Last Wednesday was Sonora High School's first awards day, and it seems fitting that the students who excelled in study received recognition for their efforts. And recognition coming in general assembly, probably meant more to the students than had it come in front of a group of adults. The efforts these students made to achieve high standings in their class are the same efforts that take people far in the world.

Too often a student fails to learn the most basic thing of high school learning—how to study. We take pleasure in congratulating each of the Sonora students that received awards in general assembly May 15.

If you have hay fever it wasn't your day at Lions club Tuesday. E. B. Keng, soil conservation technician, brought a display of typical plants to be found in and around Sonora. The group of well over 100 species almost filled the stage, and Keng called the common and scientific name of each plant as if it were his only child. He also told the audience of Lions the food value and good and bad characteristics of each plant.

Keng said many Sonorans were spotting what they believed to be new plants in this area. He said actually there were few, if any, new plants here. The extra rain this spring had encouraged heavy growth, and plants that usually grow inconspicuously are now reaching large proportions. He invited questions about plants from home owners and ranchers who spotted what seemed to be a new variety of plant growing in Sutton County.

Dr. Scholl, the foot doctor, died recently. Besides leaving a variety of compounds for tired, sore, uncomfortable feet the doctor left these words of wisdom: "Early to bed, early to rise. Work like hell, and advertise!"

NATURE'S STORE

Nature keeps a one-price store. She lets you take what you want, but you pay the price, and often you leave that which is indefinitely more valuable than what you take.

There are men who spend the greater part of their lives in accumulating money, intending someday to settle down and enjoy life. To their great disappointment, they find they have lost their ability to enjoy many things which appealed to them when they were young.

They are past learning to enjoy books, travel, art, or music because their sense of beauty and appreciation has been dulled from lack of use.

Friends are lost in the same way. The faculty of making friends has been expended in the making of money and the like.

The way to enjoy life is to live as we go along. Being "too busy" to cultivate friendships is a sad mistake.

The simple act of writing a cheery note or making a pleasant telephone call to a sick friend will most surely result in everlasting respect and affection.

Men think they are making a great success of life because they are getting ahead faster than their neighbors. But they are losing something far more precious than they are gaining.

The trouble with a lot of us is that we want to accomplish many things, but aren't willing to pay the price.

If life were a game in which the rewards were handed out on a silver platter to anyone who happened to ask for them, lots of people would sleep in rose beds. But, unfortunately, we have to reckon with the thorns.

We get mostly what we go after—if we go after it hard enough.

Devil's Want Ads Bring FAST Results

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ

Now Ranchers Will Know Reason For Being Ignored In Presidential Race

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River speaks up, more or less, for ranchers this week.

Dear Editor:

I have been following the presidential nomination races in every newspaper that turns up out here and have failed to find a single candidate who's making any special play for the ranch vote, and I think I've figured out why.

The trouble with us ranchmen is there aren't enough of us to be counted a major voting bloc anymore, but there'll still too many of us to be called a disadvantaged minority group. So, nobody pays any attention to us. The steps to my back porch can collapse and you won't hear a voice raised in protest.

Obviously, there's too much city-ism and not enough country-ism in this guilt-ridden country.

On top of that, there are people here trying to make it even harder on the rancher.

Only last night I read an article agitating for more laws making it illegal for anybody to sell anything below his cost. It's unfair competition, the argument goes, for a big outfit to sell a few items below cost to lure customers away from small outfits that can't afford the practice.

Maybe so, I don't know about that, that's out of my field, but have you ever stopped to think what this would do to farmers and ranchers?

You pass a bill saying it's against the law for me to sell my livestock for less than it cost me to produce and it'll put me out of business.

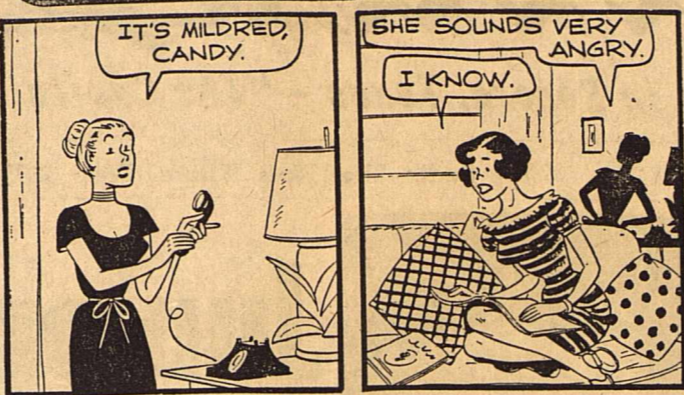

Ranchers and farmers have got to fight this movement with all they've got. It'd wreck American agriculture. It's bad enough to work all year on ranching or a crop and sell for less than cost, but not to be able to sell at all would be disastrous.

I sometimes think what this country needs is a law limiting the number of laws that can be passed.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Splitting Heirs

The contesting of a will is one of the more exciting forms of courtroom melodrama. To the spectator, and to the newspaper reader, it may offer scandal, emotion, and suspense.

But to those who are involved in a will contest, the experience may be both grim and sorrowful.

CLASSIC GUIDELINES

If I can stop one heart from breaking I shall not live in vain.

—EMILY DICKINSON

Use this preventive to keep from inflicting two maladies on those who are near and dear to you: Heartbreaks and Heartaches. Heartbreaks can be fatal. Heartaches are serious, too. They sap the victim's body of its strength, the victim's mind of its vigor.

All too often, a court battle over the estate of a deceased has split once devoted families into bitter enemies.

The reason is that the issues in such a battle ("undue influence"? "mental incompetence"?) are usually issues that touch the very vitals of family life.

Did Father love one daughter more than the other? Did a son pamper him in his old age out of kindness, or out of a secret mercenary motive? Was his brother just a friendly advisor, or a financial master?

Obviously a will contest is worth preventing, if only to avoid washing the family's dirty linen in court.

The best way is to take certain precautions at the time the will is written—precautions which a skilled lawyer can tailor to fit the individual situation.

For example, it may be wise to avoid making unusual, "unnatural" bequests. Thus, a will that left more to a man's stepchildren than to his own children not only lead to a court fight but also helped convince a jury that the man was incompetent when he made the will.

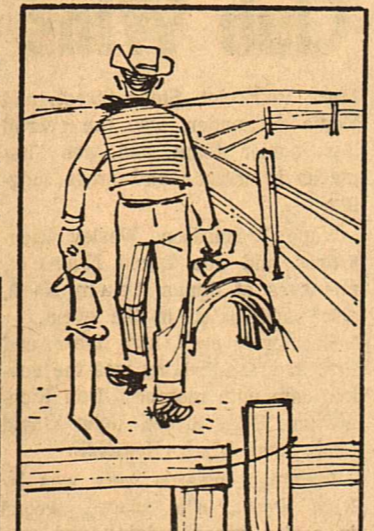

Another precaution may be to include explanations along with the terms of the will. Suppose a man wants to favor a daughter over a son. He may defuse the son's resentment by explaining that, while he loves them both alike, he fears that the daughter will need more financial help.

Still another precaution, when there might be a question of the person's mental competence, is to have evidence prepared—just in case. Medical examinations, extra witnesses, perhaps even tape recordings or movies may, by showing soundness of mind, some day discourage a will contest.

One fact cannot be escaped: the maker of the will won't be around when the will comes up for probate. Nevertheless, his care and foresight may still be the means of preserving harmony among his heirs.

To them, this can be the most important, and kindest, bequest of all.

CONFESSION IS GOOD FOR THE SOUL—NOT TO MENTION THE HEELS.

A PARSON'S EYE-VIEW OF SONORA

BY THE REV. ROSS T. WELCH

Does anyone remember what the letters in S.C.R.A.P. stood for? Something like Summer Community Recreation-Athletic Program, I believe. Last year we thought we saw the need for such a program in Sonora.

We could not get local leadership, therefore we started late, and we failed to enlist sufficient adult involvement. The director spent much of his time in the program trying to get a playing field ready. Result: The girls considered it a successful program, but few boys participated.

Perhaps the seed that were sown last year are now bearing fruit. Norm Rousselet has volunteered to take the leadership with a baseball team (or teams) of boys that are too old for Little League. Nearly forty boys have responded. They are working out Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at Allison Ball Park.

The boys have baseball equipment left over from last season. The ball park is in better condition but needs additional improvements and constant care, and we have some funds available again this year. If we can enlist adult leaders for this program, it looks like the baseball program for the older boys ought to go.

Some improvements need to be made at Allison Field. First of all, there is quite a bit of acreage to be mowed. Norm ran a mower for one day, but that should not be his responsibility. Also some additional back stops need to be erected and some benches placed behind them—at least for the players.

But this could not be called a community program if it omitted the girls. We think Doris Rousselet and Liz Hemphill would take the leadership in some sort of athletic program that would interest the girls. And representatives of the girls-who-can-not-go-to-a-m-p say the girls are eager.

Again, if the program is to be a success, it will require the cooperation and assistance of other adults. One or two cannot do this alone. I have to believe there are enough mothers and fathers of teen-age boys and girls in this community who care enough about their children to put forth the effort to have a good community recreation athletic program; but I shall never know unless you give someone the word that you will help.

My first inclination was to have nothing to do with S.C.R.A.P. this summer, but I promised Norm I would try to get him some help. And I felt it was unfair not to try to do something for the girls, who were the ones who requested this program in the first place.

Since last week I have attended two additional piano recitals. Mrs. S.M. Loeffler presented her ten pupils Friday night, May 17, at the Methodist Church and John Tedford's seventeen pupils (two from out of town) played at the Woman's Club Library Building Sunday afternoon, May 19.

With Mrs. Elliott's nineteen, that makes 46 boys and girls who have been taking piano lessons from our local teachers. Probably not all of them will make finished musicians, but I should like to offer my word of encouragement to every one of them to continue their music and continue their practice.

They are getting something that I missed entirely. Surely there must be great joy and satisfaction in being able to express oneself through music. Not only is there a great personal satisfaction in musical expression, this also opens the door to a wonderful service to others.

Mrs. Loeffler's pupils included Janet Mathis, Ruth and Bonnie Perez, Maggie Galbreath, Claire Langford, Laura and Melissa Gibbs, Donna Cooper, Eddie Smith and Betsy Schwiening.

John's seventeen included his own two children Gregg and Valerie, Cora and Janet Pope, Renee and Michelle Rousselet, Trilli Thompson, June Alexander, Jane Wallace, Kelley Sue Sentell, Sarah Allison, Teddy Coker, Natalie Redman, Karen Hemphill and Patti Richardson all of Sonora.

Congratulations to the thirty-eight seniors listed for graduation tomorrow night along with one who finished at mid-term. As indicated to you by your baccalaureate speaker, the Rev. Lea Roy Aldwell, you are facing about as perilous times as any graduating class ever faced.

But the Chinese word for 'crisis' is made up of two characters, one stands for change, the other for opportunity. My sincere hope is that you may not give way to a spirit of pessimism and defeat, but that you will see and grasp the opportunity inherent in this crisis situation.

Our sincerest concern and sympathy is extended to our neighbor R. C. Yarbrough, who has had to have a foot amputated as result of an accident while working on a rock-crusher on Interstate 10. Mr. Yarbrough is recuperating in Shannon Hospital.

This parson plans to be out of the parish next week visiting in San Antonio and attending the sessions of annual conference in Austin. Laymen who will represent this Methodist Church at the conference are Edwin Sawyer and Joe Brown Ross.

Don't forget the united Daily Vacation Church School at the Methodist Church, June 3 to 7.

Van Kirk Family Has No Injuries In Japanese Quake

SSgt. and Mrs. Jim Van Kirk and their three children were in the earthquake that hit Japan May 15.

Mrs. Van Kirk, formerly Mary Templeton, was a 1959 graduate of Sonora High School. Sunday Mrs. Van Kirk notified her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Templeton that the family suffered no injuries but lost all their belongings in the earthquake.

The Van Kirks are stationed at Misawa Air Base and news sources estimate the base alone suffered 10 million dollars in damages.

Mrs. Van Kirk said the base was abandoned for three days so that housing could be checked for safety. She reported tremors were still occurring three days after the major quake.

More than 4,200,000 persons sustained injuries in automobile accidents last year. Driver error, according to annual statistics, was responsible for more than 80 percent of the 1967 highway casualties.

Contestants from Ozona and Menard Vie for Miss Wool & Mohair Title

Girl watchers are going to have their moment in Dallas on May 27, and they'll have to choose between 15 lovely young Texans.

That's the date for the 17th annual Miss Wool and Mohair of Texas contest and pageant. The 15 young women in the show are selected as finalists from some 50 entries from 31 Texas cities.

Judges may have some problems, particularly if they are susceptible to blue. Eight of the finalist have blue eyes. In the list of finalists are four blonds, two redheads and eight who list brown as their hair color.

An anonymous screening committee selected the finalists on the basis of appearance, natural beauty, intelligence and accomplishments.

Among the finalists chosen from this area include Lynn Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Cox, 111 of Ozona. She is a sophomore at Texas Technological College, Phi Beta Phi, is on the deans list, and majors in Spanish.

Also a finalist is Carla Sue Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martin of Menard. She is a sophomore at Colorado State University, a Alpha Chi Omega and a distributive education major.

As Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas, the newly-crowned queen will represent the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Association and the Mohair Council of America. At the close of 1969 she will represent her native Texas in the annual Miss Wool of America competition. In San Angelo, the national competition hosts representatives from 20 wool producing councils of the United States. Sherrill Reagan, present Miss Wool of Texas will carry the banner of the Lone Star state into national competition this June 23.

Art Club Installs Officers for Year

by Mrs. Rodney C. Dowdy
Sonora Art Club held its installation of officers Monday at the Ben Cusenbary Ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Cusenbary welcomed the 16 members and their husbands at the gate, to the beautiful setting under the oaks in the midst of their flower garden where a most enjoyable picnic supper was served.

Mrs. A. W. Awalt was the installing officer. She used her theme "The rose, it's beauty and duty", recalling to the club members the colors of green and white and their motto, "Look for the Beautiful".

The incoming officers were given their charge and then pinned with a rose corsage. Mrs. Harold Garrett, as president, Mrs. Buddy Brown as vice-president and Mrs. E. B. Keng as secretary-treasurer, were given the responsibility of continuing to lead the club in an enjoyable and serviceable program.

Mrs. Garrett presented the outgoing president, Mrs. Louis Powers, with a carnival glass covered compote in appreciation for a year of work well done. The club had two informative and interesting projects this year — that of ceramic painting and the craft of decapogue with the highlight coming as all club members exhibited their work at the Art Show.

The president appointed her committees for the incoming year and pledges herself to doing her best to continue the good work done by her predecessors.

31 New Yorkers Agree With LBJ, 'See America First' Can Be Fun

by Mrs. Tom Nevill
Ever wonder what sort of people make up a so-called "senior citizens tour?" With a little curiosity about people and their ideas and backgrounds, one can find a group like this to be pretty interesting.

Take Mr. Wilson, for example. In a few moments one learns this friendly person is a retired insurance broker, he has a son who is an air force officer, and he lives about 74 miles from the Canadian border (where the temperature sometimes drops to 38 below in winter). The area's average annual rainfall is about 52 inches! (West Texas looked dry to him.)

He has a wonderful sense of humor and it would probably be great to tour the United States with him along. Oh yes, he went to school barefoot when he was a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Linderoth were originally from Sweden. They have made several guided tours of the U.S. and trips to Sweden. She's ready to stay home and clean house for awhile, "If I can get him out from underfoot." His business was furniture building, especially "desks, bunks, etc. for submarines and ships." Now his company primarily builds elevators.

Katherine Daehn of Jamestown, New York, called herself a "retired housewife". Really didn't know just what she meant by that — thought housewives never retired. Someone remarked that she pronounces her name "Dane", but she is actually a German.

Sylvia B. Thosburg of Jamestown, said she had a "millinery shop—oh, ages ago."

Harold Pitt, who confesses to be one of eleven children, added he is semi-retired and works about 5 nights a week as a janitor. Janitors must be well paid! These tours do cost money. At my insistence in asking where he did janitor work he finally replied, "Well if you must know in a taproom."

These people were typical of the thirty-one happy "oldsters" who stopped at French's Big Tree Restaurant Saturday, May 18, for a lunch break on one lap of their 7500 mile tour that began April 23 in Jamestown, New York.

Most of the passengers were in their 60's and 70's and were retired or semi-retired. This particular tour was arranged by Holiday Tours, Inc., of Jamestown. The group had already visited San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Grand Canyon, El Paso, Juarez, and several other points of interest. From Sonora, they will visit HemisFair then on to Houston, New Orleans, Louisville and Lexington, Kentucky, Cincinnati, and other cities on their return trip home.

Margaret Ostrander, the charming hostess for the tour and her husband, Murvel, driver of the bus were both very friendly. Margaret was especially interested in locating a bakery as one of the lady passengers was observing her 70th birthday and the hostess wanted to celebrate the occasion with a

WOULD YOU BELIEVE?

Buzzard in a Hollow Live Oak Tree

by E. B. Keng, SCS Technician
Would you believe that a buzzard would nest 10 feet down in a hollow liveoak tree? Neither would I—but when a buzzard flew out of a large liveoak on the John Mittel ranch last week, inspection revealed two large speckled eggs some 10 or 12 feet down in the hollow. Buzzards normally choose a rocky ledge to nest, selecting a crevice between large rocks. Practically no preparation is made for the nest.

EBK
A three mile inspection walk over some of the Experiment Station test pastures last week netted two large rattlesnakes. This could be a year when rattlers are abundant, and ranchmen and others should be on the alert for them.

party on the bus en route to San Antonio.

In chatting with different ones in the group the thought occurs that Americans are about the same everywhere. Most of the talk centered about politics and one jokingly remarked, "Don't you want LBJ back in Texas?"

Before I could answer, he added, "I don't mean vote for Rockefeller—better leave him in New York!"

Over 100 separate species of grasses, forbs and brush were recorded on one pasture at the Experiment Station. No livestock grazed on this pasture, but deer use it freely. On a pasture fenced deer-proof an additional 20 species were recorded.

EBK
A porcupine was killed a few days ago on the Edwin Sawyer ranch. One was killed on the W. F. Berger (O'Leary) ranch during last hunting season. These animals have apparently been in the Sonora area only a short time, and seem to be on the increase.

EBK
A few cattle egrets have been noted on the Rip Ward Ranch south of Sonora. This white heron associates with grazing cattle, and is quite common on the Gulf coast. The black cattle were considerably "shook up" with the rare appearance of the white birds.

EBK
A headless great blue heron was observed at the city dump ground recently, apparently the victim of a trophy hunter. These 4-foot high birds live mostly on rough fish, frogs and mice.

No animal that roams the woods commands as much respect as Mr. Skunk. Since he is blessed with perhaps the best defense system of any creature, both man and animal give him plenty of room.

That is, all except the great horned owl. This animal, now and then, enjoys dining on tasty skunk. Obviously, the owl has no sense of smell and could care less about the odor.

But all other animals treat the skunk with great respect. And well they should! Any animal that strays close is likely to be spewed with that strong-smelling, familiar odor that can linger for weeks. Give the enraged skunk a wide berth.

His defense system consists of a pair of scent sacs located at the skunk's rear. There is one on each side of the rectum. They are embedded in powerful muscles which, when constricted, can spray the strong "perfume" for 16 feet or more. This yellow liquid is deadly at 10 feet and dangerous at almost twice that distance.

Contrary to what you might have heard, just because a skunk has unloaded at you once doesn't mean he is out of ammunition.

A skunk can fire six consecutive times without reloading. Although the initial burst may be only three or four drops, that's enough to douse an animal or a man with enough odor to last for a couple of weeks or longer, especially in damp weather.

Nature has a way of taking care of her young. With the skunk, the smelly spray is his only defense. Otherwise he is a timid creature that roams mostly at night. It isn't unusual to find skunks after dark downtown in some of our largest cities.

Although there are several species of skunk, the most common is the black one with the broad white stripe running down his back the full length of his body and tail.

There is no surefire method of removing this tell-tale skunk odor. His spray contains an ingredient chemically known as n-butyl mercaptan. It contains sulphur. One of the best antidotes, I'm told is washing the recipient in liberal amounts of tomato juice.

As for doused clothing, about the only alternative is to either burn or bury them. Even then some of the odor seems to linger on. When it comes to smell, nothing can compare to the skunk.

In Texas, skunks breed in either February or March. After a gestation period of 63 days, a litter is born. Usually they number from three to seven small skunks, with the average being about five. The young remain in the nest until their eyes are open and they are strong enough to follow their mother.

Although most people take the skunk for granted, the majority do not realize that he plays an important role in pest control. In "The Mammals of Texas" (published by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department), Dr. William B. Davis points out that some 76 percent of the skunk's diet is composed of various insects. Balance of his diet usually is made up of small rodents like mice and rats.

Although skunks occasionally may feed on the eggs of wild birds, such as those laid by quail and wild turkeys, there is no evidence that the harm they cause in this respect is major. Their usefulness in keeping the woods clean of pest insects and mice far overshadows any harm they might cause.

Conclusion: A skunk, even with his bad odor, is better than no skunk at all.

NEW TOMORROW

If I had time tonight, I might be a bit frightened. But just now, there's time to feel only excited and happy. It's funny... when you're a little kid, it seems as if you go to school forever. Then all of a sudden, it's graduation night, and you know that this is an end and a beginning all at once.

Mom and Dad will be out in the audience, and so will Dan. He sent me these roses. Our minister will be out there too, and I hope he'll notice that the smile I send in his direction will be a particularly grateful one. How often I've gone to him with my childish troubles, only to have him treat them as seriously as if they were of world-shaking consequence. It was he who really taught me how to pray.

He taught me so many of God's lessons. And I am sure that throughout my lifetime I'll be learning them anew and repeating them over and over again. How wonderful to realize that this commencement, this end of an era, is really the beginning of a new tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

GREEN NEWS

by Monica Davis
Oops! We forgot our luncheon day, didn't we? May has just "gone and went" this time. We won't miss next month tho—election of officers is coming up. Be sure and be there.

GN
Patch Cochran was seen wearing a safari hat, "to go lion hunting", he said. I'd say more like alligator hunting with the way the draws have been running—still, he did eagle number one. Maybe we should all get safari hats!

GN
Don't forget about clean-up this Saturday. You all come, and bring all your friends, and all their friends, and pick-ups, and your friends pick-ups, and their friends pick-ups, all tools, garden implements, and anything else you can think of. There will be a free supper for all workers and their families—three dollars for all kibitzers and advisors and their families.

GN
Hello new members! We are glad to have you with us. Don Letsinger, Thomas Glasscock, and Dan Harrison are from Rocksprings, and W.G. Godwin is from Eldorado. They say they are really enjoying the course. Hix Hall is also a new member, and tho' he doesn't play, we are mighty glad he is one of us.

GN
Birdies, birdies, (not the flying kind) all over the place this past weekend. Tommy Thorp birdied nine and one and Dub Black birdied eight and two. Ed Grobe said he didn't care how good anybody played the mosquitos were still the winners—they got all the blood transfusions they needed.

GN
Some of the girls playing this week were Wanda Cahill, Lucille McMillan, Janie Caveness, Pauline Thompson, Jo Neville, but the gal who really kept her eye on the ball, or rather her clubs, was Peggy Elliott. Wanda and Jo patiently waited after each stroke as she polished, cleaned, and placed each new club in just the right place in the new bag. They only managed nine holes that day because of all the cleaning and polishing. Web used his new lay-out too, but I haven't talked to any of his compadres yet.

The Devil's Workshop

An Idle-Mind Column
by Dee Nevill

Well, there's nothing like being able to laugh at one's mistakes—especially when you're new on the job. However, one of the nicer things about growing older is that you learn not to take yourself too seriously, even if a "big blunder" occurs in your first issue of the paper as a sort of "editor", it still can be mighty laughable.

In proofreading copy about the addition to the veterinary clinic this paragraph, "The metallic building will house cats primarily, but will also be used for storage and other purposes", struck me as rather odd. In the back of my mind, I thought "Um-m-m-didn't know Joe David was so fond of cats that he built a special clinic to house them!"

In fact, brainwave memory warning signals sort of told me he might even have a special aversion to cats since I think he actually prefers the treatment of the larger animals.

Well-I, as I said before being new to the job and somewhat rushed for time, I failed to check the original story, particularly as this was one of those times when the thought seemed complete and I was unaware that unfortunately a line was missing.

The paragraph was intended to read, "The metallic building will house (small animals, such as dogs and) cats primarily—"

Apologies, Joe David,—will try to do better next time—but everyone in the news office at least got a whale of a good laugh!

Your Questions On the Draft . . .

Q—How much active service must a man perform who volunteers for induction?

A—The same as the non-volunteer, 24 consecutive months, unless sooner terminated by the uniformed service.

Q—I recently moved from Dallas to New Orleans. How do I go about changing my local board to one in the vicinity of my current residence?

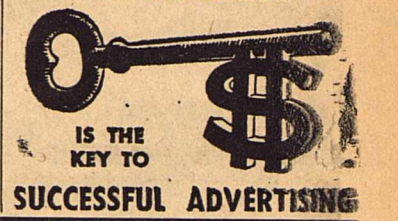

A—The draft board having jurisdiction over your place of residence at the time you registered will always be your board. You may transfer for physical examination or induction to the local board nearest you, however.

Saint Ann's Recaps

by Monica Davis

The Holy Name Society had their monthly Communion Sunday, May 12. A meeting was held immediately after Mass, and new officers were elected. President is Mike Ibarra, Vice-President is Manuel Paredes, Jimmy Samaniego was elected secretary, and Lalo Gonzales is the new treasurer. The new officers will be installed on the second Sunday in June at the seven o'clock Mass.

Even though our Festival is over, Saint Ann's is still enthusiastic about raising funds for the building of our new church. With any luck at all, we may possibly be able to do the ground-breaking early in the fall.

Sunday afternoon, May 19, the Holy Name Society sponsored an afternoon of games and refreshments. Later on in the evening, the Altar Society had a barbeque supper for the parishioners.

Tuesday, May 21, there will be a meeting for the entire Parish to discuss more plans for the building of the church and the coming election for queen candidates for September 16. Saint Ann's will celebrate the festivities September 14 and 15.

THANKS!

for the most gratifying evidence of your confidence, as reflected in the results of the Primary on May 4!

In a spirit of true humility I accept this as a mandate to continue my very best efforts on behalf of good government.

Even though the majority was 5-to-1, it appears likely that in the General Election the people will have occasion to reassert their preference for the position of Congressman. Therefore I shall be most grateful for continued support.

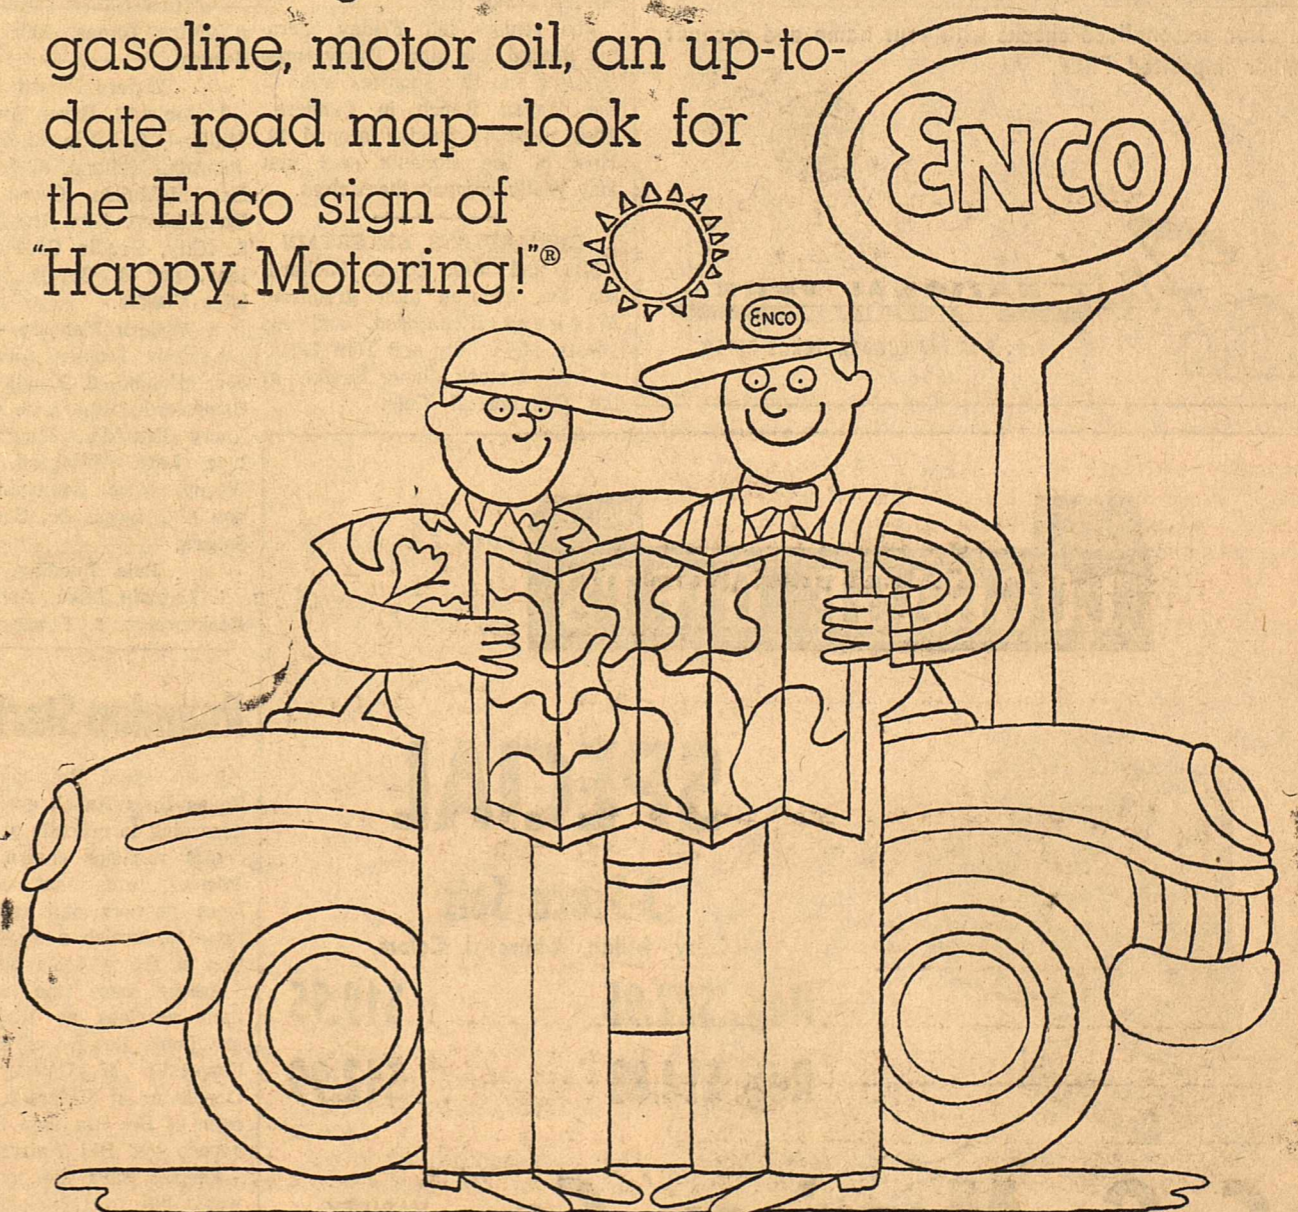

I can only promise that, with renewed dedication, I shall in the future continue to give the people of the great 21st district the effective and responsible representation to which they are entitled.

Roundup Starts

The Annual Roundup for West Texas Boys Ranch opens May 22, according to officials at the ranch. 1968 roundup chairman, Roddy Peebles, says that contributions from farmers and ranchers continue to furnish a substantial portion of the Ranch's budget. Among those who have offered their services as Wagon Bosses are Louis Powers of Sonora, Jim Carpenter of Ozona, Lawrence Dannheim of Eldorado, Dan Finegan of Del Rio, Bob Page of Eldorado and Bill Watson of Ozona. Peebles says that anyone who would like to participate can contact the Ranch office at San Angelo. Largest quantity and best quality of cod liver oil comes from the Lofoten Isles in Norway.
