

Wesley Burnett and Doyle Morgan consummate the sale of the Devil's River News with a handshake. Fae Morgan, co-publisher of the "Devil", enters verbal agreement.

Burnett Purchases Devil's River News

Doyle and Fae Morgan announced Monday the sale of the Devil's River News to Wesley W. Burnett.

Burnett began his duties this week. "In announcing the sale we want to sincerely thank the friends of 'The Devil' for their support the past six years. We will continue to support the growth and development of Sonora and will devote full time to our insurance and real estate business."

The new publisher is a native of Bonham, Texas and grew up in Brownsville. The 35 year-old father of three children is married to the former Pat Voyles of Lubbock. Mrs. Burnett is the daughter of Mrs. Lorene Voyles of Silverton. Burnett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Burnett of Houston.

Burnett comes to Sonora from New Iberia, Louisiana, where he co-founded the Iberia Journal, a community newspaper.

"We are very happy to return to Texas after being away for almost three years," he comments.

"And we are excited about living in Sonora, where we feel comfortable and at home," he continues.

Burnett began his newspaper career with the Bryan Daily Eagle while a student at Texas A&M in 1960. Following his sophomore year at Texas A&M he enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and served six years as editor and public information specialist at six Air Force bases.

He entered the Air Force "Operation Bootstrap" education program in 1968 and earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska at Omaha in 1969.

A captain in the Air Force reserve, Burnett was commissioned a second lieutenant in September 1969 and served as an information officer at four Air Force bases before returning to civilian life in 1973.

Before moving to New Iberia, Burnett worked with Harte-Hanks Newspaper Corporation as an advertising salesman in Bryan, Texas and retail advertising manager in Hamilton, Ohio.

"I wish to express my sincere appreciation to Doyle and Fae for their assistance and generous help in the transition," Burnett concludes, "without their help I certainly would have had a lot of problems. And to Shirley Hill and Debbie Hard, a special thanks for their dedication to the Devil's River News."

ACCOUNTS NOT SOLD Accounts due the Devil's River News were not included in the sale of the newspaper, but are due the former owners, Doyle and Fae Morgan. Payments may be made at the news office or to 213 Main, Sonora, in response to August billings.

Broncos To Host Coleman In First Pre-district Bout

After two successful scrimmages the Sonora Broncos will play their first pre-season game of the year when they host the Coleman Bluecats here Friday night at the Bronco Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Head coach Bill Bundy says that after viewing the two scrimmages, played the past two weeks, the Broncos are showing definite improvement. "Their blocking is good and the attitude of the boys is excellent", said Bundy. "Our defense made a few mistakes but we are running a new defense and our biggest problem seems to be in tackling. We're just not aggressive enough right now", he added.

Bundy heads up the coaching staff and is aided by Roland Pfeiffer and Donald Patton.

Heading up the team in the quarterback position will be John Elliott who will also play in the safety position on defense. Sharing quarterback duties is Craig Parker who also serves as wingback and half back, offensively and defensively.

Others who will be playing in the backfield offensively are Garry Jones, Tony Mathews, Johnny Creek, Mark Hemphill, John David Cook, Zeke Gamez, and Billy Bob Galbreath.

Gregg Parker, Louis Samanigo and Chip Savell will fill the split end positions with Larry Jones and Mike Jones as offensive ends.

Clay Hicks, Dan

Lawson, Ross Roberts, Bo Carroll and Clayton Wadley will serve as tackles on the offensive and defensive squads.

Centers for the Broncos will be Scott Brasher and Robin Snodgrass. Chase Snodgrass, Jack Lawson, Jimmy Black and Steve Chandler will be squad guards on the offensive squads.

Tobin Joy has been named to the split end position to fill the place of Manuel Lopez who suffered a shoulder injury in practice.

Just the next day after Thanksgiving there will be given in Sonora a grand ball at the Sonora Club House. The music will be the best obtainable. The hall will be lighted by electricity and the business men and patriotic citizens of Sonora may, when the proposition is brought to their attention, make it a grand free dance. Everybody invited. Plenty of time to get gay togs. The best country is alive all the time when not asleep.

Make a note of the grand, general dance at the Sonora Hall on the night of November 28th just a day after Thanksgiving and there will be no restriction, no programs, impromptu music, the best of entertainment for those who will enjoy the light fantastic and a cup of coffee, chocolate and cake or sandwiches on the side.

Bob Krueger's Weekly Report

Last week the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee on which I serve considered the question of whether or not to have daylight savings time on an extended basis, seven months a year. At present, daylight savings time applies to only six months a year, a policy established in 1966 with the passage of the Uniform Time Act. For two years, however, the entire Nation was on daylight savings time for the entire year, believing that energy could be conserved during the Arab oil embargo and its aftermath. Because of concern for the safety of school children, as well as complaints from numerous other groups, the law was amended in 1974 to exclude November, December, January, and February. When the emergency daylight savings time legislation expired, we returned to the present policy in which we have daylight savings time six months a year.

I opposed efforts to extend daylight savings time to seven months a year, although a majority of my colleagues on the Committee disagreed. The proposed legislation is not, in my opinion, in the best interests of many of my constituents, particularly those involved in agriculture. For the past two years, during my visits to such towns as Alpine, Sanderson, or Garden City, farmers and ranchers expressed their concern that the abnormally late sunrises caused them considerable hardship, forcing them to either begin their work in the dark or keep adjusting their schedules to changes in sun time.

In towns such as Sanderson, where school children must ride sixty or seventy miles to school every morning, families are forced to get up and send their children to school virtually in the dead of night. Although I did offer that fact to the committee, they did not seem to comprehend the times and distances involved. For example, New York is about the same distance from Washington, D.C. as San Antonio is from Sterling City.

Some proponents of the change to extended daylight savings time argue that it saves energy. In my district, however, any possible savings are offset by the fact that people on farms and ranches must floodlight their work area. Parents who do not feel comfortable about putting their children on buses in the dark hours of the early morning may feel compelled to drive their children to school, a less efficient use of fuel.

Although the issue may not seem to be of great importance to some people, it is symbolic of a larger issue that we face in the Congress; that is, working to help people from other parts of the country understand the problems we face, and the ways which legislation will affect different parts of the country in different ways. Whether it is soil conservation funding, regulations governing the production of wool and mohair, or the issue of daylight savings time, the needs and concerns of Texans will be understandably different than those of Connecticut or New Jersey. Our efforts must be ongoing, and I am confident that through a sustained, energetic approach to explaining and defending our positions, we can have a position effect on legislation which affects the people of Texas and the 21st District.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—A recent Federal Trade Commission regulation abolished "holder in due course," a doctrine that dates back more than 200 years to English common law. Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys say you've probably come in contact with holder in due course if you've ever signed a long-term contract for something like a washing machine, although you may not have known it unless you later had trouble with the merchandise.

This is how holder in due course worked: You bought the washer from an appliance dealer on an installment contract. The dealer wants the money right away, so your contract is sold to a financial institution. You are then notified to make your payments for the washer to the financial institution.

If the appliance breaks down a month later, and the appliance dealer refuses to fix it even though it is under warranty, you might have decided to stop your payments. If you did so, the financial institution could have sued you and probably forced you to continue paying even though the washer didn't work. That's because, under holder in due course, the institution has no responsibility for seeing that the product, or the dealer, lived up to the warranty, but you still had the responsibility for making the payments.

The FTC rule, titled "Preservation of Consumers' Claims and Defenses," now requires that any business that sells or leases goods or services print a large, bold notice on its installment sales credit contract stating that, in effect, there is no holder in due course defense for the financial institution or whoever ends up with the contract.

This means that the

He Doesn't Like Either Platform So He Writes One of His Own

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his botterweed ranch on River has drawn up a political platform of his own, but of course he's not running for anything.

Dear editor:

The same as everybody else except the people who wrote them, I have not read the entire platform of the Democratic or Republican parties, but I have paid enough attention to catch on to some of the main planks and I am forced to say they don't suit me. I knew they wouldn't suit me before they were written. A man who can't develop his own prejudices ahead of time isn't going to have any fun with politics. Might as well try to keep a delegate from waving a sign.

Anyway, just to be doing, I have drawn up a platform of my own, facing up to the issues as I see them:

Tax loopholes: Some people are in favor of closing the tax loopholes. I don't want them closed. I want them pointed out.

Child care: A good idea. All children should take care of their parents.

Busing: I'm in favor of outlawing busing in the Panama Canal.

Abortion: It's not necessary to dodge the issue, the other candidates have already done it for me.

Equal rights: I'm in favor of equal rights, but am violently opposed to equal wrongs. Let somebody else get mugged. Of course women are free to think whatever they please, so long as they get the meals on the table on time.

Foreign Policy: It will be continued till we run out of money, at which time it'll be the other countries' turn to foreign-policy us.

Unemployment: There should be a job for everybody who wants one, and none for those who don't.

Earthquakes: Who needs them when we've got people like the citizens of Beirut?

Inflation: Everybody else should lower his prices and leave mine alone.

If I've left out any issues, it was intentional.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Sort clothes according to type of fabric, color-fastness, degree of soil and garment construction. You'll save both hot water and electricity by doing similar items together. Accumulate a full load before running your washer.

BE SELECTIVE
Choose the cycle that is precisely appropriate for the clothes you are washing. Is a "hot" temperature setting really necessary? Except for heavily soiled items, most loads will come clean in either a cold or warm wash. Look into cold wash detergents.

Use the least amount of detergent that will get your clothes clean — most loads require only an ounce or less! Overloading causes extra strain and wear on your equipment: check the manufacturer's recommendations for load weight. Balance your load by alternating small and large items.

FOR SAFETY SAKE
Be sure control is "off" before reaching into your washer. If one is necessary, use only a heavy duty extension cord. Be sure your washer is grounded. Keep dry cleaning agents, color remover and Fibreglas out of your washer. It's a good idea not to wash clothes containing cleaning fluids in your washer.

Mrs. Paul Browne

Double Ring Rites Unite
Ronda Hopkins, Paul Browne

Miss Ronda Lynn Hopkins became the bride of Paul Douglas Browne in double ring rites held August 28 at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Browne. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hopkins of Midland.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, and escorted by her father, chose a gown of pale blue. An overlay of applied English net was studded with pearls and featured a long train. She wore a wide brimmed picture hat covered with lace and pearls and carried white roses and gardenias.

The Rev. George Schultz, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Seguin and the Rev. Norman Griffith, pastor of the Episcopal Church of San Angelo, officiated at the ceremony.

Wedding guests were seated around an outdoor pool where arrangements of flowers and candles floated. The garden was decorated with candles and gardenias and green plants created an altar accented with white candelabrae and a white kneeling bench.

Miss Cyndy Hopkins of Houston served her sister as maid of honor. Brides-nibble.

maids were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. C.R. Sutton, III of Rocksprings; Miss Betty Exleban, Miss Janna Harris and Miss Laura Chambers, all of Seguin, Miss Diane Freshour of Midland, Miss Angela Green of Sonora and Miss Colleen O'Neal of San Angelo. Attendants carried long stemmed roses.

Miss Donna Rinn of Seguin was flower girl and Donald Patrick Rains of San Marcos was ring bearer. Misses Anna Balch and Anita Balch were train bearers.

Serving his brother as best man was Charles F. (Chuck) Browne, Jr. David Wallace was groomsman. Ushers were Scooter Surber, Mike Stewart, John David Cook, Lindsey Paul Hicks, Will Wallace and Mark Milliken, all of Sonora; C.R. (Rusty) Sutton, III of Rocksprings, and Alan Harris of Seguin.

Mr. John Tedford presented wedding music and Bill Green of San Angelo was soloist.

A reception was held by the pool immediately following the ceremony.

The couple will make their home in Lubbock where Mrs. Browne will teach dancing and the bridegroom will attend Texas Tech University. He is a graduate of Sonora High School.

Mrs. Draper, Party Honoree

Mrs. Carey Draper, the former Miss Ronie DeAnn Morris, was honored August 19, at the Church of Christ classroom building with a bridal shower.

Hosting the event were Mmes. Raymond Trimble of Eldorado, Robert Mooney, Jack Baker, Bill Fish and Bill Chadwick.

Honored guests at the party were the bride's mother, Mrs. John Dickens of Seagraves, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Raymond Draper. Also attending were Mrs. Nancy Bittle of San Angelo, the bride's sister, and Miss Trudy Draper and Miss Rae Ann Draper, sisters of the bridegroom.

The bride's chosen colors of gold and white were carried out in decorations.

Tea was introduced to America by the Dutch.

BUDDING ENGINEER

Can't tell yet whether my son will follow in his Dad's footsteps. Toys don't make an engineer. But he's learning some of the basic principles of physics with which many professions deal. On the way home from Church, when he talks about his lesson, I recognize familiar signs . . . character is still in the mold. Deep conviction, bold dedication come later. But he's grasping those basic truths on which great living rises. For a busy engineer who used to be hit-or-miss in his church attendance, fostering the growth of a soul is a fascinating experience . . . especially as I find my own faith deepening with every reverent day! Can't tell about his following my footsteps. But I've discovered new dimensions in life following his.

Consumer Food News

Cheese features will highlight grocery store specials in up coming weeks, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist.

She cited record-production levels as the reason. Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"In meat departments, the beef counters are well stocked—with most emphasis on chuck cuts, sirloin steak, T-bone steak and beef liver. Ground beef is always low in cost-per-serving, and it is suggested as an economical choice currently. Pork values continue to be scarce, but there are a few features on Boston butt roasts and quarter loins cut into chops," she said.

At fresh produce counters, items in good supply at the most economical prices include grapes, acorn and banana varieties.

Soft-shell squash is still an economical choice, along with cabbage, carrots, dry onions and potatoes.

"Egg prices are up, but they still held their own when compared to other protein foods," the specialist concluded.

What is the best method of insuring several pieces of expensive jewelry?

Your jewelry may be insured through your Homeowner's policy or through an addition to that policy called a "personal floater" policy. Cost for these methods of insuring are approximately the same. Cost of the coverage depends, of course, on the value of the jewelry. In order to determine the appropriate value, an appraisal must be obtained from an accredited appraiser. If you don't know where to find an appraiser give me a call and I'll be glad to help. Effects of inflation (increasing values of jewelry) have made it necessary for many people to take a second look at this type coverage.

Voter Registration Drive Underway For Nov. Election

Sec. of State Mark White has announced that his office is conducting a massive, statewide voter registration drive for this fall's Presidential election.

A pilot registration drive was conducted last spring, White said, and it added around 400,000 new voters to the rolls in Texas.

"Last spring's experience convinced us we need to enlarge our registration efforts," White said. "The new Texas registration law makes it easier than ever before to vote in Texas, and we are trying to make sure every citizen is aware of that fact."

Under the new registration law, Texans need only fill out a registration postcard and mail it, White said, adding that the registration deadline for the November 2 election is October 1.

Registration applications are available through county tax assessors or by calling a toll-free number in White's Austin office, he said. The number, which is open during business hours, is 1-800-292-9602.

"Applications will also be on display in food stores around the state," White said. "We hope to literally put voter registration at the fingertips of most Texans before the registration deadline."

White noted that only 20 percent of voting-age Texans went to the polls in 1974, which was an "off year" involving no national elections. In the last Presidential election, White said, 43 percent of voting-age Texans cast ballots.

"Clearly there is room for improvement, and we hope our drive will help," White said. "We hope every Texan will register and vote."

INSTANT VOTER REGISTRATION--- To register to vote in Texas, clip this registration form, fill it out and mail it to the tax assessor of Sutton County at the Courthouse. October 1 is the deadline for registering to vote in the November 2, Presidential election.

Record Corn Crop Predicted for Texas

AUSTIN—A record corn crop of 154 million bushels is forecast for Texas in 1976, far outdistancing the previous record of 117 million set in 1910, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

White noted that increases in production have also been projected for cotton, soybeans, peanuts and sugarcane.

Most of the increase in corn production has occurred on the High Plains, where irrigated acreage yields have increased to 110 bushels per acre.

Sugarcane production is set at almost 1.33 million tons, and the 1976 soybean crop has been estimated at 9.1 million bushels. Peanut production has increased six percent to 491.2 million pounds.

Cotton production is expected to increase 43 percent from 1975 to an estimated crop of 3.4 million bales. Harvested acreage has increased to 4.5 million.

White noted that the cotton estimate may be revised downward when the full effects of the July rain in South Texas are known.

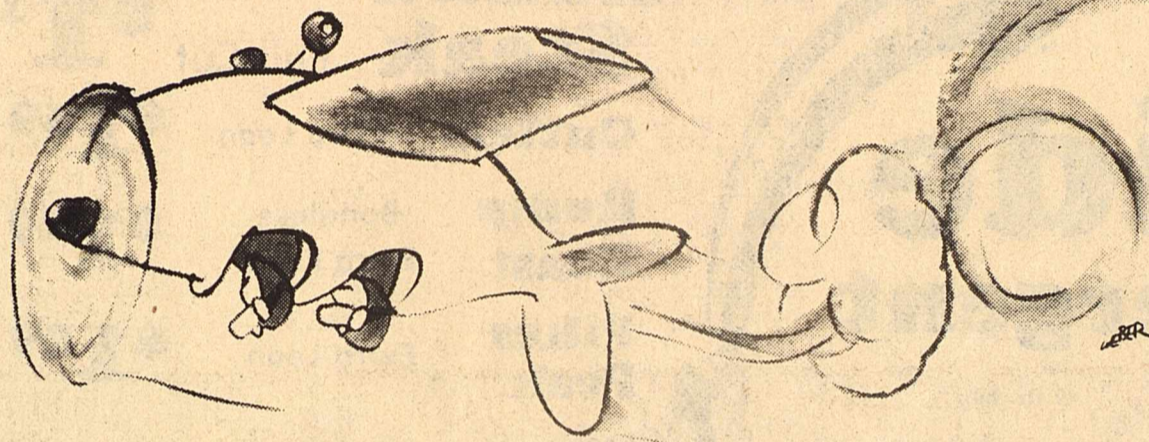

"The 15 to 18 inches of rain left many cotton fields flooded and farmers reported that bolls were beginning to rot and shed," White said.

The greatest production decline has occurred in the state's sorghum crop, which is projected at 330 million bushels, a 44 million-bushel drop from 1975.

The South Texas sorghum crop suffered severely from continuous mid-summer rains.

But lower yields in southern parts of the state have been slightly offset by increased yields on the High Plains, where growing conditions have been optimal, for the most part, for the crop.

From a medical view, the woman of the house is the main guardian of the family's health. There is an instinctive drive within a mother that compels her to act as the first line of defense against approaching illness.

However, all too often mistakes are made, and though some may seem too obvious to be listed here, they are so common that it would do well to note six of them in order of importance.

- [1] Ignoring doctor's advice.
- [2] Failure to call physician when trouble arises.

THREE TEXAS SITES have been named National Historic Landmarks: The Strand Historic District (left) and the East End Historic District (middle), both in Galveston; and the Sam Rayburn House (right) in Bonham. Close to the shipping channel, The Strand was the principal commercial area in Galveston during the late 19th century. Covering a six-block area, the district includes at least 45 commercial structures representing architectural styles used during this era. The East End Historic District, also a city-designated historical area, is a large residential neighborhood containing the most intact concentration of 19th century buildings in Texas. It includes the N.J. Clayton-designed Bishop's Palace (shown above) along with 332 other Victorian homes and 35 Greek Revival homes. The Sam Rayburn House was the "home place" for the long-time congressional leader from 1916 until his death in 1961. Sam Rayburn served as Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives for nearly 20 years, more than twice as long as any other person. The house is now a museum operated by the THC.

4-H Executive, Advisory Committee Meet Held

Twenty-two members and leaders attended the 4-H Executive and advisory committee meeting at the 4-H Center Tuesday to plan the 1976-77 Sutton County 4-H program.

One of the main topics of discussion was the current and proposed improvements underway at the center. Improvements completed during the year include a marlite wainscoting in the hall and rest rooms, new sewer and water lines, a concrete slab behind the bandstand and new metal doors in the livestock barn. The city, county and Lions Club have contributed to these improvements along with individual contributors to the 4-H program.

Proposed improvements include painting the rest rooms, hallway and new doors, building a meeting room on the slab behind the bandstand and cooperating with the Sonora Park Board in developing a barbecue shed and slab to serve the 4-H Center and park pavilion.

The committee voted to contribute $1,000 from the general fund to the park arena since many of the 4-H play days, horse shows and other horse activities will be held at the arena.

The committee also voted to hold regular 4-H meetings the second Monday in each month with the first meeting scheduled for Monday, September 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Adult 4-H committees which assist the County Extension agents in conducting the 4-H program during the year were revised.

Two hundred-twenty Sutton County boys and girls participated in the 4-H program during the year.

All boys and girls in Sutton County between 8 and 19 years of age are eligible to participate in the 4-H program without regard to race, color, national origin, sex or religion. You may enroll in the 4-H Club by calling the County Extension office at 387-3101.

Fire Ants Infesting 133 Million Acres

As one entomologist recently put it, "20 years is a long time to be in an ant fight". But that's approximately how long the South has been trying to control the spread of the fire ant. Current estimates indicate an infestation of 133 million acres in a 9-state area, reaching from Florida to Texas.

Fire ant mounds are an easily recognizable sight in agricultural areas, but the fire ant is an urban, as well as rural problem, invading lawns, golf courses, parks, playgrounds, school yards, cemeteries and even homes. The threat this insect poses may be as minor as unsightly mounds on your lawns, or as major as a severe allergic reaction to its sting, resulting in illness, or even in death.

Controlling the fire ant is a problem, simply because there are not very many chemicals which are effective. Mirex has, over the years, provided some good control. However, the nation's only Mirex plant, in Prairie, MS, was recently shut down by the manufacturer. Allied Chemical, and the plant was subsequently bought by the state of Mississippi. While Mirex is now being distributed by the Mississippi Authority for Control of Fire Ants, it is available on a limited basis, primarily to state-sponsored programs. This limited availability, coupled with the Environmental Protection Agency's restrictions on number of applications as well as places Mirex can be used, severely hampers the success of any control program.

One additional recourse for homeowners is to make individual treatments with chlordane insecticide. Chlordane is one of the only commercially available insecticides for consistently effective control of fire ants. According to a recent EPA ruling, chlordane has been allowed for use for fire ant control "in view of the public health problem which may result from the fire ant sting and bite."

Currently available as a liquid, a dust and in granules, chlordane fire ant killer should be applied at label rates for broadcast application and/or for individual mound treatments. After three weeks following any of these treatments, examine the treated area. Any surviving colonies should be retreated.

A Bishop Looks at Life

by Everett H. Jones
Retired Bishop
Of the Episcopal Church
A MORNING WITH
ST. FRANCIS

Sante Fe—
Someday I would like to write a book entitled "Mornings in New Mexico." There is something so fresh, so shining, so invigorating about this mountainous northeast part of the state, it is a very special joy to welcome each new day.

I am reminded of how St. Francis of Assisi begins his Canticle to the Sun:
"Praised be my Lord God with all His creatures, and specially our brother the Sun, who brings us the day and who brings us the light; fair is he and shines with a very great splendor: O Lord, he signifies to us Thee!"

It is my habit when I am here to get up early enough to enjoy this daily miracle. Our house is on the westward slope of the Sangre de Cristo mountains, so that as I start my daily walk the sun itself is not visible. But the growing light is my assurance that he is alive and at work. (This is one way I feel the truth of St. Francis' words: "O Lord, he signifies to us Thee!")

As I walk down the mountain, I look across the valley - where the Rio Grand River winds its unseen way - and I begin to see the sun's brilliant rays on the mountain peaks to the west. At first it is the merest point of light here and there, but then it grows and grows, as an orchestra sometimes swells from a gentle beginning to a mighty burst of sound.

As I carry St. Francis' words in my mind, it seems to me the shining distant peaks are proclaiming to the world: "He is coming; a new day is being born; God is at work; in His splendor He is awakening His creation, calling us to a new round of praise and joy and service."

In this mood other bits of the famous canticle come to mind. "Praised be my Lord for our sister the moon, and for the stars, the which He has set clear and lovely in heaven--- Praised be my Lord for our sister water, who is very serviceable unto us and humble and precious and clean--- Praised be my Lord for our brother fire, through whom Thou givest

Fall Pastures Need Fertilizer

Perennial grass pastures should be fertilized now for increased fall production and quality. If pastures have not been fertilized since spring, plant nutrients—especially nitrogen—have been depleted. So an application of fertilizer is in order, contends Al Novosad, forage and turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"There is still plenty of growing time over much of the state for good production from bermuda, Klein, buffel, love, bahia, and other grasses," says Novosad. "Forage from these grasses can be utilized for grazing or hay or left standing and grazed after frost."

Of course, the specialist points out that soil moisture must be available for grass growth. Rainfall records from 34 stations in the eastern two-thirds of Texas over a 40-year period indicate a 50 to 80 per cent chance of receiving two inches of rainfall in September. This probability of rainfall increases moving from west to east. About the same probability also exists for October.

The probability for two inches of rain in both September and October is about the same as for a like amount in June for this area of Texas and is better than the probabilities for July and August, notes Novosad.

"Since most of the state enjoys a long growing season for the perennial warm-season grasses, fall fertilization is important. Lack of fertilization is the big limiting factor to quality forage production in the fall," believes Novosad.

There is still plenty of time to make top quality hay, and Novosad reminds producers that the 1976 State Hay Show is coming up October 1, on the Harold Green Farm near Austin. All hay samples must be submitted to the Travis County Extension office by September 15.

Homemaking Hints For Safety & Economy

Remodeling On A Budget
When the decorating dollars hit your house, strike back! Here's how to spruce up your home without expensive refinishing:

* Carpets looking dull and dirty? Renew them—don't replace them. You can clean carpets yourself in about an hour with Spray 'n Vac rug cleaner. Just spray this no-scrub rug cleaner onto dirty carpets and, when the foam dries, simply vacuum the foam and dingy dirt away.

* Repaint—it's easy to do yourself. Use a color to coordinate with your carpet, or choose a neutral such as eggshell white or beige.

* Furniture getting worn and faded? Think about reupholstering or using slipcovers. Choose a pattern in a neutral color and use accessories to pick up colors from your carpet and walls.

* Rearrange furniture and accessories to create a new and different look. And for a change, try moving them from one room to another.

WINDMILLS FOR THE FUTURE—They may trigger memories of the past, but windmills are being considered as a source of power for the future, too. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White points out that harnessing wind power could supply the energy for such agricultural needs as pumping irrigation water and heating and cooling

Windmills May Help Solve Energy Problems of Future

AUSTIN—Windmills, a thing of the past, hold promise for the future, said Agriculture Commissioner John C. White. Windmills are still in use today -- there are approximately 175,000 scattered throughout the U.S., with a good number of them in Texas.

But increasingly, scientists are looking to sophisticated counterparts of windmills as a source of alternative power to take the place of fossil fuels.

Many scientific agencies are turning to wind power research, with the federal government funding nearly 50 such projects. Scientists are now working to solve such problems as the high cost of installing equipment, energy storage, and energy conversion systems. White notes that National Weather Service data indicates that many parts of Texas have a high wind energy potential.

In fact, one study will determine the feasibility of using wind power to pump irrigation water on the High Plains.

"Yet another relic of Texas' agricultural past has been salvaged," White commented. "It looks like windmills may make a valuable contribution toward solving a very real problem of the future."
