County Commissioners Adopt 1982 Budget

Tax Rate Held Same As 1981

Sutton County Commissioners adopted a $1.97 million budget for fiscal 1982 including a 10 percent raise for County employees at their regular monthly meeting Monday.

The Commissioners held true to their promise of last year by holding the tax rate at 32 cents per $100 evaluation with 12 cents for the road and bridge fund, 17½ cents for the general fund and 2½ cents for interest and sinking.

After the 19 cent tax increased last year, the County officials had promised taxpayers to try to hold the line on increasing property taxes this year.

City Manager Jim Dover also met with the Court asking if the County might be interested in a joint venture of some kind on a new city landfill.

County Judge Charles Sherrill said although he could not speak for the Commissioners, he knew all of them had been looking for a suitable replacement site for the current landfill which Dover said would last only about another eight months.

Dover reported the City had located a six acre tract across the draw from the current landfill, but state approval is still pending. The site would only be large enough to last about seven years, though.

Sherrill had suggested a new location might also be used for a new yard for County road equipment, but after discussion with Road Superintendent Joe Ed Harrell, it was determined that this spot would be too small.

Dover and the Commissioners agreed to try to call a joint meeting between the County officials and the City Council to see if any type of agreement could be reached.

Sheriff Bill Webster and Robert Brown, owner of Waterhole Number 9, both met with the Commissioners to discuss the pros and cons of the 2 a.m. closing for the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Webster gave a report on the number of calls received from all bars and those at the Waterhole, since the new closing hours became effective, but admitted the situation was usually better there when Brown was on the premises. His report showed only one call since Commissioners had issued Brown a warning at their July meeting.

Billy Galbreath made a motion that the 2 a.m. closing be rescinded with a second by Preston Love, but Bill Wade and Juan Gonzales voted against the measure, creating a deadlock.

Sherrill was left to break the tie vote, but abstained saying he was tempted to vote for it, but he felt he should leave the situation as it is for now, but take another look again next month. He also suggested Brown hire a bouncer, at least for the times he cannot be there.

Harrell made a report on road activities including the possibility of leasing some land from L.P. Bloodworth for a new County yard and the problem of illegal dumping near Camp Allison.

The Commissioners agreed to call a special meeting for Aug. 31 to delve deeper into both issues as well as other technical problems the County is facing.

In other action, Sherrill submitted a list of rules and regulations for cemetery maintenance which was approved and commented the list should be subject to modification if any public input is received.

Chamber of Commerce Director Rev. Jim Miles presents Belle Steen with a letter naming her July Citizen of the month. Also pictured at the presentation were Erma Lee Turner, Jo Ann Tyner, Mary Owensby, Mayor Bill Gosney and Hal Spain.

Belle Steen Named Citizen of the Month

Sonora Chamber of Commerce president Sandra Cooper announced that the Board of Directors had named Belle Steen as the July Citizen of the Month.

Belle, age 93, lives at 305 NE Plum and is Methodist. She has supported all youth and school activities for many years and is a member of a bridge club.

"Steen, as she is affectionately called by everyone in Sonora, who have known her all these years, is a remarkable person. Even though she has no children, she feels great concern and interest for all of the ones in Sonora. She attends all the school activities to see "her children" perform. She watches them grow up and keeps in touch with them during their college days and on into adulthood. During the time she and her husband, Robert, operated the drug store, she made thick malts every afternoon for girls and boys when they came from school. No one could make thick malts like "Steen." She is seen each day walking to the post office with her little straw hat and greeting everyone with a smile. She never complains and is at all times cheerful and interested in everyone," informed her nominator, Harva Cooper.

Cooper joins the Board of Directors, the Chamber of Commerce membership and Sonorans in congratulating Steen in receiving this award.

Jo Ann Tyner, of Sonora Floral & Gifts, presented Belle with a lovely plant.

Sonora ISD Holds First Budget Hearing

The Sonora Independent School District received favorable comments from several large taxpayers as the Board of Trustees held the first of its two required budget hearings Monday night.

Superintendent W.A. McAndrew submitted a budget with a few changes from one originally prepared at a recent budget study session held by Board members.

The new proposal increased the land purchases category from $20,000 to $100,000 and added $27,215 in various other areas, mostly instructional.

The $3.6 million budget figures to an 11.8 percent increase over the 1981 budget.

The Board will hold its final hearing to adopt the budget and set the tax rate Monday at 7 p.m.

City Holds Hearing on $2.04 Million Budget

Sonora City Manager Jim Dover presented the proposed 1982 budget as the City Council held its first of two required budget hearings last Tuesday.

The budget calls for total outlay of $2.04 million, receipts of $2.04 million and a year-end balance of $236,248.

The 48 cent tax rate reflects the change to 100 percent evaluation but is still the same as the $1.18 rate on last year's 45 percent evaluation. Of that, 42,556 cents goes to the general fund and 5,444 cents goes to interest and sinking.

The date for the final hearing was set for Aug. 18 at the Council's regular meeting.

Baptist Youth Plan Presentation

The Youth and Music ministries of First Baptist Church will present "Bright New Wings" on Aug. 16, at 7:30 p.m.

The musical, which will be presented in the Church sanctuary, is unique in that it takes characters and events out of the New Testament and places in the Old West of the 1860's. Characters in the story include the Explainer, played by Jennifer Spencer; John, played by Charlie Carroll; Martha, played by Kelly Cooper.

Other cast members include Lazarus, played by Eric Neal; the Sinful Woman, played by Marche Lane; and the Leper, played by Kathryn Parker. Featured soloist will be Calene Stewart.

The mystery and vitality of Christian transformation is beautifully expressed in the words of the Leper: "To be changed from a caterpillar into a butterfly is amazing; but no more so than being changed from a leper to a child of God."

So "come with us to another time and place," and experience the magic and reality of "Bright New Wings."

Films Scheduled At Baptist Church

The Christians of Communist lands are sending a message to the Church of the West... a message of suffering and pain. However, it is also a message of triumph and victorious Christian growth as the Church under Communist oppression risks life to worship, to fellowship, and to receive the Word of God.

This message is graphically portrayed in "Beyond the Cross" -- a newly released film produced by Underground Evangelism, a missionary outreach based in Los Angeles, California.

"Beyond the Cross" was filmed over the past several years. Many of the scenes were actually filmed by the persecuted Church inside the Soviet Union.

In "Beyond the Cross" is a stirring documentary of the heart-rendering story of Ivan Moiseyev, a young Russian who was cruelly murdered for his faith. Scenes of Christian leaders being reunited with their families only moments after being released from prison; interviews with exiled believers confined to the barren, frigid wastelands of Siberia -- you will witness it all in "Beyond the Cross."

You are invited to attend the showing of this factual film at First Baptist Church on August 16, 1981, at 6:30 p.m.

A freewill offering will be received at the close of the showing to be used in its entirety for Bibles in Communist lands.

Pierson Guest Speaker For Desk and Derrick Club

Ray Pierson, production foreman for Shell Oil Co. in Ozona spoke to the Tri-Cities Desk and Derrick Club at their monthly meeting Tuesday, August 4 at the HNG Building.

Pierson spoke to the group on well locations in general and how the Railroad Commission is involved in the industry. By use of a section map, he explained how each field is divided by name of ownership.

The RRC sets up field rules to be followed as well as the allowable or bpd. This enables them to study the porosity, BHP and other data. A depth is set and cemented to protect fresh water zones before drilling.

Pierson finished school in Oklahoma and completed a course in mechanical engineering from International Correspondence School.

Special guests were his wife, their daughter, son-in-law and grandson from Oklahoma.

The group discussed taking part in the Sutton

County Days Parade on Friday and the dunking booth on Saturday. A picnic is planned Sunday, Aug. 23 for members, employers and families.

A luncheon for all members has been planned for Tuesday, Aug. 18 at noon at Pearl's Pizzeria.

Members present were Sherri Barton, Cotton Equipment; Sylvia Gamboa, Intratex Gas; Candy Nelson, Well Head Safety Control; Joyce Reber, Halliburton; Sandra McClellan, S&S Casing Crews; and Debbie Bounds, TIDCO.

Cattlemen's Association Deemed Successful

The 7th Annual Convention of the Independent Cattleman's Association was deemed a huge success. The members met at the Villita Assembly Hall for the meetings.

Thirty-one commercial exhibitors were on hand to show and demonstrate their products. A landscape painting by Mrs. Curt Schwiening of Junction, was auctioned on Thursday night and brought $1,150. The purchaser was Jim McDaniels.

Another painting by Mrs. Harold Garrett, wild turkeys on a cypress board, was auctioned on Friday night. This painting was purchased by Don Moore for $1,060.00.

The artists donated half the proceeds to the Organization.

Another exhibitor, Ron Archambault and Associates donated all the proceeds made on his rare coins and precious gemstones to the ICA. This was the first showing for both exhibitors.

The officers for the past year were re-elected for another term by unanimous acclamation. President Wheeler was given a standing ovation when re-elected with his acceptance.

Six State Directors were elected for a one year term, and Mrs. Adele Wilson of Sonora, will be a Director for the coming term.

The 4th annual statewide calf sale will be held on Saturday, August 22. The celebration starts with a Barbecue and dance at the Lakeview Club in Bryan. The auction will be held at the Livestock Commission in Bryan.

Since this sale produces the income to support the organization that "is working for you", all members are urged to donate their cows, calves, bulls or checks before Aug. 20.

Call 387-2793 and ask for "Butch" for information on delivering your livestock.

Screwworms Active Near Mexican Border

Here are the ingredients for a disaster... Twenty-seven known screwworm cases in Mexico well within the insects' flying range of Texas reported in July!

In addition to the usual prevalence of open wounds in livestock, wildlife and pets:

A wetter than usual spring and summer which caused an explosion in numbers of Gulf Coast ticks which feed in ears of cattle in large numbers, leaving bleeding wounds when they drop off.

Shearing of sheep and goats which traditionally is done during August and September each year, creating wounds which are ideal sites for screwworm infestation.

Complacency in the minds of at least some pet and livestock owners who no longer fear screwworm infestations in their animals because, after all, the U.S. Department of Agriculture no longer produces sterile screwworm flies to distribute over Texas range-lands.

These ingredients are all present, says Screwworm Lab Director Dr. James E. Novy, "and they can lead to a real screwworm disaster in Texas this fall."

Vigilance on the part of pet and livestock owners, as well as veterinarians who collect samples of every worm found in any wound in a warm blooded animal and promptly submit them for lab identification is the best protection available, says Novy.

The Screwworm Lab Director says two potentially bad screwworm outbreaks in Texas earlier this year have been stopped that way. "Prompt detection by identification of worm samples enabled us to stop what could have become a bad situation in Sutton County, and another in Presidio County."

Both of these outbreaks were treated with SWASS pellets produced at the Mission Lab and with sterile flies which are produced at Tuxtla Gutierrez, Mexico.

Screwworms have been detected close to the U.S. border in Mexico, says Novy: In the municipio of San Carlos, Tamaulipas, 120 miles south of Rio Grande City; in the municipio of Cerralvo, Nuevo Leon 55 miles west of Roma; and 50 miles southwest of Del Rio in municipio Zaragoza, Coahuila.

"The worst area of infestation is about 130 miles west of Laredo in central Coahuila where 23 of the 27 July cases have been reported."

In addition to vigilance in watching animals and submitting samples, animal owners are asked to treat all open wounds on animals with an effective larvicide and kill ear ticks with an effective pesticide. It is recommended that surgery and other man-made wounds on animals be delayed until cold weather if possible.

Worst time of the year for Gulf Coast ear ticks is from July through mid-September, says Novy. "Insecticide impregnated ear ticks which protect against both ear ticks and horn flies are available at livestock supply stores," says Novy.

National Wildlife Federation Asks For Support of Members

The National Wildlife Federation, which last week wrote a letter to President Reagan calling for the dismissal of Secretary of the Interior James G. Watt, is now asking its 4.5 million members and supporters to write, wire or call the President with the same message.

Jay D. Hair, executive vice president of the conservation group, has sent a letter to officers of the Federation's affiliate organizations in all 50 acknowledging that NWF's unprecedented request for Watt's removal was a "drastic step", but asserting that it was "made necessary by the record of Secretary Watt's actions against wildlife and the environment."

"If we are to succeed in removing Mr. Watt, President Reagan must hear from you, from other conservationists throughout the nation, from your elected Representatives and Senators," says the letter to the affiliate members.

The Federation will publish a similar call, under the heading "Add Your Voice," in upcoming issues of the two magazines that it publishes for its 818,000 associate members, National Wildlife and International Wildlife.

The appeal to the magazine readers urges them to "reinforce" NWF's demand for Watt's ouster with letters, mailgrams, telegrams, and phone calls.

The phone calls, it says, should be directed to the Comments Office at the White House, 202/456-1414, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. EDT on weekdays.

In a letter to Watt, Hair has disputed his claim that an NWF poll of 4,000 of its associate members was "rigged" against the Secretary of the Interior.

In the poll, the NWF members--although they voted two to one for Ronald Reagan over Jimmy Carter--expressed overwhelming opposition to ten environmental policy options which, the NWF said, represented Watt's views.

Watt objected specifically to one summary of his position on operation of the national parks which said that he favored giving commercial interests operating in the parks a "greater say" in their management.

In his letter, Hair cited a speech Watt made on March 9, 1981 to the National Conference of Park Concessioners in which Watt told the concessioners--private companies licensed to operate in the parks: "You folks are going to play a tremendously important role and a growing role in the administration of our national parks... We want to involve the private sector in managing our resource space... We need an aggressive program with private entrepreneurs who are willing to invest and manage resources in the National Park System for people."

Hair said "there can be only two interpretations" of Watt's statement that the NWF questionnaire did not fairly summarize his position on operation of the parks: "One is that you had forgotten the position you took before the concessioner's conference. The other is that when you saw in the survey report how unpopular that decision was, you changed your position."

Long-term credit that's productive.

Voluntary Investment Program Adds $2.8 million for Promotion of Beef

Last of Five Parts

Texas cattlemen are implementing a voluntary 25-cent-per-head beef promotion investment program effective July 1. Under the new system, all funds collected are to be remitted to the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board for use in national programs of research, education, and promotion.

For the current fiscal year (May 1, 1981 to April 30, 1982), the Beef Industry Council has budgeted $2.8 million for national beef promotion. With their promotion investment commitment, Texas joins 21 other states that have united to increase long-range funding for national beef programs.

levels, cattlemen are spending only one cent per consumer, nationally, to sell beef. We've got to do more," said Joe Hathoot, immediate past president, Livestock Marketing Association of Texas.

One cent per consumer is not very much to spend to promote beef to 220 million Americans. Compare that figure to 12 cents per capita by the Florida Citrus Commission and 32 cents per capita spent by the United Dairy Association. Clearly, the beef industry is far behind other commodity organizations when it comes to national promotion programs.

Increased funds could be used to promote beef in the "untapped" Northeast corridor of the U.S. where 25 percent of the nation's population lives but not a single beef council exists. Of funds could be used to roll-out existing programs (such as those described in previous articles of this series) to cover a much greater market area and subsequently have a greater impact on more consumers.

But even though existing Beef Industry Council programs are highly effective, many feel that more can and should be done to build better beef markets--especially in light of certain challenges now facing the industry, such as health concerns, market encroachment by other meats and inflation.

ment? Increased funds could be used to promote beef in the "untapped" Northeast corridor of the U.S. where 25 percent of the nation's population lives but not a single beef council exists. The added beef market support from Texas and 21 other states will go a long way toward making national beef programs more effective and influencing people to buy beef, said Hathoot.

"Germ Warfare" Now 'Used As Alternative To Pesticides

Insects can be real pests. They bite and sting us, often passing on serious diseases, destroy our crops, and as California's Mediterranean fruit fly epidemic demonstrates, they can threaten an entire state's economy. But according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's

Nature Magazine, farmers and gardeners are fighting back without using harmful pesticides by "trying to give diseases to insects."

Many growers use a sort of "germ warfare" to rid their crops and gardens of harmful insects. Their weapons are various microorganisms such as bacteria, viruses, protozoa, and fungi. The environmental advantage to these microorganisms is that they are "species specific", meaning they do their dirty work on only one insect species. Unlike pesticides, they don't wipe out all the bugs in their path, some of which may be beneficial to the gardener.

CCC Sorghum On Sale

Farmers, ranchers and other interested persons will be eligible to purchase Sorghum from the Commodity Credit Corporation starting July 31 at 2:30 p.m. EDT.

Gene Wallace, Chairperson of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the CCC will offer sorghum for unrestricted use sale at market prices, but not less than the formula price which is 115 percent of the county loan rate for sorghum where stored plus 97 cents per hundredweight carrying charges.

"The minimum quantity that will be considered for acceptance is 500 hundredweight", Wallace said.

According to Wallace, offers will be received and sales will be made on a first come, first served basis.

Interested persons should contact the county ASCS office as soon as possible for further details. The office is located at 216 E. Main, Sonora, Texas 76950. Telephone: 915-387-3111.

Steam Rigs Making Comeback in Oil Patch

A severe shortage of drilling rigs, caused by a record drilling boom, has resulted in one Houston-based energy firm turning to an up-dated, more efficient version of a rig which had become extinct a generation ago.

On the far West Texas plains near Monahans, The Coastal Corporation's Border Exploration Company unit is drilling for natural gas with a one-of-a-kind steam-powered rig.

Such rigs had become an extinct species, disappearing as more efficient diesel and gasoline-powered versions replaced them. Now the updated steam-powered rig is more efficient than the 'modern' rigs that retired it a generation ago.

Coastal, which participated in drilling 211 wells in 1980 and plans a similar number in 1981, is pleased about using the pace-setting rig. Midland-based

Tom Young, district drilling manager of Coastal Oil & Gas Corp., Border's parent, explains how his company capitalized on the opportunity:

"We heard that D&R Drilling was assembling a steam-powered rig out of spare and new parts. We were faced with a lease expiration and had to drill or lose the lease. No diesel rigs were available because of the domestic rig shortage so we decided to stick our necks out and try this unique old-new approach."

The Border well, named Amigo State No. 18-1, is located in Ward County, five miles northwest of Grandfalls and 15 miles southwest of Monahans.

"The well is drilling at a rate of approximately 300 feet a day," says Young. "That's pretty good for a 12-1/4 inch hole. The well will be drilled to the 14,800-foot projected depth in the Ellenburger formation. It should take 90 to 120 days to drill."

Ed Durrett, president of D&R Drilling, who assembled the steam-powered rig, explains what makes it different:

"We noticed that other rig companies were putting tremendous investments of time and money into trying to make electric rigs provide the flexibility and advantages of the steam rigs of yesteryear. We thought a better approach would be to modify old steam engines and rigs to take advantage of the new technologies developed in the diesel-powered rigs and still use steam as our primary power source."

According to Durrett, the new rig, which took six months to assemble, is composed of approximately 60 percent new parts and 40 percent old. It has a depth capacity of 18,000 feet. The old parts are mostly found in Louisiana where steam drilling was most popular in the past.

"The old parts, which of course, include the steam engine, were reconditioned to mint condition," says Durrett. "The substructure, housing, electric generators and boilers are all new and highly developed technologically."

Durrett feels his old-new rig is superior to new diesel rigs. "Our testing has shown that our rig is 86 percent thermally efficient compared to a 42 percent efficiency rating on the old steam-powered rig," he says. "Gasoline or diesel-powered internal combustion engines, are, by the way, only 60 to 65 percent thermally efficient. We achieved this superior efficiency in part by condensing the steam exhaust and running it back to the feed-water system. We are recycling a great portion of the steam. It used to simply be vented into the air and wasted."

The new rig is much more flexible, too, according to Durrett. "It can do many things you can't do with straight mechanical power," he says. "For instance, it develops peak torque instantly at zero revolutions per minute. Regular powered engines take a longer time. The result is a substantial time saving which adds up to saving money, too."

Durrett is so pleased with his rig that he's planning to construct four more, refining and improving the design as he proceeds.

Border is pleased, too, with the old-new rig.

Depletion Allowance Cut Appears Certain

The House-Senate Conference Committee passed its version of the Tax-Cut Bill. It should be passed by the House and Senate and signed by President Reagan by the time you read this.

The Conference Committee did not go along with the House on freezing the depletion allowance. The depletion allowance will continue to fall until it reaches 15 percent in 1984. Other provisions in the Tax-Cut Bill include a $2,500 tax credit for royalty owners in 1981. Also, in 1982, 1983, and 1984 royalty owners would not have to pay the windfall tax on the first two barrels of production a day and in 1985 and 1986 no windfall tax would be paid on the first 3 barrels a day.

For oil producers the 30 percent tax on new oil will be lowered to 15 percent in the next five years. And, the tax on stripper oil, produced by independents only, will be completely eliminated beginning Jan. 1, 1983.

The President of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, Arden Grover, expressed disappointment over the action to let the depletion allowance drop to 15 percent. Grover said, "The depletion allowance is very important to independent oil producers just as it is to the producers of more than 100 other minerals in this country. We had hoped Congress would freeze it at 22 percent." He continued, "Two weeks ago we had very little in the way of windfall tax relief. Today, the outlook is somewhat brighter."

In the Permian Basin our rig count for last week was 475. One year ago it was 329.

Texas Discovery Rate Equals '80

Texas operators reported 123 gas and 51 oil discoveries in July 1981, the Railroad Commission's Oil and Gas Division announced today.

In the year-earlier month, 122 gas and 50 oil discoveries were filed with the state's energy regulatory agency.

Gas discoveries in the seventh month of the year included 32 in deep South Texas, 29 in the Refugio area, 18 in Southeast Texas, 14 in the San Antonio area, nine in East Texas, eight in West Central Texas, six in North Texas, three in the Midland area, and two each in East Central Texas and in the San Angelo area.

Oil discoveries included 15 in West Central Texas,

10 in the Midland area, six in the San Angelo, five each in the Refugio and Lubbock areas, four in Southeast Texas, two each in North Texas and the San Antonio area, and one each in deep South Texas and East Texas.

In July, operators reported 441 exploratory and field tests wound up as dry holes. New applications for permits to drill and gas tests totaled 3,223 in July compared with 2,768 in the same period of 1980.

Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in July amounted to 3,516 against 3,057 a year earlier.

Operators filed 872 amended applications to drill. A year earlier they submitted 655 amended requests.

Bank Credit Agreement Signed By Saber Energy

Saber Energy, Inc. announced the signing of two bank credit agreements totaling $280 million.

In addition, an arrangement has been made for up to $75 million in letters of credit to secure future tax-exempt bond financing.

One agreement provides for a $205 million credit line for construction of a specialized refining facility using heavy oil cracking technology. The heavy oil cracker will be operated by Saber Refining Company at Corpus Christi, Texas.

The other agreement will provide Saber with $75 million that will be available for working capital purposes.

Winkler's Well Lone Survivor of Wentworth

2nd of 2 parts

Winkler's well is the lone survivor. An electric pump has replaced the mill and tower raising that life-giving water. This well once made an oasis in the desert, then spawned a town - doomed to die - and today, like an eternal heartbeat, it pulsates as the last vestige of the life that once was Wentworth's.

In the beginning, perhaps a cypress tank was at the well, with an overflow into the dirt tank. Water for drinking and household use was carried from this wood tank by bucket or barrel. Bathing was not exactly overdone in that day and three or four persons used the same water - in a zinc tub.

Stockmen, even at the waterholes, insisted all living quarters be some 200 yards from where the stock came in to drink. This may have been the practice, to a degree, at Wentworth. Edgar Shurley was told that the main resident section was west of the well. This would give stock free access from the East and South.

The homes were small. Most were tents, some walled in with lumber. There were no trees here for log cabins but picket houses of cedar posts were common. The posts were placed vertically with mud chinking. The home of the mother of Bessie Wyatt (Vander Stucken) was made of pickets with a roof of grass, or huisache.

We might estimate about 20 houses of box construction once stood here. Such could easily be loaded on a heavy wagon bed and moved, and such was the practice since lumber was scarce and carpenters few. J.W. Odem is said to have moved his home 30 miles west to near Ozona, perhaps at Emerald.

The first store building was finished August, 1890. One planned to be 24 by 100 feet was likely a dream. No doubt that Lovelace and Stevenson, "Dealers in General Merchandise", operated in much less space. They kept an ad in "The Devil" into the mid-1891's before folding up on some unknown date. Lovelace moved his home to Sonora soon after.

This store may also have been the post office. Partner Thomas H. Stevenson was the first and only postmaster, appointed August 2, 1890. The office closed August 26, 1891. The Stevenson home is reported to have been a two-story building and the post office may have been on the lower floor. The first death mentioned is that of "F. Stevenson", the wife of Thomas. She died August 12, 1890 and her grave, about 600 yards across a little draw from the well, was probably the beginnings of the burial ground.

The second death reported was that of W.M. Mathis, killed March 19, 1891, from falling under the wheels of his wagon. He was buried some 30 feet south of Mrs. Stevenson. He was a freighter "and preached some". Others are buried here, including two children of R.J. Turner.

Some 200 years north of Winkler's well stood that focal center of the community, the two-story school and lodge building. Facing south, a large oak was near the front entrance, adding much to the treeless terrain. News accounts indicate this structure was planned in March and finished in August of 1890. Construction was paid for by contributions from citizens, parents, Masons and proceeds from activities sponsored by the ladies of the little town. Everyone had a part and a piece of their heart in the building.

A touch of sadness may have brought tears when it disappeared around the point, headed for Sonora.

First classes may have been held in the room of a home. Lottie Stevenson, our "Mama" Turney, walked four short miles from her home in Sonora to attend school here. Kate Turner of Wentworth, walked with four brothers to attend school in Sonora. She thinks only the very young went to school in Sonora - by some arrangement. Perhaps the two little girls were unaware of the prejudice existing. What Lottie recalls most vividly is the delicious glass of buttermilk some lady gave her each time she churned. Little boys would never forget playing on the ample grounds at recess and after school.

Mrs. Nannie B. Wilson never went to this school, but as the little "Word" girl, she recalled seeing her first - "most beautiful" Christmas tree here.

Lottie thinks some of the Word children did not attend the school, and there were the Boyd children, especially Betty. Also attending were the off spring of the Winklers and Lovelaces, and perhaps Lillie Heflin (Merriman).

Others who were supposed to have lived in Wentworth included R.J. Turner, J.E. Click, E.M. Ford, J.W. Odem, John Steagal, a Mathis, C.T. Covington, L. Hammond and perhaps C.C. Hammond.

As to the names of teachers, we are certain of only one, R.M. Stevenson. A brother to postmaster Thomas Stevenson, he may have taught in Sonora also.

A son, and former governor of Texas, Coke Stevenson, verifies that his father and uncle were here in those days. R.M. Stevenson is buried in the cemetery at Junction. The marker reads "Surveyor-Teacher", born February 16, 1854, died March 30, 1927.

The lower floor of the building also took care of the religious needs of the people. No denomination is named. A "Rev. Mr. Babb" preached the first Sunday in April, 1890, and on that day organized the first Sunday School. Regular services were announced for twice monthly, and in May the Rev. W.H. Whitehead was keeping appointments and Sunday School attendance was up to 47. At these services, "friends from Sonora visited."

As early as May, 1890, Masons are mentioned as being influential in Wentworth, particularly interested in education and the erection of the school building. Finished in August of 1890, the building was complete with an upstairs lodge room. This date may mark the time when a few of the more advanced in Masonry began to study and prepare to organize a local lodge. Almost a year later, July 11, 1891, they were granted a charter.

In that historic meeting of July 11, District Deputy Grand Master, David Doole, appointed the following officers: F.M. Drake, Worshipful Master; J.W. Odem, Senior Warden; D.H. Covington, Junior Warden; D.H. Covington, Junior Warden. Other officers were W.H. Sowell, treasurer; R.J. Bean, secretary; S.H. Stokes, Senior Deacon; E.M. Ford, Junior Deacon and C.T. Covington, Tyler. The petition for the Dispensation was signed by these officers and B.M. Steagal, W.H. DeBore and C.C. Hammond.

Visitors present that night were Wm. Sanderson, J.R. Holman and S.C. Couch of San Angelo Lodge Number 570. From Camp San Saba Lodge Number 555 were H.M. Mathis and our veteran surveyor, E.C. Saunders. Included in the names above are several citizens of Sonora.

The Devil's River News of December 19, 1891, states: "The Sonora Masonic Lodge now flourishes under the name Dee Ora Lodge No. 715." The name was a combination of the names of Dee Drake and Ora Odem, daughters of the Worshipful Master and the Senior Warden.

At the second regular meeting, August 8, announcement was made that all members were summoned for an important called meeting August 22, to discuss moving the Lodge and building to Sonora. At this called meeting it was voted unanimously to move.

A paid notice in "The Devil" says the Lodge is still meeting in Wentworth during October of 1891. The move was probably made the following month - November, one year from date of the election for the county seat.

Estimated to be 24 by 32 feet the two-story structure may have challenged the engineering talents of the movers. However, no difficulty is reported and E.C. Saunders, in his crisp Scotch, commented, "It was as fine a display of horsemanship as I have ever seen."

In Sonora it was placed at the site of the present building, next to the public school. The lower floor continued to serve as a classroom until the school setup was moved to its present site in 1904. For many more years the room served the community as a meeting place for Boy Scouts and other organiza-

It was torn down in 1938, and at the time no one seemed to realize or appreciate the value of its past usage as a community center, a place for recreation, a house of worship, the home of Dee Ora Lodge and an institution of education. As the walls fell a bit of sentiment was found in uncovering the original blackboards. No more than black pain on smooth lumber, they were filled with chalk markings, letter with fancy flourishes and numerals of arithmetic problems solved or unsolved, so long ago.

The memory of this building's service to so many for almost half a century is surely worthy of the recognition and recording given it by our Historical Committee and Dee Ora Lodge.

Local Scouts Complete Jamboree

The 1981 National Scout Jamboree is over, but for the 47 Boy Scouts and leaders who attended from the Concho Valley Council, the experience will remain memorable for years to come.

"The jamboree is held every four years and is one of Scouting's most exciting events," said Gene Hinnard, Jamboree Scoutmaster. The 1981 jamboree was held at Fort A.P. Hill, Va., from July 29 through August 4. Nearly 30,000 Scouts and leaders from all 50 states attended, as well as contingents from more than 25 foreign countries.

Highlights for the local youth include a tour of Washington, D.C., Mount Vernon and Fredericksburg. In addition, awards were won by local participants, including Bill Shannon who placed high enough to compete on the National level on the Wayfarer course, the Rattlesnake Patrol placed first in the Subcamp Tug of War and the Troop won a Blue Ribbon for See'N'Do.

Boys and leaders who attended from the Concho Valley Council were: Gene Hinnard, John Hinnard, Robert Lee, Victor Meza, Ernie Keller, Rene Meza, Victor Meza, Jr., Gary Milam, Del Rio; Marcus Young, Lee Blankenship, David Brosig, Rob Campbell, Mark Chipman, Jeffrey Dice, Darin Hartman, with the group from Abilene.

Sonora Fire Dept. Attends Firemen's Association Aug. 1

The Sonora Volunteer Fire Department and Firemen's Auxiliary participated in the "Fire Fighters Tribute to Rehab" races sponsored by the Hill Country Firemen's Association held Aug. 1, 1981 at the San Angelo Fire Training Center. The children from the West Texas Rehabilitation Center were taken for a ride on a fire truck provided by the San Angelo Fire Department.

After that, teams from Mason, Menard, Ballinger, Eden, Coleman, Sonora, and Goodfellow Air Base competed in six person pumper races, six person bunker gear races, six person bucket pass, six person ladder climb, six person hose roll, and two person water polo. For each first place a team was given 15 points, second place 10 points, and third place 5 points. Ballinger won first place trophy. Sonora and Goodfellow Air Base tied for second place trophy. Mason won third place trophy. Winners of the water polo trophies were Mason first in men's, Eden second in men's, and Sonora women's won first in women's water polo. In the one person race for children, Lewis Olenick, Jr. from Sonora brought home the first place trophy. Jim Craig of Sterling City placed second. Jimmy Keese of Sonora placed third, and Gennie Kraft of Menard placed fourth. A total of $2,580.70 was collected for the Rehab Center from entrance fees and donations.
