Garden Club Flower Show Set Saturday

The Sutton County Garden Club will hold its first flower show on Saturday at the 4-H Center. The First Time Around welcome all Sutton County amateur gardeners to display an entry.

To enter an exhibit simply bring your entry by the 4-H Center on Friday evening between the hours of 5:00 and 6:00 or Saturday morning between 8:00 and 10:00. Out of town accredited garden show judges have been selected to judge all entries and make the awards presentation. Three awards will be given in each of the five categories as well as honorable mention, as warrants. The divisions are Horticulture, Design, Junior, Educational and Commercial.

The Horticulture Division includes specimen blooms, cut foliage, container grown plants, fruits and vegetables. Entries must be properly named and an entry card must be filled out. Entry cards should designate the genus or species. Container grown plants must have been in the exhibitor's possession for at least three months prior to the date of the show. Multi-plantings such as dish gardens must have been growing together for at least six weeks. Each exhibitor should bring his own container necessary for exhibiting his entry. Owner identification should be inconspicuously marked. Groom all specimen. No wiring, oiling, spraying or coloring is permitted. Evidence of residue from spray, dust or insect damage should be carefully removed from foliage. Insects will disqualify any entry. A scale of points will be used by the judges to determine each winner. Consideration will be used by the judges to determine each winner. Consideration will be given for color, condition, distinction, foliage, form, fragrance, fullness, placement, pose, size, texture, symmetry and plant quality. Please consider these factors when making your choice or an entry.

The Design Division may be decorative or expressive. All exhibits must contain plant material. Designs must have been arranged by the exhibitor, however, plant material need not have been grown by the exhibitor. Fresh or dried flowers or plant forms are permitted. No artificial flowers or foliage are permitted.

The Junior Division offers classes in Horticulture and Design. The Educational Division offers instructional information. The Commercial Division offers entries displayed from local florists.

The schedule for Saturday's flower show begins at 8:00 to 10:00 when exhibitors are welcome to bring their entries. At 10:30 judging will begin. This is in closed session. At 1:30 the flower show is officially opened to the public and everyone is invited to attend. A demonstration is scheduled for 3:00.

Why not make this event a family affair by providing an entry early in the day then attending the flower show beginning at 1:30.

Five Students To Attend State UIL

A group of five Sonora High School students are among the top 12 in the state of Texas in their respective fields, following U.I.L. regional competition in Lubbock last weekend, with 40 schools vying for honors.

Fifteen students competed in 16 literary events, with five of them placing high enough to advance to State competition in Austin on April 30 and May 1.

Winners of coveted first place slots went to Julie Stewart in ready writing, and Charles Carroll in informative speaking. Eric Neal placed second in prose, with Vicki DeMarco placing second in persuasive speaking. A third place went to Bryan Hunt in persuasive. All these students will go to Austin.

Others who made an excellent showing were Jackie Johnson, who was awarded the alternate slot in feature writing and Kathryn Parker, who made finalist in poetry. Jennifer Spencer missed being in the finals by a mere one point.

According to James Bible, high school principal, the continuing excellence of our over-all academic program and the high quality of our teaching staff, together with a fine student body, are a combination that is hard to beat, as was proved last week in Lubbock.

At General Telephone We're Not Simply Talking About Service Improvements We're Making Them In Sonora

At General Telephone, better service isn't just a goal. It's a solid commitment. General Telephone spent over 354 million dollars in 1981 on capital expenditure projects (i.e. new electronic switches, expanded cable projects and modernization), and GTE will spend over 410 million dollars in 1982 to provide you the best telecommunications available.

For you, as a valued customer, this investment in service improvement is working as shown below. General Telephone is working hard to continually provide you with the best of service.

The Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC) has established certain standards in public hearings, and our service results are listed against those standards.

Library Week Big Event in Sonora

April 18 began National Library Week. It is at this time of year when Americans reflect on their local Librarians and how appreciative they are for the freedom therein. We are fortunate to have a County Library with all the due advantages.

The Sutton County Library has come of age. Since opening in Sept. a lot of activities have been going on as well as Library Attendance has increased tremendously. 1740 adults have checked out books and 1830 children have done likewise.

Library Collection Development has increased by about 20 percent. Approximately 7,240 books have circulated in Sutton County.

With this huge increase in numbers and circulation; the Library has a part-time staff of three. Sandra Cooper is the head Librarian with Judy Edmonson as Assistant, and Blanche Harle as Green Thumb Worker. These ladies keep the Library open about 5 hours a day which is the recommended amount of hours for a town this size as worked out by the State Library Board. The Library is closed on Thursdays for in-house work.

The Sutton County Library is a member of the State Library System; being directly affiliated with the Big Country Library System.

The Sonora Woman's Club, founding body of the Library still acts as the "Friends of the Library" group and gives it support through their time and monies.

The Library is governed by an appointed Board made up of Doris Rousselet, Pres., Sara McAndrew, Lemuel Lopez, John Tedford, Isael Perez, and Lura Sawyer.

Sutton County Library continues to grow. Many people help to keep it up to date and on the move. You the public keep it a vital part of our Community by your support.

During National Library Week, all over due books may be brought in at no charge....please bring them by or drop them through the slot in the door.

Tours

Since the opening of the Sutton County Library, several organizations have toured the Library. The entire 5th grade was shown around and then viewed a film on cataloguing books.

The Sonora Early Education Center, Buttons and Bows, and ABC Fun Factory made special tours. The First Graders were the latest children to tour the Library. They saw a film-strip on Library Rules and the Bi-Lingual classes saw the Three Bears Filmstrip in Spanish.

Several Brownie groups have visited the Library. One group presented the Sutton County Library with a Christmas Tree that they had made.

The local teaching Sorority had one of their meetings at the Library. At that time, they presented money for a book in tribute to Mrs. Bridges.

The Library is always open to these sort of special tours. It is requested that arrangements be made several days in advance.

Masonic Lodge Notes Growth

by Bruce Kerbow

Masonic Lodge-what it is and what it does.

According to the dictionary a Mason is a member of the order of Freemasons. Freemasons were stonemasons in the middle ages belonging to a craft guild that had secret signs and passwords, and that admitted as honorary members persons not connected with their craft, who were designated "accepted masons."

Freemasonry defined is: Instinctive sympathy or community of interests.

Freemasons are members of the oldest, largest and most widely distributed fraternal society. The Masonic order is founded on and professes the practice of social and moral virtue. Charity, brotherly love and mutual assistance, and truth are impressed on the members. The fraternity is nonsectarian and non-political. One of the requisites for membership is belief of God. The order maintains no benefit or insurance features; all charity by members is voluntary.

In 1960 there were more than five and one-half million Masons throughout the world. Of this number, over four million were members of over fifteen thousand lodges in the United States.

Dee Ora Lodge #715 in Sonora is one of these lodges. Designated a Blue Lodge, this lodge offers the foundation for all of Masonry. All lodges in Texas are under supervision of the Grand Lodge of Texas, located in Waco.

The Grand Lodge of Texas and all lodges under its jurisdiction are the solid supporters of the Masonic Home and School in Fort Worth. This school is for the benefit of children and grandchildren of Masons.

The Masonic Lodge is not a social status or a stepping stone to material possessions. It is a man's step in the direction of self improvement and a closer relationship with his lord. It makes a man look inside himself and grasp for an answer to the way his life should follow, not lead, to its inevitable end.

Fort Concho Plans May Day Celebration

Fort Concho has planned a wonderful, fun-filled celebration for May Day on Saturday, May 1, that will include activities for the whole family. This is an event that families can attend together and yet do things separately. The morning will begin at 10:00 a.m. on Fort Concho's Officer's Row with artisans demonstrating their talents and selling their wares. Among the crafts represented will be: Woodworking, Batik, Quilting, Calligraphy, Weaving, Needlepoint, and Model Airplane making. Families will be able to wander from demonstration to demonstration watching each artisan work. Shortly before noon, everyone will have the opportunity to sign up for afternoon workshops. Each workshop is designed so that each participant will be able to learn fundamental elements of a craft as well as "to make" something to take home.

At 12:00 Noon, picnic space will be provided for families who have brought picnic lunches. During the noon hour, a large flying demonstration of model planes will take place over the Parade Ground. Colorful and exciting, this air display should be of interest to children and adults alike. Free drinks and chips will be provided for the participants who sign up for the afternoon activities.

At 1:00 p.m., the workshop will begin and will last until approximately 4:00 p.m. Families may sign up for a workshop as a group or may sign up individually for various workshops according to personal preference. An enjoyable day for Father, Mother, brother, sister, grandparents, and friends too! Fees will be charged as follows: Morning Demonstrations (10-12 noon); Adults $1.00; Children .50, Family (any size) $2.50. Noon picnic and Model Plane Air Show: (12-1: Bring your sack lunch), Afternoon workshops (1 p.m. to 4 p.m.) Adults $5.00; Children $2.50.

Supplies will be furnished, but workshops will be limited in the number of enrollments so that each participant will have the opportunity for individualized attention from the instructor.

For further information, or to make advance registrations, call the Fort Concho office, 655-9121 extension 441. COME ONE COME ALL. Enjoy Fort Concho's May Day Family Fun.

National Honor Society Induction

Set April 28

The Sonora Chapter of the prestigious National Honor Society will hold its annual formal induction of new members at 9:45 a.m. on Wednesday, April 28, 1982, in the Sonora High School auditorium. Following the ceremony will be a reception in the Home-making Department honoring all present members, past members, and parents.

1982 is an important year for the Sonora Chapter since it marks the 30th anniversary of the granting of the Charter to this Sonora High School organization. The present Honor Society plans to recognize all past members from 1952 till the present. The Society invites all past members of the National Honor Society at Sonora High School to attend the formal induction ceremony where they will be recognized. Following the ceremony, the past members will be honored at the reception.

The Sonora Chapter has grown since 1952 to its present membership of 43. The present Honor Society participates in a variety of activities and plan to add more. The Society sponsors the upslip program and, this year, held a dance which contributed $300.00 to the Jessica Robledo Scholarship Fund. The regular yearly activities include participation in the Halloween Carnival, in two Bake Sales, and in the school-wide Val-o-gram sale. The profits from these projects enable the Society to present college scholarships to its members and to send two students to the National Leadership Conference in Fort Worth in July.

The formal induction of new members and the reception is the high point of the year for the Honor Society. The public and all past members are invited to join in the recognition of these students and their parents.

Scout Leader Day Set

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. has declared April 22, 1982, as Girl Scout Leader's Day across the country.

Girl Scout Leader's Day is designed to recognize the women and men who serve as Girl Scout volunteer leaders, acting as positive role models, who help girls to meet today's challenges and become tomorrow's competent, self-assured women.

This is the first nationwide salute to Girl Scout leaders during National Volunteers Week. Girls throughout the United States will use the opportunity to show appreciation in the form of parades, parties, dedications, and special projects. A flag honoring the superb service of the nation's 300,000 Girl Scout leaders will be flown over the Capitol building on April 22.

It was a typical spring morning at the coffee shop. Thunder and lightning lit up the skies to the northwest of San Angelo on the watershed above the north lake the night before. Storms danced across the Big Country plains.

Someone read the weather forecast in the morning paper. A comment from across the table suggested it was not likely any moisture would grace our territory by the weekend. "All we had last night was lightning and thunder," the commentary continued.

"But we could get more rain," came another remark. "Look at those flies gathering at the door."

"At the door heck, there's a few already in the cafe," said Cotton as he left his chair for the swatter hanging on a nail near the trash can.

Then the war was on. Everyone in the place was directing Cotton's movements to the location of the next kill at their table.

Finally, back at the Roundtable with the same old group for the last ten years, Cotton claimed his chair in front of the cold coffee. "You know, I think we will declare this cafe the official location of the national fly swatting contest!"

"Might as well, there are contests for everything else," said another. "We could serve chili and issue everybody a swatter when they entered the door."

"No, that would cost too much," someone else muttered as they sipped coffee. "Let everyone bring their own swatter and we'll charge them for the chili... and have a kitty and the one who gets the most flies wins and takes home the money in the kitty."

Cotton tapped his coffee cup with a spoon. "Now wait a minute boys," he said. Then he paused and reached for his swatter as he put the bead on a new squatter about midway on the Roundtable near the jelly bowl.

"Now, looky here, these flies have made the winter in good shape," laughed Cotton. "They are fat. We better change this event to the national semi-finals. These flies cannot qualify for the national finals."

About that time it started sprinkling outside and the flies seemed to disappear. With their departure came a new game along with a refill on the coffee. The guessing started as to how much rain would come to the north part of the country compared to the south. Would we receive any run off in our lakes? Would there be enough moisture to get the crop up or the grass high enough to stop supplemental feeding?

So went another typical morning at the local coffee shop.

Herman E. Moore - Justice of the Peace

TO THE VOTERS OF SUTTON COUNTY

I am running for the office of Justice of the Peace of Sutton County. I do have an opponent. Most of you have known me for a number of years, but to those who are unfamiliar with me I would like to give some of my background. I am formerly a Texas Highway Patrolman, having served in that position for 12 years, nine of those years stationed here in Sonora. I served as Sheriff of this county for 12 years. I have been your municipal judge for about 4 years. I was appointed to serve as "Temporary Justice of the Peace" since November 18, 1980. This was due to Mrs. Templeton's illness, who is the Justice of the Peace. Mrs. Templeton is not able to seek office again. I announced my candidacy. To those voters I have not been able to see I am now asking your vote for that position. I feel that I am well qualified by experience, also through completion of judicial courses at Texas Tech and Southwest State University. Justice courts are your first line courts where most people have their first appearance and experience. I feel it is really important that whoever holds the office must have sound working knowledge of law. I feel that I am well qualified to continue to hold the position Justice of the Peace. Your justice of the peace office here averages somewhere between $8,000 and $10,000 per month in fines and is a very important part of this county. I again ask the voters of this county for your vote on election day May 1, 1982. Please vote.

Windmills Used To Do Man's Work
Using windmills to generate electricity is a rather recent application of wind power, when you consider that windmills have been used to do man's work for more than 5000 years, reports Dr. Bill Cooper of Oklahoma State University.
A number of people in the southwest can remember when windmills dotted the western skies generating electricity for farms. Dr. Cooper reports that Oklahoma State University's Engineering Extension continues to receive requests for reports dealing with windmill generation of electric power. Some of these reports date back to the early 1930's Cooper noted.
He also noted that the homes and farms using wind power to generate electricity in the 1930 time period did not have the large power demands that our modern homes of today require.
As a help to persons interested in the subject of wind electric power, Dr. P.M. Moretti of the Oklahoma State University Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering has written an answering some of the most frequently asked questions.
His article also gives the names and addresses of a number of manufacturers of wind electric systems. The article concludes with a list of references for further study, reports Dr. Cooper.

Reports from Washington

A Budget-Balancing Amendment

Year in and year out, in prosperity and in recession, the Federal budget seems to end up in deficit. Spending has exceeded revenues in every year except one since 1960, and the Treasury is forced to make up the difference by borrowing. In 1974, Congress passed a budget act that it thought would impose a sterner discipline on its own spending practices. Eight years later that proposition is still left wanting. Annual deficits have persisted. The Office of Management and Budget now projects a string of deficits and no black ink for five years or more.

Meanwhile, borrowing to finance this year's deficit is driving the Federal debt steadily higher. Within a few weeks the Administration will ask the Congress to raise the statutory ceiling on the debt. Because refusal to do so would stop the Treasury from borrowing the money it must have to pay the government's bills, the Congress will be forced to acquiesce. No one looks forward to voting to raise the debt ceiling, a fact that has brought about increasing support for a budget-balancing constitutional amendment.

The Senate is expected to vote sometime in May on the proposed amendment to the Constitution that would require a balanced Federal budget.

If the Senate sponsors get a two-thirds vote which the Constitution requires for amendments, the matter will come to the House of Representatives. If a two-thirds majority of the House approves, the amendment goes to the states for ratification. Three-fourths of the states, or 38, must ratify it within seven years for it to become part of the Constitution.

The budget-balancing resolution has several provisions. Congress would be directed to draw up a budget for the approaching fiscal year in which total outlays are no greater than total receipts. This section authorizes a deficit budget only if 60 percent of the entire membership of each house of Congress votes to accept one. The Congress and the President are also required to ensure that actual outlays do not exceed the outlays set forth in such statement.

The second section directs that taxes shall not rise more rapidly than the growth of national income unless a majority of the entire membership of each house has approved legislation to do so in separate votes, and such a bill has become law.

Section three states that the Congress may waive the provisions of the article for any fiscal year in which a declaration of war is in effect. The fourth section lays down definitions of "total receipts" and "total outlays" that are meant to avoid circumvention of the amendment by later definitions. The final section says the amendment shall take effect for the second fiscal year beginning after its ratification by 38 states.

The essential argument for a budget amendment is that Congress is incapable of resisting deficit financing without more rigorous discipline than exists now. Those opposed to the amendment say that it is inappropriate and risky to elevate a particular economic policy to the status of constitutional command. I, as well as many other members, support this constitutional amendment because it imposes a discipline the Congress must have.

We simply must get away from budget-busting appropriation bills that finance the government well above our efforts to halt the excessive growth in domestic spending we have witnessed in recent years. Such spending has fueled inflation and high interest rates and destroyed investments for new jobs. We have even risked the interruption of government activities and services. This method of past operations is one of the principal reasons why the growth of government spending is still not under control.

We are long overdue in getting our fiscal house in order. The time has come for us to face the facts and make the tough decisions about the budget process. A constitutional amendment is a step in the right direction. We must see the job through.

Pinewood Derby Set

The Concho Valley Council Boy Scouts of America's Annual Pinewood Derby has been scheduled for Saturday, April 24 at Sunset Mall.

The Pinewood Derby pits miniature race cars built by the scouts at home, in competitions of both speed and design. Cub scouts from the Amangi Trail District will compete in age divisions for 8, 9, and 10-year-olds.

The Derby will be staged in the Penny's Court of the mall and mall management is trying to secure bleachers to accommodate race fans with better visibility than in past years.

"Marketing to Mexico" Seminar Set

A seminar entitled "Marketing to Mexico" will be presented by St. Mary's University, International Management Programs of the School of Business, South Texas Export Council, Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, and the Small Business Administration. Assistance is also being provided by the State of Texas Dept. of Agriculture and the Texas Sheep & Goat Raiser Association. Special recognition is given to Mr. Ed Stanfield General Manager, Chaparral, La Pryor, without whose effort this program could not have been accomplished. Chaparral is owned by Belton Kleberg Johnson of San Antonio.

The program is designed for ranchers who are interested in exporting breeding livestock into Mexico. Special emphasis on marketing of cattle, sheep, and goats is planned. Speakers are Darrel McDonald, Texas Dept. of Agriculture, and Dr. Brent Perry, Rio Vista, and Hayden Haby, Uvalde. The Mexican health requirements on all breeder livestock are to be presented by C.E. Armin, veterinarian, Uvalde. Various sales instruments for assuring payment by buyer and seller also will be examined. The luncheon speaker will discuss livestock exporting and its significance to the Texas and U.S. livestock industry. The seminar is to be held May 5, 1982 from 8:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Four Seasons Plaza Nacional, 555 S. Alamo, San Antonio, Texas. $30.00 per person is to be charged for the program, coffee and luncheon included. Advance registration only. # CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
 142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Every spring, many new high school graduates ready to enter the job market find they do not have the training for available jobs. In fact, lack of skills in an increasingly technical world is one of the major reasons for high unemployment rates among young people.

But vocational education can provide a path around this barrier, and I am gratified at the progress Texas has made in these programs. In 1981, vocational education in Texas served nearly 900,000 persons, 75 percent more than in 1970. These training programs were offered in 950 school districts, 48 community college districts, and through the Texas State Institute System.

Participants learned occupational skills to use in business, industry, and homemaking. Additionally, career exploratory programs were offered for junior and senior high school students to help them understand where employment opportunities lie, and to help them make realistic career choices.

Most of the Texas vocational programs with which I am familiar are structured in close cooperation with local business and industry -- enabling young people to train for jobs that will be readily available in their areas. This cooperative relationship pays off in two ways -- putting young people to work and providing needed skilled labor to the local economy.

The results are gratifying. Some 28 percent of vocational education graduates pursue additional education and training. Of the 63 percent who make themselves immediately available for employment, seven of 10 find jobs in a career field related to their training.

The unemployment rate among vocational education graduates in 1981 was just over 7 percent -- one third the unemployment rate for other people and adults in the same age brackets.

The cost of these programs, compared to the benefits received, is small. Texas spent nearly $350 million on its vocational - technical programs in fiscal year 1981, for an overall average per pupil cost of $372.

But these statistics are less meaningful than the plight of the individual young person who looks at pages and pages of classified ads for jobs, and can't find a single one for which he qualifies.

Our world is becoming increasingly complex. We have developed technology which depends more and more on skilled labor. This trend will continue. In fact, it must if we are to improve our productivity enough to compete aggressively on the world market.

We cannot afford to waste our human resources. We must improve our ability to match willing workers with productive careers.

The federal government has a long history of support for local vocational programs. As with many other educational programs, the Administration proposes a new block grant program for vocational and adult education. This action is intended to reduce paperwork and administrative burdens, and make it possible for state and local governments to target money to the most pressing local needs.

In this way, we can continue the federal-local partnership which built these fine training programs, even though our budget crisis requires us to cut overall federal spending levels.

Finally I would encourage local districts and communities to look at the large return for each dollar spent on vocational education, and to make the necessary investment in the future of their young people and their nomies.

Several programs are being planned by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to help farmers and ranchers take the bite out of high estate taxes. Seminars on "How to Lower Your Estate Tax Burden" are scheduled for Robstown, May 4-5, and for San Angelo, May 25-26, announces an Extension economist. Each seminar will deal with estate taxes, basic planning devices, treatment of beneficiaries, and special estate planning tools and tax rules for agriculture. Particular emphasis will be given to recent tax law changes.

Want To See A Highway Trooper Cry?

by Roy McNett

Want to see a state highway trooper cry? Would you like to see him drop to his knees, bury his face in his hands and bawl like a broken-hearted lover--choking and gasping for breath?

Or see him double up his fist in frustration and slam it into the side of his patrol car? It's easy enough to do. And it happens more frequently than most of us might think. Just load yourself up this holiday season with a few beers or several mixed drinks and drive your family home.

Refuse to listen when your wife suggests that she drive home. Assert yourself. Pay heed to your male ego.

Say, "Aw, hell. Ah can drive that car better with a few beers unner muh belt that you can cold sober." Them stomp your foot for added emphasis.

Twenty minutes later you're standing in darkness at the side of the highway with broken glass and spilled gasoline at your feet.

Your wife is screaming--pinned beneath jagged edges of twisted metal.

Your two-year-old daughter is silent. And your six-year-old son is sprawled face down 30 feet away.

The highway trooper smelled the alcohol on your breath as you boozily try to EXPLAIN. And he's not very gentle as he pushes you into the rear seat of the patrol car and tells you to shut your mouth.

Then he pauses for a moment in the darkness before he returns his attention to you and the remains of your car and your family. CONGRATULATIONS. You've made a trooper cry.

Livestock Symposium Set In El Paso

Plans are moving ahead for the second International Livestock Symposium to be staged in El Paso's Civic Center May 20-21.

The educational activity is designed to emphasize the economical production of livestock and efficient use of natural resources in arid lands, notes Dr. Nelson J. Adams, Extension livestock specialist serving far West Texas.

"Based on the success of the first symposium in 1981, the program this spring is being expanded to include not only the Beef Cattle Symposium but a Horseman's Symposium and Training Clinic, a Dairy Seminar and a Livestock Trade Show as well," Adams explains.

Ranchers have pre-registered from Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona and California, and officials emphasize there's still ample time to register. Joining the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas

A&M University System in sponsoring the event in New Mexico State University and the Cooperative Extension Service of New Mexico.

Theme for the beef section will be "Meeting Nutritional Needs of Range Cattle." Discussions also will include a comparison of supplemental feed types and native feedstuffs to meet cattle requirements. ## Beef Marketing Methods Subject at A&M

Raising and selling replacement heifers is a good business, one which more folks in the beef cattle industry should consider, a ranch manager said at Texas A&M University April 6.

"We produce heifers year-round for a premium, and we can't produce all the heifers we could sell," said Jim Theeck of Brenham, manager of Mayfair Ranches. "We've had orders for more than 10,000 heifers since last October, from as far as California and Florida. Selling replacement heifers is a market small producers should look at."

Theeck, speaking at the Beef Cattle Short Course sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, pointed out that the basic program at Mayfair Ranches revolves around breeding Brahman cows to Hereford bulls. However, using a Santa Gertrudis bull produces a more merchandisable heifer that brings as much as a steer at the marketplace, he noted. These heifers are ready to breed at 15-16 months.

The ranch manager said that about $150 goes into each heifer for vaccinations and other expenses but that these heifers will bring about $750 a head at the annual production sale at Mayfair Ranches the last Saturday each April.

"We guarantee all open heifers to be breeders when we sell them," he emphasized. "Our customers are the most important part of our program and we want them to be satisfied."

Another speaker, Jim Weatherby of Comanche, discussed some of the changes coming about in beef marketing and provided an overview of his family-owned vertically-integrated cattle business, the Comanche Land and Cattle Company and Comanche Meats.

"We have a 5,000-head feedyard and our packing plant will handle 10,000 to 12,000 head of cattle a year," Weatherby said. "We also have retail stores in a few locations, including Fort Worth. We hope to have as many as 10 to 15 retail outlets in the next few years."

Weatherby pointed out that he generally feeds animals (No. 1 Okies) to around 850 pounds before they go to slaughter, so they're on feed 110 to 120 days. By feeding all to the same weight, every carcass and cut of meat is basically the same, he noted.

"We try to provide a product that the average housewife wants," said

Weatherby. "We want a high Good grade on our beef."

"Our retail outlets have been the most profitable in our total business," he added. "This success is based on retailing the whole animal. For instance, we make more profit on a tailbone than on a ribeye steak."

"We work at creating our own markets and customers, and we try to produce quality meat at a lower price than the big packers," Weatherby said.

He contended that the cattle industry is in an evolutionary process and that there will be more integration of production units in the future. Everyone in the cattle business must adapt to these changes and must take advantage of whatever opportunities come about, Weatherby said. These might

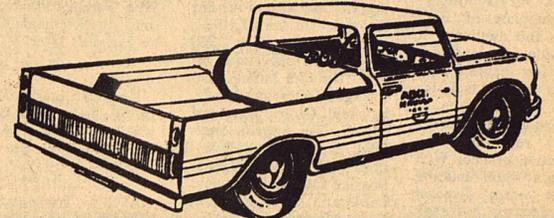

At a time when government and private enterprise are concentrating of reducing spending, the Independent Cattlemen's Association continues to ask government officials to take a close look at the cost of the federal brucellosis control program.

Payne's testimony in Washington D.C. was part of a series of hearings reviewing President Reagan's 1983 budget. The proposed budget decreases brucellosis program funding from $92 million in 1982 to $60 million in 1983.

Estate Tax Seminar to be Held

Farmers and ranchers have been concerned for years about high taxes that erode their estates. To help take the bite out of their high estate taxes, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is planning several educational programs.

Two two-day seminars are planned which will help farmers and ranchers learn how to reduce taxable estates and learn new methods for passing their operations to the next generation.

These special seminars on "How to Lower Your Estate Tax Burden" are scheduled for Robstown, May 4-5, and for San Angelo May 25-26.

"Of major importance is how every farm estate will be affected after the recent estate tax law changes," points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, a lawyer and Extension economist. "The best tax planning of the past may be the worst under the new law."

Each seminar will begin with a discussion on estate taxes, including deductions, expenses and tax rates.

Basic estate planning devices will be explained in depth. Among these are wills, by-pass trusts, gifts, disclaimers and property titles.

There will also be a separate segment of the program devoted to treating beneficiaries fairly.

Another discussion will center on estate planning tools for agriculture and will deal with corporations, partnerships and selling part of the business to heirs.

The second day of the program will be devoted to special estate tax rules for agriculture. These include special farm land valuation, deferred estate tax payment rules, life insurance, "flower" bonds and other property.

Joining Hayenga in conducting the program will be Extension economists Bob Kensing of San Angelo and Dr. James Novak of Corpus Christi.

"Estate planning is a step toward reduced taxes," points out Hayenga. "This process should start when you plan to inherit substantial property when you have an active and growing business, when you still have time to take tax-saving actions, when you have minor children, and when your children marry or divorce."

For more detailed information about the seminars, contact your local county Extension agent or Hayenga in the Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tex. 77843 or call 713-845-2226.

Pool Well Expands Services

David Biegler, president of Pool Well Servicing Company, has announced the formation of Pool Production Services Company as an operating division.

According to Biegler, the new division was organized in response to well servicing and workover market demands for a single-source supplier of fluid handling and hauling. It will provide frac tank services, water hauling and salt water disposal facilities in Texas and Louisiana.

Pool Production Services Company represents the consolidation of Pool Well Servicing's water hauling and salt water disposal services and the frac tank operations and management of McKinley Oil Field Services, Inc., headquartered in Longview, Texas, and Allen's Trucking, Inc., based in Bryan, Texas.

units and seven salt water disposal wells fully operational, "thus permitting us to respond quickly to requests for our services regardless of job size," Biegler said.

Pool Production Services Company, which formally began operations under that name on April 1, 1982, employs more than 250 people. Its operations offices include Luling, La-Grange, Giddings, Bryan, Fairfield, Ozona, Longview, Sonora, San Angelo, Sheffield, Sterling City, Palestine, and Kilgore, Texas; Bossier City and Crowley, Louisiana; and Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

The company will manage its operations from three regional offices and district offices within each region. Regional office managers and locations include James Bomar, Longview; Bill McCurdy, Corpus Christi; and Todd Churchill, Sonora. District managers and offices include Dick Shuford, Bryan, and Wes Faries, Sonora. A third district manager will be assigned later.

The frac tank manufacturing and repair facility will be managed by Gene Cheatham in Bryan.

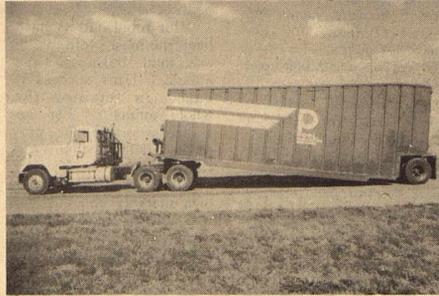

Allen's Trucking, Inc. and McKinley Oil Field Services, Inc., which joined Pool Well Servicing in February 1982, have provided frac tank services throughout Texas and Louisiana since 1974 and 1977, respectively.

Frac tanks are 500-barrel rectangular steel containers transported by a truck tractor. At the wellsite, they store fluids used to fracture a producing formation to improve or enhance the flow of trapped hydrocarbons.

Pool Well Servicing Company, a division of the Pool Company, is headquartered in Houston and employs more than 2850 people who provide rig and related services in major U.S. producing basins. The company owns and operates more than 415 well servicing and workover rigs.

One big Ford advantage is this: Unlike a financing deal, you don't have to wait for any savings to dribble in. You can get your money right now, 100% from Ford. And this cash back offer is on both cash and financed deals.

Just see us today and work out your best deal. Take delivery by June 8, 1982, and Ford will send a check direct to you. Limit one per customer. Or if you prefer, use the cash back to reduce your down payment.

If you're even thinking of a new truck this year, see us today.
