Reflections...

by Rev. Jim Miles
Thanksgiving has come and gone once more and for most of it is full-speed ahead between now and Christmas. The commercialization of Christmas has become overwhelming and it is my desire that each of us have before us the true meaning of Christmas. I suggest that this can best be done by home Bible Study. Believing it would be unrealistic to ask those who are not accustomed to daily devotionals to read from God's word, I would suggest the following scriptures, taken from the lectionary, of my denomination, as a possible guide for Advent preparation:

Week of Dec. 3: Isa. 63: 16-64:4; I Cor. 1:3-9; Mark 13:32-37.

Week of Dec. 10: Isa. 40: 1-5, 9-11; II Peter 3:8-14; Mark 1:1-8.

Week of Dec. 17: Isa. 61:1-4, 8-11; I Thess. 5:16-24; John 1:6-8, 19-28.

Week of Dec. 14: II Samuel 7:8-16; Rom. 16: 25-27; Luke 1:26-38.
And, special reading for Christmas day: Isa. 62: 6-12; Col. 1:15-20; Matt. 1:18-25.

May the grace of God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit be with each of you both through this joyous season and forevermore.

these shows are available at the County Agents Office.

4-H members are urged to come by the County Agents Office and complete their entry cards as soon as possible.

Sonora Minister Speaks...

According to the church calendar we will be starting a new church year this coming Sunday. Advent is upon us and what a refreshing thought this brings to those who belong to the body of Christ. Almost everyone gets involved with the Christmas spirit but in so doing, many become involved by world standards.

The world has a natural attitude that would subtract the Christ out of Christmas and that sounds like the only thing left is a sound of mess. Perhaps this points to the great dilemma confronting America this Advent season of 1978. Not only is Christ subtracted from Christmas but also in all parts of life. Divorce rates have never been higher; and almost always we find people bewildered when you ask what role Christ has in their life. People are so spiritually deprived today they can't even make the connection.

Life without Christ is in fact life without God. You could be one of the most religious people on the face of the earth, Sunday school teacher, leader or elder in the church and still not have the living Christ in your life, and the greatest tragedy of all is such a person is minus a right relationship with the living God.

This new church year offers you an opportunity for life that is equal to life with God. Advent centers our attention on a real person. A baby which was born in Bethlehem almost twenty centuries ago.

The power for real Christian living is not in certain religious acts, but rather in Jesus Christ. Without Him in our life we have a meaningless existence. So I say this to all of you, having been redeemed by Christ, it is proper to attend church, but let it be for the right reason. Don't go to church because it is a religious practice and something good should happen to you just because you went.

This Sunday, the first of Advent, attend church seeking to know more about the baby Jesus who came for you. It is in Him and Him alone that you will come to know the Christian life. It is only by faith in Him that we are right with God, and it is only through faith in Him that God will ever be pleased with your life.

Have a blessed preparation for the coming of the baby Jesus, happy life with the real and living Christ and God our savior.

Lone Star Gas has already laid the groundwork for your energy future.

The jobs of more than 100,000 Texans employed in plants served by Lone Star depend on gas for heat processing or as a product ingredient. Long-term gas supplies are needed to preserve existing jobs, create new ones, and meet the requirements of our residential customers. Fortunately, Lone Star is in an excellent position to continue energizing our area's economy.

Lone Star has an 11,400-mile gas gathering and transmission pipeline system that connects with basins estimated to contain 50% of the remaining onshore gas reserves in the United States.

This same network also enables Lone Star to accept gas deliveries from growing offshore production in the Gulf of Mexico.

No other gas company in Texas has a pipeline network as extensive or versatile as the one we've put together and constantly modernized during the 69 years Lone Star has been in business.

No other gas company in Texas has the built-in opportunity to buy gas as selectively, to bargain as well for the best prices on new gas, as Lone Star.

Our pipelines can have an important effect on your energy future, because it's here where Lone Star is strong - not that gas companies from across America will be shopping hard for new gas reserves.

Here's your key to the energy storehouse.

We fully understand the efforts of other gas utilities and transmission companies to get new gas supplies. Their areas also want this most economical of fuels for industrial use.

Nevertheless, Lone Star's obligation is to the million-plus residential, commercial and industrial customers who depend on us to meet their energy needs in the decades ahead.

We're determined to meet our obligation in full by getting our area's fair share of new gas reserves as they enter the market in volumes large enough to be handled economically.

It can be done because of Lone Star's pipeline system.

Our gathering system goes into areas where other gas companies haven't begun to build. Our far-reaching transmission network gives us excellent capabilities. Our underground storage system often lets us take deliveries when many companies cannot.

All we need to buy the gas you'll need in the decades ahead is your understanding that we must recover the actual cost of the new gas we buy.

Give us that, and we'll deliver you the best gas bargains that money can buy. But the longer we wait, the more expensive the bargains will be. And we're eager to get on with the job.

Lone Star Gas Company

We're working energetically for your area's future.

High School Basketball Action Into Full Swing This Week

Basketball in Sonora got into full swing last night as both boys and girls travelled to Junction for four contests.

Bill Shaw is in his first year as the boys cage coach, coming from Richards High School where his teams went to the state semi-finals in 1975 and won the Class B Championship in 1976.

Shaw inherits several returning lettermen from last year's team including

Pat Street, David Reyna, Dan Lawson, Johnny Reyna, Eddie Favila, Jesse Vela and Kent Cagle.

Shaw commented he had some good size and talent on the team, but that it would probably take some time to get the players use to "his way of doing things."

Walter Holik is the new girls basketball coach and faces the change to full court basketball for the girls.

Holik has several experienced players returning from last year's team including Jamie Condra, Paige Pollard, Pam Powers and Jerri Dunn, who will be out for an undetermined amount of time with an injury.

Mary Gomez and Emily Elliott also saw varsity action last year.

Holik is using a platoon system with two teams rotating in and out of games.

The girls should get a stiff test this weekend along with the girl's junior varsity as they host a tournament with a field comprised of several of the strongest teams in the area.

Iraan will face Wall in the opening game of the tournament at 4 p.m. Thursday, and the Sonora J.V. will tackle Eldorado at 5:30 p.m.

Ozona will play Reagan County at 7 p.m., while host Sonora will take on Lakeview at 8:30 p.m.

Final games are set for Saturday. The Consolation game will start at 5 p.m., the third place game at 6:30 p.m. with the Championship battle set for 8 p.m.

While the girls are hosting the tournament, the boys will take their varsity, J.V. and freshman teams to Reagan County for games Friday night.

See the West Texas Sunday Shopper for game results.

Tonya Ridgeway [55] goes up to control a jump ball in the Sonora eighth grade girls' 52-15 victory over Junction. Also pictured is Debra Zapata [17] and Tanna Tyler [background].

Junior High Cagers Win Three

The Sonora seventh grade girls jumped off to a quick 12-2 first quarter lead, only to watch a Junction comeback effort pull out the victory in the waning seconds of the game, 20-16.

The Eagles pumped in two field goals in the last 15 seconds to break a long-standing deadlock at 16-all.

Theresa Marlow had seven of her nine points in the first quarter, but got into foul trouble and soon picked up her fifth personal.

The Colts never trailed in the game until Junction made the final two baskets.

Other scorers for the Colts were Kate Parker with four and Patricia Bible with three.

Led by Ronnie Pollard's 12 points, the seventh grade Sonora boys pushed their season record to 3-0, easily downing the Junction Eagles, 28-16.

The Colts led 16-2 at halftime, then widened the gap to 26-6 at the end of the third quarter.

Reserves played the remainder of the game.

Jeff Brittain and Matt Favila each had six points, while Wendell Yarborough and Eugene Gonzales each added two to round out the scoring.

Delma Noriega, Sonya Ridgeway and Debra Zapata all hit in double figures as the Sonora eighth grade girls trounced the Junction Eagles, 52-15, for their strongest showing of the year.

The Colts jumped to a 30-6 margin at halftime, and despite free substituting, enlarged the gap to 46-10 at the end of the third stanza.

Noriega had 17 points; Ridgeway, 14; and Zapata, 12, while Anna Mata had five, and Mirasol Rameriz added four.

Despite cold shooting in the second half, the Sonora eighth grade boys used a stingy defense to easily defeat Junction, 23-8.

Occasionally using a tough press, the Colts rolled to a 17-4 edge at halftime over the taller Eagles.

The combination of the defense and the press completely shut out Junction in the third quarter as they pulled farther ahead, 21-4.

Chris Reynolds led the Colt scoring with 12 points, and Marney Sorenson dumped in four more.

Espy Whitehead, DeVoe Smith and Phillip Kemp each had two points, and Timmy Doan added one.

All four Sonora Junior High teams will be in action Thursday night in Iraan, and then will travel to Brady for four games next Monday.

Early Settler Recalls 'Living'

Compiled by Kent Keeth
Director, The Texas
Collection

Pioneer settlers of a remote new region often carried on a subsistence existence for a number of years. They ate what they could grow, wore what they could weave, and used such tools and furnishings as they could make for themselves. Then, almost suddenly, one or more of the nearby villages would develop into a trade center, the railroads would arrive, and even the rural communities had new access to processed materials and manufactured goods.

Redmour G. Gaines, born in 1858, grew up along the town of Valley Mills, in Bosque County. His recollections of his home in the 1860s include mention of chinked-log cabins, dirt floors covered by home-loomed rag carpets, and meals cooked on the fireplace with skillets and ovens, "as there were no cook stoves in the country, and but few people had ever seen one."

By the 1870s, changes in the settlers' way of life and in the same area itself were taking place at a fast and furious pace. A portion of Gaines' reminiscences for 1873 appear below, and illustrates and speed with which the frontier became absorbed into the modern and mechanized world.

"This was a year of home building all over central and north Texas, as lumber could be had in Waco and Dallas. All kinds of rough lumber could be brought for $16.00 per thousand, shingles $4 or $5 per thousand. The standard home consisted of one room-16 x 16, shed room 10 x 16, front gallery 10 x 16. A two room house seemed to be big enough for most any family.

"This was the first year that the cow men really had a right to squeal about the settlers plowing up the grass. You could ride out to big prairie and look any direction and see great black spots where some settler had ripped up the grass and was building a grasshopper fence around his plowed land. This fence consisted of posts eight feet apart and three rails or poles tied to the post with rawhide strips about one inch wide. The farmer could get out in winter and skin enough poverty cows to get his fence built without any nails being used as they cost 25c per pound at that time.

"This was the year for the cook stove—the rain proof—and the stove pipe poked out through the shed room of every home in the country. In the country the old skillet, dinner pot, and bake oven went to the scrap heap. You could buy a Charter Oak stove with forty pieces for $45. The women sure went on a strike against the old fire place that the poets write about.

"This was the last year of the ox wagon rolling up to a camp meeting; they simply went out of style. You could buy a La Belle, Studebaker, Milburn, Cooper, Mitchell wagon for $75.00—$25 down and $50 in the fall. It seemed that everybody bought a new wagon for the summer camp meetings.

"Painted bedsteads, chairs with cane bottoms, rocking chairs, and other new furniture appeared in the old timers' home. "This year the first sewing machine came into the country—made by Governor and Baker Sewing Machine Co. They claimed it was the first lock stitch machine made. It was the first one I ever saw. They sold them for $45 spot cash and did a good business.

"This year we quit drinking out of the long handle gourd. The tin peddler hit the country. He would trade the women tin milk pans for chickens, eggs, and butter; and he had the finest line of tin dipper that made the water look good compared to the old gourd. Every house got a new tin dipper if it took the last old hen. Take an old Texas who had been drinking water out of a gourd all his life and hand him a new dipper full of water—it would look so clear and bright when he cut his eye down at it that he could not help stepping back and giving a snort."

Gaines' memoirs chronicle a number of other notable events and trends:

the inauguration of Gov. Coke, the decreasing occurrence of cattle drives up the Chisholm Trail, the arrival in the area of "silk hat gamblers" and rustlers, the advent of further settlers in covered wagons, and the fencing of the range with barbed wire.

The year 1873 remained in his view as the period of the greatest increase in Central Texans' standard of living.

Cake For Conversation

Talk about a versatile cake. Bake it in a variety of pans—tube pan, loaf or square pans. No frosting needed for this moist pound cake, just a sprinkling of confectioners sugar over a cake which combines Baker's German's sweet chocolate and flaked coconut in a taste to remember. Ideal to bake in a loaf pan and wrap as a gift from your kitchen.

- Chocolate-Coconut Pound Cake
- 2 cups unsifted cake flour
 - 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon vinegar
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 1 cup butter or margarine
 - 1-1/4 cups sugar
 - 1-1/4 teaspoons vanilla
 - 4 eggs
 - 1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate, chopped
 - 3/4 cup flaked coconut
 - 1/4 cup raisins*
- *Or use 2 tablespoons finely chopped maraschino cherries.

Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Add vinegar to milk; set aside. Cream butter until very light and fluffy. Gradually add sugar, beating thoroughly after each addition; add vanilla. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each until thoroughly blended. Add flour mixture alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Stir in chocolate, coconut and raisins. Pour into a 9x5-inch loaf pan which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake at 325° for 1 hour and 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 15 minutes; then remove from pan and finish cooling on rack. Note: Cake may be baked in a 9-inch tube pan for 1 hour and 15 minutes, two 8x4-inch loaf pans for 65 minutes or two 8-inch square pans for 50 minutes.

Venison Recipes...

Jellied Venison Salad
 2 cups cooked, diced, leftover roast of venison
 1-1/2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
 1/2 cup cold water
 1 bouillon cube
 1-1/2 cups boiling water
 1/4 cup vinegar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
 2 tablespoons pimiento, cut into small pieces
 4 or 5 chopped sweet pickles
 2 tablespoons diced celery
 1 tablespoon minced onion

2 or 3 tablespoons cooked, cut green beans
 Soak gelatin in cold water. Dissolve bouillon cube and gelatin in boiling water. Add vinegar and salt. Cool this mixture and when just beginning to set, add the rest of the ingredients. Pour into individual molds or a greased 8 inch square baking dish. Chill and serve on a bed of lettuce with mayonnaise.

Barbecued Venison Steak
 1 thick sirloin or t-bone venison steak
 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/8 teaspoon pepper
 1 teaspoon sugar
 1/4 teaspoon paprika
 Sauce:
 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 2 teaspoons salad oil
 1 tablespoon catsup
 1 teaspoon sugar
 1 teaspoon salt

Blend margarine or butter with mustard, salt, pepper, sugar and paprika. Rub this mixture well into the steak. Make sauce by mixing the last 5 ingredients listed. Brush a part of this sauce over the steak. Broil steak 20 to 30 minutes, according to doneness preferred. Leave door of broiler partly open. Watch steak carefully. Turn steak once. Brush frequently with remaining sauce.

Roasted Wild Turkey
 1 turkey, 8 to 10 pounds, ready-to-cook
 Salt and pepper
 8 cups partially dry bread cubes
 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
 2 to 3 teaspoons sage
 1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1-1/2 cups chopped onion
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup water
 Sprinkle turkey inside and out with salt pepper. Combine bread, celery, walnuts and seasonings. Cook onion in butter or margarine until tender, but not brown. Pour over bread mixture. Add the water and toss lightly. Spoon stuffing lightly into body cavity.
 Put remaining dressing in a greased casserole. Cover and bake in oven with turkey during last 30 minutes of roasting time. Truss bird. Cover breast with bacon slices and cheesecloth soaked in melted bacon fat. Place turkey, breast up, on rack in roasting pan. Roast at 375 F. for 20 to 25 minutes per pound or until tender, basting frequently with bacon fat and drippings in pan.
 Remove cheesecloth, skewers and string. Serves eight to ten.

Sporting Chance

By now everyone has settled into the realization that football is over, and basketball season will get into full swing this week.
 Basketball has always been popular in Eldorado but has never really had the same support in Sonora as football.
 Stop to think just a minute, and you'll realize there are even more students involved in basketball than football, and they deserve your support just as much as the football players.
 The annual Sonora Girls Tournament starts tomorrow with a strong lineup of area teams. It's a good place to start showing your support.
 This week's picking was just about as slim as last week's as I hit 11 of 10, bringing my season total to 72 percent.
 The bad thing about starting this thing is now I've got to finish it.
Kermit vs. Slaton
 It's the end of the line for the Yellowjackets. Nobody had scored on Colorado City since the third game of the season, then Slaton rolled up 33 points against them in last week's bi-district contest. Slaton 28-14.
Iraan vs. Haskell
 The Braves have a line that looks like it should be in the N.F.L. and speed to go with it. Iraan 21-14.
Angelo State vs. Oregon College of Education
 The last time O.C.E. was in a playoff with a Lone Star Conference team, they got beat 37-0. The Rams may be even better than the A&I squad that won that game. Angelo State 35-14.
Texas vs. Texas A&M
 All the Aggies think Thanksgiving is this week, but they've been playing just as confused for several weeks now. Texas 21-10.
Houston vs. Rice
 The Cougars may be calling Tech the "Bowl Weevils" after the Raiders tried to steal their Cotton. The Owls won't be so fortunate. Houston 38-14.
Arkansas vs. Texas Tech
 The Red Raiders want to go to the Cotton Bowl, but the Razorbacks get to burst the bubble that Houston blew up last week. Arkansas 28-21.
Army vs. Navy
 Navy looks more like the Air Force as high as they're flying this year, and Leamon Hall is a dorm at West Point this year instead of a quarterback. Navy 24-13.
Alabama vs. Auburn
 Being such a strong rivalry, this could be a close game, but I doubt it. Alabama 35-7.
Dallas vs. New England
 Two weeks ago I would have picked the Patriots in a runaway, but the Cowboys are almost at their Super Bowl peak of last year. Dallas 24-17.
Houston vs. Pittsburg
 Earl Campbell will get voted All-University, and the Oilers turn the trick on the Steelers for the second time. Houston 24-20.
Oakland vs. Denver
 Both teams are fighting for a playoff berth, but the Bronco offense has fizzled. Oakland 17-7.
Washington vs. Miami
 Both teams are struggling, trying to keep their playoff hopes alive, but the Dolphins still look stronger. Miami 16-6.
Minnesota vs. Philadelphia
 The old Vikings have caught the familiar scent of the playoffs again, and the Eagles aren't going to stop them. Minnesota 21-17.
New York Giants vs. Los Angeles Angeles
 Try this one for an upset. The Rams looked like world beaters early in the season, but they've started their usual end-of-the-season spiral. New York 24-21.
St. Louis vs. Detroit
 Both teams have been playing the spoiler role lately. But in this game, who's spoiling who? St. Louis 27-24.
Other Picks...
 Atlanta over Cincinnati, 21-13; New York Jets over Baltimore, 28-27; Cleveland over Seattle, 24-17; New Orleans over San Francisco, 14-13; Green Bay over Tampa Bay, 17-10.

Drilling Applications Down From 1977

Applications for permits to drill oil and gas tests in Texas totaled 17,541 in the first 10 1/2 months of 1978, compared with 20,898 in the same period of 1977.

Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in the 1978 period amounted to 20,636 against 24,291 in the year-earlier period, the Railroad Commission's Oil and Gas Division reported in a preliminary summary. The report showed 794 applications to drill new oil and gas tests were filed from Nov. 1 through Nov. 15, 1978. Applications to drill oil and gas tests totaled 1,029 in the year-earlier period. The report also showed 24 oil discoveries and 45 gas discoveries were completed in Texas in the Nov. 1-15 period.

Oil discoveries included six each in the Refugio and West Central Texas areas, five in North Texas, seven in deep South Texas, two in the Midland area and one each in the San Antonio and San Angelo areas. Gas discoveries included ten in Southeast Texas, in nine in the Refugio area, seven in deep South Texas, four each in West Central Texas, San Angelo and the Panhandle areas.

three in North Texas and two each in the Midland and Lubbock areas. The Oil and Gas Division listed 12,511 oil, gas or service well completions in the first 10 months of 1978, up from 11,443 a year ago. There were 403 oil completions in the first half of November 1978 against 311 in the same period last year. There were 235 gas completions in the 1978 period against 195 in the year-ago period. In the Nov. 1-15 period, 141 exploratory and field tests would up as dry holes.

Petroleum Refining Leads Industrial Production Rebound

Industrial production in Texas rebounded in September from a sharp decline a month earlier. The increase resulted as expanded production in manufacturing more than offset a decline in mining output.

The rise in factory output was almost equally divided between durable goods and nondurable goods. All durable goods industries posted gains in output with the exception of furniture and fixtures and stone, clay, and glass products. Petroleum refining registered the biggest increase in production in the nondurable goods industries and was followed by apparel and allied products, food, and textile mill products. Production, however, was off in chemicals and printing and publishing. Production of crude oil continued to drop and accounted for the decline in mining output. Increases ed output was posted by the drilling and metal, stone, and earth components of the index. Reflecting the gain in factory output, the manufacturing capacity utilization index rose in September to 104.0 percent of the 1972 base.

New Application Issued

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said a new Texas permit application form will lighten paperwork for many taxpayers and should lead to even greater efficiency in the Comptroller's Office. The re-designed tax permit application replaces three separate forms required of persons or firms before collecting and paying sales taxes, use taxes, or cigarette, cigar and tobacco taxes. "The simplified form will provide agreeable relief to many taxpayers who are suffering from overdoses of governmental paperwork," Bullock said.

The form was authorized for departmental use this month and an estimated 52,000 persons seeking tax permits are expected to use it during the next 12 months.

The old forms, collectively, contained six pages of instruction and information reporting blocks, calling for more than 60 separate pieces of information—much of it repetitive. The new form has one-third the number of pages and has only 35 information reporting blocks.

It is color-coded and will allow the Comptroller's Office to tabulate the information more accurately, lessening the chance of errors in processing that might cause taxpayer headaches later.

Both the instructions and accompanying application are printed in larger, easier-to-read type compared to the old forms.

The application forms are available from the Comptroller's Revenue Processing division in Austin and from all 66 field offices operated by the Comptroller throughout the state.

Drilling Activity Increases With Prices

In October, 1970, U.S. crude oil production peaked, then began a decline that continues today. The significance of this development never has been realized fully by the public.

Just 36 months later, it was overshadowed by another occurrence: The Middle East embargo, instituted as a political weapon by the Oil Producing and Exporting Countries (OPEC). The dramatic embargo made a lasting impression. Americans became aware that the era of domestic sufficiency of petroleum had ended, perhaps forever.

The embargo and its aftermath produced much political rhetoric. It prompted vows of American energy self-sufficiency. But, the talk has produced no oil and gas. Five years after the embargo, this country has accomplished little toward alleviating the effects of another.

When the embargo began, U.S. production of crude oil was 9.2-million barrels a day. Today, it is 8.7-million. Domestic demand was 17.3-million barrels a day. Today, it is 19-million. Total imports amounted to 6.2-million barrels a day, 35-percent of supply. Today, imports are 7.8-million, 42-percent of supply. The OPEC portion of imports then was 15-percent. Today, it is 35.2-percent. Average gasoline consumption in 1973 was 6.7-million barrels a day. Today, it is 7.4-million. A plan to store a 90-day emergency supply of crude oil has been in effect for three years. As yet, however, there is only six days' supply.

The only statistic which improved during this period concerned drilling starts. There were 46,479 wells completed nationwide in 1977, compared with 27,602 in 1973.

One word explains this turnaround: Price. The higher prices received for newly found crude oil and for natural gas produced and sold in the same state financed the upswing in drilling. And without these additional wells, U.S. production of both oil and gas would have declined even more.

However, recent federal energy legislation extends price controls over this intrastate gas and does nothing to remove the very low ceiling on domestic crude oil found prior to the base date for "old" oil—May 15, 1973. This extends a period in which U.S. producers have not come close to recouping the world price for their crude oil. The average price for a barrel of U.S. crude last year was approximately $9.00; the world price was between $14.00 and $15.00.

To the extent that prices for oil and gas are held below the free market price, the discovery and development of new reserves will continue to be curtailed.

Frank Bond Named Conservation Rancher

Sutton County Stockman Honored For His Range Management

by Virgil Poloczek

Frank Bond owns and operates a 4032 acre ranch in Northeast part of Sutton County. His ranch is stocked with cattle, sheep and goats.

He has practiced proper grazing use and deferred grazing for many years and has increased the quantity and quality of his range forage. He has tree-dozed mesquite and seeded sideoats grama, green sprangletop, K.R.

Bluestem and sorghum almun following dozing.

Frank was a charter member of the Edwards Plateau Soil and Water Conservation District when it was established on December 18, 1946 and served on the board until October 5, 1966.

Frank has been active in community affairs. He has served as secretary of the Sonora School Board and served as a member for a number of years. He has served as a member of the Sutton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee and the Farmers Home Administration Loan Committee. He has been a director and active member of the Sonora Lions Club. He has served 24 years on the Federal Land Bank Association and is presently serving as chairman of the board. Frank served on the board of directors for Southwest Texas Electric Co-op Inc. for 24 years.

Winterize Herd Takes Planning

With winter approaching, stockmen can take certain steps to "winterize" their cow herd for a more efficient operation, points out Clint Langford, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Efficiency is increased mainly by culling unproductive cows that would otherwise consume costly supplemental feed.

Clint lists these steps as part of a cow herd "winterizing" checklist:

1. Sell all cows found open in a pregnancy test.

2. Treat eyes for injury, blindness and tumors.

3. Check teeth for excessive wear and decay—both cause problems in eating and loss of weight.

4. Inspect ears for ticks and treat as needed.

5. Treat any cow showing signs of stress from internal parasites.

6. Remove all cows in poor condition since they probably will not conceive next year.

7. Watch for lameness and any other problem in structural soundness that might limit the cow's ability to forage.

8. Check udders and teats for injuries that may limit the milk when the calf does arrive.

9. Search last year's records for health problems that may limit a cow's future usefulness, such as retained placenta, calving difficulty or prolapsed uteri.

"Winterizing" the cow herd is just good, sound management, contends the county agent. This saves on supplemental feed and also reduces the competition for range grasses.

Schleicher Cotton Farmers Hold Key

Schleicher County cotton farmers hold the key to the prices they are receiving for their 1978 crop. The key is orderly marketing.

"The manner in which producers market their crop has a great bearing on the price level," points out Dr. Carl Anderson, cotton marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Although the market still fairly strong, most cotton is traditionally sold in Texas in December and January. Holding back some cotton and marketing only a limited amount can help bolster prices."

Going into this year's crop season, the cotton market looked fairly strong due to the drop in domestic production and stable foreign production, says Anderson.

But, once the harvest season starts and the new crop hits the market, prices tend to go down. However, with cotton supplies tight as they are this year, orderly marketings can contribute to a more stable price pattern.

"With the week domestic demand for cotton which currently exists, bunched marketings will cause a slump in prices," contends the marketing specialist.

"Producers short on cash may want to condense for several months. This would help even out marketings and maintain a higher price level."

Looking ahead, prospects for a favorable price for 1979 cotton depend on the anticipated crop size which now appears to be substantially larger than this year's crop, notes Anderson.

Prices could easily be down near the 1979 CCC loan rate of 50.23 cents per pound for Strict Low Middling 1-1/16 inch cotton this time next year.

Records Help in Deer Watch

Records can be a big help to the landowner in evaluating his deer population, says a wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Hunters can help landowners by providing information on deer harvested, such as deer ages and weights, general body conditions, and antler characteristics of males. Armed with such information, landowners can make management decisions from year to year that will enhance both the deer population and their livestock operation.

Screwworm Warning!!

WARNINGS ARE BEING ISSUED that screwworms have been discovered in areas of South Texas and Northeastern Mexico, which are used extensively for wintering over cattle, notes Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

"Experts reveal that screwworms have been indicated throughout the Hill Country and Edwards Plateau," Brown said. "They also appear to be moving from the heavily infested area west of the Pecos River."

Confirmed cases of the costly parasite have increased dramatically in 1978, after a relatively light year in 1977, Brown stated.

Second Thoughts....

by Tom Driskell
 One is rather aghast at the fatalities associated with the Jonesville incident, until it is held up against a historical background of similar splinter sects.
 It would seem that when the splinter sects are formed, religious, or otherwise, in the pure white light of idealism, they almost invariably degenerate into autocracies of a tyrannical nature. The reaction of the sect of surrounding societies usually is steeped in paranoia, virtually destroying beneficial interaction. Jonesville was not new, only a higher-blown version of the communes of the 1950's and 1960's and the earlier communes of the mid 1800's in Indiana and Illinois.

 All began as good ideas, but invariably they were unable to accomplish their stand objectives, or their leader's objectives with one exception. That exception was the Charles Manson entourage, a pseudoreligious group. It would appear that there is, as suggested by a Munich newspaper, something in the California environment which is conducive to lunacy of sects, and watching one becomes less and less certain that the contributing factors are confined to California.

 The basis of all the sects is an unwillingness on the part of the individual to think out his problems and an over developed willingness to let someone else solve them, on their own terms.

 It is quite simple, you turn your problems over to others, and gradually degenerate into a totally guided sheeplike (ovine) creature with little decision capacity beyond eating and other nature's calls.
 It would be fine if the eternal benevolence of the leadership could be guaranteed, but such is not the case.
 Leadership, when confronted by total submission, in an isolated location, devoid of responsibility, has invariably turned paranoid. Examples are many: The Classical Inquisition from 1325 to 1830, the National Socialists from 1933 to 1945, Stalinism from 1924 to 1955, and others to numerous to list.

 Against his predecessors Jones is one small comma in a virtual encyclopedia, neither the first nor last, and certainly not significant for size, nor lethality.
 The only real significance probably lies in the distinct possibility that Jonesville is a small wheel within a gigantic one. How many of your prerogatives, and mine, have been assimilated by our non-bolent bureaucracy within the past few weeks?

 Will we stage a voter's manner, following that lead goat on a scenic tour of the abattoir until our prerogatives for any decision are gone.
 No worry though, just in case you notice a distinct almond, burnt almond that is, taste in your punch—it is too late; that was cyanide.

 There wasn't much excitement this last week in the halls of SHS. Quarter exams were given Monday through Wednesday, and school was let out at 2:30 p.m. for the Thanksgiving holidays. The faculty and all the students were ready for a break and a chance to relax. Report cards will be given out today.

Cable T.V. Adds Atlanta Station

Don Dooley, manager of Television Enterprises, Inc., announced that beginning on Friday the company will be adding WTCG-TV, an Atlanta, Ga. independent television station, to its basic cable service.

By adding WTCG through the satellite system, and dropping Channel 11, the cable company's microwave transceiver system will have less of a burden thus improving the reception on other stations and Home Box Office, Dooley explained.

KTVT-TV, Channel 11 from Fort Worth, will be dropped from the programming to make room for the new station.
