

Santa Claus to Arrive Saturday at 5 p.m.

Santa Claus is coming to Sonora! Through special arrangements between the Sonora Chamber of Commerce and the North Pole, Santa Claus will be in town distributing gifts of candy to the kids at 5 p.m. Saturday, December 9.

Santa will be escorted through town on a fire truck provided by the volunteer fire department instead of his sleigh and eight reindeers. Bob Johnson, chamber manager, said "Santa will not be able to bring his sleigh and reindeers because of the lack of snow." Sonora's progressive merchants will stage their program in front of First National Bank beginning at 4 p.m., Saturday. Some individual stores will also give gifts, including a watch by Ruth Shurley Jewelry; two transistor radios by Neville's Department Store; a large box of candy by Westerman Drug and 50 bonus coupons by Ratliff's Store.

A special program of Christmas music will be broadcast by radio station KCKG from the downtown area. Most merchants will remain open late for Christmas shopping.

Commission Accepts Two Engineering Contracts

The City Commissioners have accepted the contracts of the National Engineering Company of Austin to plan the relocation of power lines in the vicinity of Interstate Highway 10 within the city limits and to plan the best utilization of city-produced power.

The two contracts were accepted pending the clarification of certain points in the documents by city manager Jimmy H. Harris. The action was taken in the regular meeting of the City Commissioners Monday, December 4.

Cost of the relocation study for the powerlines spanning IH 10 will be paid by the state. The study is being made as a requirement of the state and federal government in conjunction with the construction work.

In the contract for the engineering study for the city owned utilities, a maximum charge of $4,000 was named. The study will enable the city to better plan for future residential and business sites in the area.

In other business the commissioners expressed their concern over the potential danger to the city utilities, namely the city water tanks, by the blasting that will be carried on by the contractors working on Interstate Highway 10. They feel that blasting on the stretch of proposed highway through the city limits could damage the tanks.

Sonoran's Brother Dies in San Angelo

Fred G. Smith, 75, a long-time San Angelo resident, died in St. John's Hospital Sunday, December 3.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Smith at Harris Avenue Baptist Church Tuesday, December 5. Burial was in Lawnhaven Memorial Gardens with the Rev. J. Earl Dunn officiating.

Mr. Smith was born in Fredericksburg on March 4, 1892 and was married to Onita Tankersley in Mertzon on December 28, 1919.

He was retired and had been a rancher and bricklayer. He was a member of the Harris Avenue Baptist Church and was a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Arthur W. Smith of El Paso and Owen R. Smith of San Angelo; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Bugby of Clairmont, California; three brothers, Will Smith and Bud Smith of Sonora and Delma Smith of San Antonio; three sisters, Mrs. Jap Holman, Mrs. Ralph Trainer and Mrs. H. L. Taylor, all of Sonora; and seven grandchildren.

Pallbearers included Harold Schwiening Jr., of Sonora.

Joe Lane, resident engineer for the project said that he was aware of the location of the tanks in relation to the proposed highway route, but anticipates no problems. He said, "We are aware of this possibility and will study it more closely when we begin construction on that particular stretch of highway."

A proposal for a universal plumbing ordinance was introduced to the commissioners by Jimmy Harris. He said that many municipalities were now adopting a universal code in order to accommodate the movement of industry from place to place without having to comply with varied codes.

A comparative study between the existing Sonora code and the proposed code is now being made.

New Highway Work Receives Approval

The Texas Highway Commission has approved construction of a 7.2-mile section of Interstate Highway 10 west of Sonora.

The project will extend from 7.5 miles west of Sonora at the Caverns road and extend eastward to 0.3 mile west of Sonora near the Sonora Veterinary Clinic.

Bids on the new stretch will probably be let in January and construction will take approximately one year to complete. The new stretch will join with the highway now under construction from the Caverns road westward to the Crockett County border. This portion is estimated to be about 60 per cent completed.

CITY WORKMEN, James McLaughlin and Doyle Crawford, work from a tractor bucket to place light bulbs in the city's Christmas decorations. Gene West is the driver of the tractor. Reliable sources said that Santa Claus is enroute from the North Pole at this time and will be in Sonora Saturday afternoon. Members of the volunteer fire department will escort him through town upon his arrival at about 5 p.m. Saturday.

Agricultural Cost Sharing Program Outlined for 1968

A handbook for the 1968 activities of the Agricultural Conservation Program has been published and is now being mailed to landowners in the county.

The conservation program is administered locally by the Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office here.

Through the program, Sutton County farmers and ranchers will share the cost of approved soil and water conservation practices with the federal government.

Conservation practices are required to meet certain standards outlined by the "conservation service" before payment can be made.

One aspect of the program allows the rancher, on a cost sharing basis, to establish permanent ground cover for soil protection. Restrictions in the program include suspension of grazing during the regular growing season except for certain types of grass.

Specifications for grass planting also include preparation of the land to be planted, type of seed used, and ratio of seed used per acre.

Cost sharing for this type of project amounts to a 50-50 sharing between the government and the landowner so long as the cost of preparing the land does not exceed $2.50 an acre and 50 per cent of the cost of seed does not exceed $7 an acre.

Other programs include those for improvement of established ground cover and control of various kinds of undesirable brush and cactus. Costs for most of these programs are also on a 50-50 basis with the limit of expenditure per acre depending on the method used to eliminate or control the growth of brush.

Fencing of land as a means of protecting grass cover is also included in the conservation program. Ranchers may erect permanent fences for this purpose under the provisions of the program provided the fences are used only for separating pastures and are not used to separate a pasture from a public road and other land not used for pasturage. The aim of this is to encourage deferred grazing.

Water conservation work is also outlined. Work in relation to construction of diversion terraces to divert excess water, construction of terraces to detain the flow of water and check soil erosion, and the construction of wells and pipelines for livestock water are also included in the program.

CINDERS

by Jim Barnett

In a recent meeting between the Odessa chamber of commerce and students from Odessa College, the college students told chamber members that 90 per cent of them would not remain in West Texas after graduation.

"Most of the students spoke of the inadequate opportunities for them in West Texas. One is reported to have said, "When you graduate from college you usually plan your future from there and it's usually in some town other than your home town."

Other students said they would go where there is the most opportunity.

The most "to-the-point" statement made by a student in reference to a community's opportunity said, "If Odessa does come up with something besides talk maybe I'll decide Odessa has the most opportunity."

Most all are reported to have said there was nothing for a young person to do.

If this is the feeling of the young people in a town the size of Odessa, what might the feeling be of the young people in the even smaller West Texas town?

Is there an answer, besides just talking?

Ten Sonora Gridders Win Honors In District Football Competition

Despite a loss in regional play, Sonora's Broncos continued their domination of District 8-A football with the selection of 10 players to the All-District roster.

Both end Nino Perez and halfback Ed Lee Renfro were named to the offensive and defensive first units. Renfro was not named to the All-District team last year but was named to the All-State team. He is a junior. Perez, a senior, completed his third year of varsity football.

Also named to the first offensive unit were Tom Trainer, Bill Green and Mike Gosney. Gosney and Trainer are seniors, Green, a junior. Gosney was named to the All-District team last year.

On the defensive first team are Monte Dillard, Royce Mears and Manuel Sanchez. Mears and Sanchez are seniors and Dillard is a junior. Mears made All-District last year.

Ernest Barrera and Monte Dillard were named to the second offensive team, and Tom Trainer, Mike Gosney and J. V. Cook were placed on the second defensive team.

Sonoran's Sister Dies in Accident

A Sonoran's sister was one of three school teachers killed in a trailer-truck-car accident November 30, in Pennsylvania.

Miss Madeline Bell of Maffey, Pennsylvania, sister of John Bell, was killed instantly in the accident as she and two other teachers were returning to their homes at the end of the school day.

Other survivors include her mother, Mrs. Grover Bell; three sisters, Miss Rellie Bell of Maffey, Mrs. Dorothy Hess of Chester, Penn. and Mrs. Verda Fryer of Baltimore, Maryland. She is also survived by two other brothers, Col. David Bell of Riverside, Calif., and Grover Bell Jr., of Marcus Hook, Penn.

Services were held Monday, December 4, in Maffey.

Both Cook and Barrera are seniors.

The Bronco team will have 14 returning regulars next year including three All-District players. The backfield will sport speed and power with Renfro at halfback and Erasmos Lumbreas at fullback, plus the versatility of David Wuest at quarterback. Robert Ramos and Robert Mata can also add speed to the backfield.

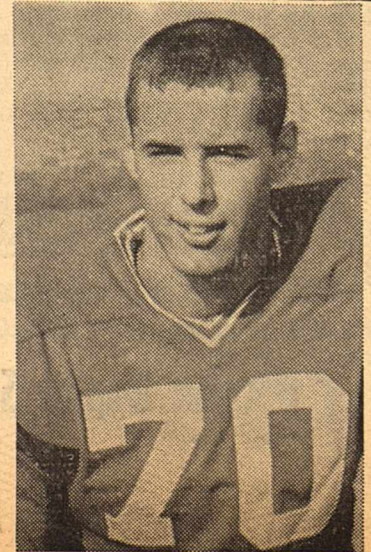

The line will have the weight and experience of Bill Green, Monte Dillard, Mitch Trainer, Marty Martinez, Armando Noriega, Barry Black and Mark Jacoby.

Sonoran Completes Infantry Training

Army Private Cornelio G. Hernandez, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Santos Hernandez, completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training December 1 at Ft. Polk, La. His last week of training was spent in guerrilla warfare exercises.

So You Want New Industry

Editor's note: This is the first editorial in a series of five emphasizing the development of industry. The series have been compiled by the Texas Industrial Commission and reflect the need of industry in small towns. Industrial development is important for the growth, added income and greater prosperity of a community.

Community betterment sounds like a catch-all phrase... and it is. Industrialists today are much like homeowners when selecting a new location. Amenities such as schools, hospitals, parks, and even symphonies are increasingly more important.

Industry today is more footloose than ever before, no longer tied so closely to natural resources, but rather to the consumer. Because of this, more and more industries are locating plants or expanding facilities in relatively small towns where living is satisfactory, where land costs and taxes are not so high, but where big markets can still be served.

There may be a dozen or a score of smaller communities in the same radius around a major market, each of which could serve an industry's purposes in terms of land costs, taxes, utilities and water, with very slight differences. So how does an industry choose? The same way that you would choose between homes of the same price: on the basis of attractiveness, cleanliness and neighborhood schools, churches, and other advantages. In the final analysis, it will be the total environment that your community offers that will make the difference between landing or losing new industry.

How does a community go about starting a program of betterment? Probably the best answer is that it starts with the formation of an Industrial Development Committee. This is usually a function of the Chamber of Commerce, with the support of the City Council. It must be a group of "doers".

At the outset it is important to realize that this is not an overnight project, or a one-month, or a year's project, but a continuing project that may show results in five years or maybe ten. Once an Industrial Development (Or I. D.) Committee has been formed, and the long term nature of the project is understood, look first to your downtown area. This is both the heart and the face of your town. Even though there may be a modern shopping center out on the highway, the out-of-town visitor will look at the downtown area first. He will associate it with the name of your town, and a drive along main street will make the most lasting impression he will receive.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce can, as a project, influence the owners of vacant buildings in the downtown area to let them fill the street windows of these buildings with merchandise and colorful advertising displays from various retail stores in the vicinity, on a seasonal basis. Chamber members can also get a volunteer work crew together to paint and spruce up vacant buildings that need it. Thus these buildings will appear occupied and attractive to visitors, and will serve a useful display function for downtown merchants.

Hopefully, with this type of activity going on under the guidance of the I. D. Committee, individual merchants and property owners will be influenced to make overdue renovations of their shops and offices. Wonders can be worked on the appearance of Main Street with some of the new-design aluminum facades that are available, some wider expanses of glass display window, paint, and perhaps a new front door.

Once organized activity is underway, the suggestions for facelift will be plentiful. Some other good ideas are: Remove old rotting ramshackle, deserted buildings that have served no useful function for years. In most Texas towns, you can see these old eyesores, often right on the main highway into town. Put these eyesores to work... as firewood.

Look at the entrances to your town on major highways, the railroad station or the air field. What sort of greeting have you put out for visitors? Has the sign marking your city limits been there for thirty years? Try making this city limits sign a bright, cheerful greeting. Ask someone from the garden club to volunteer maintenance of some landscaping at this point. Think of a welcoming slogan that means something about your city, that visitors will remember like "Smithville, the pride of all who live here".

There must be a long range plan for the city, with goals and working committees to see that these goals are pursued. Consideration must be given to zoning, adequate housing, recreation facilities, health and sanitation, educational facilities, police and fire protection. Certainly all of these things will be looked at carefully by an industry that considers locating in your community.

And are not all these ideas for betterment ideas that you would want to implement in your community anyway regardless of new industry? Of course, they are. The key to economic growth and development is community betterment; the key to community betterment is good leadership. This leadership probably exists in your community now, needing only to be organized and given some common goals and an outline on how others have done it.

The competition is rough, so the time to start is now.

The Devil's River Philosopher sez: Newspapers Accepting British Ads Better Demand Payment in Advance

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River broadens his field of worry, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: Recently I wrote you about a public opinion poll which went to great lengths to discover that most people say their number one problem is money, like it's always been and which I knew all along, but I forgot to add that I have taken a poll myself, mostly by wracking my brain, among the governments of the world and can report that money is their biggest problem too. You name me a single government, local, state or national, anywhere in the world, which isn't scraping the bottom of the barrel and looking out the cracks in the staves to find more money.

I didn't know how serious this was until I picked up a copy of a newspaper the other day and read that the British government had asked for a billion-dollar emergency loan from the International Monetary Fund to stave off bankruptcy. Came right out and said it was on the verge of ruin.

I don't know anything about the International Monetary Fund, if it makes emergency loans to individuals please send me the address, I'd qualify, but what I got to thinking about is, what happens when a country goes bankrupt?

Who re-possesses it. What do they do with it?

I know what a bank does when it has to foreclose on a farm, but what can you do with an entire country?

Furthermore, say England, despite its loans which for our part will have to be secured by a second lien or is it a third, still doesn't make it, goes broke, and its assets are put up for sale to pay off the creditors. Who's in the market for a busted country? The way countries are going nowadays, I can't think of many that could be called a sound financial investment.

I'll tell you, I don't think England is going under, but the mere idea of a country talking bankruptcy certainly gives a man something to speculate about.

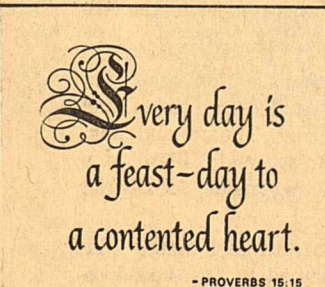

I can see the advertisement the creditors would run in the newspapers of the world, including The Devil in order to get complete coverage: "For Sale At Public auction to the highest bidder, the British Isles, entire contents to go, including the fixtures, such as Dukes, Earls, all sorts of Lords and other items too numerous to mention. Terms cash."

It's that last stipulation that's going to hamper the sale.

By the way, I believe if I was you, when they sent that ad in I'd ask for payment in advance.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

A PARSON'S EYE-VIEW OF SONORA

BY THE REV. ROSS T. WELCH

Sonora High School looks a bit like the orthopedic ward of a children's hospital these days with so many athletics on crutches.

Injuries not only left us scoreless in our last football game, it is having an adverse effect on starting the basketball season. However the boys are working out and showing a lot of drive, according to Coach Greenhaw.

First games are tomorrow (Friday) night with McCamey (there) and first home games are scheduled December 15.

The basketball team will get no rest during the Christmas holidays, but will play in the San Angelo Board of City Development Tournament, December 27-29. They plan to enter two other tournaments at Big Lake and Ozona.

It is still anyone's guess when the new Gymnasium will be ready for use. We hope that New Year's deadline still holds.

Had a very interesting letter last week from Betty Jack Cooper, a graduate student down in Tallahassee, Florida, who had just spent her first Thanksgiving away from Sonora. She had enjoyed an exciting first time experience on Thanksgiving—deep sea fishing in the Atlantic, but she could not prevent the homesickness showing through.

Betty Jack estimated she was about 1100 miles from Sonora, but indicated it sometimes seemed much farther. She will be home for Christmas in a few days.

I think I know a cure for her present homesickness—but I would hardly recommend it—spend a year on Attu. How many of you know where that is? And thereby hangs a tale.

I spent a very pleasant Christmas—as Christmas away from home go—at the Naval Air Station in Norfolk, Virginia, in 1944. Soon afterward my orders came to proceed to Davisville, R. I. to help outfit a Seabee battalion to go to an undesignated station in the Pacific.

I was to be not only the chaplain, but also the recreation officer. Not knowing in what kind of post we might be going to find ourselves, I tried to spend wisely the recreation allowance to provide athletic, recreational, musical and library facilities for a thousand men.

We received word of the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt aboard a special train as we were going across the northern part of the nation from Davisville to Seattle. Early in May we were crowded aboard a converted Liberty ship along with several other smaller contingents of troops and headed up the Sound.

When we reached the open ocean, it was anything but pacific. Most of the men were really boys and had never been to sea. Many of them became deathly sick and the stench was horrible. The ever-present threat of submarine attack was accentuated by frequent 'abandon ship drills,' when we had to put on our life saving gear and assume our battle station.

There seemed to be no question in anyone's mind as to who should be the last to get into a lifeboat in case of an emergency. Fresh in everyone's memory was the story of the heroic chaplains who had gone down with their torpedoed ship in the Atlantic.

We had Mother's Day services in the mess of that storm-tossed ship. A Catholic chief with a beautiful Irish tenor voice sang all the words he could put together of 'Mother McCree.' It was not what I would call a happy Mother's Day.

Beautiful daffodils had been for sale on nearly every street corner in Seattle when we left, but we found the Aleutian Islands still in the grip of winter. The day after we arrived it came a howling 'williwaw' to serve as a reminder through the brief ensuing summer of what awaited us the following interminable winter.

Our unit, the 149th Construction Battalion was out there for one purpose, to pave the air strip on Attu. The war ended before that task was completed, and those who had enough Brownie points went home. I remained until the following February.

It was a long and lonely ten months. We lived from one mail plane to the next. At first we were kept very busy supervising the Seabee library, putting out a mimeographed newspaper supervising the athletic and recreational programs (we had movie theaters and bowling alleys and hobby shops); in addition to several religious services every week.

But, one by one, the facilities closed as the personnel shrank and key persons in my staff left for home. There had been twelve or fifteen chaplains in all branches of the services when we arrived at Attu. I was the only Protestant chaplain the last few months, serving all branches.

I had a commanding officer who was allergic to chaplains. The only sincere compliment I ever remember his paying me was after I had served some candy I had made in the officers mess. He said, "If you ever decide to quit preaching, you can sure make a good living making candy."

If I could get Wanda Cahill to sell it for me, I would be tempted.

Bob Hardgrave reported several head of sick cattle, one dead. The last report, they seemed to be improving, and Bob gave much credit to our local veterinarians for quickly discovering the antibiotics that were effective.

The Christmas cards had started arriving. One of the first was from Canada and was in French.

No parlevous Frances. When Claude Brown came over from McCamey Sunday night to speak at the Methodist Church, he stopped at the Big Tree for a cup of coffee, and there he ran into long-time friends—the Frenches.

Thanks to Edwin Sawyer, I had the privilege of presenting a gift of shelled pecans to our district superintendent. I do not know who took the pecans off my front porch (in the shell), but it worked out all right. Edwin felt sorry for me and replaced them with shelled pecans.

I have heard all my life about getting one's 'hackles up.' I have just discovered what it means. The dog tread my cat, Siambur, the other day and the hair stood up in a windrow right down his spine. I decided he had his 'hackles up.'

There is so much time during the year when there are excuses (however legitimate) for not attending church. There isn't really very much to stand in your way from now until Easter. Go to the church of your choice every Sunday

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

By Vern Sanford
 There is a food problem for wildlife just as there is for humans. Perhaps the most serious right now is providing food for deer. Their population is increasing. Despite very liberal laws, hunters haven't been able to do much about reducing the herd. Large areas of Texas which normally support both livestock and wildlife have had but little rain. Drouth has affected them. In agricultural areas, there has been heavy spring depredation and it is likely to get worse as the hot, dry weather continues. This fall it may be serious.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department now is looking for some practical plant that can be used to increase or supplement deer food supplies. Dan Lay, one of the top biologists operating in East Texas, has been on the search for such a plant for several years. Deer population has increased materially in the piney woods country, but at the same time, considerable land has been utilized for other purposes. For instance, two major lakes already there and another one under construction have wiped out something like a quarter of a million acres of deer range. Right now Lay is experimenting with yaupon, dwarf liveoak and Japanese honeysuckle. In the past four years he has researched more than 20 species of browse plants. He has found that a yaupon orchard, properly managed, will yield a ton of excellent browse per acre. Production of Japanese honeysuckle can exceed that figure. Yaupon is an evergreen of the holly family. It is a branched shrub, with white-cluster blossoms that produce small berries, also good as bird food. Its growth, however, is slow. Japanese honeysuckle has a vigorous, twining, woody vine, spreading 20 feet or more, with long-petal flowers. Deer are particularly fond of this plant as a food. Both plants are fine for East Texas, where there is abundant rainfall. But in the Edwards Plateau and the Trans-Pecos areas, deer browse is another problem. Fortunately, many of the landowners, particularly those who lease shooting privileges, are willing to feed their deer as they do livestock. Some even go so far as to plant winter oats and turnip patches.

Since more and more landowners are recognizing that wildlife can be a crop, they are taking steps to insure that wildlife gets enough food. Quite a bit of experimental work already has been done on the Kerr management areas, northwest of Kerrville. Here, there are pens with high fences, where deer, cattle and goats share a common area. From these experiments, information is passed on to landowners.

National Firm with Sonora Office Elects New President in Tulsa

Harlan T. Snider has been named president of Red Barn Chemicals, Inc. in Shreveport, Louisiana. He succeeds J. C. Berry, who founded the company twenty years ago and will retire on December 17, 1967. Snider was previously marketing services director of Sunray DX Oil Company of Tulsa, Oklahoma. The headquarters for Red Barn, which became a subsidiary of Sunray DX in October of last year, will be transferred from Shreveport, Louisiana to Tulsa, December 15.

Red Barn Chemicals, Inc., markets fertilizers, ag-chemicals, and animal products to farmers and ranchers through some 100 retail outlets in the states of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. It also operates five manufacturing and formulating plants. In Sonora, Red Barn operates a retail outlet. The local manager is Bill Fish.

Texas Water Rights Commission To Distribute Required Record Forms

The Texas Water Rights Commission has announced it has begun distribution of reporting forms required by the Water Rights Adjudication Act of 1967.

Persons using public surface water in Texas for any purpose other than for domestic or livestock uses without a permit are required by recent legislative action to file a sworn statement with the Texas Water Rights Commission for recognition of their claim. This must be done no later than September 1, 1969.

The Water Rights Adjudication Act, effective August 23, 1967, provides that all claims of water rights must be recorded with the Water Rights Commission. These claims must be valid under existing law and will be limited to actual use. All water rights are to be adjudicated and administered by the Commission "to the end that the surface water resources of the State may be put to their greatest beneficial use," to quote the new law.

This act will not affect users of ground water. Users of surface water for domestic or livestock purposes only also will not be affected. The new law applies to and may limit claims to riparian waters, waters diverted or im-available public waters must be appropriated to individuals based on priority, necessity and legal right. The Water Rights Adjudication Act is designed to protect the rightful users of public waters from waste and unlawful users. The act empowers the Commission to adjudicate water rights in the State. Adjudication of a stream may be initiated upon the Commission's own motion, by a petition signed by ten or more claimants of water rights on the same stream, or upon a petition by the Texas Water Development Board. The recording forms may be obtained free of charge from the Texas Water Rights Commission, P. O. Box 12386, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Card of Thanks

It is difficult to find words to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us in the recent sorrow of the death of my dear Mother. To each of you who remembered us in your prayers, for the beautiful floral offerings, and to those who sent cards, memorials, and food, we thank you for the calls both local and long distance, and those who did other kind and thoughtful things. We especially thank Dr. Browne for the help he gave us during that time. We also wish to thank Sheriff Herman Moore and Alfred Cooper for their services. May we say thank you from the bottom of our hearts. May God bless each of you, Frank, Nancy and Sherrill

Better Books Equal Better Children

When children grow up with books, books become their friends, and important to them.

Parents can't begin too early to think about books for their children. A one-year-old child delights in recognizing familiar things in books, says Jennie Kitching, extension specialist.

Selection of books for preschoolers depends on their age. For example, two and three year olds need clear, simple pictures and stories geared to his interests and to activities he knows and enjoys.

At this age, he begins to gain a liking for literature Miss Kitching says, and stories should have good plots and reasonable characters.

Four and five year olds are becoming increasingly imaginative and curious about the world around them. Their attention span lengthens from about 15 minutes and their vocabulary is increasing.

Thus the book can be longer and the story more complicated with special interest in adventure, animals and nature stories; stories about activities like his own and those of people he knows; stories about transportation; and books about the way things work, Miss Kitching says.

Margaret Sanchez Feted with Shower

Miss Margaret Sanchez was honored with a wedding shower at St. Ann's Catholic Church Sunday, December 3. A color theme of gold and white was used.

Hostesses included Meses. Lázaro Martinez, Frutos Chavarria, Joe F. Sanchez, Ernesto Castro, Jessie Favila, John Cantu of San Angelo, Juan Favila of Eldorado and Miss Anabelia Samaniego.

Out of town guests included Meses. Maximo Querro of San Angelo, Virginia Flores, Dan Flores Sr., Vivian Vasquez of Arlington and Miss Hilda Guerro.

Miss Sanchez will marry Hugo Trevino of Monterrey, Mexico, in ceremonies at St. Ann's Church, December 23.

Guests were greeted by Miss Isabel Chavarria, Miss Mary Favila of Eldorado and Miss Sanchez.

How To Become A Christian

Dear Catholic Friend, Let me answer a few of your questions asked in your letter. You ask how do we know anything about the bible 1500 years before Luther. Answer: We know that the book of Revelations is symbolic history of the future, as given by Christ to John, on the island of Patmos. It was future to the church in John's time of writing, but is past history, in part, to us now because history has proven everything that John has spoken up to the millennial years, Rev. 20:1-3. We have history and the Revelations of John to know what went on in the world 1500 years before Luther.

You say, what about the people who cannot read in many parts of the world. Answer: We take the word to them, and preach it to them. Christ commanded us to do so, Matt. 28:19; Mark 16:15; Luke 24:47. Paul said, 1 Corinthians 1:21, "for after that, in the wisdom of God, the world knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe."

You say, where in the bible do I read that reading is the way to heaven? Answer: I do not claim that reading is the only way to heaven but it is one of the ways Christ has commanded us to use

Holiday Workers Need SS Cards

Students and others who will be working during the Christmas holidays are reminded that they will need a social security card. The number is used to keep a record of the worker's earnings. The individual earnings record is used to determine benefits in the event of death, disability, or retirement. To avoid error, the worker should have his employer copy the name and number directly from the card. Only one social security number is issued during the person's lifetime.

Housewives and others who have married and changed their names should get a replacement card showing their new names before going to work.

Those who have lost their cards may request a duplicate at the social security office located at 3000 West Harris, San Angelo, or who will be at the County Judge's Office here Friday, December 8, between 8:30 and 10 a.m.

A double ring ceremony in Harlingen's Methodist Church united Mary Schwiening Johnson and Harold Neil Wilson of Davenport, Iowa, in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Grimes November 28. Mrs. Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schwiening and Mrs. Alfred Schwiening. The couple will reside in Mathis and Sonora.

Letter To The Editor

Editor's note: The following is a letter from Mrs. Johnny Wright describing small town life in the interior of Bolivia, where Mr. Wright works as petroleum engineer for the Parker Drilling Company. He is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. J. B. Wright.

Santa Cruz is in the edge of the tropics, a frontier town and until ten years ago was isolated from the rest of the world. Now it is like a bustling town of the early wild west. Planes land here now and a road of sorts has been opened from Cochabamba over the mountains and people are coming in. This town and surrounding area is being developed through aid of the U.S. government and others who are trying to tap the vast resources in this undeveloped country of Bolivia.

Here is potential wealth in mining, agriculture, cattle and petroleum but due to the isolation of Bolivia, which has no outlet to the sea, and is bound by mountains, swamps, rapids and falls in the rivers, the country remains an area yet to be exploited.

Ten years ago in Santa Cruz there were no more than 40 telephones. There are about 4,000 today. There was not one paved road or street in Santa Cruz until last year, when paving of the streets in town was begun. The roads are very bumpy and there are deep bogs when it rains. At present only landrovers and jeeps are practical because of the condition of the roads. Some people ride horses or ox-drawn carts. Inflation and fluctuating prices are a problem, as is most everywhere these days.

Santa Cruz is on the edge—the jumping off place—of a vast unexplored and undeveloped region, the tropical lowlands, which lay to the North and East of Santa Cruz. The town was founded by the Spaniards in 1595 but by 1954 the population was no more than 25,000. In 1965 it was about 72,000 and now it is estimated at 95,000. One can see the growth since the isolation is over now that planes land here and there is a road into Santa Cruz. It is a 310 mile road over the mountains from Cochabamba which is paved except for 20 miles over a pass about two-thirds of the way where clouds roll over the top of the mountain range and cover the road.

It was an odd sight our arriving in Santa Cruz. We could barely see from the plane, Indian huts all along the way many miles from nowhere on level places high in the mountains. These isolated Indians seem to be hundreds of miles from any other civilization. When flying low coming into Santa Cruz we could see Indian huts (apparently made of mud), horses, cows—all surrounded by a rock wall and many palm trees.

The Indian markets which have the produce of the area, are interesting. Meat hangs up in the open covered with flies. There are fruits, vegetables, nuts and a variety of other items unknown to me.

Water is very scarce and is the main factor of most disease here. The stores, restaurants and houses are open, that is, they are not screened and flies and mosquitoes have the right-of-way, just as the jeeps and landrovers have the right-of-way in town. I'm sure that the flies and mosquitoes are not more harmful here than anywhere else, it's just that no one seems concerned about them.

It is about 85 to 95 degrees now as summer is coming on. The streets here remind one of the early west in the U.S. with roofed sidewalks. In some places the streets are blocked by Indian markets. The climate in Santa Cruz area is very hot except when the dust-laden "surazo" wind blows from the south during the dry season and piles deep sand dunes on the brick sidewalk.

There is a fine English school here—Santa Cruz Cooperative—school for the American children. The school was financed by Gulf Oil Company and Parker Drilling Company. It is much in contrast to the school systems of the Bolivians.

I know that when we return to the U.S. we will return with a more appreciative attitude toward our country. We are apt to criticize our national characteristics and shortcomings but whatever these may be—no land on earth offers greater opportunities, greater freedom, or more of the comforts of living for rich or poor a like. We should be jealously proud of our citizenship and our institutions.

Due to the petroleum production here the U.S. is helping to make better living for the people of Bolivia.

We have two daughters, Lisa, age 7 years and Kimberly, age 4 years. In 8 months they have learned to speak Spanish perfectly. Johnny is a petroleum engineer and is gone much of the time. He helps train the Bolivians in the petroleum field.

CAT OR KITTEN?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

If someone asked you which you would rather have for a pet, a leopard or a pussycat—you would probably think they were crazy. Why? Because to you a pussycat is a soft cuddly animal—a leopard, a ferocious beast of prey. But suppose when you were small, someone had taught you that both animals are similar? Then, the question would not seem absurd. So much depends upon how we've been taught. A mistaken interpretation of a particular word can distort our thinking. Take for instance, the word Christian. Some people think of a Christian as a fanatical do-gooder. Others see him as a hypocrite, praying loudly on Sundays while ignoring religious responsibility. Still others, know of the spiritual riches to be found in following the examples of Jesus. Your church teaches and interprets God's truths. The spiritual values you learn there can illuminate your entire life.

Sutton Eligible For Federal Loans

Farmers Home Administration emergency loans to help farmers recover from natural disasters totaled $94,622,000 during the fiscal year 1967, secretary of agriculture Orville L. Freeman reported.

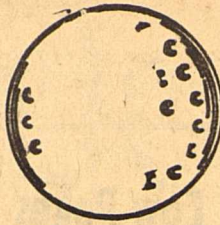

An accounting for the year ended June 30, showed that 22,174 farmers and ranchers throughout the Nation obtained loans from FHA to revive operations damaged by storms, floods, drought, freezes and other hardships imposed by weather.

Demands for the program were less than in fiscal 1966 when an all-time record $100,414,795 was loaned to 24,371 farm and ranch operators, including those who sustained heavy damage in the Gulf area's Hurricane Betsy of 1965.

During the fiscal year 1967, the secretary of agriculture designated 1,311 counties in 41 States to authorize the making of emergency loans to eligible farmers and ranchers. Among those counties in Texas designated are Crockett, I-rión, Reagan, Schleicher, Sterling, Sutton and Tom Green. The program provides a standby source of emergency credit for farmers and ranchers who cannot get credit elsewhere.

Emergency loans carry an interest rate of three percent. Repayment schedules vary according to purposes for which funds are advanced.

Have you ever heard of a game called "paganica"? Well, historians think that our present day to purposes for which funds are advanced.

Applications for emergency loans are received through more than 1,600 county offices of the Farmers Home Administration throughout the country. Information on eligibility may be had at any county FHA office. The San Angelo office services this seven county area. It is located in Room 510, 7 West Twohig Building.

game of golf developed in Scotland around 1100 from this Roman game. The Romans occupied parts of England and Scotland around 100 B.C. to 400 A.D. and they played this game in the open countryside. The game was played with a bent stick and a leather ball stuffed with feathers.

Next time you hit a ball and it doesn't go as far as it should just stop and remember the Romans and their leather ball stuffed with feathers. They must have felt miserable.

Your Questions On the Draft . . .

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth St., Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—I'm a college student. My draft board deferred me in Class II-S Nov. 25, 1966, until Nov. 1, 1967. I've been told that, because of this, if my wife and I should have a child, I could not be deferred for the child because I was placed in Class II-S. Is this correct?

A—It is not. The board took classification action before July 1, 1967. If the board takes action after July 1, 1967, to classify you again in Class II-S, then you may not be deferred thereafter in Class III-A as a father.

Q—I'm 27 years old and was deferred in Class III-A as the sole support of my invalid mother. My mother died and I was placed in Class I-A. What are my chances of being called?

A—At present monthly draft quotas are being filled from men 19 through 25, the oldest first. If calls increase, and there are not enough men of the younger ages, available men 26 to 35 will be called, the youngest first. The Department of Defense may specify a particular age group, but isn't doing so now.

Q—Is there any written material available about appeals?

A—A pamphlet, "Taking Appeals from Selective Service Classifications," is available without charge at State Selective Service Headquarters, or at draft boards.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
I would like to thank your sheriff.

We were on our way home last week and stopped in Sonora for a drive-in. My wife laid her wallet on the counter and momentarily forgot it while she carried the malts out to the car. Two boys picked up the wallet and made off with it.

Needless to say, we were pretty upset. A young lady parked beside us had seen the boys take the wallet and pointed out the direction they had gone. A friendly drug-gist put us in touch with the sheriff who immediately came to our aid. Within 5 minutes, he had the boys rounded up, and my wife's wallet was returned.

Much of the time we take our law enforcement officers for granted, but I hope the citizens of Sonora know that they have a courteous, helpful and efficient lawman in the person of the sheriff. At least, that's my opinion of him! Gratefully, Nicholas W. Classen P.S. My wife was asking for it

Complete Rest Prescribed to Prevent Complications Caused by Virus Mumps

Mumps is a virus infection of the parotid gland, one of the salivary glands, immediately below the ear lobe and behind the angle of the jaw, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

The best sign of mumps is a tender, smooth firm swelling that covers the corner of the jawbone where it turns upward toward the ear, the magazine reports.

Mumps in a child is usually only mildly incapacitating and moderately uncomfortable. Many of cases in children are so mild as to go unnoticed by parents. A mild medication for fever and the discomfort of mild headache and muscle aches may be used as needed.

In the teen-ager or adult mumps is more serious. The virus is more likely to involve other areas such as the pancreas, and to result in nausea, abdominal pains and severe food or fluid intolerances. The tendency for mumps with its attendant pain to settle in the ovary or testicle is well known. The chance of sterility is highly and emotionally overrated, however. Physicians usually prescribe complete bed rest for adults with mumps. Greater physical activity brings greater chance of complications.

Mumps is not excessively contagious and almost direct contact with the afflicted—such as drinking from the same cup or being sneezed at—is required to contract the disease. One can get mumps twice, but it is a rare occurrence. Most cases of "mumps of the second time" were the result of previous misdiagnosis of swollen neck glands from an infected throat. Odds are about one in 400 of having bona fide mumps as a repeat illness. Mumps cannot be prevented at present, but recent research promises a vaccine soon.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Pay the victim of Crime?

What happened to the holdup man who slugged the grocer? He went to prison, where society paid for his room, board, clothing, medical care—and education as well.

What happened to the grocer who was slugged? He went to the hospital, where he paid all his own expenses—and wondered whether society was giving him a square deal.

Vignettes like this have ignited a good deal of interest in the idea of paying compensation to the victims of violent crime. Following the lead of New Zealand and England, a number of states in this country have either enacted or are actively considering such plans.

The humanitarian appeal is plain. All too often, the criminal's victim has no insurance to cover this kind of a situation. As for damages, the chances of collecting anything are pretty dim. Thus he may suffer not only the physical ordeal of the crime itself but a financial ordeal as well.

On the other hand, the compensation idea has drawn some serious objections.

For one thing, the government does not undertake to compensate lots of other victims—just as innocent as the victims of crime. The person struck by lightning, however unlucky, must generally fend for himself without a government check.

Will the compensation idea turn out to be a boon or a boondoggle? So far, we have heard the voices of both optimism and pessimism. Soon, with several plans already in operation, we shall be hearing the most persuasive voice of all—the voice of experience.

Texas Highway Safety Engineered Into State Roads. New and Old

Safety is the number one element which goes into every highway designed by the Texas Highway Department.

Yet, the average driver is unaware of many of the safeguards which are designed to prevent accidents and, in cases of driver error, to make accidents "softer."

Some of the safety features incorporated into highway design standards are obvious: divided lanes, wider lanes, median rails and fences, paved shoulders, striped edges and wider bridges.

Others are not quite as easy to discern, but they're there.

For example, with the advent of lower and sleeker automobiles, the Highway Department modified signing and striping for better visibility. No passing zone highway stripes are now longer (from nine to 15 feet) and signs are positioned higher.

Signs also have been reflectorized for better night visibility.

In designing for safety, highway engineers try to keep a minimum of objects above the surface of the ground along the highways, and potential obstructions as far as possible from the traffic lanes.

Engineers also have designed highways that "sing" when wheels stray outside the proper lane, electrically heated bridges that banish dangerous ice in freezing weather, and grade separations, interchanges and median dividers to prevent head-on collision-course crashes.

Breakaway signs, developed through a joint project of the Highway Department and the Texas Transportation Institute at Texas A & M, are one of the newest safety devices on Texas highways. In tests, a car traveling 60 mph crashed into a large breakaway sign and received only bumper, hood and headlight damage. Upon the car's impact, the sign post gave way permitting the driver to bring the car under control and to a safe stop.

In an effort to safety-orient the light standards installed prior to 1963, the Highway Department developed a cast aluminum adaptor. It is mounted on the concrete founation, and the steel transformer base is then replaced on top of the adaptor.

On impact, the adaptor shears in the same manner as the cast aluminum base mounting.

High-level floodlighting, currently being developed by the Highway Department and the Texas Transportation Institute, is designed to give night motorists a panoramic view of expressway interchanges.

In the first test of high-level floodlighting at the Interstate Highway 35W and IH 820 interchange in Fort Worth, a 100-foot tower was erected with ten 1000-watt floodlights mounted on top of a circular frame. The floodlights provided a visibility range of 950 feet.

Highway engineers believe that such panoramic lighting at expressway interchanges will give drivers time to make decisions, to react to merging traffic or to slow down for exit ramps.

Another example of highway safety is the installation of red reflectors on many Interstate and other controlled access highways which warn drivers that they are going the wrong way.

A broken red line of reflectors indicates to the driver that he is traveling the wrong way on a freeway. A red arrow pointing at the driver from the pavement as he begins to enter a freeway ramp indicates that he is entering the wrong way.

These reflectors, in extensive use for about a year, are red on one side and white on the other. A driver going in the right direction sees the white side. A wrong-way driver sees the red.

In addition to designing for highway safety, the Highway Department is upgrading the safety features on 2,000 miles of highways each year. Between $30 and $40 million is spent every year for this purpose.

Through its 50-year history, the Highway Department has built a 68 thousand-mile highway system second to none in the country.

But, this isn't enough. Through day-to-day research and testing the Texas Highway Department continues its work to make Texas highways better—and safer.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Checks pour through our banking system at the fantastic rate of 17,000,000 per business day. Considering this figure, the process works with remarkable smoothness.

But every so often, into this vast machinery, someone drops a small monkey wrench. Like a bad check. What are the legal consequences?

For one thing, you are committing a crime if you buy something with a check that you know is bad. The essence of the crime is the obtaining of merchandise by false pretenses. For, by handing over the check, you are implying—falsely—that you believe the check is good.

But intent is a crucial point. Suppose the check is bad only because of an innocent mistake you made in keeping your checkbook. Then, with no intent to defraud, you would not have committed a criminal offense.

Likewise, in most cases, it is not a crime to give a post-dated check that eventually turns out to be bad. At the time you gave the check, you may well have had an honest expectation that it would be good when the due date arrived.

What if your check bounces not because of insufficient funds but because of a clerical error by the bank? Assuming this casts a reflection on your honesty, would you have a right to collect damages from the bank?

Ordinarily, yes. A check is your instruction to the bank to pay a certain sum out of your account. If the bank negligently fails to follow your instructions, it may be held liable for the consequences.

However, it may be difficult for you—as a private individual—to prove that you suffered any measurable harm. Bouncing a business check may really hurt the company's credit rating, but bouncing a personal check usually causes nothing worse than a few moments of embarrassment.

Nor can you blame the bank for rejecting a check which you yourself made out wrong.

In one case, a man complained that his check was bounced "even though I had plenty of money in the bank." But it turned out that his money was in a savings, not a checking, account—hence was not subject to withdrawal by check at all.

Denying his claim for damages, the court said the bank did not have to follow instructions which the depositor had no right to give.

Medical Folklore Usually Wrong

While much of medical folklore is now obsolete and largely forgotten, there are still many completely erroneous beliefs about their health held by sizeable numbers of people in our so-called age of enlightenment.

TODAY'S HEALTH GUIDE, the American Medical Association's manual of health information for the American family, points out that grandma is not always wrong in her concepts of health. But she often is wrong. The book lists some of the common misconceptions about health—

- Eating between meals is always harmful (untrue).
- Bad breath means disease (not so).
- Milk should not be taken at the same time as sour fruits (not so).
- Proteins and carbohydrates should not be eaten at the same meal (incorrect).
- Daily bowel movements are necessary for health (untrue).
- Pain in the back must indicate kidney disease (incorrect).
- Pain in the abdomen means an overloaded stomach (wrong).
- A laxative is good for abdominal pain (it is sometimes dangerous).
- Food kept in an open tin can is necessarily poisonous (not if properly refrigerated).

- Scales from scarlet fever and measles spread the disease (nose and throat secretions actually do).
- Sewer gas makes people sick (no—it's just unpleasant).

- Pimples and boils indicate bad blood (they are due to infections).
- Boric acid strengthens the eyes (it does not).
- Fried and highly seasoned foods are harmful (not in moderation).
- A cold can be broken up or cured (it cannot).
- You feed a cold and starve a fever (no).
- Eye muscle exercises will eliminate the need for glasses (a dangerous fallacy).
- Vegetarianism is good for health (it simply makes good nutrition more difficult). 10/30/67

DPS Establishes New Office Here

The Texas Department of Public Safety has established a new office in Sonora. The office will be for administering drivers license tests in compliance with new laws passed by the last legislature.

Personnel in the new office will be DPS officer Ray Garnett and Mrs. Donald Jones. Garnett said that he would travel to various licensing stations to administer road tests and Mrs. Jones would work full time in the office here processing applications for duplicate and renewed licenses.

Garnett added that the new licenses would bear the picture of the driver on the front. Both he and Mrs. Jones will take pictures of applicants for licenses.

He reminds new applicants that proof of age, name and place of birth is required now before license can be issued.

He said, "The only identification that reflects this information is a birth certificate or a military discharge form."

The temporary office will be located in the County Judge's office in the courthouse but will be moved when facilities can be found, Garnett said.

He will administer road tests here on the first, third and fifth Mondays of each month. Other portions of the driving test can be taken at any time, he said.

Janice Sutton Wins Recognition At Wool Contest

Janice Sutton's entry of a tangerine sleeveless dress won recognition for her in the Make It Yourself With Wool contest held in Eldorado December 9.

Other Sonora contestants and their entries included Shelia Alexander with a rust colored jumper and print blouse in autumn colors, June Alexander with a teal blue low waisted dress with pleated back, Beverly Trees with a red copper toned plaid suit, Betty Hipp with a low-waisted plaid dress and Martha Simmons with a gold tweed coat dress.

Activities included judging in the morning, a tour of the woolen mills, luncheon, afternoon rehearsal and the fashion show.

Firemen's Corner

Mrs. E. L. Harrell hosted the November 28 auxiliary meeting held at the fire hall. The committee doing research on the scholarship fund requested that a short business meeting be held. Mrs. Kyle Donaldson, president, called the meeting to order.

The committee chairman, Mrs. Billy Frank Turney, gave a report on the details that she, Mrs. Leon Neely and Mrs. Louis Olenick had worked out. Mrs. Turney also told the auxiliary members that she had met with Jerry Shurley and he advised her on the best way to handle the account and just how to go about establishing the fund.

After the call meeting bridge and 42 were played. The winners in bridge were high, Mrs. Lester Byer; low, Mrs. Billy Frank Turney; and grand slam, Mrs. Buddy Brown. The winners in 42 were high, Mrs. Kyle Donaldson; low, Mrs. Jack Hite and 84, Mrs. Louis Olenick.

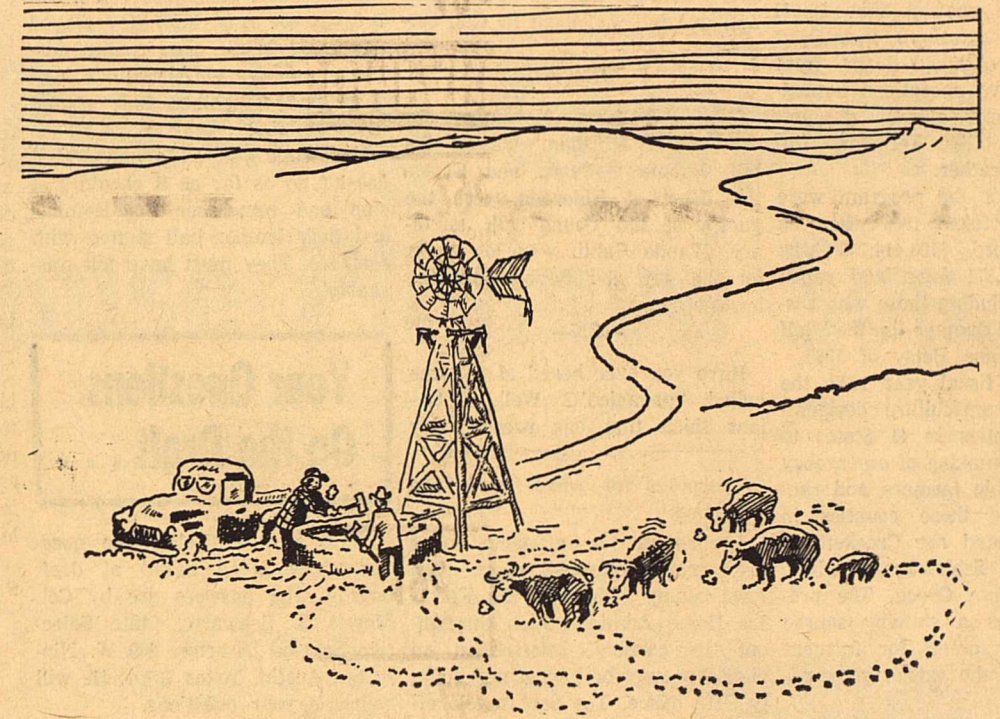

Chips, dips, cake, punch and coffee were served to fifteen members and one guest, Mrs. W. O. Crites.

Mrs. Jimmy R. Harris will host the Christmas party.

The tickets for the New Year's eve dance which will be held in the 4-H barn December 30 and are now available from any member of the fire department.
