Com. Court Accepts Co. Treas. Resignation

Members of the Sutton County Commissioners Court met Tuesday and accepted the resignation of Mrs. E. Lucille Hutcherson as County Treasurer. Her resignation will become effective May 1, said County Judge Web Elliott.

Mrs. Hutcherson, 81, was the former Lucille Grimland, and her husband, the late B. W. Hutcherson, was sheriff of Sutton County for 32 years, serving from 1916 to 1942, and again elected to office in 1946 to serve until 1954. Mrs. Hutcherson was appointed to the office of the County Treasurer in 19-59, replacing Mrs. George Phillips, who resigned. Elected to office in 1960, she has served continuously since that time.

In submitting her resignation, Mrs. Hutcherson said, " I want to thank all the county officials who have been so helpful during my years of work and association with them. I have appreciated the support of the people of this county, and have enjoyed my years of serving as your County Treasurer." Mrs. Hutcherson said she is resigning following the recommendation of her physician, who advised her to vacate the office due to health reasons. County Judge Elliott said commissioners court will appoint someone to replace Mrs. Hutcherson as soon as they find a qualified person to assume the duties of the office. Judge Elliott said the court is taking applications and will be pri-

Kindergarten Spring Roundup

A Spring Roundup of pupils who will be in Kindergarten or first grade for the 1973-74 school year will be held in the school cafeteria Monday, May 14, at 2:30 p.m., according to Clay Cade, principal.

The state supported Kindergarten will include children born on or before September 1, 1967. This is for educationally handicapped and is on a voluntary basis. School districts are required to offer this Kindergarten program. The above dates are set by law.

A tuition kindergarten will be conducted on the same basis as in past years. Children must be ber 1, 1973, to be eligible to attend, Cade added.

He is reminding parents that it will not be necessary for a child to attend this meeting, nor will it be necessary for a parent to register children for first grade if he or she is now enrolled in Kindergarten. Persons unable to attend the Roundup, or know of a child that will be in either Kindergarten or first grade next year, should contact the elementary school at 387-2414.

The cooperation of parents is asked in order that more effective plans for the next school year can be made, Cade assert

Time For Sheep To Get Relief From Lice

At this season of the year in the Edwards Plateau and the Hill Country, some sheep are heavily infested with lice that are damaging their fleece and irritating their skin.

Sure signs of infestation are the sheep's efforts to get relief by biting and pulling at its wool, and patches of wool left on tree trunks, fence posts and other objects against which the sheep has rubbed itself vigorously.

"Such rubbing causes sores that are subject to infection and secondary complications, says Dr. Mike McWhorter, area entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University.

"The biting lice," says he, "live out their lives on the sheep, being transferred to other animals usually by physical contact. And the lice are generally at their peak number during the winter, when unfortunately treatment is impractical because of the heavy fleece.

Small numbers of lice also maintain themselves during the summer, only to become the source of heavier infestations during the winter.

Control of the lice is most effective when the sheep are treated with an insecticide within a few days after shear-

'Although insecticide should eliminate practically all lice from his sheep, the herdsman ought to treat those animals added to the flock, to prevent reinfestation," says McWhorter of the TAMU Agricultural Research and Extension Center at San Angelo.

Insecticides applied to sheep which have been freshly shorn will also aid in insuring the success of the screwworm pro-

McWhorter suggests using such effective insecticides as crotozyphos (Ciodrin), coumphos (Co-Ral), dioxathion (Delnav), ronnel (Korlan), diaznon, lindane, malthion, methoxychlor or toxaphene. He stresses, however, that ranchers should read and follow carefully the directions on the label for using the insecticides, and recommends as good reading the Extension Service publication, MP-691, Suggestions for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry, available in the office of the county Extension agent, local feed stores and the Sonora Wool and Mohair Company.

Former Sonoran At UTMB Poison Control Center

The following article appeared in the University of Texas Medical Branch hospital news at Galveston, and concerns former Sonoran, Michael D. Ellis, son of Mrs. Lea Roy Ald-

Providing a 24-hour service on information for use in poisoning emergencies; maintaining the antidotes for, and assisting in the treatment of, poisoning emergencies; and educating both the lay public and the medical community about the toxic materials in our enviornment are just a few of the man tasks taken on by the UTMB Poison Control Center in Gal-

Michael D. Ellis, Associate Director of the PCC and former Sonoran, stated that the Center handled 1,042 poisoning cases during 1972, and that he feels this year will show even more cases handled by the Center, due mostly to better reporting techniques and increased population.

Of the 712 total treated cases of poisonings during 1972, 316 of these cases were classified as self-poisonings (suicidal gesture intent, drug abuse).

"As the pressure of life-more white, female, between the ages of 15 and 35, will account for most of the frequent selfpoisonings," said Ellis. "We don't see many drug-abuse OD's; other agencies, such as the Inner Ear, the Bridge and St. Vincent's House, usually handle these... we get them only after they can't be helped elsewhere." (Galveston) The Poison Control Center 'hot line' rang. A two-year-old girl has just swallowed an un-

Ellis, clamly but quickly advised her to take the child immediately to her pediatrician or to the UTMB emergency room and have a chest X-ray made of the child to see if any of the cleaner has gotten into the lungs.

Referring to the constant prob lem of reporting and recording poisonings Ellis said, "We can get most of the information on the poisoning in the first sentence the caller speaks." That caller, for instance, told me the age, sex, name and the product ingested in her first sentence. "The Poison Control Center has most of the filed and written information on most frequently ingested harmful prodicts," he continued, "Files sc extensive that each physician could not possibly keep these sort of files. It's a constant battle for us to keep up with the latest products, contents and treatments of all the potentially harmful products on the market today.

"We have direct information on over 85 percent of all cal we get here now, ten percen we have indirect information and five percent we have to 'run around' a little on to find out what's in them. We seldom draw a blank!"

"If we suppose that the taxpayer or his tax service spent four hours on the average on each return, the total time amounted to the horrendous total of 30 million man-hours, or the equivalent of 150,000 men working 40 hours a week for 50 weeks a year -- ," Mr. Milton Firedman is said to have remarked, according to an Otter Tail Power Company publication, "and this does not include the time spent by employees of business enterprises in withholding taxes and preparing W-2s or by high-priced lawyers and accountants advising clients on tax matters or by the governmental employees on the other side of the Internal Happy Anniversary Revenue desk."

The National Safety Council has noted that safety belts are now available to about seven out of eight of all passenger car occupants, but the belts are being used only about 40 percent of the time, on the average. As a consequence, slightly more than one out of three car occupants are indicated to have been using their safety belts at any given time. Current information indicates that if all passenger car occupants used belts at all times, such use would save 8,000 to 10,000 lives annually. "In an attempt to prepare its

The newspapers say that many military bases are closing and you can bet that Washington is reminiscent of Churchill Downs with all of the jockeying that Congressmen are doing to keep the bases in their areas open. You can anticipate many rending squalls of anguish in those areas where the "sugar-teat" dries up (the bases close). It truly will represent an economic jolt to those areas. It might be well to take a frank look at the true role of the American peacetime military.

Our historic economic status prior to World War II was one of semi-hard times, with the exception of the late 1920's industrial expansion (over-expansion?). In times of military expansion, and foreign, for lack of a better word, adventure we seem to enjoy a boom in economy. A pattern begins to emerge, a minor slump in 1948 followed by the Berlin Airlift, a minor recession in 1950 followed by Korea, a little economic dip in 1960 followed by the Cuban confontation, and the Berlin Wall lare up. In the mid 60's it was the Vietnam quagmire. The pattern is there—is it a well executed Russian plan for office of OPA that persons travel our bankruptcy or is it engendered in native ineptitude? I don't have a clue, and it is not particularly pertinent to this line of thought, so pardon

What happens when an area Dried bulk blackeyed peas and has economic difficulties? The military bases are opened, and military personnel are moved into an area or military contracts are let in the area. Examples? Webb AFB in the 19-50's certainly didn't hurt Big Spring, reopening Laughlin AFB did not create visible sadness in Del Rio. Why was the F-111 purchased when there were cheaper airplanes offered?

The F-111 was a boon to Fort Worth and Chance-Vought. Why does a military population help so much in an area? Simply, they let go of a higher percentage of the money coming into their hands than any segment of our population. Bases provide civilian jobs and contractual benefits to local vendors. It would appear that our peacetime military is merely an expedient of government aid (or political gratuity?) to a local area.

F. D. Roosevelt in the 1930's went throught the NRA, PWA, CCC, TVA, WPA, Student Aid, and a dozen other abbreviations for government sugar plums to ease the depression. By 1937 it was better, but things were still pretty tight. In 1938 and 1939 foreign contracts (a fallout of European war clouds) gave us a boostthen in 1940-41 with national military preparation the economy took off like a rocket. With occasional shots in the arm it has been going ever since.

Looking at our military in peacetime, disregarding all the pomp, ceremony and immaculate uniforms we can detect a distinct similiarity. It is quite apparent that our military establishment in peacetime in the 1940's, 1950's, 1960's and 1970's is quite effective for ranch Monday. Henry says his sheep are in fine shape and that possibly just as necessary. They reach every facet of our society from universities, through industry, all the way to the renters of marginally substandard housing (like discarded aircraft engine boxes rented for $65 a month at Rantoul, Illinois). The military is the expedient mechanization which allows government help to a lot of True, $250 uniforms have replaced patched overalls, and there is not a shovel in evidence outside the Corps of Engineers, but the similiarity of function is still there. The major deviation from the 1930 WPA, after having used general officer facilities on occasion, is outhouse improvement you simply would not believe.

Philosopher on his bitterweed ally for years. If weather foreranch on Dry Devils River reports casters were as smart they'd on some odds and ends this week, stick to predicting the weather Dear editar:

Despite the fact the economy is booming, there are six major railraods now bankrupt. Such a statistic is bad for national morale. Why doesn't Washington get the six to merge and then we could claim we have only one bankrupt railroad?

A new word has come out of Washington that I'm in favor of. On finding what he'd been saying for weeks was wrong, a press secretary explained to reporters that from now on all those other statements are "inoperative". I hope you will do everything you can to spread the use of this word. I'd like to be able to get by with telling my banker that my promise to pay that note six months later is now inoperative.

Some cities, trying to whip traffic congestion, are considering passing a law making it illegal for a commuter to come into the city in a car by himself. He's got to have three or four passengers with him or he won't be allowed in. This might reduce the number of cars, but not the number of people. What a choice: having

This doesn't quite clean off my desk, there're still some more things stacked on it, but I've leamed, even if the Watergate people haven't, it doesn't pay to dig too deep. Yours faithfully,

Western Party Honors Richardsons

1973 Sonora High School graduate candidates and sons of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Richardson, were nonored with a western dance in Del Rio, Saturday evening. Hosts for the dance, held in the San Felipe Country Club, were Mrs. F. H. Whitehead and Mr. and Mrs. F.H. Whitehead, Jr.

A "this is your life" theme was used in decorating. Murals, painted for the occasion by artist Jo New, were arranged around the ballroom. Each mural represented a phase in the boys' life from early childhood and continuing to depict their special interests.

Music for dancing was provided by Darrell McCall and the Tennessee Volunteers. Relatives and friends from surrounding towns joined Wade and Wesley in an evening of fun.

Stricter Standards For School Bus Drivers Introduced

A bill requiring stricter standards for school bus drivers has been introduced in the Texas Senate by Senator W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland.

"Safety in the operation of our school buses is far too important to permit the continuance of lax standards for drivers. A school bus can only be as safe as the person who operates it," said Senator Snelson.

Present law only requires that a school bus driver be 17 years of age and be licensed as a chauffeur. Snelson's bill contains requirements for annual physical examinations, preemployment driver's license checks to insure acceptable driving records, and certification by completion of a driver training course in School Bus Safety Education. This course will be jointly instituted and administered by the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"There will be an estimated 1200 school bus collisions in Texas this year," said Snelson. If any number of these can be eliminated in the future by more carefully selected and better educated bus drivers, then the purpose of this bill will be accomplished."

In line with his views on school bus safety, Snelson has another bill pending in the Senate which will eliminate all standees on buses by the 1975-76 school year.

When Dad went to our local bank for a business loan, I asked him, "hehere does the bank get the money it lends you?" Dad explained that it comes mostly from local people who place their savings in the bank. Without these savings, any community would lack the funds to finance houses, barms, and business expansions. Dad said, Community growth - employment too- depends an these local savings accounts."
