Proclamation

WHEREAS, more Americans each year are choosing boating as the ideal way to relax with their families and friends. All too often, however, what starts out as a pleasant cruise ends in tragedy because boatmen fail to teach their families to swim, fail to properly equip their craft with life preservers and other protective devices, or fail to instruct their passenger on the use of such devices prior to a boating cruise; and

WHEREAS, every year, about 1,300 lives are lost in boating accidents. These fatalities can be reduced and boating made more pleasurable if those who engage in it will emphasize boating safety rules; and

WHEREAS, recognizing the need for that emphasis, the Congress, by a joint resolution approved June 4, 1958 (72 Stat. 179), has requested the President to proclaim annually the week which includes July 4, as National Safe Boating Week.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Norman W. Rousset, Mayor of the City of Sonora, do hereby designate the week beginning July 1, 1973 as NATIONAL SAFE BOATING WEEK in Sonora.

I urge all who use our waterways to acquire those skills essential to their own safety and that of others and to apply them carefully.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 14 day of June, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and seventy-three.

NORMAN W. ROUSSELOT,
Mayor, the City of Sonora

REPRESENTING SUTTON COUNTY 4-H Club and winning first in the State Junior Range Judging competition held at Angelo State University in San Angelo May 26, were Paula Friess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Turney Friess; Valerie Tedford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tedford;

Mark Van Hoozer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Van Hoozer, and Gregg Tedford, son of the Tedfords. The team scored 932 points with Van Hoozer scoring 335 for top individual honors, and Paula scoring 310 for second place in the event.

Flag Day

Flag Day, June 14, is a time for us to fly "The Stars and Stripes" and prove that the spirit of liberty under representative government is still alive and that the sacrifices millions have made over the years were not in vain.

Most Americans don't realize how good they have it. Few know the hopelessness of real, grinding poverty—even our poor live more comfortably than those of most other nations.

Americans have never lived through the hell of air raids and bombings in their own country which gut entire cities and tear families asunder.

True, we have our problems, but thanks to the strength of the American system we, the people, can tackle them head-on and decide our own fate through our representative form of government. The good things in life may all be traced back to this one basic foundation stone, the American system.

So if you feel something tug at your heart at the sight of "The Stars and Stripes" fluttering majestically in the crisp morning breeze, don't apologize. It is that kind of love of country and its freedoms that will one day turn this world into the peaceful home for mankind that God meant it to be.

Our economy is reminiscent of an obese woman in a foundation three or four sizes too small. Something has to give somewhere. Let's speculate on where the breaks will occur and what their nature will be. It is a fascinating speculation, involving: Can inflation be checked without recession? (We do not say depression anymore). To avoid recession will we be thrown into runaway inflation? What are the effects to be anticipated on personal and economic freedoms?

If we require that our freedoms be retained, we have only two alternatives left. Inflation or Recession, of course a rigidly controlled economy is a real alternative whether we like it or not. Let's ignore it, however, and look at inflation and its opposite sister.

Inflation, we Americans, protected by our dollar which we have so badly abused, hardly know. It is an eroding of a money's buying power which evolves into a self-accelerating vicious circle. I never really understood until I looked at the French Franc financing of the Holland Tunnel about 1908, the rate was one franc for one dollar. Thirty-eight years later four friends and I ate dinner at Maxims on Rue Royale in Paris, one of the world's finest restaurants.

Admittedly I have an ability to wrap around groceries which utterly puts a hungry horse to shame (not exceptional for that group). Unfortunately my appetite is surpassed only by my incomparable ability to get stuck with the check. It was 42,000 French Francs. Realizing that six hungry Boy Scouts could not eat all they could buy for six francs in 1937—that is inflation.

I have been told about the German inflation of the 1930's many times. Workmen were given their noon hours and an hour's break at mid-morning and at mid-afternoon. At each break they were paid and rushed to the market while their money still had buying power. The horrible taste of that inflation doesn't come through until you read the meticulous German police reports of the sale of human sausage. One never realizes how fortunate one is to be an American. I have a hard time conceiving anything "tastier" than San Angelo's municipal water supply. The fact remains, however, that a nation sold its freedom (which was never fully understood) to escape from explosively runaway inflation.

Inflation, to us, should not be anything comparable to Europe, but it can be very painful to those who have the least capability to withstand it. If our political powers cannot balance our books (a heretofore undemonstrated capability) it will be hair-raising. At every level from personal to national we cannot pay out more than comes in if we are to avoid the wrackful ravages of inflation.

Recession (in the 1929 magnitude) is distasteful but it has one characteristic which swings the balance in its favor. That characteristic is an economic force which pushes toward recovery through increased international product market ability. Unfortunately our affinity for foreign products, our "buying friends", and our international trade ineptness must go if this recovery force is to function.

You will say "We showed a positive balance of trade in April!" Did we subtract foreign aid, subsidies to international organizations, charity, loans (which we know will never be repaid) and other boondoggles? I think not. The cost of the 300,000 troops in Europe alone replaces black ink with red.

An export versus import index is like watching a football game through a thin slit in the fence—you have a heck of a time seeing the whole game. I think both you and I should buy a ticket and watch this whole game very carefully, because only one thing is certain—that we will be (either willing or unwilling) full participants in postgame activities.

Three new cases of screw-worms in Sutton County were positively identified by the Southwest Animal Health Laboratory during the past week, according to County Agent D. C. Langford. The fresh outbreak was the first in the past several weeks and may indicate a lack of vigilance on the part of ranchers. Rains last month and the advent of summer weather make it all the more important for stockmen to watch their stock closely for any infested wounds.

Grub Control Way Of Leading To Higher Profits

"It's almost a sure bet," said Dr. Mike McWhorter, "that the cowman who takes money from his pocket now to control the grubs in his beef cattle, will put even more money in his pocket at sale time next year."

McWhorter, entomologist in West Central Texas for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A & M University, is concerned about the findings in a recent survey.

Said he: "The latest National Beef Carcass Damage Survey found that about 80 percent more carcasses had been damaged by grubs than had been found damaged in 1971-72."

For the Edwards Plateau and the Hill Country cowmen wanting to control grubs, time to do so is during the spring, and particularly before mid-July.

It is the springtime habit of the heel fly (adult form of the grub) to lay its eggs on the hairs covering certain parts of the animal's lower body.

Within a week, said McWhorter, larvae (worms) from the eggs crawl down the hairs, penetrate the skin and migrate for about eight months through the animal's body.

Destination of the larvae is the animal's backbone, where sure signs of infestation are the familiar "warbles," meaning that at those spots the larvae are damaging the carcass and hide.

McWhorter said that grubs, in addition to damaging carcasses (for which the cowman may be docked at the market), also reduce the weight of calves at weaning time, the milk production of older animals, and the efficiency of converting feed to beef.

He said grub control will be most effective when systemic insecticides are used, before the middle of July, in the form of sprays or dips, backline pour-ons or feed additives, or mineral mixes.

He listed the following insecticides that have been proved effective as sprays: coumaphos (Co-Ral 25% wettable powder), trichlorfon (Neguvon 80% soluble powder), and Ruelene 25 E.

For effective backline pour-ons: 4% Co-Ral, 9.4% Ruelene (Ruelene 8R), and 8% trichlorfon (Neguvon). And for effective feed additives: Ridez, Steer-Kleer, and Trozene FM (40% ronnel).

"Insecticides used improperly can injure the cowman and his cattle," McWhorter cautioned. "This can be avoided easily if directions on the container are followed carefully. The cowman also needs to time the use of the insecticide right, so that it will not be found later as a residue in the meat of the slaughtered animal."

More information on grub control is available from county extension agents, and in the Extension Service publication available from them, MP 691, Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry.

The Devil's River Philosopher Sez..... He Gets Riled Up Over People Who Are Objecting To 4-Day Work Week

Editor's note: The Dry Devils Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devils River gets tangled up with economics this week, more or less.

Dear editor: According to an article I read in a newspaper an insurance salesman dropped in my front yard while he was trying to out-run my dog to his car, many manufacturing plants around the world are experimenting with numerous variations of the 4-day work week.

Under the 4-day week, a person works four 10-hour days a week, has the other three days off. Some firms are going even further, having their employees work three 12-hour days a week, and some are trying with the idea of every other week, or in some rare cases every other month.

This is a step in the right direction, but what I'm waiting for is a job you have to work at only every other year.

In regard to the 4-day work week, some government employees already have been put on such a schedule, but now some smart-alec has come along with the argument that you could get the same amount of work done and save money to boot by dropping two out of every six workers and have the remaining four work six days a week.

This is striking at the very heart of the economic system, the government, and possibly the Constitution itself.

You may think four people can do the work of six, but that's because you don't understand government. You don't understand the theory of full employment. Why do you think seven men were used to burglarize the Watergate when two could have done the job just as well? You trying to increase unemployment?

Or take the U.S. Senate. If two Senators can represent the 15 million or so people in the state of New York, how, under this work theory, can you justify having two represent the state of South Dakota with only about 800,000 people? And both pairs at the same salary. You want to cut the Senate half in two?

You can see where this theory will lead you. Let's leave bad enough alone.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Dave calls this his wedding picture. He was best man when Jane and I were married, and a prouder boy you'll never see. He loved Jane from the first. He never thought of her as a stepmother. Jane's zest for life, her merry ways, her love for God were happily contagious. The unhappy years we'd known faded. Soon we were marching off to church with her as though it were our own idea. Tomorrow Dave will be married, and I'll be his best man. He and Susan are a fine couple. Jane and I don't worry about their marriage. Their relationship has a depth that comes from a mutual love for God and His Church. In the years ahead, their church will be a bedrock of understanding and strength. The Church is the starting point for the happiness that every family needs.

Kenneth Stokes Family Returns To Dar Es Salam, East Africa, For Duty

Kenneth W. Stokes, Sonora, formerly of Bryan, is returning to Dar Es Salam, East Africa, for a second two-year tour of duty as Agricultural Economist in the United Republic of Tanzania.
 For the last two years, he has been working with Ministry of Agriculture and Cooperatives, under the auspices of US/AID. He has been a member of a project-preparing team working on a World Bank loan application, a 25 million dollar project which will involve about 18 countries of the IDA, which is part of the World Bank. This money will be used primarily to develop more large scale ranches, and Ujamaa ranges, which is the Swahili word for familyhood. This is their form of socialism, or communal producer cooperatives. Stokes was recruited for this position by the Near East Foundation, America's oldest overseas organization.
 Stokes has seen significant changes in the last two years. Tanzania has a great potential for beef production, but also has serious marketing problems and hoof and mouth disease. Most of the meat is consumed internally, but some is exported to Zambia and there is a tremendous potential for export to Zaire. In a few years they expect to be oriented to a European market. Stokes sees the most pressing need to train personnel at a rate that they can be utilized, and adding experience to people who are already trained.
 Stokes, who was born in Lubbock and has lived several years in San Angelo, earned his B.S. and M.S. from Texas Tech University in Lubbock and has worked for his Ph.D. at Texas A & M as Agricultural Economist. There he had a graduate research assistantship and has taught at West Texas State University, and worked in Kenya as an agricultural economist.
 Stokes will be returning with his wife Anita, formerly Anita Thompson of Sonora, where her family still lives, and his two daughters. The Stokes family enjoyed the African experience and are glad to be returning.
 There were no health problems, and Robin 7, is now in second grade and Susan, 4, is in nursery school.
 Near East Foundation currently has active programs in five countries in the Near East and seven in Africa. It is a non-political, non-sectarian organization that provides technical assistance to developing countries and is supported almost entirely by annual contributions and legacies from thousands of Americans.

National Safe Boating Week Set

Numerous civic organizations and boat enthusiasts from a large West Texas area will team up July 1 through July 7 to mark the observance of National Safe Boating Week, according to Neville Haynes, chairman of National Safe Boating Week, Flotilla 76, United States Coast Guard Auxiliary.
 Haynes, of Alpine, said the theme of this year's observance—proclaimed annually by the President—is "Safe Boating Is No Accident."
 A Staff Communications Officer of the USCG-AUX, Haynes said that free boat Courtesy Examination by members of Flotilla 76 will be available Sunday, July 1 at Amistad Lake, Del Rio. The examiners will check each boat brought in to make sure it is seaworthy and properly equipped.
 Displays of properly rigged boats will be shown throughout the week at Inland Marine in Del Rio.
 Mayors of Del Rio, Bracketville, Eagle Pass, Uvalde, Alpine, Sanderson, and Mayor Norman Rousselot are being asked to proclaim the week of July 1 through 7 as National Safe Boating Week.

Billing Errors

With so many people using credit today, the possibility of billing errors increases greatly.
 "When an error occurs, a consumer may have difficulty locating the cause of error and the right person to correct it," says Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.
 Should an error occur, the specialist offered the following steps to correct it.
 1. Notify the store immediately, informing them of the error.
 2. Obtain the name of the person contacted, making a note of it and date contacted. This information is helpful in case of necessary future contacts.
 3. If contact is made in writing, don't send it with the bill—and don't write on the bill itself. Keep a copy of any letters sent for future reference.
 4. Send a registered letter to the credit manager of company president if you experience difficulty obtaining adjustments on legitimate complaints.
 In the letter, explain complaint in complete detail and give facts in a courteous manner. Also request that the post office furnish the signature of the person receiving the letter.
 5. If still unable to settle a complaint, write the local Credit Bureau and Better Business Bureau. Provide details and copies of bills, receipts, cancelled checks or other evidence that prove your point. Also send a carbon copy of this contract to the merchant involved.
 "Usually with accurate records and a business-like manner, consumers can correct billing errors," the specialist continued.
 "Legitimate businesses are anxious to retain the consumer's good will—and keep him as a customer."
 Mrs. Myers also listed several things consumers can do to help prevent billing errors in the first place.
 —Use a credit card when charging merchandise.
 —Examine sales slips to insure all spaces are correctly filled in and no unnecessary marks included.
 —Before signing a bill, make sure the total is correct and in the right place.
 —Save duplicate sales slips and check bills against them.
 —Know when billing dates are and make or mail payments in time to arrive before deadlines.
 —Return the correct portion of a bill with remittance.
 —Check bills for errors as soon as they're received.

Pecos Bill To Ride The Travel Trail Overnight Stop, Cavern Tour Here

Another Texas legend will live again as plans finalize for the promotion of the 734-mile West Texas Trail—Pecos Bill, who once rode a cyclone into West Texas (as the legend goes) has been selected by the recently-formed Texas Pecos Trail Association as the central figure in a planned campaign to promote, and identify the Trail as well as its sponsors and Trail Riders.

Motel reservations have been made here for the group Friday night. While here they plan to tour the Caverns of Sonora.

According to Association Chairman Frank Lokey of Monahans, the drive will end June 17, the final day of an announced 2½-day trail trip by motor caravan leaving Odessa on the afternoon of June 15. Most of the persons making the tour will be from the Midland-Odessa area, but it is hoped that others will join the group along the way and tour at least part of the exciting Pecos Trail.

One of the ten travel trails in Texas, it covers an area west to Pecos, south to Del Rio and Bracketville, east to Junction and North to Midland. Al McGehee of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce is secretary of the tour association.

Leaving Odessa, the tour should stop at Midland, Rankin, McCombs, Iraan, Sheffield, Ozona, Sonora, Rocksprings, Bracketville, Del Rio, Comstock, Ozona, Langtry, Dryden, Sanderson, Fort Stockton, Pecos, Monahans, and back to Odessa-Midland.

A chartered bus will lead the caravan. However, private cars, campers, motor homes or motorcycles are welcome. Persons making the trip will pay for their own food and lodging.

After the overnight stop here the tour will continue southeast to Junction, then turn southwest to Rocksprings. At Alamo Village, near Bracketville, the group will have lunch and tour movie location.

There will also be a special tour of Fort Clark Springs at Bracketville. This famous military post is being transformed into a major resort, while retaining the outstanding Army buildings and facilities. Indians Retain Lead in LL Play

by BOB GRANGER

As the Little League first half of play swings into the final week, the race for the first half championship finds the Indians holding a one game lead over the Rangers. The Astros dropped from contention last week as the Cardinals and Astros could be a big factor in determining the champion as both teams hook up with the contenders one time each this week.

The Indians went on another big run scoring spree as they racked the Cardinals 18-3 Tuesday night. The Indians pounded out 14 hits as Eddie Favila and Mike Lopez led the hitting attack with four hits each. Cardinal pitching aided the cause as they issued nine walks.

Ranger pitching and defense continued to shine as the Rangers stayed on the heels of the Indians last week. Tuesday night the Rangers played six runs in the second and third innings to race past the Astros 9-4. Big blows were struck by Wayne McLaughlin and Joey Kirby, as each "homered" for the Rangers. Wayne also added a double and single and scored three of the Rangers runs. Kirby and DuRay Smith added two runs each to account for most of the Ranger scoring.

Thursday night the Indians and Rangers clashed in the big game of the season but walked off the field in a 7-7 tie because of the game being called due to the time limit. The tie will count as one half game won and one half game lost for each team. McLaughlin, Kirby and Mark Langstehr scored two runs each and McLaughlin added his second homer of the week. Indian scoring was shared by Cody Savell, Bobby Wells and Lopez with two runs each. THURSDAY NIGHT ACTION

In the other Thursday night action, the Cardinals smacked the Astros 9-5 to smash any dreams the Astros had for the first half championship. The Cardinals had their high hit total of the year with ten hits. George Hernandez smacked his fourth home run and added two other hits to lead the Card attack along with Rex Surber with three hits. George and Rex also scored three runs. Benny Granger was the only Astro able to tap the Cardinal pitching for more than one hit, as he had a double and single. Hernandez led Astro scoring as he did his job as a lead-off hitter by scoring twice.

LAST WEEKS SCORES: TUESDAY: Indians 18, Cardinals 3; Rangers 9, Astros 4. THURSDAY: Rangers 7, Indians 7; Cardinals 9, Astros 5.

A Bishop Looks at Life

LIFE'S TESTINGS

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church

During a recent cruise off the coast of Central and South America the ship I was on twice encountered considerable rough weather.

As the vessel rocked back and forth and the waves splashed high on either side, I could hear the creaking as the ship twisted and shuddered from the impact of the outer turbulence.

When the disturbance subsided sufficiently for me to think of something beside the queasiness I felt within, I thought about the similarities between a ship and a human life.

Just as every ship that leaves a port is bound to face rough weather, so every life is certain to have testing times of storm and trouble. In a life, as in a ship, the storm will test every crack and corner. If there is a weakness it will be revealed; if the weakness is great enough it will cause disaster.

These thoughts must be in the minds of nautical engineers and architects as they plan a new ship. They must be in the minds of the construction workers as they put the materials together. Certainly they are in the minds of those who own the ship and depend on its trustworthiness for their livelihood.

Here is wisdom for parents today. The children you send into the world will be tested. Are you putting into their lives the influences and experiences that will prepare them for the storms? Are they sturdy enough for you to have confidence that though they are buffeted and shaken, they will find their balance and continue on course?

Here is wisdom for all of us as Americans today. We are in the midst of a national crisis. Perhaps it is the worst, the most morally disturbing, in our two hundred years of history. It is a test of our maturity as a people, a test of our vaunted processes of law and justice, a test of those political principles which were built into our ship of state by the founding fathers.

We need to pray earnestly that we can weather this storm and continue on our course as a stronger nation than before.

Mrs. A.E. Prugel Attends Workshop

Mrs. A. E. Prugel was one of the approximately 130 Homemaking Teachers who attended an Area In-Service Workshop in Odessa June 7-8.

The theme of the Workshop was "Expanding Child Development Horizons". Participants examined child development materials currently available, and sought to increase their competencies in developing their programs, particularly in helping students find means to help children develop good self-images. They discussed specifics such as providing a toy-lending library and creating opportunities for enriching experiences with young children.

Consultants were Mrs. Estelle Wallace and Dr. Beverly Vinson, both of the Child Development Department, College of Home Economics, Texas Tech University at Lubbock.

IF AN OLD refrigerator or freezer is left in the yard or garage, remove its door completely. This takes only a moment using a screwdriver and may save a child's life.

Smoked Fish A Gourmet Delight

One of the great things about smoking fish is that you don't have to inhale them to enjoy them.

However, warns Miss Cindy Grey, seafood home economist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, smoked fish can be habit-forming if your tastebuds are sensitive to gourmet foods.

For those who want to risk getting hooked, a poster, entitled "Where There's Fire There's Smoke", is available free from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701. The poster gives the proper procedure for smoking fish on your hooded gas, electric or charcoal grill.

It's important, according to Mrs. Grey, to keep the heat low when you are smoking fish. This can be done by using just a few briquets and raising your grill to the highest setting away from the coals.

To remove moisture from the fish flesh and to add a salty flavor, fish should be soaked in a brine solution of one gallon of water plus one cup of salt for thirty minutes to an hour.

Hickory chips soaked in water and spread over the red-hot coals provide the smoke, and soaking prevents the chips from burning too fast.

While the coals are forming, you can prepare the fish. Remove it from the brine, drain and dry it. Baste the fish with cooking oil, then place it on a well-greased grill. Be sure to close the hood to keep the smoke in. The fish should be basted occasionally with oil while it is smoking and the fire should be kept low by adding plenty of wet chips as needed.

When the fish flakes easily with a fork (about 45 to 90 minutes), it is ready to serve with thick sliced bread, corn on the cob, a green salad and bowls of cool, creamy sherbert.

These people really don't dress this way all of the time... you should recognize the charming manner of two of the ladies who work in offices. We understand they were dressed for a "tacky" party when this picture was made. Last weeks' guess who was Dr. John W. Fields, local veterinarian, whose new daughter we've heard, really resembles him!

Wildlife Department Initiates Spike Buck Study And Controversy

Controversy over spike bucks is going to be settled once and for all as 4-year Parks and Wildlife study progresses.

The question with spiked bucks is whether they are inferior to forked-antlered deer, live on inferior range or are merely bucks which will develop into possible trophy deer.

The department gets into the picture in determining whether spikes should be hunted or not.

Nutritional research of spikes has been conducted in both Pennsylvania and Louisiana.

The Parks and Wildlife Department will also study nutritional spikes and carry the research one step further with work on possible genetic spikes.

Preliminary work is already in progress.

Several tame, captive does have been bred and the department hopes to obtain 12 of their male offspring.

The department's Kerr Wildlife Management Area in the Hill Country will be the center of operations under the direction of the project leader Bob Cook.

The fawns will be weaned and then penned on the Kerr Area. Some of the deer will be fed half rations of protein according to Al Springs, P&W chief of Wildlife Operations.

"Six bucks will be maintained on a seven to nine percent protein diet," said Springs, "and the remaining six will receive an adequate diet of 14 to 16 percent protein as experimental controls."

Nutritional studies in other states demonstrate that spike antler formation in deer is primarily the result of protein deficiencies in young deer during antler development.

If this is the case, the bucks on the restricted diet should develop spike or inferior antlers at 18 months of age and the bucks on full rations should form forked antlers.

All 12 bucks will be bred with does and their male offspring fed nutritionally complete rations until they grow their first true antlers.

The original 12 deer will continue on the prescribed diets until 2 1/2 years of age. At that time three bucks eating protein-deficient food will be switched to full protein diets and three deer on full rations will be cut to half rations.

If the original 12 deer develop forked antlers after going on the full diet and their offspring do likewise, it will emphatically demonstrate that nutrition is the key. Now comes the hard part. The genetic phase of the study starts in the Fall of 1974.

PERIWINKLES FOR SUMMER COLOR—Periwinkles thrive in hot summer weather, says a landscape horticulturist. There are various varieties to suit your needs—dwarfs to those 18 to 30 inches tall. Spreading or trailing varieties can be used for hanging baskets or window boxes. All produce an abundance of phlox-like flowers that can vary in color from pure white to pink to lavender rose.

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH—The dairy cow deserves special recognition because she contributes so much to our well-being. Throughout history the dairy cow has served as a source of food, drink and clothing, a beast of burden, and a provider of power. She produces milk, the nearest thing to a perfect food.

Upped Check

Martin bought a secondhand motorcycle from a friendly stranger, giving him a check for "eight hundred dollars." But when he got the check back from the bank at the end of the month, it had been upped to "thirty eight hundred dollars."

Martin decided that the bank had no right to take the extra $3,000 out of his account.

"It's not my fault the fellow was crooked," he argued in a court hearing. "Let the bank try to collect the difference from him."

But the bank pointed out that Martin had made three careless mistakes in writing the check:

1) he had failed to fill in the payee's name;

2) he had failed to fill in the numbers after the dollar sign; and

3) he had left more than an inch of open space in front of the word "eight"—plenty of room for inserting the word "thirty."

The court concluded that Martin, by his negligence, had invited the tampering—hence, would have to bear the loss himself.

Of course, as a general rule, a bank has no right to pay any more money out of your account than you have authorized. The bank, after all, has the best opportunity to detect fraud by examining a check before cashing it.

But the law will usually shift the loss to you if, by your carelessness, you have made the check easy to alter.

Furthermore, you have a duty to go over your cancelled checks within a reasonable time after they are returned, and to alert the bank if something is amiss.

For example: A man whose signature had been forged on a check had to absorb the loss himself because he neglected, for almost six months, to let the bank know what had happened.

A court said that by his procrastination, he had deprived the bank of a fair chance to track down the villain.

Summer Repertory Rehearsals Begin

Rehearsals for the 1973 summer repertory season at Sul Ross State University Theatre of the Big Bend have begun in anticipation of the opening of the eighth season June 22.

According to Dr. James Maloon, chairman of the University's speech and drama department and director for the 1973 season, three productions have been scheduled with a fourth to be announced later.

Shows to be produced include "The Tiger" by Murray Schisgal and "Black Comedy" by Peter Shaffer, "Picnic" by William Inge and "Ring Round the Moon" by Jean Anouilh, adapted by Christopher Fry.

"Picnic" will be the opening night production and is described by Maloon as a realistic "summer romance" set in the early 1950's. The play won both the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics' Circle Award.

Production dates are June 22, 28, 30, July 6, 16, 21.

All performances will be staged at the new outdoor theatre at Kokemot Lodge and will be presented free to the public. This is made possible, according to Maloon, with the help of "generous gifts from local patrons and a grant from the Texas Fine Arts Commission."

Performances each evening will begin at 8:45 p. m.

O.C. Fisher Named Man Of The Year

U. S. Rep. O. C. Fisher has been named "Man of the Year" for the state of Texas by the National Federation of Independent Business, the world's largest business organization.

Wilson S. Johnson, President of NFIB, said Congressman Fisher had been selected to receive the award because of his "outstanding efforts on behalf of the independent businessmen in Texas and in the Nation."

Rep. Fisher, in ceremonies in his Washington office, was presented a handsome engraved plaque mounted on walnut and shaped in the form of the state of Texas.

The small independent businessman has been the major cornerstone of the country's economy throughout our history," Rep. Fisher said. "Today, as in days past, independent businesses continue to contribute both valuable and necessary strength and flexibility to the economic fibre and well being of the United States and its citizens."
