

Referendum No. 1

A no vote urged

With the off-year election less than a week away, Sonora's school superintendent, James Bible, pointed out that the most important issue facing our state-wide public school system is referendum proposition number one of the November 3 ballot, which reads as follows:

"The State Board of Education shall be composed of members who are appointed from districts instead of elected, with equal representation from throughout the State of Texas."

In urging a "No" vote on the referendum, Bible commented that with the passage of the education reform act (H.B. 72), in 1984, our traditional elected State Board was arbitrarily disbanded and the present 15-member Board installed to implement the sweeping new rules and regulations governing all phases of public education in Texas. At that time, the public was assured that the elected State Board of Education would be back in existence by January, 1989.

In Governor Clements' campaign for the teachers' votes, one of his big platform planks was the promise of re-establish an elected State Board ahead of schedule. Unfortunately, due to a post-election lapse of memory apparently, brought on by the dictatorial, mega-buck influence of H. Ross Perot, the governor has done a complete about-face on his original stand. He now wants to retain the appointed State Board of Education forever. So much for campaign promises.

According to Bible, professional educators are united in the belief that a Board answerable only to those who appoint them rather than to the general public will certainly develop a deaf ear to the concerns of parents and of educators about the educational needs of the young people of this state.

For example, funding for vocational programs has been cut so drastically that those programs aimed at helping to prepare the noncollege bound high school student are on the brink of eradication. It is totally unrealistic to assume that all high school seniors will automatically pursue a college education. There are many sound academic students whose first love is mechanics, or plumbing, or agriculture, and whose talent in that area should not be wasted. They are a vital part of our society, just as are the college professors, doctors, and physicists.

This situation is typical of the philosophy now prevalent on the Board. According to their simplistic view of public education, our Texas schools are deemed successful so long as we insist that high school graduates have a good working knowledge of advanced math, solid geometry, and English literature.

Bible, a 22-year educator, 16 of them in public school administration, said that while all this admittedly would improve a student's general knowledge in the fields stressed, there was much more to a good, sound public educational curriculum than math, science and language. The educational needs of that part of the population who do not plan to pursue a classical education are a largely ignored. In addition, this appointed Board appears to be dedicated to the idea of total regimentation of all phases of the public education process. The inevitable result of unbending (and often, uncaring), regulatory bodies is the stifling of individualism and creativity, both strong assets in the profession of teaching.

Bible, in his closing remarks, urged a resounding "NO" vote on continuing an appointed State Board on the November 3 ballot, and urged a quick return to an elected Board to represent all the people.

Vandalism stops mail

Through rain, sleet, snow, or dead of night U.S. Mail gets delivered to postal customers across the nation. The elements of nature don't stop letter carriers from getting the mail into a customer's mailbox, but sometimes mailbox vandalism does.

Mailbox vandalism comes in a variety of shapes and sizes from the placement of objects inside the mailbox to the actual theft or destruction of the mail receptacle. Letter carriers and customers have reported finding bottles, snakes, snails, food, trash, and even small animals inside their mailboxes. These items are usually easily removed and do not disrupt the delivery of mail. On the other hand, firecrackers, shotgun pellets, baseball bats, rocks, and even an occasional pickup truck usually do enough damage to cause an interruption in mail service until the box is repaired or replaced. Beyond the damage to the boxes, which costs the postal customer time and money to repair or replace, mailbox vandalism sometimes causes the loss or destruction of valuable and important mail.

U.S. Mail receptacles and the mail inside are protected by Federal Law from theft, damage, and destruction. The violations are felonies which carry penalties of between three to five years imprisonment and/or fines between $1,000 and $2,000.

Through the years it has been discovered that the vast majority of incidents of mailbox vandalism are the result of juveniles playing pranks. Juveniles, those under the age of 18, cannot be prosecuted in Federal court, so frequently, even through vandalism is a Federal offense, the local sheriff or police are called upon to investigate. They can respond quickly and usually have a good idea which individuals are most likely to be involved. In addition, juveniles can be prosecuted for vandalism of mailboxes under the State law concerning criminal mischief.

The best way to prevent the destruction and vandalism of mailboxes is through education. Parents with young children should take a few moments to explain the importance of an individual's mail to them. They should also let their older children know that what may be intended as a harmless prank is actually against the law and that everyone involved loses; the prankster who can end up in jail; the customer who has to pay for the repair or replacement of the damaged mailbox and mail; and the community who pays the local sheriff or police to investigate the incident.

It's your mail-protect it. Any act of vandalism or information concerning vandalism of mailboxes should be immediately reported to the local sheriff or police and to your local postmaster.

Nominations for excellence

Nominations which will lead to the recognition of several hundred distinguished high school teachers are being made by principals across Texas. Forms were mailed this week to every high school principal in the state.

The Texas Excellence Awards for Outstanding High School Teachers were created last year by the University of Texas at Austin Ex-Students' Association in cooperation with UT's College of Education. In the first year, 289 teachers who were nominated by their principals were recognized in their hometowns for their outstanding contributions.

"The University is appreciative of the important role high school teachers play in preparing their students for later challenges," said UT President William Cunningham. "Every student on our campus is a statement of accomplishment for secondary teachers. Without quality high school teaching, the University could not begin to fulfill its mission," he said.

All teachers selected for the award will be recognized through

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: Last week I hired my brother-in-law to work for me through the end of this year. Surely I don't have to fill out an I-9 form for him as required under the new immigration law. I've lived in the same town with him

DEAR D.S.: Guess again. You certainly do have to fill out an I-9 form on your brother-in-law. ANYONE hired after November 6, 1986 must be checked for identity and work authorization. You are required by law to have the I-9 on file and to produce it if the INS comes calling. Under the new immigration law there are penalties not only for hiring unauthorized workers but also for failing to complete and keep the required paperwork.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Sir:
We wanted to take a moment to express our appreciation for the considerable pleasure we gained from the homecoming events this past weekend.

The ex-members of Sonora High School who now live in Sonora were outstanding hosts. We are sure many people were involved in the planning and execution of the homecoming events, but we were particularly cognizant of the considerable effort of Joyce Chalk and Ron Cox.

Beginning with Friday's thrilling last minute victory by the Broncos to the after-game social at the Sutton County Steakhouse to the mixer Saturday morning at the high school, the homecoming was indeed a success. We were provided with the opportunity to visit old friends and associates, to be entertained in the finest Sonora fashion, and get a good view of an outstanding academic facility.

It was particularly pleasing to visit with Doyle and Faye Morgan; Oliver and Anna Bell Wuest; Smith Neal; and Harva Cooper: all teachers, coaches, and administrators who did so much for us during our formative years as students. A special thanks to them for making the effort to attend.

We are sure future homecomings will be even bigger and better. Thanks again to those responsible for affording us "exs" the time and place to renew and review old friendships and memories.

Sincerely,
Bob and Cissy Nevill

Dear Editor:
Amy Robertson, the eight year old Eldorado girl, who had the bone marrow transplant is progressing very well. We thought you would like to have a follow up on her condition and progress.

She entered the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle on August 29. Irradiation of the old bone marrow was done by chemotherapy, the transplant being done when this pretransplant chemotherapy was finished.

Amy was then put into an ultra sterile laminar air flow room. This environment helps prevent infection and pneumonia, the two greatest risks after implantation. Amy didn't develop any side effects except high fever, pain and body rash. The first test was taken fourteen days later and it showed growth in her bone marrow. The progress has continued to be good and she may get to be an out patient soon.

The Gene Robertson family will stay in Seattle for out-patient care for at least two more months.

Amy will have to be kept secluded, quiet, and close to the hospital during this time. There are also long term complications that show up in about one third of bone marrow transplant patients for a year or so.

The Robertson family is now facing a $105,000 hospital and doctor bill provided no other complications occur.

The Committee for Amy Robertson Fund and Amy's family would like to thank the people of this area that helped raise money to make it possible for this little girl to have a chance to live. We hope you will continue to help us. The Robertson family said they could feel our strong support and love with them, giving them strength to go through this long dangerous process.

Funds have been set up at First National Bank of Eldorado and Sutton County National Bank in Sonora. Also available are cook books, caps, chances on day hunting and guns. For more information call Sherry Belk, 853-2544 or 853-2289, Rene Calcote 853-2747, Lola Squyres 853-3284 or Betty Rackley 387-2972.

Those who wish to send words of encouragement to the Robertsons may direct their messages to Gene Robertson, 1404 Boylston, Apt. 102, Seattle, Washington 98122.

Thank you again,
Rene Calcote

CHAMBER NOTES

by Diana Trainer

I really do want to thank the Boy Scouts for their hard work sprucing up the Chamber of Commerce office. They did a very good job and the new paint looks great.

I made two mistakes last week in reporting the fashion show to be held on November 3. First of all, it is sponsored by the Hudspeth Nursing Home with all the proceeds going to benefit the nursing home. Second, it will be held at the Sonora High School common's area instead of at the Junior High Snack Bar. Sorry for the misinformation, but we do want you to mark your calendar and plan to attend this gala affair.

The Sonora Chamber of Commerce will be hosting a mixer on November 10, and at that time we would like to introduce the new City Manager and his wife to the community. Pete and Irene Gildon are settling here in Sonora and we would like for you to come to the Sutton County Steakhouse at 7:00 p.m. on November 10, to welcome them to our community.

Ruth Spaulding and I will be traveling to Austin on Thursday and Friday to attend the Gutherie Institute which, hopefully, will teach us all what we need to know about applying for and obtaining grants and funding from different foundations, and also about applying for high school scholarships and various other monies that are available to the public.

Don't forget, your first three Tuesdays in November are taken. First Tuesday is the Hudspeth Nursing Home fashion show at the high school, second Tuesday is the mixer at the Steakhouse, third Tuesday is the big Game Dinner at the 4-H Center. Hope to see you at all three.

The Chamber appreciates your support.
See you next week.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

This will be, or was, depending on when you read this, a momentous week-a week of self examination of our own sins which have been so obvious for twenty years. It should be fascinating and possibly devastating.

First, we have the President's and Congress' conference to alleviate the budget deficit. The preceding atmosphere of finger pointing is reminiscent of a grade school debate instead of two equally faulty leadership functionaries of the major debtor nation of this earth. It should be interesting or nauseous.

The Stock Market is shivering on a pointed pinnacle four or five hundred points (DOW) above where it should be. The climactic atmosphere is hyped by the upcoming Treasury Repayment Bond Sale which may gnaw at the foundation of the Stock Market pinnacle. The "Bull" meat on the market is likely to face heavy consumption by those "Bears" who do not eat porridge.

You and I are the biggest suckers on the earth and the possibility of our demise as world purchasers is scaring the daylight out of foreign investors. I suppose someone put a pencil to our debt picture. At the present interest level, the interest on our national debt is over eighty-billion dollars per year. We not only do not pay the interest but increase the debt.

You and I also get some homework this week. Look at all the Amendments and the Propositions on the ballot. The first thing that is obvious is the total obsolescence of Texas' Constitution. The document was written to prevent the "carpet-bagger" legislature from victimizing the population. It makes for a club footed inert state government but judging from the past, constitutional conventions are a waste of time and money. My personal observations of our legislature, in action, leave some doubt about the departure of the "carpet baggers."

Every amendment and proposition was put there for a reason. The casting of a valid vote representing your interests requires that you know the reasons behind and the liabilities associated with, each proposition or amendment.

(The proposed amendments are published in the classified section of this issue, read them and know how to vote or at least what you are voting on.)

Video workout: Sports of the future

2000 A.D.: Will sedentary mind games plotting Man against Computer supplant Americans' long-standing love affair with pigskin, dunk shots, and cold hot dogs? Will an abandoned Cotton Bowl become just a big, empty relic full of memories? Or the AstroGome's scoreboard become its playing field of the future?

Americans are fascinated with strenuous sports. Recently, that fascination has evolved beyond spectating to a near obsession with personal fitness. Jogging, gymnastics, racquet-ball, aerobic dancing--we not only love to watch strong, healthy bodies pursue athletic achievements, but have discovered what it's like to taste the thrill (and the agony) first hand.

But now, suddenly, there's a new contender for our off-duty time and affections. And it promises to satisfy our competitive souls without sore muscles.

Video game mania! It's action-packed and exhilarating, and you don't have to buy special sneakers or season tickets.

The classic confrontation emerges: Mind vs. Body, Think vs. Sweat, Atari vs. Adidas. Which pastime will win out?

They each have pluses and minuses. After all, slugging coins into a mind-frazzling one-on-one battle with a mini computer doesn't have quite the enveloping mystique of a crazed, finger-jabbing crowd with hook em' on its mind; but, on the other hand, football games don't come equipped with bleeps, flashes, graphics, and asteroid battles.

And let's face it. Getting into shape can be boring. Jogging, lifting weights, and training exercises are so, well, repetitive. There are only so many variations on a push-up.

What would happen if we were to merge the best of both pastimes? VIDEO ATHLETICS!

It's already happening in sports medicine circles. Computer games are being built into training equipment so that athletes aren't just peddling stationary bikes--they're escaping video monsters!

Think of the possibilities. Working out becomes a competitive event. Points are earned, battles are waged with the Forces of Evil, and the mental action keeps it all from getting tiresome.

The applications range from at-home leisure to Olympic competition to making physical therapy more fun and less arduous.

If this idea catches on, sports of the future will exercise our imagination, brain cells, and muscle power simultaneously.

Computer sports wizards, the ball's in your court. Start inventing!

State 4-H Council members receive Texas honor award

State Fair of Texas and Dallas Chamber of Commerce officials honored 31 Texas 4-H Council members during the fair's Honor Awards dinner here October 16.

The prestigious event was staged in the Grand Ballroom of the Dallas Hilton Hotel. Before the dinner, 4-H'ers, along with state officers of the Future Homemakers and Future Farmers of American were honored at the reception given by Texas Tech University at the hotel. Iris Kalich, Extension 4-H Specialist based at San Angelo, said the Texas 4-H Council is made up of two member delegates from each of the 14 districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. She added that the council members are elected by their peers at the district level and serve in that capacity through July 1988.

As council members, the 4-H'ers identify needs and interests of Texas 4-H programs. They also provide leadership for the development and implementation of these programs and activities. In addition, the Council gives 4-H'ers a chance to learn democratic principles and procedures. This enables them to serve in an advisory capacity in determining future 4-H programs.

"The youth honored at the banquet are truly the leaders of tomorrow," said Kalich. "As 4-H delegates, they serve in a key role. Their skills add to the tremendous success of the entire 4-H program. During the year they have the opportunity to participate in and provide leadership for state activities including Texas 4-H Congress, Texas 4-H Roundup and other activities."

Heather Bunkley along with other State 4-H Council members were presented the State Fair of Texas Honor Award Medal during the dinner.

Most adults recall when Halloween was the official "kids' night out" of the year, when children roamed free, garbed in hand-stitched costumes after dark. Adults were fair game for pranks, and the homemade cookies, fruit and other treats they parceled out were almost always safe. The biggest hazard most kids encountered was a bellyache on the morning after.

In recent years though, a growing number of accidents and crimes involving children have signaled parents to be more cautious in how their children enjoy Halloween.

According to the Texas Department of Health (TDH), parents can help this year's trick-or-treaters have a safe and fun Halloween by taking some simple precautions.

Dan Sowards, chief of TDH's Product Safety program said, "For practical purposes, home or school supervised parties are safer for children. Activities can be planned for safety, and should there be an accident, help is available," Sowards said.

He said however, that if children go trick-or-treating, parents should take the following steps to reduce the number of hazards:

*First, children should not eat any treats before bringing them home for examination by an adult.

*Costumes should be made of brightly colored, fire-resistant material. If a costume is dark, however, it should have some fluorescent or reflective tape on it. Make-up, instead of masks, is recommended for clear vision. Hats should be securely attached, and shoes should fit well to prevent stumbles.

*An adult or older child should always go with small children and should carry a flashlight to show the way and to make the children more visible to motorists.

*The children should not enter the home of anyone they do not know, and they should stop only at homes with outside lights.

*Children should stay out of the street, and never run between parked cars. They should not run through yards, or even sidewalks. Hard-to-see objects often are lying in the grass, and slick surfaces may not be visible in the dark.

Sowards added that homeowners who expect trick-or-treaters should turn on a porchlight, or other outside light, and be sure the lawn is cleared of any objects a trick or treater could trip over. They should keep jack-o-lanterns and candles away from doorsteps to prevent igniting a costume.

Anyone wishing further information about Halloween safety can call the TDH Product Safety Program at (512) 458-7519, or the U.S. Consumer Product Safety commission's toll-free hotline at 1-800-638-CPSC.

local publicity, and many will be honored by UT alumni club in their towns. Ten of them will be invited to the UT campus for special recognition.

The 10 honorees will receive $1,000, a commemorative sculpture, and an exclusive on-campus conference which will include meetings with top students, faculty, and administrators for informal discussion and intellectual exchange.

Specific University of Texas enrichment opportunities will be tailored to each honoree's field of expertise, putting the teachers in touch with faculty and facilities that are at the heart of the educational process.

The 10 will be selected by a committee composed of distinguished UT alumni, high school officials, and UT students, faculty and administrators.

Dr. Wencen Spirduso, Interim Dean of Education, explained that the program "is the University's way of raising public awareness of the contributions that teachers make, and raising the esteem of the teaching profession and individual teachers in communities across the state."

According to Roy Vaughan, Executive Director of The Ex-Students' Association, any high school teacher in Texas is eligible to be nominated for the honor by his or her principal.

High school students, former students, parents and Texas Exes are encouraged to recommend nominees to their principal. The deadline for nominations is November 16.

News from Sonora High School

by Heather Bunkley

Congratulations to the Mighty Bronco Band for receiving a ONE at district marching contest in Brady last Saturday! We are very proud of you all.

"Ronnie Cox would like to be your pharmacist"

Remember the Halloween Carnival is coming up this weekend and there will be food, games, and fun for all the "spooks" in attendance. It all kicks off with the Spook Parade at 4:00 p.m. The Drama Department will be putting on "The Ice Wolf" at the new high school auditorium and you won't want to miss that. And for high school students there will be masquerade ball sponsored by the Spanish Club from 8:30 until 12:00 in the foyer of the high school (be sure to come in costume--prizes will be awarded).

The Halloween Queen candidates are: Freshman Class-Andrea Virgen; Sophomore Class-Shanna Patton; Junior Class-Michelle Villanueva; and Senior Class-Janna San Miguel. The Queen will be announced before the Spook Parade.

The Broncos suffered defeat by a narrow margin this past week, but will be ready to go after the Clyde Bulldogs this Friday. There will be a chartered bus going to Clyde so there is no excuse for not going to support the Broncos!

The importance of fiber

by Micki Miller

Why all the fuss about fiber? It's simple--fiber has health benefits and we need to include more of it in our diets.

Dietary fiber helps relieve constipation problems and aids in the prevention and treatment of diverticular disease, a condition of outpouching of weak areas in the intestinal wall.

Research has identified other values of dietary fibers, as well. It may help lower blood cholesterol levels, regulate blood sugar levels of some diabetics, help prevent colon and rectum cancer, and promote weight loss.

How much fiber is enough? Generally, nutritionists recommend 15 grams of fiber for every 1,000 calories eaten. For the average person, that means about 30 grams of fiber per day.

Thirty grams of fiber may seem like a lot, but it is available in a variety of foods. Most people automatically think of bran and cereal, but fruits and vegetables are also high in fiber, especially if you eat the skins and edible seeds too.

Fruits and vegetables provide about 65 percent of the fiber in the average diet. Good sources of fiber include: cabbage, carrots, peas, apples, bananas, prunes, peaches, wheat, oats, corn, and legumes such as peas and peanuts.

Eating a minimum of four servings of fruits and vegetables, and whole grain breads and cereals every day will give you enough fiber. Special cereals or supplements aren't necessary and can increase the excretion of some important vitamins and minerals, or cause diarrhea and other digestive problems.

Depot Diary

William Osborn and his wife, Donna, met with a group of interested parties this past Saturday to discuss renovation of the Depot.

Osborn, an attorney for the Railroad Commission, has a long standing love for old depots and with Donna, an architect, is responsible for the restoration of the old depot from San Saba. They offered many suggestions for the Sonora depot's rejuvenation stating that our depot was in relatively good condition.

Those attending the meeting with the Osborns were Patricia Johnson, Carla Fields, Mabel VanderStucken, Ruth Spaulding, Smith Neal, Scott Gilmore, Janet Patton, and Ann Cates.

Watch for some exciting things to develop from this meeting.

Ruth Spalding will attend a workshop with Diana Trainer to be held in Austin this week. The workshop is for the education of available grants and how to apply for the various funding. It is hoped that there will be monies available to help with the restoration of the depot.

The latest list of those adopting a portion of the roof include: George and Mary Brockman; Charlotte Wilson; Carl and Melissa Teaff; John and Dell Tedford; James Gerald; Curly and Lou Faulks; Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Martin, Sanderson; and Ben Ed Martin, Marathon.

The names of all persons who adopt a portion of the roof will be placed on a plaque which will be put in the depot.

For additional information call Patricia Johnson at 387-5921 or 387-5334, Gil Trainer 387-2028, or Preston Love 387-3516.

Nabisco golf championships to air this week on ESPN

ESPN will present live all four rounds of the $2 million Nabisco Championships of Golf, the richest event ever on the PGA TOUR, October 29 through November 1 from the Oak Hills Country Club in San Antonio, Texas. The winner of the final event of the year on the PGA TOUR will claim a $360,000 first prize, also the highest in PGA TOUR history.

The Nabisco Championships will feature the top 30 golfers in the Nabisco Grand Prix season-long individual points competition. The year-long competition awards players an additional $1 million bonus pool-including $175,000 for first place-and will conclude at this event. Curtis Strange currently leads the field with Ben Crenshaw, Paul Azinger, Scott Simpson and Larry Mize giving chase.

In addition, this tournament marks the end of the 1987 Nabisco Grand Prix of Golf Team Charity Competition, which will award $2 million to charities supported by individual PGA TOUR events. Each tournament has a four-man team that represents them throughout the year. Nearly 75 percent of the money, or $1.5 million, will be on the line at this tournament. In all, nearly $4.5 million will be at stake at the Nabisco Championships of Golf on ESPN.

The following is ESPN's schedule: FIRST ROUND, Thursday, Oct. 29, 3-6 p.m. EST LIVE; SECOND ROUND, Friday, Oct. 30, 3-6 p.m. EST

LIVE; THIRD ROUND, Saturday, Oct. 31, 2-4 EST LIVE; FINAL ROUND, Sunday, Nov. 1, 4-6 p.m. EST LIVE.

The 72-hole event will be produced by ESPN in association with Ohlmeyer Communications Companies.

Roger Twibell will provide play-by-play with Bruce Devlin as analyst. Mark Roling will serve as roving reporter.

Devlin Joins Senior TOUR

Bruce Devlin, who has served as a golf color analyst for ESPN since 1984, will join the Senior PGA TOUR beginning October 16 at the Hilton Head Senior International. Devlin, a prominent golfer on the PGA TOUR before he retired to the broadcast booth, turned 50 on October 10 and is anxious to return to competition. Devlin will continue to provide analysis for ESPN telecasts when his tour schedule permits.

"It is no mystery to me that golfers who are 50 to 60 years old are playing productively on the Senior TOUR," said Devlin. "Of course your skills diminish somewhat, but if you are reasonably fit and don't have a lot of leg problems you can do it. My kids are the ones who initially encouraged me to join the TOUR. I feel good, my game is good and I hope to be very competitive out there."

Texas Voter's Guide

on the Constitutional Amendments and Referenda to be voted on November 3, 1987

Against: Exemption from property taxation shifts tax burden to other taxpayers.

Amendment No. 1 (H.J.R. 104)

To establish a grain warehouse self-insurance fund to guarantee payment, with public money, in case of defaults.

For: Public money is needed for protection of warehouse users; may never be used.

Against: This sets a bad precedent to use state credit to bail out an industry. House Bill 1721 has addressed the problem.

Amendment No. 2 (H.J.R. 60)

To raise property taxes in certain unincorporated, rural, fire districts; if local voters approve.

For: Present taxation is inadequate for needed fire protection and local voter approval will still be necessary.

Against: Tax rate increases will affect only the unincorporated areas in the six most populated counties and not most rural areas. Duplicates other legislation.

Amendment No. 3 (H.J.R. 48)

To limit school tax increases on the homestead of surviving elderly spouses.

For: Prevents continued upward spiral of taxation on the elderly.

Against: Does not take into account remarriages or financial independence.

Amendment No. 4 (H.J.R. 5)

To provide public monies to private companies, encouraging development.

For: Recent downturns and lost revenue necessitate incentives to the private sector.

Against: Public funds for private profits is inherently problematic and carries considerable risk.

Amendment No. 5 (H.J.R. 65)

Allows the State Highway Department and the Texas Turnpike Authority to cooperate in road and bridge building using public monies to guarantee bond issue.

For: Bond ratings may improve; may relieve some city-highway congestion.

Against: With taxpayers guaranteeing bonds, less scrutiny is given the probability of repayment with toll revenues. Open ended public debt could escalate.

Amendment No. 6 (H.J.R. 4)

Authorizes the legislature to finance Texas products and businesses.

For: To rebuild Texas: loans, grants and subsidies are needed.

Against: State-sponsored dependency seldom motivates individual initiative. ($125 million expected expenditures.)

Amendment No. 7 (S.J.R. 55)

To issue bonds to pay for local public facilities.

For: Provides public jobs and keeps local government from having to "pay-as-you-go."

Against: A first step toward deficit spending and could force all state taxpayers to pay for poorly conceived local projects. (Up to $400 million in general revenue bonds.)

Amendment No. 8 (S.J.R.)

To issue bonds to pay for correctional, mental health and mental retardation facilities.

For: Provides the only funds available for badly needed new prisons to comply with Federal Court rulings and reduce present overcrowding.

Against: Relies on future income and adds to Texas indebtedness. ($500 million expected expenditures.)

Amendment No. 9 (S.J.R. 9)

To allow legislators to seek different state offices while restricting pay increases for the new office they may have previously voted to approve.

For: No one should be restricted from seeking higher office as long they do not benefit financially from a vote cast while in another office.

Against: It is bad public policy to amend the Constitution to protect the eligibility of such a few.

Amendment No. 10 (S.J.R. 12)

To exempt from taxes, if local voters approve, certain personal property not used to produce income (i.e. boats, campers, aircraft).

For: The cost to collect personal property taxes often outweighs the revenues. Local voters would have the authority reverse any decisions.

Amendment No. 11 (S.J.R. 12)

Exempts from taxation, property held within the state temporarily for manufacturing and processing.

For: Encourages economic output by limiting taxation and restores competitiveness with other states. Local officials can overrule S.J.R. 12 if costs outweigh benefits.

Against: Inequities may result from one jurisdiction to the next.

Amendment No. 12 (S.J.R. 35)

To allow surviving spouses to hold community property with the right of survivorship.

For: Ends the two-step legal process and allows surviving spouses to receive all or designated community property.

Against: The proposed Amendment will result in the further deterioration of the community property system in Texas.

Amendment No. 13 (S.J.R. 27)

Allows for creation of districts to provide emergency medical and fire services (including taxation).

For: Needed services call for increased taxing abilities.

Against: Provision for new districts adds another layer of governmental bureaucracy and increases local taxes.

Amendment No. 14 (S.J.R. 34)

To give the state a limited right to appeal in criminal cases.

For: Allows for appeals in case of errors; prevents unfair rulings and balances the law with the facts.

Against: Appeals might pose economic hardships while defendants await rulings.

Amendment No. 15 (H.J.R. 35)

To do away with the office of County Treasurer in Gregg, Fayette, & Nueces Counties.

For: Removes another layer of the bureaucracy and consolidates county business thereby saving tax dollars.

Against: County by county approach is too slow and should be accomplished by a single Constitutional Amendment.

Amendment No. 16 (S.J.R. 6)

To allow for more than one Justice of the Peace in larger counties.

For: Local elected officials will be allowed to add Justice of the Peace Courts based on need.

Against: This amendment is too confining and the state legislature can decide what is best for cities and counties.

Amendment No. 17 (S.J.R. 26)

To give the Legislature the authority to restrict the areas of unlimited liability for municipalities.

For: This will help keep taxes lower by placing limits on certain local liability claims.

Against: Defendants feel the courts deciding liability on a case-by-case basis is better.

Amendment No. 18 (H.J.R. 18)

To create jail districts that would construct and operate county jails.

For: Paying for and building jails would take some pressure off the state.

Against: This would allow an unlimited increase in local property taxes. It is doubtful that it would reduce overcrowding of felony prisoners held by the Texas Department of Correction.

Amendment No. 19 (H.J.R. 88)

To issue bonds and make grants related to locating a superconducting super collider in Texas.

For: If the super collider comes to Texas, jobs and technology would accompany it.

Against: State government is in too much financial difficulty to insure more indebtedness; besides which the technology may be obsolete by final completion date. (Up to $500 million in bonds.)

Amendment No. 20 (H.J.R. 96)

To provide tax relief for storage of unused offshore oil equipment.

For: Provides needed tax relief to the oil industry, and allows the legislature to control the application of the tax exemptions.

Against: No other industrial property is exempted from taxation while it is unused and the financial relief is negligible to the oil industry.

Amendment No. 21 (S.J.R. 17)

To include the Speaker of the House as a member of Executive Agencies or Committees.

For: Allows the legislature to better coordinate with the executive branch.

Against: This violates the separation of powers: a constitutional safeguard, best kept in place.

Amendment No. 22 (S.J.R. 53)

To limit the governor in filling office vacancies during the end of his term if not re-elected.

For: This Amendment is needed to clarify the validity of the existing statute limiting the appointments by a "lame-duck" Governor.

Against: Already dealt with by the Texas constitution; this would treat a few appointments different than others. The Senate already has the final authority on appointments.

Amendment No. 23 (S.J.R. 54)

To issue $400 million in bonds for water supply, quality and flood control.

For: Continuing to meet Texas' ongoing water needs is vital to progress.

Against: Counties should pay for work performed or prove inability to pay. Approximately $800 million in bonds are still available from previous provisions.

Amendment No. 24 (H.J.R. 83)

To permit one county to perform work, without compensation, for another.

For: Men and equipment can be employed continuously thereby saving tax dollars and manpower. All decisions are made in open meetings to allow public scrutiny.

Against: Each county should pay for work performed individually or prove inability to pay.

Amendment No. 25 (S.J.R. 5)

To permit Amarillo Hospital District to serve Randall County residents; to allow hospital districts to change boundary jurisdiction with voter approval.

For: No constitutional amendment will be needed in the future, thus an easier meeting of local needs and providing a savings to various counties.

Against: Counties may already be able to accomplish the desired ends; and there are no guarantees residents' needs will be met.

Referendum No. 1

To staff the State Board of Education by appointment rather than by election.

For: gubernatorial appointment prevents the Board from being controlled by self-serving special interest groups. Voters are better able to gauge the educational philosophy of a candidate for Governor than the philosophy of an unknown State Board candidate.

Against: 1984 Educational Reforms promised an elected State Board of Education. Elected board members are responsible to the voters they represent.

Referendum No. 2

To legalize parimutuel betting on horse and dog races.

For: May create new industries, aid tourism and increase state revenues.

Against: The costs of increased crime and social problems will offset the expected increased revenues. The state should not sanction activities that may cause more harm than benefit to its citizens.

The study of natural ground-water system in Sutton County

At the present time, the only significant aquifer in Sutton County is in the lower part of the Edwards Limestone. As stated, the Trinity Sand is of minor importance, and could conceivably be developed more in the future. The Glen Rose is not considered to be an aquifer, nor are there significant aquifers in the Paleozoic rocks below the unconformity.

The Edwards aquifer in Sutton County is a simple, widespread, unconfined (=non-artesian) aquifer in the lower part of the Edwards Group. This aquifer is developed because: 1) the lower Edwards contains a network of honeycombed, cavernous limestones and dolomites; and 2) the underlying Glen Rose rocks do not transmit water downward.

As a result of this differential permeability, rainwater and run-off water percolate downward through the permeable carbonate bedrock and accumulate--simply "pile-up"--above the base of the Edwards. Thickness of this saturated zone varies, of course, but water columns in excess of 200 feet thick are common. This ground water then moves laterally--generally following the natural slope of the basai Edwards--to the south and west, into Val Verde and Edwards Counties, and eventually southward. Some of this water may emerge at San Felipe and associated springs near Del Rio, or Las Moras Springs near Brackettville. Some of the water charges the Edwards Underground Reservoir, a narrow curving belt of subsurface aquifer formed in connection with the Balcones Fault Zone. Water in the Edwards Underground Reservoir moves from west to east across Kinney, Uvalde, Medina, Bexar, and Guadalupe Counties, and is the effective sole source of supply for the City of San Antonio, plus several other towns in the area, as well as for large-scale irrigated farming.

Ground water within the Edwards (Plateau) aquifer also moves into northern Sutton County from southern Schleicher County. In addition, lesser amounts of Edwards water may migrate into Sutton County, southeasterly from eastern Crockett County, and southwesterly from northwestern Kimble County. All of the water in the Edwards (Plateau) aquifer moves rapidly by geological standards, but slowly by human standards--commonly a few miles per year.

There are very few permanent natural springs in Sutton County, simply the far eastern part of the County, in the valleys of North Llano River and Epps Creek, are there permanent flowing springs, which issue from cavernous fractures and fissures developed in the lower part of the Edwards Limestone.

In Sutton County the Edwards (Plateau) aquifer is the sole source of water for the City of Sonora, for nearly all ranch residents and livestock, and for limited agricultural irrigation. There may be some Edwards water which is being used for injection into oil or gas reservoirs for secondary recovery operations (water flooding). Almost all water wells in the county are powered by windmills or submersible electric pumps. Most of these wells are 200 to 400 feet deep.

The amount of water contained in the Edwards (Plateau) aquifer in Sutton County varies, as expressed by fluctuations in the elevation of the subsurface free-water table. These rises and falls in the water table are caused by (1) recharge from rainfall and natural runoff; (2) withdrawals for human, agricultural and industrial use; (3) inflow from adjoining counties, generally to the north; and (4) withdrawals from adjoining counties to the south. In periods of drouth the free-water table drops; in extended wet spells the water table rises. Within the past 20 years the water table has fluctuated about 30 feet within the Edwards (Plateau) aquifer in Sutton County. This represents roughly 15 to 20 percent of the total available water mass in the aquifer in Sutton County.

One of the characteristic problems of the Edwards aquifer is that recharge is very rapid, because of the highly fractured, cavernous nature of the limestone bedrock. This is both a blessing and a curse--rainfall percolates down to the groundwater table quickly, ordinarily in a matter of hours or 1-2 days. Unfortunately, contaminants may also move down to the water table quickly, and because of the tortuous network of subterranean channelways and conduits, and relative rapidity of ground-water movement, it is almost impossible to recover such contaminants, once they have seeped down into the limestone.

III. Ground-Water Quality in Sutton County

According to Walker (1979, p. 90), the chemical quality of Edwards ground water... "is generally better than that in the other aquifers on the Plateau, and the water is fairly uniform in quality. [It] is characteristically very hard, typically a calcium bicarbonate type with small amounts of sulfate and chloride, generally less than 50 ppm. Edwards water contains about 200 to 400 ppm total dissolved solids (TDS)." There are a few wells in Sutton County which have much higher TDS. These are sulphur-water wells which may represent either natural or man-caused local contamination of the Edwards water mass. In most Edwards groundwater in Sutton County, nitrate concentration is generally less than 10 ppm, but there are a few wells with high concentrations, indicating possible contamination by feedlots or domestic sewerage. Table one summarizes ground-water chemistry. Table two shows variations in ground-water chemistry among four selected Sutton County wells. In general, chemical composition of Edwards water is remarkably consistent. One anomaly, however, is apparent in the last well: sharply higher nitrate concentrations indicate possible contamination beginning in 1985 in that well, possibly from feed lot runoff or a faulty septic tank.

In summary, Sutton County is blessed with abundant supplies of ground water which, except for being hard, is of excellent quality. There are, however, a few suspect wells.

Part II of four part series.

Junior Chef recipes shared

The Junior Chef of the Year Contest was held on October 19 at the Sutton County Steakhouse.

This is the second year for the contest, a brainchild of Linda Love, who began the contest last year as a way of encouraging young people to learn to cook. This year, as with last, Mrs. Love had each entrant turn in their recipe prior to cooking time, she purchases all ingredients, and the cooking is done at the Steakhouse under her supervision.

After the judging is completed, each item is auctioned off with the proceeds going to the Sutton County 4-H. This year's contest saw fourteen entries and the auction raised $485. All entries were judged to be first place winners with Julie Jones the overall winner for the contest.

Following are the recipes of all entrants, listed according to age of the entrant:

by Alex Duenes
The Wylie Bulldogs beat the Sonora Broncos 17-15 on a 19 yard field goal with 35 seconds left in the game.

Wylie's first score came at the end of the first quarter, after the Broncos fumbled at their own five yard line.

With 2:47 left in the first half, Wylie scored again. The Broncos were down 14-0 at the half.

The second half saw new life for the Broncos. In the middle of the third quarter, Alex Duenes hit Peter Perez on a 17-yard touchdown pass. The PAT was good leaving the score 14-7.

Then Mike Fullen intercepted a Bulldog pass and ran for a 59 yard touchdown. The Broncos then cleverly faked a field goal attempt, and Michael Harris found Sammy Mata in the endzone for the two point conversion. This left the score 15-14. After the Bulldogs completed their field goal, the resulting score was 17-15 with the Wylie Bulldogs on top.
