The pictures along with many others will be on display at the Wool House during the Wool Show to be held June 16 through 18.

Wool Show marks fiftieth

Special activities have been planned for past contestants and participants at the 50th Annual Sonora Wool and Mohair Show, 4-H and FFA judging contest and the National 4-H Wool Judging Contest.

The show will be held June 16 through 18 at Sonora Wool and Mohair and at the 4-H Center.

According to Glen Fisher, chairman of the show, there will be a coffee at 10 am Thursday, June 18 at the Wool House.

"We'd like to invite anyone who has participated in the show in the past to come for this coffee, and stay to lunch, the Wool Show, and the awards presentation at the 4-H Center afterwards." Fisher said.

Judging for the junior and open division entries of the wool and mohair show will begin at 8:15 am on Wednesday, June 17. All entries for the show, open to all producers in the United States, must be in the Sonora warehouse by 5 pm on Tuesday, June 16.

Contestants in the 4-H and FFA judging contest should be at the 4-H Center by 8 am June 17 to begin the competition.

There will be livestock, wool and mohair, and range judging in the contest.

The National 4-H Wool Judging Contest will begin at 8 am Thursday, June 18.

A luncheon, auction of the junior wool and mohair show champion fleeces, and awards presentation will wrap up the show.

The show is sponsored by the Sonora Lions Club, in cooperation with the Sonora Wool and Mohair Company and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Wool Show began in 1939 as "tie to land"

Preparations for the first Wool Show, which was held June 16 and 17, 1938, began in July of 1937.

According to a newspaper article written prior to the first show, the shows were designed "to tie West Texas boys to the farm and ranch, and the wool show for 4-H Club boys at Sonora is simply part of the major plan to provide interest for them where their fathers have prospered".

In the article, Henry Malloy, farm agent from Sterling County, and Bill Fields, manager of the Sonora Wool and Mohair outlined the rules and regulations. Mr. Malloy declared that everything was being done to make the show interesting. The boys were to bring their fleeces for entry and see the entire show and sale and Mr. Fields gave assurance that buyers were interested in having the wool put up properly and would be at the show in force.

Mr. Malloy is reported to have said "it was sad for him to see boys whose fathers and grandfathers pioneered in this section and owned ranches and farms to see these pass into the hands and names (of others) at the passing of the father. Much of the reason has been due to the fact that the boy only had a working part . . . he had no binding tie. If he inherited the land he was either incompetent to carry on successfully or he was interested in other work and the land and stock were only worth the money they would bring him in cash."

Therefore, in the original rules, rule number one was that the boy must own the sheep (from which the fleeces were gathered).

In other articles of the time, it was pointed out that "Sonora is so centrally located that a wool show for boys should appeal to young ranch people of a huge area."

In 1939, the sale was held underneath the new Woolhouse. In all there were entries from ten counties.

Bob Wills and his Texas Playboys played for the dance that was held during the show in 1949. The Grass Judging event was also held for the first time.

In 1957 the show had grown to include 457 entries from twenty-three counties.

Four out-of-state entries were included in the 1972 show and came from Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico which had two teams.

Though many things regarding the Wool Show have changed and grown through the years, many things remain the same. Entrants, now both male and female as it has been for many years, must own the sheep from which the fleeces have been taken for judging.

Criteria for the wool judging remains basically the same: length of staple, uniformity of fiber, yield, color or luster, weight of fleece, character, preparation, and strength.

The 50th Annual Show promises to be as good or better than shows in the past.

ODG announces premier

The weekend of June 26 and 27 has been designated as Sonora Nights for the premier of the "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater".

Olenick selected as finalist

Louis Olenick has been selected as one of three finalists for the Texas Firefighter of the Year Award, to be presented at the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Convention in Amarillo.

The final selection will be made on Sunday, June 14, but the winner will not actually be announced until the award is presented on Tuesday, June 16, during the business session.

Olenick won Fireman of the Year for Sonora this past December moving on to win Fireman of the Year for the District at the Rowena Convention in April.

Congratulations and Best Wishes, Louis!

The "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater" will be presented by the Outdoor Drama Group at the Caverns of Sonora every Friday and Saturday through August 15.

Performing for the opening night will be master story teller and area historian Gus Clemons, young singer Tammy Bowman and the Kountry Kickers, a group of local and area square dancers.

The exciting evening will get underway at 6 pm with a Sing-along. Dinner will be served at 6:30 pm and is being catered by the Sutton County Steakhouse.

Showtime starts at 7:30 pm as Clemons steps up to tell tales of the old west. Clemons has written, produced, or collaborated on ten books about Texas one of which, Legacy, received an award of special recognition from the Texas Historical Commission in 1985.

Following Clemons, will be the unique song styles of Tammy Bowman. Bowman, a legal secretary in San Angelo, is certainly no novice to the field of entertainment. She has won numerous beauty and talent contests and performed on the Louisiana Hayride during the summer of '86.

The Kountry Kickers will take their turn to demonstrate some of the fancy stepping for which they are famous.

Tickets for the performance are available at the Chamber of Commerce, Devil's River News, Ol' Sonora Trading Co., Westerman Drug, Sutton County Steakhouse and at the Caverns of Sonora. The price is $9.95 for adults and $7.95 for children under twelve.

Season tickets are also available for the price of $14.95 for theater only. Dinner is extra for season ticket holders at a price of $5.95 for adults and $3.95 for children under twelve.

Only a limited number of dinner tickets will be available at the gate each evening so advance ticket purchases are recommended.

Come join us for evening of fun under the stars at the Caverns.

Say what you will about lawnmowers, at least one Sonora resident has the perfect solution. This model runs quietly, is self-fueling, easy to operate, automatically recycles its fuel, works without supervision while its owner kicks back and watches. And above all, it is cute, cuddly and a traffic stopper.

Employee pregnancy/ Employer liability

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: An employee with our company is pregnant and has advised us that she must go on maternity leave beginning next month per her doctor's orders. We are a small company and do not have any provisions for maternity leave. Are we obligated to hold her job open for her? We really cannot afford to have that position vacant for two or three months.

B.H.,
SAN ANGELO

Dear B.H.: If your company has no policy concerning maternity leave, then you are under no legal obligation to hold the employee's job open. You should be aware, however, that once the employee is released for work by her doctor, she will be eligible for unemployment benefits if you have no job for her to return to. If you think there may be some comparable position available at the end of her "leave" you should advise her to at least check back with you when she is released by her doctor.

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: We hired a bookkeeper about six weeks ago and he is just not working out. This employee is basically a very pleasant person and he does try to do a good job, but frankly, I think he is in over his head. We just need someone with more experience. If I terminate this person's employment, he can't draw unemployment, can he?

V.M.
EL PASO

DEAR V.M.: Does the circumstances as you describe them, this employee would qualify for unemployment benefits.

Commissioner

Mary Scott Nabers

Texas Business Today

An individual who has been fired can be disqualified from receiving benefits only if he was fired for work connected misconduct. INABILITY to perform a job to the employer's standards is NOT misconduct. For this reason, employers should make every effort to check an applicant's work history and skills prior to hire. Although this employee would most likely qualify for benefits, you should be aware that your company might not be chargeable on the claim. In order for your company to have chargeback liability, the employee must have worked for you during the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters prior to the date of the claim. For example, let us say you hired the gentleman in February of 1987 (1st quarter) and terminated his services at the end of May (2nd quarter). If he files a claim in June (2nd quarter), your company will have no chargeback liability. If he files a claim in July (3rd quarter), your company will have chargeback liability.

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

by Mike Smith

Junk bonds-Is the risk worth the reward?

Most investors buy long-term bonds for safe, regular income and the promise of having their principal returned at maturity. The key is to be as certain as one can that the company issuing the bond is, and will continue to be, financially strong enough to honor its debt requirements. For this reason, the intelligents bond investor places strong emphasis on the quality rating of bonds.

The most widely used rating systems are Standard and Poor's and Moody's. Higher-quality bonds mean less risk of loss while lower-quality bonds mean more risk of loss. It follows that higher-quality bonds generally pay lower interest rates and that poorer-quality bonds must pay higher interest. After all, the investor taking the most risk must be rewarded for that risk.

With that basic explanation of risk/reward in bonds, consider the "junk bond." Technically, a junk bond is one with a credit rating below the top four investment-grade ratings furnished by Standard & Poor's, AAA, AA, A, BBB, or Moody's, Aaa, Aa, Bbb.

Junk bonds are issued by companies without long records of sales or earnings or with questionable credit strength. Institutions and money managers with fiduciary responsibility are usually prohibited from investing in junk bonds since management's primary concern is protection of principal rather than simple looking for the highest available interest rate.

There are three types of companies that issue high-yield "junk" bonds. These are "fallen angels," "rising star" and "leveraged buy outs" (LBO's). "Fallen angels" are successful companies who financial condition has declined. "Rising stars" are new or emerging companies which do not have long financial records. "LBO's" are companies which issue junk bonds to finance acquisitions.

As you see, all three carry some business risk. Roughly one-third of all existing junk bonds were issued by fallen angels; roughly one quarter were issued by LBO's; the rest were issued by rising stars.

The junk bond market has grown rapidly and now accounts for about $145 billion compared to $550 billion of corporate bonds. Roughly $48 billion, or one-third, of these junk bonds were issued in 1986.

The junk bond market has grown rapidly and now accounts for about $145 billion compared to $550 billion of corporate bonds. Roughly $48 billion, or one-third, of these junk bonds were issued in 1986.

Experts differ on what default rate to expect on these bonds. The estimated default rate can make a big difference in the estimated returns an investor will receive from junk bonds. The default rate for publicly-traded junk debt for 1974 to 1986 averaged about 1.5 percent, but this may not be a good estimated of the future since the junk market has grown so rapidly. "The Wall Street Journal" reported a 3.4 percent default on publicly-traded junk bonds sold between Jan. 1, 1980 and Sept. 11, 1986. Defaulted issues are issues which at any time have received a default, D, rating from Standard & Poor's. This does not include issued which came very close to defaulting but managed to restructure the debt before the interest payment came due.

Expert also use different assumptions to determine what a bond will be worth once it has defaulted. While these assumptions can make a big difference in the estimated return on junk bonds, they usually forecast a 40 percent to 60 percent loss in value after an issue has defaulted.

Our purpose is neither to praise nor condemn high-yield junk

Our purpose is neither to praise nor condemn high-yield junk bonds. There are simply two points here. The first is that bonds of similar quality and maturity generally offer similarly competitive yields. If you're offered a bond whose income is out of line with current interest rates, it would pay to investigate the quality of that investment.

The second point is that professional management is important if you want to invest in high-yielding securities. These professionals can help you avoid companies which are likely to default on their issues and thus keep your losses low. Understand your investment and get all the facts before you invest.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

The thunder and rains continue. It is a simple function of nature when West Texas' criteria is met-it rains. The criteria consists of three conditions: Moisture (multi-level), instability and a triggering action, simultaneously occurring. Such occurrences, give entirely adequate precipitation when their frequency is great enough.

This raises a question: What effect does cloud seeding have. There is definite indication that cloud seeding can improve a rate of already occurring precipitation. There is little or no evidence to support a claim that the seeding can produce precipitation when none exists in a semiarid climate like West Texas'.

Historically, since the onset of cloud seeding how much good has it done? Unfortunately, the good that has been done cannot be quantitatively evaluated. We could come back fifty years after the seeding and see if an abnormal period of precipitation occurred within a reasonable time following the seeding.

Remembering that these droughts are usually broken by rather prolific precipitation periods, historical evaluation becomes cloudy. Remembering also a dying tropical depression (hurricane) drifting into the area can cause horrendous rainstorms like the Ozona deluge of the 1950's and our overnight fourteen inches in the 1970's, an evaluation becomes cloudier.

In real time, one must be dubious, the semi-stationary low pressure cell in northern Mexico which provided the moisture and kept it in place through the successive trough passages certainly was not put there by cloud seeding. It would seem that cloud seeding is a case of you pay your money and take your choice. If it rains tomorrow nobody can say you were wrong.

The only positive evidence of benefit that can be found in real time is in seeder's I.R.S. records, but even the poor management can confuse the conclusions.

Handling Behavior Problems

By Joaquim Puig-Antich, M.D.

Chief of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry
University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine

Will disciplinary measures get rid of a child's behavior problems? Not if the problems are the result of a depressive disorder or some other mental illness.

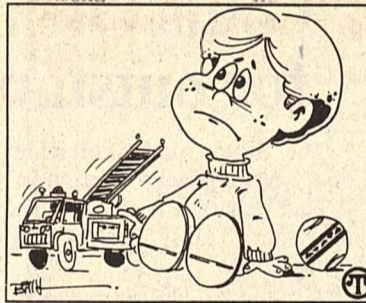

Unfortunately, fewer than 15 percent of youngsters with serious mental disorders receive adequate therapy. Knowing how to spot the warning signs of depression may help you to recognize when professional assistance is needed.

The word depression is an ambiguous one: It can mean merely feeling blue or it can indicate a psychiatric disorder that interferes with functioning.

Severe childhood depression, more common than first believed, is often accompanied by behavioral problems and anxiety disorders, or complicated by alcohol or drug use in teen-agers. Other symptoms can be subtle: sadness, low self-esteem, social withdrawal, declining schoolwork and frequent health complaints are common.

Chronically depressed children are at increased risk for adult depression and many other problems, ranging from lack of social skills to alcoholism, antisocial personality and substance abuse.

Preventing recurrent depression in children requires accurate diagnosis of the initial episode and effective early treatments.

Young children formerly were evaluated during sessions of interactive play with a therapist. Recently, symptom-oriented interviews—similar to those conducted with adult patients—have been found more productive and as reliable for diagnosis.

Some 80 percent of children and adolescents recover from an acute episode of depression within a year of active treatment. That treatment often involves a type of "talk therapy," with medication for more severe cases.

If you suspect your child may suffer from depression, see your child's doctor.

County extension agents attend leadership workshop

Extension Southwest District 13 comprising 19 counties including Sutton recently attended a workshop at the River Inn Resort in Hunt, Tx.

"We decided to emphasize leadership as the major portion of the workshop since it is the subject of great importance to the residents of most counties in the District. The day long program presented by Jim Baker of Kerrville, provided new ideas and techniques as well as reminders of material learned in the past.

Agents conducting leadership programs will be able to utilize them in working with 4H youth and adult volunteers." advised Gloria Schwarzlose, District Extension Director. "County Extension Agents are always looking for young people and adults who have leadership qualities. We hope residents of the many counties in the District will join with us to bringing new ideas to their areas." Mrs. Schwarzlose continued.

Approximately 45 County Extension Agents from District 13 were in attendance and representing Sutton County was Preston Faris. The program was under the direction of District Extension Directors Gloria Schwarzlose and Ed Koliba, Jr. of Uvalde.

Jim Baker, the workshop leader is a professional humorous speaker and conducts programs on leadership, human relations, communication and motivation. He is a member of the national Speaker Association and is Vice President of the South Texas Professional Speakers Association. His office is in Kerrville.

Unique tourist complex opens in Texas

The Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation will open its Tourist Complex starting June 1 for its Summer season. Located on Highway 190, between Livingston and Woodville, Texas has the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation, one of the most popular and unique vacation attraction in East Texas. The Tourist Complex, which operates from the 4,600 acre Reservation in the heart of the Big Thicket, will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 12:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Sundays, and it offers visitors a variety of activities.

Aboard a unique open-air bus, you will take a trip through the Big Thicket to see rare species of trees, plants, and even wild animals. A trip to the Indian Country will take you back to the early days of the pioneers when the Alabama-Coushatta first settled in East Texas. You will see some of the original styles of Indian homes, campsites and hunting grounds. Walk through the Living Indian Village and see demonstrations of native arts and crafts including beadwork, baskets, weapon making and Indian cooking. You can watch colorful authentic Tribal Indian dances and also have lunch at our Inn of the Twelve Clans Restaurant. Come inside to our Gift Shop and choose from the many Indian handmade crafts for sale.

The Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation can be the Headquarters for the vacationer interested in the adverse attraction in East Texas. We have a picturesque lake surrounded by majestic pines, well over 120 feet tall. The lake is the setting for a beautiful camping experience. The largest recreational vehicle can comfortably maneuver into a well conceived site with complete hookups. Primitive sites are also available for backpackers. Restrooms with hot showers are conveniently located throughout the camping area. Swimming and bank fishing are popular activities for campers. A total of 137 sites with 73 R.V. spots are available.

It's a real experience and a trip the whole family will remember when you visit the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation.

LOWER COLORADO RIVER AUTHORITY NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

The Lower Colorado River Authority has filed an Application for Authority to Change Rates with the Public Utility Commission of Texas and the City of Austin. The effective date of the proposed changes, which involve the LCRA's 44 wholesale customers and 70 retail customers, is June 24, 1987.

For the Period ending November 30, 1988, the proposed changes are expected to result in a system-wide annual revenue increase of $25.4 million, which is a 12.9% increase when compared to the fully adjusted total operating revenues for the test year ending September 30, 1986. The base rate revenues would be increased by $29.2 million or 33.3%, while the fuel revenues would be decreased by $3.8 million or 3.5%.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

USDA issues final definitions

Final definitions of "fruits, vegetables, and other perishable commodities," issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture change the proposed rule published April 22. Under the final rule, soybeans are no longer excluded from the list of perishable commodities; sod is specifically excluded from the list; and definitions of field work and critical and unpredictable labor demands are further clarified.

The definition--a key component in immigration reform efforts--are effective June 1.

Under the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act, the definitions would determine, in part, criteria for eligibility for temporary legal status of qualified aliens involved in seasonal agricultural work in the United States.

The 1986 Act recognized that some of the seasonal workers involved in producing and harvesting U.S. agricultural commodities are illegal aliens. The Act allows temporary legal status for qualified aliens who performed seasonal agricultural services in the United States for specified periods of time before May 1, 1986.

In the language of the Act, "seasonal agricultural services" is "field work related to planting, cultural practices, cultivating, growing and harvesting of fruits and vegetables of every kind and other perishable commodities, as defined in regulations by the Secretary of Agriculture."

USDA's rule sets fourth regulations defining certain agricultural terms required by the Act. Under the rule terms specified or defined are:

"Fruits"--the humanly edible parts of plants that consist of the mature ovaries and fused other parts or structures which develop from flowers or inflorescence.

"Vegetables"--the humanly edible leaves, stems, roots or tubers of herbaceous plants. Together, the definitions of fruits and vegetables include plant crops grown for human foods.

"Other perishable commodities"--those that do not meet the definition of fruits and vegetables, that are produced as a result of seasonal field work, and for which the production and harvesting entail critical and unpredictable labor demands. The proposed list includes: Christmas trees, cut flowers, herbs, hops, horticultural specialties, Spanish reeds, spices, sugar beets and tobacco.

Excluded from the definition of "other perishable commodities" would be those commodities not produced as a result of field work, or which do not have critical and unpredictable labor demands. These include animal aquacultural products, birds, cotton, dairy products, earthworms, fish (including oysters and shellfish), forest products, fur-bearing animals, and rabbits, hay and other forage and silage, honey, horses and other equines, livestock of all kinds including animal specialties, poultry and poultry products, sod, sugar cane, wildlife and wool.

"Critical and unpredictable labor demands"--refers to a period when field work is to be initiated which cannot be predicted with certainty 60 days in advance to need.

"Field work"--means any employment performed on agricultural lands for the purpose of planting, cultural practices, cultivating, growing, harvesting, drying, processing, or packing any fruits, vegetables, or other perishable commodities. These activities have to be performed on agricultural lands to produce fruits, vegetables, and other perishable commodities, as opposed to those activities that occur in a processing plant or packing house not on agricultural lands. Thus, the drying, processing or packing of fruits, vegetables and other perishable commodities in the field and on-field loading of transportation vehicles are included. Operations using a machine, such as a picker, or a tractor, to perform those activities on agricultural land are included. Supervising any of these activities shall be considered the same as performing them.

"Agricultural lands"--means any land, cave or structure, except packinghouses or canneries used to perform field work.

"Horticultural specialties"--field-grown, containerized, and greenhouse-produced nursery crops including juvenile trees; shrubs; seedlings; budding, grafting and understock; fruit and nut trees; fruit plants; vines; groundcovers; foliage and potted plants; cut flowers; herbaceous annuals; biennials and perennials; bulbs; corns; and tubers.

"Seasonal"--refers to employment performed exclusively at certain seasons or periods of the year. The proposed rule notes that a worker who moves from one seasonal activity to another while employed in agriculture or performing agricultural labor is employed on a seasonal basis even though the employment may continue throughout the year.

Louis Olenick honored for outstanding record

The Sutton and Schleicher County Maintenance Section of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation was recently honored.

Ben Bohuslav, District Engineer from San Angelo presented Louis Olenick, Maintenance Construction Supervisor a certificate for 1,019 days without a loss of time accident. This certificate represents over 20 employees working for over four years without a major accident.

This is for work on Farm to Market, State, U.S. and Interstate Highways in all types of weather and in adverse and emergency situations.

Olenick and the Department stress safety for the benefit of the employee, traveling public and taxpayers of Texas. Bohuslav congratulated Olenick and his personnel for this outstanding record during their regularly scheduled monthly Safety Meeting.

Mesquite tree, main topic of meeting

The annual meeting of Los Amigos Del Mesquite will take place in Corpus Christi on September 11-13, 1987. Los Amigos Del Mesquite is an international association of 300+ ranchers, woodworkers, businessmen, and scientists from Texas and other states and counties who have personal or business interests in the mesquite tree. Representative interests of members include the utilization of the wood for various wooden products, managing mesquite lands for wood production and grazing purposes, controlling mesquite on rangeland, producing various BBQ cooking product, and the use for the mesquite tree as an in ornamental native Texas plant in landscaping.

Activities at the annual meeting taking place at the Hershey Hotel in Corpus Christi include some 20 to 25 technical presentations, demonstrations, or panel discussions on various issues.

A trade and exhibit show of fine furniture, flooring, and other beautiful woodwork and other mesquite products will also take place.

Historically, the presence of mesquite on rangeland was considered detrimental. The cost of mesquite clearing is high. Thru utilization of the tree a negative factor can be changed into an asset. The meeting will provide a forum for those ranchers and landowners who have mesquite wood to sell to meet with processors who are buying mesquite stumpage. It will provide the avenues for future sales.

Further information on the annual meeting and a registration form or information about Los Amigos Del Mesquite in general can be obtained by writing Ken E. Rogers, Texas Forest Products Laboratory, P.O. Box 310, Lufkin, Texas 75901-0310 or by calling (409) 639-8180.

"OVER the HILL GANG"

News from the Nursing Home
by Doris Cahill

"OVER THE HILL GANG" is compiled, and hunt 'n' pecked, for you with T.L.C., and your ultimate interest in the June 4 mystery of the missing column is gratefully accepted as a sign that my efforts matter.

"Many Happy Returns" to Della McLaughlin May 29. She and Winnie Whitehead were each remembered by the Women's Group of the First Baptist Church with a vase of flowers on their birthdays. Not a single resident has a birthday in June, so the Auxiliary monthly party will not be held.

Welcome Pete Artiaga, another new resident of the Nursing Home.

Cleda Drake attended a family reunion, recently, at the home of her daughter and son-in-law Helen and Earl Holt. Cleda's three children, and seventeen of her eighteen grandchildren, were able to be with her.

May 25, Bible study was read, from Philippians, by Rose Fincher. In Rose's favorite verses, Paul counsels that Christ is all-powerful, our strength and contentment, and in obedience we all can shine like stars in the universe. We proclaimed, "The Highest Place" as at the foot of the cross, and "Joy, Joy, Joy" was sung. Everyone also enjoyed Bible Study led by Luan King June 22. Luan read a story, "Hope Is Powerful", and played a tape excellently sung by her son, Denis King, Director Of Music at First Baptist Church in Seminole, we learned that we can be of service to the Lord, ourselves, and others, by being friendly, smiling, helpful, prayerful, and merry.

Pat Allen, St. Ann's Catholic Church, administered Holy Communion Tuesday.

Winnie Whitehead has returned from Shannon Hospital, in San Angelo, where she was a patient for a few days, and Thelma Phillips was accompanied to San Angelo, twice, by her son Harold Briscoe, of Midland to keep doctor's appointments.

Violet Jarrett, of Del Rio, visited her sister, Winnie Whitehead last week, and brought a large bag of delectable donuts to be enjoyed with coffee during the afternoon.

Our electric clocks had such a blinking good time during all the riotous weather early Wednesday a.m., we finally un-plugged them.

A scenic card arrived from Mary Hoffman, who was enjoying a typical Swiss breakfast in Zurich, and wishing us there to enjoy the beauties of the place.

"Bingo" winners the past two weeks were: Cox 5, Ray 4, Drennan 3, Knight 2, Hamilton 2, Artiaga 1, Gonzalez 1, Brotherton 1, Luna 1, Bruton 1, and Mata 1.

Celeste Prugel brought a dainty floral arrangement, and a most delicious supper, Friday, and the following Wednesday we feasted on another of her culinary achievements-fresh fruit salad. Thank you, so much, Celeste.

A lively Sing-Along was held Wednesday afternoon by Leona Bishop, pianist and George Morris, who has a grand voice and is Director of Music at First Baptist Church. Request songs were: "In The Shade Of The Old Apple Tree" for Flo. Knight, and "School Days" for Thelma Phillips, Pauline Thompson, of the Auxiliary, was also present.

The Country Store was rolled in by Lilia Thursday afternoon for our shopping convenience, we exercised and a "scanner" was brought by Bruce Kerbow from his new Radio Shack, enabling us to keep informed (or per-chance inform), alert, and entertained.

Lura Sawyer sees that we are supplied with books from Sutton County Library, and we are usually surrounded by flowers from St. John's Episcopal Church. (Virginia Epps has been bringing them, and visiting with us.) Ruth Spaulding, or Rev. Kepler, bring Sunday bulletins from First United Methodist Church every week.

"Old Faithful" Ethelda Holland gave manicures Friday morning, and Phyllis Jones shampooed and set hair. Phyllis is so sweet to bring "treats" and take us places. (We gaped at the rig in the "draw" one day. It is really there, not an optical illusion.)

Vernie Bucher, of Placentia, California, is visiting Lavita Bucher, and Linda, Jolli, and Whitney Hooper, and Jack Russell Drennan, all of Odessa, have been guests of Jack and Cordie Drennan. Our great book is all used up, and my scope of recollection just isn't all that great, but want to express appreciation to all the nice people who add meaning to our days, in so many ways, too numerous to mention.

We were pleased to have Don Jones, Minister of The Church of Christ, with us Sunday, May 31st. He reminded us that God loves us, all we have, and are, is through His goodness, and if we believe in Him, He will be with us to the end.

Uncle: Were you a nice, polite little boy in church this morning?

Nephew: Oh, Yes Sir! A man passed a plate of money around, and I said "No, Thank You."

We surely miss our local radio news etc., and do hope the present situation will not be permanent. It was with relief that we heard the weekly Sunday services from First United Methodist Church, May 31 there was a Memorial Service, (the original Memorial Day being May 30.) which was accompanied by thunder and lightning, and the rains continue, and also Rev. Kent Kepler's sermon "In Remembrance Of Me" on June 7, the 1st Sunday of Pentecost.

The June 7 afternoon worship service was conducted here in the Nursing Home by Gerald

HITECH MEDICINE

News of Success with Serious Ailments

New Treatment For High Blood Pressure

According to the latest figures of the American Heart Association, 32,000 adults died from hypertension in a single year. Doctors say that number can be reduced if people take antihypertensive medication.

Ever since antihypertensive medication was introduced in the mid-1950s, the pharmaceutical industry has tried to develop medications that were more convenient than earlier versions.

Initially, such medications had to be taken several times each day. This was further complicated because some people were also taking other medications. This required them to take several pills several times each day.

The latest development in high blood pressure treatment may make it easier for patients to comply with the prescribed dosage regimen because it represents a complete change from traditional oral treatments. It is the first through-the-skin antihypertensive available in the U.S.A. and is also the first to last for seven days.

A new medicine for high blood pressure enters the blood stream through the skin.

Worn like an adhesive bandage, Catapres-TTS® (clonidine), from Boehringer Ingelheim, slowly releases its well-known antihypertension drug, into the skin which is then absorbed into the blood stream.

In addition to being more convenient, this patch may also help overcome the problem of side effects caused by the peaks and valleys of oral medications. Your doctor can tell you more about this product that could make you jump for joy—but help your blood pressure go down. This drug is sold by prescription only.

DRUGS MORE INFLUENTIAL THAN PARENTS?

More youngsters are being overtaken by the seductive lure of drugs. A 1985 survey of 44,000 U.S. teenagers revealed that one in every three high school seniors and one in every ten eighth graders had used marijuana in the past year. Sixteen percent of the seniors had tried cocaine at least once.

Peer pressure to try drugs and drink alcohol is experienced by children as early as fourth grade. Many times, young children partake in order to appear older; middle school children do it to fit in; and high school teens do it either to have a good time or to avoid stress.

A national academy of science study found that children are more likely to become drug or alcohol abusers if they are physically abused, lied to or humiliated or if their parents are addicts. Also, shifts from too much to too little discipline or praise encourages substance abuse.

Nancy Reagan, NBC TV and Walt Disney productions are just some of the sponsors of a national campaign to a national network of "Just Say No" clubs sponsored by Gartman, Children's Pastor, The Temple of Jerusalem. Gerald played the guitar and sang a special "Some Golden Day-Break" and we all made valiant efforts to sing songs of praise. As was read from Psalm 67, "God is our salvation. Praise the Lord, and land and peoples will be blessed." Prayers were offered.

Crockett County museum will host summer PBMI meeting

The summer meeting of the Permian Basin Museums Institute will be held at the Ozona National Bank on the southeast corner of the downtown square, Ozona. Entrance to the meeting room is on the east side. Geniece Childress says we can start the day with coffee, orange juice and donuts.

At 10 a.m. the program will begin when Kay Irby (West Texas Travel Council) will address our museums' promotional opportunities and how we may improve working relationships with our Chamber of Commerce.

After a buffet lunch (dutch treat) at the Inn of the West, the group is invited to tour the Crockett County Museum. The current Exhibition is Indians of Crockett County and Surrounding Areas. The Texas Historical Commission named this the Best Interpretive Exhibit for 1986.

Snakes crawl at night . . . or any time they want to as is evidenced by these pictures.
 At the left, Patti Strauch holds up a 3 foot 8 inch rattlesnake which she killed this past week at the Strauch Ranch. The snake had eleven rattlers and one button.
 Daniel Prieto, Animal Control officer, shows off the almost five foot long (bull?) snake that he killed at the end of the Mercantile Building Monday.

From the Red River to the Rio Grande: WTU people are good neighbors!

West Texas Utilities is proud of its employees and their community involvement. WTU people are working to help their neighbors, and to better their communities throughout the WTU service area. ■ Where there's a need, there's a WTU employee willing and able to help. They're involved in youth athletic activities, school programs, community improvement projects, church and civic affairs, as well as in volunteer work with senior citizens, ambulance services, fire departments and much more. ■ WTU people are truly good neighbors, from the Red River to the Rio Grande.

Social Security News

Direct deposit

It is easy for people living in the San Angelo-area who receive Social Security checks to arrange to have them deposited directly into an account in a financial organization, such as a commercial bank, savings bank, savings and loan association, Federal or State credit union, or similar organization, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

All a person has to do to arrange direct deposit is complete a direct deposit form SF-1199. The form is available at any financial organization. A monthly benefit check contains all the information needed to complete the form.

Some advantages of direct deposit are:

- **No worry about a check being lost or stolen.
- **No need to be home when the check arrives. The money is available in an account even if the person is out of town.
- **Time and transportation costs are saved and there is no standing in line to cash the check.
- **It is safer to keep money in an account than carrying a lot of cash.
- **A checkbook provides a written record of spending.

More information about direct deposit can be obtained at the San

Marriage, divorce may stop benefits

Most Social Security benefits to dependents or survivors of retired, disabled or deceased workers end if the person divorces or marries, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

But, benefits to widows or widowers who remarry at 60 or older, and benefits to disabled widows and widowers 50-60 who remarry are not affected and will continue unchanged, Upp said.

Benefits to a child getting checks because he or she is under 18, 19 if a student, or disabled will end if the child marries. Checks to spouse getting benefits on the record of a retired or disabled worker will end if the marriage ends in divorce unless the spouse is 62 or older and the marriage lasted 10 years or more.

Checks for a widowed mother or father getting benefits because she or he is caring for an entitled child will stop if she or he remarries.

There is an exception to these general rules, Upp said. If an otherwise eligible person receiving benefits as a widow, widower, or adult disabled in childhood marries a person also getting one of these kinds of benefits, he or she can continue to get benefits.

Benefits will also continue if a person getting benefits as a widowed mother or father or adult disabled in childhood marries a person getting benefits as a retired or disabled worker. A retired or disabled worker's benefits are never affected by marriage or divorce.

For more information about how marriage or divorce affects Social Security benefits, contact the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Frontier days at Fort Concho part of city wide celebration

As part of the city-wide celebration, Fiesta del Concho, Fort Concho produces Frontier Days, a festival of frontier life, skills and crafts of the 1880's.

Friday, June 19, the fort hosts the Fiesta Del Concho Western Dance and Bar-be-que Dinner. This year's dance features Red Steagall. The dance takes place in and around the famous Arc Light Saloon.

On Saturday, June 20, the day begins early with the Memorial Infantry and Cavalry conducting the Official Welcoming Ceremony and Flag Raising to start Frontier Day at the fort. Visitors enjoy the al fresco Pancake Breakfast and many other activities that include:

West Texas Quilt Show-a competition, sale and exhibit of quilts and related needle-work.

Texas State Sheep Shearing Contest-shearers from several states compete for the state title. The winner goes to the National Shearing Contest in Denver in January.

Fiesta del Concho Sheep Dog Trials-an official trial of the Texas Sheep Dog Association, dogs and handlers compete on a course using vocal and hand signals.

Infantry and Cavalry Period Drills-authentic drills of the 1870's and 1880's are performed by Fort Concho's Living History Units.

1880's Baseball Game, Frontier Family, Early Ranch Demonstrations, Children's Games and Parade, The Third Annual Men's and Women's Washer Pitching Tournament and Children's Petting Zoo all help Fort Concho bring the past to life with a variety of activities for the whole family.

Fort Concho is located just south of downtown San Angelo between East Ave. C and East Ave. D, bordered by South Oaks and Burgess Street. Grounds open at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, June 19, and 6:30 a.m. on Saturday, June 20. Come join the fun of Fiesta del Concho at Frontier Days at historic Fort Concho.

For more information contact Chris Holt, Special Events Coordinator for Fort Concho 657-4441.

Army Spec. 4 Johnson participates in field training exercise

Army Spec. 4 Mitchell C. Johnson has participated in "First Fire One," a joint-service field training exercise conducted by the 11th Air Defense Artillery Brigade, Fort Bliss, Texas.

More than 6,000 soldiers and airmen were involved in the exercise designed to coordinate medium and short range defense of key targets and ground forces. The exercise involved most aspects of the ADA weaponry currently available in the U.S. Army Inventory, including Stinger, Chaparral, Vulcan, Hawks and Roland anti-aircraft weapons.

He is the son of Jack B. and Roy J. Johnson of 411 W. Fourth, Sonora, Texas.

Johnson is a missile crew member with the 62nd Air Defense Artillery at Fort Bliss.

His wife, Jana, is the daughter of John and Willie D. Hobson of 405 Texas, Sweetwater, Texas.

The specialist is a 1978 graduate of Sonora High School.

Olenick completes course

Pvt. Louis Olenick Jr., son of Louis and Nova Olenick of 466 E. Poplar, Sonora, Texas, has completed the manual dial central office repair course at the U.S.

Army Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

The course provided instruction in operation, installation, maintenance, and repair of manual and automatic voice switching telephone equipment.

During the 38 weeks of training, students also received instruction on tactical and fixed plant telephone central office equipment used in military and civilian telephone exchanges.

He is a 1986 graduate of Sonora High School.
