State Bound Competitors to Present Play

DeMarco, Clayann Cates, Ronnie Pollard, and Tino Martinez. Bottom Row: Laura Preston, Kathryn Parker, Drew Wallace, Victor Fuentes, and Eddie Vallejo.

Twelve Sonora High School students are on their way to Austin to compete at the state level on April 28. They are the cast and crew of the Speech and Drama Department's one-act play, "The Basic Training of Pavlo Hummel", set in basic training camp during the Vietnam war.

After making a clean sweep of the honors at both the district and area level in past weeks, the regional competition at Odessa College last week proved that a combination of talent and hard work are indeed hard to beat. Sonora, along with Muleshoe, was selected as the best play in Region I, and will compete with three other regions for the state championship at the University of Texas.

At the regional competition with other area winner schools, Kathryn Parker walked off with the best actress award, Ronnie Pollard won the best actor award. Kathryn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Parker, and Ronnie is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lonnie Pollard.

Mike Polocek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Polocek, was one of three Sonorans named to the all-star cast. Others were Drew Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, and Greg Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Sammie Stewart.

Ronnie Munns and Tino Martinez received honorable mention for the all-star cast.

Other members of the cast and crew who are contributing to its success are Laura Preston, Eddie Vallejo, Rodney Speers, and Clayann Cates.

The state-bound play, under the direction of Speech and Drama Director James Buchanan, will be performed for the public at no charge on Tuesday night, April 26, in the high school auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend this outstanding production.

Drug Detecting Dog Visits Sonora Schools

On Tuesday, April 12th, assemblies were held for the Junior & Senior High School students, pertaining to the use of drugs.

Deputy Sheriff Dwayne Hatcher of Galveston and his assistant, brought a drug detecting dog, as suggested by the Board, from Galveston to Sonora Schools. This was done to show how effective it can be to prevent drug abuse on school grounds.

The dog's name is Prince and has been training to detect drugs for the past 16 weeks. The dog is now 2 years of age, and still sniffing strong. The dog is also in the process of being trained to detect Alcoholic beverages.

Sheriff Bill Webster delivered a very strong and impressive speech to the student body on the "drug culture." Also speaking to the student body was Mr. James Bible, principal of Sonora High School. Both of these gentlemen, and an unexpected speaker, Sam Stewart, expressed how they really cared about the pride of the school system and how important it is that the students don't use drugs or smoke illegal substances on the campus.

Mr. Hatcher and his assistant Prince will be back, but no one will know the date, to check all lockers, vehicles, and school grounds.

All in all, the assemblies were very impressive and put a point across. Hatcher stressed, "If your gonna do the stuff, do it at home and if you can help it, NOT AT ALL!"

Tom Loeffler
Congressman
21st District, Texas

Reports from Washington

Home To Texas

My return to the 21st District over the Easter work break was particularly meaningful, as it ended the longest period away from Texas since my election in 1978.

I remained in Washington during the past several months to stay close as we awaited the birth of our third child, who arrived March 10. With Kathy, the boys, and their new sister all settled in, this Easter recess offered a time of special renewal.

For no matter where Texans live or travel, we always look forward to heading back to the Lone Star State. And whether it is watching the gently flowing Guadalupe River's south fork near my home, or following a busy schedule squeezing in as many visits as possible, being home is always a refreshing experience.

Although my travels reinforced once again the accuracy of your calls and letters as a barometer of the thoughts and attitudes of the 21st District, nothing can ever replace the importance of personal contact.

It was good to be able to meet and talk with you — on our home ground — rather than in our office in Washington.

The issue most on your minds — whether in town meetings, at service clubs, or in individual meetings — remains the universal opposition to the automatic withholding of interest and dividend income. In all my years as an elected official, never has one single legislative issue generated as much negative feeling.

To bring you up to date, many of us sponsoring legislation to repeal this onerous provision have filed a discharge petition to force a repeal bill out of the Ways and Means Committee, where the legislation is, in a sense, being held hostage. As soon as we get 218 signatures, a majority in the House, the Committee will be forced to send a repeal bill to the House floor. As you know, I remain determined that we must get that provision off the statute books before it takes effect July 1.

Aside from automatic withholding, the impacts of the budget rammed through the House by the liberals was on most everyone's mind. There was anger expressed that the liberal budget would be financed by the largest tax increase in history: a $265 billion tax burden which, to the average taxpayer, means an additional $3,500 in taxes over the next five years. There was disgust that this liberal budget would effectively repeal the third year of the tax cut and the tax relief promised by the indexing of taxes scheduled to begin in 1985. Finally, there was extra concern that these taxes would be used to finance those same discredited programs of the past that we no longer need and cannot afford.

"Trying to turn back the clock — it will ruin the country!" is the way one constituent described it.

I could not agree more. This irresponsible, liberal document, filled with the bankrupt "tax and spend" policies of the past, will indeed drive a sword into the heart of our Nation's economic recovery at a time when recovery is underway.

Equally strong concern was expressed over the liberal's willingness in their budget to reduce growth in defense spending by an unjustified amount with no documentation as to how the proposed reductions would be achieved or what the impact of these reductions would be on our national security.

I returned to Washington with the renewed sense that Congress cannot turn its back on the wishes of the American people, as you so forcefully expressed to me during my trip home. Your reactions have affirmatively added to my strong determination that we must continue with the ongoing program for economic recovery. We must not turn back the clock.

General Telephone Company Passes New Rule

Coin telephone users wanting to charge a call to a third number are now subject to having the charges approved by someone at the third number. General Telephone General Manager E.O. Cambern said this new rule went into effect on April 1, 1983.

The verification process is designed to help eliminate fraudulent billing of long-distance calls and protect customers from having unauthorized charges appear on their bills.

Under the change, if an individual at the third number doesn't answer and approve the charges, the caller will be asked to provide alternate billing such as another third number that will approve the charges, a valid calling card, a collect call, or correct change to pay for the call.

Cambren said customers who frequently use public telephones for third-number billing may find that the calling card may represent an attractive alternative.

Besides being faster and more convenient than third-number and collect calls, most calling card calls are cheaper, Mr. Cambren said. Customers can call their Telephone Business Office to obtain a calling card. There is no charge for the card.

Bentsen Bill Attacks Illegal Drug

Senator Lloyd Bentsen introduced legislation April 6, 1983 to increase criminal penalties for illegal trafficking in so-called "non-narcotic" drugs such as "angel dust," "speed" and L.S.D.

Bentsen, in Senate remarks accompanying his bill, said that because of present patterns of drug abuse, the long-standing distinctions in federal law between "narcotic" and "non-narcotic" drugs has lost its validity.

"The Controlled Substances Act lists dangerous substances in five schedules and proscribes trafficking in all of them. The most dangerous are listed in Schedules I and II. The Act, however, distinguishes between 'narcotic' and 'non-narcotic' drugs in regard to penalties," the Senator said.

"Trafficking in 'narcotic' drugs is punishable by imprisonment for a term of up to 15 years and a fine of up to $25,000. By way of contrast, the dealer in those 'non-narcotic' drugs that are listed in Schedules I and II is subject to a maximum sentence of only 5 years and a $15,000 fine."

"In recent years we have seen the advent of widespread abuse of substances like 'angel dust,' 'speed' and L.S.D., which are at least as harmful and dangerous as the 'narcotic' drugs."

By and large these "non-narcotic" drugs are not smuggled from other countries into the U.S. but are manufactured at clandestine laboratories here.

Bentsen pointed to a General Accounting Office review of 68 cases involving clandestine drug labs that were raided and shut down by the Drug Enforcement Administration. Two out of three of the 153 individuals arrested in conjunction with the raids were either set free on probation or spent less than three years in jail.

The Bentsen bill would increase penalties for trafficking in "non-narcotic" drugs listed in Schedules I and II to a maximum 15 years in prison and a $25,000 fine. Second offense would carry a penalty of 30 years and a $50,000 fine.

"Under my legislation, trafficking in 'angel dust' or L.S.D. would be considered as serious — in terms of potential punishment — as trafficking in heroin. Dealing in these very dangerous drugs would no longer be a bargain when it comes to punishment," Bentsen said.

"I hope the Senate will move quickly to approve this legislation. It follows recommendations made by the Comptroller General and has the support of the Department of Justice," Senator Bentsen said.

Hospital Week

Governor Mark White has designated the week of May 8-14, 1983, a TEXAS HOSPITAL WEEK in recognition of the efforts of hospitals in effectively promoting the health of the citizens of Texas.

In his statements, White commended hospitals for their "important role in educating Texans in living healthier lifestyles."

"Apart from and through the Texas Hospital Association, hospitals have effectively promoted the health of the people of our State by treating them like family," White said. "In every community, this personalized care reminds Texans that our hospitals are truly concerned for their well-being."

TEXAS HOSPITAL WEEK honors the dedicated health professionals responsible for the delivery of care as well as hospital governing boards, auxiliaries, and volunteers who contribute thousands of hours in the service of their local citizenry.

"We Treat You Like Family—Texas Style", the theme for TEXAS HOSPITAL WEEK, reflects the role of hospitals and their staffs as a dedicated family ready to provide care whenever needed.

Today's complex hospital industry still has a simple, basic mission—to care, offer support and help, while searching for better ways to help people stay healthy. As advocates of individual and community health, Texas hospitals extend their family-style care beyond the hospital walls.

Throughout the year, hospitals also encourage Texans to promote good health within their own families by living healthier lifestyles and wisely using the health care delivery system in their locale.

The official memorandum was signed by the governor during ceremonies held at the Capitol April 4. Present were THA Pres-

Governor Mark White Signs Wildlife Conservation Act

Gov. Mark White signed into law the Texas Wildlife Conservation Act of April 5, 1983 which will enhance the stability of the state's wildlife populations and expand outdoor opportunities for sportsmen and outdoor enthusiasts.

The act gives the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department statewide authority for wildlife management and eliminates locally specialized wildlife laws previously in effect in 116 Texas counties. The bill was sponsored by Rep. Fred Agnich, R-Dallas, and Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall.

Both Agnich and Lyon attended the bill signing ceremony in the state capitol. Also in attendance was Ed Cox Jr., vice chairman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Cox expressed the appreciation of the tens of thousands of sportsmen and conservationists who supported the efforts of Texans for Wildlife Conservation. The group, whose members include the more than 800 sportsmen's clubs in Texas, was formed to promote passage of the Wildlife Conservation Act.

"The Texas Wildlife Conservation Act will at last enable the Parks and Wildlife Department to manage our wildlife resources on a scientific basis statewide," Cox said.

"It is the most far reaching wildlife conservation legislation ever passed in the state," he added.

Cox explained that prior to enactment of the new law, locally specialized law was in effect in 13 counties. Some of these laws were first passed in 1925 and were not responsive to today's wildlife management needs. In 30 other counties, commissioners courts had authority to veto wildlife regulations developed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. In 73 other counties, Cox said, the Parks and Wildlife Department had only partial authority to manage wildlife.

"The Wildlife Conservation Act puts wildlife management in the hands of professionals and eliminates the outdated laws that regulated wildlife in large parts of our state," Cox said. "The act will extend to every county the extraordinary success record of the Parks and Wildlife Department."

Cox praised the hard work of Senator Lyon and Representative Agnich in attaining passage of the legislation and Governor

White's support of the law. "Generations to come of outdoor enthusiasts and sportsmen truly owe you a debt of thanks," he told the Governor and the lawmakers.

Cancer Volunteers to Conduct Survey

Over one-half million Texans will be surveyed during April by American Cancer Society volunteers to determine local health and cancer awareness.

Some 40,000 ACS volunteers will conduct the survey door-to-door as part of the Society's annual educational and fund-raising Crusade. The results of the statewide project will be used to plan the organization's educational emphasis geographically. "This is somewhat of a departure for us," said Charles Oswalt, M.D. of Graham who is spearheading the study as a member of the Texas Division ACS Public Education Committee. "While we've always taken advantage of the educational opportunities that exist when our volunteers visit their neighbors during our Crusade, this is the first time we've asked their help in distributing a survey on such a broad scale."

Dr. Oswalt added that the confidential survey takes just a few minutes to complete and is then to be mailed to local ACS offices. Questions are divided into those just for women and those for men and women, all related to a history of personal health actions. For example, both men and women are asked if they have ever been to a doctor, hospital or clinic for a proctoscopic exam. Women are asked if they have ever had a Pap Test or if they practice regular breast self-examinations.

"Once these totals are compiled, we'll be better able to target just what our educational emphasis should be in certain parts of the state," Oswalt added.

"If the survey totals in a particular area of the state indicate that few of the men have had an examination for colon rectum cancer, then we can try to boost our educational programs on that site in that particular area—whether it be Beaumont, San Angelo or wherever."

F. Michael Schultz, M.D. of Brownwood, chairman of the Division Public Education Committee upon which Dr. Oswalt serves, points out that the survey itself has an educational value. "It will serve as a reminder that specific early detection tests are vital to successful treatment before cancer spreads," he said.

Along with the survey, volunteers will also be armed with other educational information to help Texans know how cancer can be prevented.

Funds from the Crusade will be used to sponsor the Society's three-fold attack on cancer through research, education and patient services.

St. John's RV Parking Now Open

The St. John's Hospital Family RV Parking center in San Angelo is now open, according to Mel Camp, hospital administrator.

The 10-space parking area was created to accommodate families of St. John's patients, Camp said. "Over 40 per cent of our patients are from outside Tom Green County, and many of these families bring recreational vehicles to the hospital. Until now, they have had to park in the front parking lot, taking up needed visitor parking spaces," he said.

The RV parking area is located behind St. John's on the "scenic loop." Complete utility hookups, including electricity, water and sewage facilities, are available for each space. Each space can accommodate a recreational vehicle up to 50 feet long.

"There is no charge for parking in this area, but we do limit parking to families of St. John's patients. We suggest a $5 per night contribution to help defray utility cost, but no one is required to pay for using the RV parking area," Camp said.

A park, complete with play area for children, is being developed, Camp added. Registration and utility hookup is available daily by contacting the hospital switchboard at 655-3181, Camp noted.

Varsity Boys Track captures First Place

Sonora Varsity boys captured first place in the McCamey Badger relays Saturday with a team total of 132 points. Once again the Broncos benefitted by the efforts of Jose Escalante who ran to first place finishes in both the 3200 meter run and the 1600 meter run. In the 1600 meters, Escalante was followed by teammates Esau Ramirez in second and Ricardo Sanchez in third. Alberto Luna finished fifth in the 3200 meters.

Sonora ICA Elects New Officers

The Independent Cattlemen's Association held its regular monthly business meeting with breakfast at the Sutton County Steak House, Thursday at 7 a.m. April 7th.

Chairman Ben Epps discussed the second legislative seminar held in Austin, March 2nd and 3rd in brief; and urged all members to read the April issue of the I.C.A. magazine for a complete report of the bills the Senators and Representatives discussed at this session. The Sutton County Chapter of I.C.A. was well represented in Austin for this affair, stated Epps.

It was reported that $2300.00 was sent to the home office from the Bar-B-Que fund raiser held on Feb. 25th, by this organization.

New officers elected for the 1983-84 term are: Clay Hicks, Chairman; Larry Finklea, vice chairman; and Mrs. Ruth Espy, secretary-treasurer.

It was announced that the annual calf sale will be held at the Victoria Livestock Commission, Inc. on Saturday, May 14, 1983. Anyone having any livestock to be donated, please contact Bill Whitehead at 387-3159. Remember "a calf for ICA is no bum steer"!!

The 9th Annual ICA convention will be held at the Austin Hyatt Regency, June 23rd through June 25th. The delegates from this area were elected at this time. Clay Hick, Larry Finklea, Mark Hemphill and Ben Epps.

The alternate delegates are: Mrs. Lawrence Finklea, Mrs. Adele Wilson, Mrs. Ruth Espy, and Jamie Parker.

The outgoing chairman, Ben Epps, expressed his thanks and appreciation to all the members for their help in making the Bar-B-

Que a success; for the various contributions given, and for their cooperation in performing tasks when assigned them.

Attendance was good; and, with no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

The next regular meeting will be held same time same place on May 5th. All members are urged to attend. "I.C.A. is working for you"!!

The Tomato Voted Most Popular Vegetable

If Texans could choose but one vegetable to grow in their gardens, the tomato would win hands down.

Tomatoes are grown in about 95 percent of all home gardens in Texas, estimates Dr. Sam Cotner, a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Once people taste the great flavor of vine ripened, homegrown tomatoes, they just don't want any other kind, says Cotner.

To grow a bountiful supply of tomatoes in Texas, Cotner first of all emphasizes planting the right varieties. Varieties such as Big Set, Spring Giant, Jack Pot and Better Boy consistently perform well in all areas of the state.

The horticulturist advises buying transplants of these varieties at nurseries or garden centers or buying seed and planting it in a hot bed or containers but not directly in the garden, since plants need to be started well before cold weather is over. Before setting out transplants, get the soil in good shape by adding plenty of organic matter and a complete fertilizer such as 10-20-10 or 12-24-12.

Set plants at least three feet apart, with three to four feet between rows. Use boards, shingles, milk cartons or something similar to protect them from early spring winds. Wire cages around plants can provide a structure for plastic trash bags that will protect young plants. Later the cages will support the plants, eliminating the need for staking and tying each plant.

Tomatoes also need nurturing throughout the season. This means applying a fertilizer solution—one to two tablespoonfuls of a garden fertilizer dissolved in a gallon of water—every week to 10 days once small tomatoes appear. This solution can be scattered around the base of the plant or in pots or containers (with holes in the bottom for drainage) set in the ground mid-way between each plant.

Cotner also emphasizes the need for proper watering during the growing season and for controlling insect and disease problems should they occur.

Paying attention to these key practices can lead to a bountiful harvest of tomatoes—the Number One Texas vegetable.

Independent Cattlemen's Association Studies Bills

The Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas has gone on record opposing S.B. 366 by Sen. Bob Glasgow and H.B. 701 by Rep. Bruce Gibson because the bills give the Texas Animal Health Commission too much power.

"These bills, if passed, would give the TAHC authority and power to submit any set of rules and regulations appearing to eradicate brucellosis," says Cliff Boucher, executive director of the association. "We would prefer allowing part of the power of writing regulations to remain in the legislature with elected officials. Instead, these bills allow only the governor's political appointees to govern the health programs of the cattle industry of Texas."

The bills were introduced because of pending court litigation ruling the TAHC was adopting regulations when it did not have authority to do so, explains Boucher. With the authority delegated by these bills, the commission will have even greater power over cattle movement and sale in this state, he says. "With rumors of the threat of a brucellosis quarantine by USDA, many in the cattle industry feel blackmailed into accepting this kind of power vested into the TAHC," Boucher says. "However, it was U.S. President Ronald Reagan who directed USDA to phase out the brucellosis program. We stand behind his recommendation."

With the power created by these bills the TAHC intends to enforce a stricter set of rules, he says. These stricter rules divide the state into two areas, east and west. East Texas cattle producers will operate under more stringent requirements for cattle movement than West Texas producers. Extensive testing and vaccination will be required before cattle may be sold into the western section of the state.

"These rules and regulations will serve as a trade barrier within our state," Boucher warns, "because of the restrictions and added compliance costs required of cattlemen in East Texas. S.B. 366 and H.B. 701 will place cattle producers in East Texas at a great disadvantage, inhibit cattle trade and continue to require dependence on an unreliable test as the measure of herd health."

Boucher told ICA members to show their opposition to these bills by contacting members of the State Legislature to encourage the bills' defeat.

State Comptroller Reduces the Revenue Outlook

State Comptroller Bob Bullock again reduced the revenue outlook for Texas state government Thursday, cutting his official estimate of available revenues by $953 million.

Bullock explained that even with the latest cuts in his estimate, Texas and Alaska remain the only states with budget surpluses.

"Our surplus has dwindled from the 1.3 billion we thought we would have last year to about $630.5 million we expect now. But we still have $2.3 billion available over and above our present budget."

Bullock said he reduced his estimate because of continued uncertainty in oil prices and because sales tax receipts keep falling.

"Thirty-eight states are having to cut their state budgets below their present levels. We've got enough money to write a budget that's 12.4 percent bigger than the existing budget that we are now operating under," Bullock said.

Texas Texas Land Commissioner Calls for Oil Tax at Lease Sale

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said a tax on imported petroleum will insulate the domestic oil market from dangerous price fluctuations in the OPEC market while promoting energy independence at home.

Mauro spoke at the semi-annual lease sale held by the General Land Office on public school lands for the exploration and production of oil and gas.

"In the past decade, the OPEC countries have used their power to tax energy consumers in the United States billions of dollars. We lose 37,000 jobs for every $1 billion we spend on imported oil. With the rift among the OPEC producers and the declining demand for oil in the world market, now is the time for the federal government to levy an import tax on oil produced by the OPEC nations," Mauro stated.

"An import tax will lower our dependence on imported oil while stimulating the domestic market," Mauro said "It will also reduce the influence of the OPEC producers on the world market and allow us to give special considerations to other producing nations like Mexico and England. As the market becomes competitive, the OPEC nations are going to come under more pressure to lower the price below the official one listed by the cartel."

With a stable price, Mauro said the petroleum industry and the taxpayers of the state will be the beneficiaries. "With the projected decline in state revenues, it is essential we realize every dollar we can from our public lands. Last year, we generated nearly $1 billion to the Permanent School Fund because of oil and gas production on state owned lands. This provided $550 for each public school student in the state and saved Texas taxpayers money which would have come through ad valorem taxes," Mauro said. "With a sound financial basis for the oil and gas industry in Texas, we will have more exploration and production."

At the sale conducted by the General Land Office Tuesday, Mauro reported a total of 16,565 acres were leased by private companies and individuals. Bonuses for the leases totaled $2.89 million. All tracts leased were on a fixed royalty of 20 or 25 percent reserved to the state.

The highest bid awarded by the General Land Office was on a 640 acre tract in Loving County. Bill Seltzer bid $260,480 or $407 per acre. The second highest bid was also by Seltzer in Loving County on 613 acres for $236,005 or $385 per acre.

A total of 151 tracts were offered in the sale with 92 tracts receiving bids. The average price per acre was $175. The sale included only tracts in the upland areas of the public lands. No offshore or coastal leases were included in the sale Tuesday.

All bonuses and royalties paid on public school lands are placed into the Permanent School Fund. The fund now totals more than $3.7 billion.

Pipeline Permit Summary

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace has announced that eight permits to operate new pipelines in Texas were granted by the RRC in March. Last month the Commission approved 12 permits, and in March 1982 six permits were granted.

Four of the new permits were for gathering pipelines, two were for multi-purpose lines, one was for a trunk transmission line, and another was for a gas plant line. Gathering lines bring oil and gas from production leases, while a trunk transmission line is a larger diameter line into which smaller lines connect. At gas plants, natural gas is stripped of the liquid hydrocarbons usually present in wellhead gas.

Seven of the newly-permitted lines will transport gas, and one will carry products.

In March, two permits each were granted to operate pipelines in West Central Texas, and the Midland area, and one each in East Texas, Southeast Texas and North Texas. One was granted for an offshore line.

Gathering lines approved: Texaco Inc., Midland, gas, Culberson County; Rusk County Transporting Systems Inc., Kilgore, gas, Rusk County; Westlake Oil & Gas Corp., Austin, gas, Coleman County; Texoma Production Co., Houston, gas, offshore Galveston area.

Multi-purpose lines approved: DBH Gas Inc., Midland, gas, Pecos County; South Liberty Transportation Co., Houston, gas, Liberty County.

Trunk transmission lines approved: Carswell Pipeline Co., Abilene, products, Parker and Tarrant counties.

Gas plant lines approved: Cross Timbers Oil & Gas, Bluff Dale, gas, Erath County.

March Drilling Report

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace announced that Texas operators reported 95 gas and 89 oil discoveries in March 1983.

One year ago, 157 gas and 42 oil discoveries were filed with state's energy regulatory agency.

Gas discoveries in March included 37 in deep South Texas, 15 in West Central Texas, 14 in the Refugio area, 13 in Southeast Texas, five in North Texas, three in the Midland area, and two each in the Panhandle, East Texas, and the San Antonio and San Angelo areas.

Oil discoveries included 16 in West Central Texas, 15 in the San Antonio area, 11 in the San Angelo area, ten each in North Texas and the Refugio areas, seven in the Lubbock area, six in the Midland area, four in deep South Texas, three each in Southeast Texas and the Panhandle, and two each in East Texas and East Central Texas.

In March, operators reported 575 exploratory and field tests wound up as dry holes. New applications for permits to drill oil and gas tests totaled 2,621 in March compared with 3,154 in the same period of 1982.

Applications to drill, deepen, plug back and for service wells in March amounted to 3,002 against 3,529 a year earlier.

Operators filed 865 amended applications to submitted 1,013 amended drill. A year earlier they requests.

Gas Production in December

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace announced that Texas oil and gas wells produced 497,251,313 Mcf of gas in December 1982, down 10.22 percent from field runs a year earlier.

Marketed gas production totaled 410,770,836 Mcf and reflected a 12.31 percent decrease from the December 1981 volume. Marketed production is the total gas to transmission lines, carbon black and plant fuel and lease use.

Gas exported from Texas in December totaled 256,844,132 Mcf. Exports of Texas-produced gas in December totaled 190,502,009 Mcf, and reflected a 2.07 percent decrease from the year-earlier month.

Texas gas production in December came from 230,222 oil and gas wells.

In November 1982, Texas wells produced 481,397,322 Mcf of gas. Marketed gas production in November totaled 393,633,261 Mcf. November exports of Texas-produced gas totaled 186,742,479 Mcf.

In 1982, Texas produced 6,036,472,331 Mcf of gas. For the same period, marketed gas production totaled 4,986,145,594 Mcf.

Inflation-Fighting FOOD IDEAS

Try Eggplant Stuffed With Pasta And Vegetables

More and more of us are enjoying the benefits of teaming fresh or frozen vegetables with pasta for a delicious main dish...they're inexpensive, hearty and nutritious. These all-in-ones, as we like to call them, contain pasta, vegetables and meat or fish mixed with a sauce. Using a canned pasta cooked in its own rich tomato sauce has added advantages, it reduces your time in the kitchen and guarantees great results! All you need is some off-the-shelf canned pasta, your favorite vegetables such as peas, green beans, eggplant or zucchini, plus your own creativity to come up with a meal worthy of family or friends.

TASTY STUFFED EGGPLANT PARMESAN

- 2 medium eggplants (3/4 pound each)
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 2 cans (15 oz. each) Chef Boy-ar-dee® Beefaroni
- 1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 cup Mozzarella cheese, shredded

Halve each eggplant lengthwise. Blanch in boiling water for 5 minutes. Scoop out pulp leaving 1/4 inch shell. Coarsely chop pulp. Sauté eggplant, onion and garlic in butter. In large bowl, mix together Beefaroni®, Parmesan cheese and 1/2 cup Mozzarella cheese. Add the sautéed vegetables to the Beefaroni® mixture. Pile into eggplant shells, and top with remaining Mozzarella. Place in baking dish just large enough to hold them. Bake in 325°F oven 35 to 40 minutes.

United State Senator Report

The Science Education Center at the University of Texas reports that only 18 students are enrolled who plan to teach secondary science. The center has no students planning to teach physics or chemistry.

Last spring the 21 teachers' colleges in Maryland graduated only eight math teachers.

In Florida, the Department of Education estimates that its colleges will graduate only 20 math teachers annually over the next several years, while school systems in that state are going to need 325 math teachers a year.

Hard as it may be to believe, with unemployment in this country still higher than 10 percent, we face a potentially serious shortage of skilled workers.

Department of Labor projections of labor demand, supply and training capacity indicate that there will be shortfall of at least 2.5 million skilled workers in the U.S. this decade. Each year between now and 1990 we can expect a shortage of 57,500 industrial machinery repairmen, 28,000 computer operators, 21,300 machinists and 19,000 licensed practical nurses, to list but a few examples.

How can we overcome a shortage of skilled workers, though, when we have a critical and continuing shortage of adequately trained teachers in such important and basic fields as math and science?

The answer, of course, is that we cannot.

The typical U.S. high school student spends only a fraction of the time spent by students in the Soviet Union and Japan on math and science. Their curriculum in these areas last from four to six years and yields classroom time which is three times greater than that received by the most science-oriented U.S. student.

There is no question but what a shortage of qualified math and science teachers is the root of the problem.

The National Academy of Sciences has found, for example, that the number of states reporting math teacher shortages jumped from 28 in 1980 to 43 in 1981. In 1982 there were 40 states reporting shortages of physics teachers and 39 with shortages of chemistry teachers.

From 1971-80, according to the National Science Teachers Association, the number of new teachers for secondary level math fell 77 percent. The number of new science teachers being trained during this same period fell 65 percent. Almost five times more science and math teachers left teaching for higher paying jobs in private enterprise than left for retirement.

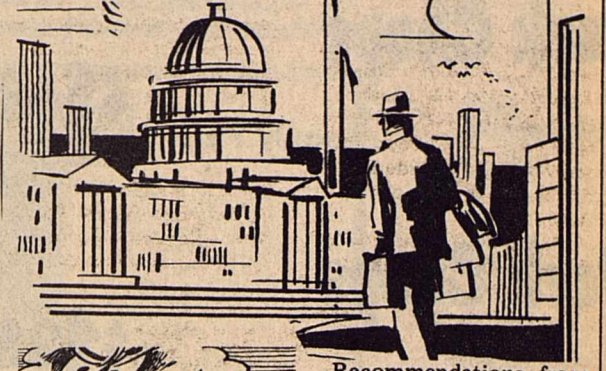

As a member of the Senate Finance Committee, I have introduced legislation to help eliminate this shortage.

My bill would provide a one-time $1,000 tax credit as a bonus to teachers who gain certification in either of these areas of study. This bonus could be claimed anytime during calendar years 1984-87.

Millions of high-paying, skilled jobs will be opening up in this country in the years ahead. We must provide teachers for Americans who wish to compete for those jobs.

FANCY THAT!

Experts point out that our Social Security system may be in financial trouble, but solving these problems need not require any reduction in present benefits.

INFLATION MAIL

Recommendations from the National Commission on Social Security Reform focus more on the future. The panel urges a six-month delay in the cost-of-living adjustment retirees are scheduled to get this July. Experts say this "penalty" will be smaller than the windfalls received by retirees in the 1970s when Congress over-adjusted benefits for inflation.

The panel also wants employees of nonprofit organizations and new civilian government workers to be brought into the system. In addition, the American Council of Life Insurance says long-term pressure on the system can be eased by increasing the amount people can save through Individual Retirement Accounts.
