County fete planned tomorrow

BY CAROL JONES

Thursday, July 25 from 4 until 6 p.m. you will get a chance to see the new building on the corner across from the post office.

The Sutton County Commissioners' Court will host an open house and ribbon cutting for the newly constructed courthouse annex and the newly remodeled original building.

The building was built in 1891 on the courthouse square which was donated by R.W. Callahan to the city of Sonora and the county.

Sutton County was actually created in 1887 from Crockett County and was named after Lt. Col. John S. Sutton of the 7th Texas Cavalry of the Confederate States of America.

There was a struggle between Winkler's Well and Sonora for the position of county seat. According to historical records, Winkler's Well was already better situated, had superior terrain, a greater potential for development in its area, and a dependable water supply.

However in early 1889 a water well was drilled on the courthouse square which solved Sonora's water problem. At about the same time Charlie Adams, credited as the founder of Sonora, and some of his associates began to give lots to anyone who would build on it.

Each home that was built meant more voters for Sonora as county seat and in the election of 1890, Sonora was granted that privilege.

Winkler's Well, which had changed its name to Wentworth in an apparent attempt to gain support of P.A. Wentworth owner of the Ft. Terrett Ranch, slowly vanished and was gone by the early 1900's.

The following is a summary of what Sutton County is all about now, in 1985.

NEW BUSINESS OPENS

Texaco station opens

The new Texaco station on Highway 277 North officially opened last Tuesday afternoon with a Chamber of Commerce ribbon cutting at 5 p.m.

The local manager is Jackie Wallace and the area retail sales manager is Roy Pirtle of Fort Stockton.

The station is owned by Rio Grande Distributors, Inc., which is a Texas corporation organized in March, 1979. Officers of the corporation include Jerry L. Smith, president; Raymond T. Holstein, vice-president; S.D. Harrison, vice-president; and Jonell Brandon, secretary-treasurer. Joe B. Luttrell is the local manager of the Texaco Wholesale Plant in Sonora which the corporation has owned and operated since June, 1979.

Rio Grande Distributors, Inc. is the authorized distributor for Texaco covering 13 counties.

The new gasoline outlet in Sonora is an adaptation of the new Texaco design systems 2000 stations. Texaco has constructed over 800 of these new design stations throughout the United States, most of which are in the larger metropolitan areas.

This is one of the first units of this design constructed in West Texas outside the large cities.

Some of the features of the station other than the newest gasoline dispensing equipment include serve-yourself soft ice cream, Chilly Willie slush drinks, fountain drinks and other conventional travelers' needs.

On hand for the ribbon cutting Tuesday were Jody Luttrell, Beatrice Ramirez, Ella Longoria, Roy Pirtle, Earnest Lykins, A.W. Bishop, Roberta James, Preston Love, Carol Jones, Mary Huckaby, Jackie Wallace, Joe B. Luttrell, and Edith James.

City adopts ordinance

An ordinance was passed by the Sonora City Council July 16 specifying uses of the Hotel Occupancy Tax which is set at four (4) percent, the maximum allowed by state law.

The monies from the taxes, collected by the city and then dispensed to the Sonora Chamber of Commerce, may be used for:

(1) Advertising for general promotional and tourist advertising of the city and its vicinity and conducting a solicitation and operating programs to attract conventions and visitors;

(2) the encouragement, promotion, improvement, and application of the arts, including music (instrumental and vocal), dance, drama, folk art, creative writing, architecture, design and allied fields, painting, sculptures, photography, graphic and craft arts, motion pictures, television, radio, tape and sound recording, and the arts related to the presentation, performance, execution and exhibition of these major art forms;

(3) historical preservation and restoration projects or activities in the city that would be frequented by tourists and visitors to the city.

Joe David Ross, owner and operator of Devil's River Motel, was present to protest the collection of the tax as well as the past usage of these monies by the chamber, saying that he had assumed the taxes would only be used for advertising outside of Sutton County.

Ross stated "two years ago when the city passed the hotel occupancy tax, he and the other motel owners agreed to collect the tax 'Under Protest'." Ross added, "we are still continuing to collect it 'Under Protest'."

"When the ordinance was passed two years ago, the chamber did not have a plan for spending the money, and as of this meeting there are still no definite plans for spending it."

Ross went on to say that the taxes were originally for letting tourists help pay for tourist attractions such as a convention center or river walk if a bond issue had been passed by the city to build such a project. The state law was adopted for the purpose of advertising and promoting cities in Texas to tourists.

Under the new ordinance funds will be available for

Celebration plans outlined

The Chamber of Commerce and Sutton County Days Association will again co-sponsor the Sutton County Days Celebration to be held August 22-24, which will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday with the exception of the Parade and Barbecue which will be held Friday afternoon.

All chairpersons have been contacted and are in the process of working with their respective events.

The celebration will be held on the Courthouse Lawn again this year, and we appreciate the County Judge and Commissioners Court granting this request. Out of town visitors enjoy coming to Sonora for this occasion because of the shade trees and availability of all events taking place within a small area.

Notices of special events will be in The Devil's River News and The Community Weekly in coming weeks. For more information call the Chamber of Commerce office at 387-2880.

There will be two nights of rodeo and dances with Kim Allen and her band from San Antonio performing on Friday night and Bob Blandford and the Rodeo Men playing on Saturday.

We look forward to a great Sutton County Days [See CELEBRATION page 9]

State aid to schools up

State aid to local schools increased by $1 billion last year to a total of $4.6 billion. To pay for it, the special session of the legislature last summer enacted the largest tax bill in the state's history.

Not to be outdone, school trustees in the 1,068 local districts levied the largest school property tax increase in history--$519 million--for a total tax bill of $4.1 billion.

Locally, the Sonora's ISD's tax levy was increased by 78 percent for 1984-85 as compared to a 14.3 percent increase for the average school district in Texas.

The figures come from the latest issue of Beach Marks for 1985-86 School District Budgets in Texas, an annual publication of the Texas Research League, an Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

School budgets adopted last year called for spending $3,103 per student for current operations. Sonora ISD's budgets provided for $3446.96 per students based on the 1258 students in average daily attendance in 1983-84.

Four of each five of these dollars were spent for salaries. Statewide, payroll expense averaged $2,487 per student, as compared to $2607 in Sonora. Payroll expense is a combination of salary levels and staffing patterns.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Sonora ISD in 1983-84 was $20,598. The average among all school districts in Texas was $20,117 per classroom teacher.

There was an average of one teacher for 15 students in Sonora ISD compared to a statewide pupil-teacher ratio of 1 to 16.2. Because of small classes, especially at the high school level, and abbreviated teaching schedules, many classes have more than the average number of students. The new law requires no more than 22 students in kindergarten, first, or second grade classes next year.

School property tax rates in 1984-85 average $0.622 per $100 of market value (selling price). The school tax on property selling for $100,000 was $622 in the average school district. Locally, the rate on market value in Sonora ISD was $660 or $660 on a property selling for $100,000.

If the property were a homestead or owned by a senior citizen, the school tax would be less because of various exemptions. Open-space land that qualified would be valued on its productivity value rather than market value.

Revenue lost from exemptions totaled $780 million, which was $99.5 million more than the total for the previous year. To balance school budgets, the revenue loss from exemptions was imposed upon other taxpayers in the school district.

As compared to the billion-dollar increase in state aid last year, only $129 million more state funds will be distributed to schools next year. Only 492 districts will get more; the other 576 districts will receive less. This strategy to equalize presupposes that local property taxes will remain about the same. However, the large property tax increase last year, the report concludes, substantially negated the equalization improvement that the legislature tried to achieve.

Chamber of Commerce honors Barbara Earwood with plaque

The Sonora Chamber of Commerce presented Mrs. Barbara Earwood with a plaque in appreciation for painting the 1986 Sesquicentennial Logo. Mrs. Earwood entered and won a contest that was held in 1984 by the chamber for painting to be used for the Sutton County 1986 Logo.

Mrs. Earwood is a New Englander by birth and has been a resident of Sonora for many years. She and her husband have three children.

Mrs. Earwood is a well known artist in this area with many of her paintings on display in various places in Sonora.

She is a graduate of Woodward School of Quincy, Massachusetts, and the Washington School of Art in New York, and has studied at Angelo State University. She has specialized in water colors, studying with Clay McGaughy, John Pike, Robert E. Wood, Millard Sheets, Edgar Whitney and Bub Biggs.

Many of her paintings may be found in homes throughout the area. Her watercolors have won many awards and have been selected to hang in many shows including the Texas Fine Arts Association, the Texas Watercolor Society, the Southwestern Watercolor Society, the Museum of the Southwest in Midland, Abilene Fine Arts Association and the Laguna Gloria Museum in Austin.

Mrs. Earwood's painting will be used as the 1986 Sesquicentennial Logo for Sutton County and the chamber of commerce is having decals made for vehicles and businesses to promote Sutton County in 1986. These will be available later in the year.

DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY

Royce Regeon [left] and his wife Blanche [second] of Fayetteville, Georgia, were in Sonora last week to celebrate their 32nd anniversary and the 56th anniversary of Mrs. Regeon's parents, Nancy and Cash Taylor [third and fourth from the left]. train. The bride wore a hat of chantilly lace adorned with pearls and sequins with a short veil attached at the center back. She carried a bouquet of fresh gardenias, stephanotis, and baby's breath. After lighting the unity candle, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Wes Granger were presented to the guests and led the recessional. Carrying out the traditional something old, new, borrowed, and blue, the bride wore her mother's dress, the hat and veil were new, a white lace handkerchief borrowed from her maternal grandmother, and a blue garter.

Dana Souter of Alpine served her sister as Maid of Honor and Laynie Souter of Alpine was Junior Maid of Honor. The other attendants serving were: Saleta Ann Thomas, Big Lake; Margaret Jackson, El Paso; Cassie Aberegg, Big Spring; Jana Savell, Midland; and Leslie Delaney, Clovis, New Mexico. The reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with a white linen and net cloth and featured appointments of crystal.

The 3-tiered cake was laid in white and topped with peach and light blue flowers. The centerpiece was composed of the attendants bouquets with the bride's bouquet as the focal point. Punch, mints and nuts were also served. The hors d'oeuvre table was covered with a white linen cloth and featured brass appointments. The bride's chosen colors of peach, navy blue and light blue were carried out throughout the reception area. Serving at the bride's table was Brenda Fish, San Angelo, Bernice Street, Andrews, and Barbara Crouch, Timpson, all three sisters of the groom. Presiding at the hors d'oeuvre table was Deidre Ross, Alpine and Valeri Savell, Canyon. During the reception rice bags, scrolls, and pictures of the bride were distributed by Laynie Souter.

The blood drive will be held at the First National Bank's Community Room between 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Wednesday, July 24. Blood is a vital medicine—a life giving substance which can only come from healthy human beings.

If a donor wishes to have his/her unit of blood go as a replacement unit for John Fields, please specify at the time of the donation.

People have fears, about giving the gift of life. Some say they have no blood to spare. Yet the body is constantly producing new blood cells. In a blood donation, a little less than a pint of blood is taken. That equals about 10 percent of the blood in an average person. The body can easily lose a pint of blood with no ill effects, and it begins immediately to replace what was taken. Within a day the fluid has been restored, and the red cells are replaced in a few weeks. Donors can give blood every eight weeks without any problems.

Other people say they cannot donate because they are anemic. Before any donation a trained technician tests a drop of the donor's blood. People who are anemic are not permitted to give. However, anemia is not a permanent condition. Most people are able to donate even though they may have been told they were anemic at another time.

Still other people are not aware of the on-going need for blood until a friend or family member requires a transfusion. They mistakenly believe they should wait for such a situation before donating. Yet the majority of blood in this country is required by very young and very old patients, who usually do not have enough friends or family members to meet their own blood needs. That is why blood centers urge every healthy member of the community to donate regularly. Only in that way can there be an adequate blood supply to meet both routine and emergency needs.

Please take time to help save lives this summer!

Jewels & Gems

by John Tedford

A NECKLACE FOR HER

The supreme necklace is the one of diamonds. The single strand, the Riviere, meaning "river stream," is a string of solitaires that are either uniform in size of graduated with a large center stone. The uniform Riviere is often made so that it can easily be separated into two bracelets and worn for less formal occasions. Other necklaces, including combinations of pearls, turquoise, coral, aquamarine, amethyst, lapis lazuli, jade and other popular colored stones, may also be selected. These should suit the wearer's personality and add an exciting glow to her skin. Gold necklaces in all shapes and designs are very popular as well. The brightness of this metal reflects lovely highlights on the skin. Multi-colored gold and varied finishes and textures can be utilized to achieve special dramatic effects.

Today, wise shoppers look for quality, value, and versatility when they buy fine jewelry. At Tedford Jewelry you will find a magnificent array of diamonds, precious and semi-precious stones, as well as gold necklaces, bracelets, and earrings. Knowing and trusting your jeweler is of utmost importance—today more than ever. So we invite you to join the many who, through the years, have placed their confidence in Tedford Jewelry.

Hint: A festoon is a short necklace, with a design at the front, that tapers toward the back.

Leave some brush for wildlife species

Brush is an important habitat component for many wildlife species in Texas. Total brush removal will harm more wildlife species than it will benefit, but excessive brush reduces other valuable habitat components such as forbs and grasses. Brush also competes for moisture that would nurture nesting habitat and winter food. Properly designed brush patterns coupled with proper grazing by livestock will provide excellent habitat for many wildlife species.

Many people buy land with trees and brush to enjoy the wildlife, either by hunting or observation. For these potential buyers, landowners can reduce the market value of their real estate by local removal of trees and brush.

Other landowners want their properties to have a clean, manicured appearance. Taller trees and trimmed, smaller brush is removed, fence rows are cleaned, weed control herbicides are applied, and pastures are frequently shredded. Ironically, the wildlife habitat value, which may have been the reason these places were purchased, is reduced by these activities if they're not properly planned and applied.

Soil Conservation Service personnel at Sonora assist landowners and operators through the local Edwards Plateau Soil and Water Conservation District in designing brush patterns, grazing systems, and weed control programs that will benefit the wildlife. Technical guidance biologists with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department also help design brush patterns and develop wildlife management plans.

Are Christian Marriages Better?

By Pastor Louis Halford
1st Assembly of God

More and more Christians are getting divorced. Why has the divorce pattern of our day penetrated the churches? Why do some sinners' marriages last longer than their Christian neighbors?

I'm going to try to give reasons for some of the most brought up questions on marriage.

I do know of a few non-Christians who have better marriages than some Christians but Christians have a better chance of making a marriage work. This reason is because even though the non-Christians have no relationship with God, they unknowingly follow God's principals for marriage.

I've seen worldly people follow God's principles. The mates respect and love one another. They follow principles of financing and rearing children similar to those in the Bible. They don't defraud each other in the area, of sex therefore they usually have a decent marriage.

C.S. Lewis considered why Christians are not all obviously nicer than non-Christians. He suggested that Christianity may attract people who are not "naturally nice"—hence a lot of "Nasty" people have become Christians and are in the process of spiritual growth.

The three most common problem areas are sex, money and children. Communication in these areas, other than words of anger or wounded silence, frequently is non-existent.

Question: Are Christians less satisfactory sex partners than sinners?

Answer: Some groups of Christians have the idea that sex is something less than nice. Attitudes often reflect geographical, economic and educational backgrounds of the individual as much as the religious background. I feel that Christians actually have a better sexual adjustment than non-Christians.

1st Corinthians 7:3-5 says, "Let the husband's render unto the wife due benevolence and likewise also the wife unto the husband. The wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband; and likewise also the husband hath not power of his own body, but the wife. Defraud ye not one the other, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves fasting and prayer; and come together again, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency."

Sex is not only ordered by God (in marriage only), but it is also withheld by either of the marriage partners except for a short time, agreed upon time of abstinence for spiritual reasons.

God condemns homosexuality, incest, and adultery.

Romans 1:26-27 says, "For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections; for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature; and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemingly and receiving in themselves that recompense of their error which was met."

"It is reported commonly that there is fornication among you, and such fornication as is not so much as named among the Gentiles, that one should have his father's wife." (1st Corinthians 5:1)

"Thou shalt not commit adultery." (Exodus 20:14)

God believes these deviate kinds of sex are equivalent to fornication—which to him is the only Biblical reason for divorce.

We can counsel, we can try to give sophisticated answers but rededication to God by the marriage partners is really the only answer.

It seems that husbands only remember that Ephesians 5 says for wives to submit to their husbands. Wives only remember husbands are commanded to love their wives. Both ignore what the Lord has told them to do themselves. In the same way as Christ deserves submission, the husband by his conduct and love can deserve to be submitted to. The husband is the head to the degree that he himself submits to Christ. Without submission to Christ, he is not a proper head of the house. The husband is not going to get real submission from his wife unless there is a loving relationship. Without a loving relationship, as in the analogy of Christ loving the Church, there will be domination and rebellion. If you'll show me a husband who willingly gives himself for his wife, then I'll show you a wife who willingly submits to her husband.

I believe God intends for marriages to develop to a deep, committed intimacy. Just as Christians will have an unsatisfying Christian life unless he has a deep, personal relationship with Jesus Christ, persons who have a casual, shallow marriage will find it unfulfilling.

God made us to need continuing stimulation. Some people try to fulfill this need by going from person to person, but that gets old too. God ordained a different plan. We can find newness by discovering the depths we have in each other.

Question: Is there danger that Christians may be over confident in their marriages because they feel it will be for life, since their mates are also Christians?

Answer: As Christians we need confidence and reassurance that our marriage will last. At the same time, we need to have a healthy realization that God requires our best in all that we do, including marriage.

Question: How about marriage vows? Do Christians actually take them seriously?

Answer: The vows are said to God—as much as to the other person in the ceremony, but there isn't enough emphasis on that. One young bride who did take them seriously almost had the wedding party in tears before she vowed to obey her husband.

Previously she said she would never "promise to obey," but the bridegroom wanted "obey" in the ceremony. As the minister asked her to repeat this vow, she was silent at first. Then a tiny sob escaped her lips, then a larger and louder one, then several big sobs. Finally she said, "I do!"

Oh if newlyweds would take their vows as seriously as this young lady the more apt would their marriage be successful than not.

Remember, Jesus is the only answer for your marriage. My wife and I both will tell you that without Jesus in our lives our marriage would have ended years ago!

Right here, I just want to say "thank you" Jesus for my marriage, wife, and family.

Holly Smith completes basic camp

Holly J. Smith, daughter of Robert S. and Scharlotta S. Smith of Sonora has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC basic camp at Fort Knox, Ky.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomore who have not take ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individuals and small unit tactics. Smith plans to enter the ROTC program at Eastern New Mexico University, in Portales.

Prevention tips on child abuse for parents

Listen and Talk to Your Children

Perhaps the most critical child abuse prevention strategy for parents is good communication with your children. This is not only challenging to every parent but also can be difficult, especially for working parents and parents of adolescents.

--Talk to your child every day and take time to really listen and observe. Learn as many details as you can about your child's activities and feelings. Encourage him or her to share concerns and problems with you.

--Explain that his or her body belongs only to them alone and that he or she has the right to say no to anyone who might try to touch them.

--Tell your child that some adults may try to hurt children and make them do things the child doesn't feel comfortable doing. Often these grownups call what they're doing a secret between themselves and the child.

--Explain that some adults may even threaten children by saying that their parents may be hurt or killed if the child ever shares the secret. Emphasize that an adult who does something like this is doing something that is wrong.

--Tell your child that adults who they know, trust and love or someone who might be in a position of authority (like a babysitter, an uncle, a teacher, or even a policeman) might try to do something like this. Try not to scare your children--emphasize that the vast majority of grownups never do this and that most adults are deeply concerned about protecting children from harm.

Choosing a Preschool or Child Care Center

Although the vast majority of this nation's preschools and child care centers are perfectly safe places, recent reports of child sexual abuse in these settings are a source of great concern to parents.

--Check to make sure that the program is reputable. State and local licensing agencies, child care information and referral services, and other child care community agencies may be helpful sources of information. Find out whether there have been any past complaints.

--Find out as much as you can about the teachers and caregivers. Talk with other parents who have used the program.

--Learn about the school or center's hiring policies and practices. Ask how the organization recruits and selects staff. Find out whether they examine references, background checks, and previous employment history before hiring decisions are made.

--As whether and how parents are involved during the day. Learn whether the center or school welcomes and supports participation. Be sensitive to the attitude and degree of openness about parental participation.

--Ensure that you have the right to drop in and visit the program at any time.

--Make sure you are informed about every planned outing. Never give the organization blanket permission to take your child off the premises.

--Prohibit in writing the release of your child to anyone without your explicit authorization. Make sure that the program knows who will pick up your child on any given day.

If You Think Your Child Has Been Abused...

--Believe the child. Children rarely lie about sexual abuse.

--Commend the child for telling you about the experience.

--Convey your support of the child. A child's greatest fear is that he or she is at fault and responsible for the incident. All-leviating this self-blame is of paramount importance.

--Temper your own reaction, recognizing that your perspective and acceptance are critical signals to the child. Your greatest challenge may be to not convey your own horror about the abuse.

--Do not go to the school or program to talk about your concern. Instead, report the suspected molestation to a social services agency or the police.

--Find a specialized agency that evaluates sexual abuse victims--a hospital or a child welfare agency or a community mental health therapy group. Keep asking until you find a group or an individual with appropriate expertise.

--Search for a physician with the experience and training to detect and recognize sexual abuse when you seek a special medical examination for your child. Community sexual abuse treatment program, children's hospitals and medical societies may be sources for referrals.

--Talk with other parents to ascertain whether there are unusual behavior or physical symptoms in their children.

--Remember that taking action is critical because if nothing is done, other children will continue to be at risk. Child sexual abuse is a community interest and concern. Finally, do not blame yourself. Sexual abuse is a fact in our society. Many individuals who molest children find work through employment and community activities which give them access to children. The vast majority of abuse occurs in situations where the child knows and trusts the adult. Do your homework well, but remember a community and national consciousness is needed before we can stamp out sexual molestation in our society.

--Make sure that your child knows that if someone does something confusing to them, like touching or taking a naked picture or giving them gifts, that you want to be told about it. Reassure the child and explain that he or she will not be blamed for whatever and adult does with the child.

Observe Physical and Behavioral Signs

Children who may be too frightened to talk about sexual molestation may exhibit a variety of physical and behavioral signals. Any or several of these signs may be significant. Parents should assume responsibility for noticing such symptoms including:

--Extreme changes in behavior such as loss of appetite.

--Recurrent nightmares or disturbed sleep patterns and fear of the dark.

--Regression to more infantile behavior such as bedwetting, thumb sucking, or excessive crying.

--Torn or stained underclothing.

--Vaginal or rectal bleeding, pain, itching, swollen genitals, and vaginal discharge.

--Vaginal infections or venereal disease.

--Unusual interest in or knowledge of sexual matters, expressing affection in way inappropriate for a child of that age.

--Fear of a person or an intense dislike at being left somewhere or with someone.

--Other behavioral signals such as aggressive or disruptive behavior, withdrawal, running away or delinquent behavior, failing in school.

ABUSE PREVENTION TIPS FOR PARENTS:

Show your children attention and affection. Be involved in their lives.

Talk to your children about the privacy of their genitals. Be explicit.

Make certain your child's day-care facility allows unannounced visits.

Question any money or gifts your child brings home.

Be suspicious of any strong bond that develops between your child and an adult.

Do not put your child's name on things like T-shirts. A child is more likely to respond to a stranger if he or she knows the child's name.

Believe your children if they say they have been sexually abused.

Studies indicate that children rarely lie about such attacks.

If your children are victims, be sympathetic. Remember, child sexual abuse is never the victim's fault.

FOR CHILDREN

If an adult tries to touch you, scream, yell, get away however you can, and tell somebody. Keep telling people until someone listens.

Tell if someone asks you take your clothes off.

Tell if someone you do not know asks to take your picture.

Tell if someone you do not know offers you money or gifts.

Do not kiss anyone, including relatives, if it makes you feel uncomfortable.

If someone has touched your body, it is not your fault. Do not ever blame yourself. You will not get in trouble.

Remember your area code, not just your telephone number.

It is okay to use the telephone without permission if someone has been touching your body or making you scared or uncomfortable.

Never go into anyone's house without your parents' permission.

THANK--YOUS

We would like to thank all the people that helped make our daughter's wish come true, everyone that helped with the setting up of the swimming pool and filling it and thanks to the Volunteer Fire Dept., Ladies Auxiliary, City of Sonora and all the people who came out that Sunday.
Gilbert (Bud) and Evelyn McGinnis

The family of Gene Ray West would like to express their appreciation and gratitude to everyone for the calls, food, and cards and for all the caring and kindness shown to them. A very special "thank you" is extended to the Sonora Volunteer Fire Dept. and Aux., the Sutton Co. E.M.S., and the City of Sonora Employees.

If a man's wealth on earth could be measured by his number of friends, then Gene was indeed a wealthy man.
Frances, Kevin and Darla West; Rickey and Maray Cearley and Cole Geneva West

The family of Carlos Badillo would like to thank everyone for the flowers, food, and their sympathy and concern during our recent loss.

Scout leaders now needed

The local chapter of Girl Scouts is in need of Brownie, Girl Scout and Cadette Scout leaders for the upcoming year.

Anyone willing to donate their time and effort, be loyal and reliable, and willing to commit themselves for the full school year is encouraged to volunteer.

Meetings for any of these groups will only be held one day out of each week throughout the school year.

Leaders need not be the parent of a Scout, but just need to be someone who is interested in scouting and who is reliable.

For more information, contact Melba Perez at 387-5434 after 5 p.m.

All council members were present for the meeting and guests present included Olenick, Ross, Kyle Donaldson, Earnest Lykins, and Police Chief Brent Gesch.

HELP SLOW YOUR ELECTRIC METER DOWN THIS SUMMER.

Set Your Thermostat at 78° or Higher.

The recommended thermostat setting for summer cooling is 78° or higher. Portable fans or ceiling fans can help you feel comfortable at higher thermostat settings. Don't forget to turn fans off when you leave the room.

Check Your Filter Regularly.

A dirty filter could keep your air conditioning system from operating as efficiently as possible. Clean permanent filters according to manufacturer's instructions, and replace non-permanent filters.

Tightly Seal Air Leaks in Your Home.

Make sure all cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with proper caulking and weatherstripping. Also, R-30 insulation in the ceiling, and R-16 insulation in the walls is recommended to adequately insulate your home.

For more information on how to help slow your electric meter down this summer, call your local WTU office.
