Bids To Be Received On New Bank Building

Bids for the new First National Bank building will be received at a private opening November 11, according to Bank Vice President Clayton Hamilton.

"These bids for the entire project," Hamilton explained.

Construction of the new facility is being handled by architects and planners, Pierce, Pace and Associates, 1002 W. Wall, Midland, Texas.

The proposed new banking facilities will feature approximately 10,000 square feet including commercial and three drive-in lanes.

"We will also have a community meeting room and 24 hour lighted night depository," Hamilton added.

The new building is designed so that existing pecan trees will be incorporated into the overall one-story structure. Off-street customer parking will also be included in the new bank building, which will be located on the vacant lot between Poplar and Main, and Crockett and Concho.

SHS Students Have 96.220 Attendance

Figures compiled by high school principal Dr. Elroy Otte shows an attendance record of 96.220 for the first six weeks of high school.

These figures also show for the most part that boys have better attendance records than girls.

In the freshman class the attendance record was 95.473 for boys and 95.736 for girls. Sophomore boys were slightly behind girls with a 97.139 record against the girl's 97.395.

Junior boys held a 96.702 record as opposed to junior girls 95.435.

Senior boys held the highest attendance record with 98.134 as compared to 93.577 for the senior girls.

Auction Set

A public auction has been scheduled for October 30 at the Castle Courts so that the newly founded Castle Court Corporation may auction off many extra items at the courts.

Among those things to be sold are eight mobile homes, many items of furniture, some office furniture and other items not listed.

The purpose of the corporation is to rid the neighborhood of the mobile home rentals so that the area will be mainly a residential site plus office spaces. Future plans are to open a street behind where the mobile homes are located and sell the lots as residential sites.

Permanent renters of the apartments at Castle Courts will remain as tenants.

Colonel Tex Herring of Lawn, Texas will serve as auctioneer at the auction scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m.

Sawyer Ranches Hosting Range Tour Program

A range animal nutrition and Great Plains tour began at the Wesley Sawyer ranch this morning with a coffee and registration meeting. George Brockman, chairman of the Edwards Plateau S&WCD and the Sutton County Extension Range Committee, served as master of ceremonies.

The tour will be held throughout the day and the public is invited to attend part or all of the program.

Various subjects will be brought to light during the event with Ken Sparks, SCS Range Specialist from Uvalde, starting the program at 10 a.m., when he speaks on range practices conducted under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

At 10:30 a.m., Glen Fisher, also of Uvalde, will introduce the Edwin Sawyer Ranch Demonstration. Fisher is Extension Management Specialist at Uvalde.

Dr. Robert Steger will speak on clipping and the results of range clipping studies at 10:40 a.m., followed by a demonstration of the collecting of forage samples through cannulated animals by Charles A. Taylor and Robert Langford of the Sonora Research Station.

A barbecue luncheon will be served at 12 noon, courtesy of the Texas Section Society for Range Management, the Edwards Plateau S&WCD, and the Sutton County Extension Range Committee.

Following the luncheon, Ed Huston of the San Angelo Extension and Research Center will speak on the designing of Supplemental Feeding Programs based on range forage. Implanting range sheep and cattle will be demonstrated and discussed by A. L. Hoermann, Extension Animal Husbandman of Uvalde.

Completing the program will be a panel discussion with all the program participants as well as others participating. Dr. Leo B. Merrill will serve as moderator of that discussion.

Sprinkler System Proposed For Football Field Area

In the regular meeting of the school board October 19 trustees heard a report on recommendations for a sprinkler system for the football field and practice area. The report was prepared and given by Virgil Polocsek and Eugene Linderman of the Soil Conservation Service.

The board approved plans for landscaping the areas around the fourth and fifth grade buildings, the Kindergarten building and the new gym. The work will be done by Scherz Nursery.

Bids were accepted to install new heavy-duty type metallic doors with closers and panic bars in the old gym and replace two doors in the new gym.

A request by the Kappa Gamma Sorority to use the elementary auditorium on December 12 for presentation of a Christmas program was approved. The proceeds will be given to charity.

School will dismiss at 1:15 p.m. Friday to allow patrons to attend the football game in Alpine. The pep rally will be held at 12:45 and the buses will run shortly thereafter.

The school calendar was revised to have school on Monday, October 25 to make up for the day school was closed due to high water. Friday, November 19 was changed from a teacher workday to a school day and Wednesday, November 24 was designated as a holiday for students and a workday for teachers. School will dismiss on Tuesday, November 23 at 2:30 p.m., for Thanksgiving.

Nancy Brockman was elected as teacher aide in the Title I Program. She is currently enrolled in San Angelo University, and will begin her duties in November.

Sheriff's Race Adding Voter Interest

By Shirley Hill

Adding to the political interest in this presidential election year is the still-alive race for Sheriff, Tax Assessor/Collector of Sutton County. Although the incumbent for that office, Pryce Taylor, was defeated by 210 votes in the May Primary election, he has come back to run as a write-in candidate for that office.

Taylor stated, "due to my own earnest desire and the urging of a host of friends I have decided to publicly announce my intention to be a write-in candidate for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor/Collector in the November 2 General Election".

"My decision on a write-in campaign came about after finding that many of the voters of the county had been misinformed on the possibilities of some of the radical changes proposed and uninformed on the probabilities should these changes be attempted," stated Taylor in a statement made to this newspaper.

Taylor added that his

platform will be none other than his past performance. He did add that since he has been in the sheriff's office that only two felony cases have occurred in the county and there have been no jury trials in these eleven years.

Adding to his statement Taylor said he wished to include not only facts regarding the sheriff's office but that Sutton County has a large tax office with lots of money and business to attend to. He attributes the success of this part of his job to two well qualified persons who operate the office, Mrs. Lottie Puckett and Mrs. Ann Hill.

Taylor stated also that hiring an additional deputy for his office was in the future. This will be in addition to Mack West, who Sheriff Taylor said would remain with him if re-elected.

Defeating Sheriff Taylor in the primary election was our present Chief of Police W.W.(Bill) Webster. In an interview with Webster Monday he answered the question as to his asking for a $4,000 a year raise if elected sheriff, in this manner. "I have prepared a budget for the City Council and County Commissioners at their request, if the consolidation of the Sheriff's office and City Police Department should become a reality. In this budget request I have mentioned a $2,000 a year amount in addition to the sheriff's salary. This is to cover a housing allowance that the present sheriff already receives in addition to his salary." Webster added that he believed the present housing allowance to be $1800 a year.

Another question asked of Webster was staff changes. Webster answered, "there will definitely be staff changes but at what point at this time I am not sure. But regarding officers to be hired, if more are hired, there will be no officer hired who has lived in Sonora prior to this time."

Webster had this statement to make: "The Sonora Police Dept. and myself have been verbally attacked on several different issues since the May 1 primary. It is my hope that the following statement will qualify my position and ideas if I am elected Sheriff in the Nov. 2 General Election.

It is very difficult to fulfill my job responsibilities as Chief of Police and still find time to speak personally to each of the voters as I would like. I welcome this opportunity to express my views in the hope that they will be seen by some of the people I will be unable to see before the election Nov. 2. I am proud of the job that is being done by the Sonora Police Dept. and am grateful to have had a part in its development and management. The staff and myself have undertaken our jobs with willingness, pride, and enthusiasm, and I believe the Police Dept. is one in which the people of Sonora can be proud.

I am more pleased with the job done by the Police Dept. knowing the job has been economical. This year the City spent less than $05 of every $100 it received on Police Operations and the Dept still managed to turn back over $3000 of it's budget to the City. All of this reaffirms my belief that pride and enthusiasm are attitudes that a person brings to his job; they can not be bought at any price, but if they exist, results in the best job at the least possible cost. It is my intention to carry this same desire to the Sheriff's Office.

Every candidate promises an administration that is honest, fair, economical, and efficient. These are items which are empty and meaningless unless they are identified with a definite plan of action. I believe my record as Chief of Police has proven my claims to fairness, honesty and efficiency. These traits are personal beliefs and will guide my actions regardless of the job title I might carry. The idea of economy is another matter. One person's idea of economy may not agree with another's.

It is my belief that economics and efficiency are inseparable terms. For example, a law enforcement agency might exist on a budget of $10,000 a year, but it can not function: no officer will be on patrol 24 hrs. a day at this price; no car can be furnished; and no equipment provided. One way to provide both economy and efficiency is through a consolidated effort toward Law Enforcement by both the City and County. It is by no means the only alternative but it is, in my opinion, one of the best available to all the citizens. The proposal of a Consolidated Law-Enforcement effort is not an empty adjective like "Economy", it is a plan of action. A plan is more of a commitment than using a general term and perhaps it is poor politics to give people something so specific to think about. However, I firmly believe the voters deserve to know something more than empty promises.

The City Council and County Commission must ultimately decide the final alternative which is most appropriate for all the citizens. If they decide consolidation is not the best, most workable, alternative then the two political bodies and myself can jointly solve the problem. It is up to the voters to decide if a working, interested and enthusiastic Sheriff is desirable in Sutton County."

There have been no definite decisions on the part of the County Commissioners or the City Council to consolidate the two local entities. This decision will be one of the governing bodies alone and the vote you cast in the general election is not for consolidation of the offices but for the man who you think will make the most efficient and competent sheriff for our county.

Val Verde County Cave, Archaeological Gold Mine

Baker Cave, a rock-shelter located on a ranch in Val Verde County in southwest Texas, has produced an archaeological gold mine. Dr. Thomas Hester, Director of the Center for Archaeological Research at the University of Texas at San Antonio, led an Earthwatch team in an excavation at the rockshelter this summer. Their findings are revealing information about the lifestyle of the Indians who inhabited the shelter 9,000 years ago.

Two of the most important finds at the dig are charcoal, which has been radiocarbon-dated at UCLA and UT Austin to verify the 7,000 B.C. occupation, and a Golondrina (Spanish for swallowtail) dartpoint, used by Indians during this late Pleistocene period (the large end of the point has a swallowtail shape).

The archaeologists also uncovered part of a basket woven between 4,500 and 3,000 B.C. (a rare find in the U.S. where damp weather usually decomposes the materials) as well as sandals, mats, knots, cords and other basketry made from local desert plants. Flint artifacts and waste chips, animal and fish bones, nuts and seeds were also uncovered.

The relics are being analyzed in labs at UTSA. Specialists at the University of Pittsburgh will eventually study the basket samples to provide more detailed information about fibers and weaving techniques. The baskets, nuts and seeds will be sent to Texas A&M University where studies will be conducted to learn more about prehistoric botany.

Dr. Hester noted that Baker Cave is one of the best preserved rockshelters in the U.S.

"The artifacts have been protected by the dry southwest Texas weather and by layers of fine limestone dust which fell from the shelter roof over thousands of years," he said.

In some areas of the rockshelter there are as many as 20 levels of occupation.

"The top layers indicate that the most recent inhabitation was around 1,400 A.D., about the time the bow and arrow was introduced into the south and southwest Texas area," related Dr. Hester.

A key factor in the archaeologists' success was the determination of the ranch owners to protect the shelter from looters. The rockshelter was virtually untouched when Jim Word, an amateur archaeologist from Floydada, Texas began the first excavation in 1962.

Word, who excavated a series of squares and trenches, found evidence of inhabitation in 7,000 B.C. With the help of Earthwatch volunteers, Dr. Hester began a detailed excavation this year to help piece together a puzzle that would reveal the lifestyle of these Indians.

Located about a third of the way down a 400-foot cliff, Baker Cave overlooks the parched, cactus-covered bed where a stream once flowed and the vast miles used for sheep ranching.

The rockshelter is about 140 feet wide and extends about 80 feet into the side of the cliff. It is about 30 feet from the roof to the floor of the shelter. The inhabitation and limestone layers go down 11 feet to the bedrock.

To reach the isolated rockshelter, Dr. Hester, Earthwatch volunteers and workers from the UTSA archaeological center traveled over the rough terrain in a carryall and jeeps. They climbed down the cliff with the help of ropes and then lowered their equipment.

The 14 Earthwatch volunteers came from all parts of the country. Among the participants were Audrey Brainard, a science teacher from Holmdel, New Jersey; Helen Leven, teacher and free-lance writer, New York City; George Graves, vice president and service manager of a marina, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, his wife Gypsy and daughter Kate; Helen Gumpert, civic worker, Asheville, North Carolina; Marcia Romberg, social worker, Austin; Frank Spingola, accountant, San Francisco; and J.F. Wilbur, Jr., president, Mid-American Canning Corp., Madisonville, Kentucky.

Several students also participated. Included were Susan Boyle, a high school student from Honolulu, Hawaii; Karen Wendell, freshman at Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota; Karen Sorrell, freshman at Texas A&M University; Robert Mintz, high school student, Clifton, New Jersey; and Charles Nuckolls, anthropology graduate student at the University of Chicago.

Brian Rosborough, President of Earthwatch, which is headquartered in Belmont, Massachusetts, also visited the excavation.

"Earthwatch is the only organization of its kind," said Rosborough. "It was established six years ago to help scientists raise money and volunteers to support expeditions. Those who participate share costs."

He commented that this year Earthwatch will support 50 expeditions in 13 states and 17 countries.

The Earthwatch volunteers at Baker Cave meticulously scraped and brushed away dirt, plotted the location of artifacts, carried buckets of soil and screened them through one-eighth-inch screens to catch the tiniest relics. They carried the bags of carefully labeled dirt and artifacts up the cliff in backpacks.

To protect themselves from the limestone powder, the workers wore bandannas or dust masks over their mouths.

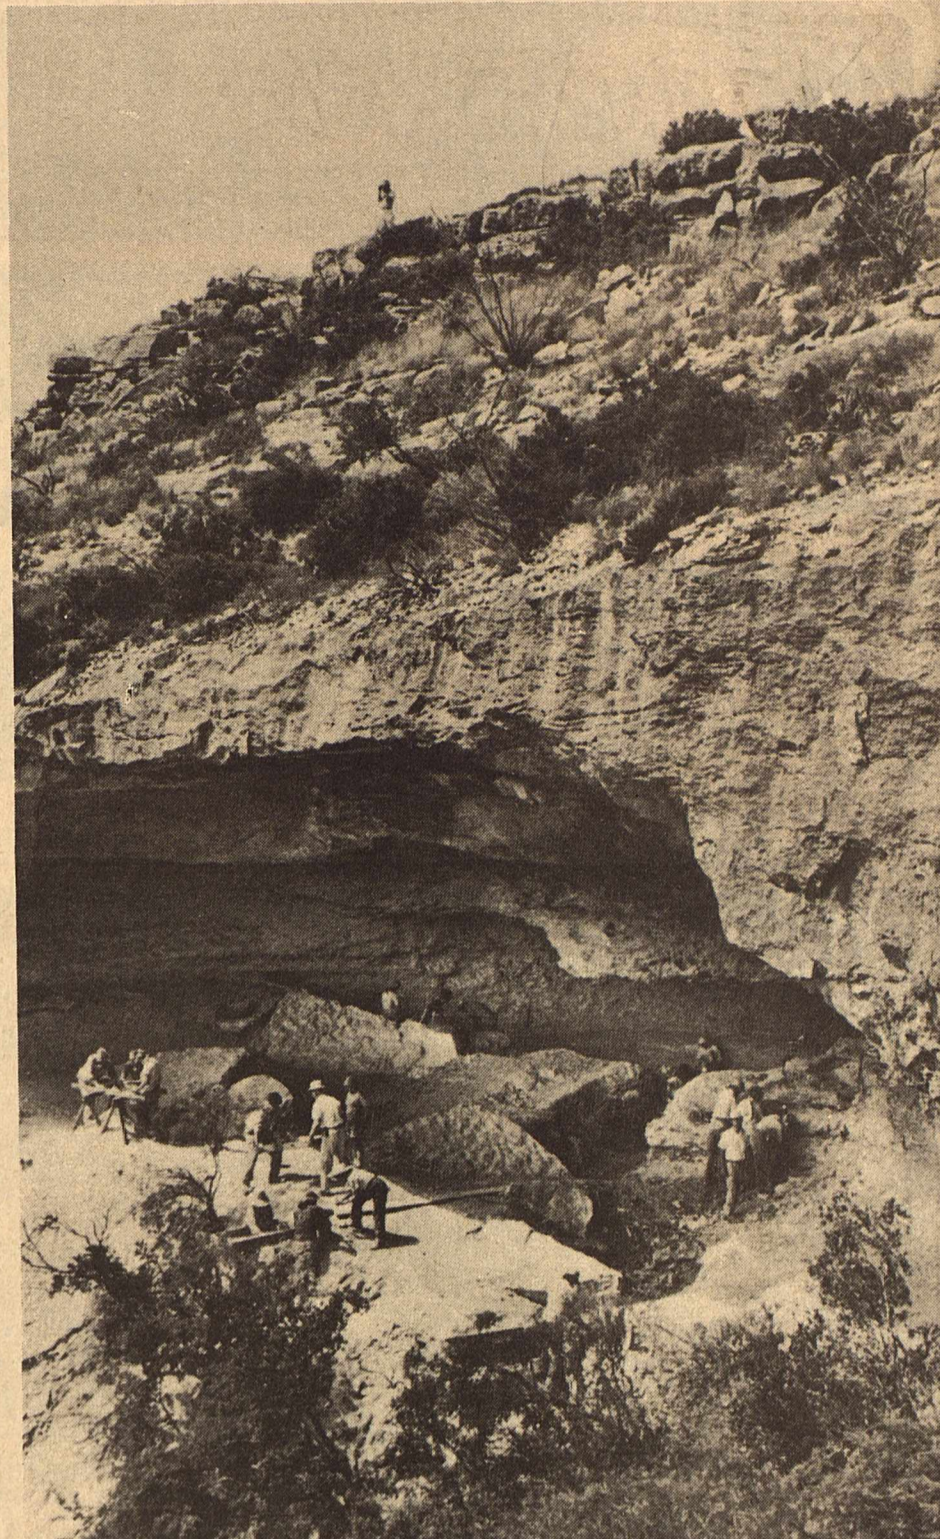

Their efforts will help eventually to reveal more about the hunting and gathering people who inhabited the rock shelter.

"These Indians were similar to the Coahuilteans who live in south Texas," said Dr. Hester. "We doubt that they had any sophisticated tribal organization. They probably traveled in family groups."

Dr. Hester speculates that one or two family groups—probably never more than 15 people—lived in the rockshelter at one time.

"We hope to learn more about their seasonal inhabitations from analysis of the food remains," said Dr. Hester. "Food would have been too scarce for the Indians to live in the rockshelter year-round. They had to travel to follow the food supply."

The food remains in the 7,000 B.C. layer include walnuts, seeds and fishbones, indicating that the Excavations have been conducted recently at Baker Cave in Val Verde County in southwest Texas. The archaeologists are piecing together the lifestyle of the prehistoric Indians who inhabited the rock shelter 9,000 years ago. It is one of the best preserved rock shelters in the U.S.

Junior Class News

By Terri Simpler

The Sonora High School Junior Class is now selling tickets for a .30-.30 Winchester Rifle and a Ladies Digital Timex watch to be given away at 8 p.m., during the Halloween Carnival October 30. Tickets are $2 each. A stuffed toy tiger and a Tonka Toy tractor will also be given away. Tickets may be purchased for 50c.

Also at the carnival, the Juniors are going to have a car bash. They're adding a new twist to it however, by painting the names of various area football rivalries on it with varied prices according to the team. Everyone come and take revenge on your least favorite football team. And to add something new to the carnival this year there is going to be a "Great Pumpkin" it's a sort of jail in which you can be thrown into by the witch and her little goblin helpers if someone puts a warrant out on you. But if you don't want to stay in the Pumpkin and miss all the fun of the carnival, you can post a bond and get out. And so you won't be thrown in the Pumpkin again, you can purchase a "Stay Out of Jail All Night" ticket. So if there's someone you really would like to see in jail, put a warrant out on them at the carnival.

The Junior Mum and Pom sales for the Sonora-Kermit game is now going on until noon of Oct. 22. There are two prices of mums.

$5.00 - which is a large mum with a bow, with a decoration in the center of the mum.

$8.00 - which is a large mum with streamers with a football or helmet and decoration in the center of the mum.

The Poms are selling for $2.00. They are a small mum with a decoration in the center.

So everyone buy a mum for your Moms and Best Girls and a Pom for your Dads and Best guys.

Up To Date With Cadettes

By Tonya Ridgeway
On the week of October 6, 1976 the Cadettes met once again at the Scout Hut. In this meeting we discussed the trip to Six-Flags and it was announced that Bible Welders had given the idea of calling other oil companies and asking for donations.

The following companies gave donations of $75.00 dollars to $20.00 dollars. Bible Welders gave $50.00 plus transportation to and from San Angelo which added up to $75.00; Holloman Construction which added up to $75.00; Brown Electric, $50.00; W.S. Anderson, $50.00; Waterhole No. 9 $50.00; Hooper Trucking, $25.00; Industrial Supply, $25.00; Teaff Oil Company, $25.00; Ken Braden Chevrolet $25.00; Sonora Animal Hospital, $25.00; the new owners of Roadside Cafe, Olga and Chema Menchaca gave $22.00; Tim's Liquor, $20.00; and Adam Morris donated $10.00 and also was generous enough to make up the extra money that was needed for the trip.

Although we appreciated his offer, it was not needed because of the money raised at the carwash. Other individuals who donated $10.00 and less we really appreciate it. Thanks to the people of Sonora the Cadettes are proud to announce that we are planning to go to Six-Flags October 22.

Sonoran's Painting Included In New Art Publication

Reproduction of a Mondel Rogers painting owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vestel Askew of Sonora is included in a new book, "Old Ranches of the Texas Plains," published by the Texas A&M University Press. The book features 80 paintings, including 57 in full color, by Rogers, a resident of Sweetwater. "Old Ranches of the Texas Plains" is the first publication in the Joe and Betty Moore Texas Art Series. Mr. and Mrs. Moore, of Austin and Midland, made possible the list of art books interpreting the various regions of Texas with a $75,000 gift to Texas A&M's new scholarly press last year. Moore is a 1938 Texas A&M graduate and was president of its alumni association in 1974. Mr. and Mrs. Askew's painting is a dry brush watercolor entitled "Survivor of Old Tascosa."

To the Citizens of Sutton County

I hope to be your Sheriff-Tax Assessor/Collector for another term after the November 2 General Election.

The added trouble of writing in Pryce Taylor, in the write-in column on the General Election ballot could be compensated for by electing a Sheriff who knows the people, all the time, and is willing and available at any time.

Your one vote could elect a Sheriff who knows the value of the tax-payers' dollar, and the needs of the people.

I don't want a position!
I want a job!

Indications are that the new E-Pill gives quick and effective results to as high as 4 out of 5 people (80%) who have used it. Some people report no great change but feel the high potency of vitamin E in the pill does quickly make them feel better from a general health standpoint. Other reports also show it tends to "lessen daily tension and give a more relaxed, happier outlook on life."

Elementary School News

D.A.V. Group Holds Meeting

The Elementary School this year will be participating in the Halloween Carnival not only by our presence but also by sponsoring some booths. We have not officially settled on a booth at this writing but when we do, I hope that we can count on our parents to help support our effort. We will send a note home by our students when more information is available.

This Friday, October 22, 1976, school will be dismissed at 1:15 P.M. for all grades.

Along with learning a varied repertoire of songs, the elementary music students are learning new skills and ideas about music.

Kindergartners and first graders are learning to feel the beat of music by chanting or singing music rhymes and clapping or moving with the beat. Some favorites are Charlie Over the Water, Rub-a-dub, and Hickory Dickory Dock.

Second and third grade classes have been learning about the different instruments when they listen to a recording.

Fourth and fifth grade classes are studying how music affects them through each of its different parts and melody, rhythms, harmony, form, and tone color. In addition the fifth grade classes are studying the notation of music.

Third, fourth and fifth grade classes have one dance day a week. During the lesson, the students get a chance to dance some of the traditional folk dances and square dances. Dancing is important in music because it helps to develop rhythmic coordination and musical expression.

For several years the kindergarten classes have been going to the high school homemaking department to make ginger bread men. Last week two of our classes enjoyed this experience and the other two classes will in the near future.

The kindergarten children experience many things that they would not be able to experience in the regular classroom. The first day the children handled the dough, cut out the cookies and decorated them. They were then able to watch them bake in a glass door oven. The next day they ate the gingerbread men and heard the story "The Ginger Bread Man" told in both English and Spanish.

The homemaking I classes are studying child development and by observing and working with kindergarten children, they get first hand experience in child care.

Our children received a treat Thursday afternoon and Friday by working in larger groups and meeting new friends. They were supervised by Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Surber and Mrs. Roberts. The regular kindergarten teachers were busy at work on a new curriculum guide for kindergarten. The guide will benefit students this year and students in years to come.

Our rooms are getting more colorful everyday with Halloween approaching. We are looking forward to learning "measurements" with our Halloween cooking experiences.

Second graders have been busy this week using new supplies that have recently arrived. One item they especially enjoy using is the listening center. These centers are most useful in our reading program and make learning more enjoyable for children.

The children are also having fun reading the new library books we received.

We have learned about Christopher Columbus by writing stories and making art projects, such as folded paper boats, murals and creative imaginative drawings depicting the newly discovered land.

Halloween will soon be upon us. The students are caught up in the excitement and anticipation of this holiday, as the rooms are becoming decorated and spooky stories are being read.

The Disabled American Veterans Organization met Sunday, October 17 at the home of Mrs. Oralia Hernandez with 21 members in attendance. Cake, sandwiches and coffee were served. Anyone interested in becoming a member of the D.A.V. organization should contact Commander Roman Sanchez or Adjutant Claudio Flores.
