County Commissioners Open Jail Bidding

Sutton County Commissioners got the green light from the Texas Jail Standards Board to open bidding for the construction of the new jail.

County Judge J.W. Elliott was authorized to begin advertising for construction bids to be opened at a special meeting of the Commissioners Court Feb. 23.

A $700,000 bond issue was passed by Sutton County voters in March after state officials had found 113 violations in the current jail facility.

The Commissioners also approved a contract with Southwestern Appraisal Company with completion of the appraisal of the county's taxable property set for May 31.

Charles Grave talked to the Commissioners about the construction of a drainage ditch on his recently purchased property adjacent to the cemetery and IH-10.

Graves stated since both his property and the cemetery land have problems with drainage, possibly by working together they could solve the problem.

No immediate action was taken.

Newly-elected Commissioner Juan Carlos Gonzales moved to raise the salary of Dorothy Harrell from $50 to $75 a month. Mrs. Harrell currently performs a number of duties for the county road department, and the Commissioners agreed to the request.

In other action the Commissioners approved Virgil Polocsek to do repair work on the flood control dams around Sonora in his spare time, amended the budget with a reallocation of Revenue Sharing Funds, made County Extension Agent secretary Melissa Blair a county employee to save on Paperwork confusion, and appointed Judge Elliott, County and District Clerk Erna Lee Turner, Sheriff and Tax Assessor-Collector Bill Webster, County Treasurer Mutha V. Trainer, and 1978 grand jurors Abelino Sanchez, Jr. Steve Swift, Bailey Rogers and Todd Churchhill to the County Salary Grievance Committee.

Commissioners present included Gonzales, P.E. Adams, Preston Love and Bill Wade.

Manhunt Suspect Arrested Jan. 13

An arrest has been made in Beaumont of the persons being sought for the assault on DPS Officer Dwight Hardin and the kidnapping of an area youth. Both incidents took place January 13.

James Harvey Jones is being held in Beaumont on charges of armed robbery there and bond has been set at $35,000.

Ranger Billy Taylor and Sheriff Billy Payne of Kountz arrested the subject on information obtained from the local sheriff's office.

Jones will be returned to Sutton County pending disposition of criminal charges in Beaumont.

The subject was in possession of Hardin's weapon at the time of his arrest.

Burglary Suspects In Kimble Jail

Two suspects have been jailed in Kimble County Jail and charged with burglary.

These same two suspects are wanted in connection with three burglaries that occurred in Sutton County during the past several months.

Some merchandise taken in the Sutton County robberies has been recovered in the arrest.

Sheriff Bill Webster says the burglaries occurred at hunting cabins located in the eastern part of the county and the western portion of Kimble County and items from silverware to chainsaws were taken.

Suspects are facing charges in Kimble County and Webster says his office is still investigating the incidents.

Sonic Drive-in Opens

Billy Burch, manager of Sonora's newest business, the Sonic Drive-in, takes an order over the intercom as the new operation opened Monday. The opening was a huge success, Burch said, even better than he had hoped for.

...Reflections...

By Rev. Jim Miles
A story is told of a small congregation in the grain belt of this country which had a long history of financial difficulty. The governing body of the church asked one of their own, one they considered to be an excellent businessman, to be the church treasurer for a year. The man accepted, but on the following conditions. First, he would not be asked to give any financial report until the year was over. Second, no one would even ask him how the church was doing. At the end of the year the man gave his financial report. All the notes had been paid, the church was debt free, and there was money in the bank. The members were astounded. How could this have happened! None of them had given any more than in previous years.

When asked for an explanation he said: "All of you know that I own the only grain company in town. All of you trade with me. Whenever you brought grain to me, I skimmed 10 per cent right off the top. That went into the church account." He added, "None of you even missed it." Whether this story really happened or not, and a friend of mine testifies that it really did, the message is clear. The gifts we make, of our time and of our money are mere tokens. We could each give much more of our time and our money to the work of God's church, for the charities that we love, for causes that are worthy. We could give more and never even miss what we have given. In fact, we would be enriched by the

Homestead Exemptions Explained

Effective January 1, 1979 the Sonora Independent School District will operate with the mandatory residence homestead exemption for all property owners who can qualify their property as residential homesteads.

The amount of the exemption allowed shall be $5,00 of the market value.

Texas law defines homesteads as the residence of a person claiming the exemption, or the former residence of the person claiming it and who intends to return to it and who does not claim another homestead elsewhere.

A married couple may claim a rural homestead consisting of up to 200 acres of land, and a single person 100 acres, as a homestead if the following requirements are met.

The person making the claim must be an agricultural producer, residing on the land, and he must be using the land to conduct his agricultural enterprise. The land may consist of several tracts not necessarily close to each other. The owner must use all tracts for agricultural production and may not claim more than 200 acres.

Any homestead not used for agricultural enterprises is considered an urban homestead. An urban homestead consists of a lot not exceeding $10,000 in value.

In order to be eligible to claim a homestead, a person must have a taxable interests in it. Examples of taxable interests include undivided interests, life estates, tenancies in common, or rented premises if the tenant is liable for the taxes.

Only one homestead per family per piece of property is allowed. Each person may receive only one exemption for homestead. A single person may claim one homestead.

A person claiming a property as residence homestead may temporarily rent said homestead property without changing its status, so long as he claims no other homestead elsewhere, and it is the intention of the homesteader to return to the property.

Applications for homestead exemptions will be taken at the school tax office between January 1, 1979 and April 30, 1979. There is a space at the bottom on the back of inventory sheets that can be used for an application but the tax office would like to see every applicant if possible, so that they might know if their application is approved.

Tax assessor/collector Don O. Wootan urges all home owners who feel they are qualified, to help their the tax office.

Graduated Mortgage Loan Program Now Available

A new program of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development called Graduated Payment Mortgage (GPM) now makes it possible for many Americans to purchase homes more easily than in the past. Under GPM, prospective homeowners who expect their incomes to increase can take advantage of lower payment mortgage plans which reduce early-term payments. "GPM is an immensely attractive new program," says Lawrence B. Simons, HUD Assistant Secretary for Housing and Federal Housing Commissioner. "It is carefully designed to help millions of families and individuals do what many thought they could not afford: buy a home right now. Obviously, our Department is enthusiastic about GPM, and we at HUD from the 82 field offices around the country to headquarters here in Washington - want to help people participate."

The GPM program, tried by HUD/FHA on an experimental basis beginning in November 1976, was revised and made permanent by legislation in October 1977. In addition to establishing GPM's on a permanent basis, the legislation authorized an increase in mortgage limits for FHA single family homes from $45,000 to $60,000, and reduced downpayments by nearly one-half. Under the GPM plan, buyers downpayments are reasonable. However, because the program stipulates that the mortgage amount cannot exceed 97 percent of house value, including deferred interest, GPM downpayments generally are slightly higher than under regular HUD/FHA mortgage insurance programs. On a $50,000 house under GPM, the downpayment is about $3,000 depending on the plan. An additional benefit of the GPM plan is that most home buyers can deduct from income tax returns the entire interest payment on their loan. With GPM, in the early years of homeownership, the most if not all of the monthly payment is interest. What makes low early-term payments possible is that what is in effect an additional loan is added to the outstanding mortgage balance, and the additional money is repaid by slightly increased payments in later years.

Recent government statistics illustrate the potential of a program that gives home buyer additional financial assistance. Data show that although 46 percent of U.S. families could afford to buy a median-priced home in 1970, only 27 percent could do so in 1976. The dramatic drop is in direct proportion to soaring housing prices, with median cost of a house rising from $23,000 in 1970 to $49,000 in 1977. (The average cost of a house may be as high as $78,000 by 1981, according to the statistics.) A spokesman for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board recently noted that the GPM method has the potential of increasing homeownership by 2.5 million households. Under a standard FHA-approved home mortgage, the monthly payment to principal and interest on a $50,000 mortgage would be $402.50. Under GPM Plan III, payments would start at $304. For the next five years the payments would increase 7 1/2 percent a year, leveling off at $436.35 the sixth year and staying at that level for the remainder of the mortgage. Prospective homeowners can make application for the GPM plan through participating FHA-approved lender. Although anyone can apply for the program provided he or she meets certain eligibility requirements, Assistant Secretary Simons point out that the GPM plan has greatest appeal to first-time home buyers in the $15,000 to $25,000 income range, and "it enables them to tailor their installment payments to their expanding income."

In order for a homeowner to be eligible for the GPM plan he or she must meet the following requirements:

1. Satisfactory credit record
2. Available cash down-payment
3. Steady income, expected to increase
4. Dwelling must meet or exceed HUD's Minimum Property Standards.

"GPM can be a boon not only to young Americans who dream of owning their own homes," says Simons, "but also to home building and related industries, and as a stimulant to the economy as a whole."

Book Describes Country Living

"Living on a Few Acres," the 1978 Yearbook of Agriculture, describes both the pitfalls and satisfactions of living in the country, according to Clint Langford, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The yearbook is intended as a practical guide to country living. It is mainly for those who do not intend to gain their principal income from the land but rather have a job in town or some other source of income. The book's 48 chapters were written mainly by specialists from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and state land grant universities. The articles cover many aspects of part-time farming, including production for family use or supplemental income, explains Clint. Five sections of the book include information on pluses and minuses, acquiring the right spot, improvements, how to make the most of the land, and selling the property. There are specific articles on raising vegetables, grapes, berries, ornamental plants, herbs, nuts, poultry, pigs, goats, rabbits, Christmas trees and earth worms. Copies of the 472-page yearbook, which includes 32 pages of color photos, may be purchased for $7 from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402. Ask for stock number 001-000-03809-5. Members on Congress have limited copies of the 1978 yearbook for free distribution to constituents, notes the county agent.

 LITTLE KNOWN FACTS
 Age is a factor in getting common colds. Children between two and six usually get more colds, have them longer and develop more complications than older youngsters. After the age of six, the frequency and severity of colds lessen.

Although many believe colds result from exposure to cold weather or chilling, some studies suggest that the association with cold weather is probably due to children crowding together indoors at this time, causing more efficient transmission of cold viruses from child to child.

Bronco Bits

By Annabelle Gonzales

Sonora High School students enjoyed a three-day weekend. They were dismissed from classes Friday due to the Sutton County Livestock Show held last Friday and Saturday.

Being dismissed from classes didn't stop S.H.S. basketball activities from continuing. All four teams played against the Crane Golden Cranes. Unfortunately the J.V. girls were the only ones that could secure a victory.

The J.V. came out winning as they stomped the Cranes, 52-38. Jessica Robledo was the leading scorer with 20 points. Vicki Sheppard netted 10 for a season high. Other scorers were Rosa Noriega, Celia Hernandez and Paula Friess with four; Tonya Evans and Maray West each with three; and Debbie Kemp and Sandi Wright with two.

Due to lack of practice, not only for the J.V. boys, but for all the basketball teams, they were embarrassed, 60-14. Johnny Doan led the scoring with 10 points. John Blankenship and Joe David Favila each had two points.

The varsity girls lost their first district game also against Crane, 53-34. The girls also lost Jamie Condra, one of the starters and leading scorers, earlier Friday morning as her knee gave out on her during practice. Condra had injured her knee earlier in the season. How long she will be out is still undetermined.

The varsity boys had a physically rough time against the Golden Cranes as they were defeated, 52-42. Pat Street was the leading scorer with 20. Dan Lawson followed with 13; Kent Cagle, four; David Creek and David Reyna each with two points; and Cody Savell, one.

The annual Sonora Speech Tournament will be held Feb. 9 and 10. There will be a total of 17 teams participating. This occurs at the same time as the Fling Ding which is causing speech students difficulty in finding housing. Anyone who has any spare room and could keep out-of-town participants please contact Mr. Chris Cassell or Linda Smith. Judges for the speech meet will be faculty members and townspeople.

Thought for the Week: "Heads seldom swell until the mind stops growing."

J.V. Girls Blast Crane, 52 - 38

The junior varsity girls pulled off the only victory Sonora could muster Friday night as they thrashed Crane, 52-38.

The Broncos nearly iced the game quickly, as they went ahead 22-12 at the end of the opening period.

The Sonora J.V. edged farther, 33-22 at halftime, then expanded the lead to 43-23 going into the final stanza.

The Golden Cranes managed to gain a little ground on the Bronco reserves, but the game was already out of reach. Jessica Robledo paced the Sonora attack with 20 points, while Vicki Sheppard hit for a season-high 10.

Other Bronco scorers were Paula Friess, Rosa Noriega and Celia Hernandez, all with four;

Tonya Evans and Maray West, both with three; and Debbie Kemp and Sandi Wright, each with two.

Crane Downs J.V. Boys

The Sonora junior varsity boys ran headlong into a brick wall Friday night as they were thumped by Crane, 60-14.

end of the first quarter. Although they outscored their visitors 8-7 in the second period, the Golden Cranes roared back to go ahead, 44-12, at the end of the third stanza.

Crane outgunned the locals 16-2 in the closing period to cinch the win. Johnny Doan accounted for nearly all the Sonora scoring with 10 points, while John Blankenship and Joe David Favila each added two.

Girls Softball Meeting Set

An important meeting of the Sonora Girls Softball Association has been called by league president Kay Holdridge. Slated for 7 p.m. Thursday night in the Elementary Cafeteria, plans for next year's season will be the main topic of discussion.

All officers, coaches and parents and any other interested individuals are urged to attend.

Girls Bomb Del Rio

The Sonora Bronco girls put three players in double figures Monday night as they bombed Del Rio, 73-40. Paige Pollard, Stach Chandler and Annabelle Gonzales hit for 20, 15 and 13 points respectively in the lopsided victory.

The girls surged ahead 20-9 at the end of the opening period, then extended the gap to 34-22 at halftime.

The game was never in doubt as the Broncos exploded in the third quarter to lead 55-28, and finished the kill in the final stanza, outscoring their visitors, 18-12, to ice the win.

Other Bronco scorers were Judy York with nine, Pam Powers with eight, and Jerri Dunn and Mary Gomez with four each.

Deadline for Softball February 13

A meeting was held Sunday night and the deadline for the women's softball team was decided to be February 13.

Anyone who is not on a team at this time should contact Jane Smith at Bowie Construction or Julie Parker at 387-3804.

Another meeting has been scheduled for February 13 at 7:30 at the fire hall. All rosters must be turned in at this time.

Dan Lawson leaps high for a rebound in the Bronco's District 7-AA encounter with Crane Friday night. Lawson hit 13 points in the game, but the Broncos dropped the contest to the Golden cranes, 52-42. Sonora is now 0-2 in district competition.

Broncos Stumble To Crane, 52-42

With three starters sitting on the bench in the fourth quarter, the Sonora Broncos watched as the Crane Golden Cranes pulled away to hand the Broncos their second district loss, 52-42.

Dan Lawson was ejected from the game midway through the period after a shoving match turned into a scuffle, and Cody Savell and David Creek soon followed him to the bench after picking up their fifth personal fouls.

The three Broncos had to content themselves with sitting and watching the Cranes turn what had been a three-point deficit into the final 10-point margin.

The entire first half was marred by fouls by both teams as they picked up a total of 47 in the game, and the other two Bronco starters, Pat Street and Kent Cagle, played most of the second half with four fouls each.

The Broncos took the lead after the opening period of play, 12-9, but then went cold to trail 25-18 at halftime.

The Red Hosses got the hot hand again in the third stanza as they cut the gap to three, 35-32.

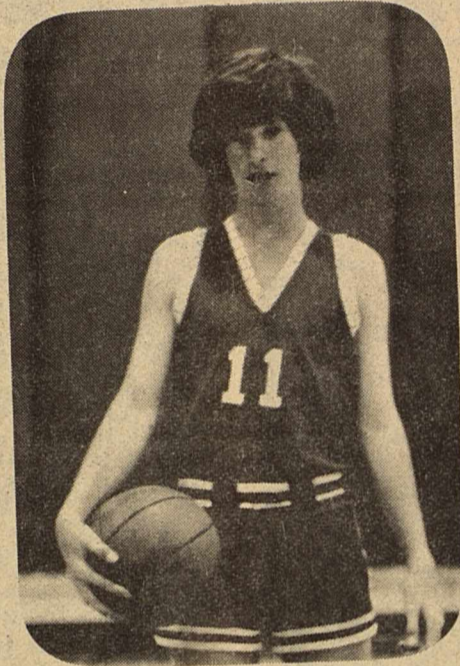

Both teams exchanged baskets before the Broncos lost their three starters in the closing quarter, and the Crane Visitors charged on to the victory.

Street paced the Sonora attack with 20 points, and Lawson also in double figures with 13.

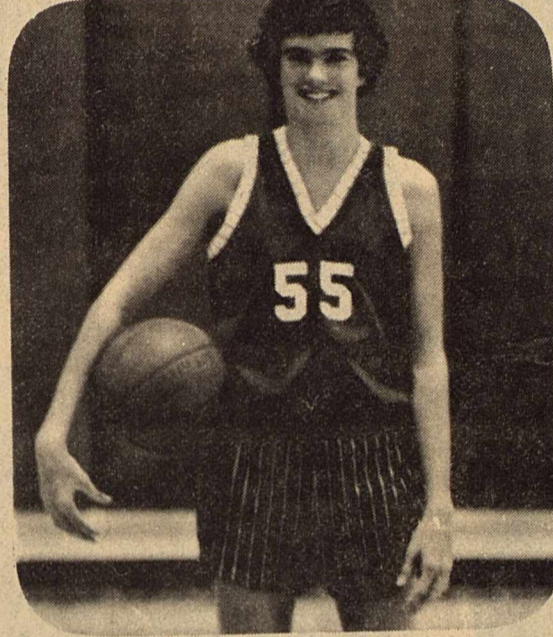

Other Bronco scorers were Cagle with four, Creek and David Reyna with two, and Savell with one.

Crane Downs Bronco Girls

Whether it was the actual physical loss of Jamie Condra or the resulting psychological despondency felt by the rest of the team Friday night, the result was the same—the Sonora Bronco girls dropped their district opener to Crane, 53-34.

Condra, a junior starting her third year on the varsity, was scoring at a 15-points-per-game clip after returning from a knee injury that kept her out most of the year.

Then came Friday morning's practice session, and the knee went again.

But it was 4:30 p.m. before the team found out she would not be able to play, possibly too close to game time for the team to adjust to it psychologically.

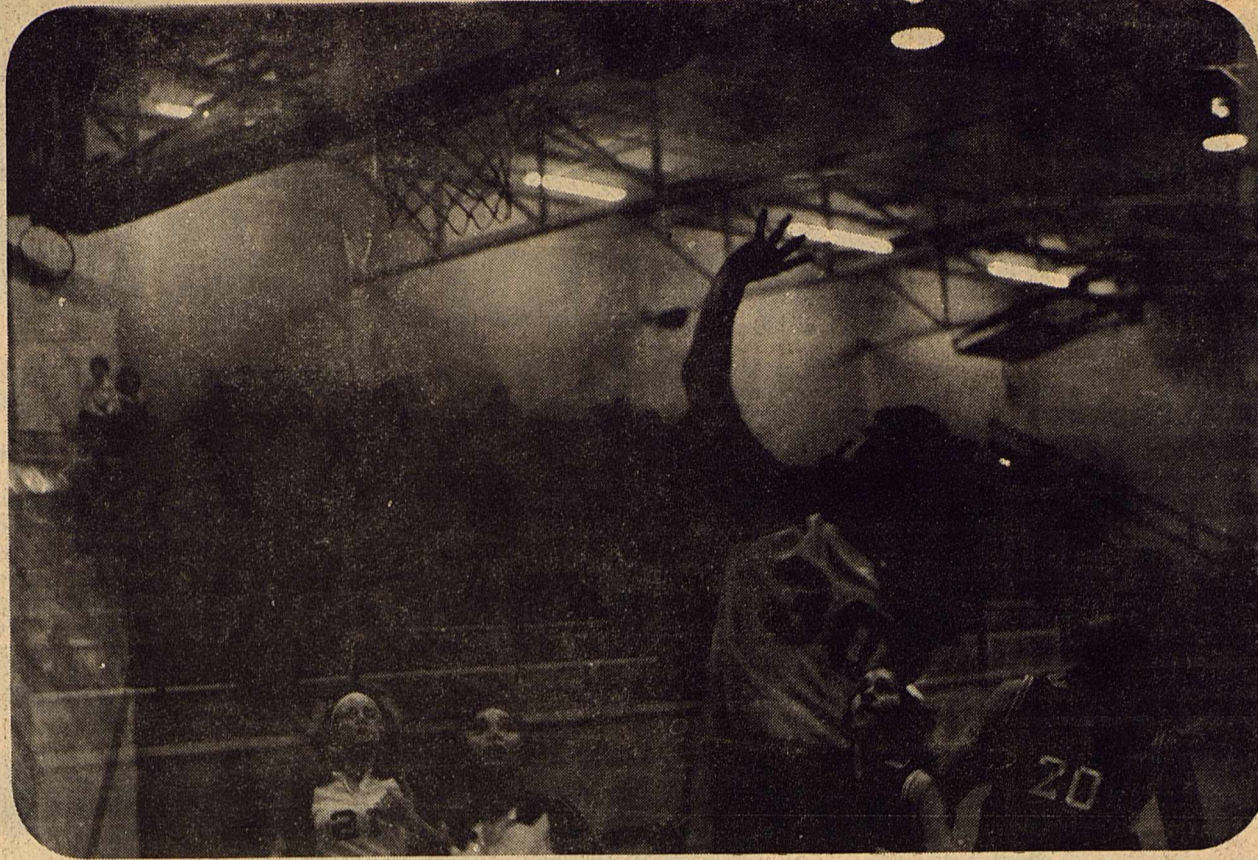

The girls proved they could play without Condra in the opening period, but then ran into turnover problems against a Crane press in the second quarter and fell behind at halftime, 18-12.

Both teams sizzled in the third stanza, but the Golden Cranes came out on the top end of the scoring duel, 18-15.

Paige Pollard fouled out early in the period, and although Crane ran into foul trouble also, they got better scoring from their bench than Sonora and outgunned the locals 17-10 in the closing period.

Pollard headed the Bronco scoring attack with 10 points, followed by Judy York with six, Pam Powers with five, Stacy Chandler and Jerri Dunn with four each, Annabelle Gonzales with three and Janie Gold with two.

Paige Pollard puts in one of the rare Sonora baskets as the Broncos dropped their District 7-AA opener to Crane Friday night. Pollard hit for 10 points before fouling out early in the third quarter, but still led the Bronco scoring attack. The loss puts pressure on the Red Hosses to win their second meeting with crane Feb. 9 if they want any chance of winning the league title. Shown waiting for the rebound are Janie Gold [center] and Pam Powers [left].

TSGRA Set Directors' Meeting, Feb. 5, 6

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association winter directors' meeting is a "must" for association members. The focus will be on law and those who make it.

The meeting is set for Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 5 and 6, at the Austin Marriott, Austin. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Monday, followed by committee meetings beginning at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

The general business session will be Tuesday morning and will feature State Rep. Susan McBee, Del Rio.

Already it's looking interesting, right? Well, there's more...TS&GRA will host a reception Monday evening for members of the Texas Legislature. Those receptions have become a bi-annual tradition, offering TS&GRA members and Texas legislators a chance to become acquainted on a one-to-one basis.

Considering the proposed tax reform measures

already on the agenda for this session of the legislature, making friends with the state lawmakers may be more important this time around than most.

If an evening with the Texas legislators isn't enough to stir interest, we can't imagine what would.

We do, however, have at least one more ante to sweeten the pot...there are some major developments afoot concerning the control of golden eagle depredations. We recently reviewed the Interior Department's "Golden Eagle Management Plan" and found it a total waste of time and pulpwood trees.

It is evident from the "plan" that relief from marauding eagles will not come by way of the Interior Department. That leaves only the courts or the federal legislature. We can rule out the latter, naturally, so one guess as to what's left.

Good guess. It's still too early for us to say much more on the subject now, but it shouldn't be by the time the meeting rolls around. We expect to have a very lively session of the predatory animal committee Monday, Feb. 5.

Do plan to make the meeting, catch up on eagles and visit with the Texas Legislators. In this day and age, law is a boring subject only to those who are destined to be gobbled up by it.

Vitamin A Good Supplement Cold Weather Causes Vitamin Loss

Cold weather and a lack of green forages often leads to a vitamin A deficiency in cattle. Thus producers may want to supply a supplemental source of vitamin A for cows grazing dry, bleached pastures this winter, suggests Clint Langford, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Vitamin A promotes growth, stimulates appetite, aids in reproduction an lactation, keeps the mucous membranes of respiratory and other tracts in healthy condition, and makes for normal vision.

Deficiencies of vitamin A during pregnancy may cause cows to abort or give birth to dead or weak calves. Extreme deficiencies may also impair the ability of cows to conceive. Bulls receiving insufficient vitamin A show a decline in sexual activity and semen quality.

Carotene, which supplies vitamin A, is contained in all green parts of growing plants, explains Langford. Good pastures always provide liberal and rich supplies of carotene and thus have a high vitamin A value.

However, vitamin value decreases after the plant's bloom stage and much of the carotene is destroyed in hay by oxidation during field curing. The degree of greenness in a roughage is usually a good index of its carotene content, but hay over one year old (regardless of color) is usually not an adequate source of carotene or vitamin A.

The vitamin A requirement of breeding, growing and finishing beef cattle can be met by carotene in feedstuffs such as green pastures, grass or legume silages, hay not over a year old, or by supplementary vitamin A either by intramuscular injection or orally, notes Clint.

Growing and finishing steers and heifers require 1000 International Units of vitamin A per pound of dry diet; pregnant heifers and cows, 1270; and lactating cows and breeding bulls, 1770.

The intramuscular injection of emulsified vitamin A at the rate of one million units apparently provides sufficient vitamin A to prevent deficiency signs for two to four months in growing or breeding beef cattle.

Screwworm Count Totalled for 1978

Eleven lab-confirmed Texas screwworm samples in December brought the 1978 case count to 1236, says a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) spokesman.

Dr. Robert B. Miller is veterinarian in charge of sterile fly distribution for the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) Screwworm Eradication Program. He compares the 1978 total to 39 in 1977, to 29,241 in 1976, and to 90,980 in 1972.

"The Program proved its effectiveness in 1978 by eliminating an outbreak centered in Live Oak County and avoiding a threatened one in Starr County. Biggest Program achievement in Texas during the year," says Miller, "was preventing a large population in West Texas from heavily infesting the South Texas area where this warm weather parasite can survive the winter."

Miller says much of the credit for effectiveness of the Program in 1978 is due to Texas ranchers and veterinarians. "Without their prompt submission of samples taken from wounds, and care to prevent screwworm infestations, the situation would have been much more severe," observes the veterinarian.

New tools to use in the fight against this parasite of all warm blooded animals will be available in 1979, says Miller. A new strain of screwworm flies is now growing in the APHIS insectary. Distribution of the first sterilized flies of this strain is expected in late January.

The Program has received a permit for localized use of a Screwworm Adult Suppression System (SWASS) in certain severe situations. This is a wafer life pellet impregnated with a chemical attractant and with an insecticide which kills adult screwworm flies when they come to it.

In addition, a series of traps along the border area of South and West Texas will be operated all year long by Texas Animal Health Commission and APHIS personnel. These will serve as an "early warning" system of any possible screwworm build up.

In Sutton County 17 cases of screwworms were confirmed in 1978 while 20 cases were reported in Schleicher County.

Protein Supplementation Necessary

While protein supplementation is one of the largest out-of-pocket expenses in a cow-calf operation, it is one of the most necessary supplemental feed ingredients when other feed sources are low in protein.

Animals with low protein diets lose their appetite, develop a rough appearance, become weak, and have lowered resistance to disease. The end result is reduced growth, reproduction and calf weights, points out Clint Langford, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The need for protein supplementation results as nutrient composition in forage changes with the seasons. Therefore, nutrient intakes varies. Once grass stops growing and loses its green, lush appearance, it becomes coarse and fibrous. Crude protein content may fall from 12 to 4 percent or less, and forage dry matter digestibility may drop from 65 to 35 percent. These nutrient compositions vary greatly over time and supply cattle completely different diets due to seasonal changes.

Spring and summer diets are usually adequate for beef cattle needs while fall and winter diets are lacking in nutrient composition, contends Langford.

Cattle can not eat enough poor quality forages to obtain needed nutrients. Winter grass in old and fibrous, low in nutrients, and more slowly digested. Thus, consumption is lowered and the animal receives even less nutrients as a result of lowered intake.

Added protein increases digestion of fibrous material, notes Clint. It not only helps balance an animal's protein needs but increases forage intake due to increased digestibility of the forage.

Since protein for growth and milk production, protein requirements for heifers and lactating cows are higher than for dry, pregnant cows. Lactating cows require twice as much crude protein per day as dry, pregnant, cows and 26 percent more than heifers.

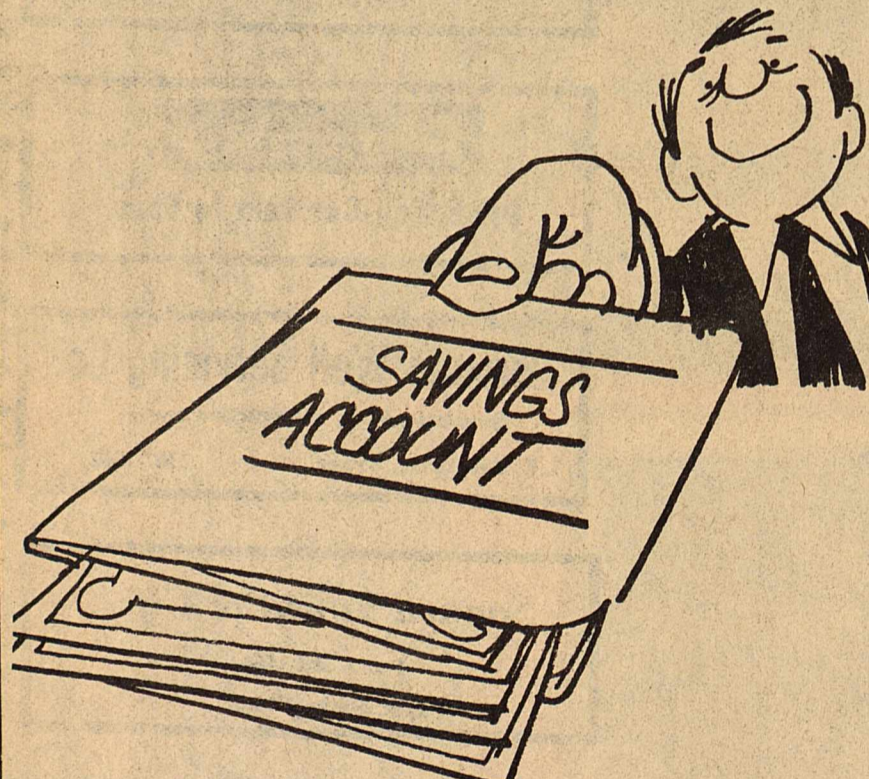

Ruminants such as cattle can synthesize much of their needed protein from low quality protein and NPN (non-protein nitrogen) sources such as urea and biuret when sufficient amounts of readily available carbohydrates are present in the rumen. Other supplements include cottonseed meal, soybean meal and a wide variety of commercial dry and liquid supplements.

Protein supplements are available in many types and forms-cubes, cakes, liquids, self-limiting meal products and others to allow different feeding methods. These will vary in nutrient composition, and a producer should calculate protein cost in each. This cost figure and feeding and labor costs will help him select the most efficient supplement.

When balancing forage rations with supplementation, dry matter (energy), vitamins, minerals and protein are all considered. Most often, available protein is deficient, but sometimes energy is also lacking.

When energy is low, some grain may be fed along with protein to make up the difference in what is supplied from forage. A good low fiber, high protein range cube will probably be sufficient, suggests Clint.
