The council also asked Wuest to present cost estimates of major repairs to the pool, which

-- Because of the demand, especially in rent property, of turning on and off utility meters, the council passed a resolution establishing a connection fee of $5 for utilities. No charge for first time connections on owneroccupied dwellings will be charged.

-- The council also approved sending two representatives of the local business office to two sessions of tax school. The purpose of the school is to have certified tax assessors for the city. The first session will be in Tyler April 13-16 and the second is to be held in Austin April 27-30.

Junior Range Judging Team Places First

Sutton County 4-H Club members took top honors in the junior division competition of the range judging contest held Saturday at the Walter Pope Ranch. Team members were Paula Friess, Rick Powers, Brad Johnson and Rex Surber, alternate.

The judging contest was the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation Range Judging Contest. The Popes have hosted this contest for several years and were hosts to a barbecue for the approximately 55 guests attending.

Individual judging honors were won by Mark Van Hoozer, fourth place in the senior division judging; Paula Friess won first in the junior division, with Powers coming in second. Johnson placed fourth in the junior division and Pope placed fifth. Sutton County's number two judging team also participated and placed second in the junior division. This team is composed of Cades Pope, Julie Stewart, Tammy Van Hoozer and Marshall Doran. Marla Van Hoozer was also a participant.

The teams were coached by Mrs. Mickey Powers. Assisting her were Virgil Polocek and Joe Bill Averitt. Entries in the contest this year included nine teams comprised of 33 participants, a larger number than in past contests. The contest consisted of four parts: identification of 30 mounted plants and their characteristics; evaluation of a large plot where range conditions, sites and recommended treatment practices are given; and placing of four plots with reasons for placing. Both domestic livestock and wildlife considerations were council anticipates a 1976 budget of over $230,000.00. This cost includes projected cost of city services and improvements in street, water and sewer departments. Council members feel that each income-producing department should sustain itself and in this effort City Manager Nevill was asked to analyze the water rates, which have not changed since 1950. A special meeting has been called April 14 to hear the results of that investigation. At the called meeting the council will consider a water rate increase in the range of 10-25 cents per 1.000 gallons of water used.

-- Nevill has been working for several months on the application for a community development block grant from the federal government in the amount of $87,000 for water and sewer improvements which represents 75 percent of the total cost. The preliminary application for this grant has been approved. With approval the council has been informed that in order to file the application the council must approve the creation of a local housing authority committee. This committee, under the housing authority law, has powers and authority that is unbelievable....ranging from payments to landlords for rent adjustments, to the power of eminent domain.

After an overnight study of the ramifications of the total program, the council voted unnanimously on a resolution showing intent to create this authority.

AMOCO Production Company Plans To Drill 100 Wells In SW Texas

Amoco Production Company plans to drill more than 100 wells this year on the 260,000 acres it is exploring in Southwestern Texas, John Phenicie, Amoco vice president and Houston division manager, announced recently.

The wells will be drilled as part of a gas exploration agreement Amoco signed in 1972 covering portions of Sutton, Schleicher, Crockett, Edwards, and Val Verde Counties.

Under the terms of the igreement, a gas company is advancing drilling funds to Amoco, as operator, to explore for and develop potential gas reserves on the acreage. In return, a portion of any gas production found on the greement acreage will be applied against the drilling funds, and all gas discovered will be sold to the gas company under a 20-year term gas

To date, Amoco, the U. S. exploration and production subsidiary of Standard Oil Company (Indiana), has drilled a total of 101 wells under the agreement with 78 resulting in successful completions. Testing of several of the completions indicates that each of the successful wells may produce an average of 400,000 cubic feet of gas daily. Most of the wells were drilled into the Canyon and Wolfcamp gas sands which lie from 3,000 to trunkline system. Once tied in to the system, these wells will increase the acreage deliverability to about 10 million cubic feet of gas daily.

According to Phenicie, Amoco's success in finding gas on the acreage was not surprising.

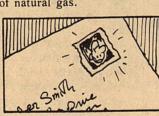

"The industry has believed for quite some time that the area had the potential for natural gas, but the tight gas-bearing sands underlying the acreage have historically yielded low gas production without indications of tremendous reserves," Phenicie said.

"In the past we shied away from making the large financial investment necessary to develop the area, because the price for natural gas was too ow to provide the economic incentive. However, because indications are that the price of natural gas should rise, Amoco decided to take the risk."

At the same time, Phenicie also expressed a note of concern for the project. "Projects like this are tremendously risky. We're spending our money and manpower today with the hope that in the near future our efforts will pay off financially through the necessary higher prices. If the incentive of higher prices is taken away, it would have a disastrous effect on this drilling program and others like it across the country," Phenicie said.

Amoco Production is the second largest producer of crude oil in Texas and the state's sixth largest producer of natural gas.

REDDY'S HELPFUL FREEZER TIPS

Lock in flavor: Use moisture and vapor-proof materials especially designed for freezers to wrap your foods. Tightly sealed, these lock in flavor and moisture and prevent "freezer burn" (surface drying) on foods. Don't use wax paper, bread paper or regular cellophane for freezer foods.

Label packages: Date and identify freezer packages so (1) you don't accumulate a lot of mysterious shapes and (2) you'll be able to pick out foods that have been in the freezer longest.

Take advantage of sales: Avoid overstocking with commercially frozen food that's always available; use your freezer as your own bargain counter and store foods you can buy on sale. But do allow space for short-time baked goods, leftovers and special party foods.

Aunt Sara looks about as stern as they come, doesn't she? As they used to say, "butter wouldn't melt in her mouth." I don't remember the occasion of this picture, since I was the baby. But I do remember Great Aunt Sara very vividly and she was quite a girl!

She was what they call a "pillar of the church." She must have baked an astronomical number of chicken pies for church suppers and served on almost every committee at one time or another. You might say she was pious, a word we don't usually care for. What I mean is

Thank You

I, Maria Rivas, in behalf of V.L. Chavez, wish to thank all of those people who supported and worked in the Campaign to elect Mr. Chavez to the School Board. I also wish to thank those 299 people who voted for him.

I take this opportunity to list the following victories in spite of the loss: 1) More Mexican-Americans were involved in the campaigning than in previous years; 2) More Mexican-Americans were involved in the election team - - - there were 3 Mexican-Americans hired as clerks as opposed to 1 in previous years; 3) there were two Mexican-American poll watchers named this year; 4) our candidate ran solely as a supporter of the education for the Mexican-American child in Sonora; and 5) there was more political advertisement made this year.

and accepted without question all adverse consequences of the supply-and-demand factor essential to free enterprise until they realized foreign governments are being allowed to control and exploit our food markets, i.e. Japan buying our grain to trade for cheap oil, while our own government makes no effort to benefit our lagging economy with the potential value of our food productivity.

America's farmers and ranchers cannot control international politics or establish order and efficiency in food marketing and distribution systems. These are governmental functions.

Food producers cannot feed a hungry world alone. Responsible governmental action to insure marketing and distribution systems equitable to our farmers and ranchers is. essential, too. Without these, asking them to risk overproduction by growing all they can is asking them to produce their own destruction and destroy America's source of food at the same time.

It is incredible that this situation can exist in a world where 700 million people are already facing starvation and the world population is increasing at the rate of 70 million per year. The millennial good growing weather the world has enjoyed for thirty years has ended and wide spread droughts have devastated vast areas that had been productive.

Yet, our government continues to play games with the most highly productive food producers the world has ever known. They can only be saved by a loud demand from the 98% of Americans who are "eating without raising."

"Jawboning" won't grow food--if it isn't turned a complete about-face to protect our nation's food producers at home and promote food's value abroad to procure oil and other raw materials we need, our politicians and bureaucrats may well make Samson with his jawbone of an ass look like

News Letter

The House and Senate passed a major tax bill giving rebates to most middle income and low income families, and giving some tax relief to all Americans. I voted against that bill, in spite of traditional political advice never to vote against a tax reduction. Why did I do this? Because the tax bill would add $22.5 billion to our federal deficit, which is likely to reach $50 $75 billion for the current year. think, and I believe most Americans agree, that the government must stop piling up such enormous deficits. Any money that the governments spends is taken from the taxpayers directly through taxation, or indirectly through piling up debts which create more inflation. These expenditures will have to be paid for by the American people, and when the government spends money it doesn't have, it is borrowing from the American

While we all recognize that there are areas that require government spending, and there are certain things which only the federal government can do for its citizens, people will only recover some control over their own economic lives if the government spends less and leaves the people more. Glantz expressed his sincere appreciation to the more than 1.600 volunteer registrars who have served without compensation in all communities of
