Fling Ding Slated For Saturday Night

Sonora's annual social event of the year, the Fling Ding Club dance, starts Saturday night from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight.

The Ted Weems Orchestra will again provide dance music with the Levee Singers entertaining during intermission.

Each year some 1,000 couples enjoy the Fling Ding.

Officers this year are Jimmy Condra, president; W.L. Whitehead, vice president; and Mrs. Lea Roy aldwell, secretary.

Community Outlook

By Don Holdridge

The past two weeks have been eventful, to say the least. We have a new president, cruce oil prices have been decontrolled and the hostages (we still call them that for lack of a better term since they aren't any more) have come home.

Many have started calling this an era of renewal. The Iranian seizure and capture of the American hostages and their return home has given the citizens of this nation a rallying point. Nothing has pulled this country closer together since perhaps the death of JEK.

President Reagan (it still sounds strange to hear) has a gigantic task before him. For a time, I was beginning to wonder if he really was as serious about tackling the job as he portrayed during the campaign, but I have felt better over the last week should prove interesting.

Perhaps the timing of the hostage homecoming was perfect. With the nation pulled together, hopefully we can work together in solving our domestic and foreign problems.

Unfortunately, we have all too often become a nation of single interests, concerned only with our own well-being and letting the rest take care of themselves. The power of the single issue groups has become astounding, and their presence has created a domino effect. As one group reaps a particular benefit, another suddenly realizes it has been left out and decides it must have more.

The comparison could be made to the old woman in the shoe giving her oldest child a piece of candy. The second child discovers what has happened and demands a piece for himself. As all the children discover there is candy, each tries to insure himself a piece, no matter if someone else gets left out. Before long, the old woman has to buy more candy to keep all the children from crying. And the sad part is now that they have learned they can get it by creating a fuss, they begin demanding it all the time.

We too have become like the children, always demanding more and more. Only now, the "candy" is running out.

The time has come for us to quit asking the government to solve all our problems. Such actions in the past have loaded us with the economic problems we have today, and too often, government solutions create even more problems than already existed.

As Americans, we need to stand on our own feet, and use our own ingenuity to solve our problems. To restore our economy to the vitality it once knew, we must be willing to make a sacrifice for the benefit of all.

Last November, the American people echoed a strong voice for conservatism. The voice elected a new president and replaced many liberal legislators. The time is coming to find out if the nation was truly after conservative philosophies or merely paying lip service.

Owensby Updates Membership

Dr. D.E. Owensby has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

ABC Fun Factory Celebrates 2nd Anniversary

Thursday, January 29, 1981, marked the second anniversary of the abc Fun Factory Day Care Learning Center. Owners and operators Diane Snider and Sharon Hogue opened abc on January 29, 1979 to provide Sonora with a day care facility which includes pre-school curriculum. At that time, abc consisted of a one room building, converted from a garage. In the past two years, the center has expanded to a three room facility with a fully equipped kitchen, learning centers, indoor play areas, rest areas and playground. After school transportation is provided in a recently purchased van and school age children enjoy planned after school activities. The capacity of the center and its transportation services have more than doubled in the past two years thanks to all the children who generate the kid power necessary to keep the abc Fun Factory in operation.

Diane Snider previously operated a licensed day care home. Her husband, Hal is Field Foreman for Amoco Production. The Sniders have four children - Stacy, Sharla, Hal II and Shalayna.

Sharon Hogue has a B.S.E. in Elementary Education from Abilene Christian College and has teaching experience in both first grade and remedial reading on the junior high level. Her husband, Wayne is District Sales Engineer for Dowell. They have one child, Melissa.

The abc Fun Factory is State Licensed - designed and staffed especially for the care of children ages two to ten. A State representative periodically inspects the center, its building and playground areas, the staff, schedule of activities, meals, snacks and all records pertaining to the health and well-being of the children enrolled as well as their progress within the pre-school program. Standards are set forth by the Texas Department of Human Resources which must be met by the center and kept on file.

A structured day at the abc Fun Factory includes:

1. Admission and free play period.
2. Morning snack - sharing time.
3. Learning Readiness activities.
4. Outdoor play (weather permitting).
5. Noon Meal.
6. Story Time.
7. Rest Time.

8. Songs, Fingerplays, Creative Dramatics.

9. Afternoon Snack

10. Preparation for going home - Free play.

Anyone in need of child care, either on a full time or drop-in basis should remember that you, the parent, have complete control and responsibility for the kind of care your child receives. It is the responsibility of the day care center to provide the quality care you require. Following is a checklist for judging a day care home or center:

1. Does the person caring for the children really care about your child as an individual?
2. Is there an adequate child-staff ratio (according to standards set by Texas Dept. of Human resources)?

3. Is the facility safe and healthful, with room for children's play and care, fresh air, reasonable cleanliness and free of safety and accident hazards?

4. Are your suggestions for the care of your child welcomed and listened to?

5. Do the caregivers and children seem to be happy, alert and enjoying themselves?

6. Are you welcome to visit at any time, with or without telling in advance that you are coming?

7. Has the caregiver had a medical examination to show that he or she has no disease that your child could catch and is strong and healthy enough to care for children?

8. Is there a telephone which the caregiver can use to reach you or to call for help in an emergency?

The abc Fun Factory Day Care Learning Center is open five days a week Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Diane Snider and Sharon Hogue invite you to visit their facility and observe the schedule of activities. Thank you to all those who have supported their effort to provide a fun place to learn because children are special people. The abc Fun Factory looks forward to serving Sonora in the future as the center continues to expand and innovate its present program.

Pool Creates Liquid Hauling District

In October 1980, all Pool Well Servicing Company water trucks in West Texas were consolidated into one unit. Headquartered in Sonora, Texas, and called the Liquid Hauling District, the unit is headed by District Manager Wes Faries. Equipment includes six 11 trucks, four vacuum trucks and 22 water transport trucks. Consolidation of the units to one operation will allow other Pool Well Serving Company District Managers to concentrate on the operation of rigs and also provide for more flexible and efficient operation of the water trucks, according to Central Region Manager Gerald Tinney. Tinney is organizationally responsible for the supervision of the new district.

Trucks are used by the company in connection with its well service operations to haul water to remote location for drilling, to kill wells before remedial work can begin, and to remove contaminated fluids after drilling or workover operations are completed.

Increased drilling and workover in the Central region has increased the need for water trucks over the past two years, and the number of Pool Well Servicing trucks has jumped from 19 to 32. The acquisition and operation of 12 transport units owned by Damsen Petroservices in Sheffield, Texas was completed in May, 1980.

At the present time, kill trucks are averaging four to five jobs per day, with transport and vacuum trucks in Sonora, and in 1975 there were five trucks in Sonora and in 1975 three trucks began operating out of Sterling City.

Today Wes Faries' organization includes three district clerks for administration in Sonora, Mary Marks, Jeannette Thompson, and Lisa Swank with Theresa Knoche in San Angelo. Shirley Graham is area clerk in Sheffield. In addition, Jerry Kreutger is District Shop foreman and Truck Supervisor with Truck Supervisors J.C. Berry in Sonora, Truck Manager James Lindsey and Truck Supervisor Doug Nelson run the nine Ozona trucks. Truck Supervisors Dwayne Carr in San Angelo and Richard Rogers in Sterling City each have five trucks. Area Manager Bobby Smith also has five trucks in Sheffield.

Due to the heavy usage and rough roads, a regular maintenance and repair program has been set up. Drivers check trucks daily for overall condition, or excess wear on tires and shocks. Every two to three weeks, trucks are pulled into the maintenance and repair facilities in Sonora, Sheffield and San Angelo for complete service and maintenance checkups.

Chief Mechanic in Sonora is Tom Byrd with Mechanic G. Terry. Chief Mechanic in San Angelo is R.D. Liebschwager with Mechanic Mike Rodriguez.

A driver training program was initiated at Pool's Technical Training Center in San Angelo recently. The program familiarizes the drivers with the different road conditions in Central Texas and give specialized instruction in driving water trucks. According to Wes Faries, "It is exciting to the men to be a district of their own. We are setting our standards high, and we look forward to providing profitable, quality services to our customers."

Decontrol Means Taxes For Texas

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday said President Reagan's early decontrol of crude oil prices could mean up to $150 million more in state tax revenue this year.

Bullock said Reagan's decision to speed up the decontrol of crude oil prices instead of waiting until October 1, to allow existing law to take off controls, will immediately hike up the price of domestic oil.

The state collects a 4.6 percent tax on the market value of oil produced in the state and Bullock said the crude oil production tax will produce about $3.1 billion in revenue during the state's 1982-83 budget period.

Bullock estimated that most of the money the state will earn from early decontrol will be taken in this fiscal year and that amount will push up the state's $568 million surplus by whatever is collected before August 31.

He said he would not formally revise his revenue estimate to the Legislature until more precise data becomes available.

Federal decontrols of propane and gasoline will not earn the state extra income, Bullock said.

The easing of controls on these petroleum products is likely to be met with consumer resistance because prices can be expected to go up.

If Texans use fewer gallons of gasoline or propane, the state will collect less in taxes on these products, he said.

He said the decontrol impact on propane and gasoline would probably be minimal.

State Land Gas Sale Approved

Two Midland-based producers have won Railroad Commission authorization to sell gas from leases on West Texas public lands for ultimate use outside of the state.

The sales, supported by the General Land Office and the University of Texas System, involve some 1.2 billion cubic feet of estimated gas reserves in Crockett and Winkler Counties. Neither area municipalities nor other intrastate markets indicated any desire to purchase the gas, the Commission was advised.

Authority to make the sales was granted William E. Hendon Jr. and Robert Wynne during the weekly conference on Oil and Gas Division matters. Texas statute requires that the Railroad Commission review and approve applications to sell gas from Texas public lands for use in other states.

Sales of such gas are authorized through the granting of exception to the Commission's Statewide Rule 69.

Hendon's application to sell gas from a 160-acre tract of Public School Lands in the G.P.M. Field of Winkler County was sanctioned by Chairman James E. (Jim) Nugent and Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple. Reserves underlying the tract have been estimated at slightly more than 1.17 billion cubic feet. Legal Examiner Brian Sullivan recommended approval. The sale was limited to a five-year period.

Wynne was authorized to sell gas from an 80-acre tract of University of Texas lands in the Farmer (San Andres) Field of Crockett County for a period of ten years. Legal Examiner Susan Cory Kovar recommended approval of the application. Gas reserves under the tract were estimated to be 45 million cubic feet. The order granting Wynne's request was signed by Commissioners Wallace and Temple.

Committee Names Wallace

Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace has been appointed co-chairman of the Legal Committee of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission for 1981, New Mexico Gov. and IOCC Chairman Bruce King has announced.

The IOCC was formed in 1935 to promote conservation of oil and gas and to prevent their physical waste. It has worked for laws, regulations and advanced technology to conserve oil and gas. Today the IOCC is comprised of 30 oil and gas producing states and six associate states.

Wallace, the senior member of Texas' energy and transportation regulatory agency, served the IOCC in the same position in 1980.

The IOCC holds a mid-year and annual meeting each year to give the states an opportunity to meet and discuss the latest developments in the energy field. Industry and government officials from both the state and federal levels attend the meetings, which feature reports on current problems affecting the nation's energy scene.

The midyear meeting of the IOCC is scheduled to begin on June 28 in Casper, Wyo.

Title Hopes Crumble For Bronco Girls

The Sonora Bronco girls saw their dreams of returning to the state basketball playoffs come tumbling down Friday night as they dropped a 43-39 heart-breaker to Comanche, a team that is no stranger to playoff action, having been the past 12 years.

The girls had finished the first half of District 8-AAA action Tuesday with a 54-42 romp over winless Brady and stood in second place in the league with a 3-1 record, their only loss coming in a road game at Comanche.

Just as they had that night in Comanche, the girls dug themselves too deep a hole in the first quarter as the Maidens ripped off the first six points of the game before Annabelle Gonzales added a two-pointer.

Comanche eventually pulled their opening period edge to 10 points, 14-4, before Jessica Robledo canned a short jumper with 48 seconds left to cut the margin to 6-14.

The Broncos began to cut into the lead during the second stanza with Robledo putting in seven of the Broncos' 11 points. By halftime they had whittled the lead to 22-17.

A crucial blow came with 27 seconds left in the half as Robledo, the game's top scorer with 19 points, picked up her fourth foul and watched the entire third quarter from the bench.

Even without per presence on the floor, Sonora began cutting deeper into the lead.

Paula Friess converted a three-point play three minutes into the third period that cut the lead to 24-20, the Gonzales added a layup that squeezed the edge down to two points, 24-22.

Comanche kept calm though as they pulled the lead showing on the clock. The Broncos refused to die in the fourth quarter. With Robledo back in the lineup, the girls cut the margin to a mere one point.

The Broncos ripped off eight unanswered points in pulling close, six by Robledo and two more on a 20-foot shot by Rosa Noriega.

Eight fouls in the final quarter were the death knell for the Sonora cagers as Comanche converted six charity shots to take the three-point victory and an almost virtual lock on the district crown.

Fouls and foul shots were the key to the game as Comanche got 14 of its points from the free throw line in 23 attempts, while Sonora managed only seven of 12.

The Broncos also only hit a cool 30 percent from the floor, connecting on only 16 of 53 attempts.

Other Bronco scorers beside Robledo were Friess and Noriega with six each, Gonzales with four and Kemp and Tonya Evans, both with two.

The girls still have mathematical, though unlikely shot at the playoffs, but would have to win all three of their remaining district games, while Comanche would have to lose all of theirs.

Should Sonora finish tied with the Maidens, Comanche would advance on the strength of their two wins over the Broncos.

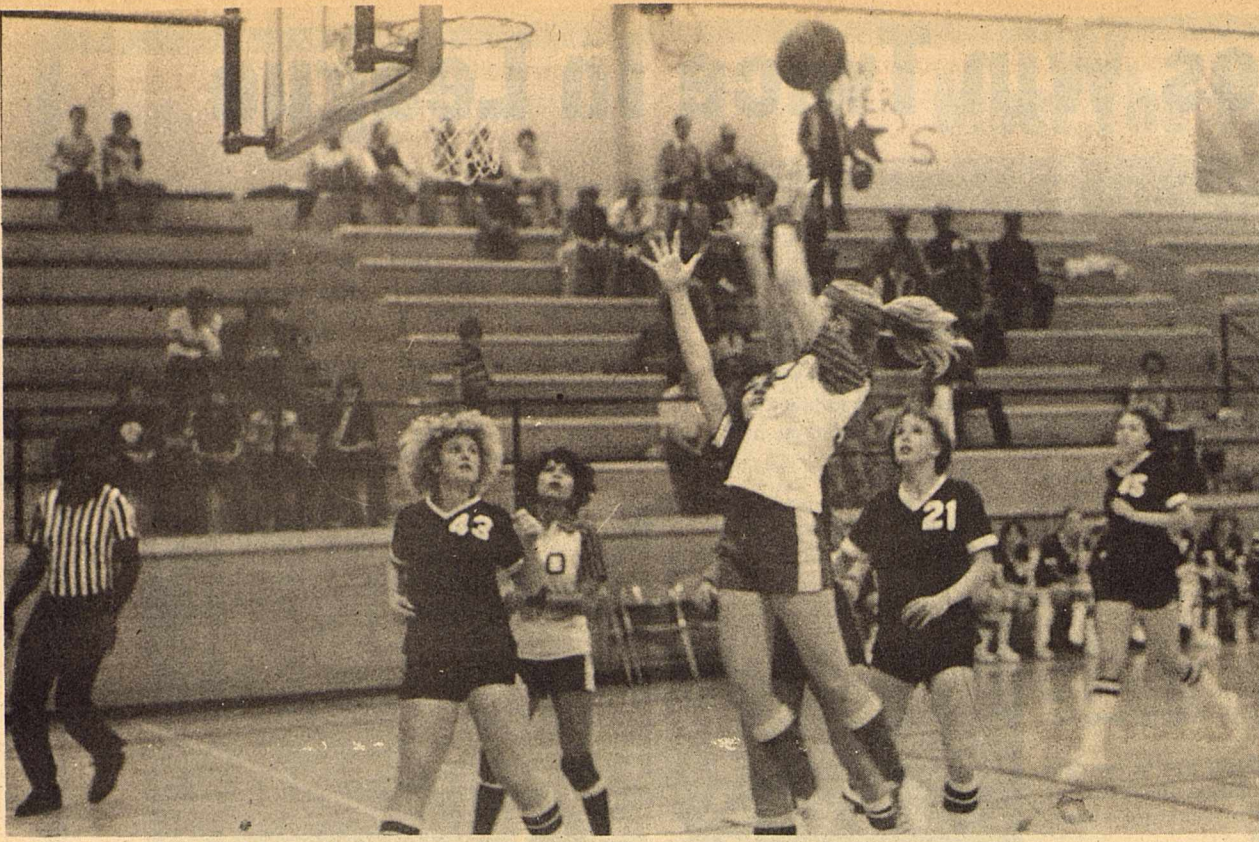

The girl's victory at Brady Tuesday came relatively easily, although they did not put a lock on the win until the third stanza.

They held a 13-10 first quarter margin and edged it to 28-24 by halftime.

The third quarter did in the Bulldog bunch though as Sonora outgunned their hosts, 16-3.

Gonzales, Robledo and Noriega all hit in double figures with 16, 14 and 13 points respectively. Other point makers were Evans with five, Friess with four and Kemp with two.

The girls tangled with Mason last night in non-district action, then travel to Colman Friday and host Brady Tuesday, both league games.

Paula Friess battle a Comanche player for a rebound in Friday night's 42-39 loss to the Maidens. The victory was the second of the year for Comanche over Sonora and gave them an almost certain lock on the District 8-AAA throne as well as a playoff berth.

Eighth Grade Girls Win Third

Sonora's eight grade girls lost by a single point in their opening round game against Greenwood, but went on to capture the consolation trophy at the Iraan Tournament last weekend, downing their hosts, 23-11, in the finale.

The opener with Greenwood was a see-saw affair as momentum switched sides at every quarter.

The Rangers led, 4-1, after the opening period, but the Colts stormed back to take a 9-8 halftime edge.

The third quarter proved to be the Colts undoing as they were skunked, 4-0, and could only pull within one point by the final buzzer, 14-13.

Debbie Bible topped the Sonora scoring with five points, followed by Lea Whitehead with four and Rebecca Powers and Karla Jungk, both with two.

The second round game was never much of a contest as the Colts opened a 16-8 gap over Rankin at intermission and finished with a 30-11 triumph.

Whitehead with 14 points, and Bible with 10 both hit in double figures for the Colts. Other scorers were Powers, Jungk and Janice Gomez with two points each.

The 23-11 victory over Iraan was close early, but the Colts gradually pulled farther away throughout the contest.

After leading only 6-5 at the end of the first quarter, Sonora pulled ahead 14-9 at halftime. A 5-0 shutout in the third period iced the win.

Bible again topped the scoring with eight points, followed by Jungk with seven, Whitehead with six and Powers with two.

JV Girls Take Squeaker Over Brady

Sonora's junior varsity girls held off a Brady rally last Tuesday to find their winning ways again in a 21-20 squeaker.

The Broncos held a 4-2 first quarter lead, and both teams matched their opening period output as Sonora pulled to an 8-4 margin.

The Bulldogs pulled a point closer by the end of the third stanza, 15-12, then outscored their visitors over the final period, 8-6, to nearly pull of the comeback.

Brady capitalized on Sonora fouls as four of their second half points were free throws. Kristi Hill and Debra Maldonado shared the scoring honors with six points each, followed by Lora Lea Kordzik with four, Anna Mata with three and Tanna Tyler with two.

Broncos Win Twice In League

The Sonora Bronco boys ended their District 8-AAA dry spell last week picking up a 66-38 thrashing of Brady Tuesday, then easing by Comanche, 54-48. Comanche has pulled out a two-point victory over the Broncos on their own court earlier in the year and appeared to have this game under control in the early going.

The Indians ripped off the first six points of the contest before Johnny Doan, one of four Broncos in double figures for the night, drove the baseline for a layup with 5:52 left in the opening period.

The Broncos were still down by eight until David Creek put in a layup and drew a four with 3:40 left in the quarter. He converted the free throw that cut Comanche's lead to 10-5.

Over the remainder of the stanza, the Broncos outgunned their visitors, 14-4, and a Doan free throw with one second showing on the clock put them in from to stay, 19-14.

The teams swapped baskets in the second stanza with six of Sonora's 10 points coming from Allen Stewart, and the Broncos held a 29-24 halftime edge.

The Broncos pushed the lead to 41-33 by the end of the third quarter with Creek and Doan doing most of the damage.

A layup by John Blankenship, the first points of the final stanza, gave Sonora its biggest lead of the contest at 43-33.

The Broncos maintained the edge until late in the fourth quarter when Comanche tried a comeback and pulled within four, 52-48, with 42 seconds left.

But Doan put in an easy layup against the pressing Indians to seal the victory at 54-48.

Creek topped the scoring with 17 points, followed by Doan with 14, Blankenship with 11, Stewart with 10 and Scott Savell with two.

As was the case with the girls, fouls and free throws made the difference as Sonora connected on 16 of 28 charity shots, while the Indians could manage only eight of 15.

The Brady game was never much of a contest as the Broncos jumped to a 19-8 first quarter lead and pushed the edge to 32-18 by the time the squads went to the dressing rooms at halftime.

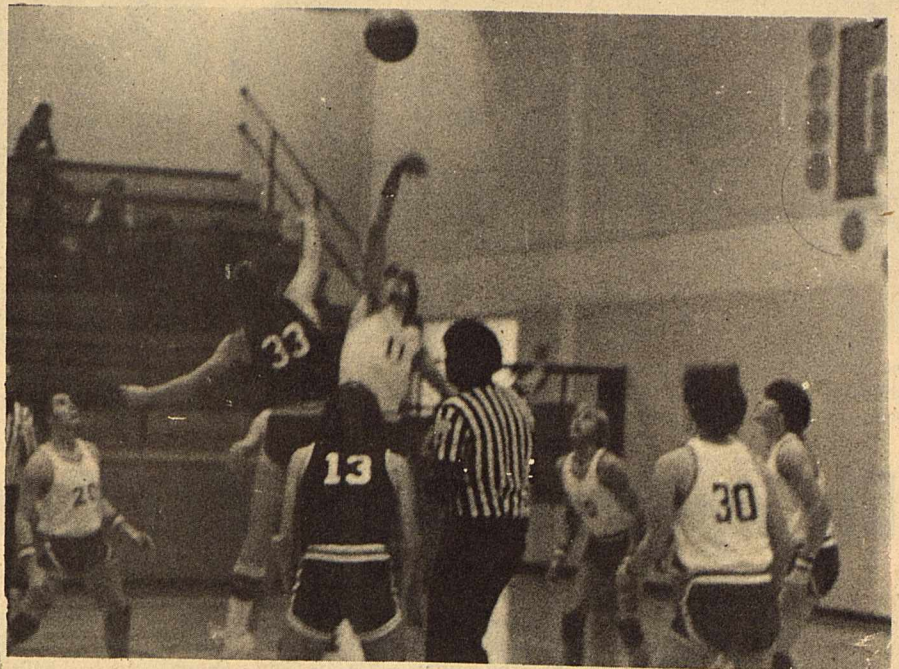

The teams stayed virtually even in the third stanza as Sonora emerged with a 42-27 lead, then poured in on over the final eight minutes to outscore their hosts, 24-11.

Creek again led the scoring with 18 points, followed by Doan with 13, Blankenship with 12, Marney Sorenson with nine. Savell with eight and Jeff Brittain with six.

The triumphs raised the Broncos's district standing to 2-3 and their season slate to 10-11.

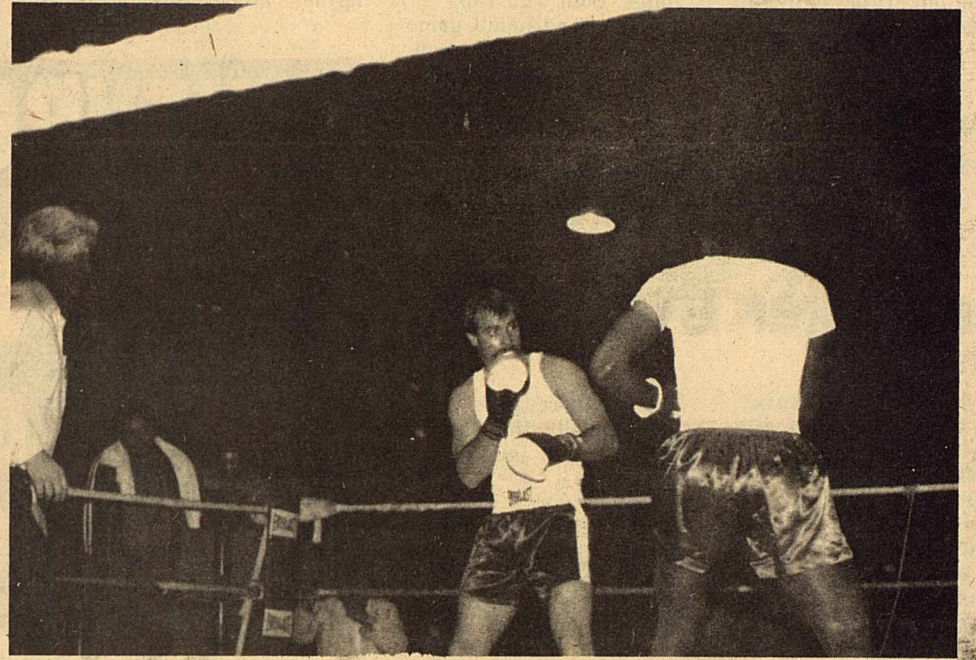

They hosted Mason last night in a non-district game, then travel to Coleman Friday and return home for a rematch with Brady Tuesday.

Lance Love goes high to control the tip against a Comanche player in the Broncos' 54-48 win Friday night, their second district victory of the week. Also looking on are Allen Stewart (20) Scott Savel (30), John Blankenship (10) and Johnny Doan.

Allen Stewart culminates a Sonora fast break with a layup as the Broncos captured a 54-48 District 8-AAA victory over Comanche. Stewart, John Blankenship (10), Johnny Doan (12) and David Creek all hit in double figures for Sonora.

Larry Kirby of Sonora runs his record to 24-2 as he registers a knockout of Tom Malone, a 180-pounder from Abilene, a minute into the first round of this fight in Colorado City. Kirby will travel to Odessa later this month for his third year at the Golden Gloves competition.

The Sonora eighth grade boys, putting together their finest performances of the season, ran by three straight opponents on their way to capturing the Iraan Tournament last weekend.

The boys blasted Rankin in their opening round game, 45-8, with reserves seeing action much of the contest.

Sonora ran to a 15-2 first quarter lead, then put the game out of reach by halftime, 21-6.

Jessie Guerra topped Sonora's scoring with 16 points, followed by Scott Miller with nine, Gilbert Martinez with six, David Noriega, Ricky Mesa and Doug Martin, all with four, and Wayne Hill with two.

The second contest was little different as they blew by McCamey, 34-12, a team they had beaten by only four points earlier in the year.

The opening period score stood at 10-4, and the Badgers kept within range at halftime, 15-10.

The Colts put on an offensive and defensive surge in the second half that put 19 points on their side of the scoreboard while limiting McCamey to only two.

Miller accounted for half of Sonora's point production with 17 points.

Other scorers were Lonnie Blankenship, Martinez and Noriega, all with four, Guerra and Martin with two and Tim Schabel with one.

The championship tilt was already decided by the time the teams went to the lockers at halftime as Sonora held a commanding 29-14 lead and went on to a 45-27 victory.

Miller and Guerra shared the scoring honors with 14 each, followed by Martinez with nine, Noriega with four and Blankenship and Martin with two each.

Rangeland Seeding Deserves Careful, Proper Planning Bitterweed Warning Issued

Seeding rangeland is a step in the right direction for boosting grazing potential. But it's expensive and requires proper planning, selection of adapted plants, good seeding methods and careful management.

"First, look at the quantity and distribution of desirable plants currently present," suggests Dr. Tommy Welch, range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "If desirable plants make up less than 10-15 percent of the vegetation, seeding is probably necessary."

If desirable plants are uniformly distributed and make up more than 10-15 percent of the vegetation, grazing management can usually improve range conditions, notes the specialist.

"Seeding is usually necessary following a brush control method such as rootplowing that destroys existing turf. Also, seeding is usually the most effective way to establish desirable vegetation on abandoned cropland," says Welch.

He advises seeding only on better range sites to insure reasonable chances of success. Do not disturb steep, potentially erosive sites. Seeding range sites that receive runoff water usually provides good results.

Another consideration is to select species and varieties of plant for seeding that are adapted to the area's soil, climate and topography (lay of the land). Also, select plants that are easily established, palatable to animals, relatively productive, able to withstand competition by undesirable plants, able to withstand moderate grazing, and able to prevent erosion under moderate grazing.

Welch suggest checking with county Extension agents or local Soil Conservation Service officials for information on adapted plants.

Planting into a well-prepared seedbed is essential. An ideal seedbed is firm below the seeding depth, is free from live plant competition, and has moderate amounts of mulch or plant residue on the soil surface.

"Preparing a good seedbed on abandoned cropland is possible without undue expense, but on rangeland it's a different story," says

Welch. "However, prepare the best seedbed that available resources will allow. For example, rootplowing followed by roller chopping or chaining is an acceptable method of seedbed preparation on brush infested rangeland."

1981 looks like a bonus year for poisonous range plants. "Due to last year's dry summer followed by a wet fall, all conditions point to generally a bonus year for poison plants in Texas," says Dr. Allen McGinty of Fort Stockton, area range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Bitterweed in the Edwards Plateau and loco, garbancillo, rayless goldenrod and threadleaf groundsel in the Trans-Pecos region of Texas have already been reported causing livestock losses this year, note McGinty. So he cautions ranchers to become aware of the problem and to take steps to reduce further livestock losses.

"Ranchers should be familiar with and be able to identify common poisonous plants that occur in their pastures. They should also be familiar with symptoms of poisoning in livestock," points out McGinty. "Local county Extension agents, veterinarians and Extension range specialists can provide assistance to ranchers in this effort."

As soon as an animal begin to show signs of poisoning, they should be moved immediately to pastures free from poisonous plants and treated by a veterinarian.

If no pasture is available that is free from poison plants, ranchers may need to control weeds with chemical or mechanical methods. Caution should be used following herbicide use.

"Most problems with poisonous plants occur during winter and early spring when desirable warm-season forage plants are dormant and cool-season toxic plants are lush and green," explains the specialist. "During these periods, livestock will easily switch to poisonous plants

McGinty advises ranchers to be extremely cautious when importing cattle from other areas of the state or country to a range containing poisonous plants unfamiliar to these animals. Such animals will more easily consume toxic plants compared to animals raised in that same area.

"Poisonous plants are a natural part of most Texas rangelands and will always be available to some extent to grazing animals. With sound range management practices, livestock losses can be kept to a minimum," believes McGinty.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Martin Wardlaw of Del Rio was a day late getting to San Antonio for the annual January National Wool Growers Association convention. "There are priorities in any business. I was shearing sheep," he smiled.

During the four day meeting of the Salt Lake City, Utah headquartered organization, much was covered concerning the welfare of sheepmen. Some 300 attending heard from economists, politicians, veterinarians, scientists, feedlot operators, and bankers. And in many respects, the new from the speakers was not good.

Jack Barton, president of Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas, says in 1980's is the crossroads for agriculture. He predicts the first part of the 80's will be bad years for producers. "But things are going to happen in the first part that will make the years from 1985-90 good and prosperous...for those that survive the first part," he added.

Barry Flinchbaugh, assistant to the President, Kansas State University, stated the price of food will increase from 10 to 15 percent in 1981 alone.

Yet, wool producers were told they will need to play politics heavily in 1981 "for their own good" because the National Wool Act and a mountain of other legislation is up for renewal.

Most ranchmen attending the meeting were jubilant as they talked about their range conditions and prospect of a better than average spring.

Joe Jackson of Ranger told neighbors of receiving some good wet show but "my area is still a little dry compared to other parts of the country."

Fred Walker of Comstock said from two to three inches of snow on top of rain has made a difference.

Jack Groff of Kerrville commented "good surface moisture from several snows and rains have made promise that the Texas Hill Country has a good spring coming." Jack says between judging livestock shows and visiting his place he observes more green each time he "heads to the ranch."

Frank Weed, Jr. of Uvalde believes South Texas has made "a giant turnaround following the severe drought of last summer."

I.W. Terry of Sterling County adds that area "could use a little more moisture but otherwise, things are looking up."

Howard Derrick of Eldorado smiled: "We can always use another rain. His neighbor, Jimmie Powell of Fort McKavett predicts a good spring."

Roy Jacoby of Menard, breeder of fine club lambs, made the convention also. Roy is making many of the county and area stock shows this season as "Many of the 4-H and FFA kids are using some of my lambs... and they are winning!"

Speaking of stock shows, let's post notice here of the 1981 edition of San Angelo Stock Show & Rodeo set for March 11-15. Some outstanding talent including Charly McClain, The Kendalls and Thrasher Brothers will entertain those attending cowboys and cowgirls.

Mail order tickets for the San Angelo show go on sale this week. (You may write Rodeo tickets, Convention Center Office). Seats are $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00 plus .50 cents for handling. Other Tickets go on sale to the public February 23.

Greetings from the legislative halls in Austin, where we members of the 67th Legislature will be through June 1. As I begin the 4th term representing you of District 70, let me tell you once again what an honor, privilege and pleasure it is and to thank you for the opportunity to do so. During this session, my top priority will be to represent you—not only in the vital redistricting procedure which will determine how large a voice we in rural Southwest Texas will have in the future in Washington and Austin, but also in helping pass legislation helpful to you and perhaps even more important, helping defeat legislation harmful to our area.

Toward those goals, I'll look forward to receiving your views. Please feel free to call 512-475-2763 or write to P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78769. Mrs. Jean Kindle is once again in charge of my office, and she will assist you in any way possible, especially when I'm out of my office because of House sessions or committee meetings.

I'll be serving as Chairman of the Calendars Committee this session; and that has meant a new, larger capitol office—even though it is still in the basement as was my old one! If you come to Austin during the session, please stop by for a visit. The office number is G-14.

And, if you want to keep up with legislative activities, be sure to use the toll-free telephone number: 1-800-252-9693. It is manned from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week; and you can find out the status of any particular bill, committee meeting schedules, etc.
