Bald Tires Can Turn Auto Into "Hydroplane"

Rainy weather poses one of the more frightening experiences for motorists-"hydroplaning"and cars with bald tires greatly increase the chance of drivers experiencing this phenomenon of loss of control and stopping

"The tread of a tire is designed to give as much traction as possible under all driving conditions," said Ross R. Ormsby, Chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council.

"Water on the highway can literally lift the car off the road. The term for this effect is hydroplaning, and cars with bald tires are much more likely to experience it than those with proper tread grooves. As speed increases it becomes not only more probable but more dangerous," Ormsby said.

The Council reminds drivers that a light rain or drizzle, especially after a dry spell, produces a thin greasy film on the road surface almost as slip-

"Should your tires have even these conditions are 5 to 10 times greater," Ormsby noted, but if you're driving on bald tires, your chances of losing control are up to 20 times as

The Council defines a bald tire as one having its tread worn to 1/16 inch or less in any two adjacent tread grooves. Government safety experts agree with Ormsby. Writing in a U.S. Department of Com-experts stated. Water acts as a lubricant between your tires and the road surface, and seriously reduces traction even if your tires are

These same government experts estimate that a car with average tread depth traveling at 30 miles per hour on a wet road has a stopping distance up to 75 feet. Should those tires be bald, observes the Council, the stopping distance is not onl considerably more, but the driver's ability to maintain control at all is questionable. "Also, with the approach of fall, motorist should remember that leaves and rain combine to produce the same effect as a loose rug on a waxed floor,"

Ormsby said. The Tire Industry Safety Council advises motorists to watch their speed when conwhen going into curves and

A drizzling rain and muggy night didn't dampen the spirit of the Sonora Broncos Friday night as they downed the Llano Yellow lackets 41-0.

The Broncos marched 62 vards on their first possession of the night and Steve Street scored from 9 yards out. The drive was kept alive by a Mark Rousselot pass to Wesley Richardson, and a good gainer by Bruce Kerbow Henry Mata kicked the extra point, giving the Broncos an early 7-0 lead.

Near the end of the first quarter a strong Bronco defense held the Yellow Jackets to a fourth and six. The punt was blocked and Tryon Fields picked up the loose ball, and scored the second Bronco touchdown. Mata's extra point attempt was wide, giving Sonora a 13-0 lead.

SECOND QUARTER Each team had the ball three times during the second quarter but were unable to mount any serious threats, and the Broncos held on to their 13-0 lead at halftime.

SECOND HALF Early in the third quarter, Rousselot kept the ball and scored from 5 yards out. Mata made good this conversion attempt, making the score 20-0. On their next possession the Broncos drove 55 yards with

There was this farmer, according to an article I read in a newspaper last night, who had trouble with his mail box. Somebody was always knocking it down or shooting holes in it or smashing it with a hammer and after he had replaced it 20 times-that's right-20 times

-he finally took action. What he did was take it home with him every day. About an hour before the mail carrier was due he'd take it down and set it up, then when the mail man came he'd pick up his mail, mail box, and all return to his house.

In this connection I read in the same paper that the telephone company reported that 11,000 pay phones in this country are put out of commission every day by people trying to rob the coin box or just ripping out the phone for the fun of it.

And a classic like this?

dealer? Soon?

Only Pontiac would.

Pontiac introduces the first Grand Am. It has the feel of a Grand Prix. The handling of a sports car. The characteristics you've admired in fine road cars. That could make it the newest American car ever. The 1973 Luxury LeMans has been totally restyled. With great benefits. Improved bumpers. Excellent visibility. A strong, new roof.

The classic Grand Prix is designed around a single principle. Spare nothing, compromise nothing, the driver is all-important. You'll understand when you get behind the wheel.

Pontiac has more news, too. New comfort for Catalina, Bonneville and Grand Ville. A new low-priced Ventura Hatchback. For our Firebirds, stronger bumpers, nicer interiors. Shouldn't you see a Pontiac

Of course I remembered treasured human relationships, friendships that had given life flavor and meaning. There was something miraculous about the way each one had brought a special kind of healing and inner security.

I thought of causes and movements in which I had some small part, in serving which I received more than I gave.

Perhaps the entry that surprised me most had to do with times in the valley of misery and crisis. They were "enriching" in that they broke down arrogance and self-sufficiency; they gave me better understanding of those in similar crisis; they helped me to re-discover God as my Refuge and Strength.

The final entry on my list of enriching experiences was brief but important: "A growing experience of God-the fact that He is, that He is at work, and that we can live in communion

about Madalyn Murray O'Hair, who is billed as the world's greatest infidel and atheist. She spoke at a college in Ohio. served strawberry cake, ice About 350 students and faculty gathered to hear her views on religion. In her speech she proceeded to take religion a-

Rev. Peale said, "She lambasted the clergy and all church Loeffler and W.O. Crites. High officers. She harassed all believing students and professors, and she harangued the foolish thinkers who believed what they read. She made a laughing stock of those who trusted in prayer and mocked the citizens of America as stupid to believe in anything religious."

As the meeting was about to break up, from the back of the auditorium there came a tiny voice of a little college girl. She spoke quietly, and her voice was filled with compas-

"Mrs. O'Hair, I am so happy you came to speak to all of us here at our college tonight. We ander, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lane. have listened with attention to your tirade on our beliefs.

We thank you for showing all of us what an atheist is. We express gratitude for your chal- and bingo, the Parkers. lenge to our faith. We appreciate your concern for us, but now in turn we must be ever grateful for your visit because now and forever we have been strengthened in our Christian beliefs by listening to you tonight.

We really feel sorry for you. I thank you because I know you have strengthened my faith in our church, in our religion, and in our faith".

The speaker of the evening was flabbergasted. It seems it was the first time she couldn't say anything. The applause for the young girl's response was deafening.

Hosting the Idle Hour Bridge Club September 12 was Mrs. Frances Gibson. The party was held in her home. Cake, ice cream, coffee and tea were served.
