School Board Holds Regular Monthly Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the SISD on Monday, January 12, superintendent W.A. McAndrew announced that the final drafts of the district's long-range plan should be received within the week to be available for public review.

The plan has been compiled by an architectural firm to help the board with long-range planning for the school.

The board also approved a motion to employ Kidder, Peabody and Company to serve as the district's bond and financial consultant for future building projects.

The election calendar was reviewed and the board members were in favor of employing an outside person to serve as the district's absentee voting clerk for the April 3 trustee election. In the past school employees have served as absentee clerks and this would relieve them of the added burden and responsibilities which interfere with their regular duties. Absentee voting will continue to be conducted at the school administration building.

Board members requested Mr.

McAndrew to check with area schools to compare wages paid election officials.

A motion was passed to allow Radio Station KVRN to broadcast all remaining home varsity games.

The board authorized the superintendent to explore the possibility of installing a time clock for hourly employees for the 1982-83 school year.

The board expressed its desire to do something special in memory of Dr. Charles F. Browne for his many years of friendship and support to the school district.

A board member asked Mr. McAndrew to check into the speaker system in the gym to see if amplifiers might be installed to make presentations in the gym more audible.

The board moved to renew the principal's contracts for the 1982-83 school year. The board also moved to extend contracts of the athletic director and band director for the next school year.

The principals reported that the total enrollment for the month was 1346. Last month's total enrollment was 1346.

Mothers March of Dimes Volunteers Needed

Cable Company To Conduct Trial Period

Representatives from Television Enterprises met with the Sonora City Council in October, 1981 to present a plan for vastly increased channel choices for the cable television service. The Council gave permission for the company to conduct a cable subscriber preference test beginning February 1 for a trial period of 90 days.

The proposal provide for more than doubling the present number of television channels from six to thirteen (not including the optional Home Box Office service).

The 90 day test agreement requires that TV Enterprises will supply each cable subscriber with a ballot in April. Persons will be asked at that time to express their desire to either keep the new channels or restore the same six channel service presently in effect. If a majority of those responding to the ballot votes for the expanded 13 channel service, it will be continued indefinitely for a new basic rate of $12 a month, if a majority of those responding votes no, the 6 channel service will be restored indefinitely for the present rate of $10 per month.

The proposal would include stations offering 24-hour Spanish variety, 24-hour Christian and variety, 24-hour sports and children's shows and others.

Speech Departments Offers Thanks For Godspell Success

By James Buchanan

Producing a play is a series of collaborations. The playwright begins with a blank page; the director with a blank stage; the actors begin with an empty theatre. Then the writer gives the gift of a script, the director gives the ideas and concepts to a cast and crew, actors give a performance to an audience, the audience gives laughter, tears, applause to the production. The process is an endless series of gifts.

Gifts deserved a thank-you and those who worked with GODSPELL's success especially deserve appreciation. First, the community who came in such numbers and expressed such enthusiasm for this show should be thanked. The obvious interest and caring about our school and our young people is the hallmark of Sonora and comes not only from parents but from everyone.

Secondly, the administration and faculty supported GODSPELL with encouragement, interest, and the offering time and time again of needed help. I owe these people a giant debt of gratitude especially Charlotte Wilson, a professional educator, a friend, and a beautiful person.

However, the most wonderful gift from GODSPELL comes from the young people who give so completely their time, their devotion, their caring, their energy, their sweat, their talent so endlessly, so unselfishly that they provide an example for all of us.

Christ's message, re-told in GODSPELL, is love: love one another and judge not unless we will be judged. It is so easy to throw stones at young people, at our schools, at our teachers, at our community, even at our nation. But working with our young people, one is taught the beautiful value of non-prejudiced, simple and selfless caring. They give the greatest gift to us and therefore, deserve the biggest thank-you.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:
I am writing in response to the letter written by Johnny Cadena concerning our law enforcement officers.

In the United States, as in all countries with which I am familiar, we have laws, and we have officers whose job it is to enforce those laws.

Admittedly, some laws do not seem to apply to today's world, and some are probably just bad laws. But the bad and outdated laws should be changed by due process, not just ignored or broken.

Officers are necessary because sooner or later we all break the law. Almost all law breakers are aware that they have broken the law. Some are chagrined at getting caught, but anxious to make restitution.

Others are belligerent, frightened, and violent. The officer never knows how the law breaker will react, so he must make an "on the spot" decision. Obviously, he MAY make a mistake. We all make mistakes, sometimes with weeks to ponder the decision. At any rate, law breakers should be apprehended and punished as soon as possible. If this requires what some refer to as brutality, then so be it. Unfortunately, there are those in this country who are more concerned with the rights of the criminal, than with the rights of the victim. The minority organizations and the courts seem to be among these. In my humble opinion, the criminal forfeits his rights, except to trial, until his debt to society has been paid. In every phase of our society there are individuals who are not suited to their jobs. I am sure that this is also true in the field of law enforcement. These are usually weeded out before much harm is done. I do not contend that our local law enforcement is perfect. Nothing is perfect. But I do believe that you will be molested or mistreated by our local officers ONLY if you are breaking the law, and THEN, only if you are belligerent or violent. All things considered, I would not have our officers jobs today at twice the salary, but I thank God there are those who do these jobs. I had hoped that Mr. Cadena would apologize for his asinine outburst in your newspaper. However, since he hasn't, I question his ability to judge anyone's intelligence.

I DO NOT CHOOSE TO BE A COMMON MAN.

It is my right to be uncommon... If I can, I seek opportunity... not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence, the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself; enjoy the benefits of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done. All this is what it means to be an American.

Bronco Girls Begin District Play

by Julie Stewart

The Bronco teams started district last Thursday with a trip to Ballinger. The JV girls had a close call with the Bearcats but were defeated. The Varsity's game had an ending similar to the weather--cold! The final score for the team was 39-71 Ballinger's favor.

The Varsity Girls also met Comanche Friday night where they had a much better and closer game. Halftime score was 24-24, but the third quarter went in the Indians' favor as they put the Broncos out 40-52.

JV scorers against Ballinger were Lea Whitehead with 13, Debbie Bible with 6, and Debbie Shannon with 3.

High scorer for the Varsity was Jessica Robledo and Sonya Ridgeway with 8 each. Rosa Noriega and Maray West had 7 each while Julie Stewart had 5, and Judy Merrill and Casey Crites 2 each. Jessica Robledo put in 18 for top points against Comanche while senior teammate Noriega sunk 16. Lora Lea Kordzik added 4 and Stewart 2.

Amendments To Reinstate Rules Presented To RRC

Amendments that will reinstate four Liquefied Petroleum Gas Division rules concerning the location of LP-gas containers were presented to the Railroad Commission Jan. 11 by the division. Those amendments, along with one new amendment concerning the examination of employees in the LP-gas industry, will be published for public comment in the Texas Register for 30 days before the Commission considers final approval. The amendments will reinstate rules that establish distance requirements between property lines or highways and LP-gas bulk storage containers, domestic fuel storage containers, fork lift storage containers, gas service station and bottle filling storage containers, and Department of Transportation cylinders. The distances required will vary according to the capacity of the containers. Existing rules set minimum distances between buildings and containers. The reinstatement of distance requirements between containers and property lines is an effort to avoid a situation where new construction of a building would put an already-installed container in violation of these rules. In that case, the container would have to be taken out of service. The amendments will not effect existing containers if adopted. A permanent location and schedule for the examination of employees in the LP-gas industry will be established by the final amendment. This action will make it easier for the LPG Division to computerize the examination program and will reduce the paperwork for those taking the exams. The Railroad Commission requires all those engaging in LP-gas activity to take exams to ensure their knowledge of safety procedures when handling LP-gas. The LPG Division regulates the safe handling of liquefied petroleum gas. Comments on the proposed amendments should be sent to Hugh F. Keepers, Director LPG Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, Capitol Station, P.O. Drawer 1296, Austin, Texas 78711.

Jim Nugent Announces December Oil And Gas Discoveries

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent announced that Texas operators reported 116 gas and 47 oil discoveries were filed with the state's energy regulatory agency. Gas discoveries in the twelfth month of the year included 29 in the Refugio area, 27 in deep South Texas, 15 in Southeast Texas, 11 in West Central Texas, eight in East Texas, seven in North Texas and the San Angelo area, five in the Midland area, four in the San Antonio area, and three in the Panhandle area. Oil discoveries included eight in the San Angelo area, seven in North Texas, six in Southeast Texas, five in West Central Texas, four each in East Texas and the San Antonio, Refugio and Lubbock areas, three in deep South Texas and two in the Midland area. In December, operators reported 366 exploratory and field tests wound up as dry holes. New applications for permits to drill oil and gas tests totaled 3,382 in December compared with 3,556 in the same period of 1980. Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in December amounted to 3,636 against 3,825 a year earlier. Operators filed 795 amended applications to drill. A year earlier they submitted 728 amended requests.

Use Of Solar Energy May Increase Home Utility Bills

Increasing use of home solar energy systems may in some cases increase utility bills to homeowners instead of decreasing them, according to a participant in a gas utility/solar energy symposium sponsored by the Texas Railroad Commission and open to the public.

That caution was voiced by Dick Snyder of Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, a utility company representative who joined solar contractors, solar system owners, city representatives and others in speaking about the effects of solar energy on gas utilities and consumers.

The day-long symposium was funded under a contract with the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council in which the Railroad Commission agreed to examine the potential of utility-financed programs to assist the public to purchase participants would become "more aware and better informed on the past, present, and potential role of solar energy in gas utilities.

Snyder said that as more and more homeowners use solar heating systems, local gas utility rates could be affected. "People could wind up paying more per unit for using less," he said. The effect would be greatest for northern customers and less for sun-belt residents. Snyder said a cloudy winter day limiting solar energy production could add users to an already-taxed gas utility system, resulting in a peak demand situation where customers would pay peak rates. In the northeast, customers could pay up to $30 per thousand cubic feet of gas for their peak-period usage, wiping out much of the savings ordinarily generated by a solar system.

A consumer perspective on solar energy was offered by Bob Russell of The College Houses, Inc. of Austin, a private, non-profit corporation which owns three apartment building complexes. The buildings use solar power to augment a conventional heating and cooling system.

Built in the infancy of solar technology in 1977, the Northup Corporation-designed system required rebuilding and refittings before becoming operational in 1979, according to Russell. The system did its job, reducing gas use. But Russell said College Houses had a high-volume contract with Southern Union Gas Company which required them to pay for a minimum monthly gas consumption of 300 Mcf. The solar system worked so well that in six months out of the year, consumption was under 300 Mcf. But they paid the higher rate.

College Houses representatives brought the situation to the attention of the company and the City of Austin who approves Southern Union's rate structure for city residents. As a result, Southern Union created a new customer rate class without minimum consumption requirements and College Houses was finally able to realize the savings generated by its solar system. Cities can play a helpful role in encouraging homeowners to use solar systems, according to a study by the LBJ School of Public Affairs on the establishment of a Municipal Solar Utility in Austin. A printed summary of the study was available to symposium participants.

The system would provide solar energy-related services to city customers which could include the financing, installation, and maintenance of solar systems, system leasing, consumer protection and information, and backup electric power. The study concluded that Austin has excellent potential for developing such a system.

Other symposium speakers included Dr. Lorin Vant-Hull and Dr. H. William Pringle of the University of Houston Energy Laboratory, Bill Hughes and John Campbell of Lone Star Gas Co., Earl Braun of Travis-Braun and Associates, Inc. of Dallas, Dr. Gary Vliet of the Texas Solar Energy Society, and Ray Reese of the Central Texas Energy Association.

Cattle Raisers Assoc. Raise Objections To Proposals

In a sharply worded critique, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association has come out in opposition to new soil and water conservation proposals made by U.S. Department of Agriculture, TSCRA, a 14,000-member livestock producer organization, found that "none of the three proposed program alternatives addresses U.S. soil and water conservation problems in the most effective fashion."

John S. Cargile, TSCRA president from San Angelo, Texas, said USDA's "Preferred Program" exceeds the legislated authority of the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act (RCA) of 1977 to the extent that this group is asking Congress for an oversight hearing to assure compliance with existing legislation.

USDA, through its Soil Conservation Service (SCS), has asked all persons and groups interested in soil and water conservation to respond by Jan. 15 to USDA's revised draft through a widely-circulated questionnaire.

TSCRA claims the response form is so blatantly biased in favor of the USDA's "Preferred Program" ignores conservation of rangeland, pastureland and woodlands that comprise the majority of the U.S. land surface. Instead, it redirects efforts from them to targeted priority areas. The latest proposals do nothing but add another layer of administration at the Washington level, while downgrading technical positions, TSCRA asserts.

"In recent years, the SCS has become so increasingly preoccupied with internal administration and peripheral programs that SCS personnel at the state level and above constitute 31 per cent of total personnel. The result has been to reduce the field force needed to provide technical conservation assistance on the ground to landowners and operators through locally governed soil and water conservation districts. In a sentence, SCS has become top-heavy at the expense of the field force and the people they are trying to help," Cargile said.

TSCRA praised the existing conservation planning and delivery system from SCS and the most efficient and responsive ever devised, when allowed to work. The livestock group said conservation needs can be best met without new programs and urged the reduction or elimination of non-productive efforts and personnel.

TSCRA mailed its comments to the Texas Congressional delegation, USDA Secretary Block and the Soil Conservation Service.

For more information, interested persons may contact the local SCS and ASCS offices. In Texas, public comments should be sent to George C. Marks, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Box 648, Temple, Texas 76703 by Jan. 15.

Angora Goat Producers Meeting Set Jan. 28

Angora goat producers have a very important meeting in San Angelo, January 28. It is the membership meeting of the Mohair Council of America to be held at the River Club (800 West Avenue D) in San Angelo. Registration is at 9:30 in the morning of January 28, with the meeting scheduled to begin at 10:00.

Herman Moore of Brownwood, president of the Mohair Council of America, extends an invitation to all producers, warehousemen, buyers, and others interested in the mohair industry to attend this meeting.

Election of 1982 directors will be one of the most important items of business. Any producer who has paid dues on his/her mohair sold in 1981 is eligible to be a director. Also, officers for 1982 will be elected, and the budget for 1982/83 will be presented for approval.

Texas producers have also been invited to attend the annual conference of the International Mohair Association to be held in Port Elizabeth, South Africa, June 21-24, 1982. A special meeting for those interested in making the tour will be held at the River Club immediately following adjournment of the Mohair Council meeting.

At this time, a list of producers planning to go to South Africa will be made and forwarded to IMA officials so that they can make plans for the conference. Therefore, anyone interested in this trip should either attend this meeting, or contact the Mohair Council office by no later than January 29.

If overnight accommodations are needed, please call the Mohair Council office (915-655-3161) or the Holiday Inn (915-655-8151).

PROTECT YOUR FUTURE WITH AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT AT

You'll Have Benefits Today, Retirement Income For Tomorrow And The Strength and Security Of First National Bank Of Sonora Throughout.

Beginning January 1, 1982, for tax year 1982 and thereafter, a new federal law will make the benefits of an Individual Retirement Account available to everyone, even those already covered by a pension plan. Previously, this plan was available only to those not covered by a pension plan. And the benefits are great both for today and for the retirement years to come.

Q. Why is this new program so important?

A. There is a new emphasis on self reliance, especially in terms of providing for one's own retirement. The new Individual Retirement Account allows you to do just that, regardless of what other pension or retirement plans you have.

Q. How does it work?

A. Simply stated, you can put up to $2,000 a year into an Individual Retirement Account and deduct that amount from your taxable income. The interest you earn on your funds accumulates tax-free as well. After retirement, you may begin withdrawing from your Individual Retirement Account. You must pay taxes on it as you withdraw, but your tax bracket should be much less after retirement.

Q. Do I have to put in $2,000 every year?

A. No. You can contribute whatever you like each year, but it can't exceed $2,000 for an individual or $2,250 for a couple using the same Individual Retirement Account.

Q. What about married couples?

A. A married couple, when both parties work, may set up two separate accounts. This means you'll be able to tax shelter $4,000 a year. If your spouse does not work, you may still increase your annual contribution to $2,250 to cover both of you.

Q. At $2,000 a year, can I really accumulate a significant amount?

A. Judge for yourself:

Let's assume an interest rate of 12%. In 20 years, with contributions of $2,000 a year, your Individual Retirement Account would grow to $177,277.

Of course, the interest rate will vary over that period of time, but this will give you some idea of the opportunity an Individual Retirement Account offers.

Retirement Benefits for Tomorrow

At End of Year	Total Amount Deposited	Balance in Account (12% interest)
5	$10,000	$ 14,541
10	$20,000	$ 41,035
15	$30,000	$ 89,311
20	$40,000	$ 177,277
25	$50,000	$ 337,559
30	$60,000	$ 629,614
35	$70,000	$1,161,772
40	$80,000	$2,131,427

This chart is based on $2,000 deposited at the first of each year at a rate of 12% compounded continuously.

Q. When can I begin withdrawing from my Individual Retirement Account?

A. At age 59½, regardless of whether or not you are retired. Any withdrawal previous to that time will carry a tax penalty amounting to 10% of the amount withdrawn, plus regular income tax on that amount. There is an exception, however, in case of disability.

Q. Do I have to begin withdrawing from the account when I retire?

A. Not immediately. However, retirement withdrawals must begin no later than the year in which you reach 70½. At that time you can make a lump sum withdrawal, or begin a program of installment payments.

Come in The First National Bank of Sonora and see Sue Rosford or Jo Ann Jones today and set up your Individual Retirement Account Start accumulating your retirement fund as soon as possible Member FDIC

Poage Receives Service Award

W.R. "Bob" Poage, former Texas Congressman and former chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, received the American Farm Bureau Federation's highest honor, the Distinguished Service Award, for "outstanding and meritorious service to agriculture," here Tuesday, Jan. 12.

Introducing Poage to the morning general session of the federation's 63rd annual meeting, AFBF President Robert B. Delano said the long-time congressional ag-leader "was known as 'Mr. Agriculture' during his years in Congress.

"He gave his name and energy to a long list of important farm legislation including the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 and the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977," Delano said.

Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka accompanied Poage to the podium. Chaloupka head the 19 voting delegates from the Texas Farm Bureau at the AFBF annual meeting. Some 125 Texans are attending the meeting. Poage received the TFB's Meritorious Service Award in 1978.

Upon being appointed to the House Committee on Agriculture at the beginning of his third term, Rep. Poage relinquished all other committee assignments to devote full time to agriculture.

Born in Waco, Poage was educated at the University of Texas, the University of Colorado and Baylor University, receiving his Bachelor's and law degrees from Baylor. As a young lawyer, he served 11 years in the Texas state legislature, winning election to the House in 1925 and later to the state Senate. He also practiced law in Waco until his election to Congress in 1936. He was reelected to each subsequent Congress for the next 40 years.

A Tribute To Dr. Charles Browne

Dr. Browne-Mi Amigo One year old was I That cold winter day in March They told my mother I would die For I had the whooping cough She won't last the night, they said, my mother how she cried. There is a new doctor in town they said. "His name is Doctor Browne."

Call him, he's young, maybe he will know how to make this little girl alright My mother called upon him. He came into our tiny house So tall, with a black case "Where is she? he asked. Seeing how sick I was, he and God must have worked all night. For I got to be alright.

The years have passed, He saw me through my growing pains But he always had a tender word.

for he always understood.

A month ago he saw my boy for he had cut his head. "You're tough, Chuckie" he said, for Chuckie never cried. But who could cry, when his loving hands felt like magic and his words so softly said, "You'll be alright, champ, now go home and don't fall again."

Wonder of all wonders on the 7th of July. He was there again to see a brand new life. He held a tiny baby girl now my little grandchild.

He is gone now and he will be missed. But his memory will always live. For God and him have worked together to make every man, woman, and child well again. I should know for I was one of them.
