Guess Who!

THIS HANDSOME YOUNG COUPLE will be celebrating 25 years of wedded bliss December 12. Both are familiar faces and are a color associated couple. Think of silver and green and she will first come to mind. But the pictured bride-groom is associated with living color and black and white.

CITY OF SONORA officials and downtown merchants have decided in view of the energy crises, to not light the Christmas decorations. City workmen installed the decorations Monday but did not connect them to the electrical current, although City Manager Alex Binford stated that the small amount of current these will use, will help the critical situation very little.

She's a WINNER!

THIS LOVELY LASSIE HAS MORE THAN ONE GLASSY CHASSIS. SHE'S SHIRLEY "CHA CHA" MULDOWNEY, WHO IS NOW BEING TAKEN SERIOUSLY IN THE MEN'S WORLD OF DRAG RACING. THE OTHER OUTSTANDING CHASSIS IS ON HER 1973 FUEL BURNING PLYMOUTH FUNNY CAR. THE FASTEST FUNNY CAR WOMAN DRIVER IN THE SPORT'S HISTORY.

SHIRLEY IS DRAG RACING'S TOP FEMALE WINNER AND HAS DEFEATED NEARLY EVERY BIG-NAME FUNNY CAR DRIVER. SHE ALSO IS THE FIRST WOMAN EVER TO EARN A TOP FUEL DRIVER'S LICENSE FROM THE NATIONAL HOT ROD ASSOCIATION.

Animal Agriculture Conference Sets Short Courses

Five short courses and a symposium will be combined in the first Texas Animal Agriculture Conference set for January 21-23 at Texas A&M University.

Conference sessions in the new J. Earl Rudder Conference Center are expected to attract about 2,000 participants, according to L. A. Maddox, general chairman.

Livestock production short courses are being offered in beef and dairy cattle, horses, swine, and forages and pastures.

Joint general sessions for all groups will feature some of the nation's outstanding leaders in animal agriculture, Maddox says. An added feature will be a Latin American Animal Agriculture Symposium for participants from throughout Latin America. Most presentations will be in Spanish.

A multi-theme approach by the beef cattle short course will cover a wide range of topics in animal breeding, reproduction, nutrition and animal health. Dr. Dennis Herd is chairman for that section.

The horse production short course will include latest information on horse nutrition, feeding, breeding and selection, health behavior and pasture management. B. F. Yeates will chair the session.

A general theme of keeping pigs healthy and growing will be used for the swine short course. Discussions will center around respiratory diseases, stress as it affects commercial production, the importance of size of breeding animals, and a panel talk on methods of feeding sows. Dr. W. B. "Bill" Thomas is section chairman.

For dairymen, two important aspects of the dairy industry--- nutrition and farm records--- will be highlighted. Emphasis will be placed on production and storing of quality forage, on-farm storage and various processing systems. A. M. Meekma will chair the short course.

The pasture short course will focus on profits available when forage is utilized by efficient, high producing cattle. Using pastures for grazing steers to slaughter weights will be a panel topic. The economics of new hay handling equipment will be discussed, along with forage nutrients for all classes of livestock, according to Dr. Neal Pratt, section chairman. The Institute of Tropical Veterinary Medicine will present a program for Latin American livestock producers on improved methods of management, prevention and control of important diseases of cattle. A thrust will be recent information on the control of anaplasmosis and piroplasmiasis in imported cattle. Dr. Fred Maurer of the College of Veterinary Medicine is chairman.

On January 23, Texas A&M Animal Science Department will present a program on breeding for tropical environment, feedlots in the tropics, artificial insemination and marketing. Dr. Tom Cartwright, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researcher in animal breeding, is chairing the session. Dr. O. D. Butler, Animal Science Department head, is general adviser.

Fighting Heart Disease

Shoes can help stamp out coronary heart disease and early death or disability! If the average American adult will follow the "Watch your SHOES!" health formula developed by Mr. Andre Rhoads, a food industry authority, they may add years to their lives.

His formula represents "risk factors" which, if carefully controlled, could very well lower the chances of heart attack significantly. In the magic word "SHOES," the "S" is for smoking; "H" is for hypertension; "O" is for obesity; "E" is for exercise and "S" is for stress. As the originator of this formula for self-preservation notes, each factor is "..... subject to a good deal of personal regulation, provided one's will to live is strong enough to induce him to modify his life-style to lower his risks." Regular medical checkups will enhance the effectiveness of the SHOES concept. This is one prescription you can fill yourself, with better health as the reward--a goal well worth aiming for.

Sometimes there's a motive behind unexpected favors.

Old and New Ideas Start Christmas Tree Tradition

This year, have an "All-American Christmas" the family will never forget.
 "Combine old and new ideas to start a Christmas-tree tradition," suggests Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.
 "Several tree-decorating ideas can work 'magic' during this special time of year.
 "Consider wrapping the tree with ribbon bows and ornaments such as satin ribbon and lace-covered styrofoam balls.
 "Or, cover the tree with lots of tiny rag, yam or clothespin dolls for a delightful, unforgettable effect."
 If a Southwestern theme is desired, the specialist recommended using Mexican woven "Gods' Eyes" and strings of bright plastic beads.
 "Or, cut ornaments from cowhide and decorate with geometric designs of contrasting leather, felts or beads. Add fringe for a special finish," she continued.
 Cornhusks, cobs and other materials gathered from the land furnished ornament basics for early settlers. Modern-day decorators also can turn such items into toys and decorations.
 "For example, soften cornhusks with water, then cut, pleat or stretch to make cornhusk butterflies. Additional husks or whittled balsa wood bodies--plus painted designs--complete the creations.
 "Also, create a giant angel the same way settlers made dolls. Use husks for body and wings--and corn silk for hair. If desired, tint husks with food coloring," Miss Bradshaw added.
 "Fabric scraps can be stitched into crazy quilt ornaments. After sewing the ornaments, stuff gently with old hose, foam or other soft material. Decorate with leftover trim or embroider designs onto the ornaments."
 For a special tree, fill miniature wicker or straw baskets with dried flowers, nuts or toy animals or soldiers. Tie handles with bows and hand on the tree.
 "Family and guests alike will enjoy discovering the baskets' contents."
 Don't let a lack of space prevent the family from getting a Christmas tree, the specialist emphasized.
 "Cut branches from one side of the tree and place flat side next to a wall. Decorate the 'remodeled tree' as desired.
 "Use the cut branches for wreaths or other decorations.
 "In addition, a house plant--such as Norfolk pine--can be used as a Christmas tree. It adds pleasure year around and often solves the problem of finding room for an extra tree at Christmas," she concluded.

Hot jewelry--the ruby was supposed to contain an unquenchable inner fire.

Golf Cart Accidents

The seller of a knife is not required to warn against cutting oneself, or that a hammer will hurt if a person is hit with it.
 With the growing popularity of golf carts, more accident cases are finding their way into court. Generally speaking, claims for damages have not been too successful, often because the blame lies with the victim himself.
 But if the mechanism is faulty, compensation may indeed be collected from either the club management or the cart manufacturer.
 In another case, the golf cart was missing the rubber pad that normally covers the brake pedal. When the driver tried to use the Hanson and his wife were heading for the clubhouse in a golf cart when she had a sudden urge to stand up. But as she did so, she lost her balance and fell against the tiller. The cart lurched crazily, throwing Hanson to the ground.
 Painfully injured, he determined to seek damages from the management of the club.
 "Considering how unstable their carts are," he argued in a court hearing, "they should have posted a warning against anyone standing up. This they failed to do."
 However, the court turned down Hanson's claim.
 "There are certain obvious dangers," said the court, "against which a warning is not necessary."

brake, his spiked shoe slid off the pedal and hit the accelerator, causing the cart to run into another golfer.
 This time, the victim collected from the club management. Grounds: negligent maintenance of equipment.
 One club tried to block any and all claims by including a "we are not responsible" clause in its rental form. But the clause was so well hidden in printed verbiage that a court later found it to be null and void.
 The court said enforcing such a clause against an injured golfer, unaware of its existence, "would truly be unconscionable."
