Full-scale exercise carried out by Sonora personnel

What happened

Many months of planning culminated the evening of April 10 when a full-scale emergency was enacted on Tayloe Street in front of the high school. Personnel from all Sonora emergency departments responded to the staged accident which involved a school bus carrying 25 students and a truck loaded with liquid nitrogen.

The full-scale exercise was carried out the Texas Disaster Act of 1975 stipulates, "that each jurisdiction shall maintain an emergency management program.... Each jurisdiction should regularly test that plan through use of exercises."

Locally, the most important reason for the exercise was, "to evaluate and upgrade our emergency responding personnel," said Emergency Management Coordinator Lenora Pool.

Each department that became involved was evaluated by department heads. This gave the departments a chance to see what areas needed improvement and what areas they were strong in.

"Until you get it in working order, you don't know how you're people will respond," said Pool.

Departments involved in the exercise included the Sutton County Sheriff's Department, Sonora Fire Department, Sonora Police Department and the Sutton County Emergency Medical Service.

Hudspeth Hospital, the school system, city council, mayor, county judge and county commissioners also became involved one way or another.

The full-scale exercise started at 5:30 p.m. with a hysterical woman calling the sheriff's office. The exercise called for the dispatcher to have trouble getting information from the woman.

As a result, when Bryn Humphrey of the Sonora Police Department responded to the call

A HELPING HAND - Sonora Police officer Bryn Humphrey looks over a student who acts hurt during the full-scale emergency exercise held on April 10. Humphrey, who has been with the police department for four months, was the first to respond to the exercise scene by the high school on Tayloe Street.

over the radio, he was shocked to see a collision between a bus and a truck. The dispatcher had said a boy had been hit by a truck.

Department heads were already at the scene of the exercise ready to evaluate their personnel. Pool said evaluation of the personnel included coordination between the responding emergency departments, clarifying roles and responsibilities and determining the thoroughness, usefulness, understandability and accuracy of the Basic Emergency Plan.

Each department was evaluated on their "job" at the scene of the emergency.

Pool said generally things went well during the exercise.

"If everything went perfect nobody would have to study or train," said Pool.

Rookie officer first to respond

At 5:30 p.m. on April 10 Sonora police officer Bryn Humphrey heard a call come over the radio about a child being hit by a truck in front of the high school on Tayloe Street.

When the call came, Humphrey was near the cemetery and was the first to reach the scene of what was a full-scale exercise. What Humphrey saw at the scene of the exercise was not what he expected.

"I guess I was scared, nervous about situation," said Humphrey.

Instead of a boy being hit by a truck, Humphrey saw that a truck had hit a bus carrying 25 students.

It must be kept in mind that all of this was an exercise. When Humphrey responded he knew it was an exercise. The dispatcher had followed the original radio call with a statement that said it was a full-scale exercise.

"You have to take everything as they are," he said.

Still, Humphrey was nervous. Prior to the exercise, emergency personnel only knew there would be a drill sometime that day. They did not know the time, place, or what kind of emergency drill it would be.

Humphrey said the first thing that hit him when he reached the scene was that, "I needed to call for extra help."

There has not been an official review of the emergency exercise but several people have said that Humphrey did a good job when he got to the scene.

Humphrey was not as convinced, "I had a lot of things I missed."

As the exercise really started to gear up, Humphrey said he felt a lot more comfortable.

"What really helped me a lot was knowing my other officers were there," he said.

That may be understandable as Humphrey has only been on the police force for four months.

Humphrey said the Sonora Police Department is a good one and is extremely happy to be working there.

"They give you confidence and support," said Humphrey. "You know how each other is feeling."

It was not difficult for Humphrey to pretend the exercise was real. He said this sort of thing could happen anytime.

In addition, Humphrey said the kids of Sonora are important to the city. He feels the kids here are good kids and would hate to see anything happen to them.

For Bryn Humphrey the full-scale exercise fulfilled its goal of preparing the emergency personnel for a possible major accident.

Pony Express to be in Winters

Sonora is not alone in celebrating 100 years as a town. Winters is also celebrating its centennial this year.

Part of the celebration will be San Jacinto Day on April 21 beginning at 10 a.m.

In 1890 the Pony Express was the mail delivery system and Winters will be reliving that experience. The Rock Hotel will be the station for the Pony Express. There will be a stamp cancellation with a picture of the Rock Hotel and Winters centennial.

In the dining hall there will be a mock bar selling sarsaparilla with high school girls acting as bar maids.

There will also be simulated gun fights, whittling and a tall tale spinning going on.

The Chamber of Commerce is also sponsoring a big flea market and garage sales are expected around town.

TAKING A BREATH - This convoy of army vehicles stopped in Sonora Monday to take a break while moving from Fort Hood to Fort Stockton. The movement of army vehicles is part of Sabers West III. More than 600 military vehicles will be on roads between now and May 1. Drivers are asked to exercise caution, patience and take extra time if they are near the convoys.

Proclamation signed for children of area

The city of Sonora and Sutton County have joined forces to proclaim April as Child Abuse Prevention Month. On April 13 Sutton County Judge Carla Fields and Sonora mayor Bill Gosney signed the proclamation.

The proclamation urges "each and every citizen of our County to report any suspected incidents of child abuse to the appropriate authorities."

Four main reasons are given for this being declared as Child Abuse Prevention Month. First is that child abuse and neglect is a complex problem.

Another reason given is that successful prevention of child abuse is usually provided before the child is harmed.

A third reason given is that many organizations around the state provide services which help the child and family.

Help in Sonora is available through the Family Shelter in San Angelo with transportation available. Also, education of children before they become parents is important.

The last reason given is that awareness and support of Texans is crucial to the expansion of services available to those afflicted.

GRANNY'S GALS WIN - These Sonora, Junction and Alpine women went to Del Rio Saturday and won the Goat Cookoff at the April Fool's Fling. Hazel Hodges of Junction, left, took the trophy and $200 with her sister, Gwen Stillwell of Alpine. Sisters Kathleen Moore, holding trophy and Maggie Kring, both of Sonora, made the team.

Why won't it sell?

By Wayne Munn, REALTOR*

Some properties seem to be on the market for months, while others move quickly. How does this happen, and what can you do to ensure that your property sells quickly?

Here are five reasons why a property sells: 1) Location; 2) Price; 3) Terms; 4) Condition of the property; and 5) Will you sell the house or use a realtor.

Although the location of your house is a key factor, there isn't much you can do about it. A property at a poor location may sell more slowly; therefore, you must make the most of the other positive points. You'll want to focus on the cozy living area, family-oriented yard, or spacious kitchen—whatever attracted you to the house.

You control the price, which is perhaps the most important factor. The price of the house must be at fair market value. A realtor can help you determine that figure by completing a comparative market analysis. If the property is overpriced, it will only slow down the process. In the end it is the buyer who determines if you are asking a fair price for your property.

Another factor that helps a buyer make a decision, is if you are willing to negotiate on the terms. Are you willing to close in six months? Can you take less time vacating the house?

Now let's look at the condition of the property you're trying to sell. Since the first thing a buyer sees is the exterior, you must make sure that it is attractive and inviting. A little work on the lawn, trees, and flower beds can make a house look more appealing.

Don't forget to paint the exterior if needed, clear the entranceway, and repair any windows or screens. Although the cost of improvements is often minimal, more value will be added to your house.

You also want to make the interior of the house attractive to the prospective buyer. Vacuuming and throwing away the trash makes the buyer have more interest in the house.

Another way to make a buyer more comfortable is to keep pets out of the way. Put the dogs and cats out in the yard. If you can arrange to be gone while the house is being shown, that will also make a buyer feel more comfortable.

The key to selling fast is maximum exposure for your property. To get this exposure you can put ads in the newspaper and a sign in front of your home, but if you work with a realtor you are reaching all prospective home buyers in the area through the Multiple Listing Service.

The best way to find a realtor who will represent you is to exchange information with recent sellers, or make arrangements to meet with recommended agents from a company. Interview various realtors, and think about which one you would feel most comfortable working with.

*REALTOR is a registered collective membership mark which identifies a real estate professional who is a member of the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS and subscribes to a strict Code of Ethics.

Supervision requires licensing

By Preston Faris, CEA-Ag.

Persons who will use or supervise the use of producing an agricultural commodity have been required to obtain a license as of January 1, 1990. Those who are currently Certified Private Applicators are still able to use restricted-use or state-limited-use pesticides, but are not allowed to supervise the use of these products.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has basically divided the private applicator category into three groups. The first group are Certified Private Applicators who received their certification prior to January 10, 1989.

This certification does not expire except under special ruling, and those holding such certification require continued education units (CEU's) by October 1995 to recertify.

The second group are certified private applicators who received their certification after January 10, 1989. This certification expires in five years, therefore, this group must attend an Extension Service training, be tested and apply for a license by 1994.

The third group is licensed private applicators who must attend an Extension Service training, be tested and apply for a license with a $50 licensing fee. This license expires in five years and 15 CEU's are required for renewal.

We are planning a training program and local licensing meeting if enough interest is expressed. Please watch the newspaper for additional details.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Healthcare

Kids do fine with quality care

by Scott Gilmore

In Sweden, where good day care for children is readily available, studies have shown that kids who go to day care and kids who spend their early years with their mothers do equally well.

In the U. S., researchers are finding that kids who start full-time day care as infants have problems only if the quality of their care is poor and if there is family stress.

Children cared for alone, or in small groups by high-quality/low-turnover caregivers do fine.

A study of Dallas third-graders, for example, found that kids who were cared for in large groups as infants were at the bottom of their class socially and academically. But kids who had been cared for by their mothers, and whose parents had later divorced, did just as poorly.

Pennsylvania State University psychologist Jay Belsky recently told pediatricians at the American Academy of Pediatrics' annual meeting that problems result from poor quality day care, not day care per se.

Increase in oil and gas drilling

The state of Texas continued to see an increase in drilling permits and oil and gas completion during March. Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance said a total of 1,344 drilling permits were issued and 284 gas and 517 oil completions were recorded.

The San Angelo area (District 7C), which includes Sonora, had 108 new oil and gas holes in March. That is the second most, following Midland area with 149.

In the first three months of 1990, the Commission has issued 3,812 drilling permits, a 20 percent increase from the 3,053 issued during the same period in 1989.

Hance said Texas oil and gas operators reported 284 gas and 517 oil completions in March.

There were 33 gas completions in the San Angelo area and 54 oil completions. Both totals are in the middle of the pack for the state of Texas.

The Commission has recorded a total of 2,560 well completions in the first three months of 1990. That is a 17 percent increase from the 2,136 well completions recorded during the same period of 1989.

EARTH DAY 1990

The Healing of Planet Earth

by Diana Hurst

The clarion call to environmental awareness goes out to the nations of the earth this April 22, the Twentieth Anniversary of EARTH DAY. At sunrise, church bells will peal; summoning the world's citizens to participate in parades and demonstrations; for the environmental word to be preached from the pulpits of church, temple and mosque. Though global in scope, EARTH DAY 1990 will begin in our homes and communities.

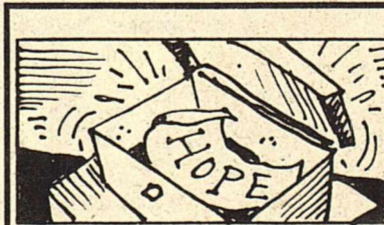

EARTH DAY 1990 is supported by many religious and environmental organizations, government officials, schools and universities. Media publicity will encourage energy efficiency; the reduction of fossil fuel and toxic substance dependency; and the planting of at least one tree for every individual. EARTH DAY 1990 is a grass roots campaign for the FUTURE OF OUR PLANET. Few can do anything about the depletion of the rain forests, however, ALL can change their life styles. We have to, our earth is on the verge of breakdown. ACTION NOW is imperative. An international environmental revolution would be underway if everyone in the Hill Country, in every county and state in America and every nation pledged to actively participate in the revitalization of the earth - in EARTH DAY 1990.

Skepticism greeted Earth Day 1970, which was instrumental in the creation of the Environmental Protection Agency and Clean Air and Clean Water Acts, yet slowly there has been an ever increasing awareness by the public who, feeling guilty about their life styles, are beginning to realize they are indeed despoiling the earth, leaving little or nothing for future generations.

For EARTH DAY 1990, a five point outreach program has been designed, outlining specific heal-the-earth activities for your community, to involve everyone from the kindergarten student to the company president. Problems affecting the Hill Country may be addressed by us directly. This is our chance to get involved in a movement which will help every person alive and yet to be born. In our own small yet highly significant way, each of us can participate in the earth's future.

Answer the logo: EARTH DAY 1990: WHO SAYS YOU CAN'T CHANGE THE WORLD? with, "I can!"

Please grow up people

It irritates the heck out of me when people make an issue of pettiness. They may be physically mature, but they need to grow-up emotionally. Yep, you can be old, gray and wrinkled, and still function mentally at the level of a six-year-old or less - I've seen it time and time again.

Maturity is a state at which we arrive only when we've accomplished certain step-by-step and preparatory conditions of the natural laws of growth. Physical maturity occurs as a result of the natural laws of physical growth, while intellectual and emotional development results from respective sets of universal principles. Therefore, it is possible to appear adult yet act like a child.

Maturation in any area of our individuality requires we balance dependence, independence and interdependence.

As infants, we are totally dependent on our parents, without them we would die within a few hours. Throughout youth and into adulthood we become adept at skills to provide for ourselves. We learn to be independent.

Americans thrive on independence but if each of us functioned independently, it would mean certain failure for our nation. Our society exalts autonomy. Teamwork, or interdependence is often overlooked, disregarded and even considered a sign of weakness.

During the past year the world has seen a significant decline in communist controlled governments. People had been required to function interdependently for the sake of the state. They were dependent on the government for everything. Independence was discouraged, viewed as decadent and a punishable offense. As a result, it naturally failed.

From both systems, one thing should be readily apparent. A person, group or body striving to achieve the full potential of maturity must balance dependence, independence and interdependence.

My problem with pettiness, mentioned in the lead-in, is just that - my problem. I obviously deal with it poorly, but I can't help but point the finger and blame others.

So, grow up. Make me happy.

Back to a small town

By Griffin Cole

What a difference a few years can make in how people view things.

While growing up in Ripon, Wis. (population 7,053) my friend Brad and I would always plan how we would escape the small town. We felt held down.

We used the same excuse each time we complained about our tiny little town., "There just isn't anything to do."

Day after day, Brad and I would walk around the streets of Ripon talking about what we would do if we were in a bigger city. All the fun things like, well like, hanging out.

Eventually Brad and I did escape Ripon. He moved to Florida and I moved to Seattle.

I enjoyed Seattle. There was plenty to do and things to see.

The question that continues to plague me though, is why then, did I spend so much time at my living quarters?

The answer I have come up with is that I did not make a lot of friends. That seemed strange to me. I have always considered as one of my strengths as being able to make friends. (Some people may question that.)

So in a big city with a lot to do, I wasn't doing much.

Then I moved to Alamogordo, N.M., a town of 30,000. All of a sudden I was doing things all the time. I was spending time with people I really enjoyed.

My professional aspirations then moved me to Del Rio. Things continued to go well as I took the opportunity to see what Texas was like.

When the opportunity to move to Sonora came, I did not remember how much Brad and I wanted to escape, but how much fun Brad and I had together.

Don't be fooled. Small towns have advantages over bigger cities. In Sonora you may not be able to get everything you want, but I'm willing to bet you will get any friends you want.

From the early indications, Sonora appears to be an easy place to meet friends.

Group gives up junk food for a day

Dr. Charles R. Pajestka, Ronald L. Cox, pharmacist; Jerry R. Landers, post master and Dr. J.C. Surratt are giving up junk. The local leaders will join the American Cancer Society's Great American Food Fight Against Cancer and stay away from junk food for a day.

If this sounds similar to the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout, during which smokers are asked to give up cigarettes for 24 hours, it is. The difference is that not everyone smokes, but everyone does eat, so all Americans can participate in this effort to raise awareness of the link between diet and cancer risks.

"We're going to be giving the group a lot of encouragement," said Lou Faulks, local chair for the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer. "What they will find is that making healthy changes in their diet will be simple and delicious. The Great American Food Fight Against Cancer is a day of fun, not penance."

Studies indicate that diet alone might account for perhaps as many as 35 percent of all cancers, except for those of the skin. The American Cancer Society recommends that in order to reduce risks for cancer, Americans should eat foods with vitamins A and C, low in fat, and high in fiber, as well as cabbage-family (cruciferous) vegetables.

To encourage better eating habits and to offer more information about diet and cancer, the American Cancer Society has made plans to sell shopping guides and cookbooks at local stores from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. on April 19.

"They won't be alone on the day of the Food Fight," said Loma Surber. "We're planning the day so that everyone can have a great time while learning to eat for better health."

"I'm glad to have this opportunity to fight cancer," said Landers. "And I'm going to continue the fight by making a contribution to the American Cancer Society's Community Crusade, which takes place the weekend after the Food Fight."

For more information on the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer, contact the American Cancer Society at (915) 944-2509.

MAKE $25,000 SITTING AT HOME!

DON'T LET THIS OPPORTUNITY PASS YOU BY.

Can you picture yourself making at least $5000 dollars a week, every week? If you can, I urge you to read this article, it could be worth thousands of dollars to you!

My name is Mark Preston. I am 32 years old and a self made millionaire. A few years ago I discovered a money making method that changed my life forever. This is not just another "get rich quick scheme." This is a unique new system that is in demand everywhere, yet few people even know it exists.

Anyone can do it. Trust me. If you want to make money, this system is for you. When I first started this money making program, I was flat broke and at least $10,000 dollars in debt. My family thought I was crazy and said I should be out looking for a "real job." That did not stop me. I was determined to make it with this fantastic money making plan I had discovered.

I started at home on the kitchen table with no capital. Within a year I was taking in over $20,000 A WEEK... MORE THAN A MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR. You heard me right, OVER A MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR! I went from driving an old beat up Pick-Up to a Brand New Lincoln Continental. I paid for it in cash. I bought a new home in a prestigious neighborhood, a waterfront summer cottage, and a Townhouse in Florida. I do not mean to brag, but these are my results using this amazing money making system. Do not envy me, join me!

THE SECRET REVEALED

I knew then I had discovered a revolutionary new money making program that would continue to make me thousands of dollars a day. It seemed so easy. I asked myself why everybody wasn't rich? Then it dawned on me that not everyone knew about this secret method of making money. You do not need special training or even a college education for this money making system to work for you.

Once you have learned how to use it, your money worries will be over for life. You will have financial security and peace of mind. This money making system is perfectly legal and amazingly simple. It has nothing to do with real estate, the stock market, or gambling of any kind.

It does not matter what your financial situation is now. You can start this money making program at home in your spare time with less than $15.00. In a few short weeks you will see the cash start to roll in. Once you put this money making system to work for you, the sky's the limit! You will have cash to spend on whatever you want, whenever you want it. Think of it! Enough cash to finally put an end to economic nightmares forever!

HERE'S PROOF

I am sure you are somewhat skeptical at this point. That just shows you have good business sense. Read what a few people had to say about my money making program.

*Dear Mark,
I ordered your program 3 months ago and started using it the day I got it. To say the least I was shocked at the results. Last month I deposited over $11,000 in my bank account. Thank you so much.*

N.C., Stuart, Florida

*Dear Mark,
When I first saw your article I had my doubts. I said to myself I might as well try it, at least I'll be $25.00 ahead with your guarantee. Well, your material changed my life from being flat broke in July to practically a millionaire in December! If I can do it, anyone can.*

J.S., San Diego, CA

*Dear Mark,
Before I ordered your money making method, I was slaving away cutting lawns for $4.00 an hour. At 19 years old my future looked bleak. Last week I made over $14,000 in less than 20 hours of work. I am the envy of all my friends. Thanks for a new life!*

J.B., Loudonville, NY

IT'S UP TO YOU

Your life can change now by taking simple action. Order my money making program today and see for yourself. All you have to do is follow the step-by-step procedures I provide you with. It will only take you about an hours reading time to master the program. If you can see yourself being rich, you will be rich! I make it easy for you. Included in my manual is my unlisted telephone number for you to call anytime you need help. I guarantee that within a week of using my money making method you will see the cash start to roll in. With my money making system, your success is guaranteed!

$25.00 CASH BONUS

I am so sure that my money making program will work for you, I am going to offer you a guarantee that no one else can. You either raise $15,000 using my money making system, or I will send you a certified check for $25.00. That's right, $25.00 just for giving my money making program an honest try. The only reason I can offer you a guarantee like this is because I know you are going to make alot of money copying my money making system. So much money that I am putting up $25.00 to prove it to you. Its that simple. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain. The risk is mine.

Conservation planning completed on highly erodible land

Over 60,000 conservation plans have been developed on about 13 million acres of the state's approximately 17 million acres of highly erodible cropland, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service reported.

"We in SCS made a commitment to see that every farmer who wanted a conservation compliance plan got one by the deadline of December 31, 1989," said Texas State Conservationist Harry W. Oneth. "Farmers and ranchers themselves have made a strong commitment to soil and water conservation with these plans. In fact, they have already fully implemented plans on approximately 33 percent of the highly erodible cropland."

without plans include situations where the land is no longer being used for cropping or where the person has decided not to develop a plan at this time.

"Texas can be proud of the enormous conservation effort underway as a result of the conservation provisions of the Food Security Act of 1985," Oneth said.

Oneth encouraged farmers to examine their plans carefully and to be sure they understand what they've agreed to do this year.

Each plan contains individual conservation practices and schedules for their installation agreed to by the producer and the local conservation district. "If farmers have questions, now's the time to call or come in and talk about it at their local SCS offices," Oneth said.

Farmers are encouraged to check with SCS when new farms or units are purchased or operators change. If a plan has been developed on the new land, now is a good time to get it implemented or revised. If there is no plan, a conservation plan will need to be developed.

Regular screening can detect breast cancer early

One in 10 women will develop breast cancer at some time, but early detection can improve the chance for cure. During Cancer Control Month in April, Texas Medical Association urges women to give themselves a breast self-examination every month, preferably after each menstrual cycle.
 As a part of the cancer detection regime, look for changes such as a lump, thickening, swelling, dimpling or distortion. The nipple also should be carefully examined for discharge, scaliness or retraction.
 If any of these changes are noticed, immediately schedule an examination with your physician. Most breast lumps are not cancer, but only a physician can make a diagnosis.
 Beginning at age 40, women should get a mammogram, a breast X-ray using a low-level radiation, which can reveal cancers too small to be felt even by the most experienced examiner. After the initial baseline mammogram, women should continue them every one or two years based on their physicians' judgement. Breast cancer risk increases at age 50, making a yearly mammogram important for women 50 and older.

 "Early detection of breast cancer means that the cure rate is over 90 percent," says TMA member Victor G. Vogel, M. D., M. H. S., assistant professor of medicine and epidemiology at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Cancer Center.
 Risk factors for breast cancer include a family history of breast cancer, reproductive factors such as first child born after age 30, no children, and use of hormones. If you have questions about these factors, consult your physician. Mammography may need to begin earlier if you have some risk factors.
 If cancer is diagnosed, the physician may conduct further tests to select the best treatment, whether it be mastectomy, surgical removal of the breast; radiation therapy; chemotherapy; or a combination of these. TMA urges patients to follow their doctors' advice and avoid any cancer treatments not scientifically proven.

 If a mastectomy is done, breast reconstruction is possible as a result of new techniques, with satisfying cosmetic results. "The biggest incentive for having a regular mammogram performed is that early detection is the key to identifying a small breast cancer, in which most treatment regimes preserve the breast and do not necessarily result in mastectomy," says Dr. Vogel.
 The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 117 component county medical societies around the state. The Association represents more than 80 percent of the state's physicians, and its goal is to improve the health of Texans through the professional and personal development of its members.

Two Sonora students attend preview at Austin College

Sonora residents Julie Jones and Amy Reston were among 74 students attending a two-day College Preview at Austin College.
 Jones and Reston are students at Sonora High School.
 The preview, held April 8-9, was designed to offer prospective students and their parents a first-hand look at the academic and extracurricular opportunities available at the liberal arts college. To fully sample campus life, the students were provided lodging in residence halls on campus.

 In addition to visiting with professors and attending regular class sessions, the students also had the opportunity to meet with admission and financial planning representatives. Extracurricular activities included a reception at the home of AC President Dr. Harry Smith, entertainment in the Student Union Building, and a luncheon with the faculty.

Alcohol during pregnancy can damage fetus

Avoid alcohol if you're pregnant or planning a pregnancy, warns the Texas Medical Association. Even a small amount of alcohol in some mothers can cause mental retardation, brain damage, or other abnormalities in the baby. Ironically, fetal alcohol syndrome, the third-leading cause of mental retardation in the United States, is completely preventable.
 With April designated as National Alcohol Awareness Month, TMA emphasizes the dangers of alcohol on unborn babies. "Alcohol is a neurotoxin," said Anthony Lucci, M. D., a Houston obstetrician who serves on TMA's Committee on Maternal and Child Health. That means alcohol acts as a poison on the brain and central nervous system.
 It doesn't matter whether it's beer, wine, or liquor, he said. "It's the amount of alcohol in the drink." A glass of wine, a can of beer, and a mixed drink all contain about the same amount.
 When a pregnant woman drinks, the alcohol goes from her stomach into her bloodstream, and passes directly to the fetus, easily crossing the placenta to the baby's bloodstream.
 Fetal alcohol syndrome, caused by heavy drinking, is characterized by mental retardation, heart defects, facial deformities, and small body size. Studies indicate that even moderate drinking during early pregnancy can impair the child's intellectual ability. The effects of light drinking have not been proven. So far, a "safe" amount to drink during pregnancy hasn't been determined.

 "We really don't know the toxic effect of alcohol on the fetal brain," observed Dr. Lucci, because setting up proper research conditions in the womb is difficult. Because the outcome is so uncertain, "it's best to eliminate alcohol entirely during pregnancy," he said. Combining alcohol with smoking, overexertion, and other stresses makes damage to the baby even more likely, Dr. Lucci added.
 Not drinking is important even when planning a pregnancy. Studies indicate that alcohol may be linked to sperm count and sperm quality in the father, as well as miscarriage in the mother.
 During the first weeks after conception, embryonic cells are dividing rapidly and vital organs, such as the brain, are forming. Thus, the fetus is especially vulnerable at a time when many women don't even know they are pregnant.

Organ formation and neurological development in the baby continue during the middle three months of pregnancy, making that another critical period. The last three months are a less hazardous time, although not risk free.
