FOUR MALE SUSPECTS BEING SOUGHT

Youth assaulted

According to Sonora Police Chief Brent Gesch, Zeke Ramos, the 17 year old son of Rudolfo Ramos Sr., is listed in Stable condition in Angelo Community Hospital following an incident involving four male suspects and Ramos Wednesday evening.

At 8:45 p.m. Wednesday Sonora Police Officer Mike House received a call from Sutton County Sheriff's Office Dispatcher Hodge advising him to check on a subject who had reportedly been assaulted and was lying on the roadway of the north frontage road about three fourths of a mile west of the Halliburton Services Yard.

Upon arrival at the scene, Officer House found Ramos laying on the northwest side of the frontage road. According to House, Ramos appeared to have been assaulted and had deep cuts on his front forehead, cuts under his left eye, cuts inside his mouth causing the mouth to bleed, and numerous other marks about his face and head.

Ramos was transported to Hudspeth Memorial Hospital by Sutton County EMS where he was treated and released.

At the scene of the incident, Ramos told Officer House that he and Pancho Galvan were riding their bicycles down the road when four male subjects in a yellow Chevrolet pickup passed them.

Ramos added that the pickup then turned around and came back and the occupants of the pickup then got out of the vehicle and began hitting Ramos with their fists and beating on him.

Galvan was able to flee the scene and call for help.

The description Ramos gave of his assailants was that two of the white males had mustaches, and one white male wore a green shirt and was of heavy build. Ramos stated that the latter male was also the driver of the pickup.

The pickup was described as a (possible) 1974 Chevrolet pickup, white top, yellow body, and a white roll bar behind the cab.

At the scene Ramos stated that he did not want to file any type of formal charges on his assailants.

However, at 9:50 p.m. Wednesday evening Officer House was contacted by Ramos' father who demanded that House go to the hospital and talk with the younger Ramos.

At 10 p.m. Ramos stated that he would file charges on his assailants but that he could not add any information to the investigation at that time.

After Ramos was taken to the hospital, Officer House talked with Galvan about the incident and was able to ascertain that the suspects' vehicle was last seen traveling west toward Ozona and that the license plates were possibly yellow with green letters and numbers.

All of the information gathered by Officer House was then forwarded to the Ozona Department of Public Safety and the Crockett County Sheriff's office.

A radio broadcast of the information was put out by the DPS Communications Station in Ozona and all available local units were advised of the suspects' vehicle.

On a lead from Galvan, Officer House contacted several convenience stores in Sonora and was able to locate a clerk who had been in contact with four male subjects matching the above descriptions.

It was then determined that the vehicle was a 1974 GMC of a light yellow color with a white top, white roll bar, and white bed rails.

The vehicle also had a light blue hood and was believed to have Arizona license plates, numbers unknown.

Suspect no. one was described as five feet, seven inches tall with a heavy build, a mustache, and a short beard. Believed to be in his late 20s or early 30s, the suspect was wearing a short-sleeved green shirt and blue jeans.

Suspect no. two was described as six feet tall with a medium build wearing a white felt hat with a short brim and red, white and blue hatband. He was reportedly wearing a white pullover shirt with red dots, blue jeans, and a trophy belt buckle with a bull.

Suspect no. three was described as being five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds with brown collar length hair and a mustache. He was wearing no shirt and no shoes and was reportedly right handed.

Suspect no. four was described as a 17 year old with long brown hair, combed to one side. He was reportedly wearing a blue and white striped shirt.

Monday morning Police Chief Gesch stated that any information about the case would be helpful and should be reported to the police department.

AT CITY COUNCIL MEETING AUGUST 16

Budget hearing set

BY CAROL JONES

The public hearing for the 1983-84 proposed budget for the city of Sonora was set for 9 a.m. Tuesday, August 16 during the regular meeting of the city council.

The review of the tax rate will be done at the same time according to the action taken by the council Tuesday, July 19.

In other action the council voted to put the historical Santa Fe Depot Building up for bids.

Alderman James Trainer made a motion to give area non-profit organizations 30 days to claim the building with the understanding that it would be moved from the premises.

Alderman Lemuel Lopez seconded the motion but withdrew that motion after much discussion among the councilmen. The motion died for lack of a second.

Alderman Lopez then made the motion to let out the depot for bids with the opening of bids at the next regular city council meeting and with the city reserving the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

Aldermen Lopez, Bill Keel, Matt Davenport, and Hershel Davenport voted for the motion with Alderman Trainer voting against.

During Tuesday's meeting the council also voted to lease lots 10, 11, and 12 in Block 21 to the Sonora Independent School District for a five year period at a rate of $1 per year. There will be a five year option attached to the five year lease. This is the property upon which the depot building sits.

Mario Sotelo and Carl Teaff, representatives from SISD explained to the council the need for a band practice field for the junior high band students and stated that if they were allowed to use the property for that, it would provide a better place for the students than having to bus students to the football field to practice.

Practice slated

The Sonora Mighty Bronco Band rehearsals will begin Monday, August 8 with all practices to be held in the band hall.

The schedule for the first week will be as follows:

Monday, August 8, 6-7 p.m.-woodwinds (flutes, clarinets, and saxes), 7-8 p.m.-all freshmen, 8-9 p.m.-brass and percussion.

Tuesday, August 9, 6-7 p.m.-woodwinds, 7-8 p.m.-everyone (full band), 8-9 p.m.-brass and percussion.

Wednesday, August 10, tentative, 11-12 noon-full band.

Thursday, August 11, 7:30-9:30 p.m.-full band. The schedule for the second week of rehearsals will be announced during the first week of practice.

AT RECORD $775 AVERAGE

Billies sell high

Seven-eight head of performance tested Angora billies sold for a record $775 average at the Third Annual Angora Billie Performance Test and Sale held at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Ranch on Highway 55 between Sonora and Rocksprings.

The new mark is $175 above the 1982 average and $227 above the 1981 sale average. The sale animals grossed $60,425.

The top indexing buck was consigned by Perry Bushong, Mountain Home, and purchased by Joe David Ross of Sonora, and Bob Childress of Ozona, for $2,000.

The high selling Angora billie was purchased by Juno Ranch Company of Sonora, for $2,150 and consigned by Fritz Kuebel, Jr. of Blanco.

Sixteen of the performance tested goats sold for more than $1,000 and 53 broke the 1982 sale average of $600.

Volume buyer was John Wade of Sonora, who took home eight lots for $5,900.

A total of 278 animals, also a test record, had been entered in the performance trial. The top 35 percent were sold sheared at the auction. Color slides were shown of each animal during the sale depicting their fleecing ability. Forty Angora breeders participated in the test by consigning animals.

"This performance test was undertaken to assist producers in identifying and developing more productive Angora goats," said Jack Groff, Texas Agricultural Extension Service sheep and goat specialist. "The program is intended to provide assistance to purebred and commercial producers. From the enthusiasm exhibited at this sale by the large attendance and active bidding, it appears our producers have much more confidence in their industry and the economy as a whole."

The test is conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System and the cooperating Angora breeders.

Derrick receives award

Howard Derrick of Eldorado was presented the Fred T. Earwood Memorial Award at the final session of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association's 68th annual convention in Kerrville Tuesday, July 19.

The convention was held Monday and Tuesday at the Inn of the Hill there.

Derrick, who ranches in Sutton, Schleicher, and San Saba counties, served as president of the TS&GRA in 1966-67; president of the American Sheep Producers Council, Denver Colorado, in 1975-77; and as chairman of the Lamb Promotion Coordinating Committee since 1977. The LPCC is made up of a representative, each from the United States, Australia, and New Zealand.

"It's an honor to be selected. There's a lot of other people who have contributed a lot," Derrick said of the award.

Derrick was raised in El Paso and graduated from Texas A&M University in College Station. He served in the U.S. Air Force for three years during World War II. In 1977, he was selected as Man of the Year by Progressive Farmer Magazine.

In addition to serving on two bank boards of directors, he is currently on the State Commission for the Texas Prosecutors Council.

He and his wife, Faye Dell, have two children, Linda Williams of Austin, and Gary Derrick of San Saba. They have three grandchildren.

The award, established by the family and friends of the late Fred T. Earwood of Sonora in 1969, is given annually to a person who exemplifies dedication and service to the sheep and goat industry.

Other awards presented on Tuesday included one to Patricia Hohensee of Paint Rock, who was named outstanding county extension agent, home economics. Mrs. Hohensee is an agent for Concho County.

Carl Effer, Kinney County Agent from Brackettville, was presented the award as outstanding county agricultural extension agent.

Receiving the outstanding news reporting award was Steve Kelton of the Livestock Weekly in San Angelo. James Hill of Novice received the Bryan Hunt Memorial Scholarship.

Street, James attend annual convention

President, Mike Street and manager Edith James of the Sonora Chamber of Commerce attended the annual meeting of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Executives (TCCCE) in Lubbock.

During the three-day event, program features included an address by Texas Secretary of State John Fainter and a videoconference presentation from Washington D.C. by Chamber of Commerce President Dr. Richard Lesher. Dr. Lauro Cavazos, president of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, also spoke to the delegates on the subject of the future of higher education in this decade and beyond.

Numerous workshop sessions highlighted aspects of chamber of commerce activities such as convention recruiting, publications, and membership cultivation.

Total cost of station reduced

The estimated cost of West Texas Utilities Co.'s Oklaunion Power Station, now under construction in North Texas, has been reduced by $127 million.

The announcement was made recently by Durwood Chalker of Dallas, chairman and chief executive officer of Central and South West Corp., WTU's parent company, at a presentation before the Utility and Telecommunications Securities Club of Chicago.

The reduced cost estimate results primarily from being able to negotiate better contracts in today's market with manufacturers and suppliers for practically all of the equipment needed for Oklaunion, Chalker said. The cost had been estimated at $525 million a year ago, but now is estimated at $395 million.

The Oklaunion Power Station will have a net generating capacity of 640 megawatts and will be the first power plant in WTU's system to burn coal as a boiler fuel. The plant is scheduled for completion in December 1986 and will be in full operation before the summer of 1987.

It will be owned jointly by WTU and two other CSW subsidiaries, Public Service Co. of Oklahoma and Central Power and Light Co. WTU will own 55 per cent of the plant and will be the operating partner.

Refund checks issued

Herman Moore, president of the Texas Mohair Producers Board, has announced that refund checks totalling approximately $240,000 have been mailed to mohair producers for dues paid on 1982 sales of mohair.

Individual checks were prepared for all producers who paid dues in 1982 and mailed to the local warehouses for distribution. The warehouses will confirm the check amounts and mail to the individual producer. Producers who do not receive a refund check but feel that one is due are asked to contact the Mohair Council of America at telephone number 915/655-3161 or to write to P.O. Box 5337, San Angelo, Texas, 76902, or their local warehouse.

These dues are being refunded because of the recent USDA referendum which authorized deductions from price support payments on mohair marketed from 1982 through 1985.

The payment deductions are authorized by Section 708 of the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended, and are used by the Mohair Council of America to finance advertising and promotion programs to encourage the sale and use of mohair and mohair products domestically and internationally.

The referendum passed by a big majority; in Texas it carried by 79.2 percent with those producers voting for owning 85 percent of the goats. Our Texas census shows the total Angora goat population to be approximately 1.1 million head, and 660,000 were represented in this referendum.

Fall gardening time at hand

Although there is still plenty of hot weather ahead, it's time to start getting things in shape for your fall vegetable garden.

Much of Texas is well suited for year-round gardening, and fall vegetables generally have better quality and flavor than those grown in the spring, says Dr. Sam Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Many popular warm-season vegetables such as tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, pole beans, potatoes, okra, cucumbers and squash can be planted during the coming weeks.

Also, the so-called "winter" vegetables such as broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, greens, parsley and carrots can be planted now for early harvesting. Later plantings of these cold-hardy crops will supply fresh vegetables well into winter.

What are some of the important aspects of fall gardening?

First of all, get the land into good shape, suggests Cotner. If you had a garden this spring and fertilizer was applied, little if any additional fertilizer will be needed before fall planting.

For new gardens, apply two to three pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-20-10 per 100 square feet and work it into the soil, recommends the horticulturist. If plants make slow growth, apply a light amount of fertilizer between rows and water it into the soil.

Adequate water is vital for a successful fall garden, particularly for seed germination and early plant growth. Cotner suggests "pre-irrigation" before planting followed by subsequent, light waterings three or four times a week to keep soil from drying and crusting. Water stress during early growth of plants can reduce later yields.

Transplanting is a good practice in the fall since this allows seed to be started in areas sheltered from high temperatures and drying winds. Check at garden centers for recommended varieties of vegetables and strong, vigorous, healthy plants. Or you may want to grow your own transplants, notes the horticulturist.

The New York Herald was founded by James Gordon Bennett in 1835. Although many criticized him for "sensationalism," Bennett is credited with new journalistic techniques and became a highly regarded editor.

Seminar slated

The Permian Basin Petroleum Association is sponsoring a seminar on the new drilling permit application procedure August 16 in Midland.

The seminar, presented by two members of the Texas Civic Railroad Commission staff in Austin, will be at the Midland Civic Center and will begin at 1:30.

For more information and reservations, call the Permian Basin Petroleum Association in Midland, or write us at, P.O. Box 132, Midland, Texas 79702.

In the summer meeting of the 13 members of OPEC, the organization decided to keep the benchmark price and production figures the same as they are now...$29 a barrel and 17.5 million barrels a day.

If the production figure holds and demand doesn't increase or decrease significantly, the price should be stable for several months. The next OPEC meeting is scheduled for December seventh.

In other news, Phillips Petroleum says it plans to increase the ratio of U.S. to foreign oil reserves. Currently, about 55 percent of Phillips' liquid reserves are in the U.S. Phillips' President, C.J. Silas, says in most areas of the country, drilling costs are down about 40 percent from the 1982 levels.

In the Permian Basin the rig count for this week is 213. Last week it was 216. One year ago it was 287.

Scheme king arrested

D.C. Strader, Postal Inspector in Charge, Fort Worth, and Edward C. Prado, United States Attorney for the Western District of Texas, San Antonio, announced that Allen Louis Chavis, age 45, San Antonio, TX, and Lambert Daniel Slisz, age 43, New Braunfels, TX, were arrested on July 19, 1983, after a Federal Grand Jury at San Antonio returned a 20-count indictment against the two men on Monday, July 18, charging them with mail fraud.

Chavis was arrested by Postal Inspectors at San Antonio and Slisz was arrested by Postal Inspectors at New Braunfels. According to Assistant United States Attorney Mitchell Weidenbach, who is representing the Government in this case, Chavis and Slisz made an initial appearance before U.S. Magistrate Jamie C. Boyd who set bond at $100,000 for Chavis and $50,000 for Slisz. Both are in custody in lieu of bond. The indictment, which is the result of a lengthy investigation conducted by Postal Inspectors, charges that between 1978 and now, Chavis and Slisz, together doing business as Homeworkers Job Opportunities (HJO), New Braunfels, TX; and the American Fidelity Company (AMFICO), New Braunfels, TX, used the mail to defraud people who were seeking employment addressing envelopes at home.

It is alleged by the indictment that the defendants induced victims to send a deposit/application fee to their firms in order to earn a specified income, knowing the representations and promises made in literature mailed to victims were false. After payment of the initial fee, homeworkers learned there were additional expenses required in order to participate.

Slisz was charged with 7 counts of mail fraud and Chavis was charged in all 20 counts.

In addition to operating HJO and AMFICO with Slisz, Chavis was also charged with operating other work-at-home promotions under the following names: American Association of Home Income Programs (AAHIP) San Antonio, The American Home Income Association (AHIA) San Antonio, Bond Industries/CPP (Bond) Kendalia, Financial Advisors Services San Antonio, Consolidated Industries San Antonio, and Keystone Homeworkers Program, a Division of Wealthco San Antonio.

Promotions operated by Chavis and Slisz have been the subject of civil actions taken by the U.S. Postal Service in the past. In 1980, False Representation Orders were issued against AAHIP, FAS, and Consolidated Reliance Agency, San Antonio, TX. HJO was the subject of a FRO in February, 1981. Tri-Co, Boerne, TX, which was operated by Chavis, was discontinued by a FRO in March, 1981. In March and October, 1982, FROs were issued against AHIA and Bond.

Strader explained that false representation orders are civil actions which forbid the postmasters at the offices of address from delivering mail to the addresses. They are issued by an administrative law judge after presentation of evidence which indicates false representations are being made to induce victims to send money through the mail to order products, programs, or services. Chavis' work-at-home promotions have also been the subject of civil actions brought by Attorneys General of several states for allegedly violating their state deceptive trade practices statutes. If convicted, the defendants could face up to five years imprisonment and/or a fine up to $1,000 for each count of the indictment.

Our children have always been our most valuable resource, and our commitment to them will determine not only their future, but indeed, the future of our Nation.

In the summer of 1981, the National Commission on Excellence in Education was created by the President. Its membership was chosen to be broadly representative of the many groups involved with education. For eighteen months this group devoted considerable time and study to a thorough appraisal of the American educational system and prepared a report for the President and the American people on the quality of education in this country today.

Their conclusions are in and we must accept that our once unchallenged preeminence is being overtaken by competitors throughout the world. The educational foundations of our society must meet the challenges of tomorrow.

I commend the President for commissioning and publicizing the report, which serves to focus national attention toward addressing and resolving our educational needs as quickly as possible.

A sampling of some of the statistics from the report reveals the critical need for debate and ultimate resolution:

Scholastic Aptitude Test scores indicate a consistent decline from 1963 to 1980, with average verbal scores falling over 50 points and average mathematical scores falling nearly 40 points;

Twenty-three million American adults are functionally illiterate according to the simplest tests of everyday reading, writing, and comprehension.

Thirteen percent of all 17-year olds in this country can also be considered functionally illiterate;

And, colleges, the military, and businesses often-times must offer remedial education programs in such basic skills as reading, writing, spelling, and computation.

To address the decline in standards, the Commission has made recommendations in four major areas. First: back to the basics. It is recommended that all students seeking a high school diploma be required to lay a foundation in a specified number of courses including English, math, science, social studies, and computer science. Second: schools, colleges, and universities should adopt more rigorous and measurable standards for academic performance and student conduct. Third: more time—either a longer school day or a lengthened school year—should be devoted to the basic subjects. Fourth: increased salaries, standards and incentives should be designed to attract and keep outstanding teachers in the profession. In addition, the Commission noted that while all levels of government—local, State and Federal—have responsibilities in addressing the educational challenge, the primary responsibility is and should be at the State and local levels.

I believe that the Commission's recommendations for improving educational quality provide an excellent foundation for debate. For each of us, representing all walks of life, it is our responsibility as concerned citizens to participate in this debate in order that appropriate solutions may be found. It is our foremost responsibility to make certain that our children's education will give a lifetime return to them—and to our Nation.

Rural course announced

Individuals interested in learning about rural appraising can register for a weeklong course at Sam Houston State University this summer.

"Basic Principles of Rural Appraising," a comprehensive introductory course will be offered August 14-20. The course is a cooperative venture between Sam Houston University and Texas A&M University, with participants eligible for continuing education units from Texas A&M.

"The course is designed to give beginning appraisers some basics in rural appraising," says Dr. James Ahrenholz, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, who is coordinating the course.

Included are such topics as "Principles of Real Estate Value," "Area and Neighborhood Analysis," "Site Analysis and Evaluation," "Soils and Appraising," "Field Procedures" and "Administration, Legal and Ethical Considerations."

"This course is approved by the Texas Real Estate Commission for educational requirements toward licensing and by the Board of Tax Examiners toward professional accreditation," notes Ahrenholz. "It also is approved for credit toward Accredited Rural Appraiser (ARA) designation."

Fee for the course is $100 and includes all course materials.

Additional information or application forms are available from Paula Tallant, Scheduling and Service Office, Rudder Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, TX 77843; (409/845-1311). Registration will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

Capital Update

by Senator John Tower

One of the most interesting trends in international trade today is a resurgence of barter—trading goods and services without exchanging money—as a means of doing business.

Both nations and private industries are finding this method helps stimulate trade to the benefits of all parties involved. For example, Chrysler is trading trucks for Jamaican bauxite. A number of Third World nations are trading various materials for food.

The approach makes sense. We in the United States have large and growing surpluses of agricultural goods. Yet, many nations in the world need to import food, but have trouble finding ways to pay for it.

At the same time, the United States National Defense Stockpile is sorely in need of rebuilding. This stockpile of 61 materials, primarily minerals not found in the U.S., is designed to prevent disruption of our defense manufacturing capability in case of national emergency or supply interruptions. To completely provide the desirable levels of these stockpiled materials would cost about $10 billion.

I plan to introduce legislation which would make it possible for us to trade our surplus agricultural commodities for these strategic materials—many of which are produced in Third World nations. This program would make it possible for us to help alleviate world hunger at the same time we obtain materials which we need.

Experience has shown us this exchange is workable. Between 1950 and 1973, the U.S. engaged in just this kind of barter trade. Between 1950 and 1969, for instance, the United States acquired through barter from Turkey alone strategic materials, such as chrome, worth nearly $1.7 billion.

The U.S. dropped these programs because our stockpile needs changed, Commodity Credit Corporation inventories were depleted, and the legislative authority was restricted.

However, our current agriculture surpluses and stockpile needs, and the food needs of many Third World nations, seem to warrant a revival of this system. My bill would remove the legislative barriers to multilateral trading, allow involvement of U.S. trading companies, and inject safeguards to make certain that agreements do not displace cash sales of U.S. agricultural

Perennial plants useful

Perennial plants, those that grow from year to year, can be a highly useful and attractive addition to the home landscape, says a landscape horticulturist.

Dr. William C. Welch, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says the landscaping potential of perennials is often overlooked by today's gardeners and nurserymen. However, he cites their lack of availability as a possible problem.

Common perennials include bearded iris, garden mums and spring flowering bulbs.

"Most perennials are easily propagated by division, seed, or cuttings which many gardeners will gladly share if asked," he notes.

Division is an important cultural requirement of many perennials. They often persist for many years but will slowly lose their vigor without occasional thinnings.

Divide and reset spring and summer flowering plants in the late summer or fall. These include iris, daylilies, penstemon, phlox, and coreopsis. Fall flowering plants such as asters, chrysanthemums and physostegia respond best when divided in the early spring.

Some species only need dividing every three to five years while others respond favorably to an annual division, says Welch.

Many perennials tolerate relatively poor growing conditions but respond favorably to well-prepared planting areas containing high amounts of organic matter and moderately high fertility rates.

"Notice which species grow well in your vicinity," says Welch. "Some of these plants have been hand down for several generations and are interesting from a historical viewpoint. Many herbs are perennials and offer still another dimension to the home landscape."

The planet, Uranus, nearly came to be named Herschel - for its discoverer, Friedrich Wilhelm Herschel.

Small business is the key to economic growth and development in Texas. In fact, 80 percent of all working Texans are employed by small business—with the average firm consisting of about 12 people.

Thus, small business is also the key to federal efforts to spur continued economic growth. One highly successful program designed to accomplish this goal is the Certified Development Corporation, which blends federally guaranteed loans with private financing to help small businesses expand.

A Certified Development Corporation can be formed on a local, regional or statewide basis. It includes representation from government, private lending institutions, community organizations and business organizations. Currently there are 20 such corporations in Texas, located in Mount Pleasant, Abilene, Brownsville, Lubbock, Belton, Jasper, Kilgore, Corsicana, Fort Worth, Garland, Houston, Trenton, Brownwood, Waco, Cedar Park, Amarillo, Trinity, San Antonio and El Paso.

Once the corporation has been certified by the Small Business Administration, it can begin making loans financed by 100 percent-guaranteed SBA debentures.

A business applying for such a loan for fixed assets must provide 10 percent of the investment package and obtain financing for another 50 percent from a commercial lending institution. The remaining 40 percent, up to $500,000, can come from the Certified Development Corporation.

For the business, there are two advantages to the Certified Development Corporation loan. It carries a favorable interest rate, and, perhaps even more important, it is for an extended period of time—up to 25 years. This kind of long-term financing often is difficult for small businesses to obtain from commercial lending institutions. Additionally, the existence of the Certified Development Corporation loan makes the venture much more attractive to commercial lenders.

This kind of partnership between public and private resources can provide real growth to a region, while using limited federal resources in the most effective manner possible. This should be the goal of all federal economic programs.

I applaud the Certified Community Development Corporations already serving areas of Texas, and would urge other areas to use this valuable economic development tool. I will be glad to provide assistance to anyone interested in more information about these corporations.

FACTS & FIGURES

The federal excise tax on spirits is a heavy regressive tax burden on consumers and the industry. Together with state and local levies on spirits, excise taxes amount to 44 percent of the typical retail price of a bottle of spirits—25 percent federal, 19 percent state and local. Liquor is thus the most highly taxed consumer product.

Across the country, state and local revenue per gallon of spirits has risen by 121 percent since 1951, say the experts at the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States, Inc. (DISCUS), the trade association of the distilled spirits industry. The tax on distilled spirits remains the highest of all excise taxes.

Despite popular belief, spirits are not just the drink of the rich. It is estimated that roughly half of spirits users have incomes below $20,000.

By Jerry Lackey

SPECIAL TO SONORA

Although a number of economic indicators seem to be heralding a gradual business recovery across the nation, here in West Texas we are hoping the recession is bottoming out.

Our region has experienced heavy layoffs in recent months. Here in Sonora Halliburton Services laid off about 10 percent of its Sonora staff due to the sagging oil economy. Delta Drilling Co. of Tyler laid off eight employees at its Midland office.

Other West Texas cities are seeing layoffs as well. In Big Spring, Oilfield Industrial Lines laid off 86 employees in what company officials described as a manufacturing plan revision.

Texas Instruments let over 700 employees go in Abilene and Lubbock recently. An oversupply of home computers on the market was the reason on given.

Jobless rate in Odessa rose from 9.4 percent in April to 9.7 in May, an all time high for that city. A year ago in May the rate was 4.9 percent. In Midland unemployment increased from 5.6 percent to 5.7 percent in May, according to preliminary figures released by the Texas Employment Commission. A year ago in May, Midland's figure stood at 4.8 percent.

The Abilene unemployment rate made a gradual drop to 5.0 percent in May from 5.2 percent recorded in both May 1982 and April 1983. San Angelo's unemployment figure remained the same in May as it was in April, standing at 5.1 percent, placing it fifth lowest in the state.

Keep in mind, our figures are based on May and does not take into account the summer student employment either parttime or full-time summer.

Generally, West Texas main economic indicators are determined by agri-business. And those climates are judged by the condition of the land...if it has rained or not. Central Texas is in good shape despite the hot July days. But west from Big Lake and Rankin a drought is in progress unmatched by any dry spell since the seven years of the 1950's.

Tommy Owens, who ranches in Regan and Upton counties, has made national TV telling the drought story of some West Texas counties.

"The area is so dry that if a grasshopper had to cross the county, he'd better pack a sack lunch," adds Kent Powell of Rankin.

Agriculture continues to be an industry suffering not only regionally but nationally. Weak commodity prices, flagging exports of farm products and still-burdensome interest rates are expected to continue to afflict West Texas and U.S. farmers.

Hardest hit in the supply industry is the farm equipment makers, which entered 1983 operating at about 35 percent of capacity. Tractor sales plunged 25 percent last year while combines fell about 43 percent.

Economic diversity has kept such cities as San Angelo from suffering serious recession woes. Other cities and towns in the 60 county area that spans the coverage territory our magazine covers are not so lucky.

Baby goats are able to climb mountains a few hours after being born.

Senator Bentsen introduces bill facilities built or in other ways determined by the state and local governments involved.

"Half the money would be used as a direct interest rate subsidy of 50 percent for qualified state and local projects. Half would be used as seed money on a 40 percent federal and 60 percent state/local matching basis," Bentsen said in Senate remarks accompanying his legislation.

"These two methods of financing could generate as much as $80 billion in infrastructure investment in the first year."

The Bentsen bill would establish a National Infrastructure Commission and infrastructure banks in each of the 50 states. The commission would insure that the individual banks are established in accordance with terms of the law. Each bank, for example, must require repayment of the federal funds.

The Secretary of the Treasury would apportion program funds to the states under a formula based partially on population growth between 1950 and 1980 and partially on population as of 1980.

"The current condition of public works and specific investment requirements vary dramatically from community to community, state to state and region to region. Some areas are in need of a one-time infusion of catch-up capital to make good on decades of under investment. Other areas are having difficulty staying even with rapid rates of growth," Bentsen said.

"Clearly, the priorities for spending on basic facilities can best be established by state and local governments; and my legislation recognizes and accepts that fact."

"The Congressional Budget Office has estimated that we should be spending $53 billion a year for the rest of this decade to maintain and improve America's basic facilities," Bentsen said.

"That is a great deal of money by any standard. The only way we can even hope to approach that mark is for the federal government to facilitate the acquisition of low cost financing and provide the impetus for state and local governments to initiate infrastructure projects," Senator Bentsen said.

Condra, Esche to attend sessions

Gifted and talented youths from 53 Texas cities and two other states participated in the first session of the third annual "Shake Hands With Your Future" at Texas Tech University in June.

The summer enrichment program exposes young students to advanced learning and living in a college setting. Courses in math, computers, sciences, medicine, law, fine arts, creative writing, engineering, philosophy, leadership and time and money management are taught primarily by faculty of the university and the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center.

Supplementary activities include field trips, lectures, counseling-communication sessions, mentor sessions, recreation and social activities suited to the particular age group.

Session I (June 12-25), designed for youths, ages 10-15, drew 149 students, mostly from throughout Texas with one each from Missouri and Louisiana. Selection was based on high performance on achievement tests, high IQ and creative or exceptional skills.

Participants included Justin Stanley Condra, son of Jimmy and Diana Condra, and Mark Allen Esche, son of Victor and Ruth Esche, both of Sonora.

McMullen lived on the Aldwell Ranch from 1940 until 1956.

He married Neomia Collard January 14, 1927 and was a member of the First Methodist Church of Oglesby.

Completion of unit reported

ENSTAR Corporation reported recently construction of a third processing unit has been completed at the Badak liquefied natural gas (LNG) plant in East Kalimantan, Indonesia. LNG from the new unit is currently being directed to the plant's storage units, from which it will be loaded into tankers for shipment to utility and industrial customers in Japan.

The plant is owned by Pertamina, the Indonesian state oil enterprise. Through a subsidiary, ENSTAR has a 15.625 percent interest in a joint venture which supplies natural gas to the LNG plant. In 1982, 45 percent of ENSTAR's revenues and 84 percent of operating profit (earnings before interest, taxes, corporate overhead and minority interests) were generated by its interest in the Indonesian joint venture.

The newly completed processing unit is one of two expected to be finished in 1983. The other is scheduled to be completed by this October. Two similar units have operated since the plant opened in 1977, however one of the original units was rendered inoperative in April 1983 following the rupture of a cryogenic exchanger. The damaged unit is expected to be back in operation at a reduced capacity by this November, making temporary use of a smaller cryogenic exchanger which was already in Indonesia at the time of the accident. A permanent replacement will be installed in 1984.

In addition to its Indonesia operations, ENSTAR Corporation is active in domestic oil and gas operations, natural gas transmission and distributions in Alaska, and engineering and construction of oil and gas processing facilities.

A car that shifts manually has been estimated to get an average of two miles more per gallon of gas than a car with automatic shift.

Ranchers to meet in San Angelo

Southwestern ranchers are selling their wildlife enterprises short, believes a county agricultural Extension agent headquartered in one of Texas' most densely populated white-tail deer areas.

Duery Menzies, Fredricksburg, will discuss the importance of wildlife marketing during wildlife concurrent sessions of the International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) at the San Angelo Convention Center beginning August 1. Registration and program information is available through the San Angelo Convention Bureau (915/653-1206).

Menzies says wildlife marketing is a very new field, one many ranchers must become accustomed to working in. He points out, furthermore, that wildlife management, itself, is such a new field that ranchers are just beginning to practice good management techniques.

He maintains that it makes little rationale for ranchers to develop an excellent outdoor experience for hunters and not market that opportunity. Menzies compares that ideology with developing a premier herd of breeding cattle only to sell them for market prices at the nearest commercial auction barn.

The IRR speaker says wildlife remains the one area in which a rancher has a marketable product such as wildlife, take the extra step to market it; otherwise, be prepared to accept what the marketplace will pay, he warns.

Wildlife marketing is not as much selling a product as it is furnishing the means to an outdoor adventure, Menzies says. In wildlife marketing, the rancher is selling or offering an experience. Since all hunters have dreams, anticipation, hope and exciting past experiences of hunting prowess, these thoughts in their mind become reality on the hunting lease.

Ranchers, he stresses, have the rights to make management decisions that affect the hunter's harvest and enjoyment, which is just another form of marketing.

Menzies suggests that when advertising of hunting leases is done, that it be directed to the market one wishes to draw from or the type of people a rancher wants to attract to his ranch. A rancher desiring to lease to doctors or lawyers should, for example, advertise in their respective professional journals. City newspapers are a reliable source for reaching urban area hunters.

Word of mouth continues to be the best advertising asset available to ranchers and landowners, Menzies stresses. Word passes quickly through hunting circles which ranchers do their best to attract hunters and strive for repeat customers.

Bow hunters, photographers, back-packers and artists have their own publications and are fairly easy to reach. The latter three groups seldom hunt to harvest wildlife, but are persons avid to capture the spirit and beauty of wildlife on film, canvas or simply enjoying seclusion with nature. These groups represent markets virtually untapped, he notes.

Negotiating hunting fees, hunter services, hunter relations and wildlife harvest methods will be discussed during this sequence about wildlife product marketing at the IRR. Each session will be repeated for the participants' convenience.

Transactions call for bookkeeping

Taxpayers who buy and sell gold and silver or other precious metals, either occasionally or as dealers, should keep accurate records of the transactions, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The profit made by an individual, other than a dealer, on sales of precious metals is considered a capital gain and is reported on schedule D of Form 1040. Dealers treat profits as ordinary income.

The value of numismatic items, such as gold and silver coins, is based on their age, history, art, condition, rareness, metal content and face value. The value of bullion gold and silver or other precious metal, which is generally purchased as a speculative interest, is dependent upon the fluctuation of precious metal prices on the world money market.

Taxpayers needing further information on the sale of gold, silver and other precious metal items and their tax treatment should call the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the telephone directory. Taxpayers who purchased precious metals and sold them at a loss also can obtain information from the IRS on how to treat the loss.

Take time to check earnings

People in the San Angelo area who receive social security checks and who also work should take time to check their earnings, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security District Manager in San Angelo, said recently.

Those who earlier estimated their 1983 earnings would not exceed the annual limit should check to make sure they have not earned more than they anticipated, Upp said. The 1983 annual limit is $6,600 for people 65-70 and $4,920 for people under 65 all of 1983.

If person's annual earnings exceed the limit, $1 in social security benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the limit. A person will have to repay any benefits that were incorrectly paid.

If a person finds that he or she is earning more or less than expected, he or she should notify Social Security immediately so that benefits can be adjusted and an overpayment avoided.

If a person's earnings are less than expected, benefits may be restarted if they had been stopped.

More information about the annual earnings test can be obtained at the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Production rate set

The Railroad Commission recently set the Texas oil production rate for August 1983 at the market demand factor of 100 percent for the 78th month in a row and the 134th time since the Commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

Chairman Mack Wallace and Commissioner Jim Nugent directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in August totaling 2,454,718 barrels per day, an increase of 629 barrels daily when compared with July buyer requests. August 1982 nominations totaled 2,474,041 barrels daily.

Next month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 2,893,959 b/d with actual production estimated at 2,355 million b/d. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production in August 1982 was 2,359,564 barrels daily.

Wallace reported that August 1983 nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 18,878,070 Mcf/d (thousand cubic feet per day), gas nominations for July amounted to 18,777,756 Mcf/d. August 1982 gas nominations totaled 22,022,381 Mcf/d.

The next statewide oil and gas hearing will be held Thursday, August 18, at 9 a.m. in Room 107 of the Railroad Commission headquarters building in Austin at 1124 S. IH 35.

Major purchasers filed these floor nominations for Texas oil in August: Amoco Productio Co., 165,000 barrels daily, down 2,000 from the previous month; Chevron U.S.A. Inc., 42,650, unchanged; Citgo Petroleum Corp., 74,000, unchanged; Conoco, 64,000, up 4,000; Exxon, 275,200, down 1,500; Gulf Oil, 103,000, unchanged; Mobil, 172,000, down 2,400; Phillips Petroleum, 72,100, up 100; Shell Oil, 162,000, down 800; Texaco, 88,000, down 1,000.

Significant changes in August nominations were submitted in writing by these purchasers of Texas crude oil:

American Petrofina co. of Tex. 13,600, down 1,500; Greer Tank Trucks, Inc., 8,910, down 1,112; JM Petroleum Corp., 31,277, up 1,702; Matador Pipelines of Texas, Inc., 68,251, down 1,432; P & O Falco, Inc., 18,114, up 1,196; Sun Refining & Marketing Company, 87,725, up 10,900; Tesoro Company, 34,508, down 1,009.

Chairman Wallace reported that crude oil and petroleum products imported into the U.S. averaged 4,891,000 barrels daily for the four weeks ending July 1, down 381,000 barrels from the same period a year earlier.

RRC ranks Texas high

An annual evaluation conducted by the federal Office of Surface Mining ranks Texas among five states with the best coal mining regulatory programs. Other states included in the top group were Montana, Missouri, Louisiana, and Colorado.

The Railroad Commission is the state agency in Texas responsible for regulating surface mining for coal under federal standards. The Commission's Surface Mining and Reclamation Division developed the first surface mining regulatory program in the nation to be certified by OSM.

In a report sent to Congress recently, OSM praised the Commission "for its professionalism in carrying out the various elements of the approved state program." OSM's Tulsa field office director added in an accompanying letter that "the overall excellent compliance of mining operations is assured by the Surface Mining and Reclamation Division's active inspection program."

Noting an exceptionally high degree of compliance with regulations by Texas surface coal mine operations, OSM said the results could be attributed to the proficiency and good management practices of the Railroad Commission.

Through its Surface Mining and Reclamation Division, the Railroad Commission also regulates uranium mining and will begin regulating iron ore gravel mining in September under new authority granted by the legislature in the recent session.

Results reported

Roger Chapman, president of Chapman Energy, Inc. (NASDAQ symbol CHPN) recently announced that Chapman's McKee #1 well in the Peveo Field, Orange County, Texas is now on-stream producing 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas and 180 barrels of condensate per day with a flowing tubing pressure of 5600 pounds.

Chapman said, "this well alone should generate in excess of $40,000 per month net income to the company." He also disclosed plans to begin drilling the next two Peveo offset wells, the #1 Heard and the #1 Malone immediately.

David Keener, executive vice president of Chapman, also announced that Chapman has drilled 14 shallow wells in its Tarver Prospect in Eastland County, Texas.

The wells, drilled to a depth of approximately 1100 ft. are currently producing 160 barrels of oil per day. "Chapman will drill another 8 to 10 wells in the field within the next 120 days," said Keener.

"This is prolific little field and we have 160 acres in the prospect." Keener added, "We believe that secondary recovery through water flooding could be two to three times the primary recovery amounts because the field is currently a low gas pressure drive. We will begin water injection very shortly."

Chapman has 100 percent working interest in the Tarver Prospect before total payout and a 25 percent working interest after payout.

April production told

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace has announced that Texas oil and gas well produced 439,716,283 Mcf of gas in April, down 14.53 percent from field runs a year earlier. That brings the total gas production for the year to date to 1,822,436,927 Mcf of gas.

Marketed gas production in April totaled 359,407,312 Mcf and reflected a 16.82 percent decrease from the April 1982 volume. Marketed production is the total gas to transmission lines and for carbon black, plant fuel and lease use.

In March 1983, Texas wells produced 452,822,019 Mcf of gas. Marketed gas production in March totaled 374,065,184 Mcf. March exports of Texas-produced gas totaled 151,310,472 Mcf.

"Octoberfest" set

Older Texans looking for a fun-filled fall "getaway" that will stretch their dollars and their minds, need not look any further than Brownwood.

Each fall and spring the Texas Agricultural Extension Service sponsors camps for Texans over 55 at the State 4-H Center in Brownwood.

"It's the best learning bargain around," says Judith Warren, family life education-aging specialist with the Extension Service. For $68.50, older Texans can enjoy three days and nights of fun-filled activities and learning experiences in natural surroundings, but with all the modern conveniences.

This fall, five Extension "Octoberfests" are scheduled for October 4-7, 11-14, 18-21, and November 1-4.

According to Warren, the Octoberfest will include feature presentations on nutrition needs and weight control, bird watching, quilting by the square and arm-chair travel.

Each Octoberfest session will also offer a variety of "how-to" learning experiences. Some of the offerings include fishing lures that work, leathercrafting, candle-wicking, cake decorating, painting and chair-caning.

Unlimited recreation including cards and table games, tennis, canoeing, horseshoes and volleyball, and boat rides will be available to campers.

Social activities such as sing alongs, dances and even a talent show are also scheduled.

Since each Octoberfest session is limited to about 100 participants, Warren suggests that Older Texans contact their county Extension agent for details now.
