Drama debut delightful

The "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater" got off to an excellent start as this past week-end debuted the beginning of the performances which will continue throughout the summer.

The boiling clouds which rolled in unexpectedly Friday caused some concern but Mother Nature smiled on the event and the cloud did its due and the sky cleared before showtime leaving a little mud but spirits undampened.

A group sing-a-long, led by Scott Gilmore accompanied by Patti Strauch, kicked off the evening

Joe Lane spoke with knowledge and confidence as he told of Will Carver.

Once again the performance began with the group sing-a-long as will all performances.

The Steakhouse served extra tender fajitas, beans, rice, tortillas and peach cobbler to the lucky diners.

The smile which played on Joe Lane's face as he stepped upon the stage gave promise of an extra special story telling. The promise was certainly fulfilled as Lane related the story of Will Carver's demise holding the attention of the audience through skill and humor.

The song stylings of Tammy Bowman concluded the entertainment.

Bowman, an eighteen year old legal secretary from San Angelo, delighted the crowd with her singing ability. She sang country and blues and proved she had mastery of both.

Saturday's out-of-town guests came from Eden, Stephenville, Lubbock, Amarillo and Shreveport, Louisiana.

A "bag full of goodies" will be given out at each performance to the person who came the farthest distance. The bag and a Sesquicentennial mug have been donated by the Sonora Chamber of Commerce. More needs to be added to the bag. Mr. or Mrs. Merchant, if you have Texas-type items you would like to donate, please call the Devil's River News.

The performances for July 3 and 4 will provide more excellent entertainment.

Kelly Russell will be the storyteller on Friday, July 3. He will be doing a humorous selection.

Russell has performed in SCAT's production of "The King and I", at the Lions Queen Banquet and was named to the all-star cast at State after his performance in this year's one-act play. He also won second in UIL Prose at State.

If you have had the privilege of seeing Russell perform, you know (con't. on page 4.)

Babies are almost always cute and this baby raccoon visiting outside the News office this week was no exception. Regardless of how cute off-spring of wild animals is, it is important to remember they are still wild and should be treated accordingly.

with song books provided for everyone.

Gus Clemons was the storyteller for the first performance Friday night. He gave a wonderfully informative talk on Texas and her history, starting hundreds of years ago and working to the present.

Following Clemons, the Kountry Kousins square danced across the stage showing their fancy steps and close attention to the calls.

Dinner featured chicken fried steak with the trimmings done the way only the Sutton County Steakhouse can do it-deliciously!

Out-of-town guests came from Amarillo and Austin.

Saturday evening proved to be just as exciting as Friday.

Circle up and do-si-do was the call for the Kountry Kousins as they entertained those assembled for the performance Friday night.

Reappraisal notices sent

Some Sonorans received a jolt in last weeks mail as notices were sent out from the Appraisal District Office to property owners whose property values increased by $1,000 or more. In addition to the change in taxing values, the notices also carried the estimated effective tax rate.

The state mandates that a reappraisal must be done every four years. Since the last appraisal was done in 1983, members of the Appraisal District office started early this year on the reappraisal.

In a reappraisal, the valuations are tested by sales for market value of similar property in a given regional locality. During the process, there is a visual inspection of each property and its condition. Each is checked for additions or deletions, recalculated based on square footage and depreciation is considered. The property value is then adjusted either up or down.

It is quite possible however for your property to be reappraised at intervals besides those mandated as building permits are checked each year and major additions or deletions considered in the property value. It must be stressed that the tax rates on the notices sent out are estimated and that each taxing entity sets their own tax rate based on their needs.

However, with an estimated loss of $160 million on the 1987 mineral roll, local taxpayers will find that they are having to absorb more of the tax burden which has heretofore been paid by the oil and gas industry.

Effective tax rate is the rate which can be levied based on current valuations to meet each taxing units debt payment for the current year and to provide the same amount of operating revenue as levied on properties taxed in the prior year.

More simply put, if you must have $1 and the tax base is $1,000, the tax would be 10¢ per $100 valuation. To raise the same dollar on a tax base of $500, the tax would jump to 20¢ per $100 valuation.

Taxpayers who feel their property is not valued properly are invited to come into the Appraisal District Office in the Courthouse Annex to discuss the matter. Sometimes the solutions are simple and easily handled.

If the matter cannot be resolved, you have the right to appear before the Appraisal Review Board which will be meeting on July 15 for the mineral roll and on July 16 for the local roll.

After the Appraisal Review Board has approved the district's total appraisal value, the taxing units must publish their calculated effective tax rate, in the newspaper, the first week of August. By September 1, the taxing unit governing bodies must adopt 1987 tax rates.

Storm warning system in place in Sonora

In view of the turbulent spring and early summer weather West Texas experiences each year, the question has been posed "How are Sonorans warned of possible dangers resulting from storms?"

While it may not be the most sophisticated, Sonora does have a warning system.

Perhaps the most obvious portion of the system is the siren at the Fire Department which would be sounded immediately in the face of impending danger. There is a definite need at this time to install another siren elsewhere in the community to provide greater coverage.

Announcements would also be made on KHOS. Station manager, Mike Street, has given assurance that even if the broadcast programming was coming from KIXY in San Angelo, arrangements have been made to break into that programming to warn residents.

During inclement weather, "weather spotters" are also used.

The "weather spotters" are made up of local law enforcement agents and the Fire Department as well as some private citizens, who are assigned to high spots in the area to watch the cloud development. "Weather spotter" classes are held each year through the Emergency Management System to educate the spotters on what to look for with the cloud formations.

As soon as a warning is received, available units of the Police Department, Sheriff's Department and the Fire Department would immediately start through town warning residents by means of mobile public address systems, if time allows.

The Emergency Management Office has drafted a Public Information Paper which will be inserted in the Devil's River News sometime during the first part of next year. This Public Information Paper has been designed to answer any questions regarding what, how and where.

Think before you act

DEAR COMMISSIONER: I am very angry! Who the heck is TEC to tell me what I can and cannot do? If I am paying the wages I intend to run my company any way I please. If my employees don't like my rules they are free to quit! Quit harassing employers who are already struggling.

over 50 years now. I write this column in an effort to help people like you. Please contact me with specific problems you may be having.

DEAR COMMISSIONER: I had a married couple working for me and the husband quit to go to work for a competitor. The wife still works for me. Needless to say, I am concerned about the possibility that sensitive or "inside" information may be passed on to my competition via my employee. I am thinking of letting her go. Where do I stand as far as an unemployment benefits are concerned?

J.S. Sweetwater, Texas

DEAR J.S.: A claimant cannot be disqualified from receiving unemployment benefits unless the employer proves that he or she was fired for work connected misconduct. While I certainly understand your concern over this situation, the fact remains that your employee has not committed any work connected misconduct. The mere conjecture that an employee might do something adverse to your interests in the future will not support a disqualification under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act.

My advice is to make your best business decision, knowing in advance that should you opt to terminate, you will be liable for benefits if she files a claim.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

An individual, in one of the best positions to know, stated that six drilling rigs should be moving into the county next month. Supposing they remain for 1 year, my 1982 study indicates they should deposit 1.8 million dollars in county pockets, independent of the slowly increasing royalty checks. A survey will be made on operating rigs when, and if, they get here, to see what the county residual is, per rig, in 1987.

Unfolding before us, we have three embryonic sources of county income: The fossil fuel industry, Agriculture and Tourism in an embryonic egg and sperm stage at best. It should be a good show, worthy of the closest scrutiny.

Agriculture, we know, is the traditional supporter of Sonora as a ranch support town of 1300 to 1500 people dependent on the largess of the large land owners, now largely absentee landlords. There is not much economic slack in the system and judging by the increase in debt on land over the last 50 years it is assumed there is a lot of red ink. The system allows little room for growth and only service jobs for young people with promotions dependent on funerals.

The fossil fuel industry pours capital into the county from top to bottom and it smears it around allowing a population of 2500 to 4000 and a profusion of jobs for young people, technical jobs as well as a proliferation of service jobs.

We have just had a demonstration of the beneficial and detrimental dividends from 1978 to 1982. It is much like the desert flower, it comes up, blooms, and is gone. It is the only salvation in sight, at this time for the local economy, and should it develop, the natives should remember that it is an indeed short-sighted and poorly bred dog that bites the hand which feeds him. Our business men, and to a lesser degree our agriculturists, must remember we, must stay prepared to go back to an agricultural economy.

Tourism? It is too early to say and there are many problems that must be overcome. It would appear that some entrepreneur should build a motel complex at the Caverns, but the fiefdom syndrome restricts the land available ability. Still, when you add it all up, the returns are, percentage wise, rather small and seasonal. The bulk of the dividends fall on a small segment of the economy.

Tourism may, or may not be a viable remunerative augmentation to the local economy, but that is all it is, a necessary augmentation. You are invited to make yourself a list of fifty Sonorans. Superimpose on your list the concept that tourism requires meeting, with smiling, tooth-showing subservience-tourists. Draw your own conclusions.

Letter to the Editor

To the community of Sonora,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the people of the community for all their support of me and my trip to England. As I write this, I realize that I have only a few hours left before I leave Sonora, for San Antonio and a 9:30 flight to New York on Saturday. So many people have given good suggestions and advice that I feel will make my trip more worthwhile.

HEALTH CARE

by Scott Gilmore
Hospital Administrator

Summer invites you to discover the wonderful outdoors...but heed this invitation because it also invites a host of potential hazards: insect bites, sun exposure, poisonous plants, recreation and travel related injuries.

Safety is contagious. Be a role model for your family, friends, and neighbors. People learn more by observation than lecture.

Keep infants and young children out of the sun. A bad burn on an infant or small child can be very serious.

Watch the time. The sun's rays are most intense between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. (11 a.m. to 3 p.m. daylight savings time). Try to schedule outdoor activities for early morning or late afternoon. Stay indoors while the sun's ray are the most intense.

I would like to especially thank the Chamber of Commerce, LaVerne Benton at the Old Sonora Trading Co. and the Devil's River News. The Chamber of Commerce has provided me with maps, visitors guides, and a visor (with Sonora on it). LaVerne Benton down at the Old Sonora Trading Co. worked with me on my mohair "goats". And the Devil's River News was nice enough to provide me with 30 of the inserts on Sonora that appeared in the paper a couple of weeks ago. I hope that I will be able to exchange some of these things from Sonora with the foreign students and promote Sonora and this area in the process.

Again, thank you for all of your support and good luck to Janet Barlemann and Brian Cascadden who will also be going overseas. I hope that you both have a wonderful time in your programs!
Cynthia Kepler

Use a sunscreen. The higher the Sun Protection Factor (SPF), the greater the protection. The Skin Cancer Foundation recommends using products SPF 15. For children 2 years of age or younger, consult your physician. The use of a sunscreen should NOT be an excuse for overexposure to the sun...sunscreens offer relative, not absolute protection.

Beware of reflected light. Many surfaces...sand, cement, water...can reflect radiation. Be careful on cloudy days, too, when up to 80% of the sun's radiation reaches the ground.

Be especially careful at certain altitudes and latitudes. For every 1,000 feet above sea level, radiation increases 4 to 5 percent. And the closer you are to the equator, the stronger the sun's rays. Be aware of this as you travel.

Don't mix sun with certain medications. Photosensitivity--and adverse reaction to sunlight characterized by rash, redness, and/or swelling--can be a side effect of certain medications. Consult your physical or pharmacist before going out in the sun while under medication.

For hundreds of thousands of people in this country each year, precancerous growths and skin cancers are the final result of skin changes that began many years before. The tendency to develop malignant melanoma, the most life-threatening form of skin cancer, has been associated with individuals who receive painful blistering sunburns as children or teenagers.

Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital treats most afflictions associated with summer "fun and sun" but hopes you won't be among that number.

Technology puts Edward D. Jones & Co. at forefront of investment industry

While the use of high-tech audio-visual satellite transmission may seem foreign to the world of stocks and bonds, the St. Louis-based national investment firm of Edward D. Jones & Co. is setting new standards in the securities industry with the continued automation of its computerized communication system.

Last summer, Jones completed a multimillion dollar conversion of this system, which now enables the firm's more than 1,200 registered representatives to provide such services as instantaneous price information on more than 4,600 companies and specific forecasts of dividends and earnings or more than 1,000 companies, as well as direct access to major mutual fund companies.

"Now, we're considering taking this a step further," General Partner Rich Malone said.

Jones is testing possible expansion of its existing technological capabilities by reaching for the sky--via satellite. "With more than 1,100 branches located in 36 states, we believe satellite transmission may be the way to insure our clients continue to receive the level of service they have come to expect from one of the nation's largest financial services firms," said Malone.

The goal of the pilot, according to Malone, is to determine whether satellite transmission of data and video is viable for Jones, whose branch offices are often in what could be termed "remote" locations.

The 10 participating branch offices in the pilot have had satellite dishes installed atop their buildings, which are connected to computer terminals and printers inside their office locations. The transmission of various types of information will be tested during the pilot including the transmission of live video.

The participating branches are located in Bellingham, Wash.; Boynton Beach, Fla.; Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Anacortes, Wash.; Victoria, Texas; Manchester, Mo.; Minot, N.D.; Oelwein, Iowa; Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; and Statesboro, Ga. These branches were chosen primarily because of their geographical location.

Malone explained that the variety of locales is important because Jones' offices are located throughout the country in many different climates and determining if the disk can withstand a variety of weather conditions is critical in evaluating whether satellite transmission can be an effective component of the Jones communications network.

"For instance, the density of a raindrop in Oregon is different than the density of a raindrop in Florida," explained Malone, "and moisture can cause a satellite outage because it is 'heavy' when compared to the power of the dish."

Malone expects the initial testing phase to be completed by late 1987. Barring any unforeseen complications, he and his

Outdoor Drama

Dr. Patti Strauch shows how it is done. For the patrons of the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater, she demonstrates the spinning of wool. Using wool from her ranch, Patti carded then spun the wool used in her weavings. Patti also showed her musical talent during the nightly sing-a-long with Scott Gilmore. You can see Patti and her weavings every weekend at the Covered Wagon Dinner theater.

you are in for a special evening. Saturday's storyteller will be Don Jones. Jones ability to address large groups of people will put him in good stead for his portion of the program.

It is perfectly okay to "keep up with this Jones" as he is pastor of the Sonora Church of Christ.

Entertainment for both evenings will be provided by Ballet Folklorico from Del Rio.

This delightful group of young dancers will be performing traditional and folks dances of Mexico. Costumes will be bright and authentic.

Dinner will be catered by the Sutton County Steakhouse who will cater for all the performances. Dinner Friday night will feature a Deluxe Mexican Dinner with enchiladas, fajitas, rice, beans, guacamole, chips, hot sauce, tea and cobbler.

Saturday's menu will include barbecue brisket, sausage, cole slaw, beans, homemade bread, tea and a brownie.

The sing-a-long will begin at 6 pm, dinner at 6:30 and showtime at 7:30. The show will be over about dusk.

Dinner Theater tickets are $9.95 for adults and $7.95 for children under twelve. This ticket is good for one dinner and performance. Only a limited number of Dinner Theater are available at the gate so advance purchases are suggested.

Season Tickets may be purchased for $14.95. This ticket entitles the bearer to attend all performances but does not include the cost of the meal. Dinner for Season Tickets holders can be purchased for $5.95 for adults, and $3.95 for children under twelve. Reservations for dinner must be made by calling the Steakhouse at 387-3833.

Dinner Theater and Season Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce, Devil's River News, Ol' Sonora Trading Co., Sutton County Steakhouse, Westerman Drug and at the Caverns.

Theater Tickets for one performance only will be on sale at the gate. The cost will be $4 for adults and $1 for children under twelve.

The different tickets have been designed to allow you to come and join in the fun however it is best for you, eat or don't eat but please enjoy!

You might want to bring your lawn chair. The picnic tables get a little hard. It is also a good idea to bring insect repellent.

No article about the "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater" would be complete without expressing gratitude to the Mayfields and the Morris' for all they have done to help the production, from providing the site at the Caverns to giving their full support to the venture.

Come join us- you'll be glad you did!

Wet weather aggravates insect problems

Recent heavy rains and violent weather, causing deaths, injuries, flooding, and property damage, have left almost no part of Texas unscathed. But even after the sun returns, the state may have in store more misery of another sort.

According to entomologists at the Texas Department of Health (TDH), a dramatic increase in the state's mosquito population is imminent. As early as April, TDH predicted the insect problem. The unusually mild winter had allowed the pests to continue breeding through the cool part of the year. And now, the already strong concentrations of mosquitos have additional breeding places created by standing water throughout the countryside.

"Ordinarily, we warn everyone to keep window screens in good repair, to empty standing water out of any receptacles in their yards, and to report any extremely infested areas to their local health departments," said Bobby Davis, director of the TDH General Sanitation Division. "And of course we recommend the same things this year. But even with everyone's best efforts this year, it looks as if mosquito swarms may be inevitable."

Davis said he answers about 20 calls each day from local health officials, the Red Cross, and the news media about whether TDH recommends spraying large areas to control the pests. "I have to explain that spraying, at least for now, would be ineffective, since the continuing rains would wash away any pesticide we would authorize using. When the weather has been dry for several days, some local areas may wish to spray. At that point, TDH will be available to help assess the problem and recommend mosquito control methods."

For now, Davis said, the public should continue to drain collected water when possible outside. "It is not the fresh, running water during a rainstorm, but still water that harbors mosquito larvae," he said.

"As if the news about mosquitos were not already gloomy," Davis added, "we also predict that a lot of people are going to see an increase in the flea population. People's pets have been confined inside, often in high humidity, creating ideal conditions for flea infestations indoors--while the mosquitos swarm outdoors. For some people who fail to rid their pets of fleas, and who are unable to reduce the number of mosquito breeding places around their homes, this summer could be pretty uncomfortable."

"Whether we have any increase in mosquito-borne disease outbreaks this year probably will not be known for several weeks, Davis said. "But people have to realize most mosquito species are no more than a nuisance."

Of the 83 species common in Texas, only four are serious disease carriers. TDH monitors outbreaks of mosquito-borne diseases, such as dengue and encephalitis, and assists local health authorities in controlling mosquitoes where outbreaks are found.

The department's mosquito surveillance program, which collects and classifies mosquito samples from across the state, helps identify where dangerous species are concentrated. The TDH Bureau of Laboratories tested some 63,000 mosquito samples last year alone.

Last year, TDH recorded 32 cases of St. Louis encephalitis for the state, including four deaths. Most of those cases were in the Houston area. Three cases of equine encephalitis were reported in West Texas. There also were 17 cases of dengue, or "break bone fever," reported, none of which were fatal. The number of instances for the year was considered normal.

"OVER the HILL GANG"

News from the Nursing Home
by Doris Cahill

Residents, accompanied by Lilia, exposed themselves to the kindly influence of the sun, and cool shade, in the little park Monday. Alice Hardy and Betty Lane took advantage of the swings.

After the latest atmospheric disturbance, my room-mate wanted to know "Who was making the noise last night?" I told her, "The Man Upstairs". She asked, "The doctor?" Then I realized she thought I meant "up in the hospital." Not that anyone ever accused our doctor of being noisy!

Tuesday a.m. Bible Study was read, by Carol Parker, from Ephesians 6. Pray, be alert, and stand firm wearing the armour of God: belt the truth, breast-plate of righteousness, feet fitted in readiness, shield of faith, helmet of salvation, and the sword of the spirit-which is the word of God.

Popcorn tasted good during the movie, "Protocol," that afternoon.

Mary Hoffman wrote that she has been having a great time in South Africa spoiling her only grandchild, but is now disciplining herself to get some sewing and studying done. Her "Miss you all" is reciprocated.

We played Bingo Wednesday a.m. with the help of Lilia and Wanda. The tally was Drennan 3, Knight 2, Brotherton 2, Hamilton 1, Cox 1, Cahill 1, and Reiley 1.

Leah Morris played the piano, and George Morris led singing, at the Sing-Along Wednesday afternoon. Lilia and our new Director of Nurses, Becky Becknell, joined us. Since there was a Flag Day, and soon will be an Independence Day, "You're A Grand Old Flag" seemed appropriate, and we really had fun "Deep In The Heart Of Texas."

As a "changeable note" to follow the Sing-Along how about: Resident: What are these pennies doing in my soup? Dietician: Well, you said there needed to be some change in the food around here.

Ethelda Holland and Gertrude Webb "did" our hair and nails Friday, and Gertrude brought flowers from her garden (among them, "Bells Of Ireland", which I love and hadn't seen in ages). We received magazines from Virgil Poloczek, large print "Portals Of Prayer" from Hope Lutheran Church, a floral arrangement from Peggy Elliott, and Rev. Kent Kepler brought bulletins for Sunday morning service (heard over the radio) from First United Methodist Church. Thanks to all. Lilia also conducted exercises and, oddly enough, no one complained.

We want to remind you that not all of our guests register, and those who visit regularly (or daily) are listed only once a week in this column.

Registered from out of town were: Harold and Jo Ella Briscoe-Midland, Irene and Frances Avila-San Jose, California, Arturo M. Gandar-San Angelo, Robert Hearn-San Antonio, Bill Ray-Eldorado, Lin and Shane Hearn-Del Rio, and Violet Needham-San Angelo.

Hudspeth Hospital and Nursing Home Auxiliary: Martha Wallace, Pauline Thompson, Dorothy Baker, and Greta Smith.

Sonora: Ruth Lee Eaton, Nadine Porter, Petra Gonzales, Irene and Pete Gomez, Telesforo Gonzales, Lori Ann and Amalia Galindo, Jeanette Lozano, Marie Aldwell, Louie Gonzales, and Laura Chalk.

Bueno Bye-until next week!

Charles White, Pastor
Live Oak Baptist Church

Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised.) Heb. 10:23

Realize the Value of Faith

Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked.

Faith is of utmost importance. Without faith we not only displease God but we can receive nothing from Him. Eph. 6:16

But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.

For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord. James 1: 6&7

Faith in Christ brings salvation to the repentant (Eph. 2:8), healing to the afflicted, and comfort to the bereaved.

Faith brings strength, safety, security. Its value is beyond estimation.

But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is rewarder of them that diligently seek him. Heb. 11:6

Recognize the Vision of Faith

Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God. Without a vision the people perish. Many Christians want to see results, receiving first and believing later. They lack the vision of faith.

We must keep a positive outlook. Believe (for financial, physical, mental, or spiritual needs) and we shall receive.

The vision of faith brings "the evidence of things not seen." Heb. 12:2

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Heb. 11:1

Radiate the Virtues of Faith

Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost.

The virtues of faith include salvation, serenity, strength, security, and joyful service unto God.

We radiate the virtues of faith when we help the less fortunate, visit the sick, comfort the bereaved, and witness to the unsaved.

Rejoice with joy unspeakable. Miracles happen when we use and exercise our faith. Rom. 15:13

Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory;

Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

Rejoice in the Victory of Faith
For whatsoever is born god overcometh the world; and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

Let us never fail to praise and glorify God when victory comes.

1 John 5:4

By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name.

Rejoicing over victories of faith strengthens our faith. Sharing our victories with others inspires and increases their faith also. Heb. 13:15

Faith brings Salvation

For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God.

When a sinner repents with godly sorrow and believes God's promises, he receives forgiveness of sins.

When the Christian totally commits his life to Jesus Christ, he receives cleansing and is filled with the Holy Spirit. Eph. 2:8

That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. Rom. 10: 9&10

DPS predicts 40 fatalities during the July 4th holiday

The Department of Public Safety estimates that 40 persons will die in traffic accidents in the state during the upcoming Fourth of July holiday period.

For counting purposes, the National Safety Council has designated the 78 hour period from 6 p.m. Thursday, July 2 through midnight Sunday, July 5, as the holiday period.

Last year, during the Fourth of July period, 41 persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents, with four others subsequently dying of injuries suffered during the time frame.

"Even though the 1986 and 1987 holiday periods are the same length, we're hopeful that fewer persons will die this year, in keeping with the steady decline in traffic deaths we have been observing in recent years," said Col. Leo Gossett, director of the DPS.

Though the number of holiday vehicle deaths varies from year to year, the causes of fatal accidents do not.

"Last year, slightly more than 6 out of 10 traffic fatalities resulted from accidents in which either speed or driving while intoxicated were listed as contributing factors," Gossett said. "The message is clear--high speed or driving under the influence of alcohol, and often a combination of both, can kill motorists. It's also very important to remember to wear that safety belt and make sure very young children are in child safety seats."

As in years past, the DPS will conduct its Operation Motorcade program during the Fourth of July period, with periodic reports on the number of traffic deaths occurring during the 78 hour counting period.

Additionally, as part of Operation Holiday, DPS Highway Patrol commanders will be assigning added personnel to patrol the state's highways during the period.

Sale of U.S. Savings Bonds up by 23 percent

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds for the first half of fiscal year 1987 in Texas amounted to 232,781,413, an increase of $44 million or 23.3% over the same period of 1986, T.J. Morrow, District Director of the U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Dallas announced. These sales represent 60 percent of the state's 1987 assigned dollar goal of $388 million.

Sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $2,700.00 during March 1987 in Sutton County, Roberta James Volunteer County Chairman, said. The October 1986-March 1987 total for the County was $33,875.00, which represents 56.4% of the County's 1987 assigned dollar goal.

Nationally, March 1987 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $703 million, an increase of 17% over last year and the highest sales for any March since 1978. Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds for the first six months of fiscal year 1987 increased 129 percent and redemptions decreased nine percent compared to the same period for 1986, Savings Bonds held by the American public has reached an all-time high of $94.7 billion. The increase in amount outstanding during March 1987 along was $883 million, the highest for any March since 1943.

Much of the sales growth can be attributed to the new market-based rate which was effective November 1, 1982. The current rate in effect (May thru October 1987) for Bonds held five years or longer is 5.84%. The average rate since November 1, 1982 (five years) is 8.68 percent. Bonds held at least five years earn 85 percent of the average rate on five-year Treasury marketable securities during the holding period which is currently 8.68 percent. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale.

Current rate information is available by calling toll-free, 1-800-US BONDS.

Social Security News

Direct deposit of checks saves

People who get Social Security checks can have them deposited directly into a checking or savings account at a financial institution of their choice, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

Direct deposit has several advantages, Upp said, including:

**No need to worry about a check being lost.

**No need to worry about a check lying in a mailbox when away from home.

**Savings in time and transportation and no standing in line to cash or deposit the checks.

**Money in account is safer than carrying cash.

A person can deal with any financial institution he or she chooses, including a commercial bank, savings bank, savings and loan association, Federal or State credit union, or similar institution.

Since banking practices vary, a person should find out how the financial institution handles direct deposits, whether a statement is sent, about any service charge, minimum deposits, interest rates, and special services provided.

To arrange direct deposit, a person should complete a form SF-1199, available at the financial institution. A monthly benefit check shows all the information needed to complete the form.

More information about direct deposit can be obtained at the San Angelo Social Security Office or at any financial institution. The San Angelo Social Security Office is located at 2214 Sherwood Way, and the telephone number is 949-4608.

Workshops highlight beef cattle session

"Growing Quality Forage for Beef Cattle" and "Evaluating Cattle for Fertility and for Different Range Environments" are the titles of two workshops during the beef cattle session at the International Ranchers Roundup.

The IRR, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will be August 24-27 at the Y-O Hilton and the Inn of the Hills.

Dr. Cas Maree from South Africa, known worldwide as an expert in cattle fertility, will conduct a workshop on evaluating cattle for fertility as well as different range environments.

Dr. Maree will start the workshop with a short classroom activity followed by a live cattle evaluation.

"This workshop promises to be very interesting and is one that no rancher should miss," according to Dr. Tom Troxel, livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and one of the IRR coordinators.

Along with Dr. Maree's workshop, another interesting workshop will be conducted by Dr. David Bade and Dr. Don Dorsett on producing high quality forage for cattle.

Both speakers are forage specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Their workshop is designed to "get down to the nuts and bolts of producing hay," Dr. Troxel said.

"What works, what doesn't work and how much it will cost will be covered during this workshop," he added.

Further information about obtaining an IRR program may be received by contacting local county Extension agents or writing IRR, P.O. Box 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78802-1849 (telephone 512-278-9151.)

Take the mystery out of the stock market

Some investors view the stock market as a mystery or a gamble. Actually the market is nothing more than a reflection of the economy. When the economy is strong and the future looks promising, people tend to invest their money, and when enough people invest, the price of stocks, in general, go up, on the other hand, when things appear gloomy and investors sell their stock, prices usually go down. Of course, there's more to the overall process than just supply and demand, but anyone who seriously considers investing in the economy can find common stocks a rewarding alternative to bonds, certificates of deposit and savings accounts.

In recent figures published by Capital Research and Management Company, one of the nation's largest, oldest and most successful investment advisory firms, a study of economic history and the reaction of various investment to the economy revealed some interesting facts. The Capital Research study points out that from the mid-1960's to the early 1980's the market was relatively stagnant. A chart of the Dow Jones Industrial Average in January 1966 shows it at 1,000, seesawing up and down several times and winding up at 963 at the end of 1980. Economic conditions were not encouraging as inflation spiraled out of sight, interest rates reached double-digit levels, oil prices rose from $4 to $40 a barrel, tax rates shot as high as 70 percent, and the government tried to regulate almost everything. In short, investors saw greater opportunities outside the stock market.

Capital Research points out that as these conditions changed, both individuals and institutional investors turned once again to common stocks. Why?—"because historically stocks have proved to be their most rewarding alternative." In their report, Capital Research also reviewed the 60 years from 1925 through 1985. During this period, the annual increase in inflation was 3.1 percent, the average rate paid on T-bills was 3.4 percent, the yield on government bond averaged 4.2 percent, and corporate bonds paid an average of 4.8 percent while common stocks returned a whopping average of 9.8 percent each year. When interest rates are high, as they've largely been over the past decade, serious money goes into interest-sensitive investments such as bonds or certificates of deposit. When rates are no longer as attractive, investors look for other investment vehicles. These are economic conditions that influence investment decisions. If they're understood and sensibly applied, they can eliminate a lot of the mystery and gamble from the stock market.

For further illustrate economic and market reactions, Capital Research points out that today individual investors have only 21 percent of their assets in stocks compared to 43 percent in the late 60's. Add to this the fact that in just the last three years almost 15 percent of companies listed on The New York Stock Exchange have been swallowed up by takeovers or merger and you see that should demand for stocks increase, there could be fewer stocks to buy.

Of course, no statistical or historical data is conclusive—especially in the stock market—but you can see that as more facts are known, some of the market mystery disappears.

Another fear that often haunts potential investors is how high the market is currently. There seems to be, at least in the minds of investors, some mythical number the market cannot penetrate. When it eventually reaches that number, they believe, it can't go higher. As we earlier pointed out, there actually was a period when the market went nowhere, but that's not to say there's no room for growth in the stock market. In fact, the Capital study concludes that by carefully selecting stocks whose corporate earnings and dividends have out-paced inflation, "there are substantial values not reflected in stock prices. In other words, there's plenty of growth potential in the market."

Although the stock market does offer the challenge of risk, it also offers the opportunity for reward. By investigating the historical reaction of the market to various past economic events, one can prudently plan for the future. It's not a guaranteed formula, but it sure beats the mystery of gambling.

Rate increase to effect all telephone customers

In accordance with recent Federal Communication Commission action, all single line business and residential telephone customers across the nation, including those served by General Telephone, will be subject to an increase in their interstate Subscriber Line Charge from the current $2.00 per month to a $2.60 per month charge.

This 60 cent increase in the interstate subscriber line charge is effective July 1, 1987, and is the third phase of a federally mandated process that is intended to gradually eliminate the practice of charging customers more for long-distance service in order to keep local rates artificially low.

Business customers with more than one line have been paying $6 interstate subscriber line charge since May 1984. This interstate subscriber line charge will not change.

Under the Federal Communications Commission plan for implementation of the interstate subscriber line charges, the total revenues of the local telephone companies will not increase since the FCC in turn will reduce by an equivalent amount charges to long-distance carriers for use of local facilities and equipment. It is the intent of the FCC that this decrease in long-distance carriers' expense will be passed through to consumers in the form of reduced interstate long-distance rates. Some interexchange carriers have already announced plans to reduce interstate long-distance rates.

General Telephone officials said the interstate subscriber line charges are designed to shift from long-distance users to local customers, a larger portion of the actual costs of providing the line from their residence or business to the telephone switching equipment. It was pointed out that long-distance rates have been artificially high to pay a portion of these costs, thus benefiting local exchange access rates by keeping them artificially low.

Depending on the amount of interstate long-distance calling, the reductions for interstate rates could offset the $2.60 interstate fee for many customers, especially high volume users.

The $2.60 interstate subscriber line charge applies to all residential and single line business customers of all exchange telephone companies providing local exchange service.
