THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ.....

He Comes Up With Wild Scheme To Put A Stop To These Crises

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on the Dry Devil's River seems to be back in standard form, his letter this week indicates.

Dear Editor:

As some of you may know, I was suddenly carted off to the hospital a few weeks ago, but I can now report that I'm back in fairly good working order.

Thought I'd tell you about a dream I had. I dreamed that for some strange reason the three TV and radio network editors and the leading newspaper and wire service editors all gathered at my bitterweed ranch on here one day. There was Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor, David Brinkley, James Reston, and too many others to mention. "Look," the president of CBS said. "We're getting tired of having to chase all over the world with our cameras and reporters every time a world crisis breaks out in some country we never heard of before."

"That's right," John Chancellor chimed in. "I've been in the news business all my life and it was only a month ago I heard of Angola. Took two secretaries half the morning to find it on the map."

"Yeah," Walter Cronkite put in. "Beirut, Zaire, Zanzibar, Belfast—every one of them has been in a world crisis at one time or another. Everybody gets excited, world leaders confer and wring their hands, we report it all, then the crisis fades away and we get set for another one. It's getting monotonous. There ought to be some way to stop it."

This dream is pretty wild because at that point I spoke up.

"I've got an idea," I said. "Let's teach the world a little lesson. Let's make up a mythical country, manufacture a crisis there, put it on TV and radio and in the newspapers, and then sit back and see how the world leaders perform."

"Great idea," David Brinkley said. "What are we going to call this country?"

"I've got the perfect name." I said. "Let's call it Hypodermia."

"Great," James Reston of the New York Times said.

They all agreed and that evening the news was filled with the new world crisis developing in far-off Hypodermia. "Internal strife is boiling over in the towns and throughout the countryside," the reports went. "Two Soviet ships loaded with supplies have been sighted off the east coast of Hypodermia."

Lights burned late at the U.S. State Department that night and by next morning Washington was seething with excitement.

"Where is Hypodermia?" one State Department expert asked.

"What difference does that make?" another put in. "Let's get our aid on the way and we'll find out later where it is."

"Should we tell Congress about this?" another asks. "No," another answers. "You tell Congress and it won't be 24 hours before the whole country knows."

Unfortunately, a nurse came in to give me a pill before I finished this dream, but you've got to admit it has some side-splitting possibilities, especially when you think of all those cargo planes loaded with U.S. aid circling the globe trying to locate Hypodermia so they can land and protect our interests.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

Remove carpet grease spots caused by holiday traffic by pouring a generous amount of baking soda or corn meal on the spot. Work it into the pile with your fingers. CHILI?

Jesse James loved chili so much that he refused to rob a bank in McKinney, Texas, because that's where his favorite chili parlor was located.

It may surprise you to know that, as a nation, we use more than one-third of the world's energy each year. This, despite the fact we have only six per cent of the world's energy.

Furthermore—due largely to bad habits—a sizeable portion of this energy is wasted.

We have always considered ourselves a nation of plenty—including plenty of energy. Now, we are finding out this just isn't so.

Where Will It End? Gasoline prices continue to rise while the cost of living across the board keeps going up. Where will it all end, you ask? Well, some of the best minds in the world don't have the answer, and we don't pretend to either. It's just a shame that we didn't realize how good we had it before.

If bad habits waste energy, perhaps good habits can help turn the tide. Isn't it worth a try?

Here are more good energy-saving ideas you can easily put to use:

Energy And Appliances

Keep appliances clean and in good operating order. An inefficient appliance wastes both energy and money.

If you have an automatic dishwasher, try to wash only full loads. But, by the same token, don't "overload" an appliance.

Use the correct appliance for the job. It costs three times as much to toast bread in an oven than in a toaster.

Wash clothes in warm or cold water, rinse in cold. (If everyone did this, fuel savings would amount to the equivalent of about 100,000 barrels of oil a day. That's enough to heat 1.6 million homes in winter.)

A refrigerator or freezer will work more efficiently if located away from heating equipment and direct sunlight.

Bright Ideas

To help keep rooms warm in winter and cool in summer, it's a good idea to install reflective Sunfighter film on all windows facing the sun. The film can help cut heating costs during winter by keeping heat in that would normally escape through the window. If you would like more information on this, write me—C. R. Gardner, ICI-US, New Murphy Road, Wilmington, DE 19897.

Also, consider adding economical fluorescent lighting wherever possible. A 40-watt fluorescent lamp produces more light than a 100-watt incandescent bulb—at half the cost!

"Turnoff" should be the watchword when leaving a room. This applies—not only to lights—but to TVs, radios, stereos, etc.

Lastly, clean or replace furnace filters regularly, at least once a month.

BONDS SALE FOR '75 RELEASED

Sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds amounting to $786 in Sutton County were reported today by County Bond Chairman George H. Neill. Sales for the eleven-month period totaled $12,411 for 62 percent of the 1975 sales goal of $20,000.

HELLO, OLD BEANS!

Don't cook two different packages of dry beans together. Older beans take longer to cook than fresher ones, and a mixed batch will cook unevenly.

Bob Krueger's Weekly Report

During the past couple of weeks I spent several days visiting livestock shows which take place yearly at this time in West Texas, from Del Rio to Ballinger, and from Winters to Eldorado. Trips of this type are particularly rewarding, because they give me a chance to find out about the current problems and concerns of those actively engaged in agricultural pursuits; we all have to work together to keep this important sector of our economy strong and productive.

One of the best things about our agricultural way of life in West Texas is the training it provides our young people. The dedication and self-discipline necessary to produce award-winning livestock also build character, and the rewards are great both at the time of achievement and in later, adult life. We can be very proud of the young people I've been meeting at the stock shows, for they are preparing themselves well for their participation in our country's future.

There are encouraging signs in Washington that federal legislators are beginning to give American farmers their due; my bill to deregulate natural gas focuses special attention on the needs of rural and agricultural consumers. Rural gas customers who depend on propane to heat their homes would be protected against loss of their only readily available cheap fuel, and the legislation would also require the FPC to prevent suspension of natural gas supplies to those engaged in essential agricultural functions. Farmers and food processors thus would not stand in so great a danger of losing the natural gas supply which allows them to grow, process and package the nation's food supply. This provision is an integral part of my legislation and, most importantly, it has won the support of more than twenty agriculture-related organizations for the Krueger natural gas deregulation bill. Our recognition of the agricultural sector as the keystone of the American economy served as one of several focal points in the drive for natural gas deregulation, and this is only as it should be; natural gas deregulation will benefit the agricultural sector, providing an increased supply of energy for needed crop expansion.

I hope that my constituents will join me in efforts to recognize the importance of agriculture to the American economy and to all aspects of our nation's future. Please let me know if you have suggestions or additional information that will aid in this common endeavor. Common sense and straight thinking from the people back home is often a Representative's most efficient weapon in attempts to correct the misguided policies of the past.

SEW YOUR OWN SKIWEAR

Due to increased availability of suitable fabrics, patterns, notions and pre-packaged kits, more people will be sewing skiwear and outer sportswear during 1976. By making their own outdoor-wear, homesevers save money, challenge themselves with a new experience and create custom and unique looks, Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, points out.

REDDY'S REFRIGERATOR SAVINGS TIPS

Don't open refrigerator door unnecessarily. Plan your trips to the refrigerator while cooking. Make sure the children maintain a closed-door policy.

Buy the size that fits your needs. An over-large refrigerator or freezer wastes space as well as electricity.

Clean external coils, fins and motor often and keep them free from dust.

Defrost your refrigerator and freezer before ice deposit exceeds 1/4 inch. Excess ice causes your refrigerator to work harder.

Bicentennial Cherry Buns

Fresh baked buns can create a feeling of warmth and hospitality for family and guests alike. This versatile recipe for Cherry Buns serves all occasions—breakfast, lunch or dinner—plus hailing our first President, George Washington, and the delightful red tart cherry. Brighten your kitchen reputation with these Bicentennial Cherry Buns... made from unbleached flour for better flavor and texture.

1 No. 303 can red tart cherries
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons unbleached flour
1 tablespoon butter
Few drops red food coloring
1 package active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water
1 cup milk, scalded
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
4 to 4 1/2 cups sifted unbleached flour

Drain cherries thoroughly. Combine sugar and flour. Add cherries and cook until thick. Add butter and food coloring. Cool and reserve.

Soften yeast in warm water. Add hot milk to shortening, sugar and salt. Stir until shortening is melted; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1/2 cups of the flour. Add softened yeast and egg; beat well. Stir in remaining flour or enough to make a soft dough. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Knead on lightly floured surface until smooth, about 5 minutes. Place in a greased bowl; cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Punch down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll dough to slightly less than 1/2-inch thick. Cut with a 2 1/2-inch cutter. Place 2-inches apart on a lightly greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise until light, about 45 minutes. With fingers, press down center of buns; spoon in cherry filling. Bake at 375° about 15 minutes or until done. Makes about 1 1/2 dozen.

MY HERITAGE

Our family Bible is a venerable volume. It has been passed from generation to generation, going to the oldest each time, and now, as long as I live, it shall be mine.

I have always been fascinated by this wedding picture of my Grandmother and Grandfather Harris, which has always been located at the page which records their marriage. I recall when this peppery, little gray-haired lady showed me the picture for the first time. Her fingers were old and wrinkled—trembling as she turned to it.

Notice that a church appears not once, but twice, in the drawings. I have always thought this symbolic because the Church was such an important factor in Grandmother's life. Her Faith upheld her through many dark times, and what was important was that she communicated it to all of us. Another priceless inheritance from my Grandmother—her Bible and her Faith.

activities, Mr. Brown was an outstanding athlete. It was while attending Del Mar that he was named to the "JC All-America" football team the same year he played in the "Little Rose Bowl Junior College Game" in Pasadena. At Rice he was a member of the Owls football team.

Mr. Brown has practiced law in Kerrville for the past seven years and has served as Municipal Judge, City Attorney and County Attorney.

He is a past president of the Kerrville Jaycees, and is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

He served in the Texas National Guard for six years, with active duty in Camp Chafee, Arkansas, and Ft.

Dix, New Jersey. Mr. Brown pledged that if elected it will be his intention and purpose to enforce the law impartially. He stated that he is a firm believer in the enforcement of the law and will prosecute with diligence all persons indicted by the respective grand juries in the district. It is his intention to visit with as many of the electorate as is possible during the campaign and earnestly solicits the vote and influence of all the citizens who are concerned with the well being of their communities.

The 216th district candidates are not in opposition of those in the 112th district where Dixon Mahon presently serves as district attorney.

"I am presently serving as County Attorney of Kimble County to which I was elected in 1972. I was elected director and treasurer of the Kimble County Hospital District, 1971-1974. I am past president of the Junction Jaycees, past president of the Texas Racing Circuit and currently serve as rodeo chairman of the Junction Rodeo Association and President of the Hill Country Fair Association.

"I am a member of the Baptist Church, a 32 degree Mason, Suez Shrine, and the Rotary Club. I am married to the former Judy Mahler and have two children, Robert (9) and Randi (4).

"I sincerely solicit the encouragement and support of the fine people of Sutton County and look forward to visiting with you in the near future.

"If elected, I will be honest and fair to all concerned and strive to uphold the dignity and respect of our Judicial System," concluded Sutton.

30, 1967. Egan then moved from Houston to Kerrville, where for the past eight and one-half years he has been engaged in the general practice of law.

Egan said: "While in Kerrville I have gained experience in trial and appeal of felony cases, as well as of misdemeanors at the County Court level. In my employment in Federal Court in Houston and Galveston I benefited from considerable opportunity to observe criminal trials from the objective view of the court, and particularly from concentrated experience gained working on federal habeas corpus petitions filed by state prisoners. I am licensed to practice in the State of Texas, the United States District Court for the Western District of Texas, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, and in the Supreme Court of the United States.

"Our reason for moving to Kerrville was to make our permanent home on a place at the end of Goat Creek Road (about 6 miles out of town, just inside Gillespie County) that my Dad, the late J. M. Egan, started working in 1948. My wife, Mary, is the third grade teacher at Ingram and our three children, Kathy (16), Mike (14), and Frances (12) all attend school at Harper. We are members of Kerrville's First Presbyterian Church and I am a member of the Kerrville Rotary Club.

"As you are probably aware, an excellent salary goes with this job. If elected to serve I will do all within my power to deliver the level of job performance that you, the voters and taxpayers, have bought and paid for and are therefore entitled as a matter of right. I solicit your vote and your support."

Egan is of the opinion that the controlling issue for voters in the May Republican Primary should be deciding which lawyer in the race would most likely give the state the best legal representation.

Texas Department of Health Resources Fratis L. Duff M.D., Director

An early warning system against influenza has been put into operation in Texas through the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Dr. M. S. Dickerson, chief of the TDHR's Bureau of Communicable Disease Services, says outbreaks of influenza can have traumatic effects on a community, cutting sharply into school attendance and the ranks of the working public.

"The severe and disruptive effects of epidemic influenza on a community can be mitigated, however, by the early detection and early diagnosis of an outbreak," said Dr. Dickerson. "This is accomplished by a thorough surveillance system that is presently operational throughout the state of Texas."

In the past, the Department of Health Resources has received weekly reports of notifiable communicable disease in the state from reports of private physicians. These "flu-like" illness reports, which are still continuing, are published by the Department in its "Texas Morbidity This Week". But in addition to these physician reports, influenza surveillance is placing another finger on the pulse of the disease.

Influenza is being monitored through 19 school systems, 12 industries and 13 large hospitals. These monitoring units are distributed in such a way as to detect illness in any part of the state at any time. Weekly data is regularly communicated to the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services.

Selection of schools, hospitals and industry for reports wasn't just by chance. When influenza enters a community, one of the first changes noted, says Dr. Dickerson, is an appreciable rise in the number of patients seen in outpatient clinics and emergency rooms. "Daily and weekly changes will be watched," he said.

"Although influenza affects all age groups," said Dr. Dickerson, "age-specific prevalence rates are highest among primary and secondary school children at the onset of an epidemic. Thus, this population serves as a good index for influenza activity."

School and industrial absenteeism and hospital emergency room visits give a quantitative estimate of current influenza activity.

The Department of Health Resources utilizes its Public Health Region operation and big city health departments in channeling information into Austin. Through them, local doctors and hospitals have been alerted to look for influenza symptoms, in patients.

Just appearing to have influenza isn't good enough for the Department. Laboratory confirmation is necessary for influenza, as well as the particular strain. Proper testing equipment for throat swabs and blood serum specimens have been provided to reporting points around the state. The specimens taken may be tested in regional laboratories or the main laboratory in Austin.

"If we can get an early alarm, we can pinpoint the outbreak and individuals can set up certain safeguards. Those with upper respiratory infections can stay home and not spread the infection. The success of the program is tied in with early detection and prevention," said Dr. Dickerson.

As the New Year got underway, Dr. Dickerson said there had been no outbreaks of influenza in the state.

"But," he added "it may be coming." Influenza of the A-Victoria strain has been isolated in Hawaii. Since there is heavy travel between Hawaii and the mainland, it can be expected to be brought in, Dr. Dickerson said.

Health departments in Austin, Fort Worth, Houston, Dallas, Waco and Amarillo, together with Public Health Region headquarters in Harlingen, Abilene, El Paso, Lubbock and Tyler, are primary reporting points. They receive reports from other towns and from hospitals near them. These hospitals are: Hendricks in Abilene; Shannon in San Angelo; Medical Center in Tyler; Memorial in Corpus Christi; Mercy in Laredo; R. E. Thomason in El Paso; Providence and Hillcrest in Waco; Methodist in Lubbock; Northwest Texas in Amarillo; Parkland in Dallas; Brackenridge in Austin; John Peter Smith in Fort Worth; and Ben Taub in Houston.

Dr. Dickerson said this reporting system can be used also for reporting other communicable diseases and in another way in which the Department of Health Resources is working for a healthier Texas.

Potential Aggies Urged To Begin Taking Tests

Senior students with an interest in studying agriculture at Texas A&M University are reminded by County Extension Agent Clint Langford they must complete entrance tests and applications for admission before June 1.

One of the major obstacles to gaining early admission, Langford said, has been the lack of SAT scores. Because there is usually a delay of six weeks between taking the tests and receiving the results students are urged to contact their principal or counselor as soon as possible so early arrangements can be made to complete this necessary task.

Although the deadline is nearly five months away, a fair amount of urgency exists, the County Agent explains.

"Interest among young people in agricultural careers is growing and Texas A&M is experiencing a rapid increase in enrollment. This has placed some pressure on the school's facilities to service their needs by the cutoff date, I understand." He said admission requirements include combined SAT scores of 800 for those students in the top half of their class and 900 and 1000 respectively for third and fourth-quarter standings. Students who do not meet full admission requirements may apply for summer school on the campus.

Necessary information and entrance forms may be acquired by writing Office of Admissions, Texas A&M University, College Station 77843.

Transcript Available

State Representative Luther Jones announced recently that a transcript of the meeting of the House Committee on Elections held on December 17, 1975, with officials from the U.S. Department of Justice on hand to explain the new federal Voting Rights Act is now available through the Committee office.

"I want to say how very gratified I was at the response to the meeting--more than 700 people from over 450 political subdivisions were able to attend," Jones said. "However," he added, "I am sure that many persons still have unanswered questions, and many others were unable to attend the meeting. The transcript will be especially useful to those people."

"The Committee had wanted to be able to distribute copies of the transcript free of charge," Jones continued, "but our appropriation just did not allow for such an expenditure. However, I have arranged to make copies available to any interested party for only what it cost the Committee to produce."

Anyone wishing to order a copy of the transcript may do so by writing: Committee on Election, P.O. Box 2910, Austin Texas 78767, and enclosing a check or money order for $3.00 for each copy requested.

TV Viewers Can

Enroll For Free Booklets

Local and area television viewers can enroll for free "do-it-yourself" booklets on home care and maintenance, offered in conjunction with the new television series.

"As part of the new 'You Can Do It!' television series, we are encouraging local residents to enroll now for a set of about 30 booklets, which give instructions in home care and maintenance skills taught in the series," Miss Mahon said.

Sutton County residents may write: Miss Sarah Mahon, Assistant County Extension Agent-at-Large, Drawer 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801.

"Booklets will serve as a 'preview', so viewers can study ahead of time and better understand each lesson in the series."

"Also, they will serve as a reference after the series is complete, and they do contain additional information - in words and pictures," she said.

Wool, Mohair Incentives Remain Unchanged

The incentive price of 72 cents a pound for marketings of shorn wool and a support of 80.2 cents a pound for mohair will continue unchanged from 1974 and 1975 levels.

These prices are in accordance with the National Wool Act, as amended, by the Agricultural Act of 1970 and the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973. The National Wool Act, as amended, requires that support shall be at the above levels for each of the marketing years beginning January 1, 1971 and ending December 31, 1977. Pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the incentive price for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs.

As in past years, shorn wool payments will be based on a percentage of each producer's returns from sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers from shorn wool up to the announced incentive price of 72 cents a pound.

Sutton County Cooks Invited To Submit Favorite Recipes

Sutton County cooks are invited to submit their favorite recipes for publication in the spring issue of TDA Quarterly, the Texas Department of Agriculture's consumer-oriented magazine.

Recipes unique to the West Texas area and old-time specialties will be stressed, with a special lookout being kept for lamb and Mexican food recipes. However, any good recipe will be considered, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

In addition to recipes, old-time methods of food preservation in danger of disappearing will be printed. Anyone with tips from the past on preserving foods is invited to send them in, White said.

Deadline for submitting recipes and hints from the past will be February 16.

TDA Quarterly takes a look at a specific region of Texas in each issue. It began publication last year. The magazine is free to Texas residents.

Recipes and tips selected for publication will be credited to the sender. They will not be returned. They should be mailed to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Information Section, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Diane Wuest Receives U Of T Nursing Degree

Mrs. David (Diane) Wuest graduated December 20 from the University of Texas School of Nursing. Graduation ceremonies were held at the Lyndon Johnson Library Auditorium.

Mrs. Wuest was awarded a bachelor of science degree in nursing and is now employed at St. David's Hospital in Austin.

federal law states "it is the goal that the discharge of pollutants into the navigable waters be eliminated."

Guidelines for the 1983 deadline have been laid out, but for the 1985 goal, the definition of "pollutants" has not been outlined.

As is the case in almost any project, there are many "ifs" which must be answered before the mission can be accomplished. In this instance, money is the deciding factor.

Presently most municipalities have adequate facilities for secondary treatment, but many have applied for federal grants to improve existing facilities or for new construction.

For these cities the money available in the grant program will be the deciding factor as to whether they can or can't meet the federal guidelines.

The monies now being administered are the $9 billion which was impounded by the last federal administration and then released in fiscal 1975. Of these funds, Texas' chunk was $175 million, now being used to complete grant projects already under construction, and new starts.

Grant figures for fiscal 1977 should be released sometime in February or March, but until then the amount released by the government will remain a mystery.

On the whole, Texas has a headstart on many other states in wastewater treatment, but with many wastewater bonds failing statewide, many fingers are crossed, waiting for federal funds.

D-DAYS FOR CLEAN WATER
For municipalities and industries around the country, three upcoming years are "biggies" in the field of wastewater treatment compliance: 1977, 1983 and 1985. Not only do treatment plants have to meet the standards of their respective states, but also national goals of the federal pollution control agency as required by the 1972 amendments to the federal law.

July 1, 1977 is the first future deadline. By this date municipalities must be providing secondary treatment of wastes before discharging them and industries must be providing the "most practical method" available to treat their wastes.

With only a few exceptions, Texas should be able to meet this goal with little trouble. As far back as the 1930's secondary treatment of wastewater has been required in Texas and industries in Texas have been exemplary in initiating cleanup campaigns for their discharges.

Two long-range goals also required by the federal law are July 1, 1983 and 1985.

By 1983 the "best available technology economically achievable" for treating wastewater should be practiced by both municipalities and industries. And then by 1985 the

The word POLLUTION commonly relates to conditions that foul our air and taint our water. But the most serious problem facing medical science today, has to do with NOISE pollution.

Statistics show 10% of the U.S. population afflicted with hearing problems. There are fears that high levels of noise can also lead to heart, circulation and equilibrium disorders.

Such disclosures have prompted federal action (OSHA) into compelling industries to adopt some program of noise control—that is to muffle or insulate machine noises.

Noise-Pollution controls prevents us from loudly shouting all over town about the services we render.
