Sutton County Days Big Success

This year's Sutton County Days celebration, as predicted, was bigger and better than ever before.

The Sonora Jaycees did an excellent job in organizing the extravaganza and holding more events and attraction than in previous years.

Becky Boyd, sponsored by the Garden Club, won the title of Miss Sutton County Days. Yolanda Reyna, sponsored by the West Side Lions, was first runnerup.

Other queen candidates were Judy York, sponsored by the Softball League; Marche Lane, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce; and Tammy Van Hoozer, sponsored by the Sutton County 4-H Club.

The queen was named before the rodeo Sunday afternoon and presented a bouquet of red roses by Jaycee President Mike Hale.

Kelly Kiowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kiowski, was named Sutton County Little Miss, in ceremonies Saturday morning.

First runnerup was Bonnie Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Martin, and second runnerup was Whitney Baggett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Condra.

Entertainment was abundant as the Old Fiddler's Contest, the Sonora High School Band, Luckenbach Progressive Junior High Band and the Sonora High School Stage Band with vocalist Anna Kay Phillips provided everyone with their own favorite brand of music.

Both the Friday and Saturday night dances with music by Bo Hutto and the Texas Pride were successes, although the rain probably affected attendance at the Saturday night dance somewhat.

Proceeds from the Saturday night dance were donated to the Park Board to be used for purchasing tables at the dance slab.

Most people felt the two-day rodeo was the biggest improvement of all over previous years. With a stronger field of competitors and better stock, it could certainly be considered a top-caliber rodeo.

An extremely large field was entered in the bull riding, pushing first prize money to around $2,000.

According to Tom Glasscock of Ozona who provided stock for the rodeo, this purse makes it the largest bull riding event in the entire Southwest.

Angie Stewart pulled her third straight championship in the tricycle race for five-year-olds and under.

Jeff Barton won his second straight victory in the goat pill thumping contest with a fling of 35'8".

Scott Savell was the only double winner of the day. He teamed with brother Cody to win the 12 and up division of the three-legged sack race, and while paired with John Blankenship, won the 15 and up division of the egg toss.

Immunization Clinic Scheduled

p.m. until 6 p.m. at Dr. Browne's office. There will be no charge for this service. Please bring your child's immunization records so we can determine his needs.

Thanks Jaycees

It is not often we feel compelled to write an editorial, but this week it is necessary to congratulate the Jaycees on a job well done.

This year's Sutton County Days were, without a doubt, the best to date. Even a cloudburst couldn't spoil the enthusiasm. The dance was held as scheduled and the rodeo was moved to Sunday afternoon.

Almost every event was bigger and better than last year, and even four short years of experience have taught the Jaycees how to have a bang-up celebration.

With the growth we have seen each year, an even larger Sutton County Days can be anticipated for next year.

To President Mike Hale and every other Jaycee member who worked so hard, a big THANK YOU for a great time at Sutton County Days.

Kelly Kiowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kiowski, draws Vera Miles of Brady's ticket as the winner of the M. L. Leddy boots given by Kappa Gamma Sorority. Kelly was picked as Sutton County Little Miss in Saturday morning events.

Gloria Gomez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gomez, Sr., has been named as a member of the Strutters drill team at Southwest Texas State University. She is a 1978 graduate of Sonora High School. The Strutters have appeared all over the United States and are under the direction of Miss Barbara Tidwell.

School Board New Jr. High Bids Accepted

In Monday's meeting of the Sonora Independent School District, the Board of Trustees voted to accept the bid of Commercial Construction Company for the building of the new junior high.

Commercial, a San Antonio-based construction company, had the low bid of $1.77 million with a completion time of 320 days.

Check next week's Devil's River News for complete details of the building.

New Arrival

A son, Aaron Colely, was born August 23 to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thompson at Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds.

Grandparents are Mrs. Jean Montgomery of Seabrook, R.C. Quick of Fresno, and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Thompson of Sonora.

Miss Brenda Boyd became the bride of Joel T. Hall August 19 at the First United Methodist Church of Sonora. Pastor of the church, the Rev. Paul Terry, officiated at the double ring rites.

Parents are Mrs. Ann Boyd of Sonora and Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Brown of Big Lake.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Steven Boyd, chose an ankle length gown of white dotted swiss. The gown was gathered at the waist and featured a high, stand-up collar. Long, full sleeves and the pleated bodice graced the full fashion lines. She wore a cluster of baby's breath in her hair.

Lavender daisies, miniature white and lavender carnations and baby's breath made up the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Charlotte Wilson provided traditional wedding music at the organ.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Becky Boyd of Sonora. She carried a nosegay of lavender daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Cissy Fenn of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Curt Mooney of Sonora and Ky Emert of San Angelo ushered guests.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wallace, following the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple is making their home in Sonora where he is assistant manager of Perry Brothers.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Sonora High School and attended Angelo State University. Her husband attended Reagan County High School and Angelo State University.

Punt, Pass and Kick Contest Open to All Area Youngsters

Local youngsters are back in the spotlight again. Their footballs are inflated and they are loosening up their throwing arms for the 1978 Punt, Pass & Kick Competition.

This year the local level of PP&K will again be co-sponsored by Sonora Motor Co. in conjunction with participating Ford Dealers in the area.

Nationally, PP&K is celebrating its 18th anniversary. It is sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. Since it was started in 1961, the program has attracted millions of youngsters.

Participants in the Punt, Pass & Kick program compete only against others their own age. Any youngster 8 through 13 years of age, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register to compete in PP&K at Sonora Motor Co.

There is no entrance fee and no body contact during competition. No special equipment is needed and participating does not impair a youngster's amateur standing.

Scoring is based on accuracy and range with one point added for every foot of punting, passing and kicking distance, and a point subtracted for every foot off a center line.

Twelve national finalists will compete for the National Championships in their age group during the half time of the NFC Championship game in January.

Winners will have their names permanently inscribed in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

Their trophies will be presented by Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Reflections

by Rev. Jim Miles

An ancient Talmudic story bears heavily upon our own situation today. According to legend there was a forest of great oaks and cypress trees. They were large and strong.

One day a man ventured by and asked the great trees where he might find some wood. "For what?" they asked. He replied that he needed to make an ax handle.

The large trees laughed at the man and pointed to a lowly ash. It was small enough that the woodsman was able to break it down.

He left with the small tree over his shoulder.

The great trees thought little about his occurrence until one day the man returned with his ax, made functional by a beautiful handle from the lowly ash. He entered the forest and one by one felled every tree in it.

The moral of the story is simple. Unless the strong stand up for the weak, evil can and will prevail. Just as Hitler kept demanding just one more territorial conquest, so will evil continue to eat away at the good until the strong intervene.

Broncos Outscore Brady in Contact

The Sonora Broncos outscored Brady 3-1 in their first scrimmage of the year.

Halfback Eddie Favila scored the Broncos' only touchdown on a regulation drive, but Manuel Lopez and Benny Granger both tallied on goal line offensive sets.

According to head coach Jerry Hopkins, the Broncos had problems offensively except for the one scoring drive by the second team.

"Hopefully, with lots of work, we can get things ironed out in practice this week," Hopkins said.

The coach added he was pretty well pleased up front defensively, but that the defensive backfield still had not jelled.

Hopkins lauded Mike Jones as having an outstanding game, both on offense and defense.

He also named Dan Lawson and David Reyna as playing well defensively.

The junior varsity was outmatched 1-0 in the early game.

Hopkins said the j.v. was "a little further behind than we thought," but added that while our squad was more than 50 percent freshmen, Brady played almost all upper classmen.

Broncos Scrimmage Eagles

The Sonora Broncos will host Eldorado for a scrimmage Friday night, their final tuneup before the regular season begins next week.

The junior varsity contest will begin at 6 p.m., with the varsity starting about 7:30 p.m.

It will be the first matchup in three years for the former archrivals and should provide plenty of excitement.

Bronco coach Jerry Hopkins admits he knows little about the Eagle squad, but he is concerned mainly with solving the problems that plagued the Red Hoss offense last week against Brady.

The Bronco mentor said although he doesn't plan on passing a lot this year, the quarterbacks do need some more throwing work.

EPA Still Viewing 2, 4, 5 - T

Glen Fisher's

Wool and Mohair Report

The mohair market is still quite active and stronger with each sale. Hair is moving rapidly and well ahead of most fall marketings. Normally, most of the hair is sold in September but this year most warehouses and growers are anxious to sell at current prices and shearing is slightly ahead of schedule.

about 40% has been sold. A sale at Ingram last week on some very good quality mohair produced prices up to 7.50 on kid hair with adult topping at 5.15 and yearling bringing up to 6.50.

Another large sale was held Tuesday at Rocksprings but prices were not available at this writing. The first South African sale will be next Tuesday on the 5th and it should open well above their last sale. Whether it will be much above our current levels remains to be seen and many are guessing the outcome to be up a little.

We still have not set a definite date for selling the remainder of our clip but as always we will respond to grower requests and as best we can try to meet the demand that we anticipate.

Some things we just take for granted—and most of them we shouldn't, at least as long as federal agencies have the power to take away the uninformed hysteria has the proxy to use that power.

From the looks of the news coming out of Washington, ranchers and others who use the herbicide 2,4,5-T are still somewhat in the habit of taking it for granted. They shouldn't.

The herbicide is still under review by the EPA, partly because of the apparently inbred nature of clinical white mice and partly because of today's prevalent habit of fear-mongering. However foolish the reasons, those who depend on 2,4,5-T and T-based brush control compounds are in danger of finding themselves permanently overgrown.

Reports from Washington via the Texas Brush Control and Range Improvement Committee contain both good and bad news. First, of course, the good news—letters to EPA concerning 2,4,5-T have recently been running two to one in favor of the herbicide.

That's about all the good news. On the other side of the coin, these same reports show that only about 500 letters, telegrams, etc. have been received. Period. In addition, this two-to-one count was recorded before a couple of anti-T "documentaries" were broadcast on television's 20/20 "news" program.

The "documentaries" were packed with slightly less truth than the cheap tabloid newspapers common to supermarket check-out stands. They were intended to, and most certainly will, inflame the uninformed public, regardless of the fact that most of the charges they hurled at 2,4,5-T have already been investigated and found groundless.

The reasons for anti-T hysteria are complex, but most date back to its use in Vietnam and a pervasive attitude that anything connected with the Asian War is inherently evil. Up until recently, the fact that nothing could be proven unsafe about the herbicide kept zealous detractors stymied, but someone finally discovered that insinuation could accomplish the same ends.

At any rate, the EPA review may depend as much on public comment as on factual data, and the anti-T forces have made optimum use of their virtually unlimited access to the mass media. It is up to those who use, have used and must use 2,4,5-T to keep the record balanced.

The EPA decision-makers will, hopefully, put at least as much store in the comments of those who have personally used and been exposed to 2,4,5-T as it will in the imaginations of those who wouldn't know the chemical if it flowed up and bit them on the ear.

It's absolutely essential that ranchers write EPA before the September 18 deadline—even if it is only a simple statement of support. The fact that they're willing to use it themselves, on their own land, simply has to carry some weight.

Write: Federal Register Section, Technical Services Division, (WH-59) (OPP-30000-26); Office of Pesticides Program, Environmental Protection Agency; Room 401 E. Tower, 401 M. Street S.W.; Washington, D.C. 20460.

USDA Rule Changes Sought By TS&GRA

In the wake of a top USDA official's resignation for attempting to influence outcomes of public hearings, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association submitted proposals to the USDA that would prevent the recurrence of such incidents and would improve the agency's overall rule-making process.

TSCRA President John B. Armstrong, acting on a request from USDA to assist it in complying with a Presidential order to "improve regulations," wrote, "It is important that while we are reviewing the rule-making process, we do not make it more complicated, unduly burdensome or further establish a dangerous framework whereby prejudicial or biased information may be presented through subsidizing agency-desired testimony from the alleged public."

Armstrong, representing 14,000 cattle producers in Texas and surrounding states, said in no uncertain terms that "we are adamantly against misuse of public tax monies to pay for testimony from specific individuals or groups favorable to USDA positions." This was a direct reference to the allegations made against the ousted USDA official.

TSCRA also suggested that adequate notice of future public hearings also be made through the local news media, in addition to the Federal Register, and that the hearings be held regionally through the country. In this way, the grass roots public, urban or rural, could give USDA a perspective from the point of view of those truly affected.

"We have seen in the recent past where regulations have been proposed without sufficient impact study and the cost of such proposals were impractical," Armstrong said. Beef grading changes and certain brucellosis health regulations were mentioned specifically.

Armstrong also warned against the duplication of new regulations by authorities and agencies. In reviewing existing regulations, he suggested mandatory review of all regulations every five years and in some cases every year or two.

TSCRA. Simplification and trimming of excessive red tape was also advocated.

USDA said after it has reviewed and considered comments by TSCRA and other groups, it will announce how it will revise its method of proposing regulations.

The President's mandate for resolutions written in plain English, understandable to those who must comply was wholeheartedly supported by

Cattle Inventories 7 Percent Below Last Year

Cattlemen across the nation are continuing to reduce their herds, but some signs point toward a buildup by next year.

Dr. Edward Uvacek, Jr., livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, notes that recently reported lower cattle numbers mean producers are still in the liquidation phase of the cattle cycle.

Total cattle and calf inventories on July 1 were 7 percent below a year ago while beef cows were down 9 percent. The specialist says beef cow replacement heifers were also down sharply, but nine states reported an increase in such heifers and one had no change from last year.

"This, in itself, might be signaling a somewhat different attitude among cattlemen and may point toward a buildup by next year," contends Uvacek. "Thus it appears cattle production is ending the old cycle which began in 1967. If this prediction is correct, cattle numbers should increase during the next few years.

"This new buildup, however, may be extremely rapid and somewhat shortened," believes the marketing specialist. "I look for another peak in numbers by 1985 or 1986."

Uvacek says the calving rate is still extremely low. The 1978 calf crop is estimated to be 4 percent smaller and come from 7 percent fewer beef cows.

Of course, this calf crop number is only a preliminary figure and will be finalized at the end of the year.

Feeder cattle and calves available for feedlots in the second half of this year are also down compared with a year ago.

Cattlemen's Roundup
for Rehab Center
Set for Sept. 9

A special barbecue Saturday, Sept. 9, starting at 7 p.m., at the Bill Stewart ranch will kickoff Sutton County's first effort to support the West Texas Rehabilitation Center's annual Cattlemen's Roundup.

"We're inviting everyone in Sutton County who wants to help with the roundup," Stewart emphasized, "and we're looking especially for our ranching friends to join us for this event."

Livestock donations to the roundup are most common, and personnel from the Rehab Center take care of all the arrangements for transportation.

"All we need is for a rancher to offer sheep, goats or cattle," executive director Shelly Smith comments, "and we do the work."

A representative of the Rehab Center will be at the barbecue to explain how the program works and to answer questions concerning the various West Texas Rehabilitation Center services.

"We want to express our sincere appreciation to Bill for his generosity in hosting the barbecue," Rehab Center Board of Director member Wes Burnett adds, "It is this kind of contribution that keeps the work of the rehab center going."

Highway Construction To Begin On US 277

Work on U.S. 277 in Runnels, Coke, Tom Green, Schleicher, and Sutton Counties will begin after the Labor Day weekend.

Prismo Universal Corp. of Parsippany, New York is the general contractor on the 121 mile project.

The work will consist of placing a yellow thermoplastic center line and white edge line and reflectorized pavement markers according to James R. Evans, District Maintenance Engineer for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in San Angelo.

The work crews will have barricades, warning and directional signs that move as the work progresses along the highway.

The contractor is expected to complete the project in two to three weeks.

"When completed the new thermoplastic lines and reflective markers will make the roadway more visible and safer, especially at night", said Evans.

The public should watch for the men and equipment, slow down and drive with caution.

Don't kill the pleasure of gift giving by wrecking the family budget. Make it a joyful experience for the giver and the receiver, advises Miss Sarah Mahon, County Extension Agent.

Texas Will Be Crippled By Proposed Gas Compromise

Chairman Mack Wallace of the Texas Railroad Commission today charged the natural gas policy proposed by the joint Senate-House committee on national energy legislation would result in higher prices and lower supplies for Texas industries and households.

Chairman Mack Wallace of the Texas Railroad Commission today charged the natural gas policy proposed by the joint Senate-House committee on national energy legislation would result in higher prices and lower supplies for Texas industries and households.

delegation because of its blatant discrimination against this state and its consumers.

Wallace charged the policy proposal violates one of President Carter's clearly expressed prerequisites of the national energy plan that he announced on April 29, 1977, which states:

Wallace found no regional equity in the conferees' preliminary estimate that relative economic costs and benefits indicate interstate consumers will pay $6 billion less for their energy over the next six years while intrastate energy costs could be as much as $7 billion higher.

that some gas pricing inequities "would be neutralized by the schedule rate of boiler fuel conversion to coal (from natural gas) in those intrastate markets" where the conferees say prices will rise and gas supplies will decrease.

"will translate into one of the most complicated and administratively complex statutes in the history of Congress" if it becomes law.

Oil Drains Dollar

by Sen. John Tower

WASHINGTON—The dollar's slide against foreign currencies on the world markets reflects growing international concern that America's money management know-how leaves something to be desired.

Americans themselves may be wondering now. While the decline of the dollar has been occurring over several years, its decline just since last fall has been particularly sharp.

Since last September, the overall foreign exchange value of the dollar has declined 11½% against the currencies of other countries. The dollar has depreciated more than 27% against the German mark, 8% against the British pound, and 24% against the Swiss franc. It hit a post-war low against the Japanese yen last week.

Everyone and his uncle has a reason for the decline, but if you accept conventional wisdom, a large measure of the blame must be placed on a negative trade balance.

That, of course, means the U.S. is importing far more goods than it is exporting. The biggest item on the list is oil. Our oil imports have increased rather than decreased despite the fact the Administration has been screaming to high heaven about the need to cut them back.

In fact, the Administration's plan really amounts to wishful thinking, rather than serious policy. The President's proposed energy program will only further our dependence while drying up incentives for domestic American exploration and production because it relies on the market regulation fundamentally the cause of our current supply predicament.

Oil imports have been a big contributor to our trade imbalance. In 1977, the U.S. trade deficit totaled more than $26 billion. The deficit during the first six months of this year has been more than $16 billion, which should serve as another grim reminder that we pay—and pay dearly—for our continued reliance on foreign oil.

There are other factors, to be sure. Non-oil imports have also increased rapidly, rising some 23% between 1976 and 1977, while our exports grew at a rate of only about 5%.

The recent economic summit in Bonn, Germany, held out hope for improvement. It produced an agreement that if the U.S. reduced its oil imports, our trading partners with large trade surpluses would pursue more expansionary economic policy, stimulating their economies, and as a result, our exports to help us reduce the deficit we face.

Such an agreement is a fragile one, however, since those countries are hesitant to incur more inflation stimulating their economies while the United States still has not formulated a workable energy policy cutting back on imports.

Much more foreign skepticism centers around the Administration's ability to reduce inflation. Our rate of inflation, while lower than many countries has accelerated to the point that the Administration, for all its high sounding talk about lowering inflation, hasn't matched the promise with performance.

The result? No confidence in the dollar, and confidence in Presidential management which diminishes by the day.

Registration of New Voters Underway

A newly formed non partisan statewide committee, Volunteers Organized for Trustworthy Elections, today announced the kick off of a drive to register a million new Texas voters during the month of September.

Mrs. Nancy Palm, a long time political activist in both major political parties stated: "It is a sad fact that over 3.5 million Texans fail to take five minutes to register to vote and become an active participant in the electoral process. This proud state which ranks near the top in so many areas is far down the line on voter participation.

Nationwide, the 1976 Presidential election saw the lowest voter turnout since 1948, with only 46.3% of the voting age population in Texas voting for either presidential candidate.

Almost nine million Texans are potential voters, but only five and a half million are currently registered. Deadline for registration to be eligible for the 1978 general election is October 6th.

Second Thoughts

by Tom Driskell

A twinge of apprehension grips one upon reading about the Congressional Committee's re-creation of the Kennedy Assassination. In that event we apparently have an inane melodrama which shows promise of a longer run than "Maw Perkins" had on radio. A lot of soap is involved, but the suspicion lurks that the old radio soap-opera produced more positive results.

The symbolism on the Congressional debacle, however is much stronger. Look, if you will, at the total Congressional action over the last several months, look closely, if your stomach can stand it. It can be hypothesized that Congress has an inability to take decisive action on the problems which confront this nation. If it is not an inability, the demonstration is an excellent facsimile thereof, amounting, from a productivity standpoint, to inactivity.

Unemployment, therefore, is by no means confined to the ghetto. Relief payments are fantastic in California and New York, but they are not even a candle against a laser compared to the compensation provided to those two effectively unemployed houses on Capitol Hill. Perhaps it is shame, or monotony, but Congress seems to be turning to past events, regurgitating them, re-chewing them in a ruminant fashion. The significance of a finding divergent from the presently drawn conclusions about a killing years ago is somewhat elusive.

If you assume the objective is to solve deficiency of employment in the ranks of investigators, and provide certain members of Congress with simulation of activity the whole show becomes irrelevantly logical. There is a valid taxpayer question, however, and it should be answered. Really, has not enough money been spent by a deficit spending government on looking for obscure whys?

The only beneficial aspect of these investigations that is detectable to we Texans is overtime for Dallas policemen and the demonstration of stature by Henry B. Gonzales, representative from San Antonio who was smart enough and honest enough to divorce himself from the "snipe hunt".

The serious aspect of all the investigations is the functional inability of Congress to confront and effectively deal with today's problems as contrasted to the malignant bureaucracy which is putting a new bar in your cage and mine with its rigidity.

The Congressional backward drift is almost certain evidence that Neroism is afield in epidemic proportions and there seems to be a shortage of fiddles.

Winter Gardening

One of the problems faced by many home gardeners across Texas when starting a fall or summer garden is getting those so-called "winter" vegetable seeds to come up when planted during the heat of summer.

Many cold-hardy vegetables such as lettuce, carrots, broccoli, and others germinate poorly when the soil temperature is high. So, the home gardener is faced with a real problem--trying to get seed to germinate and grow during harsh and unfavorable conditions.

One direct way to avoid this problem is to set out transplants. Seed of most fall and winter vegetables can be started in flats, coffee cans, milk cartons, peat pots or peat pellets in areas where they can be protected from excess summer heat. This is all fine and good if the home gardener is interested in going through the process of transplanting, but often home gardeners prefer to seed the vegetables directly into the garden and thin them to a proper stand at a later date. If they desire, these thinned plants can be planted in other areas of the garden or in areas where perhaps the stand is relatively poor.

The solution to this problem is to figure out how to seed directly into the garden and get the plants to come up to a proper stand. One obvious method would be to provide a better environment in which the seed can germinate and thereby grow into a healthy and vigorous seedling. Believe it or not, this can be done in most areas of Texas by simply modifying the seeding area right in the garden.

A simple way to do this is to mark off the desired rows in the garden. In most areas of Texas, it is important that the soil be bedded prior to planting. This is especially true in fall gardens and in areas where excess rain occurs during the fall gardening season.

After the garden has been bedded and the rows marked off, take a hoe handle or stick and make a seed furrow. The seed furrow will vary in depth but in general is usually 3/4 to one inch deep. Next comes a very important step. After the seed furrow has been made, take a watering can or water hose and apply water directly into the seed furrow. Apply sufficient water to wet the loosened soil to depth of two or three inches. In some cases you might have to apply water several times rather than once.

Always plant more seed than needed. After the water has soaked in, scatter the seed evenly along the furrow. Soaking the seed in water overnight will help get the germination process started. Instead of covering the seed with garden soil after it is sown, use a material such as compost, potting soil, peat moss or vermiculite. By using a media like compost as a covering material, you will provide a better environment in which the seed can germinate and grow.

Problems associated with soil crusting and resulting poor aeration will be eliminated. If you use a light-colored material, the seeding area will be cooler. With a material like compost, depth of seeding is still important but not critical. Small seed planted a little too deep will still come up. In a few days, depending on the crop planted, the seed should germinate and begin to emerge. It is especially important at this time that you do not allow the soil to dry out. Additional water should be applied as needed.

Once the plants have emerged, you might consider applying a protective shade or cover on the west side of the row to protect the plants from the intensive summer sun. This protection can be in the form of a board, cardboard, or shadetype cloth. Once the plants are an inch or two tall they should be thinned to the proper stand. From this time on, most crops will continue to grow and thrive and produce a highly productive crop of fall and winter vegetables.
