'82 Game Dinner draws over 700 people

From all accounts, this has been the best and biggest Game Dinner yet. There were over 560 meal tickets sold, and door prizes tickets sold amounted to 8100, with an estimated guess of from 700 to 800 people present.

Here is a reprint from the DALLAS TIMES HERALD written by Candy Sagon, Food Editor:

For 14 years, Sutton County in southwest Texas has sponsored one of the best meal deals in the region. It began as a goat roast back in 1968, says organizer Bill Stewart, and rapidly evolved into a wild game dinner with local hunters donating the meat and local merchants donating door prizes. This year's dinner, held last Tuesday, was three days after the opening of deer hunting season.

"It's really a goodwill thing between the hunters, the merchants and the residents," says Pascal Allison, a Sonora rancher who helped with the cooking. "Hunting is a big part of the economy of the area—it's our cash crop."

The dinner is held in the spartan 4-H center in Sonora, a town of about 3,400 south of San Angelo. The meal annually draws between 500 and 600 people who pile their plates with nine kinds of wild meat that have been slow-barbecued or deep-fried in huge cookers by area ranchers and businessmen. Baked beans, tangy cole slaw, white bread and homemade peach cobbler are provided by a local caterer.

The cooking is done in the center's parking lot. Visitors looking for the center can spot it by the billowing smoke and the tantalizing smell of roasting meat.

The cooks this year prepared 600 doves, 400 pounds of beefalo (a cross between beef and buffalo), 18 deer, four barbado (wild sheep), 200 quail, 300 goats, plus boar, antelope and turkey.

The men who do the cooking are serious about it. They arrive at the center at 7:30 a.m. pulling trailers on which are mounted huge black barbecues they usually have constructed themselves. Many take their barbecues to compete in cook-offs around the state. They all claim to have their own secret sauce for basting the meat.

Visitors to the cooking area are in for a little roasting themselves, as the cooks, fortified with beer and the camaraderie of their friends, offer tidbits as well as teasing.

"Try this," says former county attorney Al Elliott, shoving something small and brown under a visitor's nose. It turns out to be barbecued dove wrapped in bacon. The visitor takes a bite.

"Howzit taste?" Elliott asks, helpfully wiping the visitor's chin with a towel.

"Wonderful. How do you cook it?"

"Wrap it in bacon, marinate in Italian dressing, barbecue it 'til it's light brown, then brush on our secret barbecue sauce and barbecue it some more."

"How long do you barbecue it with the sauce?" the visitor asks.

"Till it's done," he answers in a tone that implies doubt about his guest's native intelligence.

"Clay Hicks is our cook," Elliott adds, gesturing vaguely at a man partially enveloped by a cloud of smoke, poking more doves onto the barbecue grill. "We figure each of these doves cost us $4.32 each, counting shells and beer."

Bill Mobley, standing in front of two large deep-fryers, offers samples of fried venison and quail. The Dowell Co. manager says his quail is prepared Cajun-style - brushed with mustard; dusted with flour, salt, cayenne pepper and deep-fried. The venison is soaked in milk for 48 hours dusted with flour and cayenne pepper and deep-fried.

The results prove his method. The venison's normally strong flavor is absent and the meat is tender. The quail also is tender and the mustard and pepper add the right touch of spiciness.

As he gazes at the bubbling oil, Mobley is asked how he can tell when the meat is done. "They float to the top," he replies.

The fanciest barbecue rig (complete with cattle skulls) belongs to the soft-spoken duo of Bill Thompson, 31 and his brother Gene, 28, otherwise known as the Thompson Brothers Cooking Team.

The brothers have been cooking competitively since 1978, winning second place in the 1981 World Championship Brisket Cookoff in Pecos and winning the Sonora goat cook-off three times.

"We didn't do much cookoff competing this year, though, Bill says. "Too busy having babies," says the father of two.

The Thompsons, along with Tommy Tims of Big Lake, prepared the beefalo like brisket. "I wrap it in foil and baste it with my own sauce for about seven hours. When it feels soft, it's done," he says.

The most controversial dish at the dinner is the son-of-a-gun stew prepared by rancher Corky Schwiening.

"Do you know what goes in it?" attorney Elliott asks. "I wouldn't touch the stuff."

The stew's creators recite this litany, when asked about the ingredients: "Heart, light, liver and lungs, blank-blank-blank and not a bone in it."

"You write that and every West Texan will know what those three blanks are," laughed one cook.

Whatever they are (we know, but we can't say in print), Elliott is wrong. The stew is spicy and good.

Although we couldn't get specific recipes from the Sutton County Game Dinner cooks, we found some similar versions that can be made at home from Austin caterer Mary Faulk Kooch's "The Texas Cookbook" (1982, Little, Brown and Co.)

Tedford Jewelry announces its big grand opening events

Grand opening festivities have begun at the newly-enlarged Tedford Jewelry. The store has tripled the size of its fine jewelry department, featuring not only a wider selection of moderately priced jewelry, but also collections from Rosenthal and other fine New York and European jewelers' houses.

Tedford's has added a complete Hallmark department, offering to Sonora for the first time a wider selection of Hallmark everyday cards, partyware, candles, Christmas cards, albums, stationery, and Christmas giftwrap.

Another new addition to the store is a collector's gallery, featuring limited editions porcelains, pewters, and bronzes, as well as museum quality paintings by 19th and 20th Century artists. Several noted artists will be represented exclusively in West Texas by Tedford Jewelry.

Grand opening events include a fine jewelry showing by Mr. Maury Baum, of Rosenthal, Inc., New York, who will be in the store Wednesday, Dec. 8, 8:30 until 2 p.m. On Friday, Dec. 10, Dallas artist Marilyn Goss will be at Tedford's with a showing of her works. One of her paintings was selected for the 1982 Leukemia Association Christmas Card, and the original work is on display at Tedford's.

Tedford's is celebrating their grand opening by giving away twenty-five $25 gift certificates, with the drawing to be held Dec. 11.

The Old Yuletide Spirit is just around the corner

By Kristi Nunn

Christmas shopping this year is taking a slow kick-off here in Sutton County. It seems that 1981 was a little better than that of 1982. But it is still early in the season and it should begin to pick up soon.

I talked to a few merchants here in Sonora and asked them how well Christmas shopping was taking place in their store.

Here are the following comments:

Gibson's [Tony Jordan]-"It is a slow start this year. I don't think things will really begin until about two weeks before Christmas. People are buying things now but they are mostly putting things on lay-away."

Food Center [Les Robertson]-"There is a slight increase. I think there will be a good Christmas season."

Perry's [Wally Padgett]-"It hasn't been anywhere close as it was last year. November wasn't very good and we are hoping that December will pick up."

Western Auto [Gil Trainer]-"It was running a little bit slower at first but in the last week it has begun to pick up. If it continues to go like it has in the last week, I think we will have a good Christmas season."

Kerbow Furniture [Bruce Kerbow]-"So far it is not as good as it was last year. It is a little off but it is beginning to pick up. We are seeing an increase in Christmas shopping now."

Spain's [Hal Spain]-"It is hard to tell from this point. Since November 1 our sales have been better. We have been wrapping a lot of packages and things are now beginning to get under way. I think we will have a very good Christmas season this year."

Hill's Jewelry [J.T. Hill]-"It is hard to tell now. It hasn't really started full force. It was late last year and it has been about the same this year. But it should pick up."

Hang in there merchants, the Christmas spirit is just arousing.

Tougher trespassing laws effective in Texas

Reprint from The San Antonio Light

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said hunters and fishermen in the state should be aware that the state's trespass laws now have more teeth.

House Bill 717 enacted by the 67th Texas Legislature went into effect last September 1 and it increased fines and/or jail sentences for those caught trespassing.

Persons trespassing to hunt with firearms or bow and arrow are subject to "Class A" misdemeanor charges, which carry a fine of not more than $2,000 and/or not more than one year in jail. The Class A misdemeanor trespass also includes entering a person's habitation, whether or not the trespasser is carrying a weapon.

Trespassers not carrying a weapon are subject to Class B misdemeanor charges, which carry a fine of not more than $1,000 and/or 180 days in jail.

Officials also remind sportsmen that they can be charged with trespassing on property even if the area is not posted with signs. Crossing any fence or other enclosure designed to keep livestock in or trespassers out constitutes trespassing. Also, "no trespassing" signs are sufficient to keep out trespassers in the absence of a fence.

Further, if a landowner notifies a person orally or in writing that he cannot trespass, that person is obliged to stay off the land even if it is not fenced or posted with signs.

Further questions about trespass laws can be answered by your local game warden.

CVAE collects toys for less fortunate families

We members of the Cooperative Vocational Academic Education (CVAE) classes at Sonora High School and Sonora Junior High are trying to do our part for those less fortunate families in our community during the coming holiday season. If you have old, broken, or out-grown toys to contribute to us, we will repair your donation (if it needs repairing-of course, toys in good repair are welcome, too), and make sure that it reaches a deserving child on Christmas morning.

If you can help us in this project by donating either toys or cash, please give us a call at the high school office (387-3055), leaving your name and address, and we will be happy to call on you, or call Reggie Williams, Home phone: 387-2108, 120 Castle Hill Road, #4, Sonora, Texas 76950. Wednesday, December 15th is the last day.

We hope you can help us and the children of Sutton County in this. May you and yours have a happy holiday season.

Icy road conditions cause semi-truck to Jack-knife

JACK KNIFED-Chris Fletcher Weatherford from San Antonio was travelling on I-10 when the icy conditions at 6:00 a.m. caused him to run off of the road. He hit the guard rail on the bridge before, managed to stay on the road and then apparently ran off the Hwy. in front of the Sutton County Steak House. Weatherford got a major cut on his head out of the accident.

Loeffler blocks effort to prohibit Compound 1080

During Subcommittee markup of the 1983 Interior Appropriations bill, Congressman Tom Loeffler beat back a Congressional effort to indefinitely prohibit the use of Compound 1080, only weeks before a final decision on the matter is expected from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Loeffler, a member of the Interior Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee, by a vote of 6-2, successfully struck language banning the use of Compound 1080 during the markup session for the Interior Department's 1983 funding bill.

Until 1972, Compound 1080 was available for use to control the loss of livestock to predation. It was removed from the list of registered pesticides at that time.

An administrative Law Judge from the Environmental Protection Agency conducted three field hearings on the subject, including one in San Angelo, May 25-June 4 to determine whether "substantial new evidence" warranted future use of the pesticide.

On October 22, the Administrative Law Judge recommended that, due to the new evidence presented, a new restricted use of Compound 1080 was justified. The final decision will be made by EPA Administrator Anne Gorsuch in the near future.

"My amendment allows the normal administrative process to continue toward a final decision on a most responsible, effective, and selective method of predator control. Had the Subcommittee not acted as it did today, it is conceivable that we might never have been able to use Compound 1080 against the explosive coyote population growth threatening our livestock," said Loeffler.

Refineries process in August

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent announced that 63 refineries in Texas processed 131,596,343 barrels of crude oil and hydrocarbon blends during August 1982. Through the first eight months of 1982, Texas refineries ran 1,014,555,305 barrels.

August's volume compares with 137,936,722 barrels in the same month a year ago, the Commission's Oil and Gas Division reported in its monthly recapitulation of Texas refinery operations. Inputs in crude oil and blends totaled 137,174,565 barrels in July 1982.

Texas refineries ran 100,753,083 barrels of crude oil in August compared to 108,505,825 barrels in August 1981 and 103,139,235 barrels in July 1982.

Products manufactured in August 1982 totaled 134,105,497 barrels, down from 139,989,470 barrels in the same month the previous year, and down from the 138,875,614 barrels in July 1982.

August 1982 manufacture of motor gasoline totaled 58,783,592 barrels, compared to 58,168,621 barrels in the year-earlier month and 62,064,389 barrels in July of 1982.

Texas refineries manufactured 7,842,197 barrels of home heating oil in August 1982—a decrease of 1,729,562 barrels from the year earlier volume. July 1982 output was 11,569,142 barrels.

Hair care in the humid weather

"It won't be the cold winter that damages your hair the most this winter," according to a leading skin care authority. "It will be the drop in the relative humidity that causes the real damage to your hair."

Dr. Myra O. Barker, vice president of research and development for Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. says "It's so important to condition your hair and restore it to its maximum possible good condition before the relative humidity begins to drop this winter.

"When the relative humidity begins to drop, damaged hair can't maintain its moisture balance. It begins to get very brittle and will start to dry out, split and break," she says.

Most people have already damaged their hair this past summer which has left it virtually defenseless against the winter. Damage from chlorine, salt water and especially the sun has tended to damage the protective outer layer of the hair shaft and dried out the hair.

Hair has an ideal moisture balance that needs to be preserved in order for the hair to be elastic and smooth. When this balance is lost, the hair gets into trouble.

"You need to think of your hair as if it was a $100 silk blouse. You wouldn't throw a silk blouse into the washing machine with your jeans and socks. You'd treat it very carefully," says Dr. Barker.

Hair is primarily composed of keratin, a highly complex protein substance. The only living part of each hair shaft is the root which is under the scalp. The hair we see it actually old cells that have been pushed out from the scalp as new cells have been formed in the root.

Hair grows an average of half an inch per month making it one of the body's fastest growing organs or tissues.

"There are several things you need to do right now to prepare for winter. First, go to a hairdresser and have the ends cut blunt, removing as much of the split ends as possible," Dr. Barker suggests.

Start using an intense conditioner once a week and, when smoothness returns to your hair, taper off to a couple of times a month during the winter. A conditioner smooths down the outer layer of the hair shaft, which resembles the scales of a fish. "This makes your hair shinier because it's the reflection of light off the cuticle scales that determines how shiny your hair is," she says.

A conditioner also seals moisture in the inner layer, the cortex, by making the cuticle scales lie down, which makes your hair less susceptible to damage through combing and blow-drying. Mechanical and thermal damage actually breaks off the cuticle leaving the protein fibers of the cortex exposed and causing them to unravel and break.

Once you have restored your hair to its best condition, there are several ways to protect it from damage during the cold months ahead. Wearing a scarf or hat on your head when outdoors is one way to protect your hair. This keeps your body's warmth and moisture close to your hair.

"Cold, dry weather tends to dry out your hair quickly just as it dries out your skin and it can make your hair very, very brittle," she says. "Covering your hair does not give complete protection, but at least you're keeping your body's warmth and moisture close to your hair to a certain extent."

Switching from a shampoo for oily hair to a gentler shampoo for normal to dry hair in the winter and using an intense conditioner twice a month will also help keep your hair in its best possible condition.

"If you wear your hair down the middle of your head as many young women do," Dr. Barker adds, "the ends of your hair are 3 to 4 years old. If your hair 3, 4, or 7 times a week, as many young women do, you have done a tremendous amount of mechanical damage to those four-year-old ends from just washing it alone. "So be gentle with your hair and keep that silk blouse in mind," she says.

Flu and drug experts at Baylor College of medicine show pointers on how to avoid the dreaded common cold

The state's 1982-83 influenza season is not expected to be severe. But Texans by the thousands will once again rush to the drugstore--seeking relief from sneezes, coughs and fevers--only to be confused by the number of over-the-counter (OTC) medications.

Flu and drug experts at Baylor College of Medicine have a few pointers on how to avoid the emotional trauma.

Deciding what to choose begins with thinking about the symptoms you have, and treating only the serious symptoms, Robert Couch, M.D., director of Baylor's Influenza Research Center, said. Ingredients are listed on the packages of OTC medications.

If you are "stopped up," or congested, look for a medicine that has a decongestant, such as phenylpropanolamine hydrochloride or pseudoephedrine.

A runny nose can be controlled by an antihistamine, which dries up fluids, but it is recommended only for a very runny nose. One of the popular ones is chlorpheniramine.

Coughs can be helped by suppressants, such as those containing dextromethorphan. A dry cough may require an expectorant--one is guaifenesin--to loosen lung fluids.

Most OTC medications for colds and flu are combinations of ingredients to treat a number of symptoms, but in this case more is not necessarily better.

"Many concoctions that contain three or more drugs will probably have something unnecessary in them," Couch said. "And the more drugs you take the more likely you are to have reactions to one of them."

He also said the amount of one or more of the combined ingredients may be too little.

The aspirin in some medications may not be enough to control your headache. It might be better to use a medication with two ingredients, such as a decongestant and cough suppressant, and then take aspirin or an aspirin substitute.

The form medications are in--nose spray, nose drops, liquid, tablet or capsule--should be considered.

Frank Bennett, a registered pharmacist and Baylor graduate student, said that decongestant nose sprays and drops are effective for short term use.

"They have a fairly quick action because they are administered at the site where needed," he said. "But people can develop a tolerance to these in a matter of days, and get what is known as 'rebound congestion.'"

Liquids usually act faster than tablets or capsules and the elderly and children seem to tolerate them better.

Bennett said that there are some individuals who should be careful about cold and flu OTC medications.

People with glaucoma, an increased pressure in eye fluids, should not take antihistamines. They tend to increase fluid pressure.

Decongestants may cause problems for diabetics and those with high blood pressure. They can increase blood sugar levels, and interact with blood pressure medications.

"There is probably little difference between brands of over-the-counter medications for colds and flu," Bennett said. "If they have the same ingredients in the same dosage level."

But to be sure, Couch and Bennett suggests that people ask their doctor or pharmacist for information on cold and flu medications. And above all, see a doctor if coughing, fever or other symptoms continue for more than three to five days.

With colder weather soon to arrive and concerns about energy costs, it is important to think about clothing, radiant heating, humidity, drafts, activities, physical fitness, and thermostats. All of these can work for or against each other.

(1) Thermostat setting can work for you, only, if the area in which the thermostat is located has the same conditions as the room(s) you want heated. Close off unused rooms when possible.

(2) Clothing offers insulation. Wearing layers of relatively thin clothing traps air between the layers. As you warm up, remove a layer or two. As you cool off, add some.

(3) Radiant Heat is heat from sun ray or heat that bounces off the bricks in your fireplace.

(4) Humidity can undo all the good you've done with other methods of comfort. High humidity causes cool temperatures to feel even cooler.

(5) Activities generate heat, especially when large muscles of arms and legs are involved, so stay active.

(6) Drafts have a cooling effect, so locate them.

(7) Your physical fitness is the final key--those who are physically fit adapt easier to temperature changes.

Texas Society to Prevent Blindness urges Christmas Shoppers to use common sense in selecting

The day after Thanksgiving marks the traditional opening of the Christmas shopping season. Many shoppers will be searching high and low for just the right toys that they hope will light up the eyes of their youngsters on Christmas morning. The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness urges shoppers to use common sense in selecting gifts for the special children in their lives. Some types of toys can pose serious injury hazards to children, and particularly to the young eyes they are intended to light up.

Prevent Blindness reports that over 4,200 Americans ended up in hospital emergency rooms last year as a result of toy-related eye injuries and that nearly 70 percent of the victims were under the age of fifteen.

"Most of these injuries were caused by commonly available toys," said R.E. Margo, M.D., state medical chairman for the Society. "These include toy guns, projectile toys, self-propelled and flying toys, slingshots, and even such relatively 'safe' toys as dolls and stuffed animals." Particularly alarming, according to Margo, is the fact that over half of these injuries were caused by bows and arrows, BB guns, pellet guns and other air, gas, or spring operated guns. "Weapons such as these, when handled as toys, can obviously be extremely dangerous," Margo said.

"There are two prime safety factors that should be considered in selecting toys," Margo continued. "First, is the toy appropriate for the child's age. And second, how much adult supervision will be required, and available, when the child uses the toy. It is also very important that a child be instructed on how to use the toy properly and safely."

Prevent Blindness offers the following suggestions to help shoppers choose safe toys for their youngsters this holiday season: Look for toys made from shatter proof and flame resistant materials. Avoid toys with sharp edges, points, nails, or screws that are exposed or can be easily exposed.

Check for rigid interior frames or springs that can easily puncture soft outside fabric or plastic coverings.

Remember that all projectile, flying, and self-propelled toys can be dangerous.

Be sure to consider the child's age and physical coordination when selecting toys.

Margo concluded by saying, "A little forethought and good judgement can help make this a safer and happier holiday for all our young Texans."

The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness is an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in sight conservation through a comprehensive program of community service, public and professional education, and research.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting held Nov. 11-12

The Board of Directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has unanimously adopted a position urging the 98th Congress to expedite decontrol of natural gas prices. The action was taken by the Regional Chamber at its Mid-Year Meeting and Legislative Conference held November 11-12 in Fort Worth.

According to WTCC Mineral Resources Committee Chairman Dan Mendell III of Midland, decontrol will be one of the most important issues Congress will consider early next year. "The chamber position urges total phased decontrol of prices of natural gas, with prompt decontrol for new supplies and decontrol of old gas by the mid-1980's," Mendell said.

"We also expect decontrol to produce an increase in the supply of natural gas, similar to the increase we have seen in the supply of oil since it was decontrolled. Following decontrol, the WTCC recommends that there should be no decontrol excise tax that would dilute this much needed supply response," he added.

The WTCC position also calls for repeal of the prohibition under the Fuel Use Act against use of natural gas by some consumers on the basis that this is counter to the most efficient use of the resource and competing fuels.

Characterized as counter to free market determination of the most efficient use of natural gas, the so-called incremental pricing provision of the Natural Gas Policy Act, whereby large volume users pay a disproportionate share of higher prices, should also be repealed, the chamber suggested.

Mendell said the WTCC came to its position on decontrol after careful consideration of the best policy as it would affect both industry and all categories of consumers.

"Decontrol will have a number of beneficial impacts on Texas and its residents including a secure and adequate supply of natural gas, new jobs created by greater exploration for and production of natural gas, encouraged development of Texas' 3.2 billion tons of proven coal reserves, and reduced dependence on Middle East imports," Mendell concluded.

Landowners need to be aware of what is involved when they lease their land for oil and gas exploration and what oil companies will do in terms of land management. Proper site preparation and restoration by oil companies is important if landowners want their land to be productive again and not be an eyesore, says a waste management engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The keys to the success of this effort are to preserve and reuse the topsoil. Once the site is restored, a good seedbed should be prepared and appropriate grasses should be planted.

Mohair team returns from overseas

A mohair market survey team returned last Tuesday from overseas after visiting spinners and topmakers in Spain, France, and the United Kingdom.

Those on the team representing the Mohair Council of America and the Texas Wool and Mohair Warehouse Association were Donnie Laughlin, President of the Warehouse Association, Herman Moore, President of the Mohair Council of America, and Fred Campbell, Executive Director of the Mohair Council. "Mohair is definitely in fashion," Laughlin reported. "And in spite of the serious recession in Europe, it continues to sell well, particularly the hand-knitted yarns. "Even though we have a higher worldwide production, the 1982 clip will be sold down to low levels by the end of the year, resulting in low carryover stocks in all three major producing countries," he added.

Laughlin reported that the team was well received in all countries, and that the meetings were productive. "We have come a good way in improving the image of Texas mohair, although I can't say the same about prices. I guess we are fortunate, though. The pipelines are fairly empty and the spinners are able to use the mohair, this should result in better prices to our growers when economic conditions improve," he said.

Moore noted the big increases of mohair shipments to certain countries in 1982, indicating some shifts in the traditional heavy shipments to the mills in Bradford, England. "Shipments of grease mohair overseas, for the first nine months of the year, are up 8 percent, whereas those to the United Kingdom are down almost 20 percent," Moore said. "Countries showing substantial increases are Italy, Spain, France, and Germany. Although we have a good friends and customers in England, we are glad to see competition and diversification in markets," he added.

On the upcoming mohair referendum, Moore noted some "out of context" publicity released by the United States Department of Agriculture during the past several weeks confused some growers. According to the news release, the referendum allowed an increase in deductions from incentive payments from 1 1/2 tp 4 1/2 cents per pound.

"This statement is misleading because it ignores the fact that we have the Texas Mohair Producers Board, through which growers have already been contributing 4 1/2 cents per pound for at least three years. We are not asking for an increase in funds, only a shift from warehouse collections to deductions from incentive payments," Moore said.

The referendum will be conducted through local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices, with voting taking place from December 6 -17, 1982.

Livestock producers look into Fever Ticks more heavily

Livestock producers in this area are being urged by the Texas Animal Health Commission to Continue surveillance efforts as a result of a recent fever tick outbreak in Webb County.

Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission reported that combined efforts of state and federal animal health officials are showing progress in eradication of the outbreak. "But we need the continued cooperation of all livestock producers," he said.

An outbreak of fever ticks was found Nov. 2 about 10 miles northwest of Laredo. As a result, about 20,000 were placed under quarantine involving more than 35 premises.

An 11-day roadblock in the area has been terminated, but spot checks are to be continued, Dr. Holcombe said.

Two species of fever ticks can transmit tick fever to an animal. Presently, there is no cure. Tick fever is not known to exist in Texas, but parts of Mexico are infested.

Cutting Horse event to take place Dec. 2-12

In what will be the richest arena competition in equine sports history, 780 three-year-old cutting horses will compete for a purse of more than $1,000,000 at the National Cutting Horse Association's 1982 Futurity. The event will take place December 2-12 at Fort Worth's Will Rogers Coliseum.

"Cutting purses are growing at a faster rate than in any other equine sport," said Zack Wood, NCHA secretary-treasurer. "The Futurity purse alone has doubled from what it was in 1980."

The 1982 Futurity is the 21st anniversary of this annual competition for unproven three-year-olds. The first Futurity was held in 1962 in Sweetwater, Texas. That year, 36 horses competed for a purse of $18,375. The event has been held in Fort Worth since 1967.

"The 780 entries this year are coming from 36 states and Canada," said Wood. "However, since none of the horses have ever been tested in competition, there really can't be any favorites. Some folks will pick a favorite by the horse's pedigree or by who is riding, but with these animals anything can happen," Wood said.

In 1981 Futurity Champion was Colonel Lil, owned by W.B. Wood of Brenham, Texas.

According to the AMA, beer can make hair easier to set if used in the final rinse.

Texas. His winnings last year were $194,626.60. The 1982 Champion will take home more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Five judges will score this competition of the western working horse in first and second elimination go-rounds then in semi-finals and finals. In a 2 & 1/2-minute period, each entry will display skills of quickness and intelligence as it works to "cut" a yearling calf from the herd and keep it from returning.

All entries will work in the first go-round trials December 2-7, then the 180 top-scoring horses will compete in the second go-rounds December 9 and 10.

The non-professional finals will take place on Friday, December 10, with the 15 high scoring non-professional riders competing. In the open semi-finals on Saturday, December 11, 7:30 p.m., only 60 horses will work to eliminate all but the top 20 to compete in the Championship Finals on Sunday, December 12, at 7:30 p.m.

Arena tickets are sold out for the non-pro finals, the open semi-finals and the Championship Finals. However, on Saturday and Sunday, December 11 and 12, closed-circuit viewing of the competition will take place to the Will Rogers main arena. General admission to the closed-circuit seats is $4, with children under 12 admitted free. General admission seats are also available for any of the first and second go-round trials, which begin at 8 a.m., December 2-7 and December 9 and 10. The 1982 Futurity is one of six national events sponsored annually by the NCHA. The NCHA also sanctions more than 750 other regional events each year that are held throughout the United States and Canada. Founded in Fort Worth in 1946, the Association has a current membership of 9,000.

Joint Venture for Crippled Children Oilfield Sale Dec. 1

Have you ever wanted to own a piece of the oil patch? An opportunity to bid at the Joint Venture for Crippled Children Oilfield Equipment and Services Sale Wednesday, December 1st at the Abilene Civic Center could make this dream come true!

Chalmers Operating Company and Smalley Drilling Company are assigning to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center a 1/4th working interest two Jones county leases for the JVCC Auction which benefits the handicapped children and adults of the Southwest.

The leases are 81.25 percent working interest leases, aggregating 269 acres (538 acres on a 20 acre checkerboarded basis), located two miles west of Stamford, Texas in the heart of Swastika country. Four separate interests of 1/16th each will be auctioned at the sale. Chalmers Operating Company and Smalley Drilling Company will pay for all costs of this 1/4th interest to the casing point, however, any completion and operating costs will be on a prorated basis. Chalmers Operating Company will be the operator of these leases.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Brown and their company, Energy & Mineral Exploration, are also donating a 1/32nd overriding royalty interest in a gas well located in Eastland county. This producing well has a good long payout history and is in the Marble Falls strata. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are donating to the auction a 14 ct. gold-plated replica of an offshore drilling rig. The beautiful piece of art is 33 inches tall, 24 inches long, and 17 inches wide and sits on a T-shaped walnut base. The drilling rig operates on batteries.

Clamers, the president-elect of the WTRC Board of Directors, is looking forward to presenting his donation to the sale audience. "Every year we really have had a good time at the auction, and this year will be the same," Chalmers stated. "I look for hundreds of oil men to come and bid on this particular opportunity to drill in Swastika country."

The Joint Venture for Crippled Children campaign is a joint effort between the oil and gas industry and the West Texas Rehabilitation Center for the treatment of handicapped children and adults. These patients are treated at no charge at the WTRC campuses in Abilene, San Angelo, and Snyder.

Production for December totaled 100 percent for the 70th month in a row

The Railroad Commission today set the Texas oil production rate for December 1982 at the market demand factor of 100 percent for the 70th month in a row and the 126th time since the Commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

Chairman Jim Nugent and Commissioner Mack Wallace directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in December totaling 2,468,988 barrels per day, a decrease of 6,210 barrels daily when compared with November 1982 buyer requests. December 1981 nominations totaled 2,458,556 barrels daily.

Next month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 2,920,027 b/d with actual production estimated at 2,395 million b/d. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production in December 1981 was 2,434,982 barrels daily. Nugent reported that December 1982 nominations were submitted in writing by these purchasers of Texas crude oil: Arco Petroleum Products, 125,000, down 1,000; Clayco Inc., 25,115, up 1,975; Falcon Crude Transport & Trading, 5,799, down 1,137; Geer Tank Trucks Inc., 10,665, up 1,065; International Crude Corp., no nomination, down 12,500; Koch Oil Co., 70,124, up 4,004; The Per-man Corp., 194,890, up 5,147; Scurlock Oil Co., 98,600, up to 3,600; and Western Crude Oil Inc., 39,726, down 2,913. Nugent reported that crude oil and petroleum products imported into the U.S. averaged 4,910,000 barrels daily for the four weeks ending November 5, an increase of 37,000 per day for the same period last year.

Democrat Party picks up 26 new seats in House

In the election just completed, the Democrat Party picked up 26 new seats in the House of Representatives while remaining even in the Senate. We hasten to add that the Permian Basin Petroleum Association does not endorse or work for or against any particular candidate or political party. We are only interested in their position on the free enterprise system and the domestic petroleum industry.

After analyzing the changes in the House of Representatives, we concluded that the House will be more liberal, and therefore, more likely to vote against the oil and gas industries. Shortly after the election, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington, Dan Rostenkowski, spoke to the American Petroleum Institute in Houston. Rostenkowski said if President Reagan refuses to cut defense spending, and Congress balks at massive new social cuts, then major tax increases are a logical possibility. "The first place to look will be the energy industry... The oil industry will be in the line of fire."

In other news, President Reagan is supposed to be leaning toward an increase of 5 cents a gallon in the Federal Gasoline Tax. If this becomes law the money would be used for highway and bridge projects.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week is 324. Last week 306 and one year ago, 491.

PISC Hotline

The Petroleum Industry Security Council (PISC) oil field theft hotline became operational June 1, 1982. Thanks to the cooperation of many publications across the state, people are calling 1-800-OIL-COPS toll free to report oil field thieves. Information received on this hotline is being forwarded directly and immediately to law enforcement officials.

Oil field theft in Texas is costing citizens millions of dollars in higher prices and lost tax revenues. The OIL-COPS hotline, which offers anonymity to its callers and a reward up to $5,500, is an ideal tool to fight this costly crime.

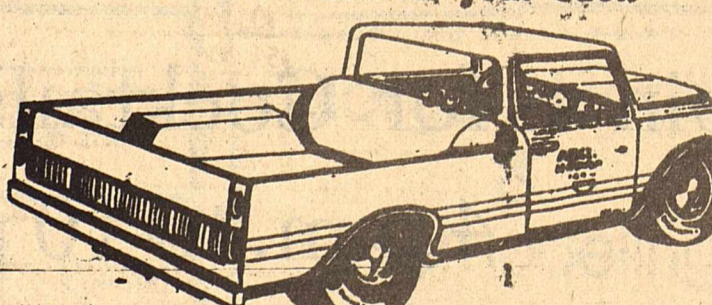

The OIL-COPS hotline programs must be made well-known to the public to be effective. PISC is a non-profit organization formed to support law enforcement efforts to deal with oil field crimes and we need the public's help.

Landowners be aware when leasing land

Leasing land for oil or gas exploration may seem like a windfall to some landowners, but it's not all a bed of roses. Drilling activities can rape and ravage the land unless certain precautions are taken.

"Landowners need to be aware of what is involved when they lease their land and what oil companies will do in terms of land management," said Dr. John Sweeten, waste management engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Proper site preparation and restoration by oil companies is important if landowners want their land to be productive again and not be an eyesore," noted Sweeten. "The keys to the success of this effort are to preserve and reuse the topsoil."

He suggested these land management steps before, during and after drilling operations.

To preserve topsoil during site preparation:

- Remove and stockpile topsoil at the upslope edge or on one side of the drilling pad and working pit.
- Move subsoil downslope to level the drilling pad.

- Excavate working pits and trash pits from the subsoil.

- To excavate reserve pits, push topsoil to form end walls and then subsoil to form side walls.

During drilling and immediately thereafter, diligent housekeeping is necessary to prevent spills of chemicals, mud, salt water and other materials, added

Sweeten. Emptying wastewater and mud pits according to state guidelines as soon as possible facilitates backfilling and land restoration.

Backfilling follows the reserve order of site preparation:

- Redistribute subsoil from side walls over the reserve pit floor.
- Redistribute topsoil from end walls of the reserve pit.
- Backfill working and trash pits with subsoil.
- Move subsoil back upslope from the downslope edge of the drilling pad.
- Redistribute stockpiled topsoil over the pad and working pit areas.
- Smooth the entire disturbed area with a dozer.

To complete the site restoration process, Sweeten advised preparing a good seedbed and planting appropriate grasses. Fertilizing, mulching to conserve soil moisture and control erosion, controlling weeds and protecting the area from grazing until grasses are well established are also important practices.
