Baby's Diet May Account For Obesity

A baby's eating habits may help account for the pounds an adult later sees on his bathroom scale, a University of Texas psychologist suggests.

In quest of an answer to the larger question of how infancy feeding relates to later obesity, Dr. Ray Hawkins is studying the impact of infants' eating and sleeping habits on gain in weight and height in the first three months of life.

If the study reveals that early eating patterns are learned, Dr. Hawkins says early intervention might prevent the life-long consequences of inappropriate eating habits.

Bob Krueger's Weekly Report

A democracy is a form of government which by definition depends on the consent of the governed. If the trust of the people in their government is eroded, the government malfunctions, the economy slips, workers become unsure of their future, and people of all ages lose their sense of direction and purpose.

One of the things most essential to allowing confidence in government is the opportunity for citizens to understand what their representatives are doing, and why their representatives vote as they do. This column, for which space is provided by your newspaper, assists in allowing this flow of information.

After Watergate, new laws were passed to achieve "campaign reform." I consider the legislation requiring public disclosure of campaign contributions to have been desirable, since the best defense the public has is adequate information. Certain other "reforms" in that law, however, are questionable. For example, the federal government allows people, through a check-off provision, to deduct money from their taxes in order that it be paid to one of the two political parties chosen by the taxpayer to be used in presidential elections. Since this provision lessens the total taxes received by the federal government, it is a direct government subsidy to the two existing political parties. As I am a member of one of them, I potentially benefit from this provision. But the provision is unfair, because under it third party candidates have difficulty receiving funds. It discriminates against independent candidates who might run for President, since it makes federal tax monies available only to candidates for President in the Democratic and Republican parties, not to candidates of other parties.

For example, if either Mr. Wallace, Mr. Reagan, or Mr. McCarthy wish to run on an independent ticket, they would receive no tax money even though their Democratic and Republican opponents did. If such a candidate ran in 1976 and received over 5 percent of the total vote, that party would be eligible for campaign funds in 1980. That would be too late to help Mr. Reagan, Mr. Wallace, or Mr. McCarthy. Further, to have direct government subsidy payments to the major political parties is very questionable.

Some people wish to use taxes to finance congressional as well as Presidential elections. Such financing, they say, will equalize the opportunity for all people to hold such office. I frankly doubt that Members of Congress will ever pass legislation that will benefit challengers more than incumbent officeholders, therefore there is a risk of using taxes to subsidize not just existing political parties but existing politicians.

My instinct, rather than following such approaches, is to leave people free to support candidates of their choice, and genuinely to trust the people to make decisions for themselves and to find their own means of supporting candidates of their choice and of working in the political process, rather than to use government subsidies. The existing Federal Election Commission has already paid out almost $11 million in federal funds to Presidential candidates, and the Federal Election Commission office employs over 200 people and has administrative costs of almost $3 million. It is questionable whether this distribution of funds is actually fair and whether it is money well spent. I would be pleased to receive your suggestions, as a vote will soon be taken on whether or not to continue the present policies of the Federal Election Commission.

Under a Family Automobile Policy the word "insured" is defined as the named insured and any resident of the same household or any other person using the owned automobile with the permission of the named insured. Therefore, as long as she is a resident of your household and has your permission, she is fully covered while driving one of your owned automobiles. However, due to the increase in the possibility of hazard and the length of time involved, it might be advisable to notify your insurance agent of the additional driver to alleviate any question in the event of loss.

THE BICENTENNIAL KITCHEN

Brunswick Stew Is An Old-Fashioned Southern Favorite

Both Virginia and Georgia claim the origination of Brunswick Stew—Virginians saying it was named after Caroline of Brunswick, wife of King George IV; Georgians claiming it was named after the town Brunswick, Ga. In any case, this hearty, robust stew is a combination of chicken and other meats and vegetables, highly seasoned with red pepper. Brunswick Stew is just one of the many American dishes preserved since colonial times.

From New England to the Southwest, from the North to the Deep South, our American heritage is evident in our cooking. Shaped by history, climate, terrain and availability of ingredients, American cooking is still quite regional. And every American family projects its heritage in its cooking.

Here's our version of colonial Brunswick Stew. Chicken, onion, corn tomatoes and lima beans combine with a savory broth for this hearty, economical supper dish. Versatile Blue Bonnet Margarine gives this old-fashioned stew that good buttery flavor.

BRUNSWICK STEW

1 (2-1/2 pound) frying chicken, cut up
 4 cups water
 1-1/2 cups sliced onion
 1 can (17-ounce) whole kernel corn in liquid (1-pound)
 1 package (10-ounce) frozen Fordhook lima beans
 2 cloves garlic, crushed

Brunswick Stew, an old-fashioned southern favorite, is a hearty combination of chicken and vegetables seasoned with cayenne pepper.

1 chicken bouillon cube
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) softened Blue Bonnet Margarine
 3 tablespoons flour

Cover chicken with water in Dutch oven. Bring to boil. Reduce heat to low; cover and cook 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken from broth. Cool. Bone chicken, shredding into large pieces. Add to broth.

Stir in onion, corn, tomatoes, lima beans, garlic, bouillon cube, salt, pepper and cayenne pepper. Bring to boil. Reduce heat to low; cover and cook 30 minutes. Blend together Blue Bonnet Margarine and flour. Add to stew in small pieces. Increase heat to high. Cook, stirring, until slightly thickened.

Animal Ag Confab at A & M

Everyone in Sutton County with an interest in agriculture will want to attend the 1976 Texas Animal Agriculture Conference at Texas A&M University, April 8-9, says D.C. Langford, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Particularly noteworthy is the opening session of the conference which will feature a number of top agency officials who will talk on "Environmental Management and the Private Landowner." Officials will represent the Environmental Protection Agency, Texas Water Quality Board, Department of the Army, Texas Land Commissioner's Office and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Speakers at this session will examine some of the many ways in which state and federal regulatory organizations are becoming involved in decision-making on private lands and are increasing costs of agricultural production, points out Langford.

The conference will also feature production short courses dealing with beef cattle, dairying, swine, horses, pastures and forage, and range and wildlife.

Speakers at the various short courses will be from the staffs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and will also include other state

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Alaska! The dream of getting rich on the Alaskan pipeline, where wages for "go-fers" are rumored to hit $1,000 a week, has recently caused many Texans to pay several hundred dollars for "advance fee resume services" in hopes of getting jobs in the Far North.

Unfortunately, as attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division can attest, the only assistance most persons receive from such services is help in parting them from their cash.

Because of this, we were able to get a permanent court injunction against one such "resume service" which was misrepresenting its ability to put customers in touch with employers hiring for pipeline jobs. We were also able to get restitution for many persons who had used the service under the impression that pipeline jobs were plentiful and that the resume service had special influence with employers.

We discovered that the company's efforts amounted to taking $400 and some background data from a person, preparing and duplicating several hundred resumes, and providing them along with a set of gummed addressed labels of potential employers. The customer was responsible for stuffing, stamping, and mailing them to the addressees.

What the company failed to tell customers, however, was that they had no contact whatever with the companies on the labels and that many of the names and addresses were merely copied from oil and gas directories and journals.

The service also misrepresented to consumers that all of the employers listed on the labels were actively searching agency officials, commercial producers, agri-businessmen, and officials of a number of universities from throughout the U.S.

for pipeline workers, when in reality they had no idea if jobs were available at any of the employers listed.

In our investigations into the services offered by this advance fee resume service, we discovered that the availability of jobs on the Alaskan pipeline was so limited as to be almost nonexistent for most persons.

We talked with the Alaskan assistant deputy of labor, whose description of the job situation in that state was so revealing that we asked him to come to Texas to provide information in our case.

According to this expert, the resume writing services who advertise pipeline jobs are useless in helping persons to get those jobs. That's because most pipeline work requires highly skilled, technical, or experienced labor, and hiring for such jobs is done through unions.

In addition, he pointed out that there are large numbers of unemployed workers already in Alaska, waiting for any job openings that might become available.

So if you're interested in using an advance fee resume service to get a job in Alaska or elsewhere, be sure to inquire first into the service's success rate in getting jobs for its customers. Ask for names of persons who have obtained jobs by using the service, then check for information. Check, too, with some of the employers whose names have been provided. Find out from their personnel director if employees are ever hired in this way. And if you have a consumer complaint about deceptive trade practices in this field, or others, get in touch with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or your county or district attorney.

While the Texas fisheries personnel have developed the capability of carrying out such a program, the speed with which it can be accomplished in the state's numerous freshwater lakes is limited by funding.

That's where the Del Rio citizens stepped in to assist in providing local facilities and funds to speed up the process in the big West Texas lake. The volunteer group, known as the Lake Amistad Management Committee, was formed in February with Amistad Bass Club President Pete Chambers selected as chairman.

Jaycees vs Faculty In Basketball Clash

By Bob Nevill

Thursday, March 25 at 8 p.m., the Jaycees will once again take on the High School Faculty at the High School Gym for the second annual basketball game. Last year the faculty narrowly squeaked out a victory over the Jaycees by a margin of forty (40) points. Gil Trainer, Jaycee President, says a faculty victory this year is highly unlikely.

Trainer would not expand on his game plan for this year but it is expected that the Jaycees have been perfecting a "secret" weapon. Jaycee strategist and promoter, Bill Glasscock, made the comment that last year's loss was the result of the faculty using unfair tactics. "The bums shot better, ran faster, jumped higher, and did other unfair stuff", said Glasscock. When asked to comment on the condition of this year's Jaycee team Glasscock said, "You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear but them guys got us mad..." "Besides", says Glasscock, "all they got is a bunch of ignorer athletes. Our guys is smarter, shorter, fatter, and more generally inclined to cheat than them."

In any event, this year's contest is shaping up to be a real battle with the Jaycees intent on getting revenge for last year's defeat. Tickets will be sold at the door—$1.00 for adults and 50c for students.

West Texas Outdoors

By Rodger McKown
Texas Parks & Wildlife Dept.

A group of Del Rio citizens has taken a positive step to improve bass fishing potential at Amistad Lake.

A lot of West Texans have been talking about and hoping for better bass fishing at that lake. But the group of Del Rio people is doing more than talking and hoping. They have leased three one-acre ponds from a Del Rio fish farm for the department's use in breeding and raising Florida bass to be stocked in Amistad.

Parks and Wildlife biologist Bob Zerr, stationed at Amistad, has obtained 200 Florida brood bass from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service hatchery at Uvalde. Part of the brood fish will be spawned at the hatchery and the remainder will be spawned at the Del Rio ponds.

Florida fingerlings are expected to go into the lake this spring and the brood fish will be held for future use. Plans call for the project to continue with the brood fish providing Florida bass fingerlings for stocking in Amistad for the next five years, through 1980.

When the Florida bass mature, it is expected that they will cross with the Texas largemouth and improve the genetic strain of the overall Amistad bass population. Parks and Wildlife Department fisheries personnel have labeled the Florida/Texas hybrids "superbass," and expect that ultimately the introduction of the Florida bass and its cross with the Texas largemouth will result in faster growing bass that reach larger sizes.

While the Texas fisheries personnel have developed the capability of carrying out such a program, the speed with which it can be accomplished in the state's numerous freshwater lakes is limited by funding.

That's where the Del Rio citizens stepped in to assist in providing local facilities and funds to speed up the process in the big West Texas lake. The volunteer group, known as the Lake Amistad Management Committee, was formed in February with Amistad Bass Club President Pete Chambers selected as chairman.

The Amistad club has donated $500 for the project and another club has donated $250 with additional fund raising activities in progress.

The committee has stressed the point its members are not just fishermen, but citizens of varied interests who want to improve the potential of Amistad and their community.

As for fishing in the big border impoundment right now, reports are excellent. Fishermen have been bringing in good catches of largemouth bass. Weights are running from about 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pounds, but several fish that have weighed from five to seven pounds have been landed recently. Small floating diving lures, marabou jigs and plastic grubs have been producing the best results.

White bass fishing also has been good and some good catches of crappie are being taken. Fishermen are landing some striped bass, first stocked by the Parks and Wildlife Department two years ago. Some of these fish have weighed as much as 3 1/2 pounds each.

Wind, as usual has been the biggest problem at Amistad. The big lake can get extremely rough and dangerous when the wind blows. But for a change, in the last few weeks, lack of wind has been a problem to fishermen as well as too much wind. The water is extremely clear now and the fish bite much better when there is just enough wind to cause a ripple on the surface.

Some experienced Amistad anglers say current conditions are leading them to believe that fishing this spring and early summer at Amistad could be the best in the last few years.

And with the Florida bass, striped bass and striper/white bass stocking program in full swing on the big border impoundment, fishermen are getting more and more excited about the future of the lake.

Some people believe that if the first robin you see in the spring flies up, you will have good luck for the rest of the year. But if it flies down, you won't!

Officer Jones Attends San Angelo School

Officer Dick Jones with the Sonora Police Department, attended a seven week Basic Certification School for Law Enforcement Personnel in San Angelo. The course began January 5, 1976 with training conducted at the newly opened training facilities of the San Angelo Police Department. The class contained officers from San Angelo Police Department, Tom Green County Sheriff's office, Crockett County Sheriff's office, and Mason County Sheriff's office. This was the first group of officers to graduate from the new training facilities.

The curriculum was designed and sponsored through the cooperation of the Concho Valley Council of Governments and San Angelo Police Department. Texas A&M University Engineering Extension Service also provided phases of the training.

Instructors included Lt. Tom Flowers, training officer for San Angelo department; and Pete Nunez, instructor for the law enforcement division of Texas A&M Engineering Extension Service. Guest instructors from several municipal, county, state, and federal law enforcement agencies assisted in portions of the training.

The basic certification course consisted of 280 hours of instruction and training. The curriculum included first aid training, penal law, criminal law enforcement, chemical weapons training, firearms training, crowd and riot control training, investigative procedures, narcotics and dangerous drugs, and crime prevention methods.

Graduation exercises and the presentation of certificates were held February 20 in San Angelo. Chief of Police W.W. (Bill) Webster and the department heads of other departments involved, attended the ceremonies.

Jones also attended a 40 hour course in juvenile law at the San Angelo Police Department facilities. This course began February 23, and ended February 27. This training is supplemental to the basic certification course.

Why Don't Federal Judges Use Power To Help Whip Inflation?

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on the Dry Devil's River gets off on several different topics this week. We don't know how far off.

Dear Editor:

As I understand it, a bunch of Federal Judges who make $42,000 a year plus free office rent and a secretary, are claiming that inflation has in effect reduced their net pay and this is unconstitutional because the Constitution says a Federal Judge's salary shall not be diminished. The Judges say the rising cost of living has diminished their salary and they're suing for a raise plus about $50,000 in back pay through 1968.

I'm all for the judges, but they're going about it backwards. Instead of suing the government for more pay, they ought to inform the government that inflation is unconstitutional and it has 90 days to put a stop to it. If in 90 days a Federal Judge goes to the supermarket and finds that his $42,000 won't buy as many groceries as it did in 1968, then everybody in Washington is in contempt of court, and will have to ride to work in a bus.

Changing the subject, I noticed the postal service is trying to shut down several hundred small postoffices around the country, saying they're unprofitable. "They are losing money and they ought to be closed," officials said.

This could get out of hand. You shut down every post-office that isn't showing a profit and what have you got left?

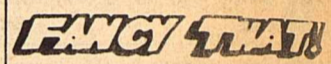

Changing the subject again, I have finally found the answer to the problem of sports, where one side loses. What I've been looking for is a way for both teams to come out a winner, and the Presidential candidates have discovered it.

"If I can get 40 percent of the votes, I'd consider that a victory," one candidate says. Another says 25 percent would mean a victory for him, and so it goes.

That's the answer. All a coach has to do from now on is announce ahead of the game, "If we can get 40 percent of the score, we win."

I hope that works better in basketball and football than it does in Presidential primaries.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

How the Cancer Quack Remains in Business

A special "Grape Cure" diet, cobwebs saturated with arsenic, assorted unproven drugs and a bizarre zinc-lined pine box that absorbs "orgone energy" are a few of the many tools cancer quacks have employed to treat cancer patients searching for a "miracle cure."

"Unless you understand the nature of cancer itself, it is easy to fall into the cancer quack's trap," explains Dr. Emil J. Freireich, head of M. D. Anderson's Department of Developmental Therapeutics. For the last nine years he also has served on the American Cancer Society's Committee for Unproven Remedies.

"The first thing to remember," he explains, "is that all diseases, without exception, are remittent to a certain extent." That is, while the disease does progressively worsen without proper treatment, there are alternating periods where the patient improves and then declines.

Because cancer quacks most often prescribe harmless but noneffective treatments, the success of the treatments depends solely on the disease's fluctuating symptoms.

For example, if treatment is given when the patient is worsening, odds are that the natural course of the disease will reflect a brief period of improvement. Thus, the quack's treatment appears 100 percent successful even though it played no role in the improvement.

If the patient stays the same, then the treatment once again was successful. It only needs to be increased to enhance its success.

If the patient's condition worsens, adds Dr. Freireich, the quack usually points out that the cancer obviously was incurable and no treatment would have worked.

Thus, using the alternating cycles that are characteristic of cancer, the quack can manipulate his treatment to appear completely effective or justified every time.

The quack, explains Dr. Freireich, is careful never to apply a treatment when his patient is experiencing a period of improvement because he knows that the chronic nature of the disease will soon bring about a worsening condition, thus discrediting the treatment. While the patient is progressively getting worse during the cycles of improvement, the quack merely explains that the treatment only needs more time and the patient more faith.

It is also important to remember, says Dr. Freireich, that a fraction of cancer patients, no matter how acute their disease, will never die of their cancer for reasons no one can explain. The patients, along with persons the quack treats who never had cancer to begin with, add to the quack's conviction that his treatments are effective.

"The real problem with cancer quackery," notes Dr. Freireich, "is that it exploits people at the time of their greatest weakness when their only real resource is the health professional."

The person who seeks a miracle cure denies himself the proper early treatment that is vitally important for ultimate control of cancer. "People must have an alternative to being desperate and hopeless," explains Dr. Freireich.

Today that hope is being provided by thousands of research scientists and clinicians throughout the world who daily are developing a better understanding of cancer and its treatments. Because of their efforts physicians are now more than ever prepared to provide the best care available for the cancer patient.

A Bishop Looks At Life

by Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of Episcopal Church WE NEED TO KEEP OUR BALANCE

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness. It was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity. It was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness. It was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair." So wrote Charles Dickens in his novel about the French Revolution, "A Tale of Two Cities".

In many ways this is a description of America today. As we take a hard look at ourselves we can make a list on both sides of the ledger. (Here's a part of my list; you may revise it as you see fit!)

NOTICE TO BIDDERS: Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court of Sutton County, Texas will receive bids at the office of the County Judge of Sutton County, Texas, in the Courthouse until 9:00 o'clock A M on April 12, 1976, for furnishing said County with the following:

It is a season of Darkness because of the brutality of our times and our enjoyment of it, as shown by the entertainment we choose; because of our moral chaos in government, business and our personal lives; because of the superficiality that makes us put money and status as our supreme goals; because of our impersonal treatment of groups and individuals, seeing them as objects to be exploited and manipulated and not as sacred human beings.

On the other hand, it is a season of Light because we have a restless and divine discontent about the way we are; because we have come a long way in giving new freedom to minority groups, to women, and to wage earners; because we have a new appreciation of our environment and our relationship to it (the new slogan is "Cherish or Perish"); because here and there are people who give us hope, strong individuals who have not bent their knees to the false gods of bigness, bluster, and blind conformity.

Then decide anew whether your life is adding to the Darkness or to the Light.

Community Park To Hold Fund Raising Barbecue Tonight

By Joe David Ross
The community park fund raising and information barbecue will be held this Thursday, March 18, at 6 p.m., at the 4-H Club center. The purpose of the supper is to show how much work has already been done; what the complete plans include; and to raise much needed volunteer cash, labor and material donations. Each ticket will cost $5 and a Chinese auction will be held for those who would like to donate additional amounts. Several door prizes will be given throughout the evening session.

Funds are needed for the three baseball and softball diamonds, especially for the lighting and electrical system that will cost several thousand dollars. All three diamonds may not be lighted this year but it is necessary to put in the basic watering and electrical system now. Adequate pipe and the needed welding has already been donated by several oil-related companies. Kit Weaver is baseball chairman. The new 4-H Club and rodeo arena needs to be lighted. John Stokes, Brittain Construction and Rucker-Acme Tool have started on the post holes and cementing of the steel posts. Cahill Construction has already spent several days leveling the racetrack, the arena, the three baseball diamonds and playground area. Local welding companies and 4-H club parents will provide welding for the arena but lights will require additional funds.

Jim Beresky and Claire Powers have been in charge of developing plans for the new community pavilion. Tommie Whitehead, Diana Baggett, Frances Ross, Carl Teaff and Gene West went to Ozona Monday to examine their community center and kitchen. Nancy and L.P. Bloodworth have already donated over $2000 worth of caliche base for the large slab and tennis courts. Ben Montgomery of Anderson Construction donated the loader, dump trucks and the roller for packing. Brown & Root helped rip up the caliche. The new pavilion will supplement the activities of the 4-H Club center.

The new community center will not be completely enclosed and furnished this year because of the expense, but Dowell and Halliburton have donated the necessary cement to make the concrete. City concrete will assist as much as possible with the pouring of concrete. The plumbing for the rest rooms and kitchen will be stubbed out for completion at a later date. It is definitely planned to have at least 100 x 125 concrete slab poured this spring and part of the roof constructed. More will be done as the community desires and raises the funds.

Picnic tables, two lighted tennis courts, a playground and extensive planting of grass and trees will also take place this spring and summer. The Sonora Firemen have already transplanted three pecan trees.

During the ticket sales campaign, Thomas Morriss, Herbert Fields, George Brockman, Hooper Trucking and Anderson Construction, made sizeable cash donations.

The community park land has been made available by the stockholders of the Sonora Racetrack and Rodeo Association. The City of Sonora and Sutton County have assisted by providing cash and materials for the maintenance fund and the 6-inch sewer and water line and electrical system. It will still be necessary for the various clubs and users of the park to help raise funds and labor yearly for the park. The Westside and Downtown Lions' clubs, Jaycees, Sonora Firemen, Chamber of Commerce, and the Petro-etts have all indicated their financial and physical support for the park.

The Petro-etts are having a dance Saturday night to help raise funds. Brittain Construction will start this week digging the ditches for the sewer and water lines. The lines will be laid under the supervision of the City of Sonora by Gene West and Bob Nevill.

Numerous other companies and individuals have indicated they will help with various projects or construction as work moves along.

Door prizes have been donated by Andy Moore, The Commercial Cafe, White's Auto, The Hurry-Up Cafe, The Devil's River Motel, Sutton Co. Steakhouse, and a special prize from a donation by the members of the park board.

The Barbecue committee is headed by Kit Weaver. About 32 citizens are on the various committees. The Lions Club will be in charge of serving the meal. Bob Caruthers is in charge of taking up tickets; Claire Powers, publicity and L.P. Bloodworth, food.

Students Select Courses For Next Year

Students of Sonora High School are busy this week selecting new courses to be offered next year. A total of 21 new courses were suggested by students and teachers. These courses, along with brief descriptions, were submitted to the students in a short assembly. Each student could select a first and second choice. The counselor is compiling the results, and the more popular will again be submitted to the students. From this list the most popular courses will be presented to the Superintendent for approval to be included in the course offerings for next year.

The list of suggested courses include business communications, personal typing, competitive speech, journalism I, journalism II, art, music theory, Spanish I-N for non-Spanish Speaking, Spanish I-S for Spanish Speaking, Anatomy and physiology, recreational P.E., gymnastics, free enterprise, advanced chemistry, building trades, vocational office education, pre-lab, vocational office education-coop, vocational agriculture, auto mechanics and drafting.

Voter Education Program To Host "Meet Candidate" Night

The Sutton County Voter Education Program, a non-partisan group formed to help the voter through registration and education, will sponsor a "Meet the Candidate" night March 24 at 8 p.m., in St. Ann's Parish Hall. This is an opportunity for the community to meet and question the candidates for school board, alderperson and county sheriff. All candidates have been invited. The program will have a moderator and a translator if needed. Candidates will speak and a question and answer period will follow.

This is an opportunity which may be used to enhance your voting privilege. Every person of voting age is encouraged to attend and learn about issues and candidates.

Police Reports

City police were kept busy over the weekend with various traffic accidents around the city. At 12:20 p.m., March 12 an accident on the IH 10 service road and U.S. 277 involved cars driven by Robert I. Barron and W.C. Van Houten, both of Sonora. Jerry Kemp was the investigating officer.

On that day a call from the Rocksprings Sheriff's Department gave local police information and a description on a subject being sought for passing three bad checks in the Sonora area.

At 12:30 p.m., on March 13, Randall R. Littlefield of San Angelo and Michael L. Sadler of Sonora were involved in a two-car collision on U.S. 277 South. Fincher and Jones investigated that accident.

Fincher and Jones were also investigators in an accident that occurred in the 100 block of Martin Street at 8:20 p.m., that evening. A car driven by Denita J. Mobley of Sonora was struck by a car that had been parked on a side street. The car, belonging to Mary T. Reiddenger, rolled into the street and struck the Mobley car which was stopped at a stop sign.

On March 14 at 3:20 p.m., a car driven by Lloyd G. Reiss of Austin backed into a parked vehicle being driven by Jessie B. Dunn of Sonora. The accident occurred in the Dairy Mart parking lot. Jones and Fincher were the investigating officers.

Thirteen citations were issued by the Sonora Police Department last week.

St. Patrick's Shamrock A Medicinal Plant
March 17th is the celebration of St. Patrick, Ireland's patron saint, who in the 1st Century introduced Christianity to the Irish. He is also remembered for having made the SHAMROCK a national emblem.

The popular legend tells of St. Patrick using the three-leaf clover to illustrate the doctrine of the Trinity.

The three-foil plant, already prized as a cure for snakebites, became associated with the new religion. And curiously, by a man of God, whose greatest miracle was that of driving poisonous snakes out of Ireland.

Today, St. Patrick's Day is celebrated not only by the Irish, but by other people as well. As attested by the millions of shamrocks potted in Ireland, sent out to be sold in shops all over the world. "ERIN GO BRAGH!" from BRONCO PHARMACY, 116 N.W. Concho, Sonora. PHONE: 387-3534.
