Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's Riv - principality. Don't ask me er surveys the world situation this week, we think. Dear editar:

After reading every newspaper could get my hands on during the last few years and after long and hard thinking I have figured out why the United States is constantly getting into hot water all over the world, and furthermore I've figured out how to put a stop to it.

The way to put a stop to it is to stop teaching geography. It's a knowledge of geography that gets us into trouble.

According to a newspaper I read last night, the United States has less than 2 percent of the world's population, and yet we have protective agreements and aid programs with countries scattered all over the globe. Nobody with that small a percentage should be spreading himself so thin, and we wouldn't if the schools would stop teaching geography.

It's too late for the next few Presidents, but what we eventually need is a President who never has heard of most of the countries on earth.

What we need is somebody who, when the White House gets a telegram from say Afghanistan asking for help before its government topples, turns to a secretary and says, Afghanistan? Whereabouts in North Dakota is that? Let the Governor handle his own prob-

Preparing For That First Job Interview

the thoughts of college and high school seniors are turning to jobs. Whether it's the beginning of a career or summer employment, the first step is that first job interview.

As important as your background is your appearance, for the first impression you make in an interview is often a lasting one. Before scheduling an interview, the makers of Dial soap suggest that you give yourself an image test: Are you well groomed? Is your complexion clear? Are you tastefully dressed? Are your nails and hair neat and clean?

Approaching your job interview with high grades in your appearance will give you-and your prospective employer confidence in yourself.

Start off for your interview with a relaxed and healthy glow by beginning your interview day with an unhurried bath or shower. You'll be sure you're fidently to the next.

With summer approaching, fresh and clean all day by suds-ne thoughts of college and high ing with an antibacterial soap like Dial, which controls the bacteria that cause body odor.

Advance planning for your interview should include your resume, neatly typed and listing your educational background. Part-time or after-school jobs and extracurricular responsibilities should be listed too.

It's wise to include the names, addresses, and phone numbers of three or four referencesteachers, part-time employers, others who know you. It's to your advantage, too, to check with your references in advance, asking permission to list them on your resume.

- Ready? Meet your prospective employer with a smile, answer questions honestly, and feel free to ask questions yourself so that you have a clear picture of job responsibilities.

Master Yourself

Human beings, blessed with a good earth, have made a mess of many things. However, viewed from any distant peak of the past, the present records unmistakable gains, and the natural belief is that the future, compared to the era in which we live, will show similar advances.

The reader of this editorial has a very definite role to makes up human life. The part may be small, insofar as history is concerned, but large in its effect upon other human beings.

Every man and woman must attempt the mastery of his or her own nature and a productive translation of his or her personality through living among other people, difficulties and faults, inherent in the imperfection of human beings.

Amistad Stocked With Four Million Fish

Lake Amistad, a new reservoir on the Rio Grande near Del Rio, has been stocked with nearly 4 million fish since impoundment four years ago. George Henderson, a fisheries biologist and project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, told a group of Department biologists in the annual Wildlife Restoration Function Staff meeting that the stocking program has put an estimated total of 3, 903, 700 to supply water needs downfish of several species in the 31,000-acre lake.

Henderson said the stocking total included more than 3 million black bass and lesser quantities of other species. He said recent net surveys in the lake showed the average weight of bass at two pounds. Catfish are averaging 1.3 ounds in size, Henderson said. The lake, which sprawls along the border between the United States and Mexico at a site just north of Del Rio, reached the 31,000 surface acre level during February. It was lowered stream in past months, but at capacity it is expected to be one of the State's largest reservoirs, he said.

Will Carver Story Told

For those who like to read about the "Old West", and particularly historical occur-ences of this area, a well written story of the killing of Will Carver, noted outlaw, who was killed in Sonora, April 1901, is given in the June issue of "True West" magazine.

The account appears to be fairly authentic and a picture of downtown Sonora, 1897, is also shown in support of the story; along with other pictures

When Carver was dying, men here who were well acquainted with him, were called to establish positive identification.

The story relates that one local man who had just visited the saloon long and lustily, remarked when asked to identify the groaning, dying Carver-

If this man dies, I'll swear he's Will Carver-ifhe lives, I don't know who in the h--- he is!"

Hangover cure. Nobody likes a sloppy range.

Especially if it's a result of hangover heat. After all, heat that hangs on after your range is turned off isn't your fault. But you have to clean up after it.

However, gas ranges turn on and off instantly. No heat's left over to scorch your food, burn your pans or cause food to boil over.

Buy a new gas range, sure-cure for hangover heat.
