Aldermen Accept City Audit Report

The audit report for the physical year ending September 30, 1975 was examined and accepted when City Aldermen met at the city hall Monday in regular session. The audit was prepared by Chorpene, Jungmann and Company, certified public accountants of San Antonio.

Aldermen also voted unanimously to give all city employees two days of Christmas holidays. In addition to the closure December 25 and 26, employees will also be given a turkey.

In other action of the board, the pre-application for the 1976 City Development Grant was approved. $25,000 has been allocated to the sanitary land fill and $75,000 to the overhead storage tank for the water distribution system. A public hearing concerning the grant will be held at the City Hall December 15 to obtain citizens' views on community development and housing needs. This meeting will provide Sonora citizens the opportunity to participate in the development of the pre-application to be submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Myrl Sudduth and Earl Johnson, representing West Texas Utilities, met with the council and offered to purchase city owned rural electrical lines. These include some 12 miles of line, poles, transformers and easements. Their offer was only $2,000 and City Aldermen took no action on the proposal.

A vote was taken on moving the sanitary land fill gate from its present location to the end of 4th Street and Sinoloa. The action passed unanimously.

The City of Sonora will purchase two new vehicles -- a 1976 4-door sedan for the city manager, and a 1976 model pickup. Bids are now being accepted and will be opened at 10 a.m., December 15.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Norman Rousset; Aldermen Jack Kerbow, Lemuel Lopez, Walter Pope, III, Doyle Morgan and Hershel Davenport; City Manager Bob Nevill, and City Secretary, Pat Robbins. Joe David Ross and Billy Green were also present at the meeting.

Wolter is a four-year veteran of the Comptroller's Office.

Someone Needs Your Help . . .

Again this year, as in Christmases past, the Sonora Welfare Council and the Ministerial Alliance will attempt to bring the warmth of Christmas into the homes of needy Sonorans through the distribution of boxes of food topped off by Christmas toys for children.

The council cannot accomplish these things alone... they need your help. Help with canned foods, good useable toys and money.

Any of these items may be donated by contacting Mrs. Ernest McClelland or Clayton Hamilton.

Foods should consist of non-perishable items such as canned foods. These may be left at Mitch's Sonora Foods where baskets will be packed the week before Christmas.

The council is also in need of women's clothing in sizes 10, 12 and 14.

Enjoy Christmas more this year by sharing with those who are less fortunate than you...those who might otherwise find Christmas just another cold, hungry day. Make this Christmas merry for some child in our town by donating just one good, used or new toy.

Bob Krueger's Weekly Report

I recently learned of a decision by the Postal Service to close large numbers of rural post offices. Although I understand the Postal Service's desire to cut back on labor and administration costs, I must oppose this move which could isolate and inconvenience many rural residents of my district.
For many people in West Texas, the Post Office serves as a community center, a focal point for numbers of widely dispersed, yet close-knit rural community residents. We should not let these traditional institutions fall by the wayside.

The Postmaster General has argued that some 12,000 post offices could be closed without hurting service; frankly, I find this hard to believe. I suspect that the only reason this could be true is because the Postal Service is already so bad that no one would notice if a few thousand offices stopped functioning altogether. We in Congress have been told that great amounts of money would be saved by these closings; but, as is often the case, Washington has failed to take a larger view of the situation. At the rate the Postal Service is currently losing money, the closing of these additional 12,000 post offices would only save the amount of money lost in a two week period of normal operation. I suggest that a problem of this magnitude is not to be remedied by the elimination of service in areas where it is perhaps most vitally needed.

As frequently happens, we are faced with arguments for immediate, almost retroactive fiscal responsibility after years and years of poor policies and inefficient management. Certainly, as the Postmaster General has said, there will be difficult and perhaps painful decisions to make. But we must show some reason in resolving this problem and be responsible in our actions. We must carefully, yet determinedly, pursue the course which will best lead to reduced costs and effective management in our vital postal service.
Our government acts best when we have time to analyze and reflect upon our problems; in emergency cases, when quick decisions are mandatory, someone has to take the lead in representing those who are inconvenienced and whose interests are not protected by the proposed "emergency" solution. I intend to fulfill this responsibility in the case of small post office closings, and I welcome any assistance from my constituents in my attempt to represent them and protect their interests in this matter.

A Bishop Looks at Life

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of Episcopal Church Is a New Dark Age Ahead?
How can we possibly make Christmas vitally relevant to ourselves and to people around us in the world we are now living in?
One way, I believe, is to bring to this holy season (beginning well in advance) the deepest and most disturbing questions that are present in our minds and hearts.

Such a question is this: Are we losing all the decencies of Christian civilization—are we headed for a time of moral degeneration and collapse?
There are many indications that this is happening, indeed has already happened. Look at the increase in crime and violence, the spread of alcoholism and drug addiction, the growing prevalence of pornography, the vulgar pollution of our language, the extreme permissiveness in plays and motion pictures, the lack of commitment and reverence in regard to marriage and sexual relationships.

We need to be reminded that Christmas is not unrelated to the lower levels of human nature. Christ came into a world where life was cheap; a Herod did not hesitate to destroy hundreds of children under two years of age as well as his own son and other relatives. It was a world in which there was adultery, violence, dishonesty and disloyalty, ingratitude and ruthless self-seeking. In fact, there were just as many sins then as we can count today.

Christ met this world by hating its sins and loving its sinners. He called into being a company of those ready to be forgiven and to begin life on a higher level in a new relationship with God and other people. They were to be in the world but not of it. They were not to conform to the world but to be transformed by God's inner renewal of their minds.

Sir Kenneth Clarke in his monumental study called "Civilization" says that it was the small, dedicated Christian colonies that kept civilization alive in the Dark Ages following the fall of Rome.
Christmas says to us: "Are you willing to belong to this same kind of dedicated minority that will preserve the standards and decencies in our Christian heritage, even if we pass through a new Dark Age?"

(Bishop Jones has published a new brochure entitled "Some Thoughts on the Christian Approach to Growing Older." Copies are available at 50 cents each by writing him at 7809 Broadway, San Antonio, Texas 78209.)

The World Is Spending Too Much Time On No-Solution Problems

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River claims he has been thinking, his letter this week indicates.
Dear editor:

After thinking long and hard I have come to the conclusion that the main problem with the world is that it spends too much time trying to solve problems for which there aren't any solutions.

For example, Secretary of State, Kissinger has spent the last two or three years flying back and forth between half a dozen countries while we spent 150 billion dollars in Viet Nam -- which is enough money to tide New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco and several others over till at least Christmas -- and as far as I can tell the problems he was trying to solve are still there.

There are 142 countries in the United Nations, and probably a lot more out there somewhere we haven't heard of who haven't heard of us or the United Nations, and for anybody to try to keep up with their internal problems, not to mention solve them, is like asking you to keep up with the name and character of every office-holder in every county within 200 miles of Sonora.

If Congress in Washington and the Legislature in Austin would confine their attention only to problems capable of being solved, their meeting time could be reduced by about 75 per cent. It doesn't follow that taxes would thereby be reduced, as reducing taxes is one of the problems that can't be solved.

Moreover, this theory doesn't apply just to governments. It applies to all sorts of institutions and categories, and here's a list of some of the problems that can't be solved: College students, Busing, Teen agers, Your neighbor's dog, Television programs, Cars, George Wallace, Ronald Reagan, Ireland, The Middle East, The national debt, and family squabbles.

I'm running out of space. I started to list the CIA and the FBI, but there is a solution to those. As I understand it, both outfits have claimed they've been doing what they've been doing because Congress hasn't set up any guidelines for their conduct. Therefore Congress should pass a law making it against the law for the CIA and the FBI to break the law.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

His love of the outdoors so affected the poet and naturalist Henry David Thoreau that he built a cabin at Walden Pond in Massachusetts, cleared a patch of ground and raised beans, peas, potatoes and corn. The account of his experience at Walden is one of the most interesting and influential works in American Literature!

Lovers of the outdoors recognize the environmental benefits of nuclear power. Experts point out that not only is there no smoke released by nuclear power plants, but the electric energy they generate safely helps create jobs as well!

HOME BAKING FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Good food is an important part of any holiday, but this is especially true of Christmas. Women who rely on the bakery or packaged mixes throughout the year turn to treasured recipes for home baking when this special season rolls around.

Our spirited Holiday Cake can be the finale for your Christmas Dinner. Super-moist and delicious, this lavish cake, soaked with a rum syrup, will win acclaim from the entire family.

No one will ever believe that this scrumptious cake is low in cholesterol and saturated fat, but it is! The secret ingredients that make the difference are Fleischmann's Corn Oil Margarine and Egg Beaters Cholesterol-free Egg Substitute. Sensible eating never tasted so good!

Decorated with red and green candied cherries, this Spirited Holiday Cake is dressed for the day, so show it off. Place on your sideboard or buffet surrounded with evergreens for a festive highlight to your dining room.

SPIRITED HOLIDAY CAKE

- 2-3/4 cups unsifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup (1-1/2 sticks) Fleischmann's Margarine
- 1-1/2 cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 3/4 cups Egg Beaters Cholesterol-free Egg Substitute
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 1/4 cup orange juice
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- Rum Syrup (recipe below)

Confectioners' Sugar Glaze (recipe below)
Red and green candied cherries

Combine flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; set aside. Cream together margarine, sugar and orange peel until fluffy. Gradually beat in Egg Beaters. Add flour mixture alternately with skim milk and orange juice, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Mix in pecans. Beat until well blended. Turn batter into a well greased and floured 10-inch tube pan. Bake at 350°F. 50 minutes or until done. Before removing from pan immediately prick surface with a fork or cake tester. Pour warm Rum Syrup over cake. After syrup is absorbed, remove from pan and place on wire rack to cool.

When cake is completely cooled prepare Confectioners' Sugar Glaze. Pour and spread glaze over entire cake to form a smooth surface. Let dry for 10 minutes before decorating. Use red and green candied cherry pieces to make poinsettias and holly leaves. Makes one 10-inch cake.

RUM SYRUP: In a saucepan combine 1/3 cup sugar and 1/4 cup water; bring to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in 1/4 cup orange juice and 2 tablespoons dark Jamaica rum.

CONFECTIONERS' SUGAR GLAZE: Combine 2 cups confectioners' sugar, 3 tablespoons warm skim milk and 1/4 teaspoon brandy extract in a bowl and beat until smooth.

fine furniture cabinets for kitchens & elsewhere.

This is Town Classical. The nicest thing that's happened to kitchen cabinetry since the hinge. It's solid oak with reversible panel doors and a rich patina finish. It won't warp, stain, or cost you a lot of money. And it's easy and economical to install.

Not surprisingly, these fine furniture cabinets are also finding their way into other parts of the house. Like the den or even the living room. Wherever you might be needing fine cabinets. Why not come see us and Town Classical oak as soon as you can? You'll be glad.

It depends...

If you are skiing out in the woods with an amiable companion, you can revel in the white beauty of the snow. If, on the other hand, you are on a city street, facing an icy wind, you may feel quite differently about the matter.

Isn't that the way it is with almost everything? The way we react to a situation so often depends upon the way it affects us personally. We aren't to be blamed for this; yet we should stop to think that there are two sides to every story. We should not judge the merit of a viewpoint on whether or not it agrees with our own opinion.

The Church is used to different viewpoints, to controversy. It has lived with changing times and opinions for centuries, and it has never been more involved than it is today. The Church is changing as change is needed, ever ready to investigate and to explore the new. Have you been keeping up with it?

Nutrena Controlled Release CLS - so different, it's patented

Your cattle will like Nutrena Controlled Release CLS and you'll like the benefits behind this new development in liquid supplements. The patented process controls the release of protein-building ammonia nitrogen in the rumen compared with a conventional urea-based liquid supplement. This improves the feeding efficiency of the urea. And, the slow-down means an extra margin of safety from urea toxicity—that's important when self-feeding liquid supplement.

Nutrena Controlled Release CLS liquid supplement—a product of Cargill research. It's great for dairy herds as well as beef cattle on range, pasture, stalks, stubble or in the feedlot. Available now at...

DECOUPAGE DECOR

Decorating a child's room doesn't have to cost a fortune. Some imagination, an easy, personalized make-over of furniture you may already own and a few household items are all it takes. Decoupage is the way. To do it you only need a few pieces of metal or wood furniture (possibly lying around the attic or basement), glue, shellac or varnish, and some personal mementos (photographs, picture postcards, etc.) or interesting decals.

Here's how:
*First, remove all soil or your pictures and decals won't lie flat and the glue won't adhere well. Spray all washable furniture surfaces and wipe with a clean cloth or sponge. Turn the adjustable Easy Sprayer™ to the "spray" position for cleaning large, flat surfaces; use the "stream" position to get into the grooves and crannies.

*Sand down any bumps or lumps in furniture surfaces. *If you like, you can paint the furniture, but make sure the paint is dry before going on to the following steps.

*Next, choose and arrange your mementos the way you'd like them to look on the furniture and...

*Glue them on. Be sure to apply glue thinly and evenly so that it doesn't bulge and lump.

*When the glue has dried, coat all furniture surfaces with a coat or two of shellac. Let dry.

*You've created a new look your child is sure to love. Relax and enjoy!

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—All Texans may benefit in some way from many of the good works performed by legitimate charities.

At one time or another, this business claimed to represent or be affiliated with real non-profit organizations of sheriffs, teachers, students, Jewish temples, and Catholic churches. But it was not connected in any way with legitimate charities, non-profit groups, or religious organizations; instead it was a profit-making enterprise solely for the benefit of its owners. Of course, it was impossible for the person who was solicited for a contribution to know that.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection lawyers and spokesmen for the Better Business Bureau urge all Texans who want to contribute to a worthy cause to be sure such a donation ends up where it's intended. If you are approached for a donation by a charity you are unfamiliar with, take the following precautions:

1. Check with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your local BBB, or your county or district attorney to learn if any complaints have been registered about the group.
2. Door-to-door fundraisers should have identification and literature about their cause. Many cities require permits for solicitations. Ask to see such a permit.
3. If you receive a telephone solicitation, ask the caller to give you a local telephone number and address where you can obtain more information, or have the caller mail material to you regarding the charity's work.

4. And remember—you don't have to contribute to a group that sends you unordered merchandise and requests a donation. You can keep or throw away such items with no obligation.

Recently, in cooperation with the El Paso district attorney, our office succeeded in putting one such fraudulent "non-profit" organization out of business. We obtained a permanent court injunction dissolving the corporate charter of a company engaged in "unlawful business operations" involving numerous violations of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act. This particular group was posing as a "non-profit" organization of Mexican-American businessmen, and as such was soliciting in connection with many seemingly worthwhile projects such as softball teams for disadvantaged boys and girls, a "thrift shop" for the benefit of handicapped workers, a "church directory" of religious groups, syn-

Let's Talk About Drug Progress

By MARGARET ROSS

Not long ago a fifth-grade teacher, in the middle of a health lesson, asked her class if anyone knew who discovered the vaccine that virtually wiped out polio. An 11-year-old in the front row raised his hand and replied, "What's polio?"

This child's response characterizes two generations of children who have grown up never having heard of one of the most feared childhood diseases. Polio killed or crippled millions of children and adults from as early as 3700 B.C. until the discovery, development, and the widespread availability of a vaccine in 1955.

Thirty years ago many diseases such as pneumonia, meningitis, scarlet fever, Hodgkin's disease, Parkinson's disease, typhoid, tuberculosis, venereal disease, and whooping cough were dreaded killers. Today, routine medical treatment effectively controls these diseases.

Measles and mumps, as well as polio, were common among children 25 years ago. Today they are totally preventable.

Good health is enjoyed by millions of people today because of improved disease diagnosis as well as better surgical and radiological techniques. New drugs also have played a substantial role in the progress toward better health and life expectancy.

Many drug innovations since World War II have been produced by U.S. pharmaceutical manufacturers. They discovered about 520 of the 900 new drugs that have been available in the United States during the last 30 years. The continued efforts of this industry to alleviate and cure many illnesses is represented by annual investment of more than $1 billion in research and development activities, 99 percent of which is financed by industry firms.

Many of today's research programs are directed toward the discovery of "wonder" drugs that will prevent or relieve some of our worst health problems such as heart disease, cancer, or arthritis. As this research continues, we get closer to that generation of children who will have to ask their teachers or parents, "What's cancer?" or "What's arthritis?"

Some people believe that if the bottoms of your feet itch, you are going to take a trip!

Bicentennial Symbol

A star in any decorating scheme is a quilted pillow depicting the official symbol of our country's 200th birthday, particularly when it's one you've created yourself. The symbol is derived from the stars, stripes and colors of the American flag, in the form of a 5-pointed star in white, surrounded by continuous red, white and blue stripes, forming a second star to symbolize the two centuries of America's existence.

Kits for making a pillow or a full-length quilt are available from B & B Needlecrafts, 2277 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn. 38104, with complete instructions and all the necessary materials in pure cotton—the most popular material of the Colonial era.

If You Say Sew

COOK UP A NOOK—If you need sewing space, find a bare corner, use natural cotton fabrics to cover chair cushions, line inside of bookcase, add Stitch Witchery (iron-on bonding net) cotton window shade that rolls down to conceal your storage. Now sew away, using cotton thread for sewing cotton fabric, of course.

Sheep Lice Are Costly To Ranchers

Sheep in certain areas of the Texas Hill Country and Edwards Plateau have had unusually heavy infestations of lice this fall. These tiny insects are found in two different forms on sheep. The common sheep louse has chewing mouth parts while two other species have mouth parts that pierce the skin and suck blood. These pests cause intense irritation as they feed in the wool near the skin. The chewing louse feeds on skin scales and other skin and wool products. The itching and irritation from these lice result in the sheep biting and pulling at the wool and rubbing vigorously against posts, trees, and other objects. The fleece of heavily infested animals becomes ragged and torn and is reduced in value. Raw sores, vulnerable to infection and other complications, may result from the intense rubbing and scratching. Also, the itching and irritation interferes with feeding, thus preventing animals from fattening or maintaining condition and may stunt the growth of young animals.

Lice spend their entire life on the sheep, leaving only to transfer to another animal upon contact. Peak numbers occur on sheep during the winter and may persist until spring shearing, after which the population drastically declines. Small populations of lice sustain themselves on the animals during the summer and may begin to increase at the onset of cool weather during the fall and winter when considerable damage can occur.

Applying an insecticide within 30 days following shearing destroys lice which would remain on the sheep during the summer and produce damaging populations the following fall and winter. Such treatments will practically eradicate lice from individual flocks. These treatments also help in protecting shearing wounds from screw-worms. Other animals placed in the flock after treatment should be sprayed thoroughly to prevent re-infesting the treated flock.

Louse control is difficult when animals are in heavy fleece. Insecticidal sprays furnish partial control, but they generally act much slower than desired. Dipping when animals are in full fleece is impractical and is not recommended. If one finds his sheep heavily infested with lice at this time of year, control may be difficult; but an attempt should be made to rid the animals of these pests. Partial control may result if the animals are in heavy fleece; however, if animals that are heavily infested with lice are not treated, losses are sure to occur.

Several insecticides are effective against sheep lice, including malathion, ronnel (Korlan), coumaphos (Co-Ral), Diazinon, dioxathion (Delnav), crotoxyphos (Cioldrin), toxaphene, methoxychlor, and lindane. Each material carries certain restrictions and limitations on its use. Refer to Extension Leaflet MP-691, "Texas Guide For Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry," available at County Extension Agents' offices for specific recommendations.

WHEN CHRISTMAS EVE rolls around, everyone knows Santa Claus is hard at work delivering presents. During the summer, however, the jolly old elf does just what everyone else is doing—he goes on vacation. When the Texas Tourist Council reporter located him at his North Pole workshop, Santa confirmed that he's definitely planning to visit Texas next year. "My work takes me all over the world," Santa noted, "so I guess you could call me an authority on travel. I've seen a lot of fine places, but when I go on vacation, I always head for Texas. Your State has just about everything!"

Christmas Tree Safety Tips

A dry, brittle Christmas tree can go up in flames in a matter of seconds. With a few precautions and a little common sense, it's possible to keep a tree fresh and avoid fire hazards.

"First of all," says Clint Langford, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "pick a tree that's fresh. The needles should be green and flexible and shouldn't fall off at the touch."

"Before setting the tree up, make a fresh cut diagonally across the trunk base to facilitate the tree's water uptake. Then put the tree in a sturdy water filled stand and locate it away from fireplaces, stoves, radiators or other sources of heat," he cautions.

Replace the evaporated water daily in the tree stand. Before decorating the tree, check the lights and other electrical decorations for burned out bulbs and frayed, cracked or worn insulation. Replace any damaged items and don't overload electrical circuits.

Langford advises using nonflammable ornaments on the tree and throughout the house. Never use lighted candles on a tree and don't hang metal foil tinsel directly over wires or tree lights.

Remember to disconnect tree lights before leaving the house or going to bed.

Dispose of the tree as soon as possible after the holidays, adds the county agent.

The thousands of teachers across America who dedicate their lives to educating our children rarely get enough praise. Their greatest joy comes when they are able to light that spark in a student and see a young mind come alive.

Our schools rarely close because there is no electricity. Schools rely on the unsung workers at electric plants just as much as we do at home or on the job. But keeping electric service reliable costs more these days. According to Edison Electric Institute, the principal association for the nation's electric companies, one important reason is all the environmental controls they must provide to maintain today's air standards. Depending on which control system is used, it can add as much as 30 percent to the cost of making our electricity. The people at the electric companies rely on us to understand this as much as we rely on them for dependable electric service.

Gifts They'll Remember

There's no special gift to giving gifts that are special, if you give some thought to these suggestions:

1. Buy for the person you're giving to, not for yourself. Just because you like something doesn't mean everyone will.
2. Practical presents are the biggest luxury. Give gifts that give pleasure but don't require great care.
3. Quality is more appreciated than quantity. Most men would probably prefer one good, 100-percent cotton shirt that will always look crisp and classy to several inexpensive synthetics—whether for business or sports.

USE WANT ADS FOR BEST RESULTS

Creativity takes on its finest forms at Christmastime as homes are beautified both within and without, and safety should be woven into the finished product.

The Yule season is no time for accidents, asserts the Texas Department of Health Resources. There's a lot of room for a mistake, however, Trees, lights, candles, trees and mantle trimmings, your fireplace and excess paper can be a source of trouble.

Center of most home decorations is the brilliantly lighted and colorful tree, and it should be the place for starting your safety efforts.

In selecting a cut green tree, get one with a good green color. Needles of a fresh tree should be hard to pull from branches, and needles won't break when bent. Bounce the tree hard against the ground and you won't get a shower of needles if the tree is fresh.

Trees should be placed in a base which holds water, and this water should be checked regularly while the tree is up. Before mounting the tree, cut about two inches off the trunk to allow it to better absorb the water.

Placement of trees also is important, says the Department of Health Resources. Keep them away from stoves, fireplaces and radiators which could cause a tree to dry out quickly and perhaps catch fire.

What about decorations? Never use lighted candles on a tree or near other evergreens, decorations, or wrapping paper. Candles should be in non-flammable holders and in locations where they cannot be knocked down or blown over.

In selecting lights, check for the Underwriters' Laboratories "UL" label. On all strings of lights, make certain that all connections are tight and that there are no frayed or bare wires. These could cause short circuits and perhaps a fire—or a shock to the person installing them.

Outdoor lights should be waterproof. They are especially made for the outdoors.

When away from home, or when you go to bed, turn off all lights.

And, never use electric lights on metallic trees.

Trimnings for trees and elsewhere in the home should be of flameretardant material, something that won't flare up if accidentally ignited.

If there are small children in the home, care should be taken in selecting decorations. The United States Product Safety Commission urges parents to avoid decorations that are sharp or breakable—including bubbly tree lights. It also warns against trim with small removable parts if used where children can get at them. Pieces could be swallowed or inhaled. And, trimmings resembling candy could be eaten by a child.

When installing their trees, many people burn the trimmings from branches in their fireplaces. If burned a piece at a time, this shouldn't cause any problem. But piling up a big mound of evergreens could cause popping and crackling and a large number of sparks. So be careful. And always use a screen before the fireplace.

The Product Safety Division of the Department of Health Resources hopes that all clothing will someday be flames resistant. Standards are now in effect for certain types of children's clothing. But until that time, extreme care needs to be taken.

Matches, lighters and candles should be kept out of the reach of children. Children and adults should avoid the wearing of loose, flowing clothes—especially long, open sleeves—near the open flames of a fire-place, stove or candle-lit table.

Here's another reminder about children's toys. Efforts have been made to remove dangerous toys from retail sources. But, a safe toy in the hands of one child may be unsafe if used by a younger one.

When purchasing a toy, look for a warning label stating that the toy isn't recommended for a child under a certain age. If the label warns that the toy is too advanced for the child in mind, the purchaser should heed the warning and find one to fit the child. This will help reduce the chance of injury.

And, once those presents under the tree have been opened, gather up all those wrappings from the tree and fireplace area and remove them from the home.

Christmas should be a joyous occasion. Keep it that way by planning for safety, says the Texas Department of Health Resources. It will add to your enjoyment of the season to know that you and your loved ones are as safe as possible.

Dollars & Good Sense

Inflation, deflation and general economic conditions prevalent in the past couple of years have brought new situations to many families. And often they are not sure just how to handle what they are faced with.

In the next few columns, I will be dealing with one particular situation confronting many families—the addition of a second income when both spouses are working.

Once the decision has been made for the second spouse to take on a job, there is often a tendency to assume that their take-home pay will all be "extra" money. Before you are lulled into a false feeling of security or wealth, consider what the hidden costs of a second bread winner can be.

First, consider the expenses necessary just to keep the job. A new wardrobe necessary for a continuing job can cost several hundred dollars. Also consider the cost of transportation. Even charges for mass transit or car pooling can add up, but if a second car becomes necessary, will the job still be worth it?

Many families also find that with both adults working, more money is spent on time-saving convenience meals, or still more expensive, eating out.

Once you add these extras up, you'll know how much added income you'll really have to work with. And that's when your long range planning can begin.

C-B'ers Discuss Club Name

Consideration for a club name was given when the Sonora C-B'ers met November 25. Mrs. Sandi Elliot proposed the name Peyton Place. Other names will be proposed at the next meeting.

The dance, to be held in December, was discussed at length by club members and it was suggested that instead of a band, tape music be used.

10 codes were discussed by the group and club members stated that a 10-33 is an emergency code; 10-50 is an accident and 10-70 is a fire alarm. Handle, name, identification, location and specific details should be given to police, firemen, doctors or hospitals when using these codes. When reporting or receiving a 10-33, C-B'ers should go to Channel 9.

Club members asked to stay on Channel 1 at all times and to keep Channel 19 clear for trucks and motorists.

Tickets are on sale from club members for a radio to be given away. Tickets may be purchased for $1. Memberships to the club are still being taken.

DISTRICT 4-H MEETING HELD IN UVALDE

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Doran, Larry Finklea and county agent Clint Langford attended the District 13 4-H organizational meeting held in Uvalde November 25.

Highway Department Awarded For Highway Litter Control Program

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has won the highest award of the Federal Highway Administration/Keep America Beautiful Inc. (KAB) for its 1975 highway litter control program.

Roger W. Powers, KAB president, has announced that the award will be presented December 5 at that organization's 22nd annual meeting in Washington, D. C.

A panel of six nationally-recognized community leaders and environmentalists selected the DHT to receive the award in recognition of a wide variety of ongoing programs to stimulate individual concern and to spur personal involvement in improving the environment.

The department maintains a continuing educational program to enlist public support for improving the quality of life for all Texans. Particular emphasis is directed toward controlling roadside litter.

Radio and television stations, newspapers and other media support the program through use of the department's slide programs, news releases and educational materials. The DHT is noted for beautification of its safety rest areas, roadside plantings of native plants and wild flowers, and other programs. Pickup of roadside litter discarded by careless motorists cost the department approximately $3.8 million in fiscal 1975, or approximately 2.8 percent of its entire maintenance budget. The 1974 litter pickup cost was about $3.7 million.

Although the cost of picking up litter increased by about $100 thousand in the last fiscal year, the increase was well below the inflation-influenced 8.8 percent total maintenance boost last year.

Tight control of litter pickup costs and special emphasis on education was credited with holding down the percentage increase, according to B. L. DeBerry, the department's chief administrative officer.

DeBerry said, "The department is going to need even greater cooperation of the motoring public in the future to control litter because of the extremely tight funding situation." He noted that the department had been forced to reduce roadside mowing operations already and litter pickup may be curtailed.

Overall DHT maintenance costs have been rising about 11 percent per year for the last several years, largely the result of increased costs of materials and labor.

FANCY THAT!

Highly fantastic to the readers of the last half of the 19th century were the startling inventions described in the novels of Jules Verne. Today, he is regarded as a prophet. His dreams of undersea and air travel have come true, and his story, "Around the World in Eighty Days" now seems like a leisurely trip!

Mrs. Preston Love, Jr., Mrs. Tommy Love and Mrs. Jim Cusenbary, all members of the Sonora Woman's Club, display the Christmas tablecloth to be given away

December 13 following the profit sharing coupon drawing. Proceeds from the sale of the cloth will go to the library, the one fund raising project of the club.

Police Reports

Charges of harassment by telephone were filed last week against a Sonora man. He was placed in Sutton County Jail. Fine was set and the subject released.

Seven citations were issued by City Police last week including disorderly conduct, affray, speeding, running stop signs and harassment charge.

On December 1 Fred Adkins reported a broken window in his laundromat located on Concho Street. Officer Jerry Kemp investigated.

Wild Game Program Set

On December 18, 1975 a Wild Game Care and Cookery clinic will be held at the Municipal Auditorium in Kerrville starting at 2 p.m. The program is designed to provide hunters, fishermen, and homemakers with information on how best to utilize meat resources from wild game and fish. It is being sponsored jointly by the Family Living Task Force and the Wildlife and Recreation Task Force of the STAR Program.

Mr. Don Steinbach, Fisheries Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station, will present information on how to handle fish from the time you get them on the hook until you have them in the boat or on the bank, dressed out and ready to take home. Mr. Steinbach will provide hints to insure the best quality in fish from catch to kitchen.

Dr. Milo Shult, Area Wildlife Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Uvalde, will cover similar information as related to game animals, including both big game such as deer and game birds such as doves and quail. Handling of game animals in the field can be just as important to the meat quality as how they are prepared in the kitchen. Shult will provide information on the best way to take game and the way to handle it in the field based on some recent research.

Dr. Ranzell Nickelson, II, Seafood Technologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station, will provide information on both fish and game with respect to methods of preserving and quality control which can be used by both the sportsman and the homemaker. Dr. Nickelson will demonstrate various techniques for preservation, including smoking and curing of venison. He will also provide hints on quality control for seafood products.
