Fashioned after the 18th century homes found along the historic James River in old Virginia, this lovely home reflects a lifestyle enjoyed in a gentler era. Using much time and thorough research, the original owners of this beautiful manor house spent years studying architecture and furnishings of the period to create this magnificent dwelling.

The keeping room was added after the home's initial construction was completed and gives a glimpse of early American settlement homes. The guest house behind the main house is a small version of a post-revolutionary town house.

The home will be available for tours from 1 until 6 p.m. on Saturday, October 17 during the Second Annual Home Tour. See related article for ticket information.

Residents to pay more for garbage collection due to state mandated sales tax

The City Council meet in regular session on September 15, 1987.

After approval of minutes of the previous meeting, the Council heard from Barbara Carmon, Sales Representative for GTE who appeared before the Council to announce that the City would have the opportunity to purchase the in-place telephone system by December. Mrs. Carmon recommended however, that the City lease an updated system to replace what is now in use. Mayor Gosney tabled the request until the Council could review the matter.

Rex Ann Friess gave her report from the Appraisal Office stating that the tax collection rate for the City was running at 90%, down 2% this time last year.

Mayor Gosney announced that a new state law imposing sales tax on garbage collection would become effective October 1, 1987. A 6% state sales tax, plus a 1% local sales tax would be charged on garbage collection revenues, with all sales taxes collected to be sent to the State Comptroller. The 1% local portion of the sales tax will be allocated back to the City. There being no alternative, the Council passed the ordinance pertaining to the tax charges unanimously.

The Council heard a request on behalf of Temple Jerusalem to hold a youth rally on September 19 at Liberty Park. Alderman Trainer made a motion to allow such a permit with the stipulation that the rally only be conducted for one hour between 7 and 8 pm. The motion carried.

Superintendent James Bible and Assistant Superintendent Mario Sotelo advised the Council that the School was having a problem with the contract concerning the use of the drug dog in the SISD and stated that they were working with their attorneys and an insurance agent to come up with a contract whereby, all parties involved were in agreement and civil rights coverage was provided. Mr. Bible ask for this item to be tabled until the next meeting. Also, Mr. Bible commended the Police Department for their excellent service to the community, expressing thanks, appreciation and gratitude on behalf of the School System.

A motion was made by Alderman Mooney to adopt the 1987-88 fiscal year budget with Alderman Trainer making a motion to maintain the current tax rate of .5384 for 1987-88 fiscal year. Both motions passed with the unanimous approval of the Council.

Discussion was once again held in regard to the purchase of a new fire truck. It was the consensus of the Council to postpone the purchase for the time being but reassured the Fire Department that it would be purchased at a later date, possibly when the county was able to share in the expense. Mayor Gosney commended the Fire Department on their dedicated service to the community.

The Council heard three Planning and Zoning cases, the first being a requested zone change by Fred Adkins to operate a pecan shelling business at 511 Water Ave. A neighbor was present and expressed objection to the change. The Council agreed that this matter should be tabled until Mr. Adkins could be present at the meeting.

The second case involved a request from Frank Adkins for a zone change to commercial to operate a plumbing business. After an objection by a neighbor, it was explained that Mr. Adkins had the right to operate under the grandfather clause, due to the fact the business was in existence before ordinance was adopted. A motion was made to allow Mr. Adkins to continue his business at his residence provided nothing changed from the way he presently operates. The Council voted in favor of the change with Alderman Thomas Adkins abstaining.

A 17' variance was granted to Manuel Cabezuela, at the corner of Pecan and Water, to move in a house upon recommendation of the Planning and Zoning Board.

The Council approved a contract with Blue Cross/Blue Shield to provide health insurance coverage for city employees and their families.

Bids for the sale of the old airport lights were opened and the purchase was awarded L.G. Myers as high bidder offering $550.00 for the lights.

An ordinance providing for the sale of unclaimed property, surplus, or obsolete personal property owned by the City was reviewed with the Council by the City Attorney. Alderman Mooney questioned Sec. 17.39 with regards to the destruction of pistols and illegal weapons, stating that he had a problem with destroying items of value. Also, Chief Gesch ask that the wording in regard to rank, asking that the rank of lieutenant be excluded since his department had no such rank. Mayor Gosney ask that this ordinance be tabled until the City Attorney could make the necessary revision.

The Mayor called a special meeting of the Council for September 22 to review applications for the position of City Manager. To date thirty-five applications have been received, most from within the state but including some from outside the state. Personal interviews should begin within the next several weeks.

Tax change hits new items

State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced many new services will become taxable on October 1, when the state's sales tax rate increases from 5 1/4% to 6 percent.

"The tax change will not only hit items which are now currently taxed, but a number of newly taxable items and services," Bullock said.

The expanded sales tax base was a major element of a $5.7 billion tax bill approved by the Legislature this past summer.

October 1 is also the effective date of an increase in taxes on cigarettes, going up from 20.5 cents a pack to 26 cents a pack.

The Legislature extended the sales tax to several broad categories of services such as real property services, including landscaping, janitorial, garbage collection and pest control; security services, including private investigators and armored car services; information furnished by credit bureaus; and debt services, such as adjustments and repossessions.

It will include information services like financial research, specialized information and insurance services including damage appraisals, investigations and claims adjustments, but not premiums paid for insurance.

The expanded tax base is expected to add more than 64,000 Texas businesses to the state's tax rolls, joining the more than 420,000 merchants and businesses already collecting sales taxes.

Newly taxable items include custom computer programs, labor on installations to tangible property, some transportation charges on the sales of goods, telephone services and membership and dues to private clubs.

"Businesses need to reprogram cash registers and alert workers and staff of the new tax rate taking effect October 1," Bullock said.

There is no increase in the one-percent local option tax collected in some areas of Texas.

A fee for getting a sales tax permit and an increase in the state's motor vehicle sales and hotel/motel room taxes went into effect on September 1.

A rollback in the state's motor fuel tax from 15 cents to 10 cents a gallon was also cancelled on September 1.

Starting January 1, 1988, the sales tax will be further extended to data processing services, including word processing, data entry, retrieval and search as well as payroll and business accounting, data production, time sharing and computer management.

Taxes will also be due on repair and remodeling services, except on new construction and owner-occupied residences starting January 1, 1988.

Director election Oct. 2

An election for a director to serve in Zone 3 on the Edward Plateau Soil and Water Conservation Board is scheduled for October 2, 1987, at Sonora Wool House at 8:30 a.m. Coffee and donuts will be served, and following the election, there will be a short tour of some plots that were sprayed with Reclaim, a new chemical used for brush control.

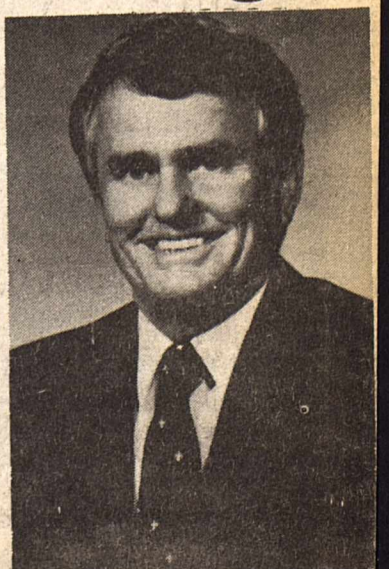

State law decrees that to be eligible to vote in a soil and water conservation district director's election, a person must own agricultural land within the district where the election is being held. The person must also live in a county all of any part of which is in the district and the voter must be 18 years old.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of myself and my family, to say thank you to the citizens of Sonora and Sutton County who have been so nice to us during the time we have lived in Sonora.

In all my travels in the radio business, we received the warmest welcome here that we have ever received anywhere. The time we have spent here has been wonderful.

I'll stay in touch with everyone, even though I won't be here.

Thanks again,
Max Danger

Dear Citizens of Sonora,

As a trustee on the school board, I personally feel it is necessary to respond to Scott Shurley's editorial, dated September 17, 1987. It is not my intention to get into a letter-writing debate, but I believe that there will be misconceptions and anxieties arise from what I consider a loosely-stated set of figures, particularly those concerning the I & S rate.

First, I think that it is necessary to define certain terms and how they are arrived at, so that the people will have a better understanding of what the Board was faced with when we made our decision to set the tax rate. The "effective tax" is the tax rate which a taxing entity is entitled to set in order to levy the same amount of money it received the previous year. Prior to the summer of 1987, the formula used to determine the MAXIMUM EFFECTIVE TAX RATE (the maximum being the amount that can be levied without facing a rollback election) was to add the Maintenance and Operation (M & O) and Interest and Sinking (I & S)--I & S being bond debt repayments--and multiplying the sum by 1.08: (M & O + I & S) X 1.08 = MAXIMUM EFFECTIVE TAX RATE. With the passage of House Bill 1866, however, the formula for calculating the MAXIMUM EFFECTIVE TAX RATE was changed dramatically. The new formula is as follows: (M & O) X 1.08 + (I & S) = MAXIMUM EFFECTIVE TAX RATE. What this means is that the school districts can levy and collect the I & S and then levy for M & O the same amount as received last year, plus 8%, before being faced with a rollback. This assures all school districts the ability to repay bond indebtedness and also levy enough money to operate at the previous year's spending levels, no matter how extreme the fluctuation of a district's tax base.

With the passage of this new law, it was important that for the first year, we set our M & O rate such that it realistically reflects the amount of money it takes to maintain and operate our school system, based on our current tax base (that figure is 84¢ per $100 evaluation.) Had we applied our reserves against M & O rather than I & S, we would have set the effective M & O rate at an artificially low level and established a precedent from which we could not have recovered unless we defeated a rollback.

Another major concern was that even if we had a significant increase in our tax base and with a rollback, BY LAW we would not be able to levy enough money to meet current M & O obligations. As a matter of fact, had we followed any other course of action, we would have been faced with uncertainty at best.

I think the Board made a responsible decision, in that for the upcoming year, we will have an optimum range of options and in no way place any program in jeopardy.

I would like to add that this was a one-time situation. It is certainly this Board member's opinion that we adjust our M & O to meet local economic conditions, and that we work the I & S rate back to its realistic rate. When it comes time to drop the I & S rate from the tax rolls, it should accurately reflect the amount needed to make our last bond payment.

In closing, I can confidently say that there is not a single trustee who would consider placing our school district in jeopardy. We would not be there in the first place unless we had the best interest of our children and community at heart.

Sincerely,
Gary Hardgrave
Trustee, SISD

Dear Editor and All,

I was so saddened to see where our dear friend Hazel McClelland had passed away. I want to commend Ann Cates for the write up on the front page and the poem was so fitting too. The Lord giveth and He taketh away, that's a debt we all have to pay sooner or later.

Yes, Hazel was so nice and kind to everyone, she was always the life of the party. We lived next door to her for a few months the year 1940. I think she was such an adorable lady, when she cooked something special she would bring us some. Our daughter Elise and her daughter Jo was about the same age. She was always helping someone in need. That's the way to live, to do good deeds, let our light shine so anyone can see your good works. I always did love to read her news about Sonora. I kept thinking I would drop her a letter telling her what a great job she was doing. I want to give her family our best regards.

And all our friends out Sonora way. I read the Devil's River News from cover to cover and would love for anyone to write your dear old friend. Would love to hear from anyone. I was around Sonora in the early days as a cowboy. Now I near 92 1/2 years young but I have a warm spot in my heart for Sonora.

So keep a prayer and a song in your heart.
God bless all,
Love,
Carl Farrar

Dear Carl,

It has been awhile since we last heard from you. As always, we enjoy your letters and like to share them with our readers.

I want to apologize for when I put your name on the list of persons who have "adopted" a foot of the depot roof, I misspelled Senatobia. I'll try to do better in the future.

Your friend,
Ann Cates

Whatever happened to old fashion work standards

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: I am writing to let you know just what I think of the whole lousy system. I recently discharged an employee for poor performance. He promptly filed a claim for unemployment and the TEC decided to pay him because he "could not meet my standards." I believe they called it inability!

I am not appealing this case because I refuse to waste a more of my time. It is clear that the TEC intends to reward mediocrity and penalize employers who require a standard of excellence. I shudder to think what standard of performance the TEC expects from ITS employees.

J.G.
Wichita Falls

DEAR J.B.: I understand your frustration, but by deciding not to appeal this case you are making an unreasonable business decision.

Most claims for benefits are disputed. There is at least one dissatisfied party in every contested claim. That is why the law provides for an appeal process. If you choose not to avail yourself of the rights guaranteed you under the law, I cannot help you.

I urge you to reconsider. Remember that the law provides for non-payment of benefits when MISCONDUCT CONNECTED WITH THE WORK is proven. Inability, however, is not misconduct because it is beyond the employee's control. If you testified only that your employee never satisfied your expectations we would probably rule that the inability was beyond his control. On the other hand, negligence, not following instructions, not acting in the employer's best interest, etc. are all examples of misconduct which, if proven, would disqualify a person applying for benefits.

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: Is a prospective employer required to tell an applicant why he is not hired?

Commissioner

Mary Scott
Nabers

Texas Business Today

I was hired as a school bus driver by one man, took three driver training sessions, and paid for my physical with my own money. Then another man (I don't know if he is or is not a higher level of authority) told me I was not hired because he had decided it was in the best interest of the school system. I asked him what was the problem, and he told me that he did not have to tell me.

What recourse can I take to be reimbursed for the expense of my physical (which I took in good faith since I had been told that I had a job), and to find out what the man thinks is wrong with me that would be bad to hire me?

J.C.
El Paso

DEAR J.D.: An employer is not always obligated to tell an applicant for employment why he was not hired. However, if you believe the school system's refusal to hire you was because of your age, race, sex, national origin, or religion you should contact your nearest Equal Employment Opportunity Commission area office to see what recourse may be available to you.

It is not clear from your letter whether you were never hired or were fired after a few days. If you received any compensation for the days you were in "training" then you were indeed "employed" as far as unemployment compensation law is concerned and you may qualify for unemployment benefits. You should go by your local TEC office if you are still unemployed.

I cannot advise you concerning reimbursement for your physical examination. Check your phone book to see if your have any low cost legal service agencies in your area.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

Since we are continuing a line of thought, ala "soapie" we had best repeat the meat of the last episode, so you can consider it. The disturbing data concerned foreign students in our universities. Forigners at the freshmen level represent three and one-half to four and three-quarters percent.

The foreign freshmen do not represent the top of their secondary schools, but the residue after the top students go to the universities at home. How do they fare in our universities. Usually in the upper half of the class with rare failures, despite language and cultural problems. The undergraduate program is somewhat like a sorting-out-system dedicated to elimination.

The graduate level (masters level) is somewhat more competitive and our three plus percent with the addition of a few of the foreign elite (again residue being ejected from home universities) rises to thirty to forty-four percent (depending on the subject and year).

The continuation of the data to the doctoral level (phd) shows that the three to four plus percent freshmen, plus a majority of the foreign elite raises the number accepted in OUR doctoral programs to seventy-one to seventy-six percent.

One out of four (or less, depending on the year and subject matter) of students admitted to our doctoral level study is a native American. We have a flaw somewhere, and we had better shake it down if our economy is to survive. People trained in our universities have mauled us technologically, from Japan, Tiawan and Germany.

We know the areas where the problem must lie, but because of out hide bound ideologies, breast nurtured erroneous concepts and defacto judicial legislation. Unfortunately it is not a matter of whether we can sort it out; the alternative is third world status, or complete currency collapse through default.

We must it seems, restore academic competitiveness to our school system and adapt it to students who are forced to compete to stay in the program. How so we do it? Every individual has a different idea, let us see some of them. Remember, the alternative is a peon's living standard for the majority of us.

Cancer Society presents awards

The American Cancer Society presented awards of recognition at their meeting this past week.

Reverend Kent Kepler, of the First United Methodist Church, who serves as President of the local Cancer Society organization presented Allie Askew, (in picture at left) with a certificate honoring her fifteen years of service with the Society.

Bob McWilliams, of Frontier Taxidermy, was also given an award by Rev. Kepler (pictured at right). McWilliams was recognized for his donation of a "quail under glass" to the Society. The quail was raffled off during Sutton County Days.

Early detection can save your life

by Charlotte Gilmore

"In spite of all the emphasis placed on health and physical fitness today, most women know little or nothing about their breasts. As a result, a great deal of fear and mystery surround the subject of breast disease. This causes many women to worry needlessly, and even put off the very preventive care that could bring them peace of mind," says Jo Ann Powell.

The American Cancer Society recommends the following steps for early detection of breast cancer:

Breast Self-Examination: Women 20 and over should examine their breast every month, noting any changes in appearance, or feeling, or any lumps or thickening.

Professional Breast Examination: Women 20 to 40 should have this done annually.

Mammography: Women 35 to 39 should have a baseline mammogram every year or two, depending on doctor's orders. Women 50 and over should have a mammogram yearly.

Mammography is a low-dose breast X-ray that has the capability to detect tumors that are too small to be felt by the most experienced examiner; often, this early detection results in successful treatment in about 9 out of 10 cases, and can result in more treatment options for the patient. A study made recently by the American Cancer Society of more than a quarter of a million women throughout the nation found that 3,556 breast cancers had developed within that group of women and 90% of them were detected by mammography. Other studies have shown that mammography and physical examination have reduced deaths from breast cancer in women over the age of 50 by 30 percent.

Many women who are aware that mammography exists and that is helpful in detecting breast cancer are still afraid to have the test done. Fear of pain and fear of radiation are the two culprits. Many women who have had the test done will testify that it is not painful unless it is done at a time when a woman's breast are extremely tender or if the technician does not use proper techniques. As to the risk of radiation, there is no evidence that links radiation exposure from mammography to subsequent development of breast cancer. The American Cancer Society feels that obvious benefit of saving thousands of lives through early detection far outweighs an unfounded charge.

Early detection of breast cancer now gives the doctor so many more options for treatment. The diagnosis of breast cancer no longer means certain removal of the breast, thanks to advances in surgical procedures and other treatments. Finding breast cancer at its onset not only means saving a life, but often a breast as well.

According to the 1983 Gallup survey, only about 15 percent of women over 50 (the age group at highest risk) have a yearly mammogram. Last January there were 70 women in Sonora who took advantage of the mobile mammogram clinic at Hudspeth Memorial Hospital. That's much better than 15 percent of out population, but there are many women who have never had a mammogram, or who have put off having one for too long, or who have some symptom which is worrying them but who are afraid to have a mammogram.

The mobile mammogram clinic will again be in Sonora on October 1 and 2. You can call Hudspeth Memorial Hospital for an appointment or contact Dr. Lind or Dr. Pajestka. The American Cancer Society recommends that women over age 35 have a Mammogram. Specific A.C.S. Guidelines suggest:

Women 20-Plus should perform monthly self-examination.

Women under 35 should consult their physician, particularly those with a family history of breast cancer.

Women 35-40 should have a Baseline Mammogram.

Women 40-49 should have a Mammogram every one to two years.

Women over 50 should have a Mammogram yearly.

On October 1 and 2 a Mobile Breast Imaging Clinic will be at Hudspeth Hospital through the auspices of St. John's Hospital and Health Center. It is in the interests of each woman over 35 to have a Mammogram. The total cost is only $55.00. Anyone interested should call Hudspeth Hospital at 387-2521 for an appointment. The results of the mammogram will be referred to the physician of your choice. Please call for an appointment, remember: exercise can do wonders for your body, but early detection of breast cancer can save your life!

St. John's Hospital has Good News About Breast Cancer.

Breast cancer strikes one in every eleven women. It is the second leading cause of death among women 40-44 years of age. These are some frightening but true facts about breast cancer, but they don't have to be quite so frightening.

Early detection and treatment of breast cancer could prevent the loss of a breast or even a life. The most efficient method of breast cancer detection is mammography. It can detect breast cancer so small that it may not be found during a physical examination. In nearly half of all breast cancer cases mammography is the only way to detect it. The good news is that St. John's Hospital has arranged for a mobile mammography unit to be in your area. Mammograms will be done at a reduced cost. The mobile mammography unit will be located at:

Shawna Shook wins at pageant

Shawna Shook, age 12, daughter of Tommy and Sandra Shook won the Charisma Beauty and Talent Pageant in San Angelo on August 29th.

She was sponsored by Food Center and The Bait Shop.

She will go to State Pageant in San Antonio in May.

Finding contentment in old age is no easier than finding satisfaction at any other stage of life, says gerontologist Dr. Judith Warren.

"Research on life satisfaction, morale, successful aging and happiness has produced no magic formulas," she says. "But sufficient income, reasonably good health and someone to talk to and confide in, are factors identified with contentment in old age."

Some adult children think an aging parent would be happier living with them, although research studies indicate that most older people prefer to live close to but not with their children, Warren notes.

Elders in good health may prefer to live independently and to have their own friends, who are more often found among the old than among the young, she observes.

According to Warren, who is a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program, contradictory attitudes about aging often interfere with feelings of contentment.

"Some elders feel that they ought to act a certain way or dress a certain way because of their age. These age norms can inhibit them from being themselves and being as outgoing as they might be."

The gerontologist observes that older people are also advised to "stay active" as the way to be happy in old age.

"While this formula may work for some, many older people do not feel like being active, busy and responsible to others," she maintains. "They may want to pull away and will be more content not doing what they did in the past. Or unforeseen circumstances may require the older person to redefine what having an active life means."

According to the specialist, older persons are more likely to find contentment if they feel they can accept both the limitations and successes of their past and present.

"Many elders reminisce to come to terms with their lives, and to accept or resolve past problems. When they don't work through these issues, discontentment may be one result," she remarks.

Fears about old age may also interfere with feelings of contentment, Warren says. Although fewer than 20 percent of older people will experience severe physical and mental impairments, fear of living with great physical deterioration and losing independence is common.

"The formula for contentment in old age will remain individual to each person, but it certainly is possible to achieve," says the gerontologist.

New books: Woman of Egypt, Jehan Sadat; Casualties, Banks; From a Far Land, Elegant, R.; Legacy, Michener; Silk Vendetta, Holt; Sarum, a novel of England, Rutherford; Green Flash, Graham W.

Review of Woman of Egypt by Sadat. Beautiful, courageous, brilliant, controversial, living in a world wholly dominated by men, Jehan Sadat defied the traditions of her country an culture. More than a witness to the tumultuous years which saw Egypt gain its freedom, she was among those who gained and made her countries history.

As a mother of four, Jehan Sadat went back to college at age 41. (This Oct. she was awarded her Ph.D.). She was the first wife of a Muslim Leader to have her picture in the newspaper, to travel outside her own country and to take up public causes. She set up village cooperatives for peasant women, succeeded in reforming the divorce laws which victimized women, nursed wounded veterans from Egypt's War and encouraged her husband who was under constant attack. Characteristically, she was in the reviewing stand with her husband when he was assassinated by right-wing fundamentalists.

A Woman of Egypt is a frank and compassionate account of a life lived as a patriot, feminist, wife, mother, a heroine.

DEATH NOTICES

John Patrick Richardson

John Patrick Richardson, 27, died September 15, 1987 of injuries following an automobile accident in San Antonio. Services were held at Oak Hill Funeral Home with burial in Mission Park North, in San Antonio.

Born on March 14, 1960, in Houston, he had attended Grammar School in Sonora. Later, he graduated from Angleton High School and attended North Texas State University in Denton and Southwest Guitar Conservatory in San Antonio.

He worked as a professional musician all over Texas the the U.S., including Alaska. He enjoyed playing Country Western Music in an Eskimo Club called "The Hub." Perhaps his most memorable job was playing in Nairobi, Kenya for several months. John enjoyed playing at smaller towns also. To years ago, he played for the Sutton County Days Rodeo dance with the Kim Allen Band. Last month he had played for the Schleicher County Rodeo dance.

John had an incredible talent for music and played many instruments well. Starting with the banjo as a small child, he had moved on to guitar, fiddle, bass, saxophone, mandolin, and some keyboards, and in recent years had concentrated on pedal steel guitar. John could play any style and do it well, whether Blue Grass, Old-time, Country-Western, Pop, Jazz or Gospel. He was a very loving, caring person and was always ready to help anyone. He will be sorely missed.

Survivors include: Mrs. Janita Richardson of Angleton; O.L. Richardson Jr. of Sonora; Dan Richardson, M.D. of Winston-Salem, North Carolina; Michael Richardson, M.D. of Seattle, Washington, Patti Strauch, DVM, Sheryl Strauch, and Victoria Hella Richardson all of Sonora.

Just between you and me

by Tommie Holly

As all of us hunters know, it's Dove Season. I still recall my first (and probably last) hunt. Some friends had a lease in Uvalde on the river bottom. At least they claimed it was a lease. I did get suspicious when guns seemed to disappear anytime a green vehicle was spotted.

The first day I was handed a 410 and three boxes of shells. I was dropped off in "my spot" and given brief instructions. As I crouched down on the white rocks, I heard someone in the distance call out "coming over." My "hunter's instinct" told me to prepare to shoot. The birds started flying over and I fired and fired. No birds fell. As the evening wore on I finished up the last of my three boxes of shells. Still no birds. "Must be something wrong with this gun," I told myself. About that time, must have been 30 doves landed around me. It was as if they had congregated to get a closer look. I think I heard them laughing. One strolled right over to me and stared. I threw a rock at him. I missed.

The next day we were riding around and the driver suddenly stopped. "See that dead tree with that dove sitting on the branch," he asked? "Of course, couldn't be more than ten feet away. I'm not blind," I stated. He handed me a .16 gauge (everyone in camp thought a different gun would help) and commanded, "Shoot." I took the gun. "But that hardly seems fair," I protested. "Shoot," he repeated. I lowered the rifle through the window, took careful aim and fired. Branches flew everywhere. Except...the branch with the dove on it. The bird just sat there and blinked at me. I could swear it was the same dove that had walked up to me the day before.

The last hunt finally arrived. This time I was handed a .12 gauge. "Does it kick much", I asked? He just grinned. At that time I was 5'2" and weighed 105. Course, I'm still 5'2" but...Anyways, as I walked back towards my spot with the rifle thrown over my right shoulder (I'm left-handed, by the way) I hear the now familiar call, "coming over." I don't remember exactly how or why I did it, but in what seemed like one motion, I crouched down and fired over my shoulder. As I was attempting to pick myself up off the ground, I thought I saw a bird fall. Through the ringing in my ears, I heard voices saying, "Great shot."

"Nothing to it," I replied. I finally got one!

Fire engine Update-The Benson brothers of Benson Repair Service are in the process of restoring Sonora's old Fire engine that was parked for years behind the Miers Home Museum. The original siren was found at the County yard and was placed once again on the fender of the old truck. "The original you ask?" Well the holes match up perfectly and the wires were the exact length when they went to wire it up. James Benson says they hope to have it restored so that it can be used in future parade's. You guys keep up the good work and we'll keep everyone updated.

CHAMBER NOTES

by Diana Trainer

It was great to see so many Sonora folks at Eldorado for the football game Friday night. I think that there was more of us than them. The Bronco's are really going strong and I'm sure they appreciate the support they are getting from the community.

I will be in and out of the office (mostly out) for the next couple of weeks. I will be leaving Saturday for Arlington for a Texas Travel Summit and will not be back in my office until Thursday. The Summit is produced by the Discover Texas Association in cooperation with numerous tourism oriented agencies and bureaus throughout the state and the nation. There will be a 5 man task force from the United States Travel and Tourism Administration and 3 1/2 days of seminars, workshops, speakers, etc., to try to help communities attract tourism. I am really looking forward to this and know I will come home with lots of new ideas.

Then next Friday we will be leaving for our final hunting show of the season in San Antonio. Bruce and Jessie Kerbow, Royce and Gloria Mears, JoAnn Jones and Gil and I will be trying one more time to get your leases to the hunter and hopefully the hunter to Sonora.

The week after that JoAnn Jones and I will be traveling to Abilene for a Chamber of Commerce Executives annual meeting. There will be workshops on Community Image, Advertising your Community, and several economic development presentations, plus a whole lot more which should prove beneficial for Sonora.

We, at the Chamber of Commerce, hope that you can see we are doing everything humanly possible to help the local economy and to bring some new money into this community. The sole purpose of this Chamber is to help YOU.

Don't forget, we need addresses for homecoming invitations. We have all addresses from classes in the 50's, 60's, we have addresses for 4 years of the 70's and very few from the 1980's, so if you have someone you want invited, be sure and call Joyce Chalk or me.

We want to welcome Jones & Powers Ranch Co. (Cleve T. & Lolabeth Jones and Claire & Mickey Powers) and Headquarters Liquor Store as our newest members of the Chamber of Commerce. We certainly appreciate your support.

See you next week.

Texas one of top three in unclaimed property listing

Treasurer Ann W. Richards announced that Texas is one of the top three states in the country in collection of unclaimed property.

"We have seen the collection of abandoned property in Texas go from a relatively modest amount of a significant amount of non-tax revenue for the state," Treasurer Richards said.

In 1982, the State Treasury collected $6.2 million in unclaimed property, such as abandoned checking and savings accounts and forgotten utility deposits. This year the State of Texas collected $71 million in abandoned funds.

Under state law, if this money is not claimed by its owners, it is split equally between funding education and general state services, such as highway construction and law enforcement.

New York State, with a population much larger than that of Texas is the leading state in unclaimed property collections followed by Texas with California as a distant third.

In the four years of Richards Administration, the State has collected almost $160 million in unclaimed funds.

While the Texas Treasury has increased collections of unclaimed funds, it has also returned more property to its rightful owners--accounting for 73 percent of all property returned by owners in the quarter century the law has been on the books.

Investment representative attends national meeting

Michael W. Smith, the Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative in Sonora, attended the firm's National Sales Meeting September 19-20. Smith joined, via satellite, more than 1,200 other Jones representatives gathered in 15 locations nationwide.

A pioneer in the use of satellite technology for business applications, Edward D. Jones & Co. has been testing the feasibility of a satellite link between the St. Louis headquarters and the more than 1,200 branch offices for four years. The 1987 National Sales Meeting was the firm's third live video teleconference involving every Jones investment representative.

"Because the Jones offices are so widespread," says John Bachmann, managing principal of Edward D. Jones & Co., "satellite technology is an ideal communication tool for us, and the success of this teleconference has put us one step closer to our dream of having a satellite hookup with every branch office."

Jones representatives at the 15 meeting sites simultaneously viewed a presentation from Bachmann, who addressed the group live from the St. Louis headquarters. The satellite system's two-way audio capabilities allowed for a question-and-answer period following Bachmann's address.

Other noted presenters included Aaron Hemsley, a nationally known motivational psychologist, and Jack McCarthy, a portfolio manager of the Affiliated fund, a $4 billion growth and income stock fund. McCarthy discussed the direction of the stock market and the condition of the economy.

The National Sales Meetings are held every two years to provide brokers additional in-depth product knowledge, enhanced selling skills and updates on current conditions in the investment markets and the economy.

Founded in 1871, Edward D. Jones & Co. is the largest investment firm in the nation in terms of retail offices. Its registered representatives serve individual investors from one-person offices in 37 states. They sell only conservative investments such as mutual funds, insured tax-free bonds, certificates of deposit and the common stock of companies with histories of solid management and sound growth.

First-ever single adults retreat scheduled for October 16,17

Single adults in Brownwood are preparing for the first-ever Single Adult Retreat, sponsored by the Heart of Texas Baptist Encampment to encompass a 10-county area, on Friday, October 16 and Saturday 17, announced Dr. Tom Martin, vice president for advancement at Howard Payne University and organizer of the retreat.

"We hope to have over 100 single adults, either never-married or previously married, at the encampment that weekend to enjoy fellowship, entertainment and Bible teaching," said Martin. "We have a program packed with talented and educated speakers who will address a variety of subjects of relevance to singles of all ages and walks of life."

Included on the program will be Garry Moon, minister with single adults at Pioneer Drive Baptist Church, Abilene; Linda Ward, an involved single adult and professor of speech at Howard Payne; Mari Moon, wife of Garry Moon and former single parent; and Images, a contemporary Christian vocal group based in Abilene.

Baptist churches are encouraged to send one person or a group to the conference. Singles expected for the conference will range in age from 18 to 80. The conference will conclude at 7 p.m. on Saturday, October 17 to give participants time to return to their homes that evening.

"This will be the first time that many singles in this area have had an opportunity to get away from the hustle and bustle of life for a time of fellowship and spiritual growth in a retreat setting," said Martin.

Cost is $30 per person for one night's lodging, four meals and seminars. Participating may register by contacting Coggin Avenue Baptist Church, (915) 646-1506 or First Baptist Church, (915) 646-8505 for a pamphlet and registration form.

The Texas Excellence Awards for Scholarship and Leadership are the first of their kind in the state. The Awards were established to create a greater statewide awareness of academic excellence at The University of Texas at Austin.

To be eligible, students must rank in the top five per cent of their class at the end of their junior year in high school. In addition, students must demonstrate leadership ability.

Applications can be obtained from counselors at participating high schools or directly from the Ex-Students' Association (P.O. Box 7278, Austin, Texas 78713). Applications must be postmarked no later than November 1.

Approximately two hundred quarterfinalists will be designated in November. UT deans' committees will then narrow the two hundred to fifty semifinalists in January. The fifty semifinalists' applications will be reviewed in late January by a final selection committee composed of distinguished alumni and University officials. Approximately fourteen finalists will be invited to Austin for on-campus interviews in February. The recipients will be announced March 2.

Each Award will be in the amount of $16,000 ($4000 per year). Recipients will be reviewed annually prior to the next disbursement. Several $8,000 Awards of Distinction ($2000 per year) and $1000 Awards of Recognition for the freshman year are also awarded.

The Texas Excellence Awards are funded by endowments and contributions to the Ex-Students' Association Foundation for Texas Excellence.

"OVER the HILL GANG"

News from the Nursing Home
by Doris Cahill

It's that time of year again! Did you hear about the man who lived in a grass shack, developed hay-fever, and sneezed his house down?

Thelma Phillips enjoyed a surprise "Grandparents Day" call from granddaughter Mary Lee Gibson, and great-granddaughters Ashley and Sally Ann from Austin.

Tommy and Guggle Thorp have a new grand-daughter, Claire Leigh Anne Thorp, whose proud parents are Steve and Carole. She is also welcomed by brothers Casey and Jericho.

The "poor butterfly" chimes took another trouncing during volley ball and soccer-Monday morning. It was suggested that we remove ourselves to another location, and that Lilia crawl, rather than slither, after the ball.

We have a standing appointment with Lena Belle Ross to stroll on Tuesday, but circumstances (rainfall) altered the pattern last week.

"Morning Glory"
I love the morning after rain,
When God has washed the world again.
When every side-walk, every nook,
Wears that honest just scrubbed look.

Each drooping flower lifts it's head,
To show the world it is not dead.
And all the leaves from dust washed clean,
Delight in wearing of the green.

He makes the air fresh as can be,
With His own brand of potpourri,
Puts extra blueing in the sky,
And hangs the white clouds out to dry.

Winnie Smith

Residents are always ready to play Bingo Wednesday morning. Lucky last week were: Maxine Reiley 2, Ellen Ray 2, Doris Cox 2, Doris Cahill 2, Clea Drake 1, Ruby Brotherton 1, Dorothy Cusenbary 1, Muriel Hamilton 1, Cordie Drennan 1, and Pete Ariaga 1. Our treat that afternoon was vanilla ice cream.

We celebrated the 200th Anniversary of The Constitution, September 16, by reviewing that important document, and in view of social changes and needs, we truly appreciate the Amendments. As Voltaire said, "I may disapprove of what you say, but will defend to the death your right to say it." My earliest known ancestor (to date) was born in 1777, therefore literally grew up with the Declaration of Independence (there seem to have been questions as to when it was signed), the Revolutionary War, and our developing nation. Now, I understand the "American Indians," resentful of the "All Custer Battle" dislike the name "Custer Battle-field National Monument" and seek to change it to "Little Big Horn National Monument."

AND furthermore-pause to remind you that to start a sentence in this manner is proper these days-they're saying William Shakespeare is a fake! So many things are turning out not to be the way we "old timers" LEARNED them. They're also "monkeying around" with the Holy Bible. Finito.

Phyllis Jones, Illene Stewart, Gertrude Webb, and Diane Luckie

did nice things for our hair and nails Friday morning. The fixtures have been moved around in (and out of) the Beauty Shop, and there is so much more room now, everyone is highly pleased.

Modesto Mesa was all spruced up to attend the September 19, wedding of his granddaughter, Gail Mesa to Abel Sanchez, who is the son of one of our Nursing Assistants, Lucia Sanchez.

Doris Cox pitched high score of 160 in horseshoes last week, Mary Bruton and Jack Drennan are back in the Nursing Home after having spent several days in Hudspeth Hospital, and our newest N.A.'s are Martha Dominguez, and Lydia Mejia. Celeste Prugel ambled in with more good things for us to eat, and we are enjoying the assorted magazines from the Virgil Poloceks.

A Sunday School teacher asked her class if they knew where to find the Beatitudes. One child offered "Did you look in the yellow pages"? We looked in the Bible, and found them-Matthew 5:1!

Sunday was long and lonesome for most of us, but we heard the morning worship service from the First United Methodist Church over KHOS. Doris Cox had as her guest her granddaughter, Michelle Perryman from Houston, and we did get a peek at eleven day old Claire Thorp, who made her first social visit to see her grandfather Tommy in the Nursing Home.

Out of town guests were: Mary Roberts-Weatherford, Margaret Cusenbary-San Antonio, Tuffy Whitehead-Del Rio, Antonio Rodriguez Sr.-Abilene, Rachel Gonzalez-Abilene. Bill and Lynn Womac-Houston, Allyson Perman and Lander-Austin, Ruby Thiers, Bob Hearn, and Troy Banik all of San Antonio.

Guests from Sonora were: Ruth Lee Eaton, Mary Maskill, Lois McCalmont, Evelyn McDonald, Marie Aldwell, Pete and Irene Gomez, Edwina Gandar, Jennifer Lozano, Jeanette, Cynthia Gail and Little Albert Borrego, and Carole and Claire Thorp.

Hospital Auxiliary members who visited us were Martha Wallace, Vera Jones, and Guila Vicars, and our guest book is all used up!

Bueno Bye-until next week.

BEAT BRADY

Broncos cage the Eagles, 13-0

by Alex Duenes
The Sonora Broncos faced their old time rival, the Eldorado Eagles, in Eagle territory Friday night. They returned victorious!
Sonora's defense was extra tough on the Eagles. They kept control of the ball well and didn't allow the Eagles to gain much yardage. Broncos fullback Robert Harris carried 152 yards in 25 attempts. He put the Broncos ahead by plunging into the endzone for the two yard touchdown. The PAT was good, leaving the scoreboard 7-0 at the half.

During the second half the defense remained strong. At the beginning of the fourth quarter with 11:55 remaining on the clock, Alex Duenes passed the ball 21 yards to tightend Mike Fullen for a Bronco touchdown.
And so the Eldorado Eagles remain in their cage...

The Broncos finished their non-district season 3-0. Their next opponents are the Brady Bulldogs. It'll be the first district game so I hope everyone is ready to back the Broncos! Go Red!

Eighth grade player Byan DeWitt makes second touchdown for the Colts last Thursday, September 17, against the Ozona Cubs. The Colts started off their season with a victory over the Cubs of 36-20. The next game will be Thursday, September 24, in Brady. Kickoff is set for 5:30.
