Range Fire Destroys 3 Sections

Volunteers Fight Through the Night

by Wes Burnett A devastating fire raged out of control for more than nine hours Sunday near Rocksprings, destroying approximately three sections on two ranches. The fire started at 4 o.m. on the Glen Richardson ranch, 13 miles northwest of Rocksprings near Hwy 55, and rapidly spread to the northwest, pushed by a brisk southeasterly breeze.

"Fortunately," Richardson told the Devil's River News, "we did not lose any livestock or as far as we know, no one was injured."

Richardson said the fire was accidentally started by a ranch hand near the ranch house.

Fire units from Sonora, Rocksprings, Ozona and Home fought the blaze throughout the evening and into the early morning hours on Mon-

The Sutton County and Sonora Police dispatcher took the first call at 4:17 p.m., shortly after a range fire had been reported at the Lyn Hicks ranch, 22 miles east of Sonora on FM 1691

Sonora volunteer firemen contained the Hicks fire and then sped off to the southeast toward the dangerous looking smoke on the Richardson ranch.

It didn't take Louis Olenick, Sonora Volunteer Fire Department chief, but a few minutes to size up the situation and he put in a call for more help. The Rocksprings fire department was already on the Smoke from the raging fire could be seen as far away as Sonora, and several calls were taken by the Sheriff's dispatcher from concerned citizens, thinking the strong odor was coming from somewhere in the city.

In addition to the fire fighting units from surrounding communities, Olenick called for as many water trucks as possible, and asked Dennis Hughes, Halliburton, to spot the fire from his Commanche, based at Sonora's municipal airport.

The Sutton County Sheriff and Sonora Police dispatcher, Marsha Brown, operated the communications center, relaying messages and coordinating the requests for help.

Responding to the fire chief's request for bulldozers, Carl Cahill Inc. and Construction sent crews headed south to the scene. By 7 p.m. the Cahill and Holloman bulldozers were unloaded and scraping a fire lane to the west and north of the

"The people at the Oilfield Answering Service were really a big help," Marsha comments, "they knew who to call and where to find the people."

Although the fire was officially declared under control by Monday morning, Richardson said they were still fighting hot spots throughout the day Monday.

"We'll be guarding the area for several days," he adds.

Richardson expressed oraise for the efforts of the fire-fighting volunteers and the response by people to the emergency.

City Faces Tough Budget Problem

The proposed 1978 budget for the city of Sonora shows a deficit of $50,000, which city councilmen discussed at the regular city council meeting Monday at city hall.

With projected revenues of $418,000, the deficit will be a tough problem to solve.

The city tax base relies heavily on retail and utility sales with property taxes representing only 1/5th of the annual revenue.

Continued demand for services for the growing city puts additional pressure on the city administrative staff.

The growth in city revenues is far behind the over-all growth of the area, leaving Sonora with not enough money to do the job that citizens councilmen realize serious dilemma they face. Councilmen voted to meet August 16 to review the budget thoroughly.

In other action Monday the council postponed action on a request by Pat Jungk for parking restrictions on Hwy 290 east, and recommended Jungk to work toward providing clearly defined driveways to his property.

The council voted to send a letter to the West Side Lions Club, informing the organization that the lease on a building on west Main St. would be terminated, based on a violation of the lease agreement.

Mayor Norm Rousselot and Councilmen Doyle Morgan, Lemuel Lopez and James D. Trainer attended the city council

Courthouse Named Nat'l Historic Site

Sutton County Court-house in Sonora Texas has been designated as a National Historic Property, U.S. Congressman Bob Krueger announced today.

The Courthouse will be registered in the National Register of Historic Places, the official list of the nation's cultural resources worthy of preservation. Listing in the national register provides federal protection for the landmark and makes it eligible to receive federal grants for historic preservation. "At a time when the complexities of modern life seem more and more often to be crowding us away from that which historical and culturally important this designation is especially welcomed," Krueger said in making the announcement. Further information can be obtained from the National Register Washington, 202-737-5252.

St. Ann's Rev. Moeller Arrives Here

by Rev. Louis B. Moeller For it is through faith that all of you are God's sons in union with Christ Jesus. For you were baptized into union with Christ, and so have taken upon yourselves the qualities of Christ himself. So there is no difference between Jew & Gentile, slave or freeman, man & woman: you are all one in union with Christ Jesus.' With these words, I feel, St. Paul was the first proponent of eucumenism in the Church. I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to Sonora and Sutton Co.

I am Rev. Louis B.

Moeller, the new pastor of St. Anns Catholic Church in Sonora. I came here last month to replace Father Michael Fernandez who is now pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Odessa.

I'm sure all of your were well acquainted with Father Mike, as he was affectionately called, and hated to see him go.

He and I have been close friends for the past 12 years. I hope to carry on where he left off and eventually meet all of you personally and become part of the community as was Father Mike. He certainly lived the part of universal brotherhood that Paul was writing of.

Perhaps a synopsis of my life history up to now would be in order. I am a native of Runnels Co. Tex. born in the Olfen community and raised up in Rowena, where I gradu-

I payed for gas at Fina Station and left my billfold on the back of the car. Mrs. Mark Wallace of Sonora was with me. We stopped out under a shade tree and waited on our husbands, the tree just on the other side of Shurley

Enterprises. I'd gone to Loma Alta, turned around, came back to Sonora. Mr. Hull at Fina Station hadn't seen it told the police station, had it announced on the radio, went on to Amistad. came in to Sonora Monday

Having spent the entire 27 years of my Priesthood in the West Texas area I am acquainted with the problems & customs of the people who live here. My hobbies are mainly associated with the outdoors: hunting, fishing, and arrowhead collecting. Unlike Father Mike I'm not much of a golfer, but do occasionally swing the clubs. I feel Sonora and the surrounding area has a great future.

You've come a long way since the 60's when I was stationed in Ozona. It'll feel a little strange rooting for the Broncos after supporting the Eagles for five long years. But as Paul once again urges us: "Let us all love one another as brothers in Christ & work together for the good of the household

Dee's Notes

FIRE MIXED with heat such as we experienced Sunday can send odor of smoke some distance as evidenced by the huge grass fire at the Glen Richardson ranch, about 40 miles south of Sonora. Many smelled smoke and were hard to convince that the odor was coming from the fire some distance away (probably about 22 air miles). Firemen from here and units from surrounding towns as well as lots of other folks helped fight the disastrous fire which destroyed close to 3000 acres of rangeland.

LAST WEEK'S Angora goat sale in Rocksprings drew several Sutton Countians who were on hand to bid on the goats. Betty and Susan Stewart were high doe bidders on the Champion Angora doe.

WE EXPRESS our love for the family of Nina Jennings Lamb, who died in Virginia Monday. Her parents, Jewel and Byron Jennings will return here Wednesday. Services are to be held at 4 p.m. Thursday. Nina's brother, Reed, also lives in Sonora. Our sincere sympathy to all her family.

COUNCIL MEMBERS were 'saddle sore' after Monday's lengthy City meeting with most of the time consumed in discussing the City budget for the coming year. A special called meeting is scheduled Aug. 16 at 7 p.m. for the purpose of considering adoption of the budget. Councilmen also approved participation in an assistance program for some utility payments for persons 65 or over (or disabled) who qualify.

THE PLAN is called Special Crisis Intervention Program", and it is for persons 65 or over or those who are disabled and who receive the gold-colored SSI check. This payment period will cover from Oct. '76 thru July '77, and LoneStar Gas and the City of Sonora have agreed to participate (WTU has not taken action yet). Persons who think they are eligible for the assistance should contact Elvira Holguin at 387-3497 as she has papers that must be completed before eligibility is established. These papers must be filled out before Aug. 13, so it is important that those who are eligible contact Mrs. Holguin at once. Plans call for one meteorologist to be added to each state Extension staff to work closely with NWS personnel in making the best possible use of agricultural weather information.

'These state Extension personnel will be our 'apostles' in the field and will play a key role in our total agricultural weather network,' emphasized Johannessen. "They will be especially valuable in providing two-way communications between our service and the producers themselves."

Johannessen noted that "we have a long way to go in forming a complete national agricultural weather network, but our chances of establishing such a network are improving as weather problems continue to plague our producers." He said that plans are under way to establish seven additional Environmental Studies Service Centers such as the one at Texas A&M. This would require $4 to $5 million and a staff of about 60 new people. There are currently four such centers in operation.

across the nation that will broadcast both regular weather information as well as special agricultural weather advisories," pointed out Johannessen. "Our total weather radio network should be in full operation in three or four years."

The NWS official also noted that 28 new staff members will be added nationally to give more emphasis to agricultural weather information. These will be added at various weather forecasting offices.

Another speaker, Harold Scott, leader for the NWS agricultural meteorology program, Washington, D.C., also added emphasis to the proposed program involving the cooperative effort between the NWS and the Extension Service.

"This plan will allow us to go in tandem with the Extension Service which has personnel in each county of each state. The state Extension meteorologist would work closely with each county Extension Agent as well as with as many farmers and ranchers as possible to establish working relationships.

This is the real key to both effective dissemination of weather information as well as to obtaining feedback from the grassroots level on specific weather information needs," said Scott.

"The Extension person will also be responsible for training programs to help county agents and producers better use weather information and to assist them in getting the right information," noted Scott. "He will be the real key to setting up and implementing our national agricultural weather program."

Agricultural meteorologists from 18 states, the District of Columbia and France participated in the symposium sponsored by the National Weather Service Agricultural Forecasting Program and hosted by the agency's Environ-mental Studies Service Center at Texas A&M.

Green Grass is getting hard to find and the months of July and August are not known for giving a lot of rain. All though 6 inches of rain has fallen in June, the heat of July has turned most grass coarse and powder dry. So far Sutton Co. has recieved about half of the years annual rain fall, 14 inches.

In some areas of Sutton Co. there is still enough green grass that livestock won't suffer as much as in other areas of the county. The reason for this is not so much as grass and size of the root system of the plant. A rancher can go into a such as brush management, range seeding, various grazing systems and proper grazing use of pastures to grow as much of the taller grasses as they can. Of course there is one draw back and that is a chance of a grass fire on these ranches. The advantage of course far out weighs the one disadvantage. The taller better grasses have a bigger root system, more drought resistant under proper care, puts more mulch and humus in soil, more rain can penetrate deeper into the soil because of root system and humus, taller grasses produce more pounds of feed and under certain conditions this means more livestock can be grazed and probably less feed needs to be put out during the winter. How does a rancher get into this situation where he can grow a lot of the taller better grasses? He makes up his mind that he wants the taller grasses, checks his pastures to see where he stands in relationship to his goal and what the area will produce, set up his plans with alternitives in case one thing does not work or is not economically fesable, and then do what he set out to do without putting the idea

Particular provisions of the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1976 gave a much needed break to heirs of farmers and ranchers, then turned right around and attached strings stout enough to rope steers with. The IRS recently took a knife to some of the strings in response to urgings by a number of livestock industry groups.

The Tax Act had granted executors of certain estates the right to value agricultural property for estate tax purposes according to its actual use rather than its speculative possibilities.

In most cases, as almost any rancher or farmer will agree, agricultural production valuation would result in substantial estate tax savings over so-called "highest and best use" valuation.

All to the good. However, to protect its interest the federal government reserved for itself the right to place a lien against property so valued. Under this provision the tax savings would be regained by the government should such land cease to be used for such purpose or be sold to non-family members within 15 years.

Other taxbreak benefits included longterm tax payoff and also subjected the land to a security lien. Again, the policy is sensible if taken at face value as an antifraud measure. Indirect effects, however, made the tax breaks and their resulting liens potentially disas-

They also made the potential outside sale of subject land at once practical impossibility and a virtual necessity.

"Fall vegetable gardens really produce the best tasting vegetables," contends Sam Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Growing conditions are usually better in the fall when the weather begins to cool, and the quality of vegetables is better as they mature in a cooler climate than in the hot late spring and early summer. Disease and insect problems are also less in cooler weather."

All these advantages of fall gardening in no way imply that the practice is fool-proof.

'There are definite problems or hurdles, but with the right preparations, these can be overcome," says Cotner.

Texaco Urges RRC to Keep Cogdell Field Rules

Texaco Inc., operator of the Cogdell Area Field, today urged the Railroad Commission to retain the present field rules and production allowable for the Kent and Scurry counties oil sector in order to maximize recovery and prevent physical waste.

The recommendation was made to Senior Staff Geologist Bill Watson during the 17th hearing called by the Oil and Gas Division to review reservoir performance and redetermine the most efficient rate of production (MER) of more than 30 major oil fields.

William B. Gardner Jr., Austin petroleum engineer-consultant, directed presentation. Robert S. Cornelius, assistant district engineer of Texaco's Wichita Falls district, was the sole witness.

"It is the recommendation of Texaco Inc. that the present treatment of reservoir MER be continued so as to provide a unit allowable based on top oil allowable of 111 barrels per well times the number of wells, both producing injection---currently 377 wells---plus the earned injection credit of 25 percent of basic allow-Gardner told Watson in an opening statement.

Gardner noted that the present MER of the Cogdell Canyon Reef Unit which encompasses the field is 52,308 barrels od oil per day, subject to market demand factor.

A reservoir MER as such is no longer necessary as the unit production is currently at capacity in the latter stages of secondary recovery under a highly sucessful, bona fide peripheral-type pressure maintenance program," Gardner reported.

Retention of present rules and allowable, Gardner said, will provide sufficient flexibility to take care of any increase in production that might result from deeper drilling, plug backs and in-fill drilling. Such operations will be designed to increase production and yield greater ultimate recovery, he explained.

Gardner and Cornelius told Watson that the field is in the twilight of its life and has produced more than 215 million barrels of oil by primary and secondary means since discovery in late 1949.

Without timely institution of a water injection program in 1956, the field would have produced substantially less oil than is currently anticipated, Gardner observed.

Cornelius traced the operating history of the field, noting that secondary recovery maintenance had been initiated in 1956; reservoir pressure had increased and gas-oil ratios decreased and that all produced water has been reinjected into the Cornelius' testimony indicated that oil production peaked in 1975 at about 39,000 barrels daily. In June, the field produced at the rate of 22,873 barrels daily, he said.

Texaco's recommendation for retention of present field rules and MER was supported by Seldon B. Graham Jr. of Houston, counsel for Exxon U.S.A. which owns interest in the field.

Senate Deals Setback to Nation's Energy

by Sen. John Tower

WASHINGTON—Senate action on legislation to amend leasing procedures on the Outer Continental Shelf has dealt a severe setback to this Nation's efforts to become energy self-sufficient.

If signed into law by the President, the legislation could well be a death blow.

At issue in the recent Senate vote were amendments to the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of 1953, the law which established the leasing structure for the development of oil and gas in federal offshore regions. This law provides the basic framework and authority to lease and develop federal offshore fields, and the record of exploration and production under the Act is impressive.

Not only was the 1953 law a flexible document, with adaptations to reflect changes in technology and the times, but it permitted adequate environmental safeguards and allowed states to become equal partners in decisions affecting their coastlines and economies.

In short, the 1953 law worked well because it was both simple and comprehensive, balancing legitimate state interests with the national need to develop publicly owned

The Senate action removed most of that flexibility, replacing it with rigid new federal regulations that promise only to complicate leasing procedures and to create countless opportunities for obstructionist lawsuits. Red tape inevitably will result and precious time will be lost in bringing in new wells that already require as much as eight years lead time.

At a time when every effort should be made to increase production of our own resources, further regulation of the industry only assures our continued dependence on foreign energy sources.

More alarming, however, than the increased regulation of the oil industry, is the degree to which the Federal government with this legislation has deepened its involvement in the energy business. One amendment the Senate adopted directs the President to conduct a continuing investigation to determine the availability of all oil and gas produced or located in the United States. Clearly, the Federal government would have vast and unprecedented powers to make assessments of energy availability anywhere in the country-on Federal lands, state-owned lands, and private lands, both onshore and offshore.

Under this provision, the government could, if it deemed such action necessary, enter upon privately owned property, and then drill exploratory wells to determine the existence and extent of oil and gas reserves.

This and other amendments to the 1953 law raise not only the specter but the near reality of a Federal government agency which could conduct all oil and gas exploration and production in the United States.

An enormous Federal program of this nature would provide little new information on national energy reserves, despite its sponsors' claims, but would bring us much closer to the time when the Federal government will attempt to take over all private energy development in this country. The cost of such a Federal endeavor to the American taxpayer would be untold billions.

In few instances has Congress demonstrated more clearly its misunderstanding of this country's energy dilemma. Government's long history of intervention into the energy business has been a principal contributor to our growing dependence on foreign sources. We cannot expect to lessen that dependence with measures making a bad situation

RRC Denies Application for Lo-Vaca Gas

The Railroad Commission has denied two applications to purchase gas from Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and delayed action on another new customer request pending additional analysis of the situation.

Examiner Hylon Adams recommended denial of the application of Aztec Management and Investment Co. that it be permitted to obtain natural gas from Lo-Vaca for residential use in Lakeside Terrace, a new subdivision being developed in the extra-territorial jurisdiction of the City of Carrizo Springs.

Adams' recommendation was based on the facts that Lo-vaca expressed doubt about its ability to supply the needed amounts of gas and the Carrizo Springs municipal gas system had sufficient quantities to serve the development.

In other action involving the Gas Utilities Division, the Commission:

Texas Posts 133% Increase in Taxes

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that revenue from 10 Texas occupation taxes has grown a remarkable 133 percent in the past five years, reaching a total of nearly $1 billion in 1976. Bullock said the increase was led by the oil and gas production taxes, which leaped from a combined total of $305.2 million in 1972 to $793.7 million in 1976.

> Special Consignor Agreement

Sales Director Tom Russell announced today that the Texas Thoroughbred Breeders Association will pay to the consignor of any yearling auctioned off at the Texas Sale in Houston. October 21, 22, 23, 1977 that wins the 1979 Triple Crown, the sum of one million dollars ($1,000,000.00). Insured by American Bankers Insurance Company of

This innovation in horse auctioning was created by the realization that consignors to sales do not participate in the monetary returns after a yearling is auctioned off.

As an example, Seattle Slew won the triple crown earning $735,720 to date with a probable syndicated value of fourteen million, yet the consignor who sold the yearling received only seventeen thousand five hundred dollars in a Kentucky sale. Under the new Texas Program, had the consignor auctioned off Slew at the Texas Astrodome sale, he would have received one million dollars additional at no cost to him!!!

These, of course, were net changes. There are always companies quitting business just as others are getting started. But a joint Harvard-MIT study of Dun & Bradstreet records shows the proportion of companies going out of business is usually pretty well distributed across the country as a

That means changes from area to area are due primarily to the formation of new companies. And for Texas, it means that because a rising proportion of companies are new, many are still fairly small.

Relocations, however, also contribute to the change. And some of the companies newly headquartered in Texas are old, established businesses that brought their home offices here from other states.

Coming mainly from the upper Northeast, several are fairly large. And some rank among the biggest corporations in America.

To show how many large companies had moved south, the Oklahoma study compared locations of the headquarters of Fortune's 500 largest corporations in 1975 with their locations in 1956.

Over the 20 years that companies had migrated south, four states suffered a net loss of 100 giant corporate headquarters.

They were New York, which lost a third of its big offices, and Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Ohio, all of which lost around a fourth of their big corporate offices.

Nearly a third of the offices moved to New York suburbs in Connecticut and New Jersey. But a third moved south. And a third of those came to Texas

Where this state had nine of the country's 500 largest corporations in 1956, it had 20 in 1975.

Except for Connecticut state had gained so many and New Jersey, no other big headquarters.

County/City Drink Tax Reported

Comptroller Bob Bullock said that Sutton County mixed drink sales reported for the April-June quarter of 1977 totaled $44,716.80.

Bullock said he mailed checks totaling $670.75 to Sutton County and $589.67 to the City of Sonora as their share of the 10 percent mixed drink tax collected during the April-June quarter.

The remainder of the tax collected stays in the state general revenue fund, the Comptroller said.

Bullock said the 196 counties received a total of $2 million, while the 327 cities received a total $1.9 million.

Harris County received the largest check, $599,383, based on total reported mixed drink sales of $39.9 million. Dallas County reported sales of $24.6 million, Bexar County, $10.3 million, and Tarrant County, $9.9 mil-

4-H Helps Develop Youth

4-H, the youth develop-ment program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, offers exciting projects and activities for every young person between the ages of 9 and 19 who has a curious desire to learn. 4-H encourages learning by doing and provides citizenship and leadership skills, points out Clint Langford, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. 4-H wants to involve all youth--rural, urban, suburban, teens and pre-teens, and from all races, creeds, ethnic and economic backgrounds. 4-H youth learn, work and play together.

In 4-H, young people can learn how to make things, grow things, take care of things, and repair things in a wide variety of projects, says Langford.

And the great part about the whole program is that 4-H youth can select what they want to do. Projects include things such as nature study, wildlife, entomology, animal science, beef cattle, horse and pony, dog care, plant science, gardening, field crops, home economics, foods and nutrition, clothing, automotive, bicycle, small engines, mechanics, electricity, personal development, citizenship, leadership and public speaking.

4-H has a lot to offer. So if you want to get involved in an action-oriented program, contact the county Extension office, adds the

ECONOMY AND NUTRITION, CHINESE STYLE

Chinese food looks and tastes good and is nutritious. In addition, it is an experience in practicality and economy since a little bit of meat goes a long way and every edible part of a vegetable is put to good use. The Chinese have based their eating habits and methods of food preparation for centuries on good nutrition with little or no waste of food. Current concerns over health and economy can be minimized with knowledge of Chinese cooking.

The Oriental method of dicing or chopping meat and vegetables into bite-size pieces or paper-thin slices shortens cooking time. Cooking food quickly prevents meat shrinkage and seals in the flavor and nutrients of vegetables so that their color remains garden

This quick-cooking method of Oriental cuisine is called stir-frying. It is done in a small amount of oil, over very high heat, stirring constantly. Stir-frying traditionally is done with peanut oil in a roundbottomed, high-sided skillet called a wok, but a heavy skillet or frypan will do. With peanut oil it is possible to get the high temperatures needed to seal in the flavor and original color of foods and preserve the crispness and nutrients of vegetables. Suggested here is Stir-

Fried Chicken and Peppers which can be prepared with regular kitchen utensils using ingredients found in your local supermarket-no special equipment or exotic foods necessary. The recipe uses Planters Peanut Oil which is the favorite choice in this country for Chinesestyle cookery. As the most subtle of the polyunsat-urated cooking oils it wakes up the flavor of other in-

by Wes Burnett Sonora High School athletes turned out Sunday to the gym for the pre-school physical examinations and applications. High School head coach Bill Bundy expressed reserved optimism about year's football schedule. Bundy pointed out that Brady, Burnet, Kermit and Alpine are all given high ratings in the pre-season predictions. Work-outs start next week.

Who's the heaviest man on the team, we asked. "Chase Snodgrass at 220...but we expect to see him get to around 210," Bundy adds.

Starting positions and other details of course have not yet been firmed, coaches usually like to hold those kind of decisions until they see the talent on the field.

One thing we like, coach Bundy and his staff are more concerned about the athlete as a student and person, than in the fleeting moments of a winning schedule.

That's not to say Bundy is going to let winning slide by easily...he knows that with the right confidence and discipline, any team can win any game any given day or

Rancher, Consumer Bill Introduced

five years.

By Cong. Bob Krueger Seldom is a congressman in a position to introduce legislation that will benefit groups as diverse as the American consumer and the Texas cattle rancher.

But this week I have introduced legislation mandating new, stricter inspection standards on beef being imported into the United States and forcing more specific label-ing for the beef buyer who regularly visits neighborhood supermarkets. The bill I have introducin the House, if adopted, will require that countries importing beef into the U.S. meet the same inspection standards to which domestic producers are subjected. Unfortunately, in the past the U.S. has gone by a double standard, and our own beef raisers have gotten the short end of the stick, so to speak.

My bill requires that every fourth carcass imported into the U.S. must undergo inspection by a U.S. inspector. In the past, inspection by an American inspector has been done only on a random basis and, I suspect, done all too seldom. My bill calls for a 30 day quarantine on all foreign cattle being imported to determine if they are carrying brucellosis, a disease which recently has been detected with increasing frequency in Texas cattle, likely the result of infectitious herds coming into the U.S. because of a faulty inspection system. But the portion of my bill which will be most visible to beef eaters is that it will require foreign beef to be labeled as such, giving consumers the opportunity to choose between foreign and do-mestic beef, if they so desire. This labeling requirement will apply to all processed meats, canned meats and frozen meats.

What will these tougher standards cost taxpayers? Not a cent.

Included in my bill is the specific requirement that the cost of more thorough inspections be borne by those persons importing beef into the United States and also in the bill is a provision that our country retains the right to impound the cattle of nations who have not paid their share of inspection costs. My hope is that this legislation will give continued support to the free market system as well as require labeling, information that consumers have a right to expect.

Fall Garden Ideas Listed

You can begin a productive fall garden now that will supply you with an even better looking crop than your spring garden, says Clint Langford, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

But if you want that fall garden to produce, don't try to nurture the plants that are still left in your spring gardens. You need vigorously growing plants, so start from scratch with fresh seeds, advises Langford.

Fall gardens have a definite advantage over spring gardens. Since the soil is warmer, germination occurs quicker and the seedling has a better chance to reach its maximum productive po-

Since most vegetables are of a subtropical origin, the warm summer months give seedlings a better beginning. A fall garden also allows your mature plants to thrive in the cooler fall months instead of suffering from hot weather as spring vegetables do.

Many vegetables do exceptionally well in a fall garden, including lettuce, broccoli, cabbage, brussel sprouts, greens, cauliflower and carrots.

To achieve the best in quality and quantity from your fall garden, plant early enough to allow the crop to reach its full potential by the first frost, adds the Count Agent.

Piccadilly Circus

PICCADILLY CIRCUS, the weekly entertainment series featuring a variety of contemporary British entertainment, this week explores the world of the circus, Sunday, August 7

'The Circus Moves on in Calabria' captures, from an unusual perspective, performers whose artistry and way of life come from the most ancient tradition of entertainment.

For several months, a film crew lived and worked with a family circus in Italy which still travels to villages, setting up its tent for one or two night stands. The gypsy life revealed in the resulting documentary allows viewers to share in the joys and heartaches of this small, isolated family community.

"We all think of the circus, like its name, originating in the arenas of Rome with chariot races and gladiators," says PICCADILLY CIRCUS host Jeremy Brett in introducing this program. 'But I like to think the real birth of the circus was the first time a group of people gathered in a circle because a man or a woman dared to display a skill-like a juggling act-creating a moment of magic for those who gathered around.

'The circus allows us all to be children. Through its grotesqueness, its absurdities, its frantic activity, the preposterous or daring behavior of the performers, through the miraculous communion with animals—the circus celebrates the joy of being alive.'
