Sonora SASA Branch Sets Open House

The Sonora Branch office of San Angelo Savings will celebrate its formal opening with an open house from October 21 through October 25, according to SASA president, H. J. "Mickey" Salee.

During the five day celebration, eleven prizes will be given away. Two coin collections will be given away each day at the close of business from each day's registrations. On Friday, October 25, an oil painting, valued at approximately $500, will be given as a grand prize. The grand prize winner will be drawn from all registrations for the entire week. Four large, framed landscapes are on display at the Sonora branch and the grand prize winner may choose from the displayed collection.

In addition to the daily prizes and grand prize, each person attending the open house will receive a free gift and free refreshments.

Registration for prizes will be limited to the Sonora office which is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. Registrants do not have to be present to win nor do they need to be a SASA depositor.

Hostess for the five day open house is Mrs. Rosemary Mathews, manager of the savings branch. Mrs. Mathews came to San Angelo Savings with nine years experience in the book-keeping departments of two West Texas banks. She was employed by the First State Bank of Rankin for 8 years prior to moving to Sonora. During the past year she has been with the First National Bank of Sonora.

SASA's 1200 square foot Sonora branch, located at 115 East Main, has been completely remodeled. The office has a lobby, reception area, two private offices, coffee bar, service counter and a storage area.

Maxine Browne Wins Painting of Month Award

Bob Krueger Sets Sonora Visit

Democratic candidate for United States Congressman, Robert "Bob" Krueger, will be in Sonora on Monday, October 21 from 2:30 to 4 p.m. He will visit with residents and businessmen in the downtown area from 2:30 until 3:15 and go to an informal coffee in his honor being held in the community room of the new San Angelo Savings and Loan branch.

The office is located at 115 Main and anyone interested in meeting Bob Krueger is invited to come.

School Board Approves Instructional Program

A comprehensive planning, budgeting and evaluation project was adopted by the board of trustees in a regular meeting October 14. This project, funded through Title B of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, is designed to aid school districts wishing to determine the goals for their schools through community, faculty, and student involvement. Once the goals have been prioritized, there will be an effort to determine both what date is available to show where the students are in relation to the goals and a plan for gathering new information. These steps are quite valuable in determining new program needs and in budgeting for these needs.

To strengthen the instructional program, the board adopted a substitute teacher handbook, as recommended by Dr. Joe Andrews. This handbook is a guide for principals, teachers and substitutes in which it gives information regarding qualifications, of substitutes and specific responsibilities of the principal, classroom teacher and substitute. These handbooks will be available through the office of the principal.

OTHER BOARD ACTION

Mrs. Barbara Jennings was employed as a teacher's aide in Junior High School, on a part time basis.

The board received reports on the statement of funds, budget, enrollment, transportation and also approved the current bills. The board also approved the transfer of funds to the Athletic and Band Funds.

Mrs. Lorena Solis gave a progress report on the Special Education Program. She explained the function of the ARD (Admission Referral and Dismissal) Committee and briefly explained how teachers work with children.

The budget was amended to include the receipt and expenditures of $12,000 Title-I-Funds for the Remedial Reading Program.

Due to a reduction in the district's total valuation, the tax rate was adjusted to increase the funds available for debt service. The $1.38 tax rate had $1.34 for operation and $.04 for debt service; however it became necessary to change the division to allow $1.32 for operation and $.06 for debt service. This does not mean that the school tax rate has been raised.

The board authorized the purchase of a new 54 passenger bus and set the rates at $1.90 per hour for driving time plus 50¢ per hour waiting time for bus drivers to out-of-town activities, with a minimum of $6 per trip.

Screwworm Problem Continues To Rise

Ideal weather conditions coupled with fall calving and the sheep breeding season continue to complicate screwworm problems in the area. The bulk of new cases being reported are in the navels of new-borne calves and the heads of rams that are running with the ewes at the present time.

Eleven ranchers in the Sonora area received sterile flies at the 4-H Center last Wednesday to release on their ranches to help bring the screwworm outbreak under control. Plans at the present time are for sterile flies to be delivered to the 4-H Center each Wednesday for ranchers to pick up to treat cases that have been reported during the past few days. Ranchers are notified by telephone each Tuesday if they are scheduled to pick up flies on Wednesday. It is most important that all

Whitehead Rites Held Oct. 8 In Del Rio

Broncos Defeat Llano Go Into District Play

The Sonora Broncos rounded out their pre-district football season Friday night with a five win, one loss record when they defeated the Llano Yellowjackets 30-7 in Llano.

The Broncos scored in each quarter of the game while a strong defensive effort led by Donald Thompson, Richard Dunnam, Scooter Surber, Johnny Solis and Robbie Hard held the Jackets to only 7 points, which came about in the second quarter, and were also responsible for recovering four fumbles.

Juan Perez scored on runs of five and 45 yards and Paul Browne added two touchdowns on runs of ten and fifteen yards. John David Cook added the extra points and the Broncos lead 28-7 going into the final period. The final score of the game was a two point safety for the Broncos when Lindsey Hicks tackled a Jacket behind the goal line.

Behind strong blocking of Dale Upton, Richard Dunnam, Lindsey Hicks and Mike Stewart, Sonora backs rolled up 270 yards on the ground and 95 yards passing while the Yellowjackets had 185 total yardage for the game.

Coach Bill Bundy called this the "best team effort of the year." He also reported that there were no injuries from the game and the Broncos should go into District 7AA play in good physical condition.

The first district game will be held in Bronco Stadium Friday night against the Crane Golden Cranes. Coach Bundy said, "We will find out how we play with the big boys Friday. Crane is both big and good."

Remember that the Crane game, as well as those remaining in the season, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Eleven ranchers were on hand last Wednesday to accept sterile flies for the screwworm control program underway in Sutton County. Another shipment of the flies were expected this week. This is the third shipment of the valuable flies that have been brought into the county by truck. County Agent Clint Langford says that a number of ranchmen have gone to other counties to pick up a supply. The purpose of the fly shipments, according to Langford, are to allow ranchers to be able to place the flies in trouble spots. Fifteen confirmed cases of scewworms have been reported in the county in the last week. Langford added that ranchers should report all worm cases in order to be eligible for fly shipments.

Common Sense May Prevail

Energy shortages and inflation may turn out to be blessings in disguise. They will compel more realistic public attitudes toward actions that must be taken in the nation's interest. For example, public support would make it possible to control federal spending in order to balance the budget and ease inflation. It would curtail endless delay in building such things as power-generating stations, required to produce necessary amounts of electric energy and drilling oil wells in the nation's offshore waters to produce more petroleum products. Indeed, more positive public attitudes in such matters as these may come just in the nick of time to help solve some of our most pressing problems.

According to public opinion surveys, a majority of people, for instance, support increased offshore oil exploration and nuclear development. And strip mining, presumably with adequate land reclamation, is now viewed in a more favorable public light than ever before. Perhaps the most significant finding, considering the extensive public criticism of most facets of the American business system in recent years, is that over 60 percent of the people queried expressed the view that the U.S. system of private enterprise, business and industry is basically sound and that faults can be corrected. There is still broad concern with preserving environmental values but, at the same time, a growing recognition that it is neither practical nor necessary to halt civilization in its tracks in order to accomplish this objective. Adequate supplies of electric energy are fundamental to jobs, high living standards and a decent condition of human life. Reflecting this realization, 82 percent of the people questioned in one poll expressed the opinion that enough power plants should be built to guarantee a steady supply of electricity, and 57 percent felt that it is necessary to go into a greatly-expanded program of atomic energy development.

This type of public sentiment is particularly significant in view of the effort which now must be made to achieve energy self sufficiency or something close to it for the United States in the years immediately ahead. Mindless environmental roadblocking of essential development is not in the public interest. The common sense of the American people has been the great strength of our nation since its founding. Present indications are that it may once again come to the rescue in a time of decision.

It's Only Money

If anyone thinks Uncle Sam's hundreds of thousands of bureaucrats can ever be instilled with the habit of penny-pinching, they are sadly mistaken. After all, a bureaucrat's importance is measured by the size of his budget.

What happens when this kind of philosophy governs spending decisions is reported by the editor of the Northwest Signal, a newspaper in Napoleon, Ohio. As he puts it, the philosophy of the U.S. government seems to be, "Never spend a dime when a dollar will get the job done..." He received a special order, 12x16 inch manilla envelope, mailed at government expense, from the Equal Opportunity Commission office in Washington, D.C. In the envelope was a one-page, 8 1/2 x 11-inch news release that could easily have been folded into a regular business size envelope. Upon checking with an envelope supply house, the editor found that 100,000 of the special envelopes would cost approximately $6,435, while 100,000 standard size number ten business envelopes would cost only $603 unprinted.

Obviously, the bureaucrats in the office of the Equal Opportunity Commission did not care even a smidge about saving $5,832 in taxpayer's money. As the editor concludes, why should they: "It's only money isn't it, and there's plenty more where that came from."

A Bishop Looks at Life

by Bishop Everett H. Jones Episcopal Church, Retired

"Paint me as a do-gooder"

When I was asked a few days ago to introduce Kyle Rote Jr. at the San Antonio Quarterback Club I rejoiced at the opportunity to pay tribute to this exceptional young man. It will be remembered that this 23-year-old who is studying for the Episcopal ministry at the Perkins School of Theology at SMU won the title "Superstar of 1974" last February in Florida. He was in competition with outstanding (and much older) athletic notables from all over the country.

When the nationwide publicity followed his achievements, he told one reporter, "I'm the same jerk I've always been." When he was asked what he planned to do with the sizeable cash prize he had received, he replied: "Lynn and I are going to be good stewards. We will do whatever we can. Go ahead and paint me as a do-gooder. That's what I hope to be."

In his San Antonio talk Kyle Jr. said that many athletes misunderstood the famous saying by Vince Lombardi that "winning is everything." According to Rote he did not mean just getting the best score but putting into the game all of your God-given ability.

He quoted a conversation with O.J. Simpson, football star of the Buffalo Bills, in which they agreed no professional should neglect his abilities outside athletics. "After all," said Rote, "the professional is retired at 35 and has the other half of his active life ahead."

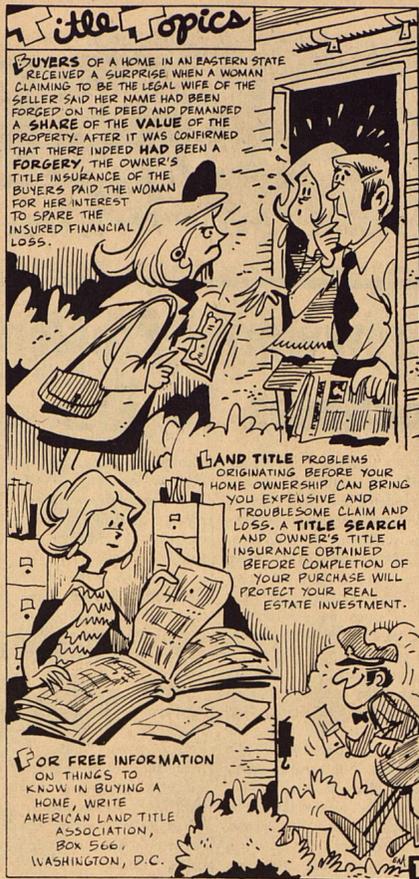

Another of Kyle's arresting comments concerns over-emphasis on athletics: "As much as I love athletic competition and treasure all its example value, I think it is tragic that our society places such great emphasis on athletic competition that the next Arthur Fielder or Leonard Bernstein or Pablo Picasso may be sacrificing his development because his parents urged him to play football, soccer, or some other game. The lack of athletic ability should not make anyone a target for derision any more than a youngster who is capable in athletics should be censured because he is not another Albert Einstein."

In an age when young people find it hard to keep their perspective and balance I was refreshed by the time I had with Kyle Rote Jr. People in this area will soon get to know him better as he is the leading scorer on the Dallas Tornado Soccer Club which will be playing next year against the newly-organized Thunder Club of San Antonio. He is eminently worth knowing.

Viewpoint

By T. Driskell

Thinking over my recent visit to Britain, the inflation rather frightened me, but on second thought it occurs that the pictures observed might be us a year or two down the road. What are the signs? They are there, too many and too clear--mostly in the adjustment area. Let's look closer, our economy literally hangs on petroleum. The price of crude is about three times what it was two years ago--so adjustments must be made and the absolute necessity for them is obvious.

What do we do? Propose a 5 percent income tax surcharge, and even that is violently resisted by our legislators and our citizens. Admittedly, the proposed program leans heavily on the 15,000 - 20,000 income bracket and it is far too feeble to accomplish the needed changes. We must cut back our consumption of the critical petroleum so why not a tax on gasoline for non essential and non commercial consumption.

If we continue to consume it at the present rate, the price will become excessive within a few years anyway--so why not let the load which we must all bear eventually fall on the depleters now. A logical thought would also seem to indicate an excise tax on non-essentials and luxury items as a means of eliminating the surplus money which causes the inflationary pressure. That is pure thought though because our politicians show a marked inclination to do nothing about inflation except accelerate it as indicated by the huge raise in expense account allowances quietly put through by the House of Representatives.

We are quite obviously not taking adequate corrective action either on a personal or national level, so we must assume that the inflationary spiral will go on, and we must look at a few facets of the ultimate destination. Automobiles will, and must change. We must anticipate a gasoline price of about $1 or more per gallon, an engine size limitation of somewhere around 170 cubic inches, and a progressive registration cost based on engine displacement. A size limitation probably in the form of weight maximum of say about 2,000 pounds will also have to be imposed. Even such restrictions will not be enough unless our city governments get going now on decent, modern, and efficient mass transit systems.

Purchases of all commodities other than life essentials will probably have to have a value added tax similar to the British V.A.T. of somewhere between 10 and 14 percent if our social programs are to continue to function and normal governmental services are to be provided.

Income taxes must also be up-graded to meet the rising governmental costs and some sort of government supervised medical insurance must come into being if our people are to be able to afford the medical care they have a right to expect.

As I said earlier, the awesome changes in Western Europe frightened me and if we do not act now, that will be us. With a nasty taste in my mouth I wonder, "Can we do it?" Even more important, "Why have we not already started?"

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ.....

He Claims Discovery of Way To Solve The Country's Financial Problems

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on the Dry Devil's River, comes up with an idea that's bound to be flawed, but we're not sure where.

Dear editor:

Ever since I saw a group of Congressmen on television a couple of weeks ago examining the gold in Fort Knox something has been going on in the back of my mind.

As I understand it, no elected officials had actually seen the gold the government owns since President Roosevelt inspected it, which is six presidents ago, so a select group of Congressmen was allowed in just to make sure it's still there.

But the thought kept nagging at me, what if the gold hadn't been there? And for years now we'd been accepting paper money though it was?

What difference would it have made? And couldn't we have gone on forever merely by keeping a bunch of nosey Congressmen from poking around?

Well, I got to thinking. Just last night I read that a lot of people believe there's at least 200 billion dollars worth of gold bars buried in the sands of New Mexico, left there hundreds of years ago by people I guess who didn't know how to print paper money. Some say it's not buried, it's hidden in a cave, but either way it's there.

Then it hit me. There's the solution to our financial problems. Pick out a cave in the remote mountains of New Mexico, build a four-foot thick steel door at the mouth, seal it off, put up round-the-clock guards out front, and declare there's 200 billion dollars worth of gold inside, to be examined no earlier than six presidents away.

With that much gold behind us we can start up the printing presses and be in financial shape to pay the Arabs any amount they ask for their oil, pay the cattlemen a subsidy for beef on the hoof and the supermarkets a subsidy for lowering the price over the counter, restore faith in the stock market, raise the price of football tickets and get the college and pro teams out of the hole, and maybe have enough left over to nearly meet the price of the new cars.

When the 200 billion is used up, pick out another cave. The thing could go on forever.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

News Letter

BY O.C. FISHER

Taking whacks at presidents, an old American privilege, is nothing new. President Ford has already found that out. So did Mr. Nixon, and so did LBJ, Harry Truman and others.

In his book, "The President and the Presidency," Louis Brownlow recalled: "Every president has been denounced as a despot, a dictator, as one who was using power of government to achieve his personal ambitions. The only president who was not so denounced was Wm. Henry Harrison, who lived only one month after he was inaugurated."

In regard to Mr. Nixon, who has been under the gun for two years, even the anti-Nixon Washington Post in a front page article conceded a vast amount of damage was done to Mr. Nixon based upon unwarranted allegations for which he was tried and convicted in the news media.

The Post cited in particular ITT, Cambodia, San Clemente, taxes, and milk money, with this statement:

"Month after month, these various charges made big black headlines and added an atmosphere of gravity to the case against the president. Now, suddenly, poof, they are gone, like burst balloons."

What the Post was referring to was the fact that following year-long publicity concerning each of those charges, the committee on Judiciary dropped each of them as impeachable, and in effect concluded Mr. Nixon had been falsely accused. The only impeachable article reported was a rather general-type allegation of "obstruction of justice."

Extra years in which to repay and an interest rate kept as low as possible are big reasons farmers and ranchers choose Land Bank financing. But your Land Bank also recognizes that each borrower needs a loan carefully planned to meet individual needs. A better loan--and better loan service. Come to us for both.

Come to the Land Bank for a long-term loan at reasonable cost

...and for other advantages you might find even more important.

A man's right to work is as fundamental as his right to free speech and the pursuit of happiness.

If a man chooses to join a union, he should be free to do so. If he chooses not to join a union, he should be free not to. It's that fundamental, according to Dcug Harlan.

Doug Harlan, lawyer and former government teacher, is a candidate for Congress in the 21st District.

If you're for a man's Right to Work. For a balanced Federal budget. For dealing with our water problem before it becomes a crisis. And for continued conservative and enlightened representation in Washington, then you're for Doug Harlan. He's for everything he says he's for.

"AND, BEHOLD, IT WAS VERY GOOD"

Not long ago I was driving home along the parkway, depressed and worried by many problems. The day was bleak and gloomy. Huge clouds boiled and churned above dark, forbidding mountains. Even the foliage hung limp and still.

Suddenly the clouds parted and a ray of sun streaked through. In that fleeting moment the landscape became beautiful—grayness transformed into mauves, deep blues and lively greens. It was like watching Creation. For the first time in a long time, I thought of God. And I prayed as I had been taught long ago in my church.

That was a turning point. Since then God and His Church have once more become a part of my life, and my problems have disappeared in a way I never dreamed possible.

God's goodness is always present. Go to your church, and learn the truths that can transform your life.

Card Of Thanks

We would like to say thanks to the ones who sent flowers, cards, made visits, and the many, many telephone calls while Jack was in the hospital. We also wish to thank the ambulance service and Jerry Kemp, City policeman, for taking us to Odessa. There's a special thanks in our heart for Dr. Browne who went with us. Most of all we want each of you to know we appreciate your many prayers because we feel Jack wouldn't have improved so quickly without them. The compassion and understanding of our good friends such as you always make it easier during a time like this. We will always remember you--the people of Sonora are great. We love every one of you. Don and Mary Lawson 1p7

Card Of Thanks

WE DEEPLY appreciate the kindness and thoughtfulness given to us during our recent loss. It is a great comfort to us and to all of the family of W. H. Davenport. Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Davenport 1c7

Teen Scene

By Linda Behrens

Last week the high school saw a family of physical fitness experts perform. Late in the show a challenge was made for two student guinea pigs to try their hand at show biz.

Then onto the floor came two he-man type boys: Ricky Hard and Robert Mounce. Needless to say both boys showed characteristics of greater amounts of "daring" than of acrobatic ability.

Last Thursday Sonora traveled to Junction for football competition. The 7th grade Colts were defeated 24-12 followed by the 8th grade Colts' loss of 42-24.

The junior varsity took the only Bronco victory, defeating Junction 6-0.

This week the Colts and junior varsity will travel to Mason for a game against the Punchers. Let's get it together and show the Punchers how a true Sonora team works.

As most of you townpeople have probably realized, the senior magazine sale is here once again. The seniors have divided into teams consisting of women vs men. Beverly McDonald is the womens team captain while Scooter Surber is representing the men's team.

The losing team will reward the winners with a party. Also, from what I have heard, the winning team captain will "award" the losing captain with a whipped cream pie --- in the face! I believe this contest may be very interesting.

Our magazine sales determine where the seniors will travel for the senior trip. So anyone wanting to help out by buying magazines, get in touch with any senior.

Large Attendance At Field Tour Held Last Week

About thirty ranchmen, Extension Service personnel, Experiment Station employees, Soil Conservation Specialists, and others interested in soil and water conservation work and range management, attended the conservation field tour conducted on the Earwood Estate Ranch in Edwards County, stated Virgil Poloczek, district conservationist with SCS office here.

Barbecue was served by directors of the Edwards Plateau Soil and Water Conservation District. Following the luncheon, Armer Earwood was re-elected to a five year term on the district board. The board held its annual election of officers for the ensuing year. Edwin Sawyer was elected chairman, Vestel Askew, vice chairman, and George Brockman, secretary.

Explaining the program being carried out on the Earwood ranch, was SCS Conservationist and Extension Service Range Specialist, Bob Steager who talked about controlling bitterweed following cedar dozing and its fringe benefits.

Poloczek and County Agent Clint Langford presented information on controlling mesquite chemically with Tordon 225 and 2,4,5-T. Mesquite was sprayed in Sutton County in 1972 and counts have been made in 1973 and 1974 and costs and applications and the results of dead plants were discussed in detail.

Earwood discussed the general operation of the ranch, including running combinations of livestock and two pasture rotations on the African Switch back system.

Poloczek added that an excellent stand of grass was noted in the pits where cedar was treedozed and that the grass covering the pits had not been re-seeded.
