Sonorans Meet With Dallas Film Producer

A special meeting of Sonora oil and gas producers was held last week with Dallas film and television producer Pearce H. Beneke to discuss a Permian Basin Petroleum Association sponsored project.

Beneke explained to the group the brief history of the American Oil and Gas Story (AOGS) Committee and the purpose of the film or television production.

"Our primary goal is to better inform the American public of all aspects of the oil and gas story, especially those areas relating to the independent operators," Beneke commented.

Research started in Sonora last week, and is expected to continue until mid-summer, when Beneke plans to have a film crew start filming on location in the Permian Basin.

"This is a comprehensive story, and we have to lay it out in story form that will get the audience to watch, then keep them watching and hold them through the film," Beneke added.

The producer has not decided what form the story will take...documentary, drama or series.

"Documentary is difficult to attract a wide audience," he continued, "drama might be the best form, and we know this subject is strong enough to be a continuing series."

The story will show the independent at work, starting with the lease and continuing to distribution.

Funding for the initial phases of the project is strictly voluntary from independent producers.

Donations ranging from $100 to $2,500 have come from ranchers, women's groups, independent operators, oil field equipment manufacturers and suppliers, dirt contractors, oil field haulers, well servicing companies and drilling contractors.

Beneke asked that producers with ideas for the story to keep in touch through Terry Clotiaux who has established an office in Midland and can be contacted at 684-0070.

Film producer Pearce Beneke [right] answers questions at last week's meeting in Sonora on the petroleum story to be filmed this summer. Sonora's Jim Cahill [center] hosted Beneke in his first visit to Sutton County. Terry Clotiaux [left] assistant producer, has established an office in Midland to coordinate the research.

Amoco To Increase Texas City Gas Refinery

Amoco Texas Refining Company said March 29 plans have been approved to increase the capacity of its Texas City, Tex., refinery by 47,000 barrels per day to 395,000 barrels daily.

Refinery Manager L.V. Durland indicated, however, that the project could be in doubt. When directors of Amoco's parent company, Standard Oil Company (Indiana), approved the multi-million dollar expansion project, Durland said, they were unaware of a bill before the Texas legislature to tax refinery feedstocks at 5 per cent of their market value.

Durland said the tax would impose an operating cost of an additional $172,000 a day, not calculated into the economics of the project. "I feel sure Amoco management will take another look at the feasibility of the project should the tax bill be passed," Durland said.

The proposed expansion would assist the company in meeting the growing demands of its customers for distillate fuels and gasoline. The low-sulfur, crude-running expansion project includes major additions to a pipestill and off-site support facilities such as storage, blending, and utility systems. Target date for completion would be 1979.

economic climate in Texas. The kind of financial burden proposed by the refinery tax certainly would alter that climate, he pointed out.

"Amoco management would take that additional cost into consideration when deciding whether future refinery expansion would occur at Texas City, or elsewhere," he wrote. Last summer the facility began processing its first high-sulfur crude oil following completion of a two-year modification program. The modification permits the refinery to increase its daily throughput of high-sulfur crude to nearly half of its current 348,000 barrel capacity.

A Bishop Looks At Life

by Everett H. Jones Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church
Why Is There So Much
Human Suffering?

If there is a good and loving God, why is there so much suffering in the world? Why do so many innocent people suffer as they do? Why did Christ have to suffer and be crucified?

These are questions people have asked thru the centuries. They belong in this Lenten series, especially as we come near to Holy Week.

They are not easy questions to answer. The wisest and deepest thinkers have admitted this. There is a mystery about the existence and distribution of suffering we have not solved--and perhaps we never shall!

But there are some things we can say which help us to accept suffering even when we do not understand it.

We cannot blame God for all the suffering we see around us. Much of it we bring on ourselves. We have the precious gift of freedom, but when we misuse our freedom there is a cost to pay. For example, in the area of illness, we bring on ourselves the suffering of alcoholism, drug addiction, and cancer due to excessive smoking. The Bible tells us "Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." We see this law of life at work both in individuals and in nations.

Have you ever asked yourself this question:

What would this world be like if by some magic all suffering were removed? Would that not mean the end of compassion, the end of man's dedicated concern to relieve the burdens of others? We are still proud and arrogant in the midst of a suffering world. What would we be like if life were all ease and pleasure?

Another question: Is it not true that the most valuable and most maturing experiences we have had in our individual lives have involved pain and suffering?

Christ did not explain the mystery of suffering but he clearly demonstrated God's purpose to share the tragedies of our life, to heal whenever possible, and to give comfort and strength wherever they are needed. Moreover, he allowed himself to suffer and die in order to identify himself completely with our total human experience. In doing so he showed once and for all that not all suffering is God's punishment. Jesus' holy and sinless life did not save him from the cross.

A final question: Why is the cross the central and most loved symbol of the Christian Faith? We do not think of it as a symbol of defeat but of victory, a victory in which we can share. It proves that God can use suffering for His purposes. It is our unforgettable reminder of His love for us; it makes us know how far He is willing to go to bring us to Himself.

HELPFUL HINTS ON HAVING A Healthy Garden

GROWING VEGETABLES
Growing vegetables is fast becoming a favorite pastime of amateur gardeners. It fights inflation and it's fun, and here are some tips from experts on how to do it in an expert way.

DON'T LET INSECTS BUG YOUR VEGETABLES—A good broad spectrum insecticide can protect your garden.

- 1. Be sure not to crowd your seedlings to give the entire crop room to grow. Radishes, lettuce and other leaf or root crops should be thinned when they're not quite their full height but are just good enough to eat. Beans should be thinned to about 3 inches apart when plants are 2 inches high. Pea plants should be planted 2 inches apart to grow either as bushes or vines.
- 2. Be sure to treat your vegetables for insect pests. Use an all-purpose insecticide evenly over the surface of the soil. One that is part of the Spectrum® line of home and garden products is Spectracide® Garden Insect Dust with Diazinon®. Spectracide controls many harmful insects. Immediately after spreading mix thoroughly with the soil to a depth of 6 to 8 inches. The application is a half-pound per 100 square feet of your own garden's bounty.

Sonora Minister Speaks

The new Worshipbook of our church contains a collection of prayers for Christian worship. There are the traditional prayers for unity, for times of tragedy, for conservation, for the dying. But, in addition to these, there are other, not so traditional prayers for public worship. These are prayers for addicts, for the divorced or separated, for criminals, racketeers, prisoners, and prostitutes. There is a prayer for social misfits.

I believe that in these prayers there is a very scripturally based message. All people, regardless of what they are, or what they have done, are his children, and he loves them, even when they have walked away in disobedience. Just as the father loved the prodigal son, so does God love his

Dee's Notes

by Dee Nevill

REMEMBER??—tomorrow, Wednesday is Secretaries Day, in fact this is Secretaries Week, so if you have forgotten you might be reminded to extend an especially cordial 'good morning' to your secretary Wednesday!

CONGRATULATIONS to Brenda Boyd and Stephen Terry who will advance to State finals in UIL Literary events following their achievements at Lubbock in Regional UIL competition last weekend...and to all SHS students who participated in the various events.

HEARTY congratulations to Pam Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Powers, who was named "All Around" at the Region II high school rodeo competition at Sul Ross University in competition held there last Saturday. Pam won four first-barrel racing, poles, roping and goat tying. She will advance to State finals in June.

LONG about now for the past several years, we begin to accept the 'spring forward' bit. If most of the folks you came in contact with Monday morn were yawning and grumpy, well, it takes time to recondition the body to loss of one hour's sleep.. unless you aren't ruled by the old tick tock. The most difficult part is trying to keep a 9 p.m. curfew in August—when it's still daylight! Dense as we are, will never understand the term 'Day-light Saving Time'...

TRUST you read George Carmack's feature story on the Caverns of Sonora in the San Antonio Express News April 16 edition. Photos were made by his wife, Bonnie. The article was well presented and informative. Did you know that the cave contains helicitites-crystal clear formations that grow out horizontally—straight out from a wall or from another formation? It is said only 10% of the world's caves have helicitites and Sonora Caverns are reported to have more than all the other caves of the U.S. combined! Carmack says most of that info is for cave experts—for most of us its best to see it through the believing eyes of childhood and let fantasy form the images for us to vision.

A copy of the article by the Carmacks is available at the Chamber office if you are interested in reading it. We also have a few Drill Bit magazines available.

OUR prayers for a speedy recovery for John Eaton, who had surgery at Shannon Hospital. He is reported to be doing very well, and is in Room 322. John and Ruth Lee should be returning to Sonora soon.

WE extend sympathy to the Moss and Wipff families in deaths of family members last week. LOCAL Girl Scouts and Brownie Troops participated in celebration of "Keep America Beautiful Week" last Saturday. About 75 girls (assisted by several mothers) turned out to clean the sunken garden area downtown and cleaned rocks off the rodeo arena at Community Park. It would be well for us to follow their example, and each of us do our part to help keep America beautiful! Thanks to all the girls and their mothers!

CHAMBER of Commerce officials plan to meet Monday noon, May 2, at the Big Tree Restaurant for a Dutch treat lunch and business session. The six new directors are asked to attend and anyone else who might like to do so is welcome. We are pleased to welcome Mrs. E.D. (Ruth) Shurley as a new member, and also Bruce and Jack Kerbow of Kerbow Funeral Home.

RAMBLINGS...remodeling and addition of a chapel is in progress at Kerbow Funeral Home. The Park Inn restaurant, at one time a haven for the 'early-birds' is presently closed. Work on location for Tim's Liquors and Perry Bros. should be completed soon, and HNG prepares move into new office. The Sonora Insurance Agency is getting a facelift, and work on FNB building is about out of the ground.

FOR what it's worth... Language specialists claim that the five sweetest phrases in English are: "I love you," "Dinner is served," "All is forgiven," "Sleep until noon," "Keep the change." There are those who choose to add: "You've lost weight!"

More than 150 roping teams entered the special calf roping contest held at the Sutton County rodeo arena last Sunday sponsored by the Sutton County Park Association. Roping teams put up entry money, which is used to pay winners, and the remainder is dedicated to the park fund. The next roping is scheduled for May 8, and there is no admission charge for spectators.

Tasty Tips from Checkerboard Kitchens

Strawberry Kuchen Combines Fruit And Cereal

Serve fresh-from-the-oven Strawberry Kuchen for your next coffee or for a lazy Sunday breakfast. Fruit and cereal have never been so good.

Strawberries add color and a delightful sweet taste to this quick coffee cake. A breakfast cereal, bite-size crispy rice squares, contributes unusual texture as well as good flavor. Finely crushed with a rolling pin or blender, it replaces part of the flour.

Strawberries are one of the many delights of late spring and early summer. Strawberry Kuchen is one of many ways you can enjoy them.

STRAWBERRY KUCHEN

- 1/3 cup and 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 1/4 cups sliced, fresh strawberries (about 3/4 pint)
- 2 1/2 cups Rice Chex cereal crushed to 2/3 cup
- 5 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1 egg
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 1/3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine 1/3 cup sugar and cornstarch. Add lemon juice and strawberries. Stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Heat and stir over medium heat until mixture becomes very thick and clear. Set aside. Preheat oven to 400°. Grease a 9-inch round pan. Combine cereal and butter. Beat in milk, egg and almond extract. (Mixture will be lumpy.) Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and 1/2 cup sugar. Add to liquid ingredients. Stir until moistened. Pour into pan. Drop strawberry mixture by teaspoons over top of batter. Cut through with knife 2-3 times. Bake 25-30 minutes or until top is golden brown. Cool. If desired, pipe glaze over top of cake.

GLAZE: Combine 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar, 1 tablespoon warm water, 1 1/2 teaspoons light corn syrup and 1/4 teaspoon vanilla. Makes 1 coffee cake.

Energy: Sacrifice Today Or Crisis Tomorrow

By Bob Krueger
President Carter's speech before Congress and the American people last week was the necessary first step in solving our energy supply problems. Mr. Carter attempted to bring home to the average citizen the reality of a developing energy crisis which, although it may not paralyze our society today or tomorrow, may create serious hardships in the future if certain events transpire abroad.

What the President said was not news to experts who have studied national and international energy supplies for the past two decades; rather, the news lay in the fact that an American President at the peak of his popularity took these facts to the people and made his suggestions known to a Congress composed overwhelmingly of members of his own party. As you and I know, the Congress, President, and the American people must act together to respond to any great challenge facing our country. The Congress passes laws and the President administers them, but little progress can be made without popular support for those laws. Historians may argue for some time what the deep meaning of the Vietnam War was for our society, but I think that its greatest significance was this: national policies requiring substantial sacrifice must command the support of the people and their representatives in Congress; otherwise those policies fail, regardless of their merit. You cannot have that support and cooperation unless the citizens are informed, and now the President has supplied that necessary link.

Thus we must hope that the pieces fall into place for a drive toward greater energy supply shortage and have abandoned all the conspiracy theories offering Arabs and giant oil companies as the scapegoats for the current state of affairs, we can move on to discuss and debate a multitude of proposed solutions. This should be a stimulating exercise, and the final decision we reach will largely determine the quality and direction of American life in the remainder of this century.

My position on energy matters evolved during my first term in Congress as we sought, unsuccessfully, to redefine our national energy goals and restructure our various energy pricing policies. I hope that the current Congress, in light of greater public awareness of the energy crisis, will make some hard choices and opt for the free market as the best means of increasing energy supply. Only the free market system can automatically match supply with demand and provide sufficient incentive for exploration and development of new energy sources for the future.

Although I agree with President Carter's position that we must encourage energy conservation and discourage waste, our quality of life will decline unless we act also to stimulate new supplies. Therefore, the Congress should reconsider the President's suggestion that most of the increased price we pay for oil should be siphoned off through a federal excise tax. It is difficult to conceive how energy supply and conservation will be stimulated by a policy using the federal government as an agent to transfer dollars from one pocket of the consumer to another; yet, the combined excise tax-rebate will do just that. Likewise, the President's decision not to recommend deregulation of natural gas prices disappoints many people. The proposed gasoline tax, too, has flaws, and could result in discrimination against areas like our own, which lack adequate public transportation alternatives to the use of private automobiles.

In short, the Congress must weigh carefully the various elements of the President's plan. At this point, it appears that many of his suggestions should be adopted, but a few of them should be modified. The major significance of this week's action, however, lies in the fact that our new President has acted in the best tradition of his office in bringing home a serious, if unwelcome, matter to the full attention of 210 million Americans. We must now commit ourselves to action in fulfillment of our obligations to others who overcame similar difficulties in the past and to those who will face problems of equal significance in the future. Fortunately, the courage, tenacity and innovative talent necessary for success are fundamental elements of the American spirit.

Must Register to Vote

Referendum Vote Date Set

Dates for the national Beef Referendum, in which all cattlemen will have an opportunity to vote on a self-help program, have just been announced by the USDA. The dates are June 6-17 for registration and July 5-15 for voting.

"Cattle industry leaders have been waiting three years for these dates," says J.D. Sartwelle of Houston, who is chairman of the Texas Beef Development Taskforce. "That's how long we have been working to get a self-help program aimed at stabilizing and improving the beef market."

The program, known as the Beef Research and Information Act, was put together by cattle industry leaders and approved by Congress last year. If approved by two-thirds of the cattlemen voting, it will authorize a uniform collection of 3/10 of 1% of the value on each animal sold.

This rate will raise $30 million to $40 million a year for beef research, promotion, consumer education and foreign market development, according to Sartwelle. The funds will be administered by a 68-member Beef Board, comprised of cattlemen nominated by existing cattlemen's organizations.

"We have just begun an extensive educational program, aimed at reaching every cattleman in Texas," says Sartwelle. "In addition to the 60-member Texas Beef Development Taskforce, representing beef and dairy organizations throughout the state, we have a county Taskforce in each of Texas' 254 counties. We're all working to explain the merits of the program to cattlemen and encourage them to register and vote.

Helping to spearhead the educational effort is the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, plus other cattlemen's organizations and general farm organizations."

A similar effort is underway throughout the United States. "Never has there been such a concerted effort among cattlemen to help themselves," continues Sartwelle. "Over 80 state and national beef and dairy organizations have endorsed the plan, plus a number of general farm organizations."

To vote in the Beef Referendum, producers must first register at the local ASCS office and certify that they have owned cattle at some time during the past 12 months. Then they may return, after a two-week waiting period, to vote at the ASCS office.

Glenn Fisher, Texas Agriculture Extension Service Area Economist, presents a slide briefing and answers questions about the beef referendum.

Jerry Don Balch, Sutton County Beef Task Force chairman, discusses some of the benefits of the special beef research and information referendum.

Govt Interference Harmful

Any government that deals, as ours does, with the wants and needs of people from greatly dissimilar areas will occasionally find itself in the position of helping one group while harming another.

Often what seems to be a good idea becomes law before anyone has a chance to stop and consider the consequences. When that happens, those who feel wronged usually assume that the fellow responsible was guilty of malicious intent from the start. That's not always the case.

In reality, many "bad" laws are a crossbreed of good intentions and honest ignorance. Ignorance, lest we misinterpret the meaning, is defined as a lack of knowledge, and everyone is ignorant of something. After all, pitiful few sheepmen can sail a ship, and there are vast numbers of people other than sailors who would be lost running a sheep ranch.

It is just this type of honest ignorance that has led to some of the wildlife bills floating around in the Texas Legislature this session. Fortunately they are going nowhere at a rather rapid clip.

Representatives of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association have met with the sponsors of the measures to present the sheep and goat industry view, and the information was apparently taken seriously; some of the bills have been amended, others left drifting without too much propulsion.

Representative of the introduced wildlife legislation is a pair of bills by House member Jimmie C. Edwards, Conroe. One would prohibit the sale, or taking for sale, of raccoon, fox or bobcat pelts or carcasses during 10 months of the year. The other relates exclusively to bobcats, and prohibits the hunting of these cats for pelts, hide or carcass sale.

In Edwards' part of the country, hunting with dogs is a major sport, the training and sale of such dogs an important source of income. Apparently, his constituents were concerned about the scarcity of sporting prey, ignorant of the damaging effects of such animals in sheep and goat country. An amendment to the bills, as sought by the TS&GRA, would exempt the western portion of the state from such restrictions.

Senate Bill 1169, sponsored by Carlos Truan, Corpus Christi, would effectively end cougar control in the state. Officially, it limits control to those possessing permits and limits hunting methods to those allowed for game animals. The ultimate effect needs no elaboration.

These two bills are good examples of legislation proposed without careful regard to consequences, and the stalling of such measures is a lesson in the importance of vigilance and the dissemination of information.

Fred Campbell's Wool and Mohair Report

Australian auctions reopened following the Easter recess on a firm note for shorter wools and unchanged basis for the longer better wools.

In the U.S. wool is moving readily into trade channels in every state. Prices are very similar to prices paid for wool a year ago. In New Mexico, almost 1 1/2 million pounds sold at prices mostly from 75 - 90 cents with a top of 97c.

Wools were described as beautiful and the Artesia clip as good as buyers could recall.

In Texas wool continues to sell generally at private treaty with prices ranging from 80 - 95c with a top of about $1.00 on unusually light wool.

The mohair market continues to be sluggish. Kid mohair has sold as high as $4.413 in a sale at Del Rio last week. This sale probably was the last large quantity of kid available in the state with only clean-up amounts left. Prices for young goat and adult are generally in the range of 3.15 to 3.25 for young goat and 2.35 to 2.40 for adult.

Reports are not available at this time on the results of the mohair sale in South Africa on April 26.

Nutrition Helps Control Parasites

Treatment of internal parasites in livestock may be ineffective if good sanitation and nutrition practices are not followed, according to Dr. R.R. Bell, Texas A&M University veterinary parasitology department head.

"No parasite has ever been controlled or eliminated by use of drugs alone. Sanitation and nutrition are the most important factors," said the professor, who is also a scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Beef cattle develop some resistance to parasites, Bell added, but this can be overcome if animals are overcrowded and undernourished.

"Many easy schemes, drugs and procedures are advocated to control parasites in cattle, and most are not effective," Bell said. "No drug will remove all parasites in an animal, the veterinarian said. "The presently available drugs will destroy only the adult parasites and not the immature, and the immature often produce the most severe damage."

When animals are moved from the infection source and placed on an adequate ration, they will rapidly lose most of their parasites, he explained.

"Except in severe cases, it is probably not economical to treat animals being placed on feed. If cattle are removed from a fluke area, they will lose most of their flukes in a few weeks."

Aerial Spraying Deadline May 3

Deadline for filing applications for aerial mesquite spraying is May 3.

A special ASCS committee meeting will be held at 1 p.m., May 3 review applications that have been filed.

Sutton County ranchers are reminded that aerial mesquite spraying applications must be filed before May 3.

Bell named the medium stomach worm and the common liver fluke as the most serious internal parasites in Texas livestock.

He also discussed common stomach worms, hookworms, lung-worms, deer flukes, tapeworms and others.

Bell addressed the beef and pasture section of the recent Texas Animal Agriculture Conference at Texas A&M.

The annual conference was sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas A&M University System.

Specialist Sees Cattle Price Rise

Although cattlemen are starting to see better prices again, it may still be a year or two before they start making profits.

That's the contention of Dr. Ed Uvacek, a livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Uvacek, who has been in the business of analyzing cattle cycles for some time, is basing his projection on the assumption that a new cycle is just now beginning and that the second to the sixth year of the cycle is generally the most favorable period from the price standpoint.

Historically, cattle cycles have been highly consistent in both duration and magnitude, generally lasting about seven-to-eight-years during this build-up phase.

Elementary News

The first grade has been studying a science unit on living things. The children have enjoyed listening to a tape on plant germination and then planting their very own seeds in milk cartons. They saw the film "Green Plants and Sunlight".

The second grade classes at Sonora Elementary have been busy since Easter vacation learning about animals. The most concentrated area of study, in this rather large field, includes animals indigenous to this part of the country.

The students are also being exposed to several basic concepts concerning animals. They are discovering that animals differ greatly in size, shape, structure and life activities. They are also learning that all animals are alike in that they need an energy supply, oxygen, water and a place to live.

Some of the classes will be making collages depicting the various body covering of animals. These "objects d'art" may be seen adorning the halls in the elementary school.

Brownwood Sets 4-H Workshop

4-H adult and youth leaders who are interested in aquatic science projects, water sports, or 4-H record books are invited to participate in one of these three weekend workshops at the Texas 4-H Center near Brownwood on May 14 and 15.

Aquatic science workshop sessions will include aquarium culture, marine biology, and recreational information from Mr. James T. Davis, Extension Fisheries Specialist.

4-H record book training for both advanced and beginning 4-H leaders will be given by 4-H and Youth Specialists, George McArthur and Martha Couch.

The water sports workshop participants will receive training in the conduct of water games, safety skills, and water-front-management techniques needed in preparation for summer-camp activities.

County Extension Agent Clint Langford points out that registration forms and additional details for the workshop training sessions are available through the Sutton County Extension Office. For further information, 4-H leaders may call Clint Langford at 387-3101.

San Angelo Club Hosts Horse Show

The San Angelo Saddle Club will sponsor an open and youth horse show May 7 with entry fees for each class being $5 per horse.

Registered and grade horses are eligible and welcome and all registered horses must have papers presented at registration desk.

There will be halter and performance classes with trophies for the first place winners and ribbons for places two thru six. Blankets will be presented for grand champions in each halter class. Reserve champions in each halter class will receive a trophy.

For further information on the show contact F.K. Moss, 653-0280; Dr. Gary D. Hodges, 653-1037; or Jamie Brown, 653-1525.

He Comes Out In Favor Of Abolishing Foreign Policy

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on the Dry Devil's River may be out of his depth, his letter suggests this week.

Dear editor: Of all the things I don't understand, one of the uppermost is Foreign Policy.

For example, recently Secretary of State Vance went to Moscow for a talk with the Russian leaders and the meeting was termed a failure because Russia wouldn't agree to his proposals. Had she agreed the meeting would have been hailed as a success, when everybody, especially Russia, knows Russia will keep an agreement with one country just as long as a better agreement with another one doesn't come along.

I estimate that in the past 25 years at least 500 agreements between nations of the world have been signed, and 499 broken. The one that wasn't broken got lost in the files somewhere and nobody could remember what it was.

Foreign policy is like the tail fins Detroit used to put on cars. Nobody knew what they were for but everybody had to have some on his car. Foreign policy is like fashions in clothes. What's in this year will be out next year, but what country wants to be out of style?

Most of the time, it looks to me, our foreign

RETRIEVERS BECOME TOP DOGS AS GUIDES

The German Shepherd is no longer absolutely top dog when it comes to guiding blind men and women.

At Guiding Eyes for the Blind, a Yorktown Heights, New York Training School whose primary purpose is to provide independent mobility via guide dogs, a new dog—the Retriever—is having his day. Nine out of every 10 dogs bred and trained by this School are Labrador or Golden Retrievers. They are now leading hundreds of blind persons to offices, schools and stores in cities and rural areas across the country, taking the pressures in stride.

Some people will argue it won't work, it'd leave the world's countries quarreling and snarling and ready to grab each other by the throat, with every nation arming itself to the teeth. We couldn't have that.

Yours faithfully,

F. J. Wipff Buried In Uvalde

Graveside services were held Saturday for Frank Joseph Wipff, 76, father of two Sonora men. Mr. Wipff died April 21 in Hudspeth Hospital. Burial was in Hillcrest Memorial Park Cemetery in Uvalde with the Rev. Mr. Hannah, Baptist minister officiating.

Born February 9, 1901 in Dilley, he was married to Florene Vera. She died in 1957.

Mr. Wipff had been a resident of Hudspeth Nursing Home for the past five months. He was a twenty year employee of Edwards County Road Department.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
 I am opposed to the "Cosmic Signs" now being run in this paper. Please read the 47th Chapter of Isaiah, where the Lord speaks about stargazers and the like. The Hebrew word here for "astrologers" is havor shamayim, meaning, "they that divide the heavens, distinguish the signs of the Zodiac." Sound familiar? From earliest times, seeking information from the stars was widely practiced, but this, with all other forms of superstition, was forbidden to the chosen people, who were to seek directly to God. I believe we should do the same. See Deuteronomy, 18:9-14.

I am convinced that in our society today innocent pastimes such as fortune telling, water-witching, Quiji boards, seance experiments and astrology are but the thin edge of the wedge into Santanism, and should be carefully avoided by adults and children alike.

The Bible says in James 1:5, "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him." Also, Romans 10:13 says, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." So please ask God about these things if you disagree with me.

My advice: Read your Bible, not your horoscope; Pray without ceasing and make the Cross your "sign".

Just one more thought: I really wish the name of this paper and our beautiful River could be changed from "The Devil's" to anything that would better glorify Christ.
