Some Blooming Flowers Evident

By E. B. Keng, SCS Technician
Spring is in the air in the Sonora area, despite the prolonged drought. The recent shower helped to push out some early blooming flowers and flowering shrubs.

Prominent pink-blooming shrubs are redbud and Mexican buckeye. Algerita bushes are completing their bloom period.

The first scarlet blooms of the petayas are appearing on the south, or sunny side of the clumps.

Early blooming wild flowers include the shy anemone, bladderpod and wincup. The yellow-flowered stemless evening-primrose and scattered scrambled egg plants are also blooming. Winter annual flowering forbs are very scarce this spring because of the extremely dry winter.

Birds, too, are heralding the approach of spring. Purple martins and sparrows are nesting. Most of the robins and field larks have moved on northward to nesting sites.

John Ward reported seeing the first turkey buzzard last week—which is John's sign that spring is near. The blue herons have returned to their old nests on the Duke Wilson Stuart ranch. Turkeys are leaving their winter roosting sites to find nests over the Eldorado Divide and the hill country.

Liveoaks have started to shed their 1970 leaves, to make room for a new crop. Pecan buds are swelling, but new leaf growth is not yet evident. Most fruit trees bloomed out in time to catch the last cold snap—so fruit may be scarce.

Good spring rains are badly needed to revive drought stricken rangeland. The weather is warm enough to start grass growth, but much more moisture is needed.

"Grassroots Opinion"

CHICAGO, ILL., NORTH LOOP NEWS: "The 'gravy train' is slowly coming to a stop, -not because the American people have become less generous and humane, but because too many greedy and indolent people have climbed aboard. The ever-mounting taxes that provide the fuel to keep it running have reached a dead end. . . The solution does not lie in getting Washington to pay the welfare bill. That only takes us one step closer to socialism and communism. We must revise the rules, train the incompetent for every available job, expand work opportunities and make it impossible for any able-bodied citizen to require or secure welfare. . . We must never allow our aged, blind, crippled and helpless citizens to suffer, -nor our poor, dependent children. But the shiftless freeloaders of either sex and every race must learn that they must work if they want to eat."

LORIS, S. C., SENTINEL: "As the year closed most folks in the business race, be it ever so humble, started a little comparison with the year before to see how they did. If the volume was up, they figured they did pretty well and if it decreased, then things were not good. But with inflation in the world what it is, if your business didn't increase by ten percent or more, you didn't do as well as a year ago. But then there's April 15, coming up soon. Whether you did well or not, by the time you get through paying taxes you will figure you must have made some money somewhere. But where is it?"

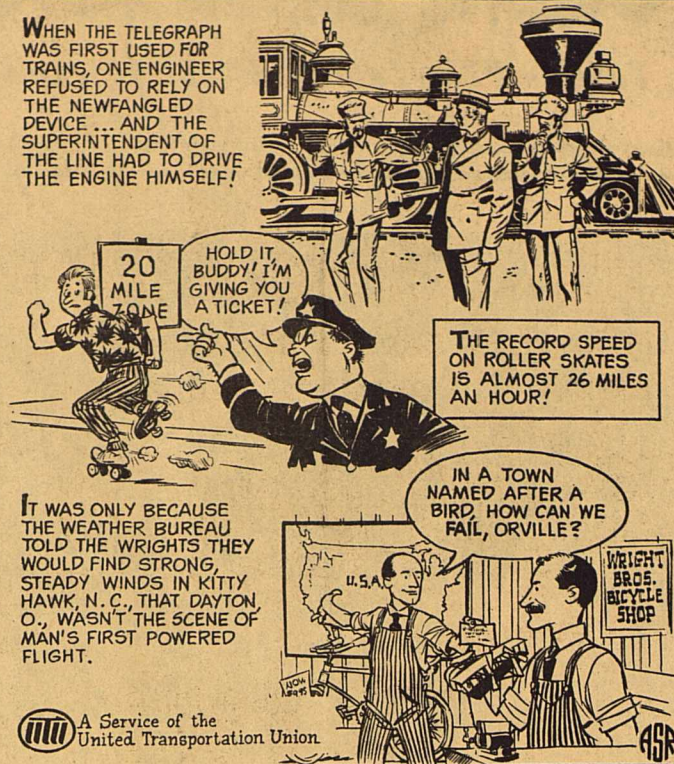

PITTSBURGH, PA., MOUNT WASHINGTON

NEWS: "Another adult privilege has been bestowed on the youths of 18 to 21. This is the right to vote in national elections. We are happy that youths will now have the voting booths as a vehicle in which to voice their desires and protests-peacefully. We hope that these newly-eligible voters will take full advantage of this privilege."

SAUGERTIES, N. Y., CATSKILL MOUNTAIN STAR: "You have only to spend a little time on a farm or live in a rural community to know-it's really the good life. Once you've walked the fields and forests, scanned the hills and valleys, watched and felt the billowing of the wind over fields of golden grain, thrilled to the sight of the flash of light as a gleaming fish breaks a tranquil surface of water, or had your heart soar with the flight of wild birds in a cloud-studded sky-it's then that you feel the closeness of God's earth and its relationship to man and you will carry it with you wherever you go and as long as you live."

CUERO, TEXAS, RECORD: "The powers that be keep talking about the possibility of putting this country on the metric system of weights and measures which is now used in most of the world. Even old England is going to the metric system. Know how long a meter is? An international conference in Paris in 1960, according to United Press International, defined the exact length of a meter as 1,650,763.73 times the wavelength of the orange light of isotopic krypton of mass 86 at 760 mm. pressure and 15 degrees centigrade. Chew on that awhile."

He Has Come Up With Program To Put Most Things On A Paying Basis

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Dry Devil's River has some far-out ideas this week, but that's his responsibility.

Dear editor:
As I understand the plan to reorganize the postal system, according to an article I read last night in a newspaper somebody mailed me a couple of weeks ago and I received yesterday, the idea behind the move is to put the post office department on a paying basis, managed by a commission of business experts.

They're going to cut out wasted effort and antiquated methods, mechanize and streamline the system, raise the rates right and left, and generally operate the thing like it was any other business designed to pay its own way.

I got to thinking about this and I guess it's all right, provided the business managers go all the way.

For example, if they decide it ought to cost 8 cents instead of 6 cents to deliver a letter from Sonora to San Angelo in 24 hours, and it turns out it takes 48 hours, shouldn't the sender be entitled to a rebate for the delay in transit? Business is business, isn't it?

Or if they raise the rate on magazines, shouldn't they bind themselves to get say a copy of Newsweek to a reader before one of its Periscope predictions is proven by the turn of events to be inaccurate? Shouldn't Time magazine have a chance to get to a reader before somebody it interviewed has a chance to point out he was misquoted?

If they shut down more and more small post offices because they find they don't make a profit, what's going to happen if they find out the post office in Dallas is losing money? Can't be letting sentiment get in the way of tough business decisions.

It seems to me they have a hard row to hoe, but if they succeed, will there be a move on to put other government services on a paying basis?

How about the Weather Bureau? Why don't they make it pay and charge for forecasts instead of giving them away free? With a rebate of course when they miss.

How about highways? The courts? The police? The army? Congress?

If they can get all these on a paying basis, that wouldn't leave anything in the red except maybe the railroads and the airlines and the space program and marriage licenses, and we could get taxes down to practically nothing.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A Bishop Looks At Life "Future Shock"

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church

One of the serious non-fiction books which has been on the best-seller list for several months is "Future Shock" by Alvin Toffler. Toffler is a sociologist who has been an editor of "Fortune" and a Washington correspondent. He defines the phrase "future shock" (which he invented) as the dizzying disorientation brought on by the premature arrival of the future. He adds, "it may well be the most important disease of tomorrow."

To emphasize the problem of change, especially the acceleration of change, he quotes Kenneth Boulding: "The world of today is as different from the world in which I was born as that world was from Julius Caesar's. I was born in the middle of human history, to date, roughly. Almost as much has happened since I was born as has happened before."

In the 15th Century, Queen Isabella of Spain declared that she only had two baths in her life—including one on the day she was married!

To me the most helpful section of the book is that called "strategies for survival." Here he discusses how we can cope with tomorrow. He points out the value of continuity in our lives both in intellectual and spiritual terms and in such practical ways as refusing to follow the latest fashion trend or to trade in last year's car. He mentions the value of times and places of withdrawal from the rat race. He stresses the value of familiar rituals, holidays, and celebration of great events. (He cites the moon-landing as "a fleeting instant millions shared a realization of the oneness of humanity and its potential competence in the face of the universe.")

As I read the list of his "strategies" I thought how many of them—continuity, withdrawal, ritual and celebration—are provided for a lot of us by the community of God's People we call the Church.

When Tom retired, it seemed as if his dreams had come true. For years he and Grace had been planning. There would be that little pink house in Florida and time to do all the things they wanted. They could keep in touch with their friends back home, and there would be occasional visits back and forth.

What they hadn't realized was how much they would miss their church. It had been such a part of their life! Now it seemed that no other church could fill the gap. In fact, they didn't go to another church their first few weeks in Florida.

But finally one Sunday they went to the little church they had been passing each day on the way to the golf course. True, it wasn't like the church back home—outwardly. But, when you got down to essentials, it was the same.

If you have moved to another community, find a new church home. Regardless of its appearance, remember that it is God's House and in it you will be welcome.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS OF THE ESTATE OF JERRY NEILL SHURLEY, DECEASED.

Notice is hereby given that original Letters Testamentary upon the Estate of Jerry Neill Shurley, Deceased, were granted to me, the undersigned, on the 12 day of March, 1971, by the County Court of Sutton County, Texas. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same to me within the time prescribed by law. packed—65 players, and in spite of the dust storm and high wind Sunday many golfers turned out.

—GN—
Continuation of rules follow: On the tee, the player who is entitled to hit first has the honor, which is determined by draw on the first tee, and thereafter by the lowest score on the previous hole—or on the last hole not tied.

You may tee your ball anywhere in a rectangular space bounded by the tee markers and two club lengths in depth directly behind.

If your ball moves after you have addressed it at any time other than for the tee shot, naturally or accidentally, add one penalty stroke to your score for the hole.

You may not remove or press down any irregularities of the ground which could in any way affect your lie, swing or line of play, nor can you improve the position of your ball by moving, bending or breaking anything fixed or growing.

You must play around large boulders and other immovable natural objects. However, you may remove loose natural impediments such as stones, twigs, or fallen leaves (except in a hazard), and man-made obstructions, such as paper, bottles, boxes and green-keeping equipment.

You may lift your ball from a man-made obstruction which interferes with your swing or stance, such as, water pipe, protective screen or sprinkler outlet (even when in a hazard) but not an out-of-bounds stake or fence.

Drop the ball over your shoulder within two club lengths of that point on the outside of the original lie of the ball. The ball must come to rest not nearer the hole than the spot where it originally lay.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Barbed Humor

"Many a truth," says an old proverb, "is spoken in jest." But what about a lie that is spoken in jest? Is a false statement excusable if the speaker is "only kidding"?

Consider the case of a television personality who, in the course of his patter, referred to one of his guests as "a member of the Mafia."

The remark got a big laugh from the audience, but the guest was not amused. Instead, he filed a defamation suit against his host, accusing him of soiling an innocent person's good name.

Nevertheless, the court turned down the guest's claim. The judge pointed out that the remark not only was intended to be funny but also was taken that way by the audience.

It is this last item—the reaction of the audience—that matters most in the law of defamation: derogatory remark seriously, the person—Unless listeners take a person's reputation simply is not harmed.

On the other hand, a jest may indeed be defamatory if those who hear it take it as true. Thus: A guest at a party passed the word that his hostess had been dabbling in adultery. When she later sued him for defamation, he explained that he had been trying to be funny.

"How can I be liable," he said, "when I had no guilty intent? It isn't my fault that some people just did not catch on."

But the court ordered him to pay damages for failing to make his humorous intentions clear. As one judge put it:

"A person shall not be allowed to murder another's reputation in jest."

Even words of flattery may be defamatory if they carry a hidden sting. Another case arose because of repeated references to a local political leader as "beautiful" and "godlike." In fact, the man was widely known to have an ugly deformity, left from a severe illness some years earlier.

Under these circumstances, the court held that the words of seeming praise were actually defamatory. The court said the insult was no less painful, merely because it came in disguise.

go fly a kite... safely

When March winds announce winter's end, the kite flying season starts. We'll admit it's lots of fun, but kite flying is not as safe as it looks. A kite string can be a deadly conductor of electric current if it touches a power line.

For safety's sake, let's keep the kites in the wide open spaces, safely away from power lines. Warn your children of the danger. Help them find a safe place to have their fun.

Coffee Break

by Shirley Hill

As is the case of most wives, it falls my lot to keep my husband's closet stocked with shirts, pants and all other wearing apparel. This is getting harder to do nowadays as my spouse doesn't seem to dig the new fashions for men. Bell bottom pants, ruffles and lace just aren't his idea of men's clothing. But when I noticed in the fashion news that the latest for men is "hot pants", I couldn't help but be amused.

I can't think of any of the male sex in Sutton County that would wear these. And I haven't seen a man yet carrying a purse or pocketbook that became news in the fashion world several months back.

I don't think I'm in the minority when I say, "What's happened to the good old fashioned clothing that makes men look like men? I have grown accustomed to some of the latest styles since I have two teenage sons who want to look like the rest of the boys, but hot pants--??

A number of women are protesting the wearing of bras. Who knows, maybe the bra industry won't suffer after all. They may be next in men's wear.

The Broncos won the Ballinger track meet last weekend and brought home two nice trophies to put . . . hm. SHS has won so many trophies this year, that there's no room for the new ones except on the table in the hall.

The newest trophies from Ballinger are for first in the 440 relay and first in the entire meet. They also came in second in the mile relay.

Many individuals excelled as Sonora put together a well-balanced showing. James Noel and Steve Street won third and sixth respectively in the 100 yard dash and Mike Taylor and Wesley Richardson grabbed a first and third in the 220 yard dash. Arnold Samaniego ran in first in the 880 yard dash while Bruce Kerbow won second in the 330 intermediate hurdles and fourth in the high jump.

Taylor and Scott Jacoby totaled a fifth and sixth in the broad jump and Jimmy Cade and Wade Richardson contributed a first and second in the something of a prodigy as well. He pursues his education with college correspondence work, having graduated from high school at age 10-1/2. He passed college entrance examinations with a general average of 86 percent, points higher than national average for high school seniors.

Not content with performing alone, Artila has copyrighted many compositions and made many recordings. He is also a composer. He has recorded his own song "A Lonely Day," on the Artila label, on which he also performs instrumentally. He has scored and directed the music for a film to be released early next year, "Aimless People," produced by Tom McGowan of "Born Free."

Arrangements for Artila's appearance here were made by the Southern School Assembly Agency.

pole vault as the Broncos scored 101 points to take the crown.

The Broncos will be in Eldorado Saturday and will try to extend their first place wins to three.

The girls were forced to cancel their meet in Robert Lee last weekend because of pulled muscles and shin splints. As much boy chasing as they do, one would think their legs would be in fine shape and since some chase for quite awhile, one would think the lungs would be in fine shape also! Their first meet will be Eldorado on April 3, so they will have three weeks to get their legs and lungs in shape. Beware, boys!

The long awaited Junior-Senior banquet and Prom will be held tomorrow night in the cafeteria beginning at 6 p. m. A buffet style meal will be served and the prophosies and wills are to be read. After the banquet, the prom with George Chambers furnishing the music will complete the activities honoring the seniors.

The night sounds as if it will be fun and well-worth attending. Don't forget to sign the RSVP sheet in the office if you plan to attend the banquet and to sign the out of town guest sheet if you plan to bring an out of town date to the prom.

All of SHS joins with me, I'm sure, to wish Pam Hancock a speedy recovery. She is in Breckenridge Hospital in Austin and reported to be recovering very quickly. We'd all like to see her back in school as soon as possible--quicker even!

The golf team won fifth place in the Brady tournament last weekend with an average score of 84. The team is practicing hard so that they will be able to win district again this year. The boys are coached by Coach Snodgrass.
