"Peaceful Valley", Sonora Was Tough, Writer Claims

(Editor's note: The following newspaper clippings were given to us by Mrs. Edwin Sawyer. The first was written by Dick King, instructor in Journalism, East Texas State Teachers College in Commerce. Although the dates are missing from the clippings, this first one appears to be several years old.)

Sonora in Sutton County, Texas, was founded by pioneer ranchers in search of grazing lands. They named their settlement for the Spanish term meaning "peaceful valley". Yet, Sonora, in the early

Local 4-H'ers Attend District 7 4-H Meeting

Bill Finklea, Ruthie Wallace, Mrs. Lawrence Finklea, Gene Wallace and County Agent D. C. Langford represented the Sutton County 4-H and 4-H Parents Clubs at the District 7 4-H Council Meeting in Llano, Saturday.

Bill Finklea assisted Cynthia Whitworth, Brady County 4-H member, in presenting a slide program on the people-to-people 4-H tour of Europe and Russia.

Bill also reported on the activities of the Sutton County 4-H Club since the last 4-H Council Meeting.

Business of interest to local 4-H members included a decision by the group to hold the District 7 4-H Leadership Camp at Scott-able 4-H Camp in New Mexico in June of 1973, if arrangements for the camp can be made.

Gene Wallace gave a report on the activities of the Sutton County 4-H Parents Club during the year, which included sponsoring 4-H activities and improving improvements to the Sutton County 4-H Center.

Sutton County 4-H delegations extended an invitation to the District 7 4-H Council to meet at the Sutton County 4-H Center next spring.

years immediately following its founding, was everything but peaceful.

In February, 1891, the editor of the Devil's River News boasted about the toughness of the village. He wrote: "Come to Sonora and be tough. High premiums paid on all crime. Gambling with cards in public allowed and is in operation at all hours—Sundays included. Special rewards for scalps of gentlemen and tenderfoots; but will prosecute all murders of our hoodlums, whiskey burns and scallaws. Promiscuous hell raised in high places continually, crime is rampant, lawlessness increasing. Come to the home of the toughs and join the enterprise."

To continue, the editor explained that the motto of Sonora was "toughness" and its aim "to exterminate society". The desire of the town, he wrote, was "to invert the order of this part of the universe and put hell uppermost." Object of the town was to rival "San Angelo and have hell on earth."

Whether the editor was being whimsical or serious is not definite, but certain events in the history of Sonora point that

Mohair Delegates To Spain, Italy

The first leg of a flight to Barcelona, Spain, was begun Sunday by Noel C. Fry of Del Rio, Ed McManus of the Mohair Council of America's New York office, and James T. Hunt. The group will attend a mohair exhibit in Spain and in Italy.

Ross McSwain of San Angelo, information director for the Mohair Council of America, and Roger Lowen of Washington, representative of the Foreign Agriculture Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, left earlier for Barcelona as the advance team for the market development group conducting the exhibit.

Others planning to be in Barcelona for the exhibit are Sherman Crough of Boston, mohair exporter for Bentley and Co., and Ford Oglesby of Eldorado, who is president of the Plateau Wool and Mohair Corporation of Uvalde.

The Spanish Textile Guild headquarters in Sabadell, near Barcelona, was the site for the mohair exhibit in Spain, October 4.

The delegation will travel to Milan, Italy, October 7 to make preparation for their exhibit October 11 at Biella, the heart of the Italian textile manufacturing area.

The group will be joined in Milan, Italy, by Walter Pfleger of San Angelo, executive vice-president of the MCA.

The exhibit and the meetings later with both Spanish and Italian textile trade members are planned to stimulate the sale of American mohair in these foreign markets.

They are a continuation of similar exhibits held in Japan.

Broncos Suffer Loss To 2-A Ozona Lions

Game time arrived at Bronco Stadium Friday night with a big cloud of dust—both literally and figuratively. Just as one of the largest hometown crowds in recent football history were settling in the stands a 20-25 mile an hour northerly blow in. The dust did not really settle, but the Broncos did suffer their first defeat in two years at the determined and capable hands of the Ozona Lions.

Sonora's captains for the night Wade Richardson and Beto Villarreal, won the toss and chose to kick and take the advantage of the wind.

Henry Mata kicked into the end zone and the Bronco defense held the Lions on downs, and had their first possession of the night on their own 46-yard line. The Broncos moved to the Lions 25-yard line, with

Cleanup Important To Reduce Pecan Scab

Pecan producers and homeowners who have serious infestations of scab in their pecan trees can take measures this fall to reduce losses from the costly disease next year.

County Extension Agent D. C. Langford suggests that producers begin a sanitation program after this year's crop is harvested. This includes removing all old shucks and plant debris.

Disking, plowing or harrowing under fallen leaves and shucks also helps reduce scab infection next spring. Homeowners should make sure that yard trees are free of old shucks. All pecan leaves, shucks, etc. on lawns should be removed and burned, Langford added.

Pecan scab is a fungus disease that overwinters on infested shoots, old shucks and leaves on pecan trees, explains Langford. In spring the fungus begins to grow and produces spores that are carried by wind and rain to new growth on the trees. In the spring when the disease first appears, a fungicide can be applied to protect tender leaves, nuts and shoots. However, once the disease becomes well established, control is difficult.

Fungicides that are effective in controlling scab include zineb (Dithane Z78 or Parzate), dodine (Cyprex 65-W), Duter and Poloram.

Many pecan varieties in Texas are susceptible to scab damage, notes Langford. Thus it's important to clean up around the trees after harvest to keep the scab fungus from overwintering.

Preventing pecan scab is so much more efficient than trying to control the disease after it has infested trees next spring, adds the County Agent.

the key play coming on a 24 yard run by Steve Street. The Broncos had to settle for a field goal attempt which was wide of its mark.

The Lions took control on their own 20 and carried to the Bronco 20 before the drive bogged down.

The Broncos were forced to punt on the first play of the second quarter into the wind, and set up a first and 10 for Ozona on the Sonora 45-yard line. The Lions drove to 20 of Sonora and Ruben Tambunga cut over his right tackle for 20 yards and the first score of the night. David Sewell made it 7-0 with his PAT.

Sonora took over after the kickoff and rolled up five first downs before giving up the ball on the Ozona 39-yard line. The Lions made a first down on the 50, a reverse carried to the Bronco 15-yard line, and three plays later, Sewell scored from five yards out. The extra point was kicked, and the half ended with the Lions owning a 14-point lead.

SECOND HALF

During the third quarter each team had the ball four times. The Broncos only drive ended when Tambunga intercepted a Bronco pass deep in his own territory and ran it back out to his 34-yard line.

On the second play of the last period Sewell passed to Gerald Huff for 45 yards and good field position. Only two minutes into the quarter Sewell scored from 12 yards out and kicked the point making the score 21-0.

The Broncos took over on their own 38 after the kick and racked up five first downs on their 62-yard march for the only Bronco score of the night.

Mark Rousselot sneaked in from the one after Tryon Fields carried up the middle 12 yards, setting up the play. Rousselot passed to Jimmy Galindo for the 2-point conversion, and the final score—Ozona 21--Sonora, 8.

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK

National 4-H Week is to be observed this year from October 1-7. The activities of some 5 million young people, as the events of the week unfold, should serve once again to remind America that the great body of its citizens, especially its young, hold firm to the ideals and aspirations that make a great nation.

The interests of 4-H are broad and varied. They deal with the environment, nutrition, health, community betterment, management, careers and international programs.

4-H'ers fight air and water pollution, learn about land management, strive for safe use of insecticides and other chemicals. They promote health education and endeavor to eliminate harmful drug usage and smoking.

Special 4-H groups aid the mentally-retarded and physically-handicapped. They learn management techniques and how the free enterprise system works. They seek understanding of other cultures in over 80 countries.

This is 4-H today--a many faceted organization of youth keenly alive to the complex issues of our time. Observation of 4-H Week is an occasion for catching up on the many things that millions of young people are doing to make the U.S. a stronger and better nation.

Is Now The Time To Buy Land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ.....

The Big Cities Ought To Be Helped But There Is No Future In That

Editor's note: The Dry Devils Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devils River explains high finance this week, we think.

Dear editor:
I don't know whether it'll work or not, but as I understand it the Democrats and the Republicans are trying to finance their campaigns by suing each other.

First the Democrats sued the Republicans for a million dollars after the bugging incident at their headquarters, then the Republicans sued the Democrats for two and a half million for suing them, and at the last count the Democrats had re-filled their suit and upped their figure an extra two million.

As the campaign gets hotter and expenses mount, both parties ought to keep raising the ante so that when the race is over each will collect from the other enough to pay all the bills, less the lawyers' fees.

Some people think this doesn't make sense but that's because they aren't up on modern financing.

Take revenue sharing. As I understand it, the cities are all clamoring for Federal aid, saying they can't meet their bills and may go under without it. Washington is therefore considering dividing part of its revenue among them, when actually it hasn't got anything to divide; it's already operating in the red and running on borrowed money.

But that's beside the point in modern financing. The way you do it is simple; go ahead and write the checks, just so you don't exceed the statutory debt ceiling, and the way to stay within the ceiling is to keep raising it.

Understand, I'm not opposed to helping the cities, although I don't see much future in it. They may be in the same shape farmers were. Small, family-size farms were marginal, the experts used to say, and they ought to go under, let the big farms take over, they're more efficient. Small towns are marginal, they said, the future lies with the big cities. Well, some of the big farms, like the big cities, aren't doing so well.

Russia for example is just one big farm and you know where she's buying her wheat.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

SPIN OF THE WHEEL

Life is a gamble, you say? Each day is a spin of the wheel of chance, and your destiny goes along with the spot where the ball lands or the place where the cards fall.

Is this true? Are we all really helpless victims of circumstance? If you think so, reconsider!

We make our own decisions! Sometimes they are right, sometimes they are wrong, but they belong to us—not to chance. Perhaps that is why we all need help, inspiration and self-dignity. We need to know that as God's children, our faith comes only as a gift from Him.

Where do we find all this? Well, we start to find it in the Church. Shown the way, the rest is up to us. Why not go to church next Sunday?

the town came pretty close to attaining the goal the editor described.

Ed S. Briant, sheriff of the county, was shot and killed on the street in 1892. Bill Stewart, who did the shooting, was hanged without trial the next afternoon.

Two gamblers, Walter Sapp and Frank Johns, shot each other during a card game February 17, in the Old Ranch Saloon. Sapp died that night, but Johns lingered on for ten days.

Old Cyclone, a wild bronc owned by Ace Robinson, killed one of Robinson's top ranch hands in June, 1895, and John Stewart rode Cyclone to a state of exhaustion the following day in punishment.

In 1895 a herd of 2,300 muttons was stolen by Mexicans and driven across the Rio Grande at the Old Brown Ranch. Owner of the herd was John T. Cooper, Sonora, and this was his third such loss in five years. Tom Kileen, foreman, and Cooper trailed the muttons to Eagle Pass, but were unsuccessful in regaining the $5,000 loss.

Such was Sonora, peaceful valley, in its youth!

(The following appeared in Frank X. Tolbert's column in the January 4, 1969 Dallas Morning News. If any of our readers have information on the Origin of Juno's name, the "Devil" would appreciate knowing other stories on the subject.)

Juno, Texas, is on the Devils River in Val Verde County, 68 miles north of Del Rio and fairly high to Roy Bean's old judicial seat at Langtry. Some time ago in Juno, I was told the village was first called You Know, Texas.

This was because a local bootlegger when asked if he sold booze would keep repeating the phrase, "you know, you know", until he had time to size up the apparent customer, who just might be a liquor agent.

Well, Llewellyn Notely of Teague, Freestone County, a

A daughter, Lesa Louise, was born September 23, 1972, at Richardson, to Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Wheelis. The baby weighed 7 pounds, 4 ounces.

The paternal grandparents are Mrs. Harold Wickham of Dallas and Ted Wheelis of Lubbock in Juno.

"You mean you taught school in the Silver Exchange Saloon?" I asked.

"No, the leading trustee of the Juno school was the saloon keeper, and that's why I signed the contract in the saloon," said Mr. Notely.

In their last pre-District game of the season, the Broncos were surpassed by the Ozona Lions by a margin of 21 to 8.

Coach Hill feels that the Broncos have not been consistent enough on their offense and defense and haven't made the really big play yet. Taking advantage of this fact, the Lions were not afraid of the Broncos and played very close to the line.

Overall, Sonora didn't perform badly against a really good ball club.

Five boys were unable to play last Friday night due to the flu and earlier injuries, but they should be in playing condition again by October 20, when they will play Robert Lee, after the open weekend.

This Friday evening the Broncos begin their District play against the Menard Yellow-jackets. The game will be played here, beginning at 7:30.

The Spirit Stick was once again awarded to the Senior class at last Friday's pep rally.

—SHS—

The 8th grade Colts played a fine game against Eldorado last Thursday, but the Eagles managed to slip by them with a score of 12 points to our 8.

—SHS—

The Junior Varsity galloped over the Eagles last Thursday evening for a victory of 28 to 0 over the Eldorado Junior Varsity.

This Thursday the 7th and 8th grade boys will play in Ozona, beginning at 5; the Junior Varsity will play the Lions here, beginning at 6:30.

Fires and Failures

Every hour fire destroys or damages 67 American homes. Every hour and twenty minutes, one person—most frequently a child or elderly person—dies in a dwelling fire.

These figures, from National Fire Protection Association research, are the measure of our failure to heed fire hazards, and the measurable result of our failure to correct them.

There is no mystery about the causes of most home fires. A carelessly discarded cigarette is left to smolder in an overstuffed chair, a portable oil heater is refilled while burning, electrical circuits are overloaded, uncleaned rubbish becomes a breeding place for fire.

The causes of most fire deaths in homes is no mystery. Lives are lost when the simple rules of safety from fire are violated—smoking in bed, leaving children alone in the house, neglecting to teach youngsters that matches and lighters are not playthings.

A critical failure is being unprepared for fire emergencies in the home—no family planning of escape routes, no periodic family fire drill to make sure that both adults and children can act quickly and without panic.

Fires represent failure. Fire Prevention Week is a time to recognize this fact, and to act—to remove hazards, to reform habits.

Your actions and attitude now can make you and your family safe from the tragic consequences of fire in the months ahead.

GUESS WHO?

Lone Star Awards Second Contract

Whittaker Pipeline Constructors in Houston has been given a contract for an undisclosed amount to construct some 118 miles of Lone Star Gas Company's 400-mile, 36-inch pipeline from the Delaware Basin in West Texas to Dallas.

There were nine bids submitted for the job which will involve spreads four and five. Booth Services Inc. of Houston was given a contract in August for the first three spreads comprising more than 180 miles, and work has been under way since early September.

Whittaker, using one crew, began dithering early this month. Completion of the two spreads is expected by January 15, 1973, and the first three spreads will be finished a month earlier.

Inventions on the sixth and final spread will be mailed soon with replies expected by mid-October. The entire pipeline is scheduled for completion by March 1, 1973.

October is National Pork Month!

Ribs Ranchero

October is a great time to discover how pork fits any taste. Especially since today's pork is produced for the most in nutrition. Contains three times as much thiamin (nerve food) as any other meat too. And it has more protein, less fat and fewer calories. Plus it's more digestible.

Don't forget Ribs Ranchero, like all pork dishes, takes on even more flavor and versatility when you sauce to taste. Especially if you use either Kraft regular, hickory smoke, onion bits, garlic or hot style barbecue sauce.

Ribs Ranchero

Spareribs Orange Slices
Kraft Hot or Regular Barbecue Sauce

Cut spareribs into 4-rib portions. Place on rack of roasting pan, cover, bake at 350°, 1½ hours. Remove cover, brush generously with barbecue sauce, continue baking 1 hour, turning every 15 minutes and brushing generously with barbecue sauce. Brush orange slices with barbecue sauce; bake with ribs last 15 minutes.

To grill: 1½ hours or until well done, turning every 15 minutes and brushing generously with barbecue sauce. Brush orange slices with barbecue sauce and grill with ribs last 10 minutes.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

This is a story of drama, mystery, pain, hope, frustration, and miracles. It's a story that directly concerns 40 million or more Americans, the story of rheumatic disease, among the greatest cripplers of mankind.

These cripplers are gout, arthritis, rheumatic fever, and a host of allied ailments that affect joints and muscles. They claim 12 million victims in this country by medical estimate.

Today arthritis and other rheumatic diseases are among the greatest causes of chronic disability in the United States. The total number of victims is as great as the total population of the State of Texas. Of the 12 million estimated to be ill, a quarter-million are completely disabled.

Rheumatism and arthritis rarely kill. But this family of diseases includes rheumatic fever, one of the biggest killer diseases among children 5 to 19 years old.

The word "rheumatism" refers to the pains and aches that result from a good many different causes. It includes several kinds of arthritis—rheumatoid, osteoarthritis, and arthritis due to injury and infections. It also includes gout, and rheumatic fever, and rheumatic diseases of tissues other than the joints.

More than four million Americans suffer from rheumatoid arthritis, in many ways the worst of the rheumatic cripplers. Eighty percent of the cases of this disease occurs between the ages of 25 and 50, and it usually starts between 35 and 40. Rheumatoid arthritis also affects children, and sometimes waits until after middle age to strike. It is three times more common among women than men.

This type of arthritis is a chronic inflammation of the connective tissue of joints and their sheaths which bind muscles and other tissue together. The tissue lining the joint cavities seems to be particularly affected, and the gristle becomes diseased and may be destroyed. Bony growths sometimes occur on joints and nearby tissues, causing more stiffness and pain on movement. The spine may be involved, leading to stiffness or curvature.

But it is not just a disease of joints. Rather it is a general or systemic illness, and may involve the heart, nerves, muscles, and other tissues. Often the first complaints in this disease are tiredness or exhaustion, loss of weight, and muscular stiffness.

And what is the cause? Researchers are working hard to find out. There are many theories. One is infection, but the guilty viruses have not yet been identified. Another is that it is a change in metabolism—the way your body uses foodstuffs and carries on its work. A breakdown in the complex balance of body hormones also is suspected. According to other theories it is a disease of blood vessels in the affected areas, a disease of the nervous system, and emotion-spawned or psychogenic disease, or some kind of hypersensitivity or "allergy." Many things are known, but we do not yet know all the facts.

Of all the peculiar things about rheumatoid arthritis, some physicians were struck by two facts over the years. One was that the disease disappeared in women when they became pregnant, although it would reappear after each birth. Another was that the disease usually disappeared in people who came down with jaundice.

Some change in the output of one or more body hormones—the chemical controllers produced by body glands—was suspected. And the evidence pointed to one of the hormones from the adrenal glands lying over the kidneys. One of these hormones, made synthetically after years of work, is cortisone. This discovery has proved effective in the treatment of arthritis and other rheumatic disease. But much more work and research is still to be done.

Lake Amistad Has Come A Long Way

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department personnel under the direction of biologist Bill Follis are working on Lake Amistad to determine future fisheries programs for the sprawling border lake.

Amistad and the department have had a kinship since 1965 when fisheries crews set up shop in nearby Del Rio.

A lot has changed since that time and department biologists now work out of San Angelo.

But it all started with the initial surveys of Lake Walk and Devils Lake, bodies of water which were eventually inundated by Amistad.

The Parks and Wildlife Department stocked some 276,000 bass fingerlings in Lake Walk up to 1965 and 290,000 in Devils Lake.

Stocking recommendations in 1966 for the nine Amistad Basin Lakes amounted to almost 400,000 fish. The majority were largemouth bass.

Department activity really hit its stride in 1967 after construction of Amistad was 80 percent complete. That year, the department placed some 70,000 channel catfish in the Amistad Basin and 1,331,750 largemouth bass fingerlings and fry.

In 1968, the department established 18 stocking and access sites and 1,375,192 fish were dumped into the waters.

Young fish caught in early 1969 were in excellent condition.

The department's stocking program for the main basin and the dam were completed in 1969. As of that year, the State

Hair Care

Today's trend in hair fashion moves toward a more shaped, yet natural look requiring special care.

According to Mrs. Becky Culp, clothing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "backcombed and sprayed styles for women, as well as the unkempt flowing locks of the younger male generation," have retreated from the fashion scene.

"An abundance of summer sun, wind and outdoor recreation, however, can turn any man or woman's preferred hair fashion into a look that is ragged and unhealthy," the specialist warned.

Nothing can restore a hair to its original condition once it's split, Mrs. Culp noted. "The only real cure is to cut the split end off before it can move up the hair shaft and split further. A professional trim every six to eight weeks will keep split ends to a minimum," she said.

Heat from electric rollers and alcohol from hairspray can dry and split ends when used to excess. Backcombing and teasing hair, brush rollers and sleeping on rollers overnight also encourage hair ends to split.

Rinsing chlorine and salt water from the hair as soon as possible eliminates the drying effects they have on hair.

"No amount of external hair care can alter basically unhealthy hair—the result of an unhealthy body. Physical exercise, and adequate diet, sleep and an emotional calm are the basic essentials to healthy hair," Mrs. Culp concluded.

A thermostat is a heat sensing device which automatically turns equipment on or off. As soon as the temperature reaches the point where you have set the thermostat, it turns the equipment on or off. On electric ranges, air conditioners, home heating equipment, irons and dozens of other pieces of equipment, thermostats provide the convenience of accurate temperature.

comfort...

But many people use thermostats as switches, setting them too high, then manually setting them too low. This wastes energy and runs up your utility bill. To save money, set your thermostat and let it do the rest.

and

Big savings may be realized by proper use of thermostats on heating or cooling equipment. You should set your heating thermostat at about 68 degrees at night. In summer, set your electric air conditioner at about 72 degrees. You'd be surprised to learn how many people try to keep homes at 80 degrees in winter and 64 degrees in summer. This is not only expensive, but actually uncomfortable and unhealthy.

Also turn off thermostats and close doors in unused rooms. Turn down your thermostat when you leave the house unoccupied overnight. Use your thermostats wisely... for electrical comfort, convenience and economy.

Either-Sex Hunting Of Deer Shows Merit

An experimental deer management technique has involved a number of counties in the past two seasons and will be tried in Sutton County this year, according to officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Landowners are allowed to determine the number of antlerless deer that will be removed from their property. The only restriction is that a special tag issued to the landowner must be attached to each harvested antlerless deer. Results from post-season surveys show that this method of "either-sex" hunting has considerable merit. Little difference in harvest was indicated from past seasons when "doe permits" were issued to landowners on an acreage basis. The new method is less complicated than the old permit system and places more responsibility for deer herd management on the landowner. In the past, biologists say, landowners rarely used more than 50% of the permits issued, being conservative in the harvest of does. This conservatism could be attributed to the economic value of deer, since the deer herd is a source of income to many ranchers. Where deer have reached the carrying capacity of the range, both sexes should be harvested to prevent the production of surplus fawns, and increased pressure on the food supply. The results of an overpopulation are a high browse line or "hedging" of brush, deer which show backbone and ribs, and losses from disease or malnutrition. An advantage to the hunter is that deer respond readily to artificial feeding and are not as wild as normal deer, since they are preoccupied with finding a meal. Research on wildlife management areas throughout Texas has been the basis for establishing the either-sex season. On the Kerr Wildlife Area, for example, either-sex hunts have been held since 1956. The result has been the establishment of a 50-50 buck-doe ratio and a reduction in the deer herd to the land's carrying capacity. Legal hunting pressure, although intense in some areas of the state, will not deplete a deer herd if habitat and food requirements are supplied. One advantage of either-sex hunting is to reduce some of the hunting pressure on the bucks, giving them an equal chance to survive the season and to reach maturity. Increased knowledge of the habits and requirements of deer has led to the experimental use of the either-sex season in many Texas counties this year. Data will be collected in each county to determine the results of the season in every situation. Biologists are aware that factors such as habitat destruction, drought, or disease coupled with legal and illegal hunting can cause a severe decline in deer populations. Such declines will be monitored and wildlife officials will be prepared to enforce regulations to remove hunting pressure from the herd. The upward trend in most areas of the state is reflected by the 1971 harvest of an estimated 280,000 deer from a herd of over 3 million. The either-sex season may not prove to be workable in all areas of Texas, but will be a foundation for improved deer management techniques.

BILL WHITEHEAD, president of the local wildlife association, served as master of ceremonies at the Exotic Game Seminar held at the 4-H Center September 27. On the program were Robert Kenning, Dr. Bob Ragsdale, and wildlife specialist Charles Ramsey and Dr. Milo Shult of Uvalde. The 40 persons who attended the seminar, heard the speakers emphasize that a lot of prior planning is required to set up a program of raising the exotic game. In order to maintain and operate a place for this type hunting, considerable investment of both money and time would be required. At the seminar, ranchers learned that it might possibly require seven to eight years for exotic game to pay off, as it would take that long before trophy animals would be produced. In the raising of exotic game a lot of time is involved since the game is hunted the year around, unlike the regular hunting period for deer.

Presented in the public interest by the Texas Republican Party, Dr. George Willeford, chairman.
