Students Prepare For "Godspell" Production

Sonora High School will present "Godspell" on January 14 at 8:00 p.m., on January 16 at 8:00 p.m. and on January 17 at 2:00 p.m. All productions are in the high school auditorium.

The participants have been preparing colorful sets and practicing for several weeks for the production. "Godspell" was conceived and written by student Jon-Michael Fubelak as a Master Thesis Project at Carnegie Mellon University. It was produced first there, then in an off-Broadway New York theatre. The purchasers moved the show to Broadway in 1972. Since that time, the show has been seen by audiences all over the world. It is the most produced musical this year in the United States.

The reason for its appeal is its entertaining music and its retelling of Christ's message of love through the parables found in the Gospel of St. Matthew. The stories from the greatest teacher are given a contemporary slant using modern references--everything from TV commercials, political and social satires to magic tricks. Yet the message from Jesus remains the same: Love one another and treat others as you would have them treat you.

The Sonora Speech Department production has enlarged the cast from 10 to 18 and has used a carnival atmosphere for the set, which is a series of banners, flags and platforms to represent the joy of Christ's message.

Songs in the show are as follows: "Prepare Ye", sung by Scott Savell, "Save the People", Mike Polocek, "Day by Day", Laura Preston, "Learn Your Lessons Well", Jennifer Spencer, "Bless the Lord", Cathy Polocek, "All For the Best", Mike Polocek and Brad Johnson, "All Good Gifts", Efrain Torres, "You Are the Light of the World", Charley Carroll, Trudy Taylor, Mike Phillips, and Drew Wallace, "Turn Back O'Man", Laura Preston, Betsy Allen, and Clalene Stewart, "We Beseech Thee", Brad Johnson, "On the Willows", Brad Johnson, Charley Carroll, Efrain Torres, and Craig Hopper, and the finale sung by Mike Polocek.

Tickets for the show are $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students. It promises to be one of the big events of the 1981-82 school year. Tickets are available at the door, from speech students, or from The Photo Ranch, Tedford's, Westerman's, and other local businesses.

Strake said he would have a constitutional amendment introduced at the start of the next—the 1983—legislature limiting the Lieutenant Governor to eight years. He predicted voters would pass the amendment at the polls.

"Texans have historically been suspicious of governmental power. They should be suspicious of people who want to always earn their bread in an elective office as powerful as this one," said Strake.

He added, "This limitation I am calling for is in line with my long-held belief in citizen participation in government: serve the folks then go back into private affairs."

The Texas Lieutenant Governor's post is one of the strongest in the country. The Lieutenant Governor appoints Senate committees and has life-and-death control over the flow of legislation through the 31-member body.

There is now no limit on how long a Lieutenant Governor can serve in office.

Hobby Looks Ahead To New Year

By Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby
Now that the history books are being closed on 1981, I would like to join the people of Texas in looking ahead to the new year.

This past year has been one of uncertainty for most Texans.

We have seen inflation, high interest rates, poor housing markets, conflict and danger overseas, and general economic unrest. Even though these issues affect each of us directly in our everyday lives, most are national concerns impacted in one way or another by the federal government.

In our Texas government, we have a clearer picture and cause for considerable optimism. We have gone through another session of the Texas Legislature without any state tax increase. We have lived through a decade of no tax increases while keeping the spending policies of this state within the confines of the income to the state treasury.

The business climate in Texas has protected our citizens to some extent from higher unemployment which has been a severe problem in other parts of the nation. A good business climate means jobs and payrolls to the people of Texas. It must be protected if Texas is to fulfill its prospects for a bright future.

Our triumphs have been many. Again, the state government has lived within its income. Yet it is highly significant that 46 states levy higher taxes, and Texas has still held the line against a state income tax.

Per capita income in Texas exceeds the national average.

Today, there are only five nations, not states, which produce more energy than Texas.

Texas leads the country in capital investment in manufacturing, and we have added more manufacturing jobs in the last ten years than any other state.

Texas does not enjoy all these advantages because it is the buckle of the Sunbelt. These advantages are enjoyed in Texas because the government and our people are prudent, fruitful, and restrained while others are spendthrifts.

In defining our goals for 1982 and beyond, our highest priority must be excellence in education for our school children and college students.

We must intensify the war on crime.

Those people in our society who insist on breaking the criminal laws must never be permitted to believe that their actions and conduct are acceptable.

The Legislature in 1981 passed a meaningful program to improve law enforcement. Although all of us know these new laws are only a partial solution to the problem of rising crime rates and overcrowded prisons, we must do more, and as Lieutenant Governor I pledge that we will.

Even though there is not much the state government can do to fight inflation and high interest rates, which are a national problem, I pledge to you that the state government through its spending policies will not add to the burden of the people of Texas.

As the new year begins, I renew my deep commitment to do all in my power to better the lot of all Texans and help give them an effective and responsible state government.

Sutton Co. Has Regional Winners

The 1981 South Texas Regional Pecan Show was held on December 8, 1981 in San Antonio. Winners from Sutton County were as follows: 1st place Delmas- Dr. W.T. Hardy, 2nd place Burkett- Dr. W.T. Hardy, 2nd place success- Mr. Thomas Morris, 2nd place Stuart- Rev. David Griffin-First United Methodist Church, 3rd place Stuart-Dr. W.T. Hardy, and 3rd place Western- Mr. Preston love.

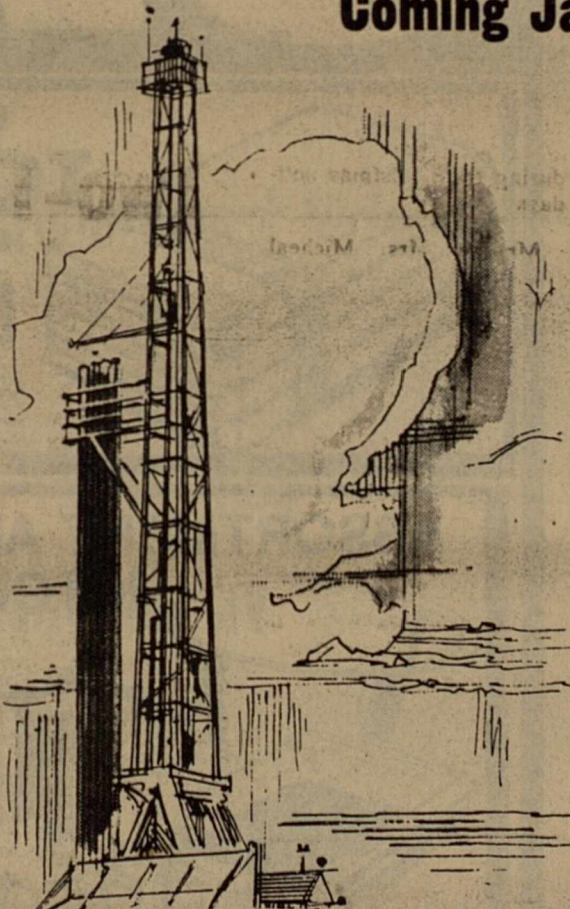

According to Preston Paris, Sutton County Extension Agent, this is an outstanding accomplishment considering the large area covered and the past quality of competition. This reaffirms our earlier thoughts concerning the ability of our producers to compete with others over the state.

Congratulations to these winners. Perhaps this will encourage more people to participate in the local show next year.

Colonial To Sponsor Rodeo

Colonial Food Stores, Inc., a San Angelo-based Stock Show and Rodeo Calf Scramble, the first corporate sponsorship of an event in the show's history.

Colonial will sponsor the event at the annual rodeo to be held in conjunction with the stock show March 8th through 14th at the San Angelo Fairgrounds and Coliseum. The sponsorship is part of Colonial's extension program, which is designed to aid local organizations through sponsorship of fund raising activities in West Texas and Central Missouri, the areas of operation for Colonial convenience stores.

The Calf Scramble, held during each of six performances of the rodeo, is open to members of Future Farmers of America and 4-H Clubs. Twenty contestants participate in each scramble. During the 6-minute event, the contestants, on foot, are expected to catch and harness calves released from arena shutes. The calves are then led to the finish line, with the students having the best time winning the event. Awards are in the form of cash certificates to be used to purchase livestock for the contestant's 4-H or FFA project. Contestants must be 13 years of age, but must not have reached their 19th birthday before March 10, 1982 and still be in school. Students from 108 schools in 90 counties throughout Texas are expected to compete in the 1982 show.

Colonial has increased the 1982 scramble prize money substantially over previous purses offered. A total of 60 cash prizes will be presented during the six day event with 10 prizes awarded each performance to 1st through 10th place winners. Honorary businessmen and local officials, invited by Colonial, will help judge the event.

Nineteen eighty-two will mark the 50th anniversary of the show which is sponsored by the San Angelo

Stock Show and Rodeo Association. Held in the center of one of the greatest ranching sections of Texas, the show is designed to encourage and assist present and future ranchmen in the production and finishing of high grade livestock. By affording entrants the opportunity to exhibit prized livestock, projects and displays in competition, and conferring awards to those judges as outstanding, the Stock Show Association recognizes the efforts and achievements of participants.

The Association encourages 4-H and FFA members, parents, leaders, busnessmen and visitors to take part in the show, which is a cooperative effort to recognize the importance of agriculture in our lives.

HEALTHY ADVICE

by Fred Lucas, M.D.

Losing Weight the Smart Way

The holidays are over, and now you could be upset with yourself because you ate too much during the festive period. As a result, you may have decided to lose a few pounds.

Unfortunately, many people with good intentions give up in discouragement and never make any headway in their battle with excess weight. One reason is the vast amount of incorrect information and myths about dieting.

As the Texas Medical Association has pointed out, many Americans torture themselves with all sorts of crazy, illogical diets ranging from periodic starvation to eating only foods like grapefruit and bananas.

Most people have to diet simply because they consume too many calories for their body to use each day. Calories not burned as energy are stored in the body as fat. Despite what some books and magazine articles may claim, the only sure way to lose that fat safely is to get more exercise and quit eating so much.

The main point to remember about dieting is that moderation, not starvation, is the key to losing weight and staying healthy.

Crash diets should be avoided because they can lead to bad nutrition and vitamin shortages. Taking vitamin pills will not prevent dangerous vitamin and mineral deficiencies during a crash diet.

Beware of the latest fads. The best diet is one which is lower in calories, but consists of a conventional mix of the basic food groups: milk, meat, vegetables and fruit, breads and cereals. The emphasis should be placed on low-calorie fruits and vegetables over higher-calorie red meats.

Push yourself away from the table before getting that filled up feeling. Never take seconds, even of salads. Eat five smaller meals daily instead of three big ones. And drink lots of water.

Remember that a plan for slow, but steady, weight loss over a longer period helps you to form better eating habits. In addition, weight lost over several months or a year is more likely to stay gone. Losing weight is only half the battle. Keeping it off is just as important.

Simpler Forms Make Production Reports Easier

Oil and gas operators in Texas will find their monthly production report to the Railroad Commission easier to do in the future thanks to simpler forms approved by Chairman Jim Nugent and Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple.

The Commission's Oil and Gas Division has revised the production reporting forms to eliminate needless duplication, according to David Garlick, the division's Assistant Director for Planning and Administration.

"Under the present procedure," he said, "an operator who produces from both oil and gas wells must file four production reports with the Commission each month: the P-1, P-2, and a P-1A & 2A (one form) with each for casinghead gas and gas well gas. Under our new procedure, the same operator would file only two reports: the P-1 and P-2."

Although the new forms will be ready in 1982, the planned start date for their use is not until January 1, 1983. Thus, the first report using the new forms will be for production during January, 1983. That production report is due to the Commission by February 28, 1983.

Before the new forms can be put into use, producers and operators across the state have to be introduced to the forms and understand how to use them. The Oil and Gas Division plans to explain the new forms at seminars throughout the state during 1982. While this education process is going on, the old forms will continue to be used.

Garlick said the P-1 and P-2 have been redesigned to include the information reported on the P-1A and 2A form. "In simplifying these reports, we have also reduced the substantial costs to operators associated with the reports," he added, "costs which include monthly preparation and filing time, postage, and records retrieval time."

Texas' booming oil and gas industry has generated a tremendous amount of paperwork for the Commission, which regulates some 180,000 producing oil wells and 40,000 producing gas wells in the state. In an average month, more than 41,000 oil and gas production reporting forms are sent to the Commission, or more than half a million forms annually.

That total represents a 56 percent increase over 1980, and a similar increase is projected for 1982. The elimination of the P-1A & 2A form will cut more than 150,000 forms annually, which represents a 30 percent reduction and a savings to the Commission of $25,000 a year.

The redesign of the P-1 and P-2 forms also makes filling them out easier and faster. Instructions on the back have been simplified. The Commission mailing address is printed on the form so it will show through the standard window envelope when folded. Shaded lines running across the face of the forms help operators keep words and numbers in alignment.

The P-2 form will be printed on yellow paper so Commission handlers can easily distinguish it from the P-1 (green ink on white paper).

RRC Sets January Production

The Railroad Commission today set the Texas oil production rate for January 1982 at the market demand factor of 100 percent for the 59th month in a row and the 115th time since the Commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in January totaling 2,460,950 barrels per day, an increase of 2,394 barrels daily when compared with December 1981 buyer requests. January 1981 nominations totaled 2,587,925 barrels daily.

Next month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 2,997,218 b/d with actual production estimated at 2.41 million b/d. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production in January 1981 was 2,490,513 barrels daily.

Temple reported that January 1982 nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totalled 24,552,307 Mcf/d (thousand cubic feet per day). Gas nominations for December amounted to 24,946,341 Mcf/d. January 1981 gas nominations totaled 24,855,556 Mcf/d.

The next statewide oil and gas hearing will be held Wednesday, Jan. 20, at 9 a.m. in Rm. 107 of the Railroad Commission headquarters building, 1124 S. IH 35 in Austin.

RRC To Move To New Building

To allow more room in the Railroad Commission's Austin headquarters building for the increasing workload in oil and gas regulation, the RRC's Gas Utilities Division is moving into another building.

The move is to be completed this weekend, and the GUD will operate out of an office building at 55 N. IH 35 in Austin beginning Jan. 4.

All gas utility-related hearings will be held at the new offices. Amended notices of hearing, which will include notification of any change in time and place, will be sent to all parties in hearings that have already been scheduled at the old building.

The new GUD phone number is 475-0461. Division Director Jeffrey Hill can be reached at 475-6262. The division's hotline number, through which accidents involving gas utilities and pipelines are reported, will remain 447-2171.

Through its Gas Utilities Division, the Railroad Commission approves rates for gas service in unincorporated areas of Texas. Although city governments have jurisdiction on rate changes within their corporate limits, appeals are made to the Commissioners.

The GUD also drafts rules that define the scope of gas utility regulation in the state.

A safety and engineering section makes field inspections to evaluate design, construction, operation, maintenance, and emergency procedures of utility. Through audits of more than 300 gas utilities in the state, the division reviews records, accounts, cost of gas data, and unaccounted-gas reports. Gross receipts taxes are also collected.

Clint Langford Honored For Service

Davis C. "Clint" Langford was presented the first county agent local level award for his contribution to range management in Sutton County by the Texas Section, Society for Range Management at its annual meeting in Lubbock, Texas on December 4, 1981.

Langford has been a leader in educational efforts in range management and ranching in Sutton County for 30 years. He retired from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in 1979 and now resides in Kerrville. He assisted three generations of 4-H Club members in compiling an impressive record of 46 state titles in range, grass, wool, and mohair judging teams. His judging teams have won six national titles. Langford was instrumental in organizing the first county range judging contest in Texas. He has worked closely with ranchers, research personnel, and other agencies in demonstrations, field days, and workshops to improve range management in Sutton and surrounding counties. Langford has been active in community and civic affairs. He was a 31 year member of the Sonora Lions Club and is a life member of both the Texas and National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

The Texas Section, Society for Range Management initiated the county level awards program to recognize individuals such as Clint Langford who work directly with landowners and others to promote and implement range management programs at the local level. Similar awards were presented to W.B. Owen, vocational agriculture teacher at Jacksboro; and Lendon Parker, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service at Albany.

Long-term credit that's productive.

PROTECT YOUR FUTURE WITH AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT AT

You'll Have Benefits Today, Retirement Income For Tomorrow
 And The Strength and Security Of First National Bank Of Sonora Throughout.

Beginning January 1, 1982, for tax year 1982 and thereafter, a new federal law will make the benefits of an Individual Retirement Account available to everyone, even those already covered by a pension plan. Previously, this plan was available only to those not covered by a pension plan. And the benefits are great both for today and for the retirement years to come.

Q. Why is this new program so important?

A. There is a new emphasis on self reliance, especially in terms of providing for one's own retirement. The new Individual Retirement Account allows you to do just that, regardless of what other pension or retirement plans you have.

Q. How does it work?

A. Simply stated, you can put up to $2,000 a year into an Individual Retirement Account and deduct that amount from your taxable income. The interest you earn on your funds accumulates tax-free as well. After retirement, you may begin withdrawing from your Individual Retirement Account. You must pay taxes on it as you withdraw, but your tax bracket should be much less after retirement.

Q. Do I have to put in $2,000 every year?

A. No. You can contribute whatever you like each year, but it can't exceed $2,000 for an individual or $2,250 for a couple using the same Individual Retirement Account.

Q. What about married couples?

A. A married couple, when both parties work, may set up two separate accounts. This means you'll be able to tax shelter $4,000 a year. If your spouse does not work, you may still increase your annual contribution to $2,250 to cover both of you.

Q. At $2,000 a year, can I really accumulate a significant amount?

A. Judge for yourself:

Let's assume an interest rate of 12%. In 20 years, with contributions of $2,000 a year, your Individual Retirement Account would grow to $177,277.

Of course, the interest rate will vary over that period of time, but this will give you some idea of the opportunity an Individual Retirement Account offers.

Retirement Benefits for Tomorrow

At End of Year	Total Amount Deposited	Balance in Account (12% interest)
5	$10,000	$ 14,541
10	$20,000	$ 41,035
15	$30,000	$ 89,311
20	$40,000	$ 177,277
25	$50,000	$ 337,559
30	$60,000	$ 629,614
35	$70,000	$1,161,772
40	$80,000	$2,131,427

This chart is based on $2,000 deposited at the first of each year at a rate of 12% compounded continuously.

Q. When can I begin withdrawing from my Individual Retirement Account?

A. At age 59½, regardless of whether or not you are retired. Any withdrawal previous to that time will carry a tax penalty amounting to 10% of the amount withdrawn, plus regular income tax on that amount. There is an exception, however, in case of disability.

Q. Do I have to begin withdrawing from the account when I retire?

A. Not immediately. However, retirement withdrawals must begin no later than the year in which you reach 70½. At that time you can make a lump sum withdrawal, or begin a program of installment payments.

Come in The First National Bank of Sonora and see Sue Rosford or Jo Ann Jones today and set up your Individual Retirement Account. Start accumulating your retirement fund as soon as possible. Member FDIC

Congressmen Join For Price Hearings

Five Congressmen joined Texas Congressman James M. Collins last week in asking for immediate Congressional hearings on natural gas price deregulation. By letter, Collins, Phil Gramm (TX), Bill Danemeyer (CA), Billy Tauzin (LA), Ralph Hall (TX) and Mike Synar (OK), called on Phil Sharp (IN), Chairman of the Fossil and Synthetic Fuels Subcommittee, to hold deregulation hearings at the earliest possible date. The letter represents the first formal request for Congressional action on gas decontrol from representatives of the key gas producing and consuming states. "It is virtually undisputed that the assumptions of the Natural Gas Policy Act are obsolete," according to Collins, sponsor of H.R. 4885 to decontrol gas prices. Collins noted four major reasons why Congress should take action on gas deregulation: "First, if my bill were passed, the Department of Energy estimates that our national economic efficiency would be increased by $5 billion and our oil import levels would be reduced by 260 million barrels per day through 1985.

"Second, the NGPA creates a cushion of low-priced gas that is never decontrolled. This cushion, mainly in interstate pipelines, allows those pipelines to bid for higher-priced deregulated gas and average it with cheap gas. "Third, the NGPA deregulated gas is produced from wells below 15,000 feet, leaving little incentive for producers to look for less costly gas above 15,000 feet. Drilling below 15,000 feet will be up 21 percent this year, while more shallow drilling will fall 5 percent, even though it costs 5 to 6 times more to drill the deeper wells. This is passed on to consumers in unreasonably high prices. "Fourth, in 1977, the NGPA's authors tied the price of gas to decontrol crude oil, assuming $15 per barrel in 1985. Yet, crude oil sells for about $34 per barrel today." Collins stated that this bill gradually phases out price controls on gas through 1985, repeals the Power Plant and Industrial Fuel Use Act and NGPA's incremental pricing provisions which ban industry from using gas. Intrastate pipelines are given authority to purchase Outer Continental Shelf gas and the problems with existing contracts are addressed. Collins urges hearings on this legislative as soon as Congress returns.

Deadline For Agricultural Program Draws Near

Texans have only two more weeks to mail their comments on the Secretary of Agriculture's preferred program for conserving soil and water resources. Comments are to be mailed to the Soil Conservation Service in Temple by January 15, reports Virgil Poloczek, district conservationist for SCS at Sonora.

The proposed national conservation program would increase the roles of local and state governments in conservation work and target a greater share of USDA dollars and people to critical resource problems and areas.

For more information on the program and to obtain a response form for mailing your comments, contact your local SCS or Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

The offices have a leaflet that summarizes the main points of the program and contains the pre-addressed, postage-paid response form.

The program is the USDA response to the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977 (RCA). Details of the program are presented in the revised program report, which is available for reference at SCS and ASCS offices throughout the state.

Comments must be mailed to the SCS state conservationist, P.O. Box 648, Temple, Texas, 76503, before January 15, 1982.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday that about 1,000 Texas merchants need to be aware of new sales tax requirements on credit sales which go into effect January 1.

The new law affects merchants who make installment sales of taxable items, included the amount of sales tax due in the outstanding balance and keep their books on the "cash" basis of accounting.

According to the new law, a part of the interest paid on sales tax portion of credit sales will be taxable. This additional amount is to be reported and remitted when the regular sales tax return is filed.

If the interest on the sales tax and the unpaid balance are the same--and the rate is 18 percent or less--the state gets half the interest on the sales tax portion of the total amount being financed.

If the rate is more than 18 percent, the state gets all interest on the sales tax amount above 9 percent.

For example, a merchant charging 20 percent interest on credit sales will remit 11 percent interest charged on the sales tax portion if the bill is different from the rate charged on the rest of the unpaid balance, the merchant must remit all of the interest paid on the sales tax portion to the state.

Taxpayers with questions about their new responsibilities should contact the Comptroller's local office nearest them or the Comptroller's Sales Tax division at 1-800-252-5555, a toll-free call from anywhere in Texas.

Star Entertainers To Perform At Houston Rodeo

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I am the president of the Sonora Lulac Council. A problem that has existed in the past in many communities here in Texas has reared its ugly head again here in Sonora. There have been several recent incidents where local peace officers have, we feel, violated the rights of our Mexican-American citizens.

The tactics that have been utilized in these instances by these so-called defenders of law and order remind us of those used by the Nazi Gestapo. We do not condone unlawful actions by anyone and certainly the behavior of those that are supposed to be the keepers of our laws, in effect, set an example that few would emulate. We feel that all public servants should conduct themselves and their office in a professional manner with the interests of the citizenry as foremost. We feel that because of the nature of their duties, all peace officers should be eminently trained and qualified and able to defuse delicate and possibly explosive situations that might be otherwise botched up by crude manipulation in the hands of amateurs.

Without going into specifics, certain Sonora Sheriff's Department Deputies have acted detrimentally and against the interests of not only the Mexican-American people of this town, but based on their actions, against the welfare of all Sonora citizens, regardless of their race.

It appears that we have here in Sonora, deputies that have entered the law enforcement field apparently, not to protect the citizens and enforce the laws of our country, but because they want adventure, and I would imagine romance. If they are in the business because of this warped thirst for adventure, those individuals could try jumping off a plane could try jumping out of a plane without a parachute. We do not enjoy having our people's skulls cracked open by some bully with a badge and a gun whose only claim to fame is his big size and miniscule brain.

Because of the brutality employed against our people, it being symptomatic of a sick mentality, we have retained legal counsel to assist us in handling our claims against the Sonora Sheriff's Department and will follow all legal recourses provided by our laws. Our attorneys include Tony Bonilla, National LULAC President, as we are law abiding and wish that the Sonora Sheriff's deputies were too.

Horse show events begin on February 20; livestock judging on February 22 and rodeo performances on February 24. All events conclude March 7. Researchers Say Texas May Escape Flu Epidemic Texas may escape a major flu epidemic this year, researchers at Baylor College of Medicine said today.

While there is still a chance for a surprise epidemic, it almost certainly won't come until January, after students return to school from the holiday break, say the researchers at Baylor's Influenza Research Center.

They caution, however, that influenza vaccinations are still advised for people with heart or lung disease and the elderly, since forecasting outbreaks is difficult and annual vaccinations are necessary to maintain immunity.

So far this year, the flu season has been relatively mild and the number of respiratory illnesses in Houston were below last year's level until a few weeks ago.

For the 1981-82 season there are several things the Baylor flu researchers can say with certainty.

Because schools provide the close contacts that can result in flu epidemics, the current holiday break provides a "buffer" on top of an already mild year for the illness—delaying any possible epidemic this winter.

Influenza B virus, which already has caused sporadic infections this fall, may cause a mild outbreak later this winter.

A variant of the Russian flu (A/England) virus may surface, because more young people have less immunity to this virus type.

People below the age of 30, particularly school children, will be more susceptible to the variant.

Although predictions for a particular season partly based on who is most likely to become ill, all people exposed to flu viruses can become ill.

"The virus you meet this year will be a little different from the one you met last year and you may get sick. You don't develop absolute immunity to the flu," said William P. Glezen, M.D., of the Baylor center's staff.

For this reason, he recommends that high risk persons and the elderly get vaccinated.

He also cautions that forecasting flu outbreaks remains difficult because so little is known about the viruses and how they circulate.

"So much of the dogmas we were taught 10 years ago has been destroyed by what happened in recent years," Glezen said.

Two distinct virus types (A/England and A/Bangkok) were circulating last winter, and the Russian flu reappeared in 1977 after its first appearance in 1946-57.

Realizations like these though, have made flu researchers' work less of a guessing game in the last few years.

Predictions for a flu season are based on three different factors.

First we need to know what viruses have circulated, then we need to know if any new variant appears to be spreading anywhere in the world. Third, we try to determine what population will be susceptible to illness caused by these viruses," Glezen said.

To determine what viruses caused illness the previous year. Experience in the past has shown that a cluster of late-season viruses—they produce what is called a herald wave—often reappear the following season.

There was no definite herald wave in 1980-81. However, a variant of one of the viruses that circulated last season, A/England, is expected this season.

The center also relies on virus reports from the World Health Organization and laboratories in Australia and New Zealand, because these countries experience their flu season during our summer.

To determine susceptibility, the researchers conduct blood tests among about 80 Houston families and other young people to see what antibodies are present in their blood. This year's tests showed that antibodies against the A/England virus type were low especially in persons under 30 years of age

The Consumer Alert
by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Once the Christmas season has passed consumers often are faced with the returning or exchanging of gifts.

Although most consumers expect to be able to return or exchange their gifts with little or no problems, this may not always be the case.

Most merchants will accept an exchange of merchandise, as a form of customer service, but stores are not legally required to exchange merchandise, refund money or give the customer a store credit on their purchase, unless the item is not as represented or the item is found to be defective.

It is recommended that before a consumer makes a purchase, especially one that entails a large sum of money, they inquire about the store's "refund and exchange" policies on gifts purchased. All merchants have their own return or exchange policies, and consumers may find some merchants are more restrictive in their policies than other merchants which they have dealt with in the past.

When purchasing items such as swimsuits, undergarments or intimate apparel, the consumer should be especially certain that the correct size is purchased. For the protection of the purchaser, these items are all sold on an "All Sales Final" basis and are not returnable or exchangeable.

Consumers may avoid problems or delays in seeking refunds by following these recommendations:

- Return goods in their original packages.
- Take all your sales or charge receipts, price labels and tags with you.
- Return items to the department where it was purchased or to the service desk designated for refunds.
- Explain your reason for returning merchandise.

Should problems be encountered regarding your refund, ask to speak with either the Department or Store Manager.

In the event that the problem can not be satisfactorily resolved and you feel an adjustment is due, contact your local Better Business Bureau and Attorney General's Office.

When purchasing items such as swimsuits, under-

Voters In Twelve Counties Vote For Bingo

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that voters in at least 12 Texas counties and five cities will decide January 16 whether non-profit groups can legally operate bingo games in their communities.

"This is going to end the confusion about bingo in Texas. From now on, bingo is going to be approved by the voters and licensed by the state or it's going to be illegal," Bullock said.

Cities, counties and justice precincts that approve bingo can also levy a 2 percent gross receipts tax on the games. The Comptroller's office will handle licensing of the games, collect the tax and return it to the communities where the games are held.

Where voters approve bingo, non-profit groups must get licenses from the Comptroller's Bingo Regulation Division and can't legally operate games until enforcement priority following the January voting will be to protect those groups who have obtained licenses.

"Especially where the local government has levied the 2 percent tax," Garland said, "we will be checking to make sure every bingo game is licensed. Those that don't have licenses will be urged to get them. If they don't become licensed and keep playing bingo, we will file complaints with local authorities and the Attorney General."

Counties due to vote first on the bingo question include Guadalupe, Comal, Kerr, Maverick, Kieberg, Victoria, Fayette, Milam, Wharton, Nueces, Lavaca, Jim Wells and Webb.

Cities holding January 16 elections include White Settlement, Schertz, Selma, Gregory and Reno.

To call a bingo election, a local governing body must receive a petition with the signatures of 10 percent of the number of voters who cast ballots in the last governor's election. The Comptroller's first 10 days after the local option election, according to Division Director George Garland.

"We are urging non-profit groups in these counties and cities to apply in advance for their licenses by contacting us right away," Garland said.

Organizations should contact the division by writing to 111 E. 17th, Austin, Texas 78774 or calling 1-900-252-5555.

According to the new bingo law, cities, counties and justice precincts that don't vote to approve bingo in January must wait until the next constitutional election date of April 3.

Ag Dept. Releases

Surplus Cheese

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has released 1,884,900 pounds surplus processed cheese for distribution to needy Texans by non-profit organizations, Gene P. Dickey, Southwest Regional Administrator for USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, said Wednesday.

Dickey said the state allocations were made in accordance with President Reagan's decision to release 30 million pounds of stockpiled cheese on a nationwide basis.

Delivery of the cheese in Texas will be administered by the Texas Department of Human Resources. Apportionment will be through the normal commodities channels.

The cheese will be distributed to the needy of Texas by recognized charitable non-profit organizations. Groups which have adequate storage facilities and record keeping ability, as determined by the state, will be eligible to participate in the cheese distribution program.

The President said Wednesday that more than 560 million pounds of cheese have been consigned to warehouses as a result of the Dairy Price-Support Program. "At a time when American families are under increasing financial pressure," Reagan said, "their government cannot sit by and watch millions of pounds of food turn to waste."

Dickey who administers USDA food programs in five southwestern states, said that agencies in his region geared up to make the cheese available immediately after Reagan's statement.

USDA allotments for the Southwest Region are: Arkansas 303,700 pounds; Louisiana, 558,500 pounds; New Mexico, 172,300 pounds; Oklahoma, 399,200 pounds; and Texas 1,884,900 pounds. The total for the Southwest Region is 3,318,600 pounds. Allocations were based on state populations.

To effectively remove common laundry stains, soak articles in cold water with detergent for 30 minutes. Then follow with a warm wash, says Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Blair Files For Associate Justice

Today, January 2, 1982, Judge Blair "Bruzzie" Reeves filed with the State Executive Committee of the Democratic Party in Austin, Texas for Associate Justice, Fourth Court of Appeals. The Fourth Court of Appeals is an intermediate appellate court having jurisdiction in both criminal and civil matters. The past session of the Texas Legislature increased the size of the court from three to seven members due to the Fourth Court consisted of three members and had jurisdiction as an intermediate civil court. The court hears appeals of cases originating in thirty-two counties situated in south central Texas. Reeves has filed for one of the new positions created by the legislature.

Judge Reeves is presently Presiding Judge over County Court at Law Four, Bexar County, Texas, which court primarily exercises jurisdiction over probate matters in Bexar County, Texas. Reeves, a native of San Antonio, received his education in the public schools in San Antonio and attended San Antonio College, Baylor and St. Marys University, where he obtained an L.L.B. degree. He was licensed to practice law in 1951 and actively practiced law for a period of fifteen years before being elected to the office of County Judge of Bexar County in 1967. He served for three successive terms as County Judge and is presently in his second term as Presiding Judge of County Court at Law Four. He also served six years as a Justice of the Peace in Bexar County.

During World War II Reeves served with the U.S. Marine Corps. He was severely wounded by enemy machine gun fire during the Battle for the island of Okinawa in the Pacific, and returned to civilian life partially disabled, without the use of his legs.

Reeves and his wife, Betty, have three children, Jess, Jean and Harriet. They also have three grandchildren.

In filing for his office, Reeves said a serious problem facing the judiciary today is the delay in finalizing a case, criminal or civil. At times while the appeal process goes on, memories fade, witnesses die, evidence is lost, each of which makes trying a case difficult or even impossible. The justice delayed is justice denied' applies, not only to the accused but also to the victim and society, and should be of concern to everyone involved in the judicial process. "I pledge to the people of the Fourth Judicial District that I will do everything within my power to make the appellate judicial process move more expeditiously," stated Reeves.
