Krueger Introduces Bill To Answer Gas Crisis

Congressman Bob Krueger (D-Tex) has introduced new legislation in Congress designed to end the continuing problem of natural gas curtailments and resulting shortages throughout the United States. The bill also contains emergency provisions to assist the FPC in meeting current crises throughout the Nation.

"Unfortunately, we cannot do a great deal about the current situation," Krueger said, "but we can take some emergency action, so long as we couple that action with long-term deregulation of new natural gas. This is the only real solution to these recurring shortages."

Krueger's bill proposes that "distressed pipelines" which cannot presently obtain gas to serve high priority customers, be permitted to make emergency purchases of natural gas at market prices wherever excess supplies of natural gas are available in the intrastate market. The bill insulates currently unregulated marketers of such gas from other requirements of the Natural Gas Act, however. "One of the bill's most important provisions," Krueger added, "is its statutory mandate for priority use of gas for agriculture, including fertilizer production and food processing."

The Texas legislator encouraged other members of Congress to support his legislation, stating, "The American people expect and deserve no less than Congressional action to guarantee them an adequate supply of natural gas for residential heating and industrial purposes."

Census Count Reports 4,670

The United States Department of Commerce, Bureau of Census, has advised County Judge J.W. Elliott that the preliminary count for the special census of Sutton County had been recorded as 4,670 as of January 6.

The population as of April 1, 1970 was 3,175.

While this figure is preliminary and subject to review, it is believed to be substantially correct. There may be residents of the county who have been omitted from this count, and if you are, or suspect you have not been counted, please complete the census form contained elsewhere in this newspaper and mail it to the office of Judge Elliott.

It is important to the county to have an accurate count of the population. These extra counts will be mailed to Washington February 10 and any forms mailed after that date will not be counted.

4-H Food Show Saturday

Competition is set for 1 p.m.

Food entry exhibits will be on display for the public at 3 p.m., according to Sarah Mahon, Assistant County Extension Agent-at-Large.

Youth ages 14-18 will compete in the senior division, while the junior division contest involves ages 11-13. The preteen division includes the 9 and 10 year olds and the beginner division includes 7-8 year olds.

Jr. Hi News

by Kay Holdridge
The first trophy of the 1976-77 school year was won by the seventh grade girls as they won the Ozona tournament January 15. Coach Marsha Patton's team began their drive to the championship as they defeated Iraan by a 27-17 count. Sandi Wright led the scorers with 15 points while Tonya Ridgeway added 8 and Jessica Robledo had 4. The girls scored 41 points to beat Ozona out of the tournament crown while allowing 34 points defensively. Robledo popped for 26 points, Ridgeway had 6, and Angie Bautista netted 1.

Robledo was Sonora's high point for the tourney as she combined for 32. In the seventh grade boys' bracket, the Sonora Colts under the rein of Coach David Patton won the consolation title. The boys lost their first game, but bounced right back to win the consolation game against Ozona. Scores and scorers were unavailable. Both the boys' and girls' seventh grade teams were victorious against McCamey in last Monday night games. The boys poured 34 points into the basket while a stingy defense led by Joe David Favila allowed only 15. Allen Stewart led with 14 points while Armando Martinez was right behind him with 12. Scott Savell and Perry Don Draper finished the total with 4 points each. Coach David Patton said that teamwork was the key to the overwhelming victory. The seventh grade girls won a heartstopper and they squeezed by McCamey by a 34-33 margin. Wright and Robledo tied for high point honors with 16 points each. Ridgeway added two more to the winning cause. The eighth grade teams were also in action against McCamey, but McCamey avenged their seventh grade losses. The Badgerettes handed the girls a close 26-25 defeat and the boys lost by 8 as McCamey outscored them 26-38. Johnny Doan scored 11 points to pace the Colts and Tommy Burch and Ronald Berkley had 6 and 4 respectively. Coach Oliver Wuest attributed rebounding and hustle as the high points in the game while low percentage shots were weak elements in the game. Gary Minatra was lost when he moved to Abilene and will be missed by the Colt quintuplet.

Annabelle Gonzalez led the girls with 17 points through the McCamey defense and Stacy Chandler and March Lane each tallied 4.

In the eighth grade Ozona tournament held last weekend, both teams were awarded consolation wins. The girls lost their first game against the host team by a 27-19 difference, as did the boys. Gonzales again put the ball in the hoop more times than her teammates and scored 16 points. Chandler added 1 and a transfer student, Cody Gold netted 2. The girls easily defeated Big Lake by a 31-10 margin. Gonzales was injured early in the contest, but Chandler took up the slack and poured in 16 points. Lane had 9. Johnnie Myers capped the score with 1.

The jr. high was treated to a Walt Disney movie, Brother of the Wind, from 10 a.m.-12 p.m. Tuesday morning. A 25c admission charge was collected to defray the expense of the film.

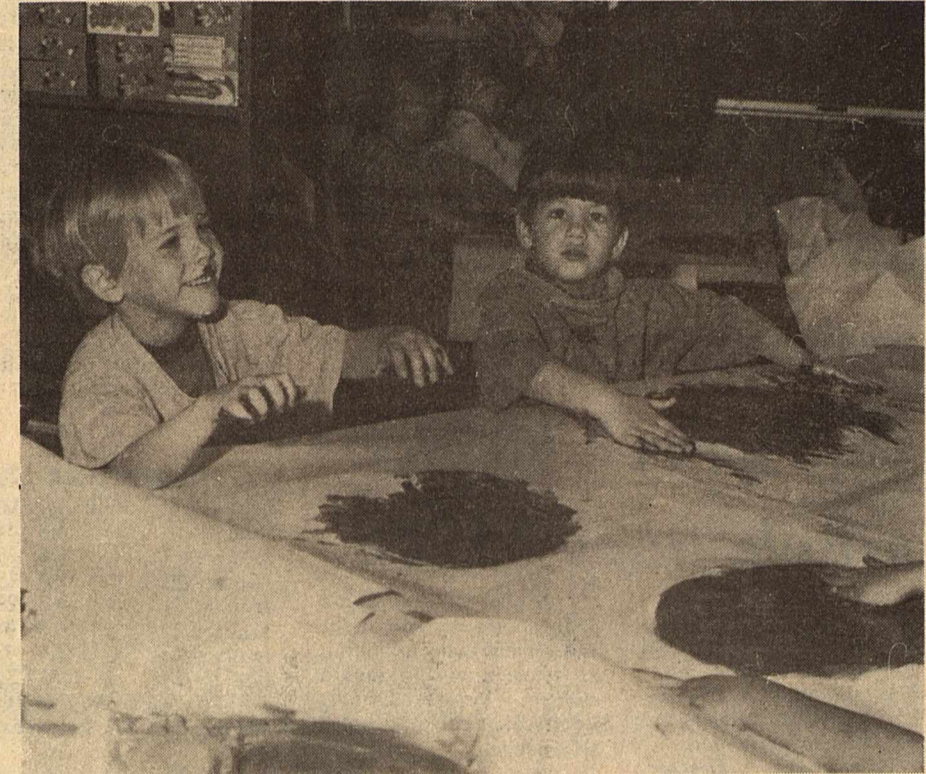

The Spanish Club II spent an enjoyable day in San Antonio viewing sites showing the Spanish influence on the state of Texas. The trip was funded by monies made from an after school bake sale. 17 wide eyed junior highers boarded the bus at 6:00 Saturday, January 8 and enjoyed a full day of history and fun. The students were accompanied by the art teacher Miss Anne Cowley and club sponsor Mrs. Kay Holdridge. The club is grateful for the support shown by Sonorans that allows the club to go each quarter without expense to the students.

The National Jr. Honor Society will sponsor a dance open to Jr. High students only on February 18 at the 4-H center. The student body will dance to taped music and will possibly be entertained by the Sonora High School Stage Band under the directorship of Mr. Ed Martinez.

Sonora Minister Speaks

Jeremiah 23:1-2
Woe be unto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture! saith the Lord. Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel against the pastors that feed my people; ye have scattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not visited them; behold, I will visit upon you the evil of your doings, saith the Lord. We as ministers of God and this great gospel that we preach, have a great responsibility. God has set you and I over his flock to lead and be an example. If we are weak, our flock is weak, if we are strong in faith, our sheep are strong. They are looking to you and me, as pastor. If we have a good prayer life and fast, like we should, then our people will have a good prayer life. There is a saying, "That your people are as spiritual as their pastor". Preacher, God has warned us not to lead his sheep astray. Are we setting the right example? Are we living the life before them? Are we measuring up to what God expects? As his ministers of the Gospel that we preach, are we lining up and living the life of Christ? Jesus is coming. We don't have long to work, Pastor. Rev. K.R. Doyle, Sr. Sonora Tabernacle United Pentecostal Church

A Bishop Looks At Life

By Everett H. Jones
Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church
WHAT MADE GERT BEHANNA SUCH A PERSON?

One of the great blessings I have had in my life was my friendship with the late Gertrude Behanna, who died in Northfield, Minn., last December 8th at the age of 82.

Gert (this is what she wanted everyone to call her) told the story of her life in a best-seller called "The late Liz", which was also made into a motion picture. She told the same story in person to untold thousands in an incredibly active ministry covering almost thirty years, and it is now available as a cassette.

Her story is that of a woman who lived in luxury and also in confusion, misery and despair until she was 53 years old. At that time she found God and her life was transformed. She spent the rest of her days telling others what God had done for her-- and what He could do for them.

I have been asking myself, since her recent death, "What gave this woman her remarkable power over those who knew and heard her?"

She believed with all her heart that no one was beyond God's saving power. She believed this because it was proved in her own life and in countless other lives she had known.

She believed in miracles because she herself was a miracle. She was an ardent member of Alcoholics Anonymous, and she said that in an A.A. meeting every chair was occupied by a miracle.

She believed we should never give up on anyone, not even ourselves.

"Christianity isn't something you do," she said. "It's something you allow to be done to you. All you must do is to accept."

The turning point in her own life came when she had been thru three marriages and an attempted suicide. A friend who was a Christian said to her: "Gert, you have a lot of troubles. Why don't you turn them over to God?" Gert said no one had ever before used the word God to her except in profanity. It was the beginning of a new life.

She believed profoundly in the power of love and she radiated a Christ-like love toward others. She could look at a person and make him know he was loved, that he was accepted and forgiven, that he was important to God.

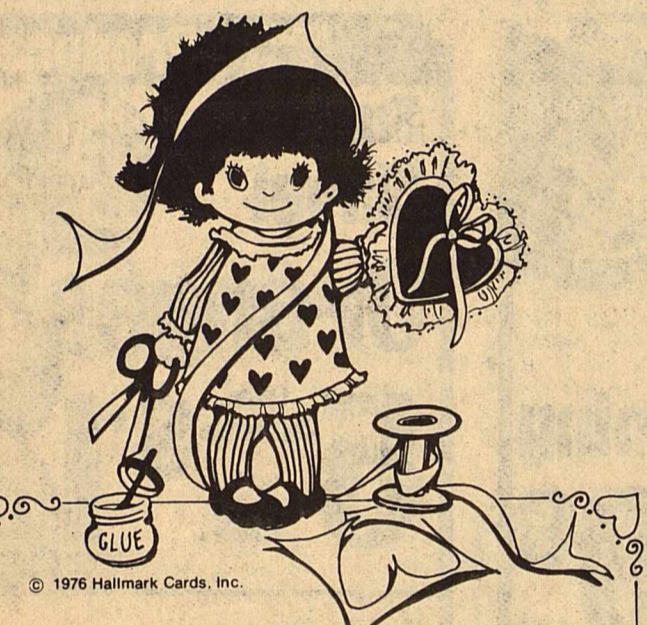

Gert's burial service was held in Carleton College Chapel, in Northfield, where her son, Dr. Hardwell Smith is chairman of the Department of Religion. However, for the benefit of her many friends in this area, a memorial service for her will be held in Christ Episcopal Church, San Antonio, on Saturday morning January 22, at 11 o'clock.

COLDS

People get an average of three colds per year and spend more than $735 million trying to find relief, a federal report shows. Yet none of the 35,000-50,000 cold and cough preparations on the market actually can cure the common cold.

The Texas Medical Association (TMA) says a doctor cannot cure common colds and should be called mainly if there is a fever over 101 degrees for more than 24 hours, bloody discharge from nose or mouth, persistent chest pains, earache, severe or long lasting sore throat or persistent cough. A doctor also should be contacted if a normally healthy person has a cold for more than a week or two. Of course people with other illnesses may need medical attention if they even get the sniffles since colds can complicate other

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Three-quarters of a million residential fires will occur throughout the nation this year, with 300,000 Americans to be injured, and 8,000 of those dying. Property damage will range in the billions of dollars for all fires.

But you can minimize the chances for injury or property loss by fire, say our Consumer Protection Division lawyers.

Experts recommend the following steps. One is to be sure all members of your family know exactly what to do in case a fire breaks out. You should have regular drills with escape routes planned in advance, preferably ways that don't involve opening bedroom doors. Fire experts recommend sleeping with closed bedroom doors, because a closed door can hold back heat and poisonous gasses, giving more escape time. If you suspect fire, never open a door to check. Instead, touch the door frame with your hand. If it's hot, leave it closed, and use another way to get out of the room.

Always get out of the house as quickly as possible, never stopping to look for papers or other valuables. Arrange for family members to meet at a certain location in the yard. Call the fire department from a neighbor's, and never go back into a burning home for anything—not even family pets, fire safety officials urge.

It goes without saying that you should guard against three classic examples of carelessness that can multiply your chances of fire losses: smoking in bed, cleaning with gasoline or other flammable liquids, and leaving children alone at home.

You can also reduce risks of home fires by installing fire detection devices that can warn you of fire dangers. There are two types of home detection devices marketed—heat detectors and smoke detectors. Heat detectors alone have been found to be essentially useless for homes.

That's because most home fires may smoke and smolder for quite a while before building up enough heat to trigger the alarm, sending out smoke and gasses that can overcome you and your sleeping family. Ideally, a home would have a smoke detector between sleeping areas of the house, providing protection against both rapidly developing high heat fires and slow smoldering ones.

However, if cost precludes such a combination detection system, the best protection for most home fires, according to safety experts, is a smoke detector. There are two basic kinds of smoke detectors: ionization models and photoelectric models. In photoelectric models, a small electric light bulb shines on a photosensitive cell. If smoke from a fire interrupts the light beam, the alarm goes off.

Ionization models contain a very small radioactive source that gives light inside the unit enough electrical charge to complete a circuit. If smoke particles break the circuit, the alarm is set off.

There are advantages to each type, and it's a good idea to check with your local fire department to find out the pro's and con's of the devices. Then shop for smoke detectors as for any other consumer product: get brochures on different brands, then you should guard against three classic examples of carelessness that can multiply your chances of fire losses: Be sure the unit you select can be tested monthly by blowing smoke at it, or by lighting a match nearby. Also, make sure the device won't give false alarms every time you start a fire in the fireplace or broil steaks in the kitchen. And don't buy from a door-to-door salesperson until you have comparison-shopped at local stores. Remember, too, that detectors you can cancel a door-to-door sale for $25 or more within three business days.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is working on a program to allow more cold and cough drugs to be sold without prescriptions and strengthen some ingredients already in over-the-counter drugs. Doing so may increase some of these drugs' abilities to relieve cold symptoms. However, people must be increasingly careful not to misuse these products.

The Texas Pharmaceutical Association says many cold medications can cause dizziness, drowsiness, hazy thinking and other side effects, especially if combined with alcoholic beverages. Allergies to certain drugs also cause reactions. People allergic to aspirin should be especially careful to read labels since many products contain the drug. In fact, reading labels and following directions is vitally important for all drugs.

Non-prescription drugs also can cause bad reactions if they interfere with prescription drugs. Advice should be sought about using both types of drugs together. People with heart disease, high blood pressure, thyroid disease, diabetes, glaucoma and several other conditions also need advice on non-prescription drugs.

Almost all drugs can be harmful if over-used but nose sprays and drops present particular problems. The drugs can cause nasal congestion, the same problem they are designed to relieve, TMA says. Nasal membranes malfunction and swell when they are continuously chemically activated. People get "hooked" on sprays and may have sinus headaches, loss of smell and taste, or high blood pressure, as well as nasal problems. Many individuals have no lasting complications after they quit using the drugs for a few days.

Sheep & Goat Industry News

Why is it that an industry enjoying, overall, the highest profits it has ever seen, is facing the danger of extinction due to severely declining production? And why is it that the industry's leaders have found it necessary to encourage production above every other concern, when economics principles tell us that shortages lead to even higher prices?

The oil and gas industries have certainly reaped the profits of shortages in the last few years and it would seem that American sheep producers would follow the lead of the world's largest money-makers, wouldn't they? Not necessarily. In fact, sheep producers have been leading the energy people in the shortage field during the last few years, but with the opposite ultimate effect.

The industry is in a paradoxical and potentially dangerous position, due to just such shortages. Meetings of sheep producers and sheep product promoters in recent times have been monopolized, for the most part, not by exultations over generally favorable lamb and wool prices, but by predictions of severe future crises.

The basic for such predictions is the simple fact that, faced with too severe a shortage of a particular product or market, consumers and service groups will find alternate products to consume, or markets to serve. At a time when synthetic fibers promise to become too expensive for extensive use, wool, an extremely efficient natural fiber, could provide an outstanding replacement. Manufacturers, however, openly question the strength of supply and could turn to alternate fibers.

Lamb, the other major product of the sheep industry, is rapidly becoming a specialty item. A number of complicated factors are responsible for the overall decline in lamb consumption; one absurd-sounding, but surprisingly important contribution to the decline was heavy consumption during the Pacific campaign of World War II. American sailors were essentially "burned out" on large amounts of rather gamey Australian lamb ineptly prepared by Navy cooks. Family dietary habits tend to be passed down, and an entire generation of Americans have grown up without lamb on the table. Crazy, but it's true.

Lamb today is confined, for the most part, to ethnic and seasonal consumption. Even at that, large portions of the individual carcass are not utilized, greatly increasing the retail price of the portions that are sold and enhancing the feeling among dealers that they are providing a special service to their customers, rather than simply marketing a form of red meat. Add to these pricing pressures a shortage of supply, and it is easy to see how lamb could lose its place on meat counters.

So much for cries of doom and gloom. On the brighter side, sheep producers, through their representative and promotion groups such as the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, have been engaged in long and objective looks at their own situation.

Educational seminars and research experiments have made it possible to increase lamb crops, lower labor demands, judge market pressures and otherwise update an ancient industry. Industry cooperation has made it feasible to fight arbitrary governmental decisions and to present an accurate picture of the needs and potentials of sheep and sheep production.

Sheep producers have found that they can reserve the trend toward decline and extinction—that cooperation is the key, now more than ever.

Aluminum Cans

Bring 2¢ Increase
A 2c per pound increase in the price paid for all-aluminum beverage cans by the Edwards Distributing Company, the Pearl Beer distributor in Rocksprings, has been announced.

Effective immediately, all distributors in Pearl's statewide environmental program will pay 17c per pound for used all-aluminum beverage cans. Edwards Distributing, which is owned and operated by Walter Thurman, operates an all-aluminum can collection center at the distributorship, 407 Wells St. According to Lee Birdsong of San Antonio, president of Pearl, the price increase will make recycling more attractive and profitable for many Texans.

"We have consistently increased the number of Texans who have participated in the recycling program since it started in 1973," Birdsong said. "We anticipate that by going to 17c per pound, a greater number of Texans will find it profitable to collect and sell all-aluminum beverage cans to local Pearl distributors."

Wool and Mohair Report

There is so little wool and mohair available in the U.S. at this time, it is difficult to determine the market. Carryover amounts of both wool and mohair are probably the lowest on record as of January 1. So it will be a few weeks before we can determine the market trends accurately.

We have had an opportunity to visit with some wool people the past few weeks. Everyone reports good business with all of the natural fibers. Most of the wool mills are running wide open - particularly in the woolen trade. Some of the worst mills have room for more orders, but most plants are running around the clock.

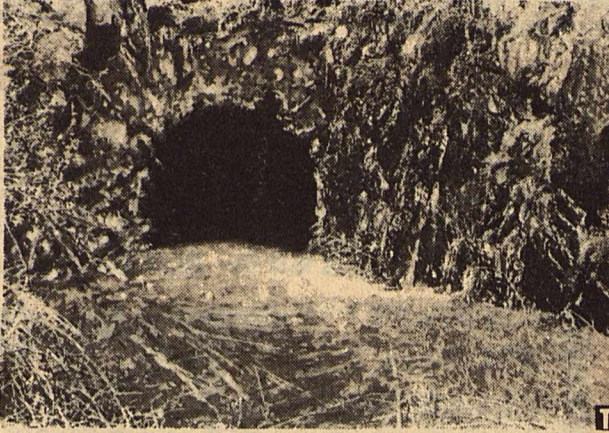

Some Angora goat shearing has taken place this past week. It looks like we will offer some mohair for sale next week to test the market. Results will be made available as soon as prices are known.

We visited with our correspondent in Port Elizabeth, South Africa last week. He said their weather has been very hot and dry in the goat country and quite a bit of their mohair has already come in. He stated that the kid hair is dusty and short and is a big disappointment to them, but that the adult and yearling is good. They look for the market to stay firm through the first half of 1977. Their first sale is scheduled for March 1, 1977 with about 2200 bales to be offered.

BUILDING A BETTER WORLD

"Miracle" Tunnel Designated A Landmark

THE CROZET TUNNEL—This 4,273 foot tunnel, completed in 1858, represents the culmination of civil engineering technology when based on manual drilling methods. It was the longest railroad tunnel in the United States and was designed and built by Claude Crozet.

If you built tunnels in the sand as a child, you may remember digging on one side while your friend dug on the other and you both hoped your hands would meet in the center.

Well, Virginia's Crozet Tunnel, completed in 1858, was built something like that but on a much larger scale—the tunnel is 4,273 feet long. Designed and built by Claude Crozet, a French-born civil engineer, the tunnel, located in Rockfish Gap, Virginia, was considered something of a minor miracle and it has been recently designated a National Historic Civil Engineering Landmark by the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Through its linkage with the Ohio River Basin and Southern Ports, it greatly facilitated the development of ocean-borne commerce in the South.

The tunnel was built during a period of ridicule and insult for Crozet with people betting large amounts of money that the workmen

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Outdoorsmen, particularly campers, are constantly confronted with a rust problem. Hammers, saws, pliers, machetes, knives and all other metallic objects made of iron or steel demand frequent attention.

These items are protected from moisture by a surface coat of wax, silicone, paint or oil. However, as these coatings wear off, from frequent use, they must be treated again and again.

Dampness in the air, dew, rain and spray all create rust. Saltwater spray and the saltwater itself are, of course, most damaging.

Perspiration, because it is slightly acidic, is another cause of rust. All perspiration marks and other dampness should be wiped from any iron or steel items to keep them rust-free and in perfect working order.

Tools and other like equipment should be stored in warm areas when possible. Maximum protection against rust is achieved by applying a thin coating of oil to the metal, from time to time. Wrapping the object in a soft oily rag is an excellent idea. Sewing-machine oil is preferred, but any type of lubricating oil will do in an emergency, as will vaseline. Just don't overdo it. A thin coating is all that is necessary.

Other items to be so treated should include all firearms. These should be wiped clean after every outing and another thin coat of oil or silicone applied immediately. Then by wrapping each firearm separately in a soft, oil-treated rag, preservation is certain. If wrapped and stored in a gun case, in a warm area, don't zip the case tight. Leave room for a little warm air to penetrate.

Tools heavily coated with rust should be given a wire brush following a good soaking in a liquid rust solvent. Solvent will loosen the rust deposits so that the brush scrubbing need not be so severe as to damage the underlying metal.

If rusty tools, such as pliers and scissors can be disassembled and each part treated separately, rust removal will be easier, more complete, and more effective. Once the unit is thoroughly cleaned apply a coat of silicone to each part and reassemble.

It's a good idea to completely empty the tool box from time to time and clean it thoroughly. Then spray the inside with WD 40. Before replacing the items taken from the tool box, spread a clean, soft oily rag in the bottom of the tool box.

Rust remover, nut and bolt loosener and a little oil come in mighty handy around both the campsite and the garage. If you don't think so just forget some time and leave your axe, hammer, pliers or screwdriver outdoors overnight—and you'll find that you do.

Camping equipment and other hardware are expensive items these days. Give 'em all the loving care you can.

Mrs. Bill Whitehead called the group to order and lead the devotional.

Mrs. Paul Terry was named president of the group, with Mrs. Edwin Sawyer named vice president; Mrs. Joe Hull, secretary; Mrs. Jim Kimbrell, treasurer, and Mrs. Mickey Powers, group program leader.

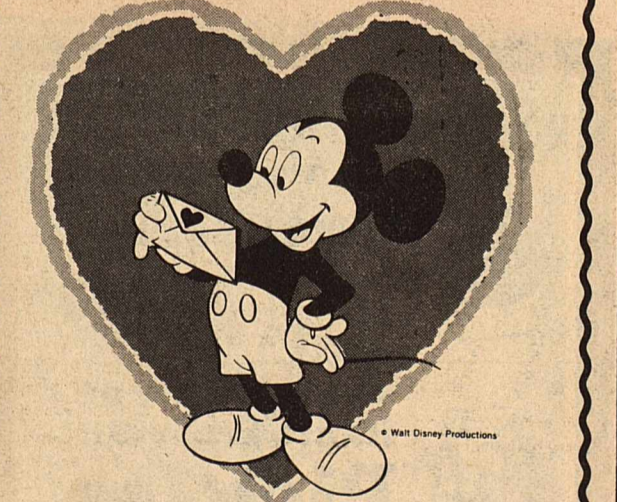

In business of the group, they planned the year's work for 1977. Their program was entitled "Pledge Service".

Mrs. Terry presented an informative work schedule for the membership. The next meeting of the group will be held February 16 at 3 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Hattie Epps.

FACTS & FIGURES

There are about 45,000 young men and women in America who are members of the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. They earn about $1,300 while on active duty and a minimum of $643.23 a year for working one weekend a month and two weeks a year with the corps.

Mount Everest is exactly 29,000 feet high. Surveyors worried that the public would consider this an estimate, so they falsely reported the height as 29,002 feet.

Polo Cervantes, Jr., recently obtained certification as a registered professional engineer in the State of Texas. He is a 1971 graduate of the Texas A&M University and is employed by Southwestern Bell as a project engineer in Galveston. He is the son of Polo Cervantes of Sonora and Mrs. Irene Cervantes of Garland.

There are goats in Tennessee and Mississippi that actually fall into a dead faint at any loud sound—a thunderclap, an engine starting up, even the clatter of a feed bucket. The cause is not cowardice, however, but an inherited nerve disorder.

Dee's Notes

by Dee Nevill

Mobile homes belonging to teachers which have been parked on school property have been relocated at J&V Mobile Home Park with the exception of the David Patton's which will be moved to land north of the Pattons several months past. The large lot, across from Kerbow Funeral Home, will be used by the school in construction of a vocational building where instruction will be given in the trades and building industry to those students interested.

GIRLS in the Foods and Nutrition program of 4-H will participate in the Sutton County 4-H Food Show, Saturday, January 29, beginning at 1 p.m., at the 4-H Center. The community is invited to view the foods prepared by the young women and attend judging. PARK BOARD meeting is scheduled Thursday at 7 p.m., at the fire hall. The public is invited. Purpose of the meeting is to formulate plans for election of new officers and discuss the baseball program which should begin soon.

Tennis courts at Community Park are being worked on when the weather cooperates. Cub Scouts are doing some of their merit badge work in construction projects at the park. New cubmaster is the Rev. Jim Miles, pastor of Church of the Good Shepherd, Presbyterian. Boys interested in Scout work should contact him.

WE ARE PLEASED to report that Sam Odom, who had heart surgery in San Antonio, is home doing real well. J. T. Simpler, who also underwent heart surgery, remains in Methodist Hospital in San Antonio, but is improved. West Texas Blood Services are working on blood replacement for Sam...more about this later for those who might wish to donate blood. Curry Motor Freight carrier is George S. Schwiening, who replaces Sam, who no longer has the freight service. SUTTON COUNTY 4-H Show and Sale was a whopping success! County Agent Clint Langford said he believes it was the best crowd ever...many folks were concerned about the sales due to the Fling Ding weekend coming up at the same time, but as Clint said, "sometimes problems are opportunities"...and folks did turn out. Fifty-three 4-H lambs sold for an average of $160, total sales, $8,480. The bulk of this money goes to the participants; however, there is a ceiling price and all over goes to 4-H program work.

CHINESE AUCTION brought in $5,694, largest since 1959. Boot ticket sales were $513, and this money pays for the 4-H Ball. This is the method used by 4-H'ers to meet cost of their entertainment. Lifetime residents of Sutton County, Florence and Haynie Davis donated cost of the newly constructed meeting room at the 4-H Center.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE organization is most pleased to congratulate all participants on their outstanding achievements, and a sincere appreciation to all who helped to make this 4-H sale one of the most successful in showmanship and sales in Sutton County 4-H history!

OUR SINCERE SYMPATHY to the Kirby and Necessary families in their tragic losses last week. Our prayers for both of these families.

HAD A NICE VISIT last week with Vern Skarke of West Side Lions of San Angelo, who was here visiting the local Lions. He is a candidate for District Governor of District 2-A-1 which has a total of 76 Lions Clubs. Skarke is with Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Company in San Angelo.

SUTTON COUNTY population count was 4,670 we hear, which is considerably up from the '70 census count, but lower than what many folks estimated. Breakdown in the city count will be available later from the official U.S. Census, with final figures to be released by County Judge J.W. Elliott.

GIRL SCOUTS and Brownie Troops are a lot more comfortable these days thanks to Sonora Lions and Firemen, who have completed payment of major repairs at the Girl Scout Hall. We appreciate these two organizations for the many civic services they render.

THERE WAS a long conversation with a gentleman from Ohio, who would like to move to Sonora...when quiered about fuel shortages in Ohio, he replied, "heck, here we have a shortage of everything". He also noted that if the temperature rises above 32 degrees, they believe they are having a heat wave...so take courage...guess we aren't so cold after all! FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH...I took doc's advice on how to lose fat; but the trouble is I don't lose where it's at!
