital information—just as the escaping fish shows the fisherman where his net needs patching.

And closing even a single loophole in the law may have far-reaching consequences. Thus:

A flour company in New York once used a society girl's picture in its ads without asking for her permission. When she sued, the court could find nothing in the law that forbade such unwanted publicity. The girl's suit was dismissed.

In short order, the state legislature closed the loophole with a new law. And, as it turned out, this law was the cornerstone of one of the most significant legal developments of our times.

It was, in fact, the first "right of privacy" law in history.

THIS CABIN IS ONE of several in Fort Worth's most unusual neighborhoods. The "neighborhood" is composed of pioneer cabins that were built in the Fort Worth region as early as 1843. Each of the houses have been furnished by the descendants of the early pioneers with items used by their original owners.

Ft. Worth Features Unique Neighborhood

There is a very unusual neighborhood in Fort Worth that attracts visitors from across the state and nation.

What could be so out of the ordinary about a neighborhood? This one happens to be built of homes whose origin dates back as early as 1843.

The decor of the homes, complete in every detail, gives the appearance that the resident might have just stepped out for awhile leaving you the privilege of glimpsing at their cabin without invitation. The log cabin dwellings, ranging in size according to the income level of their occupants, are furnished exactly as they were over 100 years ago in the original antiques, not modern duplicates. Most of the furniture was donated by the original families whose ancestors once occupied the log cabins which have been moved from their original sites to a new location across from Forest Park Zoo.

The William Sidney Pickard cabin purchased by Pickard in 1866 had been built ten years earlier to serve several hundred acres in Parker County. An old organ, aged at least 150 years, is part of the decor of this home. The cabin, built in split level styling, was large enough for the six children of his family.

The Issac Parker home is filled with history and tradition. Parker, a colorful pioneer politician for whom Parker County is named, made the cabin a hashing ground for many of the early Texas political figures. One of the tragedies of the home is the story of

A PARSON'S EYE-VIEW OF SONORA

BY THE REV. ROSS T. WELCH

We seldom go in for social items, but lest it be overlooked, here's a word of commendation for the pot-luck supper planned by the Ministerial Alliance last Saturday night and honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Rollin Polk and daughter, Jane. The Polks have announced their intention to transfer to Beeville.

In addition to the honorees, those who shared the meal and fellowship informally included the following clerical families: The Rev. and Mrs. George Stewart and daughter; the Rev. and Mrs. Arno Melz and daughter; the Rev. and Mrs. Rdoney Dowdy, hosts; the Rev. and Mrs. Lea Roy Aldwell; this Parson and Mrs. Welch.

The prettiest mums we have seen in this area line the driveway at the Wesley Sawyer home and were transplanted. In size and beauty they rival the hot house varieties, having received the watchful care of Gardener A. W. Awalt.

We hope the yard-grown mums in this community get to full bloom before frost comes. These are among our showiest and most colorful flowers.

Free copies of the New Testament in modern English or in Spanish will be given to any who will read them as long as the supply lasts at the Bible Display sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance, October 16-21.

There will also be a display of Bibles of historical interest, unusual Bibles, and Bibles for sale for personal use or to be used for gifts.

Most of the churches will be using responsive readings appropriate to the occasion on National Bible Sunday Oct. 15 and will provide book marks listing the daily Bible readings from that date to Thanksgiving.

Included in the Bible Display will be New Testament and Psalms in extra large print.

We did not receive much encouragement about bowling on the Ozona lanes. The only nights open were Wednesday (church night) or Friday (football). Eight of us went on Saturday afternoon.

Top bowler from our delegation was a 16 year old lad, Roy Gillespie. The lanes are fairly free and the prices are favorable on Saturday afternoon. Would anyone care to join us? We leave from the Methodist Church at 2 o'clock. Baby sitting arrangements can be made if requested in advance.

Wasn't that a thrilling game last week? When two well matched teams go into their respective dressing rooms at half time with the score tied, I always have this feeling (perhaps not entirely justified)—"Now we shall see who are the better coaches."

This is not to take from the spirit of the players, but the coaches have more time to size up the situation, discover weaknesses of the opposition and devise a winning strategy.

Most of the calls for infractions of the rules went against the Broncos last week, but the one called against the Lions came at a strategic moment and served as a demoralizing factor.

I'm no hunter, but those who do hunt tell me the birds are very scarce. Edwin Sawyer, whose hobby is feeding his wild turkeys, says very few young turkeys were hatched this year.

Some one has said there has to be a certain amount of moisture in the soil for wild turkey eggs to hatch properly. This may be an old wives' tale, but—if true—it could account for failure this past spring.

After a disastrous though not fatal accident last hunting season, Edwin has improved his hunting camphouse considerably with bathroom facilities and electric power.

The pecan crop seems variable over town. Some trees have good crops, some very few if any pecans. This variation is noticeable even among the trees here on the church lawn.

Got a telephone call through to my brother who has just built a new home below Progresso in what I would have thought was the most vulnerable area along the Rio Grande; but he reported the only damage—some trees blown down and two shingles blown off his new home.

He also has an apartment and a business in Brownsville, where he reported—no damage.

He said the ones who had their houses blown away, were better off financially—provided they carried insurance—than those who were in the path of the flood water.

These warm fall days are when the wasps come out. Be wary, when you start to ring someone's doorbell; you may get stung in the process.

I had the rumor confirmed Sunday, Pat Reardon, who holds a master's degree from Texas A&M University and works at the Experiment Station plans to go back to school sometime in the near future to work on his PhD. Pat assures me he is going to continue to call this "home"—and we hope sincerely that he will—for a long time.

Dr. Browne and I took turns last Friday night calling the Hospital to let the nursing staff and patients know what the score was. Joe Logan and Ervin Willman were especially eager to hear the results.

A lot of people who complain about being up to their ears in work, are just lying down on the job.

—Some people are like wheelbarrows—they stand still unless they are pushed.

—Selfishness is the giant that drives one from the promised land of usefulness.

—There are no vacations from the school of experience.

—All things have their place—but do we know how to place them?

A LIFT FOR THE WEEK

In a little while, today will seem a long time ago.

Neither Catholic, Protestant Nor Jew . . .

Danger of a Partial Gospel

There is a tendency among men to preach only a partial gospel, tailoring the Lord's message to suit their own personal inclinations. This has sometimes led men to stop far short of the full gospel of Christ. It has also sometimes led them to go far beyond the teachings of the Lord. Either error is disastrous. The Apostle John once wrote: "Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him Godspeed: For he that biddeth him Godspeed is partaker of his evil deeds" (II John 9:11).

Visualize a man wearing the badge and the uniform of the police department, officially representing safety and law enforcement, finding a child on the corner of a busy traffic-filled street, and saying, "Son let me help you get across safely." Across one lane of traffic he leads him, across the second, and across the third. Then, while a fourth of the distance to the farther curb and safety still remains, he says, "Son, you are all right now, and leave him to swim alone against the traffic of a great busy street. It would be criminal to treat a child so! Is it any less serious to lead sincere men and women to believe that they are saved when they have only partially obeyed their Lord?

Conclusion As Jesus was neither John the Baptist, Elias, nor Jeremias, so the church of Christ is neither Catholic, Protestant, nor Jewish. We are unique and different for we are endeavoring to go all the way back to the original New Testament church. Using the New Testament as our blueprint we have re-established in the twentieth century Christ's church. It fits no modern label. It is not just another denomination. We believe in the restoration of New Testament Christianity, speaking where the Bible is silent. We believe in calling Bible things by Bible names and insist on having a "Thus saith the Lord" for all we do. Being neither Catholics, Protestants, nor Jews, we aspire to be Christians only.

The attempt to consider the followers of Jesus Christ under the labels of Western Civilization obscures the Christ, and the beauty of New Testament Christianity. Is it possible to be just a Christian today? Can a person be a Christian and not be a Catholic? Even the Catholics will admit that he can. Is it possible to be a Christian and not be a Protestant? Most Protestants spend much time in proclaiming that this is true. Is it possible to be a follower of God and not be a Jew? The Jews today will answer in the affirmative.

Then why not be just a Christian, not bound by human tradition, not enslaved by human ecclesiasticism, not tied to any sect or party? Be loyal to Christ. Study the Bible and see him as he is. Obey his commandments. It is only when we stop pouring the new wines of Christian truth and love into the old bottles of tradition that we will be Christians in the New Testament sense. Why not be a Christian and neither Catholic, Protestant, nor Jew?

Texas 4-Hers to Observe Their Week

A four-leaf clover is the symbol of good luck to many people, but to some 76,000 Texas 4-H Club members it is part of the emblem of their organization and a lot more.

The roots of 4-H go deep in Texas. Boys and girls for more than 60 years have been proud members of the organization. As has been the case for many years, they will join with some two and a quarter million members and 23 million former members in the nation in the observance of National 4-H Club Week, September 30-October 7.

During the week, according to the state 4-H Club office, Texas members will be out to tell of the past year's achievements and their plans for the year ahead. For boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19, 4-H offers opportunities to develop good character and leadership. Learning to work together and accept responsibility along with exploring career opportunities and learning skills are all a part of the Texas 4-H Club program, the 4-H specialists said.

In Texas and across the nation, 4-H Club work is directed in the counties by the county Extension agents with assistance from both adult and junior 4-H leaders. In Texas, more than 13,000 volunteer adult leaders work with the members of more than 2,500 local 4-H Clubs "To Make the Best Better." Statewide the 4-H program is guided by Texas A&M University, the state's land-grant university. Nationally, the U. S. Department of Agriculture administers the program as the youth phase of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Local county Extension agents invite youths and their parents who are interested in knowing more about 4-H projects and activities to visit their office for detailed information.

Antlerless Deer Hunting Permits Studied

Antlerless deer permits for the regular deer season in the 10 regulatory responsibility areas will be issued to qualified landowners after the annual game counts are completed, according to J. R. Singleton, Executive Director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Singleton said the permits would probably be issued during the latter part of October since the earliest opening date of the regular deer hunting season is November 11. Permits will be issued at least 10 days prior to the opening of the season.

Senate Bill 295 of the 60th Legislature provides that no permits shall be issued later than 10 days before the opening date of the hunting season.

The annual game counts are conducted during September and October in order to insure greater accuracy, he said.

"Since wildlife populations depend on weather and range conditions, the whole picture can change radically in a few days," Singleton said. "Even with Hurricane Beulah, we don't expect any radical changes this year. But, you never know until the counts are completed."

Once deer counts are completed, wildlife biologists determine the deer populations in the 10 areas and issue permits on the basis of these populations.

In the past two years, antlerless deer permits have been issued at the maximum rate of one permit for each 200 acres of land in high deer population areas. While in other areas, the ratio may be as low as one permit per 200 acres.

That famous Little Dutch Boy with the big finger, who plugged the hole in the dike in Holland, would have found himself hopelessly helpless in Texas today.

At least that's so in one area of the State. That is unless he had a vulcanizing kit!

What do we mean by all this? Well, we're referring to Bay City, Texas... southwest of Houston... and to its new DAM.

There the Lower Colorado River Authority has installed a RUBBER dam on the Colorado River. Yes, we mean RUBBER!

It's a clever trick.... and it works! Not only does it hold back valuable water but it preserves it for later use, right where it's badly needed for agricultural purposes. This is the rice growing country of Texas and one of the state's valuable industries.

No crop takes more water than rice. And water doesn't always fall when or where it's needed.

Due to LCRA's foresightedness and willingness to gamble, the rice boys are in business in a big way. In fact this year they may get in a third crop, thanks to the little rubber dam.

You've never heard of a rubber dam? Well, brother, you're not alone. Most people haven't.

But it's there and it's holding back Colorado River water that otherwise would have poured freely into the Gulf of Mexico—some 12 miles downstream.

Where is the dam located? It's just a few miles from downtown Bay City and right alongside the Country Club golf course.

It's an impressive sight, really, considering the fact that it is one of the country's first and definitely the largest in the United States.

To begin at the beginning, first the construction crew builds a 30-foot wide reinforced steel and concrete base all the way across the river bed. This after diverting the water around that area, of course. This supporting base rests on pilings driven some 40 feet below the river bed. It is on this concrete base that the rubber dam is mounted. It's anchored to the slab with stainless steel anchor bolts cast integrally with the concrete.

Prime feature of the dam is a huge, sausage shaped rubber tube 227 feet long and 13 feet in diameter.... sealed at both ends. This huge rubber tube has a skin thickness of a quarter of an inch. It's total weight is 18,000 pounds.

Each end of the tube is securely bolted to a concrete abutment. One end is connected with a water system and an air compression

Secret of holding the inflatable dam in a firm position is in partial inflation of the mammoth rubber tube with WATER. This serves as a base, for a solid footing... with the water that's in the tube holding back the water that's in the river.

AIR then is pumped into the tube to complete the expansion of the rubber dam and raise its height whatever level they wish to maintain the water. Limit, of course, is roughly 13 feet.... the diameter of the tube. Actually it's less since the height of the water in the tube flattens it out a bit at the bottom.... and the weight of the onrushing water causes the "dam" to lean a little towards the downstream side. Actual shape of the dam in use is more like a teardrop on its side.

In viewing the installation we observed that the water depth gauge showed 32 feet. Water was within three feet of the top of the dam. So the concrete foundation evidently is several feet in height.

Backing up that much water, for even a very few miles, can mean much to the rice farmers. Also, equally as much to the upstream areas where the river's water level is steadily falling at the moment, and has been for several months.

So, the Little Rubber dam (technically named Fabridam by its maker, the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company) already has proved its worth.

And when the need for the water has ended, or floods come

(what's that?), valves can be opened and both the air and the water drawn from within the mammoth tube. Then the little rubber dam settles down on its concrete base and the rushing waters of the Colorado flow over it.... and on into the Gulf of Mexico.

Card of Thanks Safe, Effective Vaccine Protects Your Children from Measles

We are truly grateful to all of you who expressed your love and sympathy in so many comforting ways during our sorrow. Your kindness and neighborliness meant so much to us.

The family of J. B. Merck

A new department of aerospace medicine has been approved for The University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston. University Regents appointed Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of medical research and operations at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, to be professor and chairman of the new department.

There are two kinds of measles. Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, reports that the kind of measles against which the vaccines protect is known as rubeola, "common measles," or the "seven-day" or "10-day" measles, or the "red" measles.

In rubeola, there is a pronounced, long-lasting rash, usually associated with symptoms of illness for three or four days before the rash appears, such as fever and coughing.

The other kind of measles, rubeola, is known as "German measles" or "three-day" measles. Rubeola's rash is less pronounced, and there are few pre-rash symptoms. However, if a woman contracts rubeola during the first three months of pregnancy, it can affect the fetus and result in birth defects.

An effective and safe vaccine is now available for rubeola or red measles. It produces only a few minor reactions, but in return provides almost complete protection which may last a lifetime. If all children between ages of 1 to 9 who have not already had measles or doses of live virus measles vaccine could be immunized, measles could be eradicated from the United States. Vaccine can be administered by your doctor in his office or during measles vaccination campaigns.

The vaccine against German measles is not yet ready for general use. An effective one appears to have been developed but research must still solve the problem of making it in sufficient quantity to meet present needs. It should be available in another year or two.

A new $2,450,000 Geology Building has been completed at The University of Texas at Austin. Housing the Geology Department and the Bureau of Economic Geology, the new facility for the first time enables geologists to have their libraries and maps to be together in a single structure. Almost one-tenth of all U.S. geologists have received part of their training at the University.

Several college kids were home for the weekend. Joe Moore, Allen Hearn, Libb Mills Wallace, Robert Brown and Brent Johnson were a few of the ones who made it home.

Last week school pictures were taken of the junior high and high school students. The seniors had three cap and gown pictures and one regular school picture made.

The annual staff has completed the first sixteen pages of this year's annual. The pages were due October 1.

Last Thursday night the Sonora B-team defeated the Ozona B-team by a score of 16-0.

The paper staff has been gathering information for the school paper. It will probably be handed out before long.

Mitch Trainer still has his leg in a cast and is still having to walk on crutches.

Lilia Perez's picture was in the San Angelo Standard Times Sunday. The Rev. Rodney Dowdy's grandson was also in the picture.

The annuals went on sale Wednesday. Anyone who wants their name on their annual may get it put on.

Alex Castro made it back to school this week. He also made it to the game Friday night.

Friday night's game was really exciting especially the last half of it. The final score was 13-7. After the game there was a dance at the parish hall.

This Friday we play Junction in Junction. So EVERYONE support the Broncos by going to Junction to the game!!!

DAVID NORIEGA HONORED
Mrs. Alicia Noriega and Mrs. Valentina Gallegos honored David Noriega on his second birthday, Sunday, October 1.

Cakes, cookies, candy and punch were served to approximately 50 children.

The September 20 luncheon was held at the Park Inn Cafe. Mrs. Lawrence Finklea and Mrs. Batts Friend were hostesses. About 18 members attended.

After the luncheon the members adjourned to the golf course for flag play. In flag play each member is given a flag with a number on it. The number is made up of par for 9 holes (36) and the individual's handicap, I think! The player puts his flag down at the spot where she runs out of strokes.

Wednesday, September 27, only five Eskimos, I mean members, showed up for play. It was slightly cool and windy.

During the winter months the ladies will play at 1 p.m. If there are any women who would like to join the auxiliary come on out. There are quite a few of us beginners, but "there ain't nary a place to begin" cepting at the beginning."

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Loeffler, Carla Cay and Keith of Kenney are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Loeffler.

Raymond and Lu Morgan were down over the weekend.

Our man with the Armed Forces

Because beer is such a favorite with service men, we brewers like to do all we can to keep its surroundings right. So USBA representatives serve as adviser members of the Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards throughout the country.

These men from the USBA operate hand in hand with service and civilian police, with malt beverage licensees, public boards and committees: military, civil, professional. Object: to protect those who are underage, and to insure strict observance of the law.

The firemen met Wednesday, September 27 for their regular meeting. Cullen Luttrell, fire chief, conducted a drill on pre-planning tactics of a major fire in the downtown business area. Plans were made to inspect, check, and familiarize all firemen with all major buildings, such as schools, stores, churches, courthouse, etc. and locations of the proper fire plugs for each one.

At 3:45 a.m. Wednesday, October 2, the firemen were called to a fire in a vacant house located near Brown's Cafe on U. S. Highway 277 South.

The men were in service approximately 45 minutes. The nearest fire plug was in front of the Sonora Feed Company and the firemen had to lay about 1250 feet of hose to reach the fire.

Damage was confined to one corner of the roof and one room. The fire apparently started in the attic.

Soil, Water District Sets Election Date

Eligible voters in Zone 4 of the Edwards Plateau soil and water conservation district will elect a district supervisor at 1 p.m. Tuesday, October 10. The election meeting will be held in the basement of the Methodist Church, following the Lions Club luncheon.

Zone 4 of the Edwards Plateau SWCD includes all land east of Sonora which lies between US-290 East and Bond Road. D. C. Langford, County Agricultural Agent, reminds ranchmen that the meeting is important and urges all eligible voters to cast their ballots. Langford notes that a qualified voter is a Zone 4 landowner who is 21 years old or older and resides in the District. Wives of eligible landowners can vote, and should do so—since they have an interest in their soil conservation district, Langford said.

The District is operated by five landowner supervisors, with one being elected each year for a five year term. Joe B. Ross is the present supervisor from Zone 4, having served since the District was organized in 1946. Other supervisors include Fred T. Earwood, Edwin Sawyer, W. B. McMillan and Vestel Askew.

Langford points out that Soil and Water Conservation Districts are political sub-divisions of the State of Texas and by law are charged with the responsibility of carrying out a soil and water conservation program in their district. Through them such items as technical service, equipment, leadership in the small watershed projects and other services are provided.

"If you are a qualified voter in Zone 4 it is your obligation to support the work of the district and elect supervisors who direct the program to you," Langford said.

Candy Sale Planned By Lions Club

Sonora's two Lions Clubs will sponsor a Halloween fund-raising candy sale beginning October 17, according to Downtown president, Norman Rousselot.

The bags of candy that will be sold will cost $1 and proceeds will be used to finance the activities of the organizations.

Each year part of the Lions Club funds go to finance eye care, aid to the blind, crippled children and other benevolent and civic projects.

Charles Cusenbary Assigned to Vietnam Field Tour of County Farms Planned Today

Lieutenant Colonel Charles L. Cusenbary of Sonora, is on duty at Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam.

Colonel Cusenbary, a C-123 Provider pilot, was reassigned from the 455th Strategic Missile Wing at Minot AFB, N.D.

The colonel, who has 14 years military service, was commissioned through the aviation cadet program in 1954.

The Sonora High School graduate received his B. A. degree from the University of Texas in 1953. He completed requirements for his M. S. degree in industrial management at the University of North Dakota.

Colonel Cusenbary's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cusenbary. His wife, Margaret, is the daughter of Mrs. Hazel Overhulzer, 1117 S. David, San Angelo. The colonel and Mrs. Cusenbary are the parents of two children, Karen 8, and Lee, 4.

There will be a field tour of the Mayer and Rousselot farm and the William Allison and Sons farm, Thursday, October 5, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The tour will begin in front of Preston Love's house opposite where the Station A road turns off U.S. 290 at 9:30 a.m.

A field of soybeans, a new crop for this area, will be observed on the Mayer and Rousselot farm and improved bermuda grass pastures and other crops will be observed and discussed at the Allison farm.

On hand to discuss farming and management problems, will be Charles Neeb, area entomologist, Ken Lindsey, area extension agronomist, Charles Taylor, area farm management specialist, Bob Ragsdale, extension range specialist and E. B. Keng, local S.C.S. unit conservationist.

The specialists will be at the 4-H Center at 1 p.m. to show slides and discuss problems in their respective fields.

County Agent D. C. Langford said, "If you need a ride or want to join the tour in town, plan to be at the courthouse at 9 a.m.. Everyone is invited."

Darla Sue Moore Honored at Party

Darla Sue Moore was honored October 3, with a birthday party on her eleventh birthday by her mother, Mrs. Hut Moore, at the Episcopal Church parish hall.

The guests, who received "swinger" earrings as favors, were Patricia Carroll, Roy Lesa Cooper, Cindy Fragin, Pat Garmon, Mary Pettiet, Jane Polk, Molly Sawyer, Ronda Hicks, Kathy Sharp, Deborah Tittle, Flaire Lane, DeEtte Curtis and Betsy Schwiening.

Assisting Mrs. Moore with the entertainment and serving cake and cokes were Mary Johnson and Georgeanne Schwiening.

Rose Gardens Need Attention in Fall

Good cultural practices can make a September rose garden a place of beauty and the gardener the envy of the community.

If you aren't satisfied with the quality and amount of your blooms, give more attention to fall management practices, suggests Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

He says not to fertilize roses at this time of the year. Fertilizer, especially nitrogen, tends to produce soft, lush growth that will be damaged by the coming winter.

Many roses, he notes, are showing signs of iron deficiency—leaves turn yellow, but the veins remain green. Chelated iron or iron sulfate sprayed on the foliage will give a quick "green up" but soil application gives a more lasting effect, says Janne.

Rose gardens should be kept clean. The specialist suggests that all infected and fallen leaves be destroyed. Pick faded blossoms before the petals begin to fall and continue the spray program into the fall, he adds. Mildew and black-spot are especially serious this year, he notes.

Mites have caused much trouble for Texas flower growers, he notes. Since these insects quickly become immune to constant use of one material, Janne suggests a switch in miticides. Be sure, he adds, to spray the foliage on the bottom of the plant where the mites are concentrated.

Preparations for new rose beds can be started now so they will be ready for early spring planting. Roses need a well-drained soil. Add peatmoss or other decomposed organic matter to aid the soil drainage. Janne says if the soil is heavy and is slow to drain, it's a good idea to raise the level of the bed from four to six inches above the surrounding soil. Redwood boards or brick edging can be used to hold the soil in place.

Locate the bed, advises Janne, where the plants will get at least six hours of sunshine each day and plant varieties adapted in the area.

Miss Anaida Sanchez will be in Austin where she is a model for one of the state board contestants.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orasio Sanchez and is presently attending Jean's College of Beauty in San Angelo.
