School Board Action Upheld

The State Board of Education confirmed Saturday that the State Commissioner of Education had no jurisdiction to hear the complaint of Mr. and Mrs. Billy C. Gosney against the Sonora Independent School District Board of Trustees.

In May of 1974, the Sonora School Board determined that contracts for the school year 1974-75 would not be extended to the Gosneys who had previously been employed for a number of years by the school district on a year to year basis.

In a special hearing before the board of June 24, 1974, no change was made by the board on its earlier decision; therefore Mr. and Mrs. Gosney appealed to Dr. L. M. Brockett, State Commissioner of Education. According to a representative of the Board, the State Commissioner in his ruling of September 17, 1974, recognized that the Sonora Independent School District has no policy of tenure for employing its teachers and the action of the board in refusing to renew the Gosney's contracts was a right expressly affirmed by appellate decisions of this state. The State Commissioner then held that there existed no statutory authority for him to consider the merits of the question of non-renewal of the Gosney contracts. From the commissioner's determination, Mr. and Mrs. Gosney sought relief before the twenty-four member State Board of Education. Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Gosney and the school district, presented arguments to the State Board in Austin Saturday. The affirming of the position of the Commissioner of Education by the State Board of Education now concludes all steps of administrative appeal available to the former teachers.

Firemen Answer 73 Calls In 1974

The Sonora Volunteer Fire Department recorded a total of 73 fires in 1974 with ten of these being house fires, five car fires, one rig fire and one gas tank fire. Firemen answered 53 alarms for grass fires and three false alarms. These fires add up to 2500 man hours for members of the volunteer fire department, which consists of thirty men.

At the last meeting of the firemen, Vernon Humphreys and Kyle Donaldson were presented badges denoting ten years in the department.

On January 10 firemen answered a call from an unidentified adult male who turned in an alarm of fire and also requested an ambulance for a victim he stated had been burned. When firemen arrived at the scene...no such fire was in progress and none was found. These men who give of their free time to fight fires in our community and surrounding areas leave their jobs and families in order to answer these calls. Calling any emergency vehicle on false pretenses hinders these vehicles from being promptly at the scene of a real emergency.

Fire department officials say they receive many of such calls every year...not all from children. Everyone is asked to please report anyone making such calls and if you suspect your child might be responsible, to control his or her use of the telephone.

Junction Pageant Plans Underway

The Junction Easter Pageant which was started some 25 years ago will be held again this year at the Junction Fairgrounds. The pageant is listed in the Texas Travel Guide as one of the things to see in Texas. The first pageant featured the Hon. Coke Stevenson as speaker and the affair has grown each year since.

Easter comes early this year...the 30th of March...and plans are already in the making for this year's production which it is estimated will draw a crowd of 10,000. The stages cover a span of 150 to 200 yards. Sponsored by the Men's Bible Class, the pageant is a community project with a cast of men, women and children from all walks of life.

Grassroots Opinion

Everett, Wash., Herald: "We've never been to Russia and we've had little correspondence to or from that country—hence we know little about the Soviet mail-service. But it can't be much. Here's a surprising note in the news saying the Russians are turning to America for help in improving the efficiency of their mail handling. It develops the Russians are not asking the U. S. Postal Service for advice but are requesting assistance from a private American firm that manufactures automated mail-handling equipment. If we have technology that will help the Soviet mail service, why isn't it helping ours?"

Clarkson, Nebr., Press: "Time is written in Volumes Three. The past, the present, and the yet to be. The past is written, then laid away. The present we're living from day to day. The yet to be, greatest of Volumes Three, is hidden from sight, God holds the key."

Lake Park, Minn., Journal: "It seems that the government's continual increases in taxes is the biggest contributor to inflation. Rising taxes cause the producer to increase prices. In turn labor must have more to meet the increase in the cost of the product. The government then spends more of our money. It seems that a decrease in taxes and government spending could just cause a reverse of this trend."

Linn, Mo., Observer: "We may never be able to cure poverty but with the way prices are going and the present rate of taxes we sure are going to be able to cure wealth. It's got so a businessman can't pay his employees a living wage. There just ain't that much money going around."

Central Valley, California, Valley Times: "If inflation keeps on going as it has been, a lot of folk will be able to file for Social Security and bankruptcy at the same time."

Batavia, Ill., Herald: "The nation has an energy crisis, and it's going to be a lot worse before it gets better. The world is suffering from inflation, and correcting this economic situation is going to take a lot of doing. There's a need, of course, for protecting the consumer, preserving the forests and other natural resources. The loudest carriers of the Save Our Environment banners recommend we return to the inconvenience and hardship of pioneer days. We like the past as well as anyone, but reflecting on it alone is enough...once is plenty!"

Bridgewater, S. D., Tribune: "A newspaper may be progressive until its press is worn out and its type is ready for the garbage, but it can't budge a town forward unless the merchants are progressive in their business...If you want your town to progress, buy a little printer's ink and white space and do some word spreading on your own account, and show that your town IS alive. The editor will keep her end up."

AN INVENTORY OF HOPE
A few weeks ago the Saturday Review published a year-end issue devoted entirely to the subject, "An Inventory of Hope."

It consisted of articles and commentary by world leaders, authors, educators, scientists and journalists on how to meet our need for the restoration of confidence.

The purpose of the issue, according to Editor Norman Cousins, was "to examine and, if possible, to cut into the gloom that has settled over the nation. In the present mood, it is not likely that any serious problem will be imaginatively approached, much less solved."

Cousins continued: "The main trouble with despair is that it is self-fulfilling. People who fear the worst tend to invite it. Heads that are down can't scan the horizon for new openings. Bursts of energy do not spring from a spirit of defeat."

It was interesting to note, as I read the wide range of comments and observations, the recurrence of certain similar widely-held reasons for hope, such as the following:

The conviction that human intelligence is equal to the problems of our times. So far our best minds have not been devoted to our greatest needs.

The growing idealism of youth. Their questioning of the materialistic values of our society and their awakened sensibility to society's inequities and injustices.

The dawning realization of our human interdependence in caring for and sharing the world's precious resources.

The increasing awareness that war hurts the aggressor as much as the aggressed, and that the innocent suffer most.

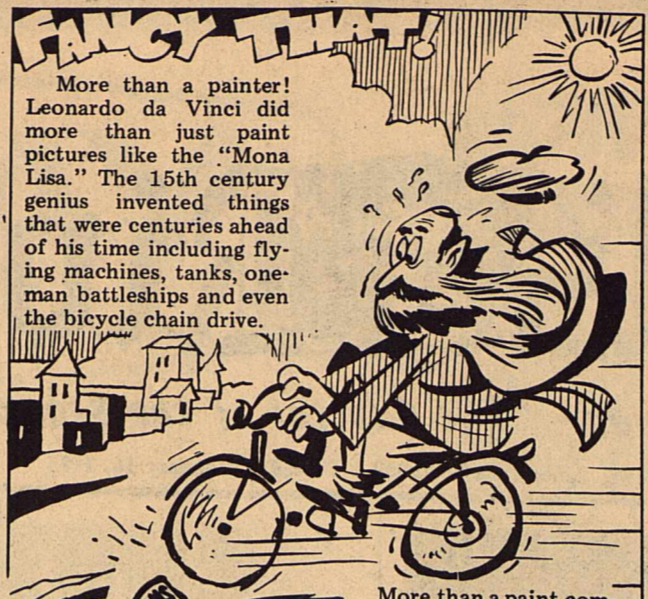

The courageous experimentation of some people, especially youth, with new, simpler, more human life-styles.

The growing number of positive examples of creative uses of technology, combined with political will, to produce a better and more liveable environment.

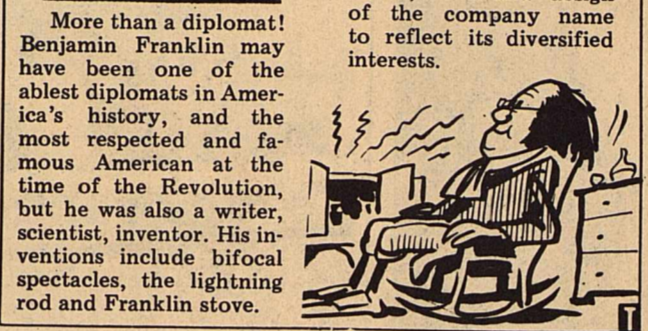

The profound disillusionment with our present political structures that encourages radical reform.

The capacity of human beings to rise to their best in the worst times. Man's readiness to respond to a clear challenge to sacrifice for a worthy cause. (One thinks of England's response to such a call from Winston Churchill during World War II).

Because each of us is being confronted daily by the inventory of despair it is good to be reminded that there is another side to the state of the world. I cannot think of a more useful way to spend a few thoughtful minutes early in this new year than by making our own very personal inventory of hope, as our individual contribution to a new and better climate of confidence.

More than a painter! Leonardo da Vinci did more than just paint pictures like the "Mona Lisa." The 15th century genius invented things that were centuries ahead of his time including flying machines, tanks, one-man battleships and even the bicycle chain drive.

More than a diplomat! Benjamin Franklin may have been one of the ablest diplomats in America's history, and the most respected and famous American at the time of the Revolution, but he was also a writer, scientist, inventor. His inventions include bifocal spectacles, the lightning rod and Franklin stove.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill

Attorney General
This is the time of year when many of us begin to think of putting our financial house in order, what with federal income tax filing time approaching and many local taxes due.

And it's often at this time that many of us realize our family records are in such a disorganized state that the job is going to be more difficult than it has to be. Necessary records may be lost or misplaced, scattered in several different locations, illogically grouped or buried among unimportant papers.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division attorneys say that many consumer experts recommend reviewing your personal or family record-keeping system annually to determine if it is adequate, thus avoiding such a situation.

A review would include checking to be sure other family members or responsible persons know where records are kept and who legal and financial advisers are and how to reach them. Each person should know how to contact the individual's or the family's attorney, banker, broker, insurance agent, employer, creditors, or debtors.

Reviewing the state of your records would also include determining which records are vital and should be protected, which are important but replaceable, and which can be thrown away to save space.

A good rule of thumb might be to put whatever would be impossible, costly or troublesome to replace in a safe place, such as a safety deposit box. Using such a guide, then, the following records normally would need to be protected:

Family birth and death certificates. Although these can be replaced, it might take several weeks to do so.

Marriage certificates, divorce or other legal papers relating to dissolution of marriage, adoption papers, citizenship records, service papers, and any other government or court recorded document.

Wills or carbon copies of wills. If the original will is kept in the safe of the attorney who prepared it, one carbon copy should be in a safe place and another should be kept where it will be readily available.

Government bonds. These can be replaced at no cost, but it can take several months.

Papers showing proof of ownership, such as real estate deeds, other mortgage papers, important contracts, car titles, leases, notes, and any special papers such as patents and copyrights.

A detailed household inventory. This is a list of important items, their purchase dates, prices, descriptions (model numbers, brands, etc.), and often photographs. Such an inventory can be invaluable in making insurance claims after fires or burglaries and in assisting police to recover any stolen items. Keep one copy in a safe place, one at home, and perhaps give one to your insurance company.

You would likely want to keep the following records handy as long as they are relevant, but in general they need not be kept in a safety deposit box or other special place: income tax returns, education and employment records, bank books, Social Security cards, guarantees, copies of insurance policies (copies are available from the company), and cancelled checks (copies are available at most banks).

Any cancelled checks or receipts that may be needed for income tax purposes or as proof of payment of consumer installment debts, however, should be readily available.

For assistance with a consumer problem, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or the local Better Business Bureau.

He Comes Up With Reason Why Price Of Arab Oil Has Risen So High

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on the Dry Devil's River takes a short look at the new year this week.

Dear editor:
I had intended to fill this letter this week with my predictions for 1975 but gave up when I got through reading all the predictions by the experts.

As I understand them, some say 1975 will be worse than 1974, some say better, and the rest have their fingers crossed. The one I liked best was the expert on television who squared his shoulders and said we'll be all right if we adopt a program that will stop a recession and whip inflation, but time ran out before he could say what the program is.

Runner-up was the one who said the big automobile companies have got to stop making cars and switch to bicycles. At the heart of our troubles, most of them agreed, is oil and the way the Arab nations are pricing it so high they'll eventually own all the money in the world.

This is probably true and I have figured out why Arab oil is so high. I'll explain. Have you noticed that when an Arab leader appears on television invariably he speaks English fluently? I got to checking into this and found that most of them got their higher education in America.

That's where the trouble started. American universities thought they were over here learning our culture when all the time they were learning how to charge for something somebody else can't get along without. They may have made good grades in American history but what they were fascinated with was seeing how companies can put a high price on sugar and get by with it, or how to buy meat cheap on the hoof and sell it high in the supermarket, or how to get $100 a day for a hospital room.

They took one look at all the cars and filling stations over here and said, "There's no future in sand and camels; oil is where the money is."

What's Washington hung on? Why isn't it sending American farmers to study a while in Arab universities? Arabs have to eat, the same as we have to drive cars.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Anybody for a slump, grunt, flummery or pan dowdy? These traditional New England desserts may sound funny today, but everyone can love those luscious concoctions of juicy fruits and hot biscuit toppings. In old-time cookery slumps and grunts were boiled, while flummeries and pan dowdies were baked. This modern-day version of a pan dowdy uses canned red tart cherries to delight both the traditionalists and modernists.

CHERRY PAN DOWDY

Filling

1 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
dash salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

2 No. 303 cans red tart pitted cherries
1/2 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
few drops red food coloring

Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; add to cherries and juice in a saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat and add lemon juice, almond flavoring, butter and food coloring. Pour into greased 8 x 8 x 2 inch baking dish.

Topping

2 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup milk

1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Stir biscuit mix and milk together just until blended. Drop by tablespoons into mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Place biscuits on top of cherry filling and bake in a 400° F. oven about 30 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Lady with a smile

What was the Mona Lisa thinking about when Leonardo da Vinci painted her? Was she smiling? Some say that she was actually closer to tears!

It is centuries since Leonardo and his model lived, but throughs still stand before the painting in the Louvre and wonder at it. It is much smaller than people expect, but that in no way diminishes its attraction. For the Mona Lisa symbolizes the mystery of life. No matter how great our curiosity, we can never know all the answers.

There is a great deal of mystery in the Church too. Often this bothers those who would seek a logical explanation for everything. That is where we need faith—for faith is, in part, an acceptance of what we inherently feel but can't prove in ordinary, everyday terms.

Where to find faith? Admittedly, it can be quite a quest. But a good place to start that quest is in church.

Methodist Women To Observe Annual Call To Prayer

United Methodist Women of First United Methodist Church of Sonora will hold one of their most important annual observances this week--The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial. About 1.5 million women in 35,000 local units in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The Call, inspired by special mission needs, focuses on prayer, a deepened spiritual life and a guided mission study. Major events of the observance include the Quiet Day and an interpretation of the mission projects in the United States and abroad for which a special offering will be made. Each woman who takes part is asked to give for others by denying herself, and to cultivate through prayer a spiritual oneness with planners, mission workers and those serving in church-related ministries.

The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial for women of the Methodist Church will be held at 3 o'clock on Sunday, January 19, 1975, at the Methodist Church Chapel.

The Women's Division of the United Methodist Board of Global Ministries sponsors the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial and has designated two aspects of the large United Methodist mission program to benefit from this year's special offering.
