Local Sheriff's Race Drawing Voter Interest

The contested race for Sheriff, Tax Assessor/Collector of Sutton County should draw a large percentage of the more than 2000 registered voters to the polls Saturday in the May Primary election.

Sheriff A.P. (Pryce) Taylor and Chief of Police W.W. (Bill) Webster are candidates for the office of sheriff, and both being well known and fully qualified, estimates are that the race will be a close one.

Sheriff Taylor who is seeking his second term, has served nine years as a law enforcement officer in this county, being city marshall for awhile and later serving as deputy under Herman Moore until his election as sheriff in 1972.

Webster, who organized the City Police Department, moved to Sonora in 1974 to serve under Taylor as deputy. He worked only a few months until he was appointed Chief of Police. He is a career law enforcement official with twelve years experience beginning in the Odessa Police Department. He was a Texas Department of Safety Highway Patrol in the Sonora area until 1970 when he was assigned as an undercover agent in the west and north Texas areas.

Both Webster and Taylor are running on the Democratic ticket and those persons voting Republican in the primary election will be unable to vote in the sheriff's election.

Sutton Among Screwworm Reports

Six more Texas counties joined the screwworm infested list the past week, reports Dr. M.E. (Cotton) Meadows, Jr., director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Eradication Program.

Laboratory identification of parasite samples from animals in these new counties--Kerr, Maverick, Nueces, Concho, Fayette, and Sutton--helped swell the 1976 Texas case total to 588. The nation's one out-of-Texas case (so far) has been tallied in Arizona.

Sutton County joined the infested list on the strength of a sample Philip Jacoby took from a calf navel 20 miles west of Sonora.

Marijuana... 'the dangerous weed'... Scientists Cite Its Tragic Effects

"Marijuana is a perverse and dangerous drug," says Dr. Francis A. Davis, "and the attempts to portray it as nearly harmless are irresponsible in the extreme. As a practicing physician, I have seen the tragic human wreckage left by heavy marijuana use."
 Dr. Davis, publisher of Private Practice, a monthly journal for physicians, and president of the Congress of County Medical Societies, deplored recent conciliatory Federal government statements about the drug.
 "We know that marijuana has very serious mental and physical effects on anyone using it regularly," the physician said.

 Writing in his January issue, Dr. Hardin B. Jones, professor of medical physics and physiology at the University of California at Berkeley and assistant director of the Donner Laboratory, described these effects. This top scientist pointed out:

- (1) Marijuana's effects are cumulative, since it is stored in fat cells and brain cell membranes.
- (2) It causes irreversible brain changes.
- (3) It quickly produces pre-cancerous lesions in the lungs, which usually appear only after thirty years of heavy cigarette smoking.
- (4) It changes the personality--for the worse, usually causing paranoia.

 (5) It lowers the male hormone level.
 (7) It causes chromosome damage.
 Marijuana is truly called "the dangerous weed," Dr. Jones said. His article, "What the Practicing Physician Should Know About Marijuana," appears in its entirety in this issue of the GUIDE.
 The article points out that "young people who smoke marijuana to any degree are likely to be brought to physicians by concerned parents who are worried because of the change in their behavior." This behavior is due to the brain changes which are a direct result of marijuana use.

 Rebellious teenagers, the staggering growth of truancy in local schools, and the alarming rate of juvenile crime here may be linked to the widespread use of marijuana among the youth of Maverick County. Some local law enforcement officials are positive that there's a link.
 Behavior changes cited by physicians and scientists as a result of smoking marijuana could account for many local cases of children from middle and upper income families who appear to have "gone bad."
 Deluged by literature from pro-legalization of marijuana factions, the average youth may be completely unaware of the dangers of marijuana which have been proven by scientific research. Many distraught parents do not realize the effects that use of the "dangerous weed" can have on their offspring.

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ.....
He May Have Discovered Way To Save Campaign Expenses

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on the Dry Devil's River discussed the Presidential Primaries again this week.

Dear Editor:
 I have been thinking some more about the Presidential Primaries. For example, one candidate has raised about seven million dollars for his campaign and is running low on funds now; another raised five million and is about out of money; another raised three million and is now $100,000 in debt; and some others who raised a measly million or so have now closed up and gone home.
 Understand, all that money is just to try for the nomination. After that comes the election, requiring many millions more.
 Now despite all this outlay, all this flying around the country shaking hands, all the advertising costs on TV and in the newspapers, only a small percentage of the people are voting in the primaries: If 25 per cent vote, that's considered a good turnout. Sometimes the percentage is only 20, sometimes less.
 And this is true also in other elections; in city elections, state elections, etc. Why, you can beat nearly any school bond election if you can get as many as 30 per cent of the people to vote.
 I've been thinking about this. If 20 per cent of the people can decide who's going to be the nominee of their party, why not narrow it down even more? Why should the candidates spend millions of dollars on such a small minority, when Dr. Gallup can take $25,000, poll 1500 people, and tell you who's going to win?

 Now who these 1500 people are nobody knows. Nobody has ever talked to anybody who has ever been polled by Dr. Gallup, and I think I know the reason why. Judging by some of the people they said was going to win and who did, you can see why they wouldn't want their names associated with it.
 This is off the subject, but have you noticed that there never has been a news flash on TV, whether it's about a tornado warning, an earthquake, or an election results, important enough to show up during a commercial?

Yours faithfully,
 J.A.

 TEXAS FARM BUREAU INSURANCE

 My son has a motorcycle which he rides only on lots, fields, etc., never on public roads. Is any insurance necessary?
 Yes. Coverage is necessary regardless of where a motorcycle is operated. A person is legally liable for his own actions... whether on public roadways or private property. For insurance and liability coverage, motorcycles fall into the automobile category. The basic automobile policy is utilized. However, primary rating for the cost of the insurance is based on weight, engine size and use. Therefore, a small dirt-type bike would take a much lower rate than larger motorcycles such as those used on the highways.

Use your Room Air-Conditioner Wisely... AND SAVE

REDDY'S HELPFUL TIPS

- ★ Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.
- ★ Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.
- ★ Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.

Bravery in Bronze

Here he stands... "The Minute Man" of Lexington, Massachusetts.

A photographer with imagination chose the background of fireworks.

But that April night when Paul Revere alerted the Minute Men, there were fireworks of a different kind. The bravery that night was not in bronze!

It is no accident that this historical encounter occurred in the same colony which the pilgrim fathers founded in their quest for religious liberty. The very kernel of American freedom sprung from the right to believe in God and to worship Him — each in his own way. The heritage of the Minute Men was a courage born in conscience that defied any invasion of liberty — religious or political!

Two centuries ago patriots established with their blood a nation of conscience, of faith. Celebrate that with your heart and soul... it cannot be preserved in bronze.

School Vocational Program Offers Many Advantages

Home Economics Cooperative Education, a new vocational program at the high school, offers many advantages to employers, school, and students.

Employers will benefit from this program because it provides a present and future source of employees, it makes possible better trained employees, and it offers opportunity to participate in an educational program of benefit to the community.

The school gains valuable benefits from Home Economics Cooperative Education because it enables the school to offer a wide variety of business establishments as training laboratories, it keeps the school in close contact with business requirements, it helps hold students in school, and promotes closer cooperation between school and community.

Some advantages to students include assistance in selecting and obtaining a training job in keeping with interests and abilities; it increases his employability upon completion of high school, and it provides an opportunity to discover need for additional skills and information while still in school.

This is a fast growing area of homemaking; it has increased 285% in the state in the last five years. Young men are enrolled in this program also. A report compiled in Wichita Falls showed students enrolled in this program earned more money from their employment and paid more federal taxes, than any of the other students in any other vocational discipline.

One student who has taken advantage of this program is Viola Mendez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Viola Mendez

Robert Mendez. She is employed at the elementary school as a child care aid. She works cooperatively with Mrs. Bill Karnes in the Kindergarten. She has studied in the following areas: physical, social, intellectual and emotional development in young children; the importance of the family; appropriate attitudes towards control and discipline. She has received training in appropriate books, music, toys, and games; health and safety for young children. Miss Mendez will graduate in May and plans to further her education in a service field.

HNG Sells Valley Gas

Houston Natural Gas Corporation (HNG) and K & A, Inc., both of Houston, have announced the purchase by K & A of the business and assets of HNG's wholly owned subsidiary, Valley Gas Transmission, Inc. Terms of the sale were not disclosed.

K & A Inc., are oil and gas property management consultants with operations throughout the U.S. and in some foreign areas. Valley Gas Transmission, which operates in Texas and Louisiana, was the only HNG transmission subsidiary engaged in the gathering and sale of gas for interstate delivery, and was operated entirely separately from other facilities of the company.

C B Club News

By Joyce White

On April 8, the Public Patriots CB club held their regular meeting.

Some club officers and other members indicated their desire to resign from their elected positions, as well as their membership. Those resigning from their positions were Rex Merriman, Doris Merriman, Terry Kinard, W.C. Van Houten, Larry Schuck and Pat Kinard.

Vice president, David Vannett, was installed as president to automatically fill the presidential vacancy. He was given a vote of confidence by the members present. Others elected were vice president, Ed Haney; secretary, Joyce White; and treasurer, Nancy Gibbs. It was decided to wait until next meeting to elect an alternate board of director to fill the vacancies of Trip Gibbs who moved from first alternate to permanent, and of Pat Kinard, second alternate, whose resignation was accepted.

New members were accepted by the club.

On April 9 and 10 the garage sale and bake sale were held with big success. The club would like to thank all those who donated baked items and useable items and to all those who donated their time.

On April 15, the regular meeting was held at which time members finalized the arrangements for the equipment and food for the Easter week-end break. Members decided to give away a portable radio to those who donated $1 to the club project fund. Members volunteered to take various shifts to man the break 24 hours each day from 12 noon on Friday until midnight Sunday night.

On April 16, members manned the wake-break on IH 10. About 500 guests were served chili, stew, beans, rolls, coke, cookies, donuts, iced tea and coffee. Inclement weather, including high winds, rain and hail, frustrated efforts of the many volunteers, but their perseverance won and the wake continued uninterrupted until the scheduled termination. The club would like to thank the many individuals, businesses and companies who so graciously contributed equipment, material and food to make it a tremendous success.

The Public Patriots CB Club is now solvent and has built-up their treasury from $2.13, to over $400, which will be used for CB radio education and various community assistance projects.

On April 22, at the regular weekly meeting, board of directors were elected. Bobby Martin, the Capricorn, was elected a permanent board member. Carey Draper, the tire tool, was elected as first alternate. A program was presented to the club on class D Expansion. 23 members were present, two visitors and one CB'er joined. Refreshments were served.

Everyone is invited to attend the regular Public Patriots CB club meetings each Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. at 107 South Main Street, 1/2 block south of the blinking light on Highway 290 and Main Street. Meetings will continue at this place until further notice. Refreshments are served, and everyone is welcome.

Jesus Christ described His work to His disciples this way: "It is meat and drink for Me to do the will of Him who sent Me until I have finished His work."

Texans to Vote On Delegates
In Primary Election

By Jeanette Sipes,
Democratic Co. Chairman
In this year's primary we will be voting on delegates to the National Presidential Nominating Convention. This may be a new procedure for some of you; therefore, some explanation might be helpful. Rather than voting directly for the presidential candidate of your choice, you will vote for the delegate who is pledged to that candidate. Sutton County residents are allowed to vote for any 3 delegates. Only one vote per office is permitted on the remainder of the ballot.

Due to the way the ballots were printed, it appears that "write-in" candidates are permitted in all offices. However, "write-ins" will only be counted for the offices of "County Chairman" and "Precinct Chairman".

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 21ST DISTRICT.

Two years ago you gave me one of the greatest opportunities for service that could be given to any person--that of representing you and our part of Texas in the U.S. Congress. When I sought this high office I pointed out that I would be only one of 435 Congressmen, and that I could promise no specific legislative accomplishments. I pledged, instead, only my hardest efforts to work in Washington for all the people of this broad District, to have my door open to them, to remember the people who had sent me there, not to forget them. I have tried to do that, and I hope, in the process, to have made some small contribution toward re-establishing the trust of our citizens in this great nation.

In this work, I have sought to keep before me, above all, my responsibility not just to vote for the most comfortable, or the most politically popular policy today, but for the policies that will strengthen the long-range goals of the American people, and make this a better land for the next generation. I am an American, a Texan, and a Democrat, in that order--proud to be all three, but convinced that America should be put above state or party in our considerations.

I deeply appreciate the privilege of representing you in Washington, and hope to be worthy of your support on May 1st so that I can continue to represent you there.

Sincerely,

Jim Fish Gets Fellowship

Jim Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fish, who is to finish his dissertation at Princeton University in October or November, has been awarded an Energy-Related Postdoctoral Fellowship by the National Science Foundation in Mexico City.

Fish will spend one year in Mexico City at Centro de Investigacion y de Estudios Avanzados del Instituto Politecnico Nacional working on a solar energy project.

The project will involve a systematic investigation of reaction schemes which have potential application to solar energy conversion. Of primary interest will be systems which involve metal-hydroxo complexes or molecules having structures similar to hydrogenase enzymes, which are crucial participants in biological photosynthesis.

In addition, consideration will be given to reaction rates, quantum yields and net energy conversion, and the effects of wave length and light intensity on these quantities. The ultimate goal will be to design a practical system which can utilize a large portion of solar spectrum converting the energy therein to a chemical fuel with reasonable efficiency.

Bob Krueger's Weekly Report

This past week my office finished tabulating the results of the questionnaires I sent to all citizens of the 21st District. It took quite a while to go through the 15,000 or so questionnaires, but I think that this type of contact with the residents of my district is entirely worthwhile. The number of responses was particularly encouraging, and I was pleased to find that the results closely coincided with the work I have been doing in Congress.

75 percent of the responses cited energy as a matter of prime concern. As a proponent of a strong national energy policy, I was glad to see that Texans realize that energy is both a state and national concern. Recent statistics demonstrate that we are already importing 50 percent of our oil from foreign sources, far ahead of the 1985 date predicted by those seeking price controls on oil. And although expedient political practices might dictate rolling back prices, that policy will prove shortsighted when the domestic pumps run dry. Also reflected in this issue, I think, is the concern with increasing utility costs. Certainly, this is a major problem for the people of Texas. Deregulating the price of natural gas at the wellhead would cause no significant increase in utility bills, but would bring some $300 million in additional revenues into the state, thereby eliminating the immediate need for further taxes. Regulating the price of intrastate gas within Texas will, on the other hand, result in eventual scarcity because our gas will be allocated again by regulation to other parts of the country and our utility prices will go even higher than they are now.

I will continue to work in Congress for an equitable national energy policy which provides Americans with the energy they need for the future, but also assures that people in other states will pay their fair share. As it stands now, Texans subsidize the other "consuming" states, since they buy their natural gas (which comes from Tex.) at about one-third of the price we pay for our own gas.

In response to my survey, people also expressed their concern with defense, crime, tax reform, and corruption in government. I have consistently voted to keep our defense budget intact and to protect our men and women in the services. We are all concerned about the increasing crime problem, and I believe that Congress is beginning to move on this issue. I am co-sponsoring legislation that calls for mandatory prison sentences for criminals who commit federal crimes with firearms, providing sure and swift justice for those who endanger the lives of others with firearms.

Public disclosure is the best defense the public has against corruption in government. It has been said that the cure for tuberculosis and bad politics is the same: living in the open. I have supported and will continue to support, measures designed to open government to the people in everything from how the laws are made to campaign finances.

In the area of tax reform, Congress is recognizing that the American people are reaching their tolerance level with taxes. Some of our taxes are still too regressive, while our corporation taxes are not doing the job of capital formation that we must do if we are to increase employment in the private sector.

I intend to continue to sample constituent opinion by using the questionnaire, and have sent some special questionnaires to people who have expressed their interest in health care for older Americans, education, and agriculture. Your frank responses are extremely helpful as I seek to represent your views in Congress.

Texas Farmers To Receive Questionnaires

During the last half of May, a random sample of some 24,000 Texas farmers will receive a crop acreage questionnaire from W.H. Walther, Agricultural Statistician In Charge of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin, Texas.

This information will be the basis for determining the planted acreage for the state of Texas and for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that state totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas' most basic industry--agriculture. The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

A Bishop Looks At Life

by Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church "HE HELPED US BEAR OUR MORTALITY" Someone has said, "Suffering nobly borne is a gift to God." I thought of these words a few days ago when I read the tribute in "The New Yorker" to the late L.E. Sissman. Who among us would not be happy if he could leave behind him such a fragrant memory! "Ed Sissman died last month in Boston, after eleven years of resisting, and rising above, Hodgkin's disease. During those years, he wrote copiously, wittily, lovingly of the world he was on the verge of leaving; this magazine published fifty-one of his poems--some of them among the longest we have ever printed--and forty-five book reviews by him.

"By profession an advertising man, he harbored behind his courtly and faintly owlish manner a poet of the brightest plumage, one whose stream of fancy and verve of phrase could only be termed luxuriant. His reviews and essays showed wide reading, a crisp fund of unexpected information, an avidity for the mundane, an even temper, and a truly benevolent nature.

"He like smart cars, the suburban life, English novels, old-fashioned metres. He would not want to be remembered as a poet of dying; he had no use for dying--except, perhaps, for the heightened sharpness of vision his "invisible new veil/Of finity" gave him.

"Though the decade of his illness and the decade of his artistic efflorescence coincided, the coincidence seems more accidental than not. He had long felt impelled to write poetry, and his songs of life--of past adventures remembered, of present scenery apprehended--show no sense of emergency, even when the scenery is a hospital wall. His career and, during his visits to this office, his carriage appeared unhurried.

"One said goodbye to Ed wondering each time if it would be the last time. It marks the quality of the man that this shadow became something pleasant: an extra resonance in the parting smile; a warmth in the handshake. He helped us all, in his work and in his courage, to bear our own mortality."

Highway Department Feeling Pinch Of Increased Costs

The Texas highway program is caught in the grinding jaws of increased costs and a leveling off of revenues, Charles E. Simons, State Department of Highways and Public Transportation commissioner, told West Texas Chamber of Commerce members recently.

Commissioner Simons also said, "Add to these factors a prospective decrease in revenues as more fuel efficient vehicles come into use and the outlook becomes gloomy."

Speaking at the annual business session of the West Texas Chamber, the commissioner assured his listeners that his department was not "crying wolf" and was not

Toxic Materials, Main Topic At Agricultural Program

A program on the problems of toxic materials being consumed by animals, is planned to assist West Texas cattle and sheep ranchers in making management decisions. Topics including pesticide effects, oil field residue toxins, malformations in animals, poisonous plants and water quality aspects will be presented Friday, April 30.

This meeting will be sponsored by the Texas

Agricultural Extension Service and will be held at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center six miles north of San Angelo on U.S. 87. The program will start with a registration and coffee at 9 a.m.

Participating speakers and their topics will include: Dr. John Reagar, of the Texas Veterinary Medicine Diagnostic Laboratory at College Station, discussing pesticide residues, oil field residue toxins and the more important toxic plants; Dr. Lynn James, of the United States Department of Agriculture Poisonous Plant Laboratory at Logan, Utah, discussing livestock problems associated with locoweed and peavines as well as malformations due to plants; Dr. Chester Rowell, Professor at Angelo State University, giving tips on how to recognize toxic plants; Dr. Joe Schuster, Head of the Range Science Department at Texas A&M University presenting an overview of the toxicity problem. Dr. Del Davis, Area Extension Livestock Specialist at San Angelo, will discuss water quality and livestock production. George Sultemeier, Area Range Specialist at Fort Stockton will discuss management of livestock on rangelands with toxicity problems, and Dr. Murl Bailey, Texas A&M University Veterinary Researcher, will outline plans for toxic plant research.

He pointed out that the five cent per gallon Texas gasoline tax, the lowest in that nation, does not all go to the transportation agency. One fourth of it goes to the Available School Fund and the equivalent of another penny pays for the entire cost of the State Highway Patrol.

To meet the situation, Commissioner Simons said the department has cut the number of employees about 5,400 from Sept. 1, 1972, to the present time. He added that other actions had been taken, such as not picking up litter as often as before, declaring a moratorium on the purchase of some rights of way and cutting out the annual safety and betterment program this year.

CB RADIOS IN EMERGENCIES

Citizen band radio fans can save lives using their radios. Yet many operators do not know about code 10-33 and channel 9, two valuable aids for getting help in emergencies, the Texas Medical Association says.

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) says channel 9 is to be used exclusively for obtaining aid. This channel, which usually is not very busy, is intended mainly for use during serious emergencies. However, the FCC says it does not have to be a life-or-death situation. One veteran operator says car trouble on the freeway would be a legitimate reason to use channel 9. Many law enforcement agencies and some CB clubs monitor this channel continuously.

Announcing a code 10-33 should get attention on any of the 23 CB channels, including channel 19, the most commonly used channel. A 10-33 notifies listeners there is serious trouble, usually a medical emergency.

An emergency call might go like this:

"Break 19 for a 10-33." (The caller is asking to interrupt a conversation to tell about an emergency.)

"Go ahead, break." (Phrases are limited only by operators' imaginations but most will acknowledge a break some way after the first or second request.)

"There's a bad wreck two miles north..."

Law enforcement officials often monitor channel 19 and may hear the call directly. However, most officers currently only receive and cannot transmit on their CBs. So a caller does not know if a "smokey" has heard the message. To make sure the call reaches the proper people, a caller can ask a listener to "10-5" it. This is a request to relay a message, usually until it reaches a town where a listener can telephone authorities. Often a message will be relayed through several operators before it reaches its destination. A caller also can ask for a base station (stronger and more powerful than a vehicle unit) to relay a message.

Some operators say they prefer transmitting emergency messages on channel 19 because more people listen to it than channel 9. Numerous smokeys, "county mounties" (sheriffs), "bears," "Tijuana taxis" (local lawmen), "local PDs" (police departments), "THPs" (Texas Highway Patrol), and "super troopers"--just a few of the names for law enforcers (usually in cars)--often listen in. Many doctors also have CB sets.

One problem transmitting emergencies on channel 19 is the large number of inexperienced operators who do not know codes like 10-33. Someone needing help should feel free to say whatever is necessary to be understood. Rudeness or profanity usually creates an uproar of answers from listeners. Profanity on the air also is illegal. But simple, straightforward communication will get the job done. Codes like 10-33 and 10-5 just help speed communication in critical situations.

More About T.V. Medicine
Last week's column was about Medical Shows on T.V. It described recent changes in story-content. One peculiarity that persists warrants this question: Why isn't a T.V. doctor ever shown to get paid for his services?

Week after week patients are treated with top medical care, but are never charged a dime. Nevertheless, despite the doctor's indifference to money matters, he seems to be prosperous enough...Yet, he has only one patient a week! He works only 26 weeks a year! Where is the money coming from?

It would do well to acquaint the viewer with the hard fact that medical care is not free. Perhaps relations between doctor and patient might benefit from that knowledge.

In addition to personalized medical supply service, you'll find our prices to be always fair, and we keep our Rx department as up-to-date as possible at BRONCO PHARMACY, 116 N.W. Concho.

Pre-School Screening Clinic Scheduled For May 4

A pre-school screening clinic will be held May 4 at the First Baptist Church Educational Building for all children who will be three, four or five years old before September 1. The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Children attending will have their general health, teeth, vision, hearing and general learning ability evaluated at this time. Those who are found to have a possible learning problem will be recommended for a more in-depth appraisal and possible special help in classes next year.

The clinic is being sponsored by the Menard

Plan A Coop in cooperation with the local school district. An evaluation sheet will be given to each parent at the end of the evaluation to show if the child has any physical, dental, visual or hearing problems so that they may receive corrective help before time for them to begin school.
